On the first evening, each club will put on a one act play, the best of which will receive prizes. Mrs. Isla Mae Chapman, Extension Service District agent will speak briefly. SMALL COTTON EXPORTS IN SIGHT

Cotton growers should congratulate themselves for having a reduced acreage planted to that staple. Their trouble will come when they try to dispose of their crop this fall. The Government will probably help out with a loan, which will be the same as buying it, but every bale taken over by the government is so much added to the already large carryover which will be a weight on the market in future years.

Practically every foreign market has been closed to American cotton. Even England and France are taking only small quantities, while Japan has a trading agreement with India and is practically out of the market. Men who specialize in the study of markets say that the United States will be fortunate if 2,500,000 bales are exported in 1940-41 season, whereas we formerly exported from 6,000,000 to 8,000,000 bales.

Domestic consumption of nearly 8,000,000 bales during the season just closed makes a new record, but there is no assurance that this rate will be continued. Even if it is, the outlook is not encouraging, for taking maximum estimates for export and domestic consumption, we will have a market for 10,500,000 bales and probably a crop of 11,000,000 bales with a carryover of more than 14,000,000 bales at this time.

In the future southern farmers will be forced to make cotton just one of their major products, and not the only one. They will have to produce a desirable staple and wherever possible, reduce the cost of production by producing more per acre.—Farm and Ranch.

WHO WANTS WAR?

It used to be said that the rich led the masses—the cannon fodder—to slaughter on the battlefields in order to make inordinate profits. But those who say "war mongers" are abroad in the land today are having a hard time putting the finger on "big business."

Although Senator Burton K. Wheeler says the "international bankers" are seeking to precipitate the United States into the European War, he is not particularly convincing. Possibly some of the "international bankers" do favor war with Hitler, but it is so, they doubtless have wit enough to know that they would lose by such intervention.

Wheeler absolved everybody else, including "big business," citing a statement of Alfred P. Sloan, of General Motors, to support his statement that industry is for peace. He might have quoted others, including the United States Chamber of Commerce and the National Association of Manufacturers. For war means, not profits, but losses.

It is noteworthy that although 14 per cent of the people (6,500,000) on the basis of the latest Gallup poll, favor intervention abroad; the upper income group is the least warlike. Here are the divisions; upper income group, 10 per cent; middle income group, 14 per cent; lower income group, 16 per cent.

Such pro-war sentiment that prevails goes deeper than any consideration of pecuniary profits, and any attempts to imply that such sentiment is inspired by a selfish few does violence to the evidence.—From the Bellingham (Wash.) Herald.

SKILLIONS OF AMERICANS

"Skillions" is a word we thought up for the occasion. We're using it to describe the fact that Americans—millions of them—are by and large the most skillful people at doing work in the world. There are millions of skilled workers in this country—in the factories, one the farms, in stores and offices. There are "skillions" of Americans!

The average American can learn a new job faster than the typical individual in any other land. Because we're used to freedom, we're more self-reliant, better independent thinkers. This is one of the facts that lies back of our tremendous success as a nation and a productive economy.

These thoughts about the "skillions" of Americans are natural at the present time when the United States is thinking seriously of national defense and the problems that go along with it. We hear it suggested in many quarters that for various reasons this country has a shortage of skilled labor, which will handicap our preparedness aim.

The point that is generally forgotten is the ability of Americans to learn and adjust themselves rapidly to the new tasks we have just mentioned. And if the government is prompt in making its defense requirements known to industry, there won't be any serious difficulty in training the men to do the job.

Our "skillions of Americans" will take care of that problem!

The powerful Democratic leaders in Washington will insist on the nomination and re-election of Roosevelt for a third term. That seems to be definite even though the President should make a statement to the contrary. Leading Democrats are now interested in picking up a new vice-president who would be strong enough to succeed President Roosevelt—the theory being he might resign after the war emergency is over.

PEOPLE WANT DEFENSE, NOT WAR

A financial authority recently made this significant observation: "Let us be on guard against the building of a war hysteria. Let us keep it clearly in mind that what we are talking about is defense, and not going to war. This is the time for clear thinking rather than emotional thinking."

The standard polls indicate that while the American people are almost unanimously in favor of adequate preparedness, they are also overwhelmingly opposed to belligerent participation in the European slaughter.

Industry does not want war because, if for no other reason, it knows from experience in the last World War that it results in ruinous taxation and depression. It will do all in its power to avoid war—even while it does all in its power to make our defenses so strong that all aggressors will hesitate at bringing war to us.

ALL OVER THE COUNTRY . . .

It's a big country, the United States. No map is big enough to show all of the tens of thousands of cities and towns and tiny villages that exist in every part of it. But even a casual glance at any map of the whole nation or of any single state or section in it will reveal one surprising thing.

That's the number of towns and cities in America that have been named after some industry. Names like Steektown and Valley Forge and Tannerville dot American maps by the hundred.

These names offer quiet but convincing testimony of the importance of industry to the general scheme of things in this country. The communities in question were named after industries, and another large group of communities have been named after men who founded these towns.

And there is outstanding evidence that industry has a lot to do with building up the community—and through that, the national—life of this nation!

A MATTER OF CONSUMING INTEREST

"Hidden taxes" don't bother the average American very greatly. He may suffer annoyance for a fraction of a second when he had to fumble for odd pennies to take care of the concealed tax in a pack of cigarettes or the price of a movie ticket. But by and large we're a good-natured people, willing to take a lot in our stride.

So we're inclined to lose track of the manner in which taxes eat into the family income. And when we find out the true facts of the case, as developed in a survey made by one industrial magazine in a typical American community, we naturally are surprised—to put it mildly!

The magazine examined the purchases made by average citizens of the community in order to find out how much of each dollar spent was accounted for by taxes.

10 cents for each dollar spent for milk and dairy products went for taxes.

In the case of movie tickets or electricity, the figure was 12 cents.

In the case of furniture, 13 cents.

In the case of a new car or the telephone bill, 15 cents.

That was the situation before our new national defense measures went into effect. And now that we must be absolutely sure that each dollar of governmental revenues is used wisely and well, it would also seem that all American should look with added care at the hidden levies paid by the country's consuming public!

Maggie Mitchell of Murfreesboro, Tenn., earns a livelihood by wiring bottle tops together to make baskets, which she sells for 50 cents each.

Burglars who robbed an oil company office in New York state pried loose a 150-pound safe buried two inches in concrete, and carried it away.

When Clair Mullen, 13, of McKeesport, Pa., returned to a hospital to thank nurses who had cared for him when had broken his arm, he fell on the steps and broke the same arm.

A group of college editors have agreed to raise their publications to a standard in keeping with "college dignity," whatever that is.

IN 4-H TOP FLIGHT
One of Texas' top-flight 4-H Club girls, Allaire Beinhorn, 18, of Route 3, Houston, has been named as recipient of a scholarship to the American Youth Foundation Leadership Training Camp at Shelby, Michigan, July 29 to August 11. The scholarship is offered by W. H. Danforth of St. Louis, Missouri, president of the Danforth Foundation, according to Onah Jacks, state girls' club agent of the A. and M. College Extension Service.

Purpose of the camp is to train American young people with unusual leadership qualities. A member of the Garden Home Acres Club for nearly five years, Allaire has carried on club demonstrations in gardening, clothing, canning, orchard work, and bedroom improvement. In 1938 she won a 4-H clothing contest in Harris county and that same year she was named one of Texas' 100 Gold Star 4-H members for outstanding achievements in her home, club and community.

Allaire has estimated that financial value of her 4-H Club work at $1,292.57 for the past four years. According to her club records she has contributed substantially to her family income through sale of vegetables and frozen sewing which she has done for neighbors. One of her outstanding demonstrations is her orchard which she started from seedlings and cuttings.

In addition to serving as president of her club for two years, Allaire has been an active member of the Harris county 4-H council. She is also an accomplished musician and serves as pianist in her club, church, and for numerous community events.

FREAKISH FIRES
Austin—Summer's terrific heat waves bring out stories of some mighty peculiar fire hazards, reports Marvin Hall, state fire insurance commissioner.

A fish bowl, placed on a table where it could catch the full force of the sun's rays, was responsible for a fire in Fredericksburg, Hall declared. He said a water bottle was held to be the cause of a blaze in Dallas.

"Of course fires from this cause are few and far between," The Commissioner explained, "but one fire is one too many."

Rural powerlines that formerly cost around $1,500 per mile are now being built at about half that figure as a national average, according to Harry Slattery, administrator of the R. E. A.

SOUR CREAM
The tragedy of sour cream may be turned into a triumph if it is used in a baked fish dish, or for baked veal chops or cutlets, or for gravy.

Nora Ellen Elliott, foods preparation specialist of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service comes up with this argument: Fish and Veal are often seasoned with lemon and butter. The acid of soured cream corresponds to the lemon and the cream supplies the fat.

The method is to season the fish with salt and put it in a very hot oven for about five minutes. Then add sour cream to cover, sprinkle with bread crumbs, and bake at a moderate temperature until the fish is tender and the crumbs are brown.

Veal chops and cutlets are first pan-broiled and then baked in the sour cream.

And Miss Elliott points out that sour cream makes a good gravy that goes extra well with chicken, chipped beef, and such vegetables as fried tomatoes, snap beans and spinach.

A JACK AND JILL STORY
How many miles is it from the house to the well on the average farm.

An engineer for the United States Department of Agriculture recently found that a farm woman who has been born and who died in the same place had been obliged to make an average of four trips a day from the house to the well to that a walk down hill and up was house and was 10 feet lower, so the well was 20 feet from the provide water for the household, necessary.

The engineer calculated that during 50 years this woman had carried 7,000 barrels of water from the well to the house, had walked and had climbed up a distance equal to that from New York to San Francisco and back, and had climbed up a distance equal to 100 trips up and down Pike's Peak.

The home demonstration agent and county agent, with other workers of Extension Service are constantly urging farm people who carry water from cisterns or ditches are financially able to install home conveniences, if they do not already have them. There is no household labor-saving system convenience of more value than a farm water system and sewage disposal.

Bulletins on how to install water systems and the probable cost may be obtained from the county extension offices of the bulletin rack at the First National Bank.

Frank Cerveny Has Copies of Paper Published on Transport Ship "Seattle"

Cerveny Comes Home on Seattle At End of World War

Frank Cerveny, world war veteran and member of Lowry Post of American Legion, recently brought the Times Office a copy of "The Sea-sick Seattler," a newspaper published on the U. S. Seattle, which was employed as a transport vessel bringing soldiers home from war-torn France at the close of the World War.

The copy, dated July 4, 1919, tells of this final trip of the Seattle as a transport ship, stating it would go into dry dock upon arrival in the U. S. The story follows:

Pursued by a French Sub-chaser the C-64, just to show us the attitude that the French people have for us, and with her band playing the Marseillaise, the U.S.S. Seattle ploughed out of Brest harbor at four-fifteen, June twenty fifth, on the return voyage on her fifteenth round trip since war begun, and lying there in the harbor, ready to sail tomorrow, for ships always sail tomorrow, were the George Washington, the Mt. Vernon and the super-dreadnaught Oklahoma, decks cleared as the ready for instant action, but only too proudly saluting the homeward bound Seattle. Faster and faster she speeds until the little Sub-chaser buries her nose in the water and throws a spray fifty feet on either side in a vain attempt to keep her nose even with the Seattle.

And now the boats back in the harbor grow smaller in the perspective, the shore lines widen, the rocky bluffs that have looked down with a frown for centuries on all invaders, fairly bristling with obsolete cannon, are visible as the mists rise and their former sovereignty is lost in the touch of the evening sunshine, smiling a farewell to a happy lot of "Soldats Americains" who are looking their last farewell upon the sunny shores of France as members of the A. E. F.

The mists settle again, the harbor and boats are lost from sight and a happy lot of khaki clad comrades rattle their mess kits in anticipation of that selfish meal of which they are soon to partake, the one to be divided with Neptune in many cases given entirely to him, for, as though challenging the right of intruders to cross his trackless waves, Neptune heaves his bosom in mighty waves, soon to be answered by two thousand heavens from the boat's rail, and the Seattle is off for the land of Thank God and round dollars.

THE SEATTLE

If Uncle Sam divined the bad taste in the mouth of the A. E. F. because of the seeming tardiness of returning the troops, he also knew the antidote for it. And he has certainly applied that antidote to us, by putting us on the Seattle. We are one mind and one voice in the opinion that many a hardship of France will be veiled and forgotten as a result of our home coming on this good ship. The cordial and hospitable treatment accorded us by the officers and the crew show us only too well the true gentlemanly qualities of the ship's personnel.

And so we propose a toast "to the good ship Seattle, to her good skipper, Captain Blakely, and to her capable crew, happiness and prosperity, and in our own hearts long and sincere remembrance."

Brooks Favors Defense Program

Dallas.—Pierce Brooks, candidate for Railroad Commissioner, will cooperate to the fullest with Governor W. Lee O'Daniel in his plans to co-ordinate Texas resources with the national preparedness and defense program, Brooks sent the Governor a telegram in which he pledge him whole-hearted cooperation as soon as he takes office on January 1.

"I feel that Texas, producing half the nation's oil, has a very important part in the preparedness picture," Brooks said. "As the chief executive of Texas Governor O'Daniel will take the lead in co-ordinating the great resources of Texas with Federal plans. As a public official I shall carry out the pledge I made at the beginning of my campaign to lend my fullest co-operation to him in this work.

"The time has come in Texas and in the Nation when professional politicians must be laid aside and all of us must work for the common good regardless of former political alignments.

"This is no time when the public should be worried about who the next Chairman of the Railroad Commission may be, or who will hold a majority on the three-man board. It is immaterial who the chairman is. It is purely an empty honor. The majority vote of the Commission ought always to be in favor of the general welfare of the people. That's where my vote will be cast every time. When Col. Thompson is right I will vote with him. When Jerry Sadler is right I will vote with him. When, in my opinion, either or both of them are wrong, I will vote against them. My obligation will be to the people, and to no politician. I will do my duty on the Commission independently and without regard to the political fortunes of any man or any clique which may desire control of the Commission."

Hall Warns Of Pasture Fires

Austin, Texas.—Texas farmers and ranchers today were advised by Marvin Hall, state fire insurance commissioner, to exercise every precaution in the prevention of costly pasture fires.

The danger of such fires is high in the late summer and early fall, he said, especially in areas scorched by prolonged drought such as the panhandle region in West Texas also. Land owners in South Texas were advised to take steps to protect grazing areas.

Land scorched by fire may take two years for reseeding, necessitating heavy expense on the part of livestock men who may be forced to lease other pastures or purchase feed.

Hall advised the adoption of practices of old-time cowboys and ranchers in breaking off the heads of matches after they have been ignited. Small land owners have plowed furrows to guard against the spread of fire.

NEEDY TEXAS STUDENTS TO RECEIVE NYA AID AGAIN THIS YEAR

Austin.—During the 1940-41 school year the National Youth Administration Student Work program will enable approximately 23,000 needy Texas young people 16 to 24 years of age, inclusive, to stay in school, according to J. C. Kellam, State NYA Administrator.

Kellam said the NYA Student Work program will be carried out in much the same manner and with approximately the same amount of funds as it was last year.

"Boys and girls who desire assistance through this phase of the NYA program," the State Youth Administrator said, "should apply to the head of the school or college they wish to attend. Work that will be useful to both the student and to the institution will be provided on projects designed and supervised by the officials of the schools. Such work will include research and survey activity, clerical work, library assistance, and improvement of school grounds."

Part of every Texas oil dollar finds its way

EVERY merchant in our State—every business and professional man—every worker, shares in Texas oil's huge expenditures.

Many Texas cities with all their varied businesses and employment exist and prosper today because of oil.

Last year petroleum created a direct buying power in our state of 550 million dollars.

Of this, Texas retail merchants received 324 million dollars, landlords 44 million, utilities 38 million and professional men 22 million, while 83 million more went for insurance and savings.

This huge sum is distributed and redistributed in an endless chain of income for our State and its people.

Texas oil payrolls are over 60 per cent of all the wages paid to all Texas workers.

Directly or indirectly, you get a part of your income from oil.

If you're a Texan, you're in the oil business.

SOUR CREAM CAKES ARE DELICIOUS

Warm, sultry days may mean a jarf of sour cream in our refrigerator or cellar. Fortunately this need not be a calamity—since some of our most delicious baked foods are made with cream that has "turned." In fact, you'll find milk companies in the large cities selling sour cream to their customers who want to enjoy the extra tenderness and flavorfulness that sour cream bestows on muffins, cookies and cakes.

NO CREAMING! Sour cream cakes have another advantage, too. If you use a thick sour cream that contains at least 35 per cent butter fat, it will take the place of shortening—so there'll be no tedious "creaming" process in making this cake.

Here is a basic sour cream cake recipe which I know you will all cherish this summer, because with few and slight changes—you can use this recipe for a white cake—a chocolate cake—a plain spice cake—and a spice cake that's filled with fruit and nuts. Each and every one is delicious. So your taste and the occasion will dictate your choice.

SOUR CREAM CAKE AND VARIATIONS

3 eggs	1/2 tsp. salt
1 1/2 cups sugar	1/4 tsp. soda
2 1/2 cups sifted cake flour	1 1/2 cups sour cream (35% butter fat)
or	1 tsp. vanilla
2 1/2 cups sifted all-purpose flour	1/2 tsp. vanilla extract
1 1/2 tsp. baking powder

Beat eggs until light and lemon-colored. Beat in sugar gradually. Sift flour, baking powder, salt and soda together, and add to the egg mixture alternately with the sour cream, mixing with a slow beating and folding motion. Blend in the flavoring. Pour into well-greased and floured 8-inch square pan (2 1/2 inches deep). Bake 45 minutes in a moderate oven, 350° F.

Chocolate Variation
Leave out 1/4 cup of flour... using 2 1/4 cups sifted cake flour or 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour. Add 2 squares (2 oz.) melted unseasoned chocolate to the batter at the last and leave out the lemon extract... using only 1 tsp. vanilla for flavoring.

Plain Spice Variation
Add 2 tsp. cinnamon, 1 tsp. cloves and 1 tsp. allspice to the flour mixture. Leave out the vanilla and lemon. This cake is delicious frosted with White Boiled Icing with 1/2 cup chopped raisins and 1/2 cup chopped nuts added to it.

Fruit Spice Cake
Increase the flour 1/4 cup... using 2 1/4 cups sifted cake flour or 2 1/2 cups sifted all-purpose flour. Add 2 tsp. cinnamon, 1 tsp. cloves and 1 tsp. allspice to the flour mixture. Leave out vanilla and lemon. Put a layer of batter in the pan, add half the chopped nuts and raisins, cover with another layer of batter, add the remaining fruit and nuts and then the rest of the batter... using 1/2 cup nuts and 1/2 cup raisins in all. This cake is delicious frosted with White Boiled Icing with 1 tsp. cinnamon added to it.

At The Churches

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

The meeting closed Sunday night with a good crowd and excellent interest. We greatly appreciate the cooperation of all. There was a distinct blessing and benefit to our church, and we believe to the entire community. We will long remember Bro. Williams and Bro. Short for their fine messages in song and sermon. There were 62 additions to the church—35 of them coming by baptism. You are to be commended beyond my words of expression for your liberality in the offering that you gave for the preacher and singer, the exceptionally generous offering that you gave to Lily for playing the piano, and to the pastor brings a deep desire to be of better service. May God generously bless each of you.

We will have our Sunday school at the regular time Sunday morning and the regular preaching service at eleven o'clock. We will have our Training Service at 7:15 and get through in plenty of time to go to the Methodist church for the revival service there.

We urge you to come Sunday. One of the best ways to make the impulses that have come through this meeting live in our lives is to put them into practice in the Sunday services.

HERE FROM COLORADO

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Caughran of Dove Creek, Colo., came in Monday for a visit with Mrs. Caughran's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Hendrix, Mr. Caughran's mother, Mrs. O. C. Caughran, and with other relatives and friends.

METHODIST CHURCH

This has been a very busy, but valuable week of church work. The Vacation Bible School is very gratifying in results. It is new to the force of workers as well as those attending but the accomplishments are agreeably surprising. Exhibition of trinkets will be made in closing assembly Friday, 8:30 to 9:00 a.m.

Young People's Crusade is progressing nicely. Good attendance and interesting programs are being rendered. Friday night will conclude the programs by the young people but the study and evangelistic work will continue into next week in connection with the revival services.

Bro. Nance continues with his personal work and reports that he is being received very courteously by all he contacts and many manifest interest in transferring membership from other Methodist churches to our local church, while some are hungry for an experience of grace so much needed.

Next week will be a time of harvesting souls for the Kingdom. Rev. Robert Butler, of Fairmont Church, Abilene, will be with us to preach morning and evening in regular evangelistic services. A great preacher who has had personal visits through the Holy Land and many other interesting trips. You will hear him to your delight as he brings God's truths from the Word and backing these truths by his first hand knowledge of Palestine. His time is taken constantly and could only give us one week so you will need to begin with the beginning to fully avail yourself of his messages.

Sunday's services; Sunday school 10 a.m., preaching 11:00 a.m., and 8:15 p.m., Young People's meeting at 7:30 p.m. During the week the services will be held at 10:00 a.m. and 8:00 p.m.

We invite the general public to attend all services with us.

H. A. LONGINO

Alma Dean Sowell of Gililand visited friends here one day last week.

Ranch Home Boasts City Conveniences

Stanton, Texas.—The recently completed ranch home of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Stone is an excellent example of modern improvements now possible on farm and ranch homes in this section of West Texas. The home is located on the Stone ranch, nine miles southeast of Stanton, in Glasscock county.

Built of stucco, which is dashed a blinding white, the house faces north, and has three rooms across the front, giving it a broad exterior. A large colonial "veranda" with white columns and colonial railing around the edge of the rock suggests an air of southern hospitality. The spacious living room is directly in the center of the house, having exposures both on the north and south. A real fireplace, flanked by built-in bookcases, greets the eye upon entering the colonial front doorway.

An east "wing" off the living room comprises a hall, bathroom and two bedrooms. On the west is a dining room and den, opening into the living room, through double French doors. Behind the dining room is a convenient kitchen.

On the south, and back of the living room is a large airy back porch, screened in and to be used as an "outdoor living room."

with about 60 people present.

The meeting was a great success and the same officers were elected for the coming year. The meeting place is to be permanent at the Cartwright Memorial Park, and a number of committees were appointed to make plans for a more complete organization.

All pioneers—those who came in later years—their families and friends are urged to come and help make this reunion one to look forward to with pleasure.

There are not so many of the pioneers living—Mrs. T. P. Reeder who came to Knox county in 1886—who is temporarily living in Fort Worth. came to meet old friends.

Munday is to be congratulated that these old timers should come from far places to spend a day in their midst. You are urged to keep the next meeting, the second Saturday in August 1941, in mind and come out to help make this reunion one to be remembered.

E. L. Park Thanks Voters of Precinct

I want to thank the people of precinct 1 for the splendid vote they gave me on July 27. To those that voted for me, I want to say that I am indeed grateful. And to those that did not see fit to vote for me in the first primary, I do not hold any ill will, but I want your friendship and support in the coming run-off. I am asking you to elect me for a SECOND TERM as your commissioner and earnestly solicit your influence. I am running on my own record and merits and if you feel they justify my reelection, I shall be humbly appreciative of your vote.

If you believe in a second term and see fit to return me to office, I assure you that I will not be under obligations to any person or group but will do my utmost, as I have in the past, to serve the entire precinct and county in a business like manner and to the best interest of all the people.

Thanking you for the many fav-

KEEPS HIS WORD

TEXAS OUT-O-DOORS

QUAIL ARRAS TOTAL 8,736 ACRES

Quail, Aug. 8—Forty-nine quail demonstration areas have been set up by the Texas Game, Fish and Jaycees Commission in 45 counties of the state, according to a report by the director of wild life restoration to the executive secretary of the Game department. These areas total 88,736 acres.

Demonstration areas are set up with the aid of federal funds to show what can be done by the way of restoring the crop of quail in various parts of the state. Fenced areas are constructed on most of the sites of ground, but various practices are followed in the growing of suitable habitats for the birds, the methods used depending upon the section of the state in which the areas are located.

Landowners interested in raising more quail visit the areas in large numbers and are given an ample of how to proceed.

The largest of the quail demonstration areas is 4,000 acres and the smallest is 160. The areas average 1,776 acres. Fifteen of the areas are set up in central Texas, 4 in East Texas, 11 in south Texas, 8 in the western part of the state and 10 in the Panhandle.

The project is one of a half dozen with which the Game Department is helping to restore game in the Lone Star State by the use of Pittman-Robertson federal funds. Three-fourths of the cost of projects are borne by federal funds and the Game Department provides the other fourth.

CATCHING BIG GAR

Reports of anglers fishing for gar with wire nooses recommended by the Game Department continue to reach the executive secretary of the Commission. Some extremely large gar are being caught in various parts of the state. The largest one hauled in and reported to Austin was by Earl Hennesdorf of San Angelo. His catch weighed 14 pounds, 5 ounces and was 50 and one-half inches long. Nine, ten and eleven pounders are not unusual.

It requires considerable skill to haul in the heavier gar on light tackle with the loops made of small wire.

CATCHES HUGE SAWFISH

A fish which gave even anglers who were accustomed to making huge hauls a thrill was pulled in out of the Texas coastal waters recently by a fishing party composed of Tracy Suddugh, Leonard R. Roberts and C. F. Hoch. It was a sawfish which measured 18 feet, 4 inches and which weighed, it is estimated, 1,200 to 1,500 pounds.

The party was after jewfish when the monster sawfish took the bait. Before the battle of nearly half hour ended the monster had left several teeth in the stern of the launch Dorothy, which was badly battered by the sawfish.

HANDLE FISH CAREFULLY
When you catch a fish shorter than the legal length, give it a chance to survive, the executive secretary of the Game Department continues to urge. Wet your hand grasp the fish by the lower lip with the thumb and forefinger and remove the hook as gently as possible. Release it into the water with much care.

DALLASITE MAKES STRANGE CATCH

Charley Jenkins of Dallas an ardent fisherman, now boasts a story of his own about one of the strangest catches in the history of Texas. He made his strange catch in his own garage and wasn't even there at the time.

Jenkins was recently attracted by the howling of the family pup in the garage, where the fisherman had left some tackle. Upon investigation, Jenkins found a baby opossum had hooked himself squarely through the jaw.

Highway Dept. Operating On Budget System

Austin, Texas—The State Highway Department is operated on a cash basis. Now, and for the last 10 years, lower construction prices are a result of the Department's credit rating. Texas' contractors seek State Highway contracts through keen competitive bids, knowing they will be paid promptly. Maintenance equipment and materials are purchased on competitive bids, and all discounts allowed are saved for the State by payment within the discount period. Laborers are paid within 10 days, and Highway warrants are not discounted or held.

Yearly contracts are awarded on items used in large quantities, such as gasoline, oil, grease, tires, tubes, batteries, grader blades, and large savings are effected. Small purchases, such as several pounds of nails, etc. are made locally, but only after several quotations are obtained, and the purchase is made from the lowest bidder.

The Department operates on a budget system. The State Highway fund must contain at all times several million dollars for the expenditures of the department averaging $3,000,000 a month. At times a larger cash balance accumulates, but with millions of dollars of construction work under contract, there must be money on hand and in sight through predetermined revenues to pay all obligations as they become due.

The money spent by the Department finds its way through various business channels into every walk of life. The contractor purchases materials, pays his labor; the Department does likewise for maintenance work, and thousands of families and business houses throughout the state share in the business created.

I GIVE YOU TEXAS

By Boyce House

Have you ever seen a billion dollars walking? Well, I have, I have (paraphrasing the sentimental song of a few seasons ago about a walking and talking dream). This billion dollars of course, talked because we all know that money talks.

The billion dollars in breeches was Harry Sinclair, probably the most important individual in the domain of oil in all the pictureque personality in petroleum.

It was down at Austin a few days ago before the State Railroad Commission that the famous oil operator appeared. Looking at him one couldn't help thinking of the thousands of wells which he owns, the thousands of miles of pipe-lines, the great batteries of huge steel storage tanks, the cars thundering along the tracks, the tankers plying the seas, the host of the men in his employ, the trucks, the refineries, the filling stations and the hundreds of thousands of thousands of acres of yet-to-be-developed oil lands that he controls—all this in the hollow of his hand as surely as Zeus clutched the thunderbolts on high Olympus.

Yes, easily a billion dollars because Sinclair gushers are swishing their greasy, golden stream into earthen storage in the streaming jungles of South America and Sinclair drills are clanking on islands within sight of Buddhist shrines with their tinkly temple bells, as well as in all the major fields of Texas, Oklahoma, California and the rest of the United States.

And that career began (according to legend) when Sinclair, a young druggist, was out hunting and, in crawling through a fence, his gun went off, wounding him in the foot and, with the money that the insurance company paid, he was off to a newly-discovered oil field in Indian Territory.

A man of average height, heavy-set, bald except for a bridge, Harry Sinclair has strong features. There is firmness in the chin, the set of the lips, the forward thrust of the head, the piercing glance. "Power", that's the word for Sinclair. Here is a man who is accustomed to accomplishing anything that he sets out to do; a man who brushes aside obstacles or shoves them, as he need be. And when in ringing voice, he said, "I'm here to answer any question", every oil man at the hearing applauded.

Yet the tycoon has his lighter side. When a newspaper photographer (slower than the others) had failed to flare his light blub for a shot of Sinclair taking the oath, the oil man remained standing with upraised hand; then, there was a twinkle in his eye and, lowering his right hand, he raised his left hand and turned with impassive face to the cameraman. There was a roar of laughter.

It was difficult to imagine this man of destiny needing sleep, having bodily aches and finding it necessary to eat as ordinary mortals do; and one wondered if he ever finds time, or has time, or has the inclination, to stroll through twilight woods and listen to the liquid notes of the mocking bird or gaze at an evening star at the foot of a slim, crescent moon and make a wish. But, after all, what is there for a man with a thousand million dollars to wish for.

Not only the oldest jokes but about the worst of the crop?

This is a wonder watch; you look at it and wonder what time it is.

Loan me a cigarette; now let me have a match—I'll furnish the habit.

These are gopher matches; you try to strike one and "go fer" another.

If it were raining soup, I'd be caught out with a fork.

You say you don't drink, smoke or cuss—then what in the h— are you living for?

ODD SIGNS AND NOTICES

Sign in a station of a small Missouri town: All parcels, packages and grips left and not checked must be checked or can not be left in depot.

Sign on Milwaukee Ave., Chicago: Building to be torn down on account of remodeling.

Luther Parker of Vera was a business visitor here the latter part of last week.

TOO GOOD

"Here is some money, my love," said the husband.

"I don't want any," replied the wife.

"Come now, darling, take this $10 bill and go out shopping."

"Thank you dearest, but I would sooner stop at home and help the maid!"—The husband woke up.

PEACHES

Now you can have peaches! The 1940 peach crop in Texas is the largest in recent years. It is estimated at two million bushels. The fruit is of best quality. In the northeastern part of the state the Elberta crop is being harvested. In the cross timber section of Central West Texas, the Elberta harvest season is just beginning and a little later, the Frank variety, which is a yellow clingstone and the Hartling, a cream fleshed clingstone variety, will be ready to harvest, during the next 30 days, the picking of this crop of lovely fruit will give an opportunity for all of us to our fill of fresh peaches; also, to fill our pantries with canned peaches and preserves.

In selecting peaches, don't let "a skin you love to touch" mislead you. This is not always a dependable guide in determining sweetness and good quality. The best tasting peaches ripen from the top side of the seed.

Tree-ripened peaches have a better flavor because the fruit enzymes have an opportunity to function normally in bringing about maximum sweetness. When the fruit is harvested too green, the fruit may continue to ripen but the "peachy" flavor is lost. Fruit that is harvested before it is well matured never becomes soft when canned.

Peaches of finest quality have a fresh appearance, yet when they are broken open they are thoroughly ripe around the seed as well as under the skin. Care must be exercised with ripe peaches, soon as possible after picking. If they must be kept for several days, cold storage at 36 to 40 degrees F. is the best method for holding them.

Over ripe peaches are better made into butters than canned. If canning is attempted, a longer preceding period is needed.

A standard bushel of peaches weighs about 48 pounds and should yield about 30 No. 2 cans or flat jars or 20 No. 3 cans, or quart jars. This bushel of peaches, if a light syrup be used, will need about 3 cups of water, use one cup of sugar.

Fruit has an important place in the diet, and the peach with its pleasing flavor is especially desirable. When eaten raw it is a good source of vitamin C and a fair source of vitamin B. The yellow fleshed peaches are an excellent source of vitamin A. Care must be observed in canning to retain the vitamin C. The other vitamins seem to be fairly stable. The methods used to retain vitamin C will also prevent loss of vitamins A and B.

Preparation for Canning
Immerse the peaches in boiling water until the skins will slip easily. Plunge into cold water. Remove skins, cut peaches in halves, discard pits. To prevent darkening, and the loss of vitamin C drop the halves immediately into a solution made from dissolving two tablespoons salt and two table-spoons vinegar in one gallon of water. Rinse fruit with clear water.

To Can Peaches
Make a light syrup by boiling for 5 minutes: 3 measures of water to each measure of sugar. Peaches may be packed raw, but a better pack is obtained if the fruit is first simmered in the syrup 4 to 8 minutes, depending on the texture of the peach. Use a kettle or pan large enough to prevent stacking the halves. Do not cook until too soft to handle. Pack at once, placing the halves in overlapping layers, the concave surface of each half being downward. Fill the container with boiling syrup. Process in water bath; quart and pint glass jars and No. 2 cans and No. 3 plain tin cans 10 minutes.

When packed raw, exhaust the air before sealing by placing the filled containers in a boiling water bath deep enough to come within two inches of the top of the container. Cover the water bath to hold in the steam. Count time from the time the pace above the can is filled with steam. Exhaust 5 minutes. After the air has been exhausted from fruit take one container and finish filling others removed from water bath to seal and put back for processing. This method retains more vitamins and gives full packs. Process in water bath 25 minutes if fruit is firm, and 20 minutes if it is not.

Crushed Peaches
Skin ripe peaches and prepare as above for canning. Pass the halves through food grinder with end perforated with large holes (better 1-2 inch holes). Pack at once into cans and to each gallon of fruit add syrup made by 1 1/2 cups sugar and 2 cups water boiled together 5 minutes. Exhaust (as above) 10 minutes. Seal at once and process in water bath 15 minutes for pints and No. 2 cans, 20 minutes for quarts and No. 3 cans.

The fruit can be heated in the syrup to 165 degrees F. and packed hot into the cans and sealed at once and processed in the water bath as for canned peaches.

This is an excellent way to utilize peaches that have a good flavor but those are undesirable from size, spots that have been cut out, or that are a little too ripe to keep their shape well. Crushed peaches are suitable for serving dramatic series, "Manhattan At Midnight." Original plays by the leading playwrights, starring well known actors and actresses are being featured weekly over the NBC-Blue network.

ORA DUDLEY, brilliant young actress of stage and radio, pictured here, was the curtain raising attraction on the new Wednesday

If you call answering fan letters a vacation, then Cecil B. DeMille is vacationing aboard his yacht, The Seaward, currently. He's catching up on his replies to listeners who have asked him questions about the Monday night Radio Theatre which returns to CBS September 9.

the first original musical comedy in radio, and it featured a song, "If There is Someone Lovelier Than You." The song was so good it was featured in the Broadway musical comedy he wrote, "Revenge With Music." In that play was Iika Chase, with whom Schwartz will shortly discuss both the play and the song on one of her forthcoming Saturday broadcasts.

Actors and other RKO film studio workers now get a "pre-hear" of the Bing Crosby songs picked for his weekly broadcasts. Reason: Bing's Music Makers, working in the RKO film, "Too Many Girls," rehearse their air duties on the set.

Helen Harlin, the MBS commentator, spends one week cruising, another week flying, and a third week browsing through department stores. In that way she picks up anecdotes enough to keep her well ahead of microphone schedules.

Dorothy Lamour, the siren of song, is Bob Burns special guest in K. M. H. on Aug. 15. Dottie schedule includes the warbling of a ditty or two and a chat with the Sage of Van Buren in the Thursday night Music Hall.

When Abbott and Costello started their new Wednesday series, Lou "I'm A Bad Boy" Costello tried valiantly to learn to read his comedy lines from script. However, long years of making use of his expressive hands to project his humor made him feel handicapped when he had a fistful of paper to cope with. He's again memorizing all of his lines and feels a lot better.

Earliest news broadcast on the air features Captain E. D. C. Herne, who is heard on NBC out of Chicago for a big oil company at 7:45 a.m. central time. Captain Herne, pictured here, goes on the air early so he can put on the early afternoon news from Europe and the war centers.

VISITORS WHO ENJOY AT CARLSBAD CAVERNS

The July report of registrations shows that last month brought 43,166 visitors to the big cave, as compared with 41,797 in July 1939, and 39,726 in July, 1937. One hundred and forty-seven of the visitors came from outside continental United States. They came two each from Portugal and England, five from Arabia, one each from New Zealand, South Africa and Ireland, two from Egypt and forty-two from Canada. An usual Texas led all the states, with 12,451 visitors.

So far this year, the caverns have been visited by 130,000 persons, and since the national park was established 1,579,445.

Cards Hammer Vera By 14 to 5 Score Sunday

The Monday Cardinals outthrew Vera last Sunday to the tune of 18 to 5 to easily take the game with a score of 14 to 5.

After scoring five runs in the first inning, the Cards had an easy time holding the Vera boys. Strickland had a good day on the mound, and his mates gave him plenty of backing.

Hobert, with two round trips and a double, and Rayburn with a double, a triple and a round trip, led the hitting attack. Owens led the defense with several good catches in the outfield.

The Cards had their best infield combination of the season, with C. Taylor and the King brothers on the sacks, and Hobert in the shortstop slot.

Next Sunday the Knox City team will invade Munday.

Raiders Lose To Goree; League In 3-Way Tie

Taking full advantage of erratic play afield, Goree succeeded in showing the Rhineland Raiders into a triple tie for first place in the Knox county softball league last Sunday by doubling the Raiders, 6 to 8. It was a thriller from start to finish, one that fans and players alike will long remember. The game, a ten-inning affair played at Rhineland, was ultimately decided by the superior defense of the visitors.

After a home run smack to deep right by Clem Wilde and a single by A. Kuehler in the eighth had apparently brought victory to the Raiders, Goree knotted the count in the ninth after two were down, the lone fielding of the usually reliable L. Wilde aided in the victory.

Doeker, the Rhineland flinger, handicapped by a stiff finger on his pitching hand, pitched well enough to win easily had his support not faltered.

A home run by Lambeth, which seemed to give the visitors the required impetus, and the hitting and fielding of P. Fitzgerald highlighted the game.

Supplemented by the phenomenal hitting, fielding and relief pitching by D. Ratliff from Goree, Rhineland defeated an all-star team from Olney last Friday night, 9 to 5. This snappy, well-played game, was at Olney. The return engagement will be played at Seymour next Friday night, and those desiring to make the trip are requested to be in Rhineland not later than 7:00 p.m., as the truck will leave promptly at that hour.

Next Sunday the Raiders tangle with Benjamin at Benjamin. Anxiety of the boys from the "county capitol" for revenge and their unpredictable play should make this game very interesting.

Volume UP Price DOWN

IT HAS BEEN SAID that advertising increases the price of goods. True, advertising is part of the manufacturer's and merchant's cost of doing business, all of which must be covered in the price of his goods if he is to stay in business.

But advertising helps boost sales and production. Bigger volume cuts cost per unit made and sold. To meet competition the saving is passed on to the public in the form of a lower price.

Think of the prices of radios, mechanical refrigerators and heating appliances, automobiles, light bulbs and other products when first introduced and sold in small volume. Compare with their prices today, after advertising won them enormous acceptance! Successful advertising decreases the price of goods.
