"What a Man Does For Himself Dies With Him—
What He Does For His Community Lives On and On"

WRITE THAT SOLDIER BOY

We heard this remark a few days ago from a local boy who is now serving in Good Old Uncle Sam's army: "Sometimes I'd give most any thing for a couple of long letters a week, but I never get more than one every two weeks, and sometimes that's late in getting to me."

Now we ask you—is this the way to treat the laddies who are doing their utmost to protect us and ours? Of course it isn't—so let's get busy and keep those letters and cards flying in order to keep our boys smiling. Although they are willingly staying in camps far away from home and friends, they do get lonely, and blue, and slightly under the weather, and those letters and cards that don't come sure could go a long way in cheering them up and making things look bright again.

We think an excellent idea would be to pass the address of your soldier who is in camp, and ask all his friends to write to him—even if they don't have any news of importance, which so many of us use as an excuse for not writing, they can at least say, "Hi, there, Jim—we're betting on you—this is a lovely day, etc., etc." Even this common chat is a lovely thing to cheer a boy far away from home, who is hungry for a little attention from his friends. So let's write, and write, and write—and let's do it now! It seems to us that this is the least we can do.

Perhaps you could arrange a card or a letter shower for your soldier—he would appreciate this more than any package you can send, for letters, more than any gift his friends can offer, make him know that the folks back home are personally interested in him and his new life, and are sincere in their good wishes for him. And maybe you don't think this wouldn't make his feel swell! If you doubt us, just you leave home for an indefinite period, and you'll see how a few letters can cheer up your whole outlook on life!

And, by all means, don't forget his birthday! Another good idea is to arrange it with his friends to send him birthday cards with personal messages of cheer—and he'll feel like a new man when his birthday rolls around and he wakes up to find a bunch of colorful cards assuring him that his friends think he's a pretty nice guy.

Now is the time to show our soldiers we're behind them one and all—let's sit down right now and write him, or them, an all-around good letter full of news of home-town gossip, or weather, or just lots of good wishes for them, and make a soldier chuckle because he has friends back home who miss him, and who still think of him even though he is gone from home to defend our freedom.

TIME TO SAVE!

At the direct request of the government, retail stores are carrying on aggressive campaigns to prevent waste and save materials of all kinds.

The Institute of Distribution, which represents a number of important retail organizations, offers some excellent advice. Summed up, that advice amounts to this: don't waste food. Don't burn or throw away paper. Save scrap metal, old rubber, rags, etc. Give this salvage to your favorite charity or sell it to the nearest junk and waste paper dealer.

Use office supplies sparingly. Get maximum service from such common articles as paper clips, pins, rubber bands, envelopes, scratch paper, sealing tape, pencils, typewriter ribbons, carbon paper, etc. These and similar articles have a definite and important place in war production, and civilian consumption must be reduced in many instances.

Take extra special care of mechanical equipment. Inspect it, clean it, and oil it frequently. Repairs and replacement will become constantly more difficult. Save on fuels.

Retail industry knows what it is talking about. It takes five pounds of paper to pack an ordinary artillery shell. The military appetite for rubber, metals, textiles, leather, etc., is virtually insatiable. Every business—and every individual—should emulate retailing's drive to prevent waste.

"It is the obligation of government to act without fear or favor. On the labor issue government has acted with both fear and favor. Within the space of a single week we saw the government caught on both horns of its dilemma, first fearing to exercise its power under the laws and then being all but impotent in the coal strike because it had abdicated power by law."—H. M. Wriston, President, Brown University.

It is one of the most beautiful compensations of this life, that no man can sincerely try to help another without helping himself.

ALL FOR ONE . . .

"United we stand!" That's the real spirit of America today. Behind the headlines and the hurly-burly of a giant nation gearing itself to war there's a new feeling of unity.

You've noticed it yourself. People are sharing their cars; they're lending their neighbors articles that can't be bought any longer in the stores; they're helping each other in many little ways—but little ways that count. Just as real trouble brings a family closer together, so it unites a nation.

According to news stories, this same all-for-one feeling extends to war factories, too. Great industries are pulling together to speed their output of victory goods. One manufacturer who had already changed over his plant to war work helped a rival firm make a similar shift, lending out his expensive plans and factory specifications for the rival job. Another company helped to train workers for a new airplane plant. Tin can manufacturers have pooled their brains and experience to work out the best tin-saving devices; several of their one-guarded manufacturing secrets came out in the process.

As a matter of fact, many industries have shared designs and patents essential to victory production. Like the rest of the country, they're working hard and working together. And they're producing results, for today ships and materials are being finished on schedule and sometimes months ahead of schedule.

NEW SLOGAN

"You can't improve on perfection," people used to say.

But now that slogan has been improved on. Progress has hit it, too, and today's byword is, "You can always do better."

At least, according to news reports, that's what they're saying in war factories all over the country; it's one of the reasons for the rapid rise in output of the weapons we need so badly. Mass production of modern weapons requires a great deal of ingenuity and the development of many new techniques. Their development isn't easy, but just the same, they are being perfected now, just as they have always been in peacetime.

You remember the early days of radio, when almost every man who liked to tinker with machines built a homemade set. A lot of them were improvised out of odds and ends—stray bits of wire, a few pieces of crystal, a couple of tubes, and a speaker made out of an old strip of metal. By today's standards they weren't the best—but they worked. And a lot of experiments carried on while they were built led to the perfection of the fine receivers we have today.

In this present emergency people are using makeshift equipment once again—this time to turn out weapons. The same ingenuity and imagination that developed automobiles, radios, and all our other world-changing inventions, are being turned now to war work. In our modern war factories production experts and workers are forever tinkering with old tools and making them do new jobs when new tools are not to be had. Makeshift operations of this kind enabled one automobile factory to produce guns almost five months ahead of schedule. Other companies have reported similar speed-ups. All along the line war work is going faster because Americans refuse to be stopped. With Yankee ingenuity and determination, they can always do better—and they are doing it now.

A wise editor has stopped predicting what will happen in this war. He isn't even sure of what has happened already.

STORAGE PROBLEM TO BECOME ACUTE
 Storage will have to be expanded and stretched to the limit to absorb this year's crop, according to August Schumacher, chairman of the Knox county AAA committee. "Limited supplies will prevent the building of much additional terminal storage, but there is a possibility that farm storage can be expanded some," he said.

Indicating storage facilities are taxed heavily, the chairman pointed out that wheat stocks on farms on January 1, 1942, were 93 percent more than average and supplies in country mills and elevators one the same date were 207-million bushels compared with the 1935-1940 average of approximately 100-million bushels.

Mr. Schumacher explained that storage was taxed heavily last year in handling a bumper crop and a 385 million bushel crop coming up. "If reserves are not kept under control, the chairman pointed out, wheat could disrupt transportation and storage facilities and leave the wheat producing structure in a weakened position for the duration of the war and after."

"Our Food for Freedom program calls for expansion of some commodities but this is no time to jam facilities with more and still more wheat. That's one reason wheat farmers should go to the polls Saturday, May 2, and decide whether to continue wheat marketing quotas on this year's crop," the AAA official said.

From where I sit...

by Joe Marsh

VERY OFTEN these days, I get to thinking about the soldier boys at camp. And the sailors, too.

What worries me is... what happens when they get a day off after working their heads off all week? They go to town... and what then?

What happens? The answer is... mostly nothing! Because most towns near army camps just don't have nearly enough entertainment facilities to take care of the soldiers on leave. So the boys just stand around, leaning against lampposts or sitting on doorsteps. And sometimes, the local townfolk find themselves wondering what's changed the town... instead of pitching in to help the boys have a good time in decent surroundings.

In many towns, however, the situation is better. Many towns have nice, community places where a soldier can go sit down and "chew the fat" and enjoy some cake and milk, or maybe a good glass of beer. The boys like that. And they're not likely to get in trouble... because common sense tells you nothing can be wrong about a couple of glasses of beer.

There's another reason, too. The beer industry is cooperating with the army and with the law-enforcement officers to help keep the places where beer is sold, clean and decent. The brewers don't want their beer sold to soldiers in places where bad conditions exist... and they're right.

Seems to me that we Americans ought to get together and do everything we can to make things pleasant for the boys who are in training. They're doing their duty... maybe we have some duties, too, in this direction.

There are lots of ways of helping. We ought to support them all. All of us have our part to play in winning this war... and making life a little easier for the boys in camp is something we all can do something about.

How Do You Bake Fish?

This may be cruel. But just how to get your appetite whetted for a real fish fry when the general fishing season opens May 1st, take a look at these two ideas for baking fish:

Baking—in the Ground

Four pounds or more of large fish should be cleared of gills and viscera, but head, tail, fins and scales may be left intact. Lean fish should have three cuts across the skin on both sides. About 2 teaspoons of salt and 3-8 teaspoon of pepper should be well spread on the inside of the body cavity. A few thin strips of bacon or salt pork may replace the salt and a few thin slices of onion added if desired. Dig a trench about 10 inches deep and of equal width and long enough to hold the fish; in this hole build a fire, adding wood until about 2 inches of coals are formed. Remove all flaming wood and about half the hot coals. Smooth out the remaining coals and cover with 1 inch green grass. On this place the fish and cover with another inch layer of grass, and then cover with the rest of the live coals. Cover with warm earth from the edges of the hole. At the end of one hour, the fish should be carefully removed. The flesh may then be separated easily from the inedible portions.

Baking—Fireless Cooker Method

Third Grade News

Our pot plants are doing well. We have had to re-pot some of them because they were getting too big for their old pots. Our rubber plant has a new leaf and will soon have another.

Third year has no news this morning. (No one has done anything unusual nor has anything unusual happened to anyone in the room—so the class has agreed.

First Grade News

Louise Boles and her sister went out to gather in the eggs and found Mr. Skunk had beaten them to the barn and was feasting on the eggs.

Barbara Johnston's aunt Edna Conroy and her little son of Walters, Oklahoma, spent Saturday night in the Johnston home.

Donnell Phillips and her mother and sister went to Seymour Sunday to visit Donnell's grandmother. Donnell says it came a flood in Seymour. We wonder what came there.

Wagone Hutchinson says he saw a car from Benjamin this morning and had its windshield broken out and the car was full of dents caused by the hail that fell there Sunday afternoon.

Barbara Jo Johnston tells us her little dog came in contact with a skunk the other night and he didn't smell as much like a dog as he did a skunk. The skunk scratched the little dog in the eye. Poor baby puppy, he'll know better by the time he grows up.

Elaine Nix found two "water dogs" Saturday. She plans to bring them to school for a few days.

The first grade has been progressing very nicely and some of the group will make excellent Student Graders next year.

Jerry Mack went to Gorse Sunday to see his cousin.

Marjorie Lou Campsey went to the clinic Friday. She said, "That is one visit that I wasn't planning on making." The reason is she got hit with a baseball bat right on the chin. Result—a gash long enough to require three stitches.

Sue Yost had relatives visiting in her home over the week end.

Ninth Grade News

Here are two poems selected as best among others that were written:

The Falling of Bataan

The falling of Bataan was a great blow,
 The Japanese thought it was a great show.
 The American will form guerilla bands
 And show the Japs they're still a man.

Douglas MacArthur was shocked at the fall of Bataan,
 But the Americans will never be becalmed.
 The Japanese thought they had done something big,
 When the Americans get through, they'll be dancing a jig.

Time Marches On

I found a thrill in the sunset to-night,
 I watched the swallows take their flight.
 I sat and watched as still as a stone,
 I was watching the time march on.

They flew to the east and then to the west,
 They flew to their heavenly rest.
 I sat and watched until they were gone,
 I was watching the time march on.

Eighth Grade News

Barbara Jane and John made the honor roll last six weeks.

We Wonder—

Why things were so suspicious Monday in Math class while we were grading speed test papers.

Why Denzil was so happy Monday.

Why Weldon had to move over on the Senior row in the study hall. Was it because he was making such swell grades?

Why Betty John leaves pictures of herself in library books? (Some boy, Johnny?)

Why Margie laughed so much in Civics class Friday.

See you next week!

Sunset Seniors to present "Look Who's Here," May 8 at 9:00 p.m., in the Sunset auditorium.

One In A Million

One of the most influential members of the Senior Class is never happy except when she's going at full speed. When she doesn't have anything else to do, she's practicing her part as a lovely matron in the Senior play. This active character was one of the Senior lettermen and received a lovely school sweater for the part she played on our volleyball team. Besides being an athlete, she is Senior president and editor of the Sunset Glow. Her earlier experience in the news world was as reporter of the Junior class in 1940-41.

Born in the Thorp community, she began her education at Gillespie and then came to school at Sunset. During her eleven years here, she has made many friends, both in the student body and in the faculty. She has been very active during her high school life, taking part in everything.

The Juniors of '40-'41 elected her as their candidate for queen. She won by a large margin and was crowned queen of high school. Outside of school activities her main interest is Camp Walters, Texas. Her hobby is writing and receiving letters.

In case one has no imagination whatsoever, this character is no other than that of Evelyn Offutt.

Senior News

Recently I overheard some teachers discussing a very pleasant subject—the Seniors. I didn't quite get it, but these teachers were talking about the Seniors' unresponsive attitude of the past few days. It seems that the Seniors have been finding it very hard to stay awake lately. I don't know what the trouble is, but I have an idea that it has something to do with play practice.

The Seniors are doing wonderful in class tournaments. The girls won their first volleyball game Monday by defeating the freshmen. The boys had a little hard luck in their last game, and lost to the Juniors. That explains the pleased look several of the Junior boys have been wearing the past few days.

Three of the Seniors received their volleyball sweaters this past week. They were: Evelyn Offutt, Wynell Lowrey, and Jane Burton.

The Senior play, "Look Who's Here," is occupying most of the spare time of the Seniors these days. They are all working on it hard and are showing much improvement in their parts.

Seniors present "Look Who's Here," May 8, 1942, at 9 o'clock.

Sgt. Mack Jones of Camp Blanding, Fla., is here this week to visit his sister, Mrs. Howard Collins and Mr. Collins. He also visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sebern Jones while here.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Collins and Miss Dolores Campbell visited with relatives and friends in Electra last Sunday.

John Lee Smith Announces For Lieut. Governor

JOHN LEE SMITH

Senator John Lee Smith of Throckmorton will be a candidate for Lieutenant Governor before the forthcoming democratic primaries he announced.

The West Texan, serving his first term in the Senate, will be contesting for the seat vacated by Coke Stevenson who become Governor when W. Lee O'Daniel resigned to enter the United States Senate.

Smith, who was brought up in Throckmorton county is a former county judge of that county, served in France in World War I as a private soldier, has been active in American Legion affairs for many years and is Supreme Vice Chancellor of the Knights of Pythias of the nation, slated to become Supreme Chancellor—the order's highest office—in August.

He presided as permanent chairman over the state democratic convention in 1940, and upon entering the senate last January was made a member of the powerful state affairs committee and other major committees. He was the author of the first resolution passed by a legislative body calling upon Congress to curb strikes in defense industries. He had charge of the anti-strike bill in the senate made law by the last legislature and which was recently upheld by the state court of criminal appeals.

Smith in making his formal announcement said: "The grim spirit of our people in the face of the tumult and tragedy of war has lessened their interest in domestic politics. Their hearts are with their boys in the training camps, on the far sailing transports, and at the distant battlefields. I have a young son in the armed forces of the nation and I can fully appreciate the uneasiness that grips their hearts—it dims our interest in fateful hour: "Humanity with all its fears, with all its hopes for future years, is hanging breathless on thy fate." Victory for our armies will insure a future of opportunity and freedom; defeat will engulf the human race in dark tide of hopelessness and despair. The finest service our state can render as a major unit of the American union will be to refrain from making any additional tax levies. Before final victory is achieved the Federal Government will require from 150 to 200 billion dollars to bring about such a result. This being so, Texas must not jeopardize the nation's supreme effort to make the world again safe for free men by embarking upon a program requiring a huge tax increase."

"In this dark hour when young Americans are paying with their blood a mighty price for our security no man or group of men should be permitted to endanger their supply of material and equipment by striking. Any man who strikes now strikes a blow for Hitler and against his own countrymen. He becomes Hitler's most potent ally when he does so and thereby becomes guilty of treason. And we become guilty of disloyalty to our own soldiers when we submit to such hostile activity to the nation's war effort. If Congress had long since passed a law similar to the one we have in Texas dealing with strikes and lockouts our nation would have had more than 1000 planes it does not have now. Singapore might not have fallen and the brave MacArthur and his heroic men might now have a few planes to help them withstand the storms of Jap fury that break upon them. We must be vigilant on the home front if we expect our boys to win on the battlefield."

Smith declared that he would wage an active campaign in all sections of the state.

Howard Collins, Gene Harrell, Paul Pendleton and Sebern Jones were at Camp Walters, Mineral Wells, the latter part of last week to take their examinations following applications for enlistment in the officers' training school. Final reports from their examinations had not been received this week.

Sgt. Grady Beck, Jr., of Camp Bowie spent the first of this week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Grady Beck. Sgt. Beck reported he is transferring to the Air Corps and will be stationed at San Antonio.

120 Persons Die From Fire First of Year

Austin.—Fire has cost the lives of 120 persons in Texas during the first three months of this year, Marvin Hall, State Fire Insurance Commissioner, said today.

From the list of fatalities by fire, Hall revealed that the year had a horrible beginning. Forty-one persons were burned to death in the first ten days of 1942, with a single fire resulting in seven deaths.

Twenty-eight persons died in eight fires which caused two or more deaths during the three-month period. On each of two days, January 1 and February 18, fires resulted in the death of nine people. The death of eight persons was recorded on January 2, seven on January 8 and six on March 29.

Forty-nine of the 1942 fire deaths were children 15 years or younger. The fire victims' ages ranged from infancy to two of more than 100 years.

"Fire fatalities are always horrible," said Commissioner Hall. "The deaths recorded this year should stand as a grim reminder for all of us to be careful with fire at all times. Beside those lives which have been lost, there has also resulted countless hours of agony by persons suffering from serious burns. Carelessness with fire—the toleration of needless fire hazards—too often bring death and disaster upon us."

Prices of Wheat Follow Govt. Loan

Prior to the AAA's wheat program, huge supplies always meant low prices, Mr. Allen, secretary of Knox county AAA committee, said this week.

"In 1931 we had a supply of 1,255 million bushels as compared to a 1,331-million bushel supply last year which averaged 55.6 cents per bushel," the chairman said.

Through marketing quotas, acreage allotments, and government loans, farmers have built adequate reserves and at the same time have strengthened prices for continuation of sound agriculture, he pointed out.

Other comparable years include 1932 with 1,132-million bushels, which averaged 38 cents per bushel and 1939 with a 1,004-million bushel supply which sold for an average of 69 cents. In 1940, Mr. Allen said, the supply was 1,097-million bushels, which averaged 63 cents.

During the last few years domestic wheat prices have consistently followed loan prices, Mr. Allen said. During 1938, 1939, and 1940 farmers received 56.1 cents, 69.2 cents and 68.2 cents per bushel, respectively, while the average loan rate for the same years was 63 cents, 63 cents and 65.5 cents per bushel, respectively.

During 1941, with 85 per cent of parity loans available, farmers received 95.6 cents per bushel for their wheat and the average loan rate was 98 cents per bushel, the chairman said.

"Those are a few of the things wheat farmers should consider when they vote in the national wheat referendum Saturday, May 2," Mr. Allen said.

According to present indications the automobile industry will be completely converted to war production by September 1.

To preserve rubber-insulated electric cord, lay it flat in storage and out of the sunshine. Avoid sharp kinks and bends.

Lieut. Faulkner, Former Knox County Resident, Given Distinguished Cross

An Associated Press story from Honolulu last week told of the awarding of the distinguished flying cross to Lieut. Cecil L. Faulkner, along with other members of his bombing crew, for service in the present war.

Faulkner is a former resident of Knox county, and is a nephew of Mrs. Irene Meers of Munday. His home is in Bellevue, Texas.

Earlier in the war Faulkner and his bomber crew of eight had an eventful day in photographing of enemy territory which led to successful action by United States forces against the same area, for which all nine members of the crew received distinguished flying crosses at Hickam Field, Honolulu, on April 13. The identity of the territory flown over was not made known.

The men's citations mentioned "heroism and extraordinary achievement."

"If the crew with which I had worked for months had not functioned perfectly we would never have made it," the slender Faulkner said. "The navigation was perfect. We were all set for combat but found none. I guess everyone who was here Dec. 7 can hardly wait for a crack at the Japs."

Faulkner has been in Hawaii since 1939 and is an observation officer who takes part in the Hawaiian dawn patrol.

Rubberless golf balls may soon be placed on the market.

See Your Fix-it Man About Making Repairs

BE GOOD TO YOUR ELECTRIC APPLIACES AND THEY'LL BE GOOD TO YOU!

NEW METHODS of efficiency and economy are being worked out to provide an ample supply of light and power for military training camps and wartime industries in this West Texas country in addition to your home and business. But the factories that once turned out an abundance of electric appliances today have been converted to production of war materials. Since these appliances are vital in maintenance of civilian morale and in conserving time and energy for wartime work, it is essential that we all take steps to prolong the usefulness of the appliances now on hand. We are offering some suggestions to help you make them last.

How to take care of Your Electric Refrigerator

Some older models should be oiled every six months. Those with belts should be checked and new belts installed if needed. Condensers in all models should be cleaned once a year. Defrost at regular intervals, allowing the ice to melt rather than using an ice pick. (There's danger of punching a hole in the metal or freezing coil.) Close the door quickly after putting in or taking food out, using care NOT to touch rubber insulating seal around door with greasy hand. (Grease causes the rubber to deteriorate.) Let food cool before putting in refrigerator. Be sure that motor shipping bolts are fastened to prevent damage in transit when moving to new location. Be careful with ice trays—it's difficult to get new trays of any kind. Wash inside of refrigerator with baking soda and water whenever defrosting to prevent food odors.

How to take care of Your Electric Range and Small Appliances

Plan menus so that entire meals are cooked at the same time in oven or thrift cooker. In top-burner cooking turn burner to low as soon as boiling begins. Be sure to turn burners off when through using them. Don't allow liquids to boil over onto the cooking coil. (Metals in coils include copper and magnesium oxide and are hard to replace.) Wash outside of range with warm soapy water when cool. Food spilled over on surface cooking coils should be burned off. Wipe oven with damp cloth and remove food spillage after it cools.

Take good care of your small appliances because parts are becoming hard to replace. For example, the bristles in your sweeper come from China—or did. Not any more. And rubber bands and cords. You know about rubber and copper. Even electric elements in all appliances and switches for lamps are becoming scarce. So take care not to abuse them. All lamp and appliance cords should be handled a bit more carefully. Keep them off the floor if possible so they won't be trampled, knotted or kinked, causing the rubber insulation to break.

Dealers Will Sign For Sugar On Next Tuesday

On April 28 and 29, all commercial users of sugar will register for the Federal sugar rationing program. This includes all of the wholesale and retail trade, and all institutional and industrial users of sugar.

Wholesalers and retailers are those who buy sugar and sell it without changing its form. These include all wholesale and retail outlets, no matter how large or how small.

Institutional and industrial users are those who buy sugar to use commercially, but in a changed form. These include all drug stores, hotels, boarding houses, restaurants, cafes, school lunch rooms, home economics departments, and all others who buy sugar to be used in any way whatsoever, save household use.

The wholesale and retail trade will be asked these questions: (1) Gross sale of all meats, groceries, fruits and vegetables, etc., for week ending April 25, 1942. This means foodstuff only, and not any other commodity the store might be selling. The answer to this question is to be given in dollar value. (2) Sugar delivered to and accepted by registering unit during the month of November, 1941.

Institutional and industrial users will be asked how much sugar they used in each month of 1941, for meals or food service, for bread, for other bakery products, for confectionery, candy, etc., for ice cream, sherbets, etc., and several other divisions. Sugar used per month in 1941 must be given for each division.

We shall make every effort to get these forms into the hands of the registrants before registration day so that they can be studied. The forms have not come to us yet though, and we cannot make any promises about when we can get them around. In the meantime consider the above mentioned questions.

Consumers of sugar, or private citizens, will be registered for rationing beginning on May 2, 1942.

ANTI-TANK GUNS

THESE vicious two-pounder guns are not unlike the famous whizbangs of the last World War. They are being manufactured by the thousand in Canada and they have done effective work in Russia and Libya where they have proved to be deadly against certain types of German and Italian tanks. Canada is shipping vast quantities of war materials to Russia and, in addition to making an outright gift of $1,000,000 to Great Britain, is financing the purchase of virtually all the weapons which Britain must get from Canada.

Voc. Agriculture Affiliated By Supervisor Here Recently

One and one-half units were added to the high school affiliation this year when Vocational Agriculture received the stamp of approval of Area Supervisor O. T. Ryan in his recent visit here. Mr. Ryan complimented the work of the boys and especially of the instructor, Manuel W. Ayers.

Many projects have been or will be carried to completion by the Future Farmers, at present woodwork is being studied by the two classes.

The addition of these units brings the total to 29 for the local high school.

Wheat Must Be Fitted Into Our War Plan

What farmers must do on the home front can determine outcome of battles thousands of miles away, Barney Arnold, member county AA A committee, told Knox county farmers this week.

"There must not be any more 'farming as usual' or 'business as usual' until we've won the war," he said.

Drawing a parallel, Mr. Arnold said farmers who continue to turn out wheat which is not needed and and fail to produce the things that are needed fall in the category with factories which continue to manufacture cars, washing machines, ice boxes, lawnmowers, instead of munitions, planes and ships.

"It takes about 18 people on farms, in factories and elsewhere working on the right things at the right time to keep a man at the front in A-1 shape and if we fail to do our part we'll be lying down on the job Uncle Sam has given us."

With adequate reserves on hand, the war effort can be disrupted if an uncontrolled flood of wheat produced on acreage in excess of allotments is dumped on the market. "Add a carryover of 630-million bushels to a 793-million bushel crop for this year, subtract 670-million bushels for domestic consumption, and you have the wheat problem we are facing today," the AAA official said. He added that export outlets of any quantity are not anticipated this year.

Wheat marketing quotas, which strengthen acreage allotments and make 85 per cent of parity loans possible, will be decided in national referendum, Saturday, May 2. Last year, in the first referendum, Texas wheat farmers approved quotas by 94 per cent while Knox county farmers approved quotas by 82 per cent.

"To keep our boys flying and fighting, sailing shooting, we can't spend much time on things we can do without. That goes for wheat which must be fitted into our war plan," Mr. Arnold said.

How To Safeguard Your Motor When Using 'Saved' Anti-Freeze

A warning to car owners who intend to save their anti-freeze for use again next winter is being issued by automotive service authorities, following the Office of Price Administration's appeal for conservation. "Saved" anti-freeze, these authorities point out, helps conserve chemicals needed for war materials. But such saving can seriously damage a car's motor and cooling system unless the following rules are observed, in the absence of any special instructions from the anti-freeze manufacturer:

1. Drain the old anti-freeze from the car as soon as cold weather is past. Rust protection ingredients in the solution are used up by summer driving, and the anti-freeze itself often is lost by leakage or by over-filling the radiator with water.
2. Discard all anti-freeze that is brown or rusty unless, after standing, it clears up practically water-white or retains some of its original color. There is little value in saving anti-freeze that, when tested, proves badly diluted or weakened.
3. Store saved solution in sealed and labeled glass or earthen containers. Thin steel cans often rust through from the outside.
4. If fresh anti-freeze has to be added in the fall to bring the solution up to full protective strength, be sure that this new anti-freeze is of the same brand as the saved solution.
5. Anti-freeze solution used more than one winter should be frequently tested and inspected during use, and when it becomes brown or rusty in the radiator and does not clear up on standing, it should be discarded immediately even though a satisfactory test can be obtained on freezing protection.

By observing these rules, a car owner can be assured, the experts conclude, of a minimum of trouble from corrosion, freezing damage, rust formation, radiator clogging and overheating difficulties. This will help conserve our automobiles, which are an important wartime asset.
