

Clean-up Drive For Munday Slated Soon

Munday is dirty! There's a collection of cans, rubbish, trash and refuse in almost every alley in town—both in the business and residential sections.

It's unsightly! It's unattractive! It's just plain dirty! And with the cooperation of all Munday citizens, the town can be made cleaner and more attractive and will create a favorable, rather than an unfavorable, impression upon all visitors and townspeople.

A move was started this week to sponsor a clean-up drive for Munday. The date is set for the latter part of April, and the full cooperation of every man, woman, boy, and girl is urgently requested.

The move was started by the Munday Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Munday Chamber of Commerce. It is expected to also receive wholehearted support from Women's clubs, church groups and every civic organization in the town.

Get ready now to clean up your premises. The mayor's proclamation setting dates for the drive will be published in next week's issue.

Faye Ryder Of Gilliland 4-H Club Winner

Faye Ryder, Gilliland 4-H Club member, has been chosen as the winner of District III as Scholarship Contestant to compete with the other 4-H club girls, which will be selected from eight other districts in Texas.

Faye Ryder is one of nine girls in Texas who have been selected to be eligible to compete in this contest.

Her demonstrations through this period of six years include clothing, bedroom, garden, poultry, and field crop demonstrations, and on each demonstration a full report and an account of her net earnings have been made a record of, all of which adds up to a very neat sum. In addition to her regular activities as a 4-H Club member she has taken the place of her brother who is in the armed forces, by making a full time hand in the field, which included plowing, planting, chopping cotton, pulling bolls and driving a tractor for the past four years.

She was also a graduate of the Gilliland high school in the class of 1945.

The Judges, Lorene Stevens, 4-H Club Specialist and Alice Wheatley, Assistant 4-H Club Specialist will be in Knox County, Thursday, April 11th, for the purpose of judging Faye's demonstrations, records and reports. They will be accompanied by Miss Ruth Thompson, District Agent, and Mrs. Wesley Trainham, Chairman of the Knox County Home Demonstration Council.

Thirty-One Years of Public Service Ends As Local Official Goes Out

"Long time ago—back in 1915 it was—a comparatively young man who hadn't been in Knox County but a few years began a career as public official. This career ended, he says, last Monday when he turned over the official duties to another."

By the way of reminiscing, this ex-official recalled the varied duties he had when he first started in a public capacity for Munday and Knox County.

His official title was city marshal. But on top of that, he had charge of street work in Munday, looked after the municipal water system which was composed of a well, windmill and gasoline engine, and which supplied water for two or three stores and as many watering troughs for teams which brought shoppers and supply wagons to Munday. Other duties included collecting the sewerage fees. These went to pay the "garbage man" for hauling off the sewerage. In addition he was street maintenance man.

Munday had a fire department in those days. Its equipment consisted of a man-powered hose cart and chemical fire extinguisher. This man was also fire chief.

The fire alarm would be given by shooting six-shooters into the

Lloyd M. Hendrix In Honor Guard For Gen. Wainwright

CAMP POLK, LA.—When Gen. Wainwright and his party visited Camp Polk, La., on April 1, to review the troops of the III Corps, T/4 Lloyd M. Hendrix, a member of Hq. Junior Class To Present Play On April 19th

"Petticoat Ranch," a western comedy-drama that everyone will enjoy, will be presented by the junior class of Munday high school on Friday night, April 19, at the school auditorium.

The days of chivalry may be over, but Don Gordon, scion of a wealthy eastern family, finds plenty of use for a good, husky knight-errant on Ma Manning's dude ranch in Arizona. Being in love with Ma's daughter, Golden, he undertakes with enthusiasm the prickly task of saving Ma's property from the clutches of the crafty banker, Jackson, who is about to foreclose the mortgage on the ranch.

A lost gold mine, a bank robbery, gangsters in disguise, and numerous other details and complications all contribute to an exciting story.

Reserved seats are now on sale at Eiland's Drug Store.

Public Roads Not To Be Used As Dumping Grounds

Members of the Knox County Commissioners Court are calling attention to county citizens to the laws prohibiting the dumping of dead animals, trash, refuse, or debris on the public highway of the county.

The practice of such acts is, in many cases, unthoughtfully done, and the court is asking that public roads be kept free of such rubbish.

The penal code law, citing penalties for such action, is being published elsewhere in this issue.

Jaycees Will Sponsor Census Drive Here

Members of the Munday Junior Chamber of Commerce met last Tuesday night in their first meeting since the club was organized about two weeks ago.

The meeting was held in the assembly room of the Production Credit Association office, and a good attendance was reported.

The Jaycees voted to sponsor a census-taking movement for Munday, and this will be worked in connection with the clean-up week, the latter part of April.

It was pointed out that a correct census of the town's population would be of material benefit right at this time, since Munday has experienced considerable growth since the national census enumeration was made in 1940. This growth will show the housing needs, and many other needs for the city.

Citizens of Munday are urged to cooperate with the Junior Chamber of Commerce in this movement, to the end that every person residing in the city will be included in the census.

DALTON JONES ELECTED INTO WRANGLER'S CLUB

Dalton Jones, who is a freshman in Texas Tech, was elected into the Wrangler's Club at a meeting held in the Lubbock Hotel recently.

A person must be presented by a member and receive 100 per cent vote before being elected. Dalton is majoring in electrical engineering. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Jones of Goree.

DOUGLAS BUSBY ON WAY HOME FROM GERMANY

Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Busby received a telegram Monday from their son, Douglas Busby, stating that he landed in New York and would be home in a few days.

New Source Expected To Give Benjamin Lots Of Water

Mayor, A. E. Bail, of Benjamin reports that an adequate supply of water for the City of Benjamin has been discovered two miles east on the O. D. Propps farm north of highway 82.

Mr. Ree Gardner, driller, reports that the water was found at a 52 foot depth and that the well was drilled 59 feet, and from all indications an abundant supply could be obtained, if three more wells were drilled. Mr. Gardner is the driller for J. M. Whittaker Weil Drilling Company, of Anson, and has had several years experience in drilling oil and water wells, and Mr. Gardner is of the opinion that the well will furnish from 10 to 20 gallons of water per minute, and it is very possible that it can be expected to furnish more, if we get rains that are sufficient to add to the underground water supply.

Mr. Gardner states that preliminary tests were made by the use of a bailing bucket that holds 10 gallons of water, and that one bucket full per minute was raised from the well for several minutes, and that the supply was plentiful at a continuous rate of bailing.

The citizenship of Benjamin are very much elated over the possibilities of an adequate water supply for the city, and it is expected that the long unsolved problem of insufficient water for the town has at last been solved, and that City of Benjamin expects a boom in growth within the near future. The Mayor, the City Councilmen and the Chamber of Commerce of Benjamin are making every effort towards supplying the town with water, and that possibilities of getting a loan under a water revenue basis for the city is being planned.

Many of the Benjaminites secured water from the well and report it very desirable for drinking and that it lathers well with ordinary hand soap.

Samples of this water have been sent to State Health Department, at Austin for analysis, and that as soon as this report is received as to its useability other test wells will be drilled to determine, if this same supply of sheet water can be picked up at a closer distance to town, which would of course save considerable expense in piping and ditch digging.

School Money Is Received This Week

A check in the amount of $5,000.00 was received from the State by the Knox County schools a few days ago, Merick McGaughey, county superintendent, announced Tuesday.

This is a payment of $2.00 per capita to the schools of the county, and makes a total of $21.00 of the $30.00 per capita apportionment.

The money has been allotted to the various common and independent schools of the county.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Parton and Mr. and Mrs. Brooks Campsey, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Johnson of Amarillo, attended the funeral of C. A. Holland of Cleburne last Sunday. Mr. Holland was an uncle of Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Campsey.

FORESTALLING TRAGEDY

The news columns of a leading financial publication recently carried an account of rising building costs that would have staggered a reader ten years ago. It led on with the warning, "Don't expect a contractor to tell you how much your proposed new home will cost—or when he will have it finished. Costs are changing too fast on both materials and labor supplies are scarce and delays too frequent." Specific examples were then cited: "A druggist in Logansport, Indiana, contracted for a house. It was started last October on a cost-plus basis with a builder's estimate of $9,000. . . It is only 75 per cent finished and the revised total cost is already $15,000. It is expected to go much higher by the time it is finished. . . Another builder, putting up two cost-plus homes in an effort to determine costs for future use, fears the figures will be outdated before the houses are completed."

These figures have especial significance to present home owners. They emphasize the current drive of the fire insurance industry to inform policyholders of the hazard of underinsurance. Many homes are inadequately insured, and yet their owners are unaware of the fact, having placed full coverage on the property a number of years ago. They forget that property values have soared. The insurance industry is doing everything within its power to awaken its customers to the danger, before disaster strikes. When an underinsured home is destroyed by fire, possibly wiping out the effort of a lifetime, it is nothing less than stark tragedy for the owner.

COMPULSION ISN'T THE WAY

More than a year ago the governor of New York state directed the New York Commission on Medical Care to devise a plan to make medical care more available to all classes of people in the state of New York. It became apparent to the commission that "the insurance or prepayment principle was the one which could best be employed to attain this objective"—in other words, compulsory health insurance. But after fifteen months of study, the commission rejected the idea. Three important reasons for the commission's rejections were: (1) The estimated cost of such a program—between $400,000,000 and $600,000,000—was considered excessive, requiring a minimum per capita tax of $45. (2) The people of New York could be expected to regard as an unnecessary bureaucracy the machinery required to run the program. (3) The majority of the commission believed that a public health program might lead to a deterioration in medical service."

Broad, compulsory measures are not the answer to the nation's health needs. Some way must be found to reach the goal of all-inclusive high-grade medical care without saddling the people with a hopeless maze of bureau-infested red tape and exorbitant social security taxes. The medical profession is working steadily toward that goal by the development of a nationwide voluntary health system.

W. W. Kitchens, a Macon, Ga., Railway Expressman, was examining a small box containing cremated remains when a muffled voice from "within" the box cried out, "Let Me Out!" Kitchens decided he wasn't curious and was about to let go of the box fast when a grinning G. I. hastily reassured him by confessing to being a ventriloquist.

THINK THIS ONE OVER

Arguments for a state-controlled medical system lose their force in the light of the following editorial from the Christian Science Monitor:

"President Truman's citation of draft rejections as a compelling reason for the introduction of compulsory sickness insurance in the United States loses its plausibility on comparison with draft rejections in Britain where this insurance prevails.

"In his message recommending government medical care insurance, the President said, 'The number of those rejected for military service was about 30 per cent of all those examined.'

"But in Great Britain, which has had compulsory sickness insurance since 1911, the draft rejections were far higher. How they ran is indicated in the published Annual Reports on the British Army. Rejections for the 10 years ending with 1936 are available in the Annual Report for that year.

"During all the 10 years, 677,515 were served with notice papers and 400,775 were rejected, or 59 per cent.

"Even allowing generously for the effects of a lower standard of living, if Britain after 25 years of sickness insurance, had a rejection rate practically twice that of America, there seems to be little argument in the draft rejections for socialized medicine."

ADDING INSULT TO INJURY

When a hard-pressed taxpayer digs up his annual taxes, it will not cheer him to read the announcement of the Bonneville Power Administration that its income hit a new peak of $22,990,018 during the fiscal year 1945, nor that its total income to date has mounted to $63,577,242. That business is tax exempt, and is secured at the expense of what would have been revenue to private power companies, which in Oregon would have paid one-fifth or better of their total income in taxes to local and Federal governments. As it is, none of the 63 million will go to support the general functions of government.

Private citizens have to pay taxes on every hard earned dollar, while government-owned business such as Bonneville, which destroys highly-taxed private power companies' earnings, escapes financial burdens of maintaining government while enjoying all the benefit thus secured at the expense of other taxpayers. The taxes of every individual increase as government-subsidized plants such as Bonneville and others too numerous to mention are exempted from tax laws applying to every private citizen.

Think this over when you sweat to pay your Federal and state income taxes or your property taxes. The tax-exempt incubus of government business which you carry on your back, grows larger every year under a Federal program to socialize power.

Sometimes the present makes up for the past—if it's expensive enough.

Washington News Letter

By Congressman Ed Gossett

Washington, D. C., April 5.—Since I have been in Congress I have made many speeches supporting bills and amendments which sought to regulate, control, and, in so far as possible, to prevent strikes. The last one of these speeches was made on Monday of this week, and is as follows:

"Mr. Speaker, when the history of this generation is written the most shameful chapter thereof will be the government's absolute failure to deal with management-labor difficulties in our big industries. All authorities agree that our biggest problem and our greatest need is full production. Still we permit powerful labor unions and big industries, one after the other, to stymie and bottleneck such production. The steel strike set us back six months. The coal strike, if continued for more than a week, will set us back another six months. If long continued, such strikes will absolutely destroy all the hope we have for full and peaceful reconversion.

"We force men to fight and die for their country. We even draft them in peacetime and made them serve for $50 a month. But we refuse to interfere with jobs or profits of civilians. The politicians in both parties are afraid to do anything about strikes or work stoppages.

"We ought immediately to act upon the suggestion of Bernard Baruch for a year's moratorium on strikes. However, the President and the politicians apparently would see this nation in Hades before they would pass such a law, without, of course, first clearing it with Hillman, Murray, and Lewis.

"We are urged to extend the draft, to extend the price controls, to enact compulsory peacetime military training, in order to win the peace and promote the security of this country. None of these things compares in immediate importance with full production. Full production and rapid reconversion is the very foundation upon which our national strength and hence our peace and security must rest. Still the government vacillates, pussyfoots, and evades this biggest and most serious problem.

"The big corporations and all-powerful labor bosses continue to ride recklessly and ruthlessly over the American people. Mr. Speaker, how much longer will we continue to tolerate these abuses?"

Apparently the coal strike is going to be of longer duration than many anticipated. It will result in closing down steel mills and other industries producing critical materials. This in turn will shut down small shops, and will deprive every man of goods he needs to sell or things he needs to buy. It will seriously aggravate inflation.

On Tuesday of this week I served as chairman of a large meeting of Southern Democrats to protest an official editorial in a magazine published by the Women's Division of the National Democratic Committee. In this magazine, in bold black type, appeared the statement that a vote for a Case bill (a bill which seeks to settle management-labor difficulties and facilitate reconversion) was a vote against the American people. 107 Democrats in the House, including most of the so-called leaders, voted for this bill. This attacking an official party organ sounded as if it came directly from the PAC-CIO and most of us felt it should not go unchallenged.

The following day Mr. Robert Hannegan, Chairman of the National Democratic Committee, who was in Arizona, sent me the following wire:

"I regret that my absence from Washington prevents me a conference with you at this time. I want you to know, however, that I personally consider most unfortunate the statement which recently appeared in 'The Democratic Digest' in connection with the Case Bill. The statement was written by a former employee who is no longer with the Democratic National Committee and it was placed in the publication inadvertently and without approval. I wish to assure you that it does not represent the attitude of the Committee or of any member of its staff, and I shall be grateful to you if you will convey this thought to all of your colleagues in Congress who have expressed an interest in the matter."

Those of us who love and wish to preserve the Democratic party, and who believe it to be the best available vehicle of service to the American people are determined not to let the CIO run or ruin it.

Methodist W. S. C. S. Enjoys Program On Spiritual Life

The Woman's Society of Christian Service met at the Methodist Church last Monday morning at ten o'clock for a Spiritual Life program, led by Mrs. Gill Wyatt. At this time the members completed the study of Africa.

The program opened with quiet music by Mrs. Billingsley, a poem by Mrs. Wyatt, the scripture and a song "Sweet Hour of Prayer." Mrs. Chester Borden then gave "The Life of Christ," and Mrs. Love gave "Love of Christ and Fruits of the Spirit." Mrs. Billingsley gave "New Lives for All."

Mrs. Don Dabidson had charge of the second part of the program, the study of Africa, which she reviewed as the conclusion of the study. Each member took the name of a Methodist foreign missionary for the day, and each told something about his life and work.

At noon a covered dish lunch was enjoyed by all. Rev. Davidson and Rondel were guests for lunch.

After the lunch hour, Mrs. Wyatt gave the names of four missionaries to be prayed for this month. Mrs. McStay, vice president, gave this report: The W. S. C. S. is the largest woman's organization in the world, having one and one-fourth million members. There are 27,000 societies in the world.

The young ladies of this newly-organized club on the Hardin campus were chosen on the basis of beauty, popularity, friendliness, and attaining a B average.

This organization is to help promote a better understanding of our Pan-American neighbors. Through the good neighbor policy, there will be several girls from some of these countries to attend Hardin College next fall.

Dr. James B. Boren, president of Hardin College, is an honorary member of the club.

Joyce is a 1945 honor graduate of Munday high school, receiving a scholarship from Hardin. Workers Urged To Avoid Losses From Social Security

Wichita Falls.—The Social Security Board is offering its full cooperation to workers and former workers who have reached the age of 65 in an effort to help them avoid any loss of benefits through delay in filing claims, it was announced today by Glen T. Dunn, acting manager of the Board's Office at Wichita Falls.

Any person who has worked enough in private industry and commerce to be insured under the old-age and survivors insurance program can file a claim at age 65 to peg his benefits at a point below which they cannot fall," Dunn said. "Then, if he keeps on working, or if he gets a new job, and his wage record would produce higher benefits at a later date, he may file a request to have his benefits recalculated to give him the higher rate." Dunn pointed out that his office has been urging workers for some time to confer with the Social Security Board officials upon reaching age 65, in order to protect full benefit rights.

"A great many workers have done just that," Dunn said, "but many have not. They have been under the impression that once a claim was filed, the benefits could not be changed even though subsequent work might produce a higher potential benefit figure. "That was true for a time, but last year the Board inaugurated a method of recalculation which will keep benefits from going down, once a claim is filed, but will not keep them from going up. If workers and former workers in private industry and commerce, who have passed the age of 65, will just come in to see us, we will give them the information and help necessary to protect their full benefit rights."

Crop Insurance Features Given By Mr. Thomas

Mr. Doyle Thomas, Secretary of the P.M.A. of Knox County outlining some of the new features regarding crop insurance.

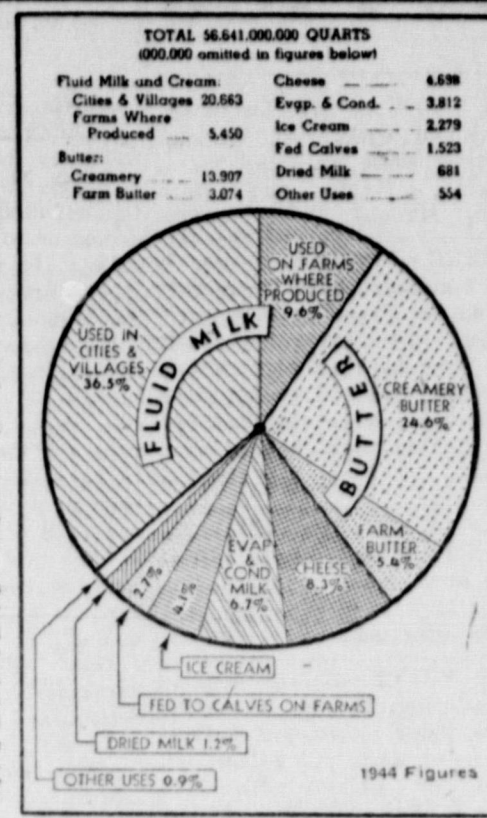

These new features are called Partial Insurance Protection, and are offered by the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation for the first time this year, which enables the farmer to fit the cost of his crop insurance to the amount he feels he can afford to spend, or to the protection he needs.

As in the past, there are still two levels of insurance, covering either 50 percent or 75 percent of the average yield of the farm. But if the farmer prefers, he can take 60 percent, 70 percent, 80 percent, or 90 percent of either plan. That means his premiums and his indemnities, in case of loss, would be figured at the level of the plan he chose, and then reduced according to the percentage of partial insurance he has selected.

Federal insurance protection does not affect the level of insured production at either 50 or 75 percent of the average yield. An indemnity would be payable whenever the farmer's production dropped below that level. The new provision merely affects the amount that is payable on both premiums and indemnities. For 1946, partial insurance applies to cotton, spring wheat, and flax. A similar plan is provided for the experimental crops, corn, and tobacco.

TEXAS WAR VETERANS RECORD MILK DRINKERS

RETURNING veterans drinking milk in record quantities have helped raise consumption to all-time high levels, according to the Milk Industry Foundation. With milk production on farms around 4 billion quarts a year higher than before the war, the supply cannot keep up with the demand.

"Milk is our most widely used food," the Foundation says, "and the largest single source of cash farm income. Cash from milk is larger than cattle or hogs, over twice cotton, wheat or eggs and four times tobacco. Farm income from milk for 1945 is expected to exceed 3 billion dollars when final figures are compiled."

"Milk and its products comprise more than 25 percent of the foods estimated to be consumed annually by the average American. Consumers use more than 50 million quarts of fresh milk and cream a day," the Foundation says in its annual statistical review of the industry.

"New methods of distribution efficiency developed during the war are popular and surveys show the every-other-day distribution plan and other economies save consumers 1 cent or more per quart. The government's farm feed subsidy makes possible an additional saving to consumers averaging around 1 1/2 cents a quart."

Today with production and distribution of milk at the highest levels in history, the United States is the greatest of dairy nations. This war proved how economical and valuable milk is as a food for the armed forces and civilians. Milk and its products contain essentials of a good diet and the U. S. Public Health Service says, "of all products, none is more important than milk."

Americans enjoy the finest milk in the world efficiently and economically distributed. The U. S. system of milk supply and distribution is one of the country's outstanding economic assets.

Texas' 1,151,000 cows on farms each produce an average of 1,409 quarts of milk. Total milk production was 2,019,000,000 quarts in 1945. In addition to the large quantities consumed as fluid milk and cream, Texas milk was used for making 30,938,000 pounds of creamery butter, 22,079,000 gallons of ice cream and other products. Farm cash income totaled $94,360,000.

Fixing Up the Farm

by BURTON WILLIAMS

Life in Old Buildings

REPLACING old buildings that are worn out is one of the necessary and costly steps many farmers will have to take. Few farmers, however, can afford the luxury of discarding sound structures that can be repaired and remodeled economically.

Improved remodeling techniques and modern building materials have made it possible to do wonders in restoring old buildings, both inside and out. The cost usually is much less than for a new structure.

One of the modern materials which has come into wide use in modernizing interiors of all types of farm service buildings is asbestos cement board. This material, made in 4 x 8 foot sheets, covers large areas rapidly and reduces the number of joints. It makes a permanent interior lining that is fire-proof, weather-proof and easy to clean, thus promoting safety, comfort and sanitation. Asbestos board is equally adapted for use as exterior siding in remodeling old farm buildings. It is proof against rats, termites, rot and rust and requires no painting or preservative treatment.

Asbestos board is recommended for lining and residing dairy, hog and poultry structures, grain bins, garages, utility sheds and other buildings.

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by Dr. Geo. W. Cox
M. D., State Health Officer of Texas

Austin. If you have not been vaccinated against typhoid fever within the last two or three years, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, advises you to go to your doctor or to the nearest health officer and have him give you the three "shots" that will protect you against the disease.

"The three shots that will protect against typhoid are given at intervals of one week apart, Dr. Cox stated. "As it takes some time for the protective treatment to be established throughout the system, it is wise not to delay in having it done. My advice is, have it done now so that immunization may be complete before summer arrives and vacation trips are taken."

This advice was addressed particularly to Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, and other youngsters who are looking forward to spring and summer hikes and trips. It is, however, meant also for others, young or old, whose business or pleasure during the summer will take them to places where there may be doubt as to the purity or safety of the water supply, or as to the care with which food is handled.

The old adage that "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure" is particularly applicable to this disease, which is so dangerous and debilitating when it does occur, and which can be prevented so easily through immunization.

Cowboy Reunion To Open July 2nd At Stamford

Directors of the Texas Cowboy Reunion, Inc. confirmed the tentative dates of July 2nd, 3rd, and 4th for the 17th Annual Texas Cowboy Reunion which were set at a meeting last fall. The annual affair, held in Stamford, Texas, exceeded all previous attendance records in 1945.

W. G. Swenson, president, presented a plan for a special calf roping event for servicemen and ex-servicemen which was accepted unanimously by the directors. Winners of the event will receive a hand tooled saddle. The ten low roping servicemen and ex-servicemen in the previous two day go-round will compete at the night performance on July 4th for the saddle. All servicemen and ex-servicemen of World War II will be admitted free except for government tax at that performance to witness their buddies successes and failures. Roping is an event that requires constant practice, a deft touch and split-second timing, something boys in service the past four years have missed. In attendance at the meeting were: W. G. Swenson, president, L. M. Hardy, vice-president, K. K. Farnes, A. M. G. Swenson and A. C. Bishop, secretary.

Plant Workshop Of School Buildings Slated At Austin

Austin.—Long-range planning of new public school buildings in Texas will be discussed by schools and state officials when a Plant Workshop is held this summer at the University of Texas.

The Workshop has been set for June 25-28 inclusive, with representatives of state health and education departments, and official teachers' organization present to talk over means and methods for building or remodeling school plants. "There are several common errors we hope to overlook when building or remodeling within the next few years," Dr. Hob Gray, in charge of the Workshop, said. "These include such things as placing schools in areas which are declining in school population, failure to design buildings so that they are adapted to the community's civic and recreational needs; failure to determine locations where new school facilities are and will be needed."

Sponsors of the Workshop in addition to the University are the Texas Study of Secondary Education, the State Departments of health and education, and Texas Associations of School administrators. "Officials estimate that between 75 and 100 million dollars will be spent on public school buildings within the next few years," Dr. Gray said.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Mitchell returned home last Thursday from Galveston, where they spent about a week visiting with their daughter, Patsy Ruth, who is in nurse's training at the John Sealy hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bill Pierce and little daughter, Cynthia, of Dallas spent the week end here with Mrs. Pierce's parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. V. Williams, and other relatives.

MORE GARDENS ARE NEEDED IN 1946

Secretary of Agriculture Anderson has sent to each State Governor the following telegram. It tells compactly why gardeners should renew their efforts in 1946 and try hard to equal or surpass the excellent Victory Gardens records of the war years:

"President Truman has strongly urged virorous home gardening program in 1946 in view of world-wide food shortage. Foods from rural and urban gardens can substitute for foods needed for shipment aboard and help maintain good diets at home. Victory Garden program was outstanding in production and preservation of millions of tons of food. There is every need to make this year's program as successful. May we suggest, therefore, that you appeal to all home gardeners."

Mr. and Mrs. Mack Haymes of

O'Donnell visited with relatives and friends here the first of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Qualls and Mrs. Cantrel Qualls of Benjamin were business visitors here last Monday.

F. E. Stevens of Stamford was a business visitor here last Saturday.

I GIVE YOU TEXAS by BOYCE HOUSE

I GIVE YOU TEXAS — Jim White in his column in the Brownwood Banner says that Frank Grantham has suggested that when the pioneers Association meets, the membership regulation should be changed so that all who came to Brown County 40 years or more ago would be eligible. Mr. Grantham was 80 years old the other day, writes Mr. White, "but due to a regrettable error in judgment, he did not come here 50 years ago, and would like to be on the roll."

If the limit is lowered to 40 years, your columnist would be eligible for membership for it was in January, 1906, that I moved with my parents to Brownwood. My father opened a small grocery store on the principal street and, ever since then, the smell of spices and of freshly-ground coffee has reminded me of those days. The most important business establishment from the standpoint of a nine-year old boy was not however the Crescent Grocery—it was Kaneaster's Kandy Kitchen, where all the spare nickels that I could get were spent.

When we first arrived in Brownwood, we had rooms at a boarding house just across from the Campus of Daniel Baker College and I remember some of the college boys—men, they seemed to me, and their athletic yells, one of which was a real gem of poetry: "Johnny get a rat-trap bigger than a cat-trap; Johnny get a cat-trap bigger than a rat-trap— Cannibal, cannibal, sis-boom-bah!"

I regret that my memory has not preserved the masterpiece in its entirety but that will give you the general idea. After a few weeks, we found a house to move into; it was cornered across the street from an elementary school, about three blocks from the business section—north of the business section, I think. Directions always confused me in Brownwood, on account of the twisting streets. I remember there was a standpipe near the center of town and they told a story of a traveling man who walked around and around for half an hour, then said, "This is the dumbest place I ever was in; five standpipes and not one postoffice."

In our yard there was an oak tree, a big, tall one—about the biggest in the world, I reckon. One day, a playmate jumped out of the fork of the tree and so of course I wouldn't take a dare; I jumped out, too; it certainly was a long way to the ground. Nearly 20 years later, when I revisited Brownwood, I strolled past, you know, the oddest thing: you'd think that in 20 years that tree would have grown a good deal; but it hadn't, in fact, it looked to me as though it had shrunk; it really wasn't very far from the fork to the ground.

I can remember the Carnegie Library and of reading books from it; books written by G. A. Henty and Horatio Alger and a wonderful volume called "Forty Years on the Plains" that was full of Indian fights and scalplings and prairie fires. One time, we chose sides and pretended to be settlers and Indians. The settlers were barricaded in a stockade which in this instance was the left of a barn and the ammunition was corn-cobs. The Indians could get at the settlers in only one way: one at a time, they had to climb a narrow ladder that led to an opening and when a head was thrust through, there was the greatest whizzing of corn-cobs you ever saw. I thought it was great fun. I was one of the settlers.

Oil, Protein Are Weak Spots In Food Supply

Two of the "weak spots in the world's food supply," according to agricultural authorities, are oil and protein, both of which can be produced by local farmers in greater abundance through increased cotton production in 1946, says J. B. Stevens, manager of the local oil mill.

"Our farmers, who made such a great contribution to winning the war, can do more to help feed and clothe Americans and other nations by producing cotton than anything else they can do," he points out. "When we multiply our local need for, and scarcity of, livestock feeds and vegetable oil by thousands of communities here and abroad, the great necessity for increasing cotton production is very apparent."

Because it supplies human food, livestock feed, and fiber, cotton supplies a greater variety and number of needed products than any other crop farmers of this section can grow, the mill manager added. It also is our most dependable source of cash income for the grower.

"While it always pays to follow practices that will increase the yield per acre from acreage of good land planted to cotton in a balanced farming program, there is an even greater incentive this year to secure high yields and larger total production," he said. "Increased production per acre will pay good dividends to the producer himself, and to the world in larger supplies of food, feed, and clothing."

After a few weeks, we found a house to move into; it was cornered across the street from an elementary school, about three blocks from the business section—north of the business section, I think. Directions always confused me in Brownwood, on account of the twisting streets. I remember there was a standpipe near the center of town and they told a story of a traveling man who walked around and around for half an hour, then said, "This is the dumbest place I ever was in; five standpipes and not one postoffice."

In our yard there was an oak tree, a big, tall one—about the biggest in the world, I reckon. One day, a playmate jumped out of the fork of the tree and so of course I wouldn't take a dare; I jumped out, too; it certainly was a long way to the ground. Nearly 20 years later, when I revisited Brownwood, I strolled past, you know, the oddest thing: you'd think that in 20 years that tree would have grown a good deal; but it hadn't, in fact, it looked to me as though it had shrunk; it really wasn't very far from the fork to the ground.

I can remember the Carnegie Library and of reading books from it; books written by G. A. Henty and Horatio Alger and a wonderful volume called "Forty Years on the Plains" that was full of Indian fights and scalplings and prairie fires. One time, we chose sides and pretended to be settlers and Indians. The settlers were barricaded in a stockade which in this instance was the left of a SPUDS NOT FATTENING SCHENECTADY.—Ladies, did you know that potatoes are really not so fattening after all? According to Miss Myrtle Ericson of Ithaca, N. Y., instructor in food and nutrition at Cornell University's College of home economics, "the average potato furnishes about 100 calories." Miss Ericson made this statement in a General Electric Farm Paper of the Air address here.

"Now, of course," she explained, "if you are going to put lots of gravy or butter on your potato, you can step up that caloric. Potatoes in moderate amounts are even included in reducing diets."

Comparing the 100 caloric value of potatoes with other foods, Miss Ericson said: "A chocolate bar would give you 240 calories. An ordinary doughnut gives you 175. A piece of apple pie represents 400 calories, and a half of cup of ice cream 250."

To the ladies, Miss Ericson pointed out: "Just think what a piece of pie-a-la-mode does to you. That has about the same caloric value as six medium-sized potatoes!"

Three Words In Regard To Food Often Confusing

Often confusing to homemakers are three words—"enriched," "restored" and "fortified"—found on food labels. Since many homemakers think these words mean the same thing, Edith Lawrence, specialist in food preparation, of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service, gives the following explanation.

The term "enriched" can properly be used only for bread and flour. On the recommendations of scientists, millers and bakers in 1941 began to enrich white flour by adding two of the B vitamins—thiamine and niacin—and iron. Two years later the standards were raised. More thiamine, niacin and iron was added to riboflavin, another of the B vitamins.

Now definite standards for enriched bread for flour have been set up by law. The process puts back into the flour about the same amount of thiamine, niacin and iron that is lost in milling white flour from the whole grain. Riboflavin is added in even larger amounts than found in whole wheat. Standards have also been set up for calcium and vitamin D, but the addition of these is voluntary.

In "restored" foods the manufacturer puts back the nutrients lost in processing. Sometimes breakfast foods are restored and the manufacturer puts back the thiamine, niacin, and iron that were lost in the processing. This process is voluntary on the part of the manufacturers.

When the manufacturer adds nutrients that were not originally present in the food, his food becomes "fortified." For example, almost all margarine is fortified with vitamin A and sometimes milk is fortified with vitamin D.

Typical of the United States, typical of its people, its towns, its resources, and its riches is the oil town of Tomball, Texas—subject of a 19-page picture story in April Coronet.
