

Methodist Revival To Close on Sunday

Interest Growing In Services; Crowds Are Larger

Interest in the revival services at the First Methodist church is becoming more manifest with each and every service. With the exception of one or two services, attendance at the morning hour has been on the increase, and splendid messages are being delivered to the morning crowds by the evangelist, Rev. H. H. Hollowell of O'Donnell. Good crowds continue to attend the evening services, which are held on the church lawn. Soul-stirring messages are also brought to those in attendance at the evening services, and the revival is receiving much favorable comment from those who attend.

"Everyone should attend the services and enjoy the preaching and good singing," members state. "We have a good preacher and a 'big singer' for this revival, and all will enjoy every phase of the services."

Choral singing is under the direction of Rev. W. M. Culwell, a former pastor at Weintert. Rev. Culwell also brings splendid messages in song with his special numbers.

Rayford Jones of Memphis, Texas, came in last Sunday and is furnishing the music for the remainder of the revival.

The revival will close with the night service next Sunday. A number of people have been converted during the services; others have come in reconsecration, and others have come for church membership.

"The revival is just what you help make it," Rev. Luther Kirk, pastor, stated, "and we urge you all to attend the remaining services. Much good is expected to come of this meeting, good which will last long after the meeting has come to a close. But it will not be the success it should unless you are doing your part. Come, worship with us during the remaining services."

Flashing Signal from Canadian Destroyer

Passed by Censor

HIGH on the upper bridge of a Canadian destroyer, the captain watches a signalman flash a message to another ship in the anchorage. In the Battle of the Atlantic Canadian fighting sailors and Canadian ships are taking part in every important engagement, side by side with their sister ships of the United Nations fleets. In addition, the Royal Canadian Navy is conveying food and material, patrolling vast shorelines stretching into the Arctic. The new Royal Canadian Naval College, opening in October, will train hundreds of young officers for the swiftly growing navy. The shipbuilding industry, composed of 17 major yards and 58 smaller boatyards employs more than 40,000 men. More than 150 of 10,000-ton cruisers are on order. Smaller 5,000-ton vessels on order total 18. Keels for more than 50 merchant ships have been laid. These, of course, are in addition to the several hundred naval vessels built and in course of construction, which include corvettes, minesweepers, patrol boats, base ships and a number of heavy destroyers.

Revival to Open Next Sunday At Thorp Church

The Methodist revival meeting at the Thorp church will begin Sunday morning, July 26. Rev. R. L. Kirk will conduct the meeting.

Week day services at the Thorp church will be held at 11 o'clock a.m. and 9 o'clock p.m., unless otherwise notified.

Everyone is urged to attend and do their part to make this a successful revival.

Clifford Pippin Tells of Experience in Coast Guard

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Pippin received a letter this week from their son, Clifford, who told of seeing a tanker sunk by an enemy submarine recently. Clifford had just returned to Panama City, Florida, from a 15-day patrol duty.

Clifford told of harrowing experiences as his crew saw the tanker torpedoed at about 1:30 at night. He and his crewmen rescued 44 of the tanker's crew, but eight members went down with their ship. "We passed right by the sub," he wrote, "but I guess we were lucky. It really got the tanker, and the flashes from exploding torpedoes lit up all the area about the tanker."

Pippin said he would be out to sea again by the time his letter reached home.

Mrs. Erna Mae Lee of Wichita Falls spent Sunday in the home of her mother, Mrs. A. F. Huskinson, and attended the funeral of Mrs. G. C. Spann.

Visitor Here

C. E. McCormick, candidate for the vacancy on the Railroad Commission, was in Munday Friday morning conferring with friends on his campaign tour of West Texas where he is taking his candidacy direct to the voters in a warm personal campaign, calling on stores and offices and telling them of his qualifications for office.

McCormick, who resigned his position as director of the state warehouse and shipper bonding laws for the department of agriculture, to make this race is presenting his bid as an expert on both transportation and oil problems. He was an early-day developer of oil in Central West Texas and is a native of Mullen, Mills county. He has also had experience in the operation of utility plants, having built and operated water and disposal plants in two East Texas towns.

West Texas Press Meet Postponed

Notice was issued recently by Willard Jones of Snyder, secretary of the West Texas Press Association, that the annual meeting of the association has been "called off" for the duration of the war. The meeting was scheduled for Sweetwater in August of this year.

Due to war conditions, the tire shortage and the fact that transportation facilities are uncertain, it was decided to call off the meeting until the war is over. This decision was reached after a survey of newspaper editors was made in which only 25 per cent were in favor of continuing the gatherings.

Officers of the association are Grady Roberts of Munday, president; N. H. Pierce of Menard, vice president; Willard Jones, Snyder, secretary.

Move for Salvage Of Waste Fats Is Now in Progress

The campaign for saving of household waste fats and frying greases is now getting under way. A recent meeting in Wichita Falls brought the information that there are three rendering concerns in that area that will buy this material. They are the Wichita Packing Co., the Central Hide and Rendering Co., of Wichita Falls, and the Vernon Meat and Packing Co., of Vernon.

Jerry Vinson of Wichita Falls, member of the Texas Salvage and Conservation Committee, has this to say regarding the campaign: "Since most of the counties do not have any rendering concerns, I felt that you would be glad to be advised that these local concerns have agreed to buy this material at the rate of 5 cents per pound from any and all markets, and they will proceed to try to work out routes so they can come to each town periodically—say once a week—and pick up what the butchers have accumulated. The butcher is expected to pay the housewife 4 cents under this plan. This is not intended to be exclusive in any manner, and any and everybody who wants to buy fat is welcome to participate. Our only motive is to be sure that a market will be found after the material has been saved by the housewife and taken to her butcher so that the butcher may feel safe in putting out his cash for it."

Everyone Invited To Election Party On City Hall Lawn

With the date of the first democratic primary but two days off, and with candidates having seen practically all the voters they could and are now awaiting results, Munday is making plans for a big election party on Saturday night.

An election board will be erected at the city hall, and returns will be posted there as rapidly as they come in. First returns are expected soon after the polls close.

Those in charge of the election party stated that all county and district results would be received here, and that an effort will be made to secure as many of the state returns as possible.

Principal interest among local people is in the race for U.S. Senatorial race, in which three well known political figures are running: James V. Alfred, Dan Moody and W. Lee O'Daniel, present senator.

Another race of interest is that of Governor of Texas, in which Gov. Coke Stevenson and Hal Collins of Mineral Wells are the principal opponents in the field of several others. An effort will be made to secure returns of these races for Saturday night's election party.

City officials and business men extend a cordial invitation to all interested citizens to attend the election party here Saturday night. Returns will be posted just as rapidly as they are received.

It is understood that arrangements are also being made to receive the returns at Goree, Knox City and Benjamin.

"What a Man Does For Himself Dies With Him—
What He Does For His Community Lives On and On"—

AMERICA'S HIDDEN POWER

Describing the hidden power in our democracy as the "power to accomplish miracles," Walter D. Fuller, chairman of the board of the National Association of Manufacturers, made the following statements in his recent address to the National Education Association:

"There is hidden power in freedom of opportunity in America, the freedom to experiment, explore, invent and adventure that no coddling under super-statism can begin to match. There is hidden power in our freedom of press which knits the pattern of national unity and progress through truthful information and common understanding that no Gestapo can smash and no Goebbels can destroy. There is hidden power in the freedom of enterprise which constantly batters at the frontiers of new products, new methods and new opportunities.

"Yes, we have competed with Hitler's much vaunted regimentation and in the first big battle—the battle of production—Americans are giving him a licking that is making history. Our amazing production record is not alone a victory for American industry and free enterprise. It is a combined victory made possible by the forces of opportunity, management and labor, the press and education. It is truly an American victory, the product of unified effort of all.

"In this war we have demonstrated what industry and labor can do when there is a customer big enough to challenge the ability of our productive system. We have turned the wheels of industry faster and faster. We have attained the highest level of employment, of payrolls, of national income and of business activity in the history of this or any other country. As long as Uncle Sam is there ready to gobble up the goods as fast as they come off the production line, and still yell for more and more, these increases will continue."

THE UNIONS COME FIRST

San Diego now is the home of probably no less than 75,000 war industry workers. Then men and women, with their families, comprise from 100,000 to 125,000 of this city's population.

These people are working hard, day and night, and they require all the energy they can muster if they are to perform the tasks which are so important in winning the war.

Yet, yesterday, these people, as well as most of the remaining 200,000 residents of San Diego, were unable to buy bread. They could not buy it because the American Federation of Labor's baker's union had called a strike.

Wage demands were being negotiated, with the bakery owners pledged to make whatever pay increases that might have been ordered retroactive to June 1. The union had demanded wage increases of $8 a week. A raise of this size—any size—requires more than snap judgment figuring under present efforts to stabilize living costs if the bakeries are to remain solvent. Therefore, negotiations dragged on. It was not a raise, in this case, that could be passed on the consumer. Things aren't that simple any more.

But all this, apparently, was of no concern to the union bosses. What if 100,000 war workers have to go on short rations? What if the efficiency of war industry is affected? What of the disruption all down the line in a community geared to high-speed effort?

To the union bosses, with authority to call strikes, apparently all this means nothing. Either the pay increases are forthcoming, whether they can be afforded or not, or nobody eats bread. Tomorrow it may be something else. Hasn't this community enough to think about, enough problems to solve, enough work to perform without having a bread strike added to the growing list of complications which threaten to interfere with our war effort?

The union bosses unleash their wrath upon anyone who questions the sincerity behind their numerous pledges of "no strikes for the duration." Those who suggest that little dependence can be placed on such promises promptly are called "labor baiters."

All right, who called this strike? Who is depriving San Diego war workers of bread? Who broke labor's pledge of "no strikes for the duration"?

The above editorial was clipped from the San Diego Union and sent the Times by Bob Meinger, a former Benjamin resident.

Certain manufacturers are experimenting with the use of glass, terra cotta, and cement as substitutes for the iron, steel, and non-ferrous metals which have been used in the past to make the four million stoves needed to supply the country each year.

SHIP BUILDING PROGRAM

Some of the best news is found in ship production figures. Records are being made so fast in leading shipyards, especially the West Coasts' Kaiser yards, that it is hard to keep up with them. One yard recently completed a 10,800 ton Liberty ship in 40 days.

At the same time, some experts doubt that the overseas transport problem can be solved by ships alone. Major de Seversky, for instance, looks forward to the time when a great part of our supplies, men and equipment, will be flown to their destinations in air transports of incredible size. This, he argues, is the best way to answer the U-boats—to take our shipping off the seas and put it in the air. Then the submarines could prowl the oceans from now on, without finding anything to destroy.

To build such air transports in quantity would be a tremendous job, piled on top of all the other tremendous jobs that the war demands. But it may happen, if the war goes on as long as many authorities seem to think. A merchant ship, for instance, can make only three or four round trips a year to Australia—air transports could make 50 trips or more. Their advocates say they could be armored to the point where they would be flying battleships, virtually safe from fighter-plane attack.

YOU ARE THE GOVERNMENT

With taxes a tremendously growing burden on every citizen of the United States, the people must take a tremendous interest in all affairs of government, from the smallest school district to Congress itself.

Taking an interest in the affairs of government does not mean to merely sit back and kick after the assessments have been levied. Instead, study the legitimate needs of government and sift them out of the thousand and one purely political items that have crept into public budgets.

The people must begin talking to or writing to their city councils, their local school boards, their county courts, their tax commissions, their state legislators—and last, but not least, their congressmen and senators who are today levying taxes that are taking their lion's share of the tax payments of every individual, every business and every industry.

Your congressmen are anxious to know what you think about various measures proposed which deflate your pocketbook. They cannot know if you never express your opinion. A postcard message from a man on the soil, a workman in an industry or a small businessman struggling to meet the tax problems, is the best index of public thinking. There should be sacrifice and economy in government, just as there is sacrifice and economy and scrimping in every home in the land.

Let your public officials know how you feel on legislative and taxation policies that affect every job, every industry and every dime of savings. The future of representative government is in the hands of the people in more ways than one. Remember, you are the government. Don't expect it to be any better than the thought you contribute to it.

FREEDOM

None are more hopelessly enslaved than those who falsely believe they are free.—Goethe.

Do you wish to be free? Then above all things love God, love your neighbor, love one another, love the common weal; then you will have true liberty.—Savonarola.

It is impossible to mentally or socially enslave a Bible-reading people. The principles of the Bible are ground-work of human freedom.—Horace Greeley.

The letter of the law of God, separated from its spirit, tends to demoralize mortals, and must be corrected by a diviner sense of liberty and light.—Mary Baker Eddy.

Stand fast, therefore, in the liberty wherewith Christ hath made us free, and be not entangled again with the yoke of bondage.—Galatians 5:1.

SAVE FATS FOR UNCLE SAM

College Station.—Waste fat homemakers save in their kitchens for the nation's salvage campaign may one day sink an enemy battle ship or help crumble Axis fortifications on fronts the world over.

Grease makes glycerine, and glycerine makes gunpowder, explains Louise Bryant, specialist in home management for the A. and M. College Extension Service. She explains that every 10 pounds of fat saved in the nation's campaign will produce one pound of glycerine for gunpowder and other explosives needed in winning the war. The two billion pounds of fat wasted in American kitchens every year would provide two hundred million pounds of glycerine Uncle Sam badly needs, according to the Bureau of Home Economics.

Recently the War Production Board arranged with meat dealers to receive some of this waste fat from housewives, and the A. and M. Extension Service will cooperate with state and county salvage committees in helping every rural family in Texas know its part. Cooperation in the national fat-saving campaign is in line with the war-time Extension program—the Victory Demonstration—to which thousands of rural Texans are pledged.

The homemaker's part in the campaign is to use grease wisely in cooking and take her surplus fats to her nearest meat dealer or freezer locker plant. She'll receive money—probably five cents per pound. Fats should be strained and poured into clean, wide-mouthed cans, such as a coffee can. "Keep the fat in the refrigerator or some other dark, cool place until you have a pound or more," the specialist suggests.

Using fat dripping in preparing food will help in the movement, as it will prevent drawing on commercial stocks of fats and oils. Every tablespoon used means buying less fat.

Some homemakers have mistakenly feared a soap shortage would make it necessary to save their fats for making soap at home. But soap is a by-product of glycerine, Miss Bryant explains, so large supplies will be available.

I GIVE YOU TEXAS by BOYCE HOUSE

You'd have to search a long time to find a more eloquent description of the cowboy than that of Judge Chas. E. Coombes of Stamford in his little book, "Moods, Meditations and Memories".

"The cowboy is the most unique character in all history and as different from others as if an inhabitant of another world—unique in that he keeps his own company, does his own thinking and acts pursuant to his own will.

"He guides his course by the North Star, studies the firmament, the topography of the range, the faces of men, the flesh marks—as well as the brands—of cattle and horses.

"A sniff of the breeze warns him of approaching storm, and, by his observation of the movements of cattle, he senses the stampede of the vast herd. He rides through the rain, the wind and the storm and, amid ominous peals of thunder, watches the lightning flash from horn to horn and hoof to hoof of the drifting cattle.

"The cowpuncher is without polish but, under a rough and rugged exterior beats a big heart and lives a courageous and generous soul. He is honest, because Nature—with which he is most closely associated—never misled him nor told him a lie.

"He begins his education in the School of Nature with observation and experience his chief instructors and finishes in the University of Creation majoring in astronomy, geography and physiognomy, on which is based his unwritten master's degree.

"Usually born of frontier parents in the wide open spaces, the cowboy spends his life in similar surroundings. He is nurtured in the lap of nature, grows to manhood in the great outdoors of life, spends his allotted time under the canopy of heaven, and at last unrolls his bedding, wraps the draperies of the Eternal around him, and lies down to pleasant dreams, confident of an awakening at the dawn of a new day."

"This Might Happen to You—Subscribe!"

A man who was too stingy to subscribe for his home town paper sent his little boy to borrow a copy from a neighbor. In his haste, the boy ran over a $4 stand of bees, and in ten minutes, looked like a warty summer squash.

His father ran to his assistance, and failing to notice the barbed wire fence, ran into that, ruining a $5 pair of trusers.

The old cow took advantage of the gap in the fence, got into the corn field and killed herself eating green corn.

Hearing the racket, his wife ran out, upset a four-gallon churn of cream into a basket of little chickens, drowning the entire batch. In her haste, she dropped a $35 set of false teeth.

The baby, having been left alone, crawled through the cream into the parlor, ruining a brand-new $25 carpet.

During the excitement, the oldest daughter ran away with the hired man, the dog broke up 11 setting hens and the calves got out and chewed the tails off four fine shirts on the clothes line.

Moral: Don't borrow your neighbor's paper; it's too risky.

And now, Dear Reader, if you enjoy these little visits we have each week through the columns of your hometown paper, please do something for me. If you think I know Texas and Texas folks and that I love Texas, then be "a committee of one" in your community and ask your friend to vote for Boyce House for Lieutenant Governor next Saturday. Help put House in the State House. Thank you.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl McGlothlin and son, John Carl, of San Angelo visited friends here last Sunday afternoon. They were enroute home after a visit with Mrs. McGlothlin's parents in Megargel.

Tire Inventory Deadline Extended

Deadline for tire sellers to complete inventory reports on all serviceable tires and tubes in their possession has been extended by OPA until July 25. Original filing date was July 15. All tire dealers, automobile supply companies, motor vehicle dealers and finance companies that sell or hold for sale new or used tires and tubes must file the inventory report in duplicate with their local War Price and Ration boards. Reports will show stocks on hand as of June 30. In the future, tire sellers will file such inventory reports quarterly, on or before the 15th day of the succeeding month.

Electric Ranges Available

Stocks of electric ranges, totaling around 45,000, have been released by WPB for sale to the public under specified conditions. As production has ceased for the duration of the war, these ranges, which had been frozen in the hands of dealers, distributors and manufacturers since May 2, represent the total available for distribution. Persons desiring to buy electric ranges must certify in writing to a dealer that the range is needed to replace one that is worn out or damaged beyond repair, or that no other cooking facilities are available and that the premises are wired for installation of an electric range.

Tire Law Violators Sentenced

Three Houston men have received sentences of $1000 fines and 20-month terms in the federal penitentiary upon conviction in the Federal District Court at Houston for criminal violations of OPA tire rationing and price ceiling regulations. This action, the first of its kind in the United States, resulted from investigations by Department of Justice and OPA agents of a "tire black market" operating in Houston. Two additional Houston businessmen now are awaiting trial on indictments charging them with violating the OPA regulations.

Hauling Orders Amended

Motor trucks operated by common carriers in over-the-road trucking must carry a capacity load over a "considerable portion" of the trip out or the trip back, under a revision of Office of Defense Transportation orders 3, 4 and 5. The amendment establishes a flexible standard for conservation of such transport equipment. It requires the exercise of "due diligence" in trying to secure a load for the round trip and in the event no load can be secured, the owner or driver of a truck must make an effort to lease the vehicle to another carrier capable of using it. The revised orders also to limit speed of trucks operated by common carriers in over-the-road service to 40 miles an hour.

Check Your Extra Baggage

Rail travelers are asked by ODT Director Eastman to confine themselves to one suitcase in a passenger car. Railroads have reported that due to the crowded conditions of pullmans and coaches, luggage being taken into cars by passengers is becoming increasingly difficult to handle. Checking of extra baggage is urged.

Pine Price Ceilings Set

Specific dollars and cents maximum prices for almost all Southern pine lumber production in shipments originating at the mill are now in effect under OPA regulation No. 19. Prices are established for all lumber produced from shortleaf yellow pine not previously subject to specific price ceilings, as well as lumber produced from longleaf yellow pine, which formerly was priced under the general maximum price regulation.

Sugar Bonus Announced

OPA has announced a sugar "bonus" for institutional and industrial users, to be granted when such users appear before local War Price and Rationing boards to apply for their September-October allotments on August 15. Institutional users, such as hospitals and restaurants, will be granted 75 per cent of their normal base quota for July and August, instead of the 50 per cent regularly allowed, and industrial users will get 80 per cent of their normal requirements, instead of the 70 per cent regularly allowed.

Government Needs Typewriters

Eugene Risser, region WPB director, has issued an appeal in connection with WPB's drive to find 500,000 used typewriters for use by the army and navy. New typewriter dealers are acting as purchasing agents to buy the ma-

CANADA HAS 4,000 AIRWOMEN

Passed by Censor. Smart and serviceable are the new uniforms of the R.C.A.F. (Women's Division). This summer uniform (above) is a washable, shirtwaist dress of blue fabric, with a six-gore skirt and brass buttons. The sports uniform is light, practical and attractive, as this photograph (at right) of a shapely, young airwoman demonstrates. The uniform is in a soft grey-blue shade, the shorts of fine cotton twill and the pullover of knitted cotton.

SUMMER uniform for the Royal Canadian Air Force (Women's Division) is a hip-length, short-sleeved dress, bearing the insignia and brass buttons of equal rank. It is modeled by Alicia Morris of Montreal, formerly on the staff of a large department store, now Airwoman, Second Class, in training for the trade of equipment assistant. In that trade—which involves dealing with air force stores and equipment—as in other capacities of which cook, hospital assistant, transport driver, parachute rigger, meteorologist, office worker and waitress are only a few, women of Canada are enlisting to release manpower for more strenuous duties, notably that of aircrew. Taking the W.A.A.F. of the R.A.F. as its pattern, the women's division is part of the Royal Canadian Air Force, and not an auxiliary. Its members enlist as men do, and go on active service after thorough training which varies in length according to trade. To enter the service, a woman must be between eighteen and forty-one years of age, of medical category "A1B" or higher (equivalent to army standard A), at least five feet in height, of good character, with a minimum educational requirement of high school entrance and the ability to pass an appropriate trade test. Training is carried on at women's division training depots, followed by courses at specialized schools, and on graduation airwomen are posted to stations of the R.C.A.F. There, they are accommodated in women's division barracks blocks, and have mess halls with airmen of equal rank. Starting in the autumn of 1941, with nine trades, the women's division now has twenty-seven. Its officers, who hold the King's commission, are drawn from the ranks—most of them graduates of the first training course—159 women who, enlisting in October 1941, formed the nucleus of a division which is now nearing the four thousand mark.

chines for the U.S. Treasury Procurement Division. Businessmen and others owning standard typewriters that can spare are urged to sell the machines for use by the armed services. Production of new typewriters soon will cease.

Court Supports Rent Control

In the first action of its kind under OPA rent regulations, an Erie, Pa., realtor was restrained by federal court from collecting rents in excess of the legally established ceilings for the Erie defense area. Rent control went into effect in Erie on July 1.

Need for Scrap Cited

Warning that scrap materials must not stagnate in dealers' yards, J. L. Dellinger, regional executive of the Bureau of Industrial Conservation, has announced that BIC's auto graveyard section will supervise the flow of scrap from yards to steel furnaces. The flow must be augmented immediately, on account of the heavy demand for scrap materials and the difficulty of moving it during cold weather, he said. The public must understand that the efficiency of a yard is measured by the flow of scrap to the mills, rather than the amount of material on hand at one time, Mr. Dellinger said.

Sales by Blind Exempt

Sales of articles made by blind persons employed in non-profit agencies for the blind have been exempt from regulation by GMP R, OPA has announced. The blind workshops produce brooms, mops, cocoa mats, mattresses, baskets, rugs, and other handloom products, all of which were formerly covered by the provisions of the general maximum price regulation.

More Workers Needed

Five million more workers will be added to the 12,500,000 war industry force by the end of 1942, War Manpower Commissioner Paul McNutt declared. Increased employment of women and other persons not now in the labor force will be necessary to meet the demands for war workers during the next year and a half, he said. U. S. employment service offices have all information on available war jobs.

Sunbonnet plaid for a petticoat frock. The skirt is much like those you would have found in grandma's closet, though grandma would have been amazed at the midriff bodice—strictly a modern fashion feature! It's all the newest thing in "patio" frocks, designed for summer evenings at home or the beach. This ensemble, modeled by Bonita Granville, RKO film favorite, is a rust and old blue cotton calico plaid.

It has been my desire to see all the voters of my precinct possible, and talk with you personally regarding by campaign for re-election. However, as election day draws near, I realize there are many whom I have not been able to see.

We have been doing lots of grading, grading and road construction work in Precinct Four, and this has required much of my time, making it impossible for me to see each and every voter.

I am taking this means of soliciting your continued support. I sincerely appreciate the confidence the people of my precinct have placed in me by allowing me to serve as your commissioner. If you return me to this office I will express my thanks by giving you another term of my most faithful and efficient service.

Sincerely,

War Research

In war the advantage is on the side with the best weapons. The work of scientists in America's research laboratories, developing new materials and new equipment, means a lot to our fighting men.

1. It takes years to build up and equip a large, organized, and able staff for research. Fortunately, industry did this long ago.

2. Long before Pearl Harbor, laboratories like General Electric's were serving their country—solving technical problems of war.

3. History repeats! In the last war "wireless" was developed for military needs—to become, with peace, a giant broadcasting industry.

4. So it will be this time. Research will help to win the war, and its many wartime discoveries will help to build a better future.

General Electric believes that its first duty as a good citizen is to be a good soldier.

CORRY

"The Man to Vote For"

Texas needs a good Commissioner of Agriculture to serve during the present crisis and the years ahead. Bill Corry is the kind of man you want to vote for,—a man of experience and action, capable and loyal,—a good man for the job. Corry, native Texan, 41, during an industrious life has had 25 years of practical farming experience, served with Federal Farm Board's Cotton Division and as a Legislator. When the present Commissioner, who now seeks a seventh term, deserted the party in 1940, Corry was called on by Texas Democrats to run in a 10-day write-in campaign and received 453,573 votes for this office even though his name was not printed on the ballot. Corry, as Commissioner, will provide the leadership and aid agriculture in all-out production, in solving many basic farm problems, and in the expansion of our agricultural industries.

Things were happening fast and all members of the household were busy last Tuesday evening when Mr. and Mrs. Wade Mahan discovered that their daughter, Susan Cloe, had produced her first tooth. Upon notifying some of the immediate members of the family, Mr. Mahan proudly admitted little Susan could, without any assistance, pat-a-cake.

This explains why the Mahans were late at church Tuesday night.

New V-Letters Now Obtainable At Post Office

The new V-Letters for the purpose of sending letters to and from personnel of our armed forces stationed outside continental United States have been received by the post office in Munday and are available to those desiring to use them, according to Lee Haymes, postmaster.

Some 2,000 of the new letters were received here, and they are being issued without charge in order to advertise them. However, when this supply is gone they will be on sale at drug stores. The new letter requires the prescribed amount of postage, however.

When letters are transmitted by V-Mail service, a miniature photographic negative of the message will be made and sent by the most expeditious form of transportation possible. It is important that the message be written very plainly.

The new service was inaugurated in order to reduce the weight and bulk of mail to and from our armed forces abroad and to provide speedy dispatching and handling of mail. The operation of the V-Mail Service is based upon the use of the special letter sheet. These letter sheets are a combination letter and envelope; each is a sheet of stationery of a standard minimum weight, grade and grain, so constructed and gummed as to fold into a uniform and distinctly marked envelope.

Because of the distinctive identification printed on the envelope and the uniformity in size, this mail will receive the most preferred and expeditious sorting and handling possible. It is easily recognizable as mail to or from our armed forces abroad and will be dispatched by all of the U. S. postal services.

Photographic copies of the letters are made and sent to their destinations. The original copies are retained until delivery of the copy is assured. If a ship carrying this type of mail is sunk, or a mail plane destroyed, another photographic copy is made and sent. After the copy is delivered, the original copy is destroyed, it was explained.

Information On Defense Training Asked by Hall

Austin.—Marvin Hall, State Fire Insurance Commissioner and Fire Defense Coordinator of the National Defense Committee for Texas, today urgently requested local fire chiefs to supply him with information about local Civilian Defense training.

"We are particularly anxious to receive the information recently requested on Fire Defense Form No. 3. This will supply us with information as the number of persons in each community trained, or who have received training in first aid, rescue work, auxiliary fire fighting, and fire watching."

Hall's appeal was directed to approximately 50 per cent of the organized fire departments in the state. About half have already responded with the information sought, for which cooperation he expressed appreciation.

In addition, the State Fire Defense Coordinator suggested immediate organization of training for civilian defense in those communities where no defense training activities have been held.

"The information concerning training for emergency war conditions will not only be valuable in completing a war protection plan for Texas, but such information is urgently requested from us by OCD officials," he stated.

Follow these four simple suggestions:—1. Put on and take off carefully. 2. Wash outer surfaces after each wearing. 3. Dry out linings in room temperature—away from direct heat. 4. Store in a cool, dry, dark place. Make sure that footwear is free from folds or wrinkles.

TEXAS OUT-DOORS

Austin.—Game Department biologists working to build up the wild turkey and deer population in the popular "hill country" hunting grounds today submitted regular work reports that stressed the necessity of curbing overgrazing in that section if these species of game are to continue to be numerous.

The reports were the work of months of field research, and advised the force of facts and figures to many beliefs that had been held by conservation authorities.

Cattle, sheep and goats graze this area heavily. Turkey and deer must compete with them for food. In addition, overgrazed areas offer poor nesting sites for wild turkey and make turkey nests more available to predators, both bird and animal.

Deer, the reports state, graze about as much as they feed off browse. This contradicts the popular notion that deer live almost exclusively on browse and hence are not on a particularly lean diet when on a badly overgrazed ranch.

The struggle of wild turkeys to reproduce under adverse conditions is dramatically portrayed between the lines of the statistical tables detailing the number of nests located, the number of eggs laid, the number of young hatched, and other essential information.

Two 500-acre study areas in Kerr county were given particular attention. One was the Kerrville State Park, which is ungrazed. The other was an area on the moderately grazed Real ranch. Thirty turkey nests were found on the two areas. The ungrazed Kerrville park area had 20 and the moderately grazed Real ranch area had 10.

Eleven of the Kerrville park nests and four of the Real ranch nests had been destroyed by unknown causes when found, leaving 15 active nests on the two areas. They contained 137 eggs, all told. Of these 15 active nests, only three went to the hatching stage, and these three produced 29 poults.

Predators were believed to have destroyed 62 of the total 137 eggs in the 15 active nests. Many Hill country sportsmen and other residents have become accustomed to blaming the fox alone for this predation, but the biologists proved otherwise. Traps were placed at many of the nests and skunks, possums and raccoons were caught, in addition to foxes. There was also evidence of bird predation, but it was impossible to identify the offending bird or birds.

Even on virgin ungrazed turkey range there would be predation by various animals and birds on turkey nests for that is in the scheme of Nature; but on heavily grazed lands the predation was inevitably more intense, it was pointed out.

Studies of the turkey situation in the Hill country region will continue in the hope that the Game Department may recommend and carry out a definite turkey restoration program.

New Movies Available

Another educational wildlife motion picture has been added to the Game Department's library, now consisting of 15 films, and may be obtained free of charge for showings by Sportsmen's clubs, schools, colleges, and others who might be interested. The new movie is entitled "The Making of a Shooter." For sound projects the film is on one large reel. For silent projectors it is available in three reels. If interested, address the Game Department, Austin, Texas.

Legislative and Several County Races Share Attention in Knox

(The following is a story of Knox county political races which appeared in last Sunday's issue of the Abilene Reporter-News.)

From a political standpoint Knox county is no exception to any other county of Texas in that little interest has been shown in the democratic primary which is approaching. Almost the entire citizenship is cooperating in various war efforts of the nation—the sale of war bonds and stamps, the U.S.O., collection of scrap metal and the recent drive for scrap rubber, as well as seeing hundreds of our own youth leave for the training camps. So it is not difficult to understand that politics has definitely taken a back seat this year and given way to the nation's war effort.

Chief interest outside the county's own office seekers lies in the race for representative of the 114th district of Texas, which comprises Knox, King, Foard and Hardeman counties.

Grady G. Roberts, publisher of The Munday Times, is seeking his third term as representative from this district. Roberts attained a record for being on the job during the 46th and 47th sessions of the house of representatives.

In his freshman year in the legislature, Roberts served on four important committees: agriculture, conservation and reclamation, game and fisheries, and public printing. During his second term he was chairman of the conservation and reclamation committee, a member of the appropriation committee, and held membership on three of his old committees: agriculture, game and fisheries, and public printing.

Crowell Man Opponent

Opposing Roberts for his seat in the legislature is Claude Callaway of Crowell, farmer and ex-county official of Foard county. Callaway, in addition to his farming activities, has served four years as tax assessor, six years as school superintendent and six years as county judge of his home county.

There is no opposition on the 50th judicial district this year. District Judge Lewis M. Williams, who won over two opponents in the 1940 July primary, has two more years to serve on his four-year term.

The ticket for county judge will read the same as two years ago. In 1940, J. C. Patterson, who was then serving as county attorney, was elected county judge, defeating E. L. Covey, who had served two or three terms. Covey is again opposing Patterson, and old timers point to this as a close race.

The sheriff's race finds new material for consideration of Knox voters, as Sheriff Louis Cartwright announced early in the year he would not seek reelection.

So J. J. (Jim) Stephens, city marshal at Knox City for a number of years is opposing L. C. (Louis) Floyd, of Munday for this office. Floyd has also had some experience as a law enforcement officer.

Joe Reeder, Jr., of Knox City, 26-year-old attorney is seeking the office of county attorney. Reeder is now serving in the army at Camp Swift at Bastrop. The incumbent, Herbert B. Sams, is not seeking reelection. County Supt. M. D. McGaughey is completing his first four-year term and is seeking reelection without opposition.

Two other old reliables of several years' standing are without opposition this year. They are R. V. (Bob) Burton, county treasurer, and M. T. Chamberlain, county clerk.

Rivalry Renewed

Earl Sams, incumbent, is opposed by J. P. (Buster) Tolson of Benjamin in the race for tax assessor and collector. These two men were in the midst of the 1940 battle, with Sams emerging the victor by 80 votes. Sams has served in this office a number of years, while Tolson has been engaged in farming and ranching in the county.

All commissioners positions of the county are with opposition. For precinct one, Wm. Griffith, who defeated the incumbent, E. L. Park, in 1940 in the county's only runoff, is opposed this year by Claude A. Richardson, Ray Willis and T. A. Stogner, all well known farmers in the Knox City area.

In precinct two, O. L. Patterson, incumbent, is opposed by Walter Snody of Benjamin.

J. W. Chowning and Joe Cade are vying for votes for commissioner of precinct three. Both are well known in the Truscott and Gilliland communities. George Solomon, incumbent, is not asking another term.

In precinct four, E. A. (Ed) Jones is opposed by George Nix for the post of commissioner. Jones has served in this capacity for several terms, while this is the first venture into politics for Nix, who has been operating the county's road machinery in this precinct for some time.

San Antonio Girl Is State Winner In Poster Contest

Here is Miss Leora Belsung of San Antonio who has just been named state champion for Texas in a national poster contest in which 12,820 high school students from 41 states competed. The theme of this event was Meat and Victory, according to the National Live Stock and Meat Board, contest sponsor. Miss Belsung won this high honor on the basis of originality, grasp of the subject and method of presentation, in the opinion of the judges.

In a statement accompanying her poster, Miss Belsung called attention to the fact that meat in the diet will help to bring victory because it contains protein to build and repair the body, minerals to build bones, teeth and blood, vitamins to promote growth and protect health, and calories to create energy. "Not only do men who fight need meat," she stated, "but also our boys and girls who are growing up to take their places. Meat is a food enjoyed by all, old and young."

The National Live Stock and Meat Board represents all branches of the livestock and meat industry. It carries on a research and educational campaign in cooperation with high schools, colleges and universities and the United States Department of Agriculture.

From where I sit . . .

by Joe Marsh

You ought to meet my friend, Will Dudley. I suppose Will must be seventy-eight or nine . . . but you'd never know it. He's tall and lean and hard as a hickory. And although the only formal education he ever had was a few winters in the old red schoolhouse, I think that he's the wisest man I know in many ways.

For one thing, Will taught me the value of what he calls "Just a-settin!"

Come upon Will in the evening, when his hard day's work is done, and you'll find him "just a-settin," in a rocker on his porch. In one hand he'll have his old briar pipe and in the other, a tall cool glass of beer.

"Wholesome, appetizin' beer," says Will, "is standard equipment for proper settin! Puts a feller in an easy-goin' peaceful mood."

You see, Will holds the theory that in our present mixed-up world, a man needs a quiet hour every day. An hour in which to sit down quietly and restore his strength and courage.

Will thinks, and I agree with him, that a man ought to forget all his own and the world's worries during that hour-of-peace. And Will feels that a glass of fragrant melow beer helps most to bring you quiet relaxation.

Show me the man who sits down quietly at an evening with his glass of beer and I'll show you a man who is wise in the ways of living. Such men, like Will Dudley, live to a ripe old age, unembittered by the troubles of the world. They seem to remain, all their lives, sweet-natured and kindly.

Time has a way of rendering accurate judgments on the value of the things men use and enjoy in the world. And Time . . . thousands of years of it . . . has handed down the verdict that beer is a pleasant and worthy companion for all men of good will.

Grady Roberts Makes Statement To the Voters

To the Citizens of the 114th District:

Due to the present emergency and the shortage of tires, I felt it unwise and unpatriotic to make an extensive campaign for my re-election, but please consider this a personal solicitation of your vote.

I am taking this means of presenting some pertinent facts for your consideration in your choice of one to represent you in Austin.

In these critical times, it is of utmost importance that you have a representative in Austin who has sufficient legislative experience to cope with the many problems vital to you and the welfare of your loved ones which are bound to arise. My four years in the House of Representatives gives me that experience.

The definition of a representative is "One who represents." The fact that I have never missed a record vote or a roll call since I became a member of the Legislature should indicate to you that as your representative, I have spent full time on the job.

I feel that you will appreciate the additional service I may give this district through my appointment to serve on the following five important committees:

- (1) I am chairman of the Conservation and Reclamation Committee. This is a 21-member committee and is considered a very important one.
- (2) A member of the Appropriations Committee, which is the most important committee in the legislature, because it appropriates the state's moneys.
- (3) A member of the Agricultural Committee, and ninety percent of this district is vitally interested in agriculture.

(4) A member of the Game and Fisheries Committee.

(5) A member of the Public Printing Committee.

Such appointments as the Appropriations Committee and the chairmanship of any committee comes only to those members with experience in the legislature.

I seek re-election strictly on the merits of my past record.

I volunteered my services and served in the regular Navy during World War I. . . I regret that I am past military age for active duty, but I do have a desire to serve my country where I can be of the most service. I sincerely believe that I can be of most service as your representative, because the next legislature will need men with the necessary experience to help solve some hard problems.

Thanking you for all past favors and assuring you that I will sincerely appreciate your vote on July 25th, I am,

Yours sincerely,
GRADY ROBERTS

Explanation Given on Why "Bombing Raid" on Munday was Disappointment

Following is a portion of a letter from Jerry Vinson of Wichita Falls to Mayor C. R. Elliott explaining the disappointment in Munday's scheduled mock bombing a few weeks ago.

"About July 1, I arranged with an official of your city to stage a mock bombing in the interest of arousing your public to the necessity of scrap rubber conservation.

"Your civic leaders and your citizens cooperated in a most commendatory manner, but the 'airplane bombing' proved to be a disappointment in most cases. Out of courtesy and in fairness to your civic leaders as well as to myself, I felt that you are entitled to an explanation which you may care to make public through your press, or use as you deem advisable.

With a desire to lend assistance to your local committees, we arranged with a number of local members of the Texas Civil Air Patrol to donate their time and airplanes to fly over the communities in North Texas to drop pamphlets urging your citizens to get into the scrap material drive. We thought that was a good idea for a 'stunt' and asked permission of your officials; they granted this permission with enthusiasm.

We had arranged with 14 members of the Wichita Falls Air Patrol for the use of their airplanes and so announced through the press. However, on the day before the scheduled flight most of the larger planes and their pilots were ordered for immediate patrol duty over coastal waters to search for enemy submarines.

We held a hurried consultation and found that we could hardly find enough planes left here to have even one plane fly over each city. But in view of all the adverse publicity that had gone out and the elaborate preparations that had been made in many communities, we decided to go ahead and do the best we could with the few planes left at home.

"I know that many of your citizens were disappointed and doubtless felt they had been let down. I personally dislike to be associated with any enterprise that is not successful. But when conditions arise where men and women are called into sudden war service—as in the case of our present airplane 'bombing' stunt—then we can but feel that we have done the best we could, and I hope your citizens will accept this explanation with sympathy and understanding."

Sincerely,
JERRY VINSON, Member
Texas Salvage and Conservation Committee.

CCC EXTENDS COTTON LOANS

College Station.—All 1941 cotton loans have been extended for an indefinite period. Maturity date previously was July 31, 1942.

The new plan, under which Commodity Credit Corporation will continue to carry the loans, permits producers to repay their loans and obtain possession of the pledged cotton or sell their equity after July 31, 1942, in the same manner as prior to the maturity date of the notes.

Lending agencies holding Certificates of Interest in 1941 cotton producers' loans will be permitted to carry certificates after July 31, 1942, under terms of agreement with CCC. The certificates will bear interest at 1 per cent per annum.

Cooperative marketing associations also will be permitted to continue loans held for their members under 1941 CCC cotton Form G after July 31, and the rate of interest to the associations on advances made to members will be the same as for lending agencies, according to P. C. Colgin, state AAA commodity loan specialist.

The new agreement for lending agencies and amended cotton Form G will be forwarded to lending agencies and cooperative marketing associations by Commodity Credit Corporation, Colgin said.

Our fighting men are doing their share. Here at home the least we can do is put 10% of our income in War Bonds for our share in America.

'Speed Demon' Supreme In Realm of Accidents

The "speed demon" is aptly named. His Satanic work looms large in every reckoning of the accident toll on the nation's highways. Every year he smashes his way to a new high in death and destruction.

In 1939, exceeding the speed limit caused 7,990 deaths, or 36.5 per cent of all fatalities brought about by driving faults. In 1940, the total rose to 9,600 or 40 per cent. Last year the figure reached its peak, according to "The Wreck-ord," a booklet of street and highway data published by The Travelers Insurance Company. The analysis reveals that during 1941 nearly 42 per cent (11,310) of the fatal accidents which occurred in the United States were caused by speeding. The next largest group of offenders comprised those who precipitated accidents by driving on the wrong side of the road.

There are two sure ways of reducing accidents immediately, the booklet points out. They are to lower speed limits and enforce them vigorously and impartially. It adds that today, when accidents are sabotaging the war effort by slowing production and crippling transportation, we can all help reduce them by encouraging a campaign for slower driving.

Soil Building Work Practiced In this County

Knox county farmers will have 2 1/2 times more money for soil-building work this year than in 1941. Marvin Allen, secretary of the Knox county AAA committee, said this week.

The soil-building allowance for the county under the 1942 program is approximately $85,800.00 as compared with $38,070.00 under last year's program. Shifting a portion of AAA payments, which formerly were made for seeding within special acreage allotments, accounts for the increase.

Shortages of labor, equipment and machinery probably can be offset if conservation practices are started earlier than usual. Instead of waiting until the last two or three weeks of the program year to carry out conservation practices, work should be completed in plenty of time to earn maximum payments this year, Mr. Allen explained.

Practical conservation practices which may be carried out during the next few weeks include terracing, furrowing, contouring, and chiseling non-crop pasture, building tanks and reservoirs and planting non-leguminous green manure or cover crops.

Failure of Knox county farmers to carry out extensive soil-building practices not only will result in loss of soil fertility but will seriously hinder food and feed production in the war program.

"Conservation always has been a sound farming policy. This year it's a wartime necessity," the secretary said.

Maintaining soil fertility while producing food and feed at record speed is a wartime duty of every Knox county farmer, Marvin Allen, secretary of the Knox county AAA committee, said today.

With special emphasis placed upon conservation, this year's AAA program aims at approximately three times more conservation work than in any other year. Under the 1941 AAA program, farmers had approximately $38,070.00 to invest in soils compared to $85,800.00 in 1942.

"This year our nation's farmers will produce enough meat to pave 7 four-lane super-highways from New York to San Francisco . . . one inch thick, and if we expect to exceed those figures and other goals for 1943 we must invest all the time and money we possibly can in our soils this year," the Secretary said.

Under 10 years of the AAA program, Knox county farmers have increased yields and restored soil fertility through conservation practices and the entire allowance for the county is expected to be earned this year. Stored up soil fertility also will pay off in food and feed in this year's war program.

"Conservation work carried out for the past 10 years is just like so many war bonds bought before Pearl Harbor," the secretary said. He explained that the amount of money involved was a secondary issue since the practices the allowance would buy would be the deciding factor in producing food and feed for years to come. The AAA official said that we'll win the war militarily, but we will have partly lost it if our production effort leaves the soil exhausted.

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by Dr. Geo. W. Cox, M.D., State Health Officer of Texas

Austin, Texas.—With recent months bringing to Texas a great number of defense construction projects, the danger resulting from the careless handling of blasting caps has been greatly magnified, according to Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

"Due to occasional carelessness on the part of workmen, live caps sometimes are left in the neighborhood of construction jobs and thus get in the hands of children or others ignorant of their character," Dr. Cox said. "Curiosity often leads to tampering with these blasting caps with resulting serious injury."

Parents and school teachers should stress that it is perilous to hit blasting caps with a hammer or other instrument, and that it is equally hazardous to throw them into fires, Dr. Cox stated. Children should be warned not to touch blasting caps. If they come upon a stray one they should report the fact promptly to someone in authority or to their parents, so that proper steps can be taken to remove this potential danger to life and limb.

With the dangerous character of blasting caps sufficiently emphasized, and children trained not to touch them, the hazards now associated with them can be practically eliminated, Dr. Cox said.
