Charles William Eliot
 When Charles Eliot was made president of Harvard in 1869, education was far from meeting the standards of education in the Old World. He saw where many difficulties lay, and after 57 years of constant effort, had the pleasure of knowing that American schools held their own with any in the world.

Eliot was born in Boston. He attended Harvard and became its president when he was 35, although many people thought he was much too young for such a position. For 40 years he remained actively at the head of the university, and when he retired in 1909, he was made president emeritus, which honor he held until his death. It was largely through Eliot's great energy that Harvard grew from a provincial college to a world-famous university.

During the latter years of his life he wrote a great deal, and edited the world's classics into a famous "five-foot shelf" of books.

The Juniors are working very hard planning the banquet for the Seniors.

We don't think that Ethel will have to worry about keeping cool this summer, because a certain someone is on the ice route.

Say, do you know the Seniors' prayer? It states, "Lord, we don't ask nothing for ourselves, but please bring our parents a son-in-law." Even if your teacher calls you old maids, you don't want to be old maids all your life, do you, Seniors?

An Able Appetite
 Physicians will testify to the fact that thousands of their patients, by indulging in insatiable appetite, have eaten themselves into an untimely grave. Perhaps it was this thought that concerned the old colored woman in the story.

This colored mammy viewed with misgivings the great amount of sugar cane being eaten by her six-year-old grandson. Eventually she warned the boy: "Chile, ain't I done tol' yo' time an' again dat youse eatin' too much cane? Don't you know, chile, dat cane killed Abel!"

Senior Class News
 We have been studying about the problem of distribution and the rent of land in economics, which, we think, is very interesting. Mr. Hoffman asked Alma what contour meant. Alma said that it meant the way the land runs. (Mr. Hoffman asked if it could hog, too.)

In English IV we are reading the novel "Tale of Two Cities" which we are finding very interesting.

We were glad to have our former classmate, Dorothy Koenig, visit with us last Tuesday afternoon. We hope that she enjoyed her visit as well as we enjoyed having her visit with us.

We were also glad to have Berntha Stengel visit with us this week.

Sophomore Report
 One of the biggest events in high school happened last Friday when 50 per cent of the sophomores made a straight 100 in algebra. But this still wasn't so very unusual since we always do make good grades.

WE WONDER WHY—
 Albert always has his head on his desk. Is it because he has so much knowledge in it that he can't hold it up?

Rose was so happy Tuesday. (Joe, visit us more often.)

"Rose's seems to miss 'early top.' (What's the matter with you, Philip?)

The Freshmen are so noisy. (Are you trying to get the best of the teacher?)

A sophomore boy thinks his eyes look like an eagle's.

Nadine likes to talk to the one one the right of her. (Albert, do you know anything about it?)

Since T. J. was absent Teresa Andrae and Florine Decker wrote the report.

Freshman Report
 Once more exams are over. However, these will be the last exams this year for some of us. (I hope.)

Friday in Prose and Poetry we read the Trysting Place. All of us enjoyed it, but especially Lucille and Bernadine.

Lucille is "put to the order of" the way to endorse a check?

A mother sent this somewhat satirical note to the teacher of her small son: "Pardon me for calling your attention to the fact that you have pulled Johnnie's right ear until it is getting longer than the other. Please pull his left ear for a while and oblige his mother."

Lucille thinks Ben's name should be "big mouth."

Theresa and Lucille have an interesting conversation.

Bernadine enjoys reading dramas.

Seniors and Juniors say they can beat the Freshmen and Sophomores playing ball when they can't.

Urban moved back a seat Monday. Was it to get even with someone a few seats across?

... but what has this automobile to do with your ELECTRIC SERVICE?

FRANKLY, it has nothing to do with your electric service. We use it here to illustrate a point.

Automobiles were "rich man's toys" not so many years ago. They cost a lot of money and they cost a lot to run. They were gas-eaters and oil-eaters. The hills they could climb in high were few and far between. If you got them up to fifty miles an hour, the noise and vibration were terrific.

Today millions of American families can afford beautiful, powerful cars that outsmart, outshine and outperform the best models of the Twenties in every way, yet cost less than half as much.

This progress has not been confined to the automobile. Time was when electric service provided only your light. Today you can use more lights, a radio, refrigerator, vacuum cleaner, washing machine and other appliances, and the electricity to operate all of these costs very little more than you used to pay for light alone.

Like the automobile, your electric service improves steadily year after year. At the same time, its price comes down. This is possible because of the constant effort of the people of your electric company to improve service and reduce rates. It's an effort that goes on and on. Because of it, your electric service will be better and cheaper in the future than it is today. The credit belongs to a group of people who are never content to rest on their laurels, who strive to do their job just a little better today than they did it yesterday. They're the people of your electric company.

Invite a Visitor to WEST TEXAS in 1940

REDDY KILOWATT is singing the praises of West Texas, "the Land of Opportunity." We have many things of which to be proud—opportunities for agricultural and industrial growth; sites of scenic beauty and historical significance; great natural resources; fine highways; splendid educational institutions; and a delightful all-year climate. When you write friends in other states, invite them to visit West Texas on their 1940 vacation trip.

IS IT SCOTCH?

Q-Will it cut that grocery bill?

SAYS MRS. JOHN LINDSEY, DODDRA, TEX.

"My Servel Electrolux is six years old, and I can truthfully say that in these six years we have owned it our grocery bill has been cut one-third! It costs only a few cents a month to operate."

See the new 1940 Electrolux—the one automatic refrigerator with no moving parts in its freezing system—operates on butane, bottled gas or kerosene, as well as natural gas. Just a small down payment—savings can pay for it. Come in TODAY!
