"What a Man Does For Himself Dies With Him— What He Does For His Community Lives On and On."

THINKING OF TOMORROW

No one can predict with certainty what may happen to prices if and when controls are removed. But those who believe in the free market and the productive capacity of industry under competitive conditions, do not fear the outcome. A few instances of "decontrol" are appearing to affirm their confidence. Price controls have been removed from musical instruments. Prices have gone up on some instruments and may go down on others. A press release states that "a small piano maker, to give the reverse side of the picture of uncontrolled prices—faces the very real possibility that he will have to cut his prices. These were raised 62.4% by OPA permission when the price agency was calling the price tune in the musical instrument industry. Now he's above the prices that many of his competitors, with a free hand to establish their schedules, have set."

It has been inferred that manufacturers and distributors would race each other to charge all the traffic would bear the moment controls were released. That inference is based on an obsolete notion of production and distribution. Modern retail distributors are like modern large-scale manufacturers. Their goal is high volume. To achieve high volume they must hold prices to levels that encourage people to buy. The producer or distributor who steps out of the competitive price line is immediately at a disadvantage. Every similar enterprise within range of his activities redoubles its efforts to please customers.

Even in these days of shortages, the distribution industry is assuming that sharp competition and consumer good will are to be the governing factors in tomorrow's free market. If it did not feel justified in assuming this, disintegration of consumer service would have set in long ago. It is a human instinct to ease struggling forward on merit when merit is no longer recognized.

Wonder how many drunks have tried to get peanuts out of a pay telephone?

Judging from the nation's divorce rate America is rapidly becoming the land of the free.

Here's one of my grandmother's favorite poems—like so many worthwhile poems, the author is unknown. The title is "Do It Now."

If you've got a job to do,
Do it now!
If it's one you wish were through
Do it now!
If you're sure the job's your own
Don't hem and haw and groan.
Do it now!
Don't put off a bit of work,
Do it now!

It doesn't pay to shirk.
Do it now!
If you want to fill a place
And be useful to the race.
Do it now!
Don't linger by the way,
Do it now!
You'll lose if you delay,
Do it now!
If the other fellows wait
Or postpone until it's late,
You hit up a faster gait—
Do it now!

Here's an item of Southwestern history:

Six men were hanged at one time in Fort Smith, Ark., by one springing of the trap door. All were convicted murderers and were condemned by the famous hanging judge, Judge Parker who presided over Federal Court, which had jurisdiction over Indian Territory, then the hideout of hundreds of criminals.

One of the six was found guilty of the murder of a 19 year old boy—and a pair of boots led to conviction and execution. The father of the slain youth testified that his son and the defendant had left Texas together for Indian Territory and that sometime before the departure he gave, his son a pair of boots. At the same time, the father bought himself a pair exactly like those he gave to the boy. The heel on the son's left boot came off and he put it back on with three horse-shoe nails.

The defendant was wearing in the courtroom a pair of boots just like those that the slain man's father had on. The left boot was removed from the prisoner's foot and in the heel were three horse-shoe nails.

And so the pair of boots sent the man to the gallows.

Food Will Help Starving Millions In European Area

Five hundred million people are in danger of starvation. Not even in the dark ages were hunger and misery so widespread. We can share our abundance to lessen this tragedy. Food can help build a peaceful world for all of us.

Two slices of bread saved each day by every American will feed 20 million starving people 6 months. Save bread that they might live. Here is how everyone can help fight famine.

It's food and more food that alone can sustain the starving millions of the world until they can get on their feet to build the kind of peace for which we fought. And it's food now and food alone that can give meaning to Franklin D. Roosevelt's "Our own objectives are clear—the objective of establishing and securing freedom from want . . . everywhere in the world."

And what do these forceful words dealing in concepts of worldwide magnitude have to do with the garbage pail in every home, and with the shopping lists, the planning of meals, and the eating of breakfast? The answer is plenty. Famine stalks hundreds of millions of human beings around the globe. The world food supply is not adequate to feed them all. The United States produces 10 percent of the world food supply. We are contributing our share of basic commodities to keep humanity alive. There is just the single great stockpile of the world food supply. Anything that we draw from it in quantity more than we need to maintain our regular standard of living is taking just that much away from the inadequate heap.

That extra unneeded amount, if left in the pile, can be drawn upon by people to whom the meager ration means the difference between death and life.

RODENT RATICIDES

SCIENTISTS have developed some excellent raticides recently, but they're still too deadly and too potent to be released generally to the public.

Until these can be made available safely, folks should make the best use of the controls they have at hand, advises J. E. Poore, assistant district agent for the Rodent Control Service. When mixed with attractive feed materials, red squill gives good results with both Alexandrian and Norway rats, those most commonly found in Texas, Poore said.

He also recommends that use of poison be supplemented with rat-proofing where this is practical. Removal of food for rats and of harboring places also is an aid in control.

Capt. Ralph Layne and family moved to Alamogordo, New Mexico, the first week in May. Capt. Layne being transferred there from Colorado Springs, Colo., as provost marshal of the Alamogordo Army Air Base.

vice examinations, and the proper applications forms, may be obtained at any first or second class post office, or from the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D. C. A veteran gets 5 point preference because of his service, and 10 points if disabled.

Washington News Letter

By Congressman Ed Gossett

Washington, D. C., May 18.—The House Committee on Immigration has reported out the Gossett bill. The bill has five sections which exclude certain types of undesirable aliens. However the Committee by a vote of 8 to 10 struck out the section which would have reduced immigration quotas by 50 per cent for a period of ten years. Voting for quota reductions were 5 Democrats and 3 Republicans, while voting against quota reductions were 5 Democrats and 5 Republicans.

This Sunday I have been invited to appear on the National Broadcasting Company's National Hour, formerly called the Army Hour. This program is to be devoted to immigration. I will make the following remarks:

"Those immigrants who first came to our shores came as pioneers to carve an empire out of the wilderness. Those who came later did so in response to a need for workers. Today there is no wilderness, and no need for additional workers. Most aliens who come today are not assets, but liabilities to American life. Those of us who advocate a temporary reduction in immigration quotas are not lacking in sentiment. We have gladly welcomed and facilitated the entry of 100,000 alien brides of our returning soldiers. Students and temporary visitors are free to come. We would permit others to come who have any just claim on our bounty. But along with isolation we also repudiate the policy of appeasement. We can't buy European friendship by opening our doors to her refugees. We do our duty when we send them food and clothes and money to the limit of our ability and resources. Our task becomes more complicated if we must also open our homes to them.

"If they are worth anything to us they are worth more to their home land. As the efficient spokesman for the American Legion well said, the right of alien is needed to rebuild his own country, not ours. His opportunities for service are there, not here. Comparatively we now have more aliens within our boundaries than any nation on the face of the earth. We should give this melting pot of ours a little more time in which to melt. We should not needlessly complicate the stress and strain of our reconversion problems. Enlightened self-interest dictates present restraints on further immigration. We must make America fit and strong for her role as guardian of the peace."

On Thursday night of this week, at the invitation of Washington radio station WVDC I discussed for 15 minutes changing our electoral college system of electing Presidents. I expect soon to make 30-minute speech on the floor of the House on this subject. Under our present system a Presidential candidate who gets a few votes majority in a state gets all of the electoral vote of that particular state. The system is made to order for organized, selfish minority pressure groups who are up for sale to the highest bidder.

In the 1944 national conventions both parties wrote the FEPC into their platforms simply and solely as an effort to get the negro vote. The negro vote in New York City, Philadelphia, Detroit, and Chicago holds the balance of power in those pivotal states. Both parties equivocated and pussy-footed on the strike situation because of the CIO vote in these same areas. The present electoral college system is a political bottleneck which stymies and thwarts the will of a majority of the people of this country.

The Congress this week voted a temporary extension of the draft. The armed services and others keep crying that a year's extension of the draft is essential to win this peace, etc. Other persons, who think our country should remain the strongest nation on earth, feel we are temporizing with the draft, whereas we should immediately enact long-range, permanent, peacetime programs and should pass immediately upon the question of what kind of a peacetime training program is necessary. In other words permanent policies should now be determined.

Strikes continue to be a serious problem on our domestic front. Ever increasing prices and wages in the big industries has led and is leading the inflation parade. As this letter is written the railroads threaten to strike, notwithstanding the government's taking them over. Apparently the government has lost all prestige and power in dealing with management-labor difficulties. More than four years ago on the House floor I predicted that the President's labor policies would become the Achilles heel of his administration. The chickens seem to have come home to roost in a big way.

Rev. and Mrs. Jessie Lee Morgan of Calhoun City, Miss., came in the latter part of last week for a visit with Rev. Morgan's brother and sister, Ernie Morgan and Mrs. George Hammack. Rev. Morgan, who spent 16 months on Guam, made an interesting talk at the Baptist Church, giving some of the religious activities of troops on Guam.

Bonnie Workman of Dallas spent last Sunday here, visiting with his sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Branch.

Tests Of Water Well Discussed At Benjamin

The Benjamin Chamber of Commerce held its regular meeting in the District Court Room, Tuesday, May 14th, with 42 present.

Mr. Ball, mayor of Benjamin, discussed before the group the activities of the City Council toward securing a flow test on the water well which is located two miles east of Benjamin on the O. D. Proops farm. Mr. Noah Gilentine, owner and operator of the Benjamin Laundry, gave a demonstration to the group as to how the different washing powders would lather in the new prospective water. Three different jars were used in which a small amount of the washing powders were placed and from this demonstration it was easy to determine that this new water was somewhat softer than that now being used.

The Chamber of Commerce voted to cooperate with the Santa Rosa Round-Up boosters when they come to Benjamin for the purpose of advertising the Santa Rosa Round-Up which is to be held at Vernon.

Mr. Collins Moorhouse, City Council member, made the statement that an effort was being made to secure a water test flow on the prospective city water supply well east of town. Mr. Isbell, engineer of the Isbell Engineering Company of Brownsfield, is to notify the Benjamin City Council, as to where they might secure services of some drilling company who can make the water well test.

The next meeting of the Chamber of Commerce will be Tuesday, May 28th, at which time more information will be known concerning the city water supply, and as an entertainment feature, the Magnolia Petroleum Company will present a moving picture entitled the "Southwest Challenge." All members and others living in and around Benjamin are invited to see this moving picture show, which will be free.

Tests Show New Sulphur Mixture Is Effective On Cotton

Results of recent experiments indicate that DDT-sulphur mixture is more effective against adult cotton flea hoppers and for the control of heavy infestations than sulphur alone. However, sulphur alone will give economical control of light to medium infestation and the DDT-sulphur mixture which is more expensive is only recommended for heavy infestation where it is necessary to reduce the insect population below the damaging point as quickly as possible, according to the County Agent, R. O. Dunkle.

Tests have shown that a mixture of 5% DDT with sulphur gave good control of the Cotton Flea Hopper. The DDT when mixed with sulphur was also effective in reducing the population of beneficial insects. Caution should be exercised when applying DDT early in the season for the reason that it will kill the insects that live upon the cotton aphids; therefore, all DDT dusts should be applied later in the season. DDT is not effective against boll weevil and should not be used when both hoppers and weevils are causing damage at the same time. A calcium arsenate-sulphur mixture is effective against both the flea hopper and the boll weevil.

For economical control of the flea hopper it is essential to examine cotton to ascertain the numbers of flea hoppers present. When from 15 to 25 hoppers are found on 100 cotton terminals then the infestation is heavy enough to justify the first application of sulphur, which should be applied at

Salary Increases Offered As Solution of Keeping Trained Teachers in Schools

The Texas State Teachers Association has just completed a survey among city and county school superintendents to determine the condition of the teacher personnel in Texas. Replies were received from 945 superintendents representing 36,057 teaching positions or about 80 per cent of the total in Texas. Since the opening of school in September, 3,633 teachers have resigned their positions which represents about 10 per cent of the total. Of the teachers included in the survey, 5,546 were listed with sub-standard qualifications which represents approximately 15 per cent of the total.

Local districts are exerting every effort possible to keep teachers in the classrooms, but many superintendents report that it appears impossible to fill all of their positions this coming year because of the low salaries paid and the number of resignations which are anticipated at the close of the current school year. Practically all of the cities in Texas report resignations averaging 13 per cent. Many local school districts are voting to increase their tax rates or will increase property valuations in order to secure more revenue for teachers' salaries. 110 independent school districts have voted a tax increase above the rates they levied a year ago and 143 report that they plan to hold elections for tax rate increases soon. In 40 counties, one or more common school districts have increased their tax rates and 10 counties report that they plan to hold elections for this purpose soon. It is estimated that 8,500 Texas teachers entered the armed forces and industry from September 1941 through 1945. However, only 1,277 have returned to teaching.

In looking over the results of the survey, Elizabeth Koch of San Antonio, President of the Texas State Teachers Association, said: "If we are to keep a staff of well trained teachers in the public schools of Texas, we must materially increase salaries. There is no other solution to the problem. The continued exodus of our teachers from the classrooms presents an alarming condition. We must give our attention to this problem immediately with the hope that local communities and the next session of the legislature will provide greatly increased support for the public schools."

Jack Williams Is Pilot Of World's Large Cargo Plane

When the world's largest cargo plane, the APF's C-74 Douglas Globemaster, capable of carrying a load of cargo far exceeding that of current cargo transporting aircraft landed at Wright Field last week, a local boy was serving as its pilot.

Major Jack Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. V. Williams, piloted the plane on its non-stop flight from the West Coast. The plane will be test flown at Wright Field for about a month and then sent back to Douglas for recommended changes by the Air Materiel Command engineers.

The C-74 has a gross weight of 145,000 pounds. It is powered by 4 Pratt and Whitney Wasp Major R-4360 radial engines, each of which is capable of producing 3,000 horsepower. All the nacelles are interchangeable and a complete power plant can be changed in less than one hour.

The plane has a flying range of over 7,000 miles and receives its fuel from tanks which have a maximum capacity of 11,000 gallons. It has a service ceiling of 28,000 feet. A crew of five is required to operate the big plane: pilot, co-pilot, radio man, navigator and flight engineer, while additional accommodations are available for relief crews necessary on long flights.

Besides Major Williams, the crew consisted of Capt. Don Cunningham, co-pilot; Lt. Donald J. Numeau, Mr. Paul Mingo and Mr. Louis A. Davis.

Mrs. Addie Layne returned last week end from a trip to El Paso, where she attended the wedding of her son, Howard Layne, on May 5, and remained over to spend Mother's Day with her children and grandchildren.

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by Dr. Geo. W. Cox, M. D., State Health Officer of Texas

Austin.—Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, has issued the following statements and suggestions concerning the control and prevention of poliomyelitis which is now occurring in certain sections of the State.

Until recently it was generally believed that this infection is transmitted by means of discharges from the respiratory tract. It is now believed that poliomyelitis may be another of the several gastrointestinal infections. Therefore, control measures must include clean-up campaigns and improvements in sanitation.

Stringent sanitary measures must be observed in all communities. Stringent efforts should be made to eliminate the house-fly and to destroy its breeding places. All mosquitoes and mosquito breeding places must be eliminated at once. Every effort should be made to institute approved garbage collection systems immediately. Safe water supplies must be assured. Where adequate municipal sewage disposal systems are not in operation, it is vitally important to promote and maintain sanitary septic tanks and outdoor privies.

All swimming pools should, under rigid supervision, maintain those standards approved by the Texas State Department of Health. This necessarily includes maintenance of proper chlorine level. Where such standards are not maintained, those pools should be closed immediately.

All raw foods and vegetables should be washed thoroughly before use and protected from flies, filth and insects. All eating and food handling establishments should adhere strictly to the State Law concerning the sterilization of dishes and utensils. Those restaurants with insufficient personnel to maintain approved sanitation should close one or two hours a day so that employees can assist in maintaining cleanliness and high sanitary standards.

Every effort should be made to secure approved milk. Rats and mice should be eliminated. Maintain in the home the same sanitary standards that are necessary in community life. Particular attention should be paid to personal hygiene. Excreta from cases and contacts should be handled and disinfected with the same scrupulous care as in typhoid fever or bacillary dysentery.

Over-exertion in children should be avoided. Children should not visit homes where there is illness. Polio cases should be quarantined for 14 days and adults who work in food establishments should be particularly instructed in personal hygiene. It is advisable to reduce to a minimum all human contacts, especially in children during an outbreak of this disease. It is not advocated that schools, churches, and theaters be closed.

Early symptoms of infantile paralysis are headache fever, vomiting, drowsiness, followed by stiffness in the neck and back. When suspicious symptoms appear, a physician should be called immediately.

Mrs. Joe Bailey King, spent the first of this week in Dallas, visiting relatives and attending the markets to purchase merchandise for the Baker-McCarty Store.

Tom Turner of Stamford visited with relatives and friends here last Sunday.

J. W. Roberts returned Monday from Aransas Pass, where he spent several days visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Sam A. Roberts and fishing on the gulf coast.

Trench Silos Recommended For Storing Of Feed

COLLEGE STATION—Half of the feed produced in Texas in 1945, on the basis of total food value, was wasted.

That is the contention of G. G. Gibson, dairy specialist of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service, who points out that most sections of the state have 90 days of plentiful pasture and feed and a nine-month period of getting by the best way they can.

In his estimate of lost food value which might be conserved for feeding, Gibson includes such potential crops as fence row Johnson grass, crop residue, and bundle feed which is stacked in the open. Rat and weevil damage to stored grain, of course, takes a heavy toll.

"There has never been a year when it is so important not only to produce as much feed as possible, but to save every bit that is produced," Gibson said.

He pointed to the silo, especially the trench silo, as the surest and least expensive method of storing feed.

"Some farmers point to high labor shortages as the reason why trench silos were not dug and filled in 1945," Gibson added. "I believe that labor cost at its present level is not the limiting factor for food conservation in the face of the nation-wide food and feed shortage."

John Ed Jones returned to his home in Kerrville last Monday after several days' stay here, visiting with friends and attending to business matters.

Mrs. Don Estates has returned from California, where she visited with her husband for several weeks. Don is in the service and stationed in California.

J. J. Keel visited with relatives in Comanche over the week end.
