FARMERS SIGNING UP FOR FARM PROGRAM

Mogul-Bulldog Game Will Likely Decide Champions of District 10-A

Many Fans Will Follow Moguls Into Stamford

Result of Game Very Uncertain; Locals In Fine Shape

The talk of the town, which has been on football for several weeks, is more definitely in that direction this week as Munday's fans prepare to accompany the Moguls to Stamford next Friday night in large numbers.

The Moguls, victor in every conference game thus far, realize that the outcome of Friday night's game with the Stamford Bulldogs will almost definitely decide the winner of District 10-A.

Fans who witnessed the 13-0 smashing of the Pied Pipers of Hamlin at the hands of Stamford's strong Bulldog eleven have varied opinions as to the result of next Friday night's game, while Coaches Billy Cooper and Howard Garner are truly looking at their "hole card" for this game. The pessimism which reigns among all football coaches is very pronounced with Coaches Cooper and Garner this week as they put their charges through their most strenuous workouts of the season.

The Moguls' line charging, which has gained them much yardage this season, is not expected to click as nicely Friday night as in the past. Stamford's most powerful line is expected to hold the Moguls' line charge more effectively than any other team thus far.

Although having less experience than the Bulldogs, the Moguls have a line that is rated as second only to that of Stamford. Mogul linemen are expected to show better defense against the Bulldogs than did the Pied Pipers last Friday night. Although Hamlin got a lone first down against Stamford, while yielding them 17, the Pied Pipers held them scoreless in the second half.

Upon a line that is stubborn in spite of limited experience and upon a backfield, every man of which is a constant threat, do the Mogul coaches pin their only hopes of winning from the Bulldogs. With a rest last week, the Mogul squad is in excellent shape—and this is likely to carry its weight in the game also.

Anyway, the story will be told Friday night—and Munday will be there in large numbers to back the Moguls in victory or defeat.

Statistics on teams in District 10-A follow:

Team	W	L	T	Pct.
Stamford 13, Hamlin 0.	3	0	0	1.000

Murdock to Visit Schools of County

S. O. Murdock, deputy state superintendent, is expected to arrive in Knox county the latter part of this week and will begin inspecting the schools of this county. Mr. Murdock will inspect all schools applying for or receiving state aid. He is working among the schools of Haskell county this week, and will come to Knox county upon completion of his work there.

Mrs. Erna Mae Lee and son Billy Arthur, of Wichita Falls, visited Mrs. Lee's mother, Mrs. A. F. Huskinson and other relatives here over the week end.

GROCERY STORES TO CLOSE FRIDAY AT SIX O'CLOCK

All grocery stores in Munday will close promptly at six o'clock Friday evening, so that the owners and employees may attend the football game at Stamford. Citizens are asked to co-operate with these grocery firms by making their purchases early so the stores can close in plenty of time for all employees to attend the game.

Rhineland To Re-Open School Next Monday

After having turned out several weeks for cotton picking, the Rhineland school will re-open next Monday morning, according to an announcement made Tuesday by Merck McGaughey, county superintendent.

The Rhineland school opened on Monday, August 7th, and ran for a period of six weeks, after which the school was dismissed for the fall harvest season. Practically all crops in the Rhineland community have been gathered, and it was voted to re-open the schools next Monday.

John J. Hoffman, superintendent, is on a short business trip to the plains this week, but will return in time to complete plans for opening the school term.

Boy Scouts To Sell Poppies On Armistice Day

Those little red flowers which are made by disabled world war veterans, will be on sale in Munday on Armistice Day. Proceeds from the sale will go to benefit both the disabled veterans and the Boy Scouts of Munday.

Members of the Lowry Post of American Legion, in regular session Tuesday night, voted to order the poppies and back the Boy Scouts in the sale. So when these boys ask you to buy a poppy remember that the sale of these replicas of the "flowers of Flanders Field" goes to benefit those buddies who are suffering the effects of a terrible world war.

Walter Rice of Benjamin, who holds a commission of first lieutenant in the officers reserve corps, made an interesting talk at this meeting.

The post will continue to meet on the second and fourth Tuesday nights of each month, the next meeting being on November 14.

Mrs. Ramia Lee Bradford is spending a few days here with her son, Stallard Wayne, and parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Moore. She has formerly been nursing at the Knox City hospital, but has resigned to accept a like position in the new hospital at Haskell.

Two 6-Man Games Slated This Week

Two six-man football games in the regular conference schedule are slated for teams of this county this week.

Vera and Benjamin will play their regularly scheduled game next Saturday afternoon at Vera. This is expected to be another victory for the Benjamin team, which lost to Sunset last Thursday night on Scruggs Field.

The other game is scheduled between Sunset and Mattoon. This game will be on Scruggs Field on Thursday night of this week.

Mrs. E. D. Steele of Roby visited her sister, Mrs. B. B. Bowden, last week.

Red Cross To Have 23rd Roll Call This Year

Seven Units in Knox County Make Plans For Roll Call

The American Red Cross is about to begin its 23rd annual roll call, November 11 to 30, Mrs. D. J. Brookreson of Benjamin, roll call chairman of this county, announced recently.

The seven chapters of Knox county are already making plans for the greatest roll call ever held in the county. Volunteers in every community are offering their assistance.

Dependent solely on the willingness of the public to alleviate suffering, the Red Cross this year is appealing to the nation for a million more members, to expand its various services and stand ready for those unpredictable days ahead. "I am confident that when this year's roll call is held in Knox county, your community will re-pledge confidence in the Red Cross with its share of the million new members," Mrs. Brookreson said. "Join thru your local chapters between Armistice Day and November 30th."

New Books Are Recently Added To The Library

Several new books which will hold the interest of the reading public have recently been added to the Munday Library, it was announced this week by the library committee. The public is asked to check these books out and enjoy them.

In addition to the new books listed below, the committee announced that several new books for children have also been added recently. The library committee is constantly adding new books of interest so the public may get the greatest amount of enjoyment out of using the library.

Books recently added are: "Reaching for the Stars," by Nora Waln. This is a book of non-fiction, telling of four years in Germany during Hitler's preparation for this war. This book is not prejudicial.

"Escape," by Ethel Vance. This is also a story of Germany.

"The Brandons," by Angela Thirkell. This is a humorous, sweet novel.

"Romance of the West," by H. H. Halse. This was written by a Lubbock man.

"Abe Lincoln of Illinois," by Robert E. Sherwood. This is the Pulitzer prize play for 1939.

"Heartbroken Melody," by Kathleen Norris.

"Death Wears a White Gardenia," by Zella Popkin.

"The Runaway," by Kathleen Norris.

"Crime of Violence," by Rufus King.

The Munday Parent-Teacher Association is sponsoring a Halloween Carnival in the Munday Elementary School building on Tuesday evening, October 31, at 7:45.

General admission is 5c to all. Each class will sponsor a booth in its own room, and the balls will be used for harkers, hawkers and revellers.

She will be crowned as Queen of Halloween Merriment and Gaiety. Crown bearer will be Jean Green, from the first grade. Train bearers will be Wynelle Fitzgerald and Bobby Joe Lawson, from the second grade. Attendants for the queen will be runners-up in the contest.

The public is invited and urged to attend the carnival.

Former Munday Man Now Supt. of Decatur Schools

Recalls Turkey Day Game With Haskell Back in 1923

The Times is in receipt of a letter from Alton B. Lee, former Mogul football player, and now superintendent of the schools at Decatur, Mr. Lee's letter requesting The Times for a year and recalling his last game with the Moguls, is as follows:

Editor Munday Times, Dear Editor:

Please enter my subscription to The Munday Times for one year and send me a bill. It has been approximately ten years since I saw a copy of The Times, and almost that long since I heard anything from Munday. I am a graduate of Munday High School in the class of 1924. I played my last high school football game for the Moguls against Haskell on Thanksgiving Day in 1923. The game was played in Haskell, and the Moguls won by a score of 3-0.

I understand that the boys there have a good team again this year, and, as a former letterman, I've got to have more news of their success. So send along The Times and don't forget to include athletic news.

Yours very truly,
ALTON B. LEE

New Hospital At Haskell Is Opened Monday

The new Haskell county hospital, recently completed at a cost of approximately $100,000 for building and equipment, was placed in operation at Haskell last Monday.

An open house program was held Sunday afternoon, preceding the formal opening of the institution.

The building has 35 patient wards in addition to two entrance halls, operating room, X-ray laboratory, general laboratory, and basement laundry and kitchen. Laboratory and operating room equipment is said by technicians to be the equal of any installation in the Southwest.

Superintendent and manager of the new hospital will be Mrs. Verna Harwell, formerly connected with the Knox County Hospital. She is a graduate of Baylor Medical College.

Other staff member of the hospital include Miss Bonnie Cathey, surgery and laboratory; Miss Lemon Hill, night supervisor, and Carl Bryant, orderly.

She will be crowned as Queen of Halloween Merriment and Gaiety. Crown bearer will be Jean Green, from the first grade. Train bearers will be Wynelle Fitzgerald and Bobby Joe Lawson, from the second grade. Attendants for the queen will be runners-up in the contest.

The public is invited and urged to attend the carnival.

Texas Press Salutes John Garner

Ready to "Go With Garner" in 1940, hundreds of Texas newspapermen participating in Press Day at the Texas State Fair in Dallas visited the Garner-for-President booth and predicted a presidential nomination for Texas' Favorite Son. In the picture above, Walter Buckner, publisher of the San Marcos Record and president of the Texas Press Association, and Joe T. Cook (right), prominent editor of the Mission Times, are examining the Garner record, and Sam Holloway, publisher of the Deport Times and past president of the TPA, is signing the guest register, while Mrs. Dale Miller, hostess at the exhibit, looks on. Holloway's home town is on Blossom Prairie in Northeast Texas where John Garner lived as a boy before going to Uvalde to become a lawyer and country editor.

Rice Urges Plan of Farm Operations

Farmers are now signing applications in the county agent's office for their 1939 soil conserving payments. Applications of farmers who have earned their entire soil conserving and soil building payments are being sent to the state office for payment, and Mr. Rice stated that Knox county should be receiving these checks in the near future.

To date, 445 applications have been mailed to College Station for approval and payment.

The signing of these applications is moving forward as quickly as possible. Farmers are being notified by card to call and sign their applications.

Program For 1940

Farmers should make plans now for the 1940 crops. County Agent Rice stated. The 1940 AAA program will be carried out very much the same as it was in 1939, and by carefully planning farmers may utilize their soil conserving acreage to a very profitable income.

"Farmers as a rule have not planned their farm operations as carefully as the business man, yet he is operating a business representing an investment of thousands of dollars, when the value of the land is considered," Rice said.

"A good policy would be to plan your farm operations—then operate your farm according to your plans."

Joseph E. Murphy Dies Tuesday At Home in Munday

Had Been Resident of County 22 Years

Joseph E. Murphy, well known resident of Munday, passed away at his Munday home at 1:20 o'clock Tuesday morning. Mr. Murphy had been in poor health for a number of months, and during recent weeks had been dangerously ill.

Joseph E. Murphy had been a resident of Knox county for 22 years. During his early days, he was a miller, having operated among the first flour mills in Texas. He was born at Hazelhurst, Miss., on December 14, 1855, and died October 24, 1939, at the age of 83 years, 10 months and 10 days.

Mr. Murphy united with the Methodist church at an early age and moved his membership to the Munday church when he came here 22 years ago, where it remained until his death.

Mr. Murphy is survived by his widow, Mrs. Martha Murphy of Munday, and four daughters, who are: Mrs. J. W. Hogan of Menard; Mrs. Walter Baggott of Electric; Mrs. Meryl Ladd of Munday and Mrs. C. F. Stevens of Austin. He is also survived by a brother, C. C. Murphy of Houston, 7 children and 8 great grandchildren.

Funeral services were held from the First Methodist church in Munday at 4:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, being conducted by Rev. H. A. Longino, pastor. Interment was in the Johnson cemetery by the Mahan Funeral Home.

Pallbearers were Lee Haymes, Sebern Jones, E. H. Bauman, Rid Campbell, John C. Spann and Perro Bryant of Electric.

Honorary pallbearers were grandsons of the deceased. They were J. H. Hogan, Rex Baggott, Perro Bryant, Glenn McGlothlin, Joe Aycock, Clovis Stevens and Foy Hogan Easley.

Strickland Moves

W. A. Strickland, who has been working at Haynie's Barber Shop, moved to his new location, the former Sessions Barber Shop, on Thursday.

"Strick" is ready to do barber work there, and invites his friends and customers to visit him at his new location, where he will render a quick and efficient barber service.

Jerry Kane, who is attending Texas Tech at Lubbock, visited friends here and his parents at Weinert over the week end.

What He Does For His Community Lives On and On"—

BLESSINGS UNDER DEMOCRACY

It is well for our people to remember that under the benefits of our Democracy the cause of labor is represented by various organizations, in laws for the protection of labor—organized and unorganized, enacted by the Congress of the United States and by the Legislatures of the States, and by a department whose leader is a member of the President's cabinet and by labor departments in the various states of the union. But back of the organizations, behind the laws and secretaries and commissioners of Labor, stand the men and women of Labor's increasing ranks.

Since men first undertook to break the bonds of slavery, under every country on the globe, and in every state of the Union, it has been fully demonstrated that when the toilers by hand and by brain stand united, unselfishly and courageously strive together—and do not sit down—they Conquer, they Triumph, they Succeed. Labor, wisely led by statesmen and patriots, is invincible. No more can Labor divided against itself survive than can a house divided against itself stand the driving storm.

In 1932 an overwhelming majority of our population demonstrated by their votes that they were discontented with conditions under the administration of the Republican party. Labor expressed itself at the polls then and again expressed the same sentiment four years later. The people wanted security of livelihood—a chance to work. The unemployed wanted jobs of unemployment insurance. Those employed wanted adequate wages and security in their jobs. The Farmers wanted protection from exploitation. They wanted security of land, or homes and means of livelihood. They wanted at least cost of production for their crops and a decent standard of living for themselves and families. The small industry and merchant asked safeguards against destructive competition of billion dollar corporations and the oppressed minority asked for a chance in this democracy.

American producers, industrialists, clerical and professional, farmers and farm workers and labor the nation around are keenly interested in the policies and actions of the U.S. Congress, of the Legislatures and of Labor departments. As President Roosevelt recently declared, "Special unrest and a deepening sense of unfairness are dangers to our national life."

SUDDEN DEATH

One of the great thrills experienced by Texas fathers and mothers comes to them when they pass the public schools and see on every adjacent corner earnest and courteous young men cheerfully directing traffic in the interest of greater safety.

Schools that have not adopted this plan of promoting good citizenship, as well as safety for pedestrians and motorists alike, are urged to meet with their law enforcement agencies and work out a cooperative system.

That the world is getting better—especially in this peaceful land, is manifest in the attitude of the students themselves toward this service. In the "good old days," the rough element of the schools would have scorned this precaution and jeered the patrols, but today, hearty cooperation is given and all like it.

A boy who will get up early in the morning and report for patrol duty, rain or shine, in cold or heat, has something in him to make Texans feel a pride in him.

It is great to see youthful Texans directing traffic to preserve life, rather than wielding a bayonet or directing a bullet to take a life.

If traffic rules are enforced around the schools, many will catch the point and observe them elsewhere. It's great to save a life or limb.

PEACE, NOT WAR

When the stern tests of logic are applied to it, war is quickly stripped of even the few virtues it is sometimes supposed to possess. It has occasionally been thought, for instance, that war stimulates invention and research. But a rapid glance at the records shows that this is far from being the case.

In 1916 the United States Patent Office received 71,033 applications for patents. In 1917, the first year of the war, applications dropped to 70,373, and in 1918, to 59,615. Immediately after the war there was a spurt in science and invention and the Patent Office received 80,400 applications.

A period of rapid expansion in research and invention was interrupted by the Spanish-American War, and patent applications fell from about 48 thousand in 1897 to less than 36 thousand in 1898. There was a similar decline in the emergence of new ideas during the Civil War. Applications for patents on the brainchildren or inventors and research workers dropped from 7,653 in 1860 to 4,643 in 1861, and it was not until peace was declared that patent applications rose to pre-war heights.

The same story is told by the records of the British patent office. In 1913, the year Great Britain declared war, that office received 30,077 applications for patents. By 1917, the number had declined to 19,285.

And so the arguments why industry wants peace continue to pile up. Industry wants peace so that it can continue its constructive research and progress towards a higher standard of living. That is increasingly evident the more logic is applied to the case.

WORTH AN ANNIVERSARY

This year, in various parts of the country and in various manners, the 300th anniversary of the printing industry is being celebrated. Like other events of the sort, it will give rise among a certain group to the usual criticism that anniversaries and special celebrations are a waste of time and a weariness to the flesh.

There is one important point that these naysayers miss in occasions like the present anniversary of printing. It is the fact that these occasions offer an excellent opportunity to remind ourselves of humanity's record of constructive accomplishment. Here, in this country at this particular time, we ought to pay particular attention to these matters, in which the United States stands pre-eminent.

Let's look at the printing industry in America for a moment. Its record, typical of the many American industries large and small which have opened up new jobs, new payrolls, and lower cost products through increased use of machinery, is worthy of celebration.

Back in 1880, before the extensive use of modern machinery in the industry, there were 58,506 employees in printing, according to the census. In 1886 the linotype machine was invented. It was followed by a number of other improvements which cut the cost of printing and permitted its wider use, and as a result it is estimated that today there are more than 450,000 employees in the industry, with a payroll of more than three-quarters of a billion dollars.

That record of jobs, payrolls, and more enjoyable living for Americans strikes us as being worth an anniversary celebration any time!

THE MORE DEADLY OF THE SPECIES

Congressman Martin Dies, head of the Congressional Committee investigating subversive elements in America, has indicated that more than 2,000 Communists may soon be removed from the Federal payroll. And Americans have applauded.

But in the midst of the enthusiasm over such a prospect perhaps the full import of the disclosure that this many "Reds" were holding Government jobs has been overlooked.

It is of tremendous import, not because it represents several million dollars a year out of the taxpayers' pocket for their salary, but because it reveals Communism more deeply rooted in America than even some of the most ardent so-called Red-baiters believed.

The popular concept of a Communist, in the minds of most people, is a bushy-haired individual haranguing listeners from a soap box in New York's Union Square. There are many such haranguers in New York and other communities, but they are comparatively harmless beside the type now uncovered by the Dies Committee.

Those now exposed are the deadlier of the species, for they, like some other types of racketeers, carry on their nefarious activities behind the cloak of respectability.

Americans wish Mr. Dies every success in his efforts to rid the Federal payroll of this menacing element.

UNPRECEDENTED TREASURE

The Masterpieces of Art Exhibition at the New York World's Fair represents the greatest collection of old masters the world has ever seen. Probably never again will such a concentration of artistic treasures be possible. Ranging from Rembrandt, Titian, Van Dyck, and Watteau, through the whole catalogue of great masters, this exhibition records the development of the painter's art through its greatest days.

Under the supervision of the directors of the Detroit Institute of Arts, a non-profit corporation called the Art Associates, Inc., was formed to build the special structure necessary to house these priceless paintings; private contributions were secured to underwrite the heavy expense of shipping, insuring and guarding these works from damage by fire or theft. The collection has an estimated worth of $30,000,000.

Jaywalking pedestrians often take a short cut to the cemetery.

Absent minded pedestrians frequently walk into trouble.

IT'S ABOUT TIME!

THEY SAY!

"Scientific research is the yeast of business. It leavens the mass transforming it into a system which results in the continuous production of new and valuable inventions. At the same time, like yeast, science grows as it is nourished by the industry which it is transforming. Thus, the association of science and industry strengthens both and this is reflected in material prosperity and in intellectual progress."—C. E. Kenneth Mees, Eastman Kodak Company.

Housewives don't know it yet but they will soon find out that we have in agriculture a mechanism which in a measure does for agriculture what the government insurance of bank deposits does for banks. Thru the Ever-Normal Granary plentiful quantities of wheat and corn and cotton have been stored by the farmers and the Government.—Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace.

FAMILY HERE TESTS MEALS OF WARTIME

New York.—The economic necessities of war produce a standard of living far below that of America's lowest income groups, it was indicated by food tests made here recently.

A family of four made the test under the direction of a Department of Health analyst, using German food card rationals as typical of those enforced in times of war. Halfway through the attempt to come even close to use these rations as a practical substitute for the meals of the average American family in the lower income brackets, the mother of the family flatly announced, "It can't be done."

"Our experience already has shown us how lucky we are to be in America," she declared. "I never realized how well off we were until my daughter and I began to struggle with these limited supplies."

The breakfast that preceded and provoked the housewife's admission of defeat consisted of half a saucer of applesauce, a slice of eggplant dipped in leftover milk, pumpernickel toast, and a cup of coffee substitute.

For the rest of the week, the family had to skimp on peas, beans, cereals and spaghetti, since their quota had been exceeded in the first three days.

All members of the family reported a growing feeling of discomfort at the end of the third day.

The vast majority of patents issued in this country go to individuals and small corporations. Of total patents issued in 1938, 42.9 per cent went to individuals and 34.5 per cent to small corporations; of the remainder, 17.2 per cent were issued to large corporations and 5.4 per cent to foreign corporations.

In the 56 years ending in 1936 patented inventions were directly responsible for the creation of at least 14 new industries in this country. These new industries increased the total of employment by 18 per cent during that period.

Gems Of Thought

Happiness is not a reward . . . it is a consequence. Suffering is not a punishment . . . it is a result. —Robert Ingersoll.

Happiness does away with ugliness, and even makes the beauty of beauty.—Amiel.

Happiness is spiritual, born of Truth and love. It is unselfish; therefore it cannot exist alone, but requires all mankind to share it. —Mary Baker Eddy.

A happy life must be to a great extent a quiet life, for it is only in an atmosphere of quiet that true joy can live.—Bertrand Russell.

Happiness is a by-product of an effort to make someone else happy. —Gretta Palmer.

"I suppose, Uncle Jim, you remember a good deal about the politics of the early days?"

"Well, I never tuk much int'rest in politics, but I kin recollect when John C. Fremont was 'lected President."

"Fremont! Why Fremont was never elected!"

"He wunt? Well, now that gits me. I heerd a leadin' speaker talk the night 'fore 'lection, an' he said if John C. Fremont wunt 'lected the country would fall to ruin an' everybody would have to shut up shop. 'Course I didn't take the papers; but, noticin' that things went on 'bout the same as before, I calculated John won. So he wunt 'lected? Well, b'jinks! That gits me!"

It is rather unusual how sportsmen from communities band up in picking their sites for hunting. As an example, of 258 Dallas sportsmen checked on their file cards in the office of the Game Department, only seven hunted deer in the Trans-Pecos last year, the remainder going to the Hill Country. Of the 208 Fort Worth sportsmen checked, 54 hunted in the Hill Country, and the remainder in the Trans-Pecos.

"My father is a brave man, he is. He killed five lions and an elephant in Africa single-handed."

"Shucks, that's nothing, my dad bought a new sedan when ma wanted a coupe."

"Politically Speaking"

(By Jeanette Conyers)

Now I see that the "Good Neighbor Policy" is being started by the Farmers Union. Peter Lorans is offering to give eight rows on his farm to some needy family, and to make the good neighbor policy stronger, he is offering to work these eight rows along with his own, but the man to whom he has given the rows will have to hoe it if it needs hoeing. Now that's a mighty liberal offer, and it goes to show just what a good neighbor really means in these hard times when it's so hard for the little man to get a start. He can, if living in town, raise enough on these eight rows to help—if not more than feed a cow. That will almost feed his family, so here's more power to the Farmers Union, and may it have a lot of Peter Lorans—whether tall or short, fat or lean—he has in his heart a jewel to gleam.

GOOD NEIGHBOR

For when you know your neighbor, You have no regrets to recall, For a real true friendly neighbor Will never let you fall.

You can trust him with your secrets, You can trust him with your woes; It's a real true friendly neighbor That we all should learn to know.

He'll stand by you in the struggle When the drought has swept your land And the black blizzards choke you, He is there to clasp your hand.

He will console you in your sorrows And in grief that shocks your soul, And he'll pat you on the shoulder When success is your goal.

He'll stand by you in your troubles When everything's gone wrong, And he'll clasp your hand in sorrow When a loved one from you is gone.

For it's in the Bible that we take it: "Love thy neighbor as thyself;" With a prayer of thanks on your lips, 'Tis an act you won't regret.

ALWAYS ON TIE
A movie comedy showed a bevy of shapely girls disrobing for a plunge in the "old swimming hole." They had just taken off their shoes, hats, coats and were beginning to—a passing freight train dashed across the screen. When it had passed, the girls were frolicking in the water.
An old railroader sat through the show again and again. At length an usher tapped him on the shoulder.
"Aren't you ever going home?"
"Oh, I'll wait a while longer. One of these times that train's going to be late."

Sunset Wins Over Benjamin 18-14

Last Thursday night, October 19, the Sunset Eagles played the Benjamin Mustangs on Scruggs Field at Munday.

The Mustangs won the toss and chose to receive.

In the first period after an exchange of downs Burton was successful in making a touchdown. The extra point was blocked, and the first quarter ended with the score 6-0.

In the second quarter Cude went over for a touchdown for the Eagles, and the extra point was again blocked. Just before the end of the second quarter the Mustangs made a touchdown and made the two extra points, resulting in a score of 12-8 at the end of the second quarter.

At the beginning of the third period the teams came out with blood in their eyes. Before the Eagles had realized they were in a football game the Mustangs made another touchdown. The kick for the extra point was blocked, and the third quarter ended with the Mustangs in the lead, 14-12.

During the last period, when the Eagles were on their thirty yard line, fourth down and fifteen yards to go for a first down, Shannon passed to Burton, who was on the Mustangs' eighteen yard line. The Eagles were successful in making another touchdown. The scores were 18-14 for the Eagles when the game ended.

The Eagles are looking forward to a tough game with Mattson on Scruggs Field Thursday night, October 26th.

Future Home Makers Meet

On Friday, October 20, the Sunset Future Home Makers met in the Home Economics Department to discuss plans for the year.

The house was called to order by the president, and the minutes were read and approved.

The house was opened for discussion of old business. The name for the chapter, Sunset Future Home Makers, was decided upon at the last meeting. The lily was selected as the club's flower. The club motto is "Let the past be past, it's the future we're striving for." The colors are black and white. This concluded all of the old business.

The new business was brought before the club. Miss Phillips, the sponsor, had received some interesting club material. The material was read and discussed by the club.

The club whose year- and scrapbooks are selected as the first in the state will be given a free trip somewhere. The Sunset girls are going to do their best to win the trip.

For the first time in all its history, Sunset is organizing a real pep squad. The suits are black skirts with white blouses or sweaters representing the school colors. The leader will be dressed in black, and the assistant leaders in white. Everyone is very enthusiastic about the pep squad, and nearly all of the high school girls have joined. They are learning new yells and if a pep squad can help a team win, then Sunset will win every time.

Austin, Texas.—Texas continues to be one of the leading duck hunting states in the Union, a report received by the Game, Fish and Oyster Commission discloses.

The Lone State was fifth in the sale of Federal duck stamps for the fiscal year ending June 30, with 58,704. Minnesota showed the way with a total of 116,461; Michigan was second, having a total of 80,458, and its neighbor, Wisconsin was third with 79,688. California ranked fourth with a total of 63,394.

During the last five seasons hunters purchased almost three and a half million duck stamps. Over that lengthy period, Texas ranked sixth with a total of 208,100. Duck stamp sales show that each year since 1935 there has been an increase in the number of sportsmen who attempted to bag migratory waterfowl in the United States. Last year a total of 1,002,715 stamps were issued.

Just because the season is open is not a sign that all, even ardent, sportsmen take the field. It is generally recognized that in many sections of Texas the doves are still nesting when the season opens in September. Therefore, a group of men who are known as the "Knights of the Sixteen-Gauge Guns" who live near Weimar, Texas, are opposed to hunting birds when the feathered tribe has not finished its job of family raising. So, numerous Weimar hunters are awaiting another date on the calendar—December 1st—when the quail season gets under way.

While it is still some time before the duck season gets under way, November 15, a good many sportsmen are purchasing their Federal duck stamps early, according to reports received by the Game Department. Many postoffices report double their sales at the same time last year.

Cooperation plus—The telephone company at San Angelo, Texas now includes in its telephone directory a full page of State game and fish laws.

ed the first of a series of programs to be given by the grammar grades throughout the year. The program consisted of a play, "The Deaf Grandma," and Robna Claire Moore, Carlyne Jones, Teresa Harber, and Billy J. Lane had parts in the play. There were various other numbers, such as songs, readings, dances, etc.

Now is the time for landowners to start thinking about feeding quail during the rugged days of winter.

With a marked increase in bobwhites being reported from most sections of Texas, it is more necessary than ever to leave food standing for these birds, it is pointed out by the Executive Secretary of the Game Department. A few rows of grain left standing at the field edges, close to natural cover, is the best insurance possible for carrying over the game and insectivorous birds.

Emergency feeding is not nearly as effective as proper preparation against food shortages, the Executive Secretary pointed out. One of the best plans is that of leaving small grains near the edges of the fields. Hundreds of farmers in Texas are building shelters for quail under the supervision of the Game Department and all indications are that quail are in for a healthy cycle in Texas.

Boys in Austin, Texas, are giving a vivid demonstration of how birds can assist small and large landowners alike. This group of hustling boys rent ducks to housewives who turn the birds into their gardens. The ducks make a clean sweep of all insects without destroying the plants, and, incidentally, bring their owners 50c per day in rental fees. Texas has a large number of insectivorous birds and it is estimated by biologists that the birdlife of the State is worth 16c per acre for every acre in the Lone Star State due to their insect-eating habits.

The Munday Study Club met in regular meeting at the club house Friday. Mrs. Riley B. Harrell was director, Mrs. Lyle Stodghill, hostess. The theme of the program being the "isms" of America, club members on the program asked Dr. J. Horace Bass to discuss the subject. Dr. Bass presented all phases of the subject, and his definition of Americanism, and of the "isms" opposed to these ideals were firmly described. He reminded the audience of the necessity of solving the unemployment situation as probably the most needed program of the times in order to eliminate the alien "isms" in our United States.

A COZY OVEN DINNER

The kitchen is a cozy pleasant place on an autumn evening when there's a dinner slowly baking in the oven and giving off a savory tantalizing fragrance. I say, when a "dinner" is baking because I know we're all agreed that it's thrifty to bake as much of the food as possible in the oven once we have heated it. Therefore, we must try to plan a meal where several different foods that require the same oven temperature can be baked at the same time. A meat loaf and baked potatoes—or squash—with a pudding for dessert is one suggestion. Or, one of those convenient casserole combinations where we have our meat and vegetables baked together.

Cabin Casserole is such a dish for this season of the year. It's a most unusual combination of pork chops, green tomatoes and onions. And it's as thoroughly delicious as it is unusual. Here is the recipe:

Cabin Casserole
6 pork chops
2 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. pepper
4 cups sliced onions
4 cups sliced green tomatoes

Sear pork chops on both sides in hot pan and season with 1 tsp. of the salt and the pepper. Butter deep round or oblong casserole (10 inches in diameter). Sprinkle alternate layers of onions and green tomatoes in casserole and place each layer with salt. Lay seared chops on top and bake uncovered for 45 minutes in a moderate oven, 350° F. Then cover casserole to prevent chops from becoming too crisp and bake 15 to 45 minutes more (depending on thickness of chops). Amount: 6 servings.

A little curry powder may be sprinkled over chops when they are placed in the oven. Red tomatoes may be used if green tomatoes are not available. However, green tomatoes give a distinctive flavor and are preferable.

Now that we've decided on Cabin Casserole for the main dish of our autumn dinner, let's see what we can bake in the same moderate oven with it. Baked sweet potatoes would be grand—since there are no potatoes in the dish itself. And why not some crispy corn sticks with an apple pie? We can toss together a cabbage and carrot salad—and there with a pot of steaming tea or coffee in our dinner.

But the apple pie and corn sticks require different baking temperatures than the pork chops, you may say. Well, let's see what we can do about it. Suppose we have the oven, hot (450° F.), and then put the pie first. Then at the end of ten minutes, we can reduce the heat to moderate (350° F.) to finish baking the pie. We can put the casserole dish in too. At the end of 45 minutes, take the pie out. The sweet potatoes will require an hour to bake, so you'll have to judge for yourself when to put them in—since the thickness of your pork chops determines whether you'll bake the casserole dish an hour or an hour and a half. Then when the potatoes and casserole are done, have your corn sticks all ready to go into the oven. Increase the heat to 450° F. (hot oven) and let the corn sticks bake while you are serving the rest of the dinner. They only require 10 to 15 minutes for baking. Here is the recipe for them:

Canary Corn Sticks
Beat 1 egg well. Add 1 1/2 cups buttermilk or sour milk, and 1/2 tsp. soda. Sift flour once before measuring. Sift 1/2 cup all-purpose flour, 1 1/2 cup yellow or white cornmeal, 3 tsp. baking powder, 1 tsp. salt, and 1 tsp. sugar together, and add to egg-and-buttermilk (or sour milk) mixture. Mix well. Blend in 1/4 cup shortening (part butter) melted. Pour into hot buttered corn stick or muffin pans, filling each 3/4 full. Bake 10 to 15 minutes (depending on size) in a hot oven, 450° F. Remove from oven, and brush tops with soft butter. Place under broiler or in very hot oven for 3 to 4 minutes until golden brown. Amount: 1 dozen corn sticks or medium-sized muffins. Be careful not to over-bake.

Children who were home for the week end were: Mrs. M. S. Ruff, Medford, Oregon; L. E. Rosser and wife, Dallas; Mrs. A. F. Cybert, Wichita Falls; Mrs. H. A. Thornton, Mabank; Mrs. R. A. Clements and Mrs. Dave Eiland, Munday.

Others of Mrs. Rosser's relatives present were the following:

Grandchildren: Mrs. Geneva Gowling, Beaumont; Ector Thornton, Stanton; Dr. and Mrs. D. C. Eiland and Andy Eiland, Munday; John and Rosemary Wilcox, Beaumont, who are children of the former Jessamine Thornton, who taught in the Munday schools a number of years ago.

Great grandchildren: Mrs. Evelyn Cornelius, Big Spring; Jeanette and Jack Thornton, Stanton, and David Chase Eiland, Munday.

A great granddaughter, Bobbie Jean Cornelius of Big Spring, was also present.

While here a picture was taken of five generations of this family, the group going to Seymour Sunday night after having dinner together to have the picture made. Included in the five generations are: Mrs. Rosser, her daughter, Mrs. H. A. Thornton; her grandson, Ector Thornton, the great granddaughter, Mrs. Evelyn Cornelius and the great great granddaughter, Bobby Jean.

Although some of the family have visited in Munday on numerous occasions, this was the first time the group had all been together, and Mrs. Rosser had not seen one of her daughters in 21 years.

Lions Plan For Group Meeting

The Munday Lions Club, in regular luncheon Wednesday at noon, made preliminary plans for entertaining Lions of this section in their regular group meeting which will be held in Munday on the night of November 14.

Dr. J. Horace Bass, W. R. Moore and Grady Roberts were named on the committee to plan the program, the local club being responsible for the entire program rather than asking each club in the zone to furnish a number.

J. A. Caughran, L. M. Palmer and Don Ferris were named on the committee to arrange for a place for this meeting and for the food to be served. Lions from Haskell, Knox City, Seymour, Olney and Munday will be in attendance.

Lion Palmer had charge of the program Wednesday and gave an interesting explanation of penalties in football, explaining the referee's signals for these penalties. Eighteen members attended the luncheon.

WHY MAKE THE JOB HARDER?

By T. C. RICHARDSON, Associate Editor
Farm & Ranch Breeder-Feeder Ass'n.

It takes about five times as much labor to soak and feed milo to hogs as to feed it dry, and the pigs actually make more gain on dry milo than on soaked milo, according to tests at Texas Experiment Station. Threshed grain fed in a self-feeder, and dry milo heads fed on a clean, dry platform, with a protein supplement, got better results with less effort than by soaking the grain and hand-feeding.

Why do pigs do better when the table is set 24 hours a day, and they eat free-choice, than when hand-fed two or three times a day? That they do, has long been known. Why does it take less grain and protein supplement to make 100 pounds of pork in a self-feeder than when it is dish out to the pigs at the extra trouble of two or three daily feedings?

We begin to get the answer when we learn that pigs in these tests made 23 trips to the self-feeder every 24 hours, eating a little each time, masticating it unhurriedly, and digesting it thoroughly. Hand-feeding lets them get so hungry between meals that they gobble the feed down greedily, swallow whole grain, which cannot be digested. Accurate checks showed the self-fed pigs digested all but two pounds out of a hundred, of whole kafir grain, while hand-fed pigs wasted ten pounds in the hundred. At this rate the self-feeder repays the cost of materials very quickly.

Whatever grain is fed, whole or ground, the self-feeder saves labor and feed. If the feeder is properly constructed, and so placed that dirt does not blow into the feed, the feeding job is done with about two fillings of the self-feeder in the week.

It is understood, of course, that corn and the sorghum grains are deficient in proteins. A protein supplement of half tankage and half cottonseed meal should be provided in a separate self-feeder or a separate compartment from the grain. Shrimp or fish meal may be substituted for the tankage. Green pasture is the ideal for getting best results in fattening hogs with grain and protein supplement in self-feeders, but if green pasture is not to be had, a protein supplement made up of 40 parts tankage (by weight), 40 parts cottonseed meal, and 20 parts green alfalfa meal may be substituted. Any good legume hay—peanut, pea, soybean, etc.—cured green and ground may be substituted for ground alfalfa hay; with somewhat less digestibility than alfalfa, they are nevertheless high in protein and if cured green carry the essential vitamin A, which is lacking in dry grains.

It seems hardly necessary to refer to the mineral mixture, yet a few people still neglect this important factor in good hog feeding. Its lack may not be serious when hogs are running on good alfalfa or clover pastures, but it costs so little and it is so easy to provide that it ought never to be neglected. The hogs will not eat it unless they need it, but their own appetite is a better index of their nutritional needs than any man's guess.

The Texas Station says "a simple mineral mixture composed of equal parts by weight of bone meal, ground limestone or oyster shell flour and salt, will furnish the necessary minerals." This mixture of course should be where the hogs can get at it at all times, and must be protected from rain to prevent the leaching out of the soluble portions of the mixture. Generally speaking there are better corn and other feed grain in the Southwest than last year. There are also more pigs to be fed. Fifteen percent more sows farrowed in Arkansas last spring; 14 percent more in Louisiana, 35 percent more in Oklahoma, 20 percent more in Texas. Whether grain is plentiful or scarce, however, it pays to buy the protein supplement if necessary, to use a self-feeder, and to furnish green pasture.

School Safety Week Slated For Oct. 30-Nov. 4

State police have completed arrangements for additional activities in the traffic safety field during the week of October 30 to November 4, Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., Public Safety Director, announced today. Governor W. Lee O'Daniel proclaimed that period as School Safety Week in Texas and joined forces with the Texas Safety Association, local safety organizations and school officials to carry safety messages to the entire school system. Director Garrison said highway patrolmen have tested practically every school bus in the state to insure a minimum number of accidents caused by mechanical defects. State Police, too, will take part in chapel programs and assist safety patrols in directing traffic in the vicinity of rural schools. Attention of the officers will be directed at correcting careless operations of bicyclists and motorists who transport school children, Garrison said.

In keeping with the proclamation issued by the chief executive the public safety head called upon parents, school officials and motorists to assume individual responsibility in the protection of students, "not only during school safety week but throughout the year." "Those who transport school children," Garrison warned, "should discharge their passengers at curbs nearest their destinations so streets would not have to be crossed on foot. Playground supervisors should be alert to the dangers of their charges darting into streets to retrieve balls."

The state police department has been conducting and planning safety education courses in public schools and colleges for several years in which thousands of students take part.

RIGHT OUT OF THE AIR

By EARLE FERRIS

LISTENER surveys recorded a rise in popularity for the Sunday night variety hour, long the audience leader in radio, as soon as Edgar Bergen, pictured here, brought Charlie McCarthy back to the show. Bergen and McCarthy took time out for a vacation in Hawaii.

About the busiest radio writer is Carlton E. Morse, who turns out five episodes a week of "I Love A Mystery," in addition to his serial of American domestic life, "One Man's Family." His wife brews coffee for him when he suddenly gets an idea for a script in the middle of the night.

Kate Smith, shown here, has an especial liking for work as a commentator. Whereas her musical show keeps her penned up in a studio all day, Kate's commentator series also over CBS, allows her to stay out of doors in search of material to talk about.

Bob Knight, expert electric swinging guitarist, featured on Horace Heidt's "Pot o' Gold" program, was an established musician when only fourteen years old. He joined Harry Reser's combination then as a banjoist. Today he's considered one of the foremost authorities on electrified musical instruments. Roger Pryor is especially delighted to be master of ceremonies on the "Screen Guild Theatre." The job keeps him in the same town with his wife, Ann Sothorn, Hollywood actress. During the past three years while Pryor was leading a band in various parts of the country, wife and husband traveled a total of 60,000 miles to spend holidays together.

Anne Thomas, pictured here, is really a quiet little girl but for the past year she's been featured in roistering comedy roles on the Tuesday night "Johnny Presents" shows and as a tough girl on the Friday night shows.

In days of his recuperation from his attack of appendicitis during the summer, Dave Elman, conductor of "Hobby Lobby," added deep sea tuna fishing to his own list of spare time activities.

William Powell, pictured here, famed "thin man" of the films, was the second screen star to make an appearance on radio's "Silver Theatre," which is a regular Sunday feature over CBS. It was his first radio appearance of the season.

Prentiss Holds "Listless Citizenship" Greatest Danger to Free Institutions

New York.—The greatest danger to America today is a listless citizenship that fails to realize the foundations upon which our individual freedom rests, Henning W. Prentiss, Jr., president of Armstrong Cork Company, said here recently. Talking before the World Congress of Education for Democracy, Mr. Prentiss declared the "blessings of a republican government" are not for those who take them lightly for granted.

"A republic is far more than a written constitution," he said. "It is a way of life, a habit of independent thought, a pattern of self-reliant conduct, a willingness to play ball with the other fellow whether his ability is greater or less than yours, the substitution of personal dignity and self respect for envy and class hatred, the subordination of personal to social and national interests. It can rise to no loftier heights than the character of the human beings that comprise its citizenry."

"The dangers that our republic faces today arise from a variety of

Prospects For Extra Session Still in Doubt

Still in mid-air last week were discussions of a special session of the Legislature to raise more money for old age pensions.

In his Sunday broadcast Governor W. Lee O'Daniel said he had not heard from all legislators in answer to his request for pledges of support for his tax program, so he made no announcement of his decision on a session.

Thursday Lt.-Gov. Coke Stevenson, Speaker Emmett Morse, and Rep. E. H. Thornton of Galveston, house floor leader for SRJ 12, conferred with O'Daniel, and reports of their talk said that the legislative leaders were against a session at this time.

The pension crisis is not serious enough to compel unified action by legislators, and a special session would end in no action at all, they said.

Whether O'Daniel would follow this advice, none could predict at the week's end, but the betting was strongly against a special session until there is more of a public demand for it.

Weekly Health Letter!

Issued by Dr. Geo. W. Cox, M.D., State Health Officer of Texas

Austin, Tex.—A generation ago living conditions were less forced than they are today. Clock-consciousness was defined by hours rather than by minutes. And while there was less actual leisure then than now, the tempo of daily existence was moderate. Today, transportation, manufacturing, business, recreation, and life in general, to a great extent, seem to be under time's driving influence. While this new speed has definitely contributed to the amazing progress that has made this country great, and is reflected in the high living conditions now enjoyed in the average home, it has not been without its drawbacks. "One of the most important of these is its possible effect upon health," states Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

"Of course, no one would revert to former days, but it cannot be denied that misdirected, high-tension living conditions overtaxes the nervous system and may undermine the general health of the individual. Recently, an outstanding neurologist, after making allowances

Senior Report

The following editorial was taken from a well known farm magazine, and it was also given as a report in our Civics class. We thought it was good, so we are giving it to you.

Last spring a high school graduating class adopted the motto: "WPA, Here We Come." Now that there is well-defined plan to cut down the rolls of the WPA, we wonder just what these young people are doing. Such a motto may be justified during this period of unemployment and economic stress, but it is, on the face of it, a reflection on our school system. Twice each year, in good times and in bad, thousands of young men and young women tramp the streets of our cities and invade offices looking for employment. What kind of employment? A white collar job that requires no special training and little ability.

High school is about as far as the majority of our young men and young women go in the line of education. But few of them are equipped to go out in the world to make a living. Their smattering of English, of general science, of mathematics and other subjects is of little use to them except to secure enough credits to enable them to graduate.

It is true that one may select a course, and under proper direction and advice, carry it on through the four years of high school and finish with a good foundation on which to build a future, but it is a rare thing to find a pupil who does not skip around in his search for credits at the expense of securing training and information that will support his claim for employment following graduation day.

Fine stadiums, well-equipped gymnasiums, swimming pools, basket ball courts and magnificent buildings are all fine things in themselves, but less necessary than a well-equipped manual training department where girls and boys may learn to use their hands as well as their minds. When the football coach is the most important member of the faculty, it is time to examine more closely our entire school system and try to discover some of its outstanding weaknesses.

Only one state in the Union spends more money on all forms of education that does Texas, and this is New York with two and a half times Texas population and as many times its wealth. Texas is maintaining more colleges than is need for, the most of them competitors with one another in some degree, and is tolerating an organization of the public school system that is the cause of a great waste and inefficiency.

It seems that some of our citizens are waking up to a much-needed reconditioning of our public school system, and perhaps some day it will be done.

Junior Report

We juniors are very happy to announce that Miss Gereldine Book-out was our representative in the race for the Munday High School queen. The queen will be crowned at the Hallowe'en Carnival next Tuesday night.

The juniors are selling chances on a quilt top. A chance will cost only one dime. We will appreciate it if you help us out by buying a chance.

The chemistry and history III students were very sorry that Mr. Benson and Dr. Bass were absent last Friday, but we enjoyed having Mrs. Cooper with us.

Socially the juniors are very important. We have planned a party which will be held next Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Home Economics cottage.

"There would be more thoughts thought than one would think it possible to think if all people who think they ## think

Only knew how to think."

Last but not least comes the meaning of all the laughter and grins on the faces of the Juniors.

"D.P., darling," said the sweet young thing, "How long does a man have to be a halfback before he becomes a fullback?"

Alleen: "Didn't you guarantee when you sold me this car that you would replace anything that broke?"

Salesman: "Yes, ma'am. What is it?"

Allene: "Well, I want a new garage door."

Sargent: "Black hens are smarter than white hens, aren't they?"

Mr. Benson: "What makes you ask such a silly question?"

Sargent: "Well, black hens can lay white eggs, but white hens can't lay black eggs, can they?"

Sophomore Report

The sophomore class has had several class meetings in the past week; and, to sum it all up in a few words, we have accomplished nothing to speak of. However, we have been busy selling chances for our queen, Dixie Atkinson.

Seemingly, the sophomores are all just now starting up fools' hill, especially a few.

We don't know if it is safe for Dick to attend the Stamford football game Friday night as Cousin Lulu of Stamford is on a rampage because he didn't appear at Spar on Saturday and Sunday.

Freshman News

We had a class meeting Tuesday to elect the freshman nominee for Queen. We elected Marguerite Ford. We tried very hard Saturday to get money for our queen.

The plays last Tuesday night were all very entertaining.

Hallowe'en Carnival

Ice cream, soda pop, candy, pop corn! These are but a few of the delicious eats that may be bought at this annual school entertainment.

Bingo, fishing, strip tease, side shows, and cake walks. All forms interesting games and jokes. Excitement, pleasure, plenty of laughs and giggles. Come early, stay late, and have the time of your life.

Bring Grandma, Grandad, and all the little kiddies, for the more the merrier.

Give them a treat that they'll remember all their lives.

Dress in your tackiest, prettiest, or ugliest and masquerade if you wish.

Come in and show your "shine." See the climax of the evening's entertainment, the coronation of the queen. This will be a beautiful event, and we wish to advise you to see it. Each class will be represented by its candidates for the title of queen.

Every member of high school will be doing all within his power to show you an enjoyable time . . . so . . . COME ONE, COME ALL.

Inferiority is a blessing when it is humility. Mediocrity set in motion conquers an army, becoming grandeur through its victory.

If a situation makes you feel small. Look for a place to bite. The flea is mightily efficient. He has changed the will of kings.

"Don't you think the feeling of superiority is rare?" an educator questioned recently.

"No, I don't," I answered. "I find it perhaps the commonest of all mental aberrations. It is simply more disguised than others, particularly in cases of emotional arrogance. There are plenty of people who know they are not highly intellectual, but few who haven't pride about their personalities. You may have dreamed, as a boy, of

THOSE FASCINATING SPOTS

by Mae Pace Killingsworth

Turn back the pages if you will and glimpse with me another place in old Massachusetts. Some folks might pass it by unnoticed, others accustomed to seeing it daily may think it isn't much to look at. Well, it isn't all dressed up with new paint that shines out in the sun; nor does it boast of anything, in any special way, that tells one it is something out of the ordinary. You have to know what you are looking for, in fact, to even find it.

But drab as it may seem, it is a spot chock full of reverence, prayer and singing—it is a spot hallowed by tales of bravery. It is the "Old North Church," the oldest one in Boston, I'm speaking of; and for all its years, rather chipper it still is, extending a welcoming hand to all.

Without effort, galloping hoofbeats, a hurried ride at midnight and a lantern come to mind. Some way, it is easy to visualize how an important light could shine far, and become a symbol from this angelic sweetheart you one day hoped to find. I'll wager she had all the graces: wit, wisdom, beauty, and virtue. Yet she was to adore you utterly—which proves you believed yourself worthy of such affection. Arrogance is a most usual mental habit. Humility and reasonableness are rare.

What is this thing we call "popularity?" Simply this: The ability to win and hold the liking of others.

The changing of the focus from one's own self-expression to being an instrument of comfort, happiness, and joy to someone else is the secret of charm.

Isn't it strange that the way to win what we care about is not to care.

point. The tall tower, with the beautiful Charles river nestling below, seems to pierce the stars. If I were a mystery writer, I think I would like to climb the same stairs to that lofty tower and try to make my characters become real people. To my notion the setting would be ideal. Some of the people in my story might even be chosen from the real ones, who pass up and down the street; as it is now a crowded section with a foreign make-up.

It was around twelve of the clock when I climbed the steps and entered the always-open door of this contented-looking old church. The main auditorium shed such peacefulness, I thought. Sort of a haven from the storm—life's storm, perhaps, when there's so much unrest in the world. I glance around and tried to catch the sound of chimes. They are always so appealing, but to my disappointment they failed to send their music. So, down the aisle I started, trodding ever so softly, for the atmosphere was charged with sacredness. Lines from an old poem bobbed up, something about

"Paul Revere was a rider bold
 Well have his valorous deeds been told . . ."

To my amazement all but these had escaped me. O Well, it didn't make any particular difference. What did I care? Seeing this church was more important. But how I wished the visit might have been on Sunday and I could have attended services.

First the attention was attracted to the unusual box-like pews. Entrance to the pews is by way of small floors, from the main aisle. The benches arranged around the squares are very narrow and straight-up. They looked none too comfortable and the mystery still is, "How may all face the speaker?" The pews offer a certain amount of privacy for attending families. Even a suggestion of "napping" at one time or another, if one of the occupants were so inclined, could have been indulged in. On the outside are printed family names showing the owner.

A unique feature of this main room is the neat, prim and winding stairway which leads to the pulpit. Once up, the minister is high enough to look with ease over the entire congregation. So come to think of it, maybe a nap would not be so good after all!

Through a narrow hallway and just to one side is another inviting room. It is a kind of study where old records, portraits and some of Paul Revere's possessions are kept. The noble, old lantern that flashed out its brightest ray with "urge" in its beam, peered from a glass case. When I beheld Paul Revere's picture I was aghast. Instead of seeing him in a tri-cornered hat and flowing cape, as I had always pictured, he was elderly with a very bold head in evidence. "Suppose I thought of him as being eternally young and I was not prepared for it any other way.

Anyway he always has been, and generations down the years will look on him as a dashing hero. And through the years, Old North Church will continue to lead the parade of churches, for the part it played on that April night, when a horseback mission held sway.

AAA SHORTS

In 1931 and 1932, although the South did not suffer any large loss in cotton exports, the price of cotton went down to 5 cents a pound and the average income per family from cotton and cottonseed went down to $216.

The domestic demand for wheat in this country, year in and year out, is from 650 to 700 million bushels.

Since 1932-33 the cotton farmer's cash income including Federal price adjustments and conservation payments, has nearly doubled.

Approximately 26,000 Southern farmers are filling responsible places of leadership by serving on community, county and state Agricultural Conservation Committees. In Texas 5,000 farmers are serving on committees helping administer the AAA program.

DON'T GIVE A COLD AN EVEN BREAK!

DURING the common cold months, or winter season, it is especially important to take every precaution to protect your health. Quick changes of temperature should be avoided. Sudden changes of temperature, such as occur when going from a warm room into a cold one, make it easy for you to "catch cold." Don't give a common cold an even break.

Prevention is the best remedy. However, if you should catch cold, consult your family doctor before it has an opportunity to undermine your health.

For your health's sake, and to obtain the greatest value from the fuel you use, heat your entire house and provide adequate ventilation during the short winter season.

RIGHT OUT OF THE AIR

By EARLE FERRIS

Good news for thousands who wrote asking that "Those We Love" return to the air with its original cast! Nan Grey, pictured here, has been signed again to play the leading role, Kathy Marshall. The program replaced the last half of the departed Rudy Valle Hour.

In the afternoon serial, "The Life and Love of Dr. Susan," Nancy Chandler kids her beau, Skiddy, because he can't stop sneezing from hay fever. In real life, Everett Gannon, who plays Skiddy, jibes Mary Mason, who takes the part of Nancy, because her nose is always red for the same reason!

head of his own band, sometimes borrows Oscar Bradley's baton and directs the orchestra through a few bars at rehearsal just to keep in the swing of things.

Although Conrad Nagel hates golf, his doctor prescribed the game as a good recuperative remedy for a recent chest cold. The Silver Theatre director is composing on miniature golf, however, since he claims his cold was only a slight one.

Kate Smith is having a hard time keeping her mind on her radio work this fall. The singer is decorating a new apartment and every available moment is spent doing the New York shops for furnishings which she wants to be just right.

Monday, Tuesday and Friday nights, a program on which he conducts the orchestra is called "Johnny Presents," but it was Mrs. Johnny Green who presented the young maestro with a daughter, Babette. "Pappy" Johnny Green is pictured here.

Although Dave Eiman, "Hobby Lobby" conductor, sends guests checks instead of the railroad ticket usually forwarded those scheduled for such shows, not one hobbyist to date has failed to show up for the broadcast.

"Myrt and Marge" are beginning their ninth year in radio. Mother and daughter started on radio with on the radio on the mother's career—she is an actress. The role of "Myrt" is played by Myrtle Vail, pictured here.

Four Students Of Knox County In H-SU, Abilene

Hardin-Simmons University, of Abilene, pioneer West Texas educational institution, founded in 1891, recently inaugurated its forty-eighth year with increased enrollment. Dr. J. D. Sandefer, dean of senior college and university heads in Texas, began at the same time his thirty-first year as president at Hardin-Simmons. H-SU's beloved "Proxy" however, is critically ill, and Dr. R. N. Richardson, executive vice president, is administrative head of the school.

The Hardin-Simmons student body this year includes undergraduates from 11 Texas counties, 13 states, and two foreign countries, Mexico and China. Taylor County, with Abilene as county seat, leads with 234 students.

Enumerated by classes, students at H-SU this year from Knox County are: Jeff Bowden, junior, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Bowden, Munday; Margaret Tiner, sophomore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Tiner, Munday; Elizabeth Nelson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Nelson, Munday; E. G. Parkhill, Jr., freshman, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Parkhill, of Knox City.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Maggart and baby daughter, Sandra Gayle, of Coleman, visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Bookout last Sunday.

Mrs. W. E. Lawson of Dallas came in Sunday for two month's visit in the home of her son, Arthur Lawson, and family.

Presenting The Queen of Munday High School

Well, it's over! Everyone can take a deep breath and relax. I don't believe anyone can say that they are sorry, for the seniors certainly aren't. Now speaking of those Seniors, if you haven't already figured out why they are grinning, perhaps we can offer you a good explanation.

Let's give them a hand. We'll have to hand it to them; they certainly deserve it! The result of all their hard work was easily seen when they turned in an amount that almost doubled the next highest.

The juniors put up a good fight, however. If they have the "old spirit" and pep next year that they showed this year, they will certainly be hard to beat.

Every class proved to be a strong competitor, and a good loser as well.

The representative from each class will accompany the queen, Gladys Booe, and the attendant, Colleen McCarty, in the ceremony Tuesday night, October 31.

The queen will be escorted by the king, Lamoine Blacklock, and the queen's attendant by Dan Billingsley. The class representatives will be escorted by boys chosen from their respective classes.—School Reporter.

Miss Juanita Golden, who is attending T.S.C.W., at Denton, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oates Golden, over the week end.

J. C. Rice, who is employed in the county agent's office, visited in Fort Worth and Dallas over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Stall of Abilene are visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Atkeison this week.

TEXAS LEADS

Texas leads in every department of the cotton marketing service offered by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, E. A. Miller, agronomist of the Texas A. and M. Extension Service, has announced.

Quoting from information furnished by the Agricultural Marketing Service, he said applications had been approved for 286 Texas cotton groups, made up of 15,544 farmers with 628,557 acres planted to cotton of approved varieties.

Oklahoma had the second largest number of cotton groups, with 106, and the second largest acreage, 352,603, but Mississippi with 11,455 farmers, ranked second in that department.

Altogether applications from 914 groups made up of 64,247 farmers and 1,762,954 acres were approved for the cotton states.

The cotton marketing service, offered under the terms of the Smith-Doxey Act, provides free classing and market news to members of approved one-variety cotton associations in order that growers may know the correct grade, staple, and value of their cotton.

There are 415 one-variety cotton associations, with 27,066 members and 997,358 acres, in Texas, but many did not apply for the service because the bulk of their crop was already harvested, Miller said.

Boyd Carley of Abilene was a business visitor in town Tuesday afternoon.
