Miller Announces For 11th Supreme Court Justice

E. J. Miller, former district judge of the 35th Judicial District, announces his candidacy for associate justice of the Court of Civil Appeals, 11th Supreme Judicial district, Eastland, in the following statement:

For some years I have entertained an ambition to serve upon the Court of Civil Appeals but had no idea of becoming a candidate for such position this year, until Judge Gray withdrew.

I regret very much the circumstances and condition which impelled him to announce his withdrawal, and will conduct an active campaign from now until the July Primary.

This district is composed of 23 counties; extending from Dawson County on the Northwest to Erath County on the Southeast. With about 30 days for the campaign, I cannot hope to see personally more than a small percent of the voters. I solicit your investigation and consideration and will appreciate your interest and support.

I was reared on a farm in Callahan County, spent two years in Simmons College, two years in a State Teachers College, taught school five years, for many years an active Odd Fellow, am a deacon in my church, a member of the Howard Payne College Board, and was for five years president of Comanche Trail Council Boy Scouts.

Having been in active private practice 25 years, practicing in all State courts, and in three district courts and Circuit Court of Appeals of the United States, and having served 12 years as district judge with a record above the average, I feel that I could render satisfactory service upon the Court of Civil Appeals and thereupon submit my candidacy.

Respectfully,
E. J. Miller.

Machinery For Vets' School Is Being Set Up

The County Board for Vocational recently set up by the County Board of Education and recognized by the Veterans' Administration is making plans to open a County Vocational School for Veterans in the very near future. Mr. Dowell, Secretary of the Board and acting Coordinator without pay until such position can be filled permanently, took an application and course of study to Austin last week and secured the Approval of the State Board. He is in Lubbock this week completing details of the school with the Veterans' Administration Office which has recently been opened there.

Courses will be offered in Agriculture, Trades and Industries, and Distributive Education and probably Homemaking. The board is trying to locate a man for the Coordinator's Job and at least one instructor for each course. Mr. Dowell stated that he thought they would be ready to enroll Veterans the first of next week and probably begin classes soon after July 1. He pointed out that there are always a lot of details to be ironed out, especially in a new program, but he thinks progress will be more rapid as time goes on. The County Board of Education and County Superintendent gave their wholehearted support in setting up a Board for Vocational Education and the Commissioners Court is supporting the program by setting up a revolving fund to help finance the school until government money is received.

There are millions of others in Europe and Asia who have not even this meager ration. You can help save them from starvation by giving money or food in tin cans to the Emergency Food Collection.

"Flying Eye"

PITTSBURGH, PA. — This bomb-like "flying eye," which helped win the battle of the Atlantic, will usher in a new era of oil exploration from the skies. Originated by Gulf Oil research as a magnetic detector for aircraft, it can "see" submarines hidden underwater — or "look through" the earth's crust to chart the underground magnetic structure. As the first practical airborne prospecting device, it opens to oil exploration hitherto inaccessible jungle, mountain and ocean regions; and will tremendously speed-up discovery of the world's remaining oil resources. The young lady perched on a pontoon of the exploration plane hears from E. W. Westrick, engineer who assisted in its development, how the "flying eye" trails from a cable in flight.

165 Veterans Of Knox County Are Unemployed

Unemployed veterans outnumbered civilian workers by six to one in Munday, W. C. Albright, Claims Examiner for the Texas Unemployment Compensation Commission, reported today, comparing veteran unemployment with individuals receiving civilian unemployment insurance. He said that the veterans were searching for jobs themselves and that the employment services was aiding but that churches, civic clubs, and merchants associations were needed to help solve this major reconversion problem the re-employment of war veterans.

In Munday there are 27 unemployed civilian workers and 165 unemployed veterans. The latter are receiving readjustment allowances under the G. I. Bill of Rights, which is administered by the TUC in Texas through agreement with the Veterans Administration. Payments under the G. I. Bill comes from monies supplied by the VA out of congressional appropriations for that purpose.

Our economy will be unbalanced until these veterans find jobs, Mr. Albright declared, explaining that this was not only a local problem but nationwide. Everyone has got to help because our post-war economy is not absorbing them fast enough. These young veterans want the kind of jobs on which they can build a future, get married, raise a family.

Mr. Albright said that in the few instances where the veterans have refused suitable work, their allowances have been stopped as provided in the G. I. Bill.

New Equipment Has Been Added to Reeves Motor Co.

Jim Reeves, owner of Reeves Motor Co., announced this week the addition of new equipment to the firm.

The new addition is a Bear Tire and Car Saving Service, which is used to check out-of-line wheels and bent frames on automobiles. Inspections, with the aid of this machine, will uncover conditions which might lead to the ruination of tires and to costly repair bills later on. Mr. Reeves invites motorists to take advantage of this added service to automobiles.

Mrs. Lee Haymas and son, Bobby, visited relatives in Plainview last Tuesday and Wednesday.

Plans Made To Return War Dead From Overseas

The Knox County Chapter American Red Cross passes on to the general public information to those who lost sons and husbands in the recent war.

On May 16, the War Department announced complete plans for the repatriation of 328,000 World War I deceased military personnel buried outside continental United States.

Under the law families will have option of: Having the remains returned to the United States for final interment in a National Cemetery near their home. The cost of this will be borne by the government.

Returning the remains to the United States or American Territories for burial by next-of-kin in a private cemetery. The government will pay $50.00 toward the local burial expense and bear all cost of shipping the body home.

Cremating at government expense is authorized if desired.

Burying the dead in a permanent American Military Cemetery overseas.

Caskets will be available this fall however it is possible that the earliest return of remains will not take place before the end of the year. It is planned that the first remains to be returned will be from Hawaii and Belgium, where the records of eight temporary military cemeteries have already been checked and rechecked.

The first inquiries to next-of-kin will be mailed within a few weeks. This form should be returned within 30 days. Letters will not be received by all next-of-kin at the same time. They will mail as records in the various overseas cemeteries are verified. No letters will be sent until positive verification has been made.

All general information about the progress of the repatriation program will be made available to the public by the War Department through press and radio.

Further information can be obtained from your County Red Cross Office.

More Rain!

Additional rainfall this week has added to that "bottom season" people often talk about. Additional moisture received here included .69 of an inch on Sunday and .98 on Wednesday night.

Boosting prospects for bumper crops in Knox County this year, the thunder showers also have farmers beginning to worry. Weeds seem to take on a more rapid growth than do the crops, and farmers desire some drying weather so crops can be cleaned out.

Those who have visited most portions of the county report that crops are very beautiful at this particular stage.

The year's rainfall to date is 10.96 inches, as compared with 9.96 inches last year.

STAGGERING STATISTICS

"Breath-taking," is a mild way of describing statistics on fire losses in the United States.

During the last decade, 100,000 persons have been burned to death, 170,000 burned and disfigured, and $3,000,000,000 worth of property destroyed. Records show the annual fire loss in the United States exceeds the damage done in England in the two years of the German blitz. Forest fires annually destroy an area equal to all New England. The Coconut Grove fire in Boston caused more deaths than the armed forces suffered in the invasion of North Africa.

There are 650,000 building fires every year. Three-hundred-thirty thousand of them occur in dwellings, and 46,000 in apartment and rooming houses. Manufacturing plants, motor vehicles, stores and shops, garages and filling stations, hotels and hospitals contribute the remaining 274,000 fires.

In the home the commonest cause of fire is smoking in bed or leaving a lighted cigarette some place where it might ignite inflammable material. Also, placing oily and dirty rags in wooden closets or on shelves, and storing papers for an indefinite period adjacent to wooden walls or floors, are other frequent causes. Rags and papers generate heat if left undisturbed for a long time, and ignite spontaneously. Carelessness with electric wiring is a chapter in itself.

Common sense caution can be the greatest preventer of fire. Until more of it is used by more individuals, America's fire loss statistics will continue to be something that only astronomers can really appreciate.

Your cash gift to the Emergency Food Collection will go farther—faster—in helping save the starving millions overseas.

PIONEERS OF VOLUME

The thinking of mass producers and distributors in every line ranging from horse-radish to locomotives, is well portrayed by a reporter in Detroit who says: ". . . The idea is widely held throughout this district that car makers will ask for no more increases beyond those pending. If they hold down prices of cars while production costs go up, some may take rather big losses until production gets high. But executives, in general, express much more concern about possible sales losses from a particular price increase than about losses from keeping down while volume is low."

If price ceilings were taken off tomorrow price rises would be resisted to the last ditch, as far as the mass distribution industry is concerned. In fact, there is no more effective influence in favor of progressive efficiency and reasonable prices than the country's chain stores—they pioneered volume in retailing just as Henry Ford pioneered it in manufacturing.

Washington News Letter

By Congressman Ed Gossett

Washington, D. C., June 22.—Congress this week passed the Bobbs anti-racketeering bill and sent it to the White House. This bill will prevent labor unions from halting farm trucks carrying produce to market and forcing the farmers to pay a union driver before he can enter the big cities. Increase in the price of coal amounting to an over-all cost to the consumer of $222 millions of dollars. On the heels of this announcement the Interstate Commerce Commission approved a six percent increase in freight rates which will add $290 millions into transportation costs. In two days the consumer has had a half million dollars added onto the cost of essential commodities. I have long condemned and protested the percentage formula for increasing freight rates. Such a formula raises the rates considerably more in our section than in the industrial sections of the nation.

The House this week passed the War Department appropriation bill for the next fiscal year in the sum of $7 1/2 billion. Total appropriations for the armed services for the next fiscal year approximate $11 billion. Interest on the national debt will amount to $5 billion. Appropriations for the Veterans Administration will amount to another $5 billion. These are essential and inescapable obligations. However, to this $21 billion will probably be added another $19 billion more, making a total outlay for the next fiscal year of around $40 billion. Prospects for a balance budget in 1947 look exceedingly dim.

However, the Congress this week passed a bill reducing our overall debt limit from $300 billion to $275 billion. Fiscal experts think we can operate within this limit. Sitting members of Congress have been greatly encouraged with results of the elections already held. Two hundred thirteen House seats in 18 states have already been decided. Of these 213 seats only four sitting Congressmen have been defeated.

A new problem facing the Immigration Committee is that of loyal Japanese legally residing in this country but who must now be deported unless our immigration laws are changed. Among these Japanese are a great many who served with valor as soldiers with American forces and many others who served our country as spies in Japanese occupied areas. We are trying to devise some means to permit those to remain who have actually demonstrated their loyalty and who have contributed to American victory.

After a long and bitter fight the House and Senate conferees have finally agreed upon the terms of a draft extension bill. This compromise which must still be approved by the House, proposes:

- (1) Extension of the draft law until March 31, 1947.
- (2) Elimination of future draft of 18-year-olds. The draft to extend from 19 to 44 inclusive.
- (3) The elimination of future draft of fathers and the release of all fathers now in service after August 1.
- (4) A ceiling of 1,550,000 on the Army at once, this ceiling to be reduced to 1,070,000 by July 1, 1947.
- (5) A prohibition of re-induction except for students, etc., of any overseas veteran or any man with six months' service.
- (6) Elimination of deferments for war industry workers. Farm deferments will, however, be continued.
- (7) The discharge of all draftees present and future, on completion of 18 months of service.

The Conference Committee also agreed on a separate bill to increase the pay of enlisted men as high as 50 percent in an effort to spur enlistments. These measures will not go to the President until both the House and Senate have approved the action of the Conference Committee, but it seems probable the compromise will be accepted.

Visiting in the home of Mrs. S. E. McStay last week end were Mr. and Mrs. J. D. McStay and son of Vernon and Mrs. W. G. Newton and daughter of Canyon.

J. W. Rice of Austin, co-owner of the Munday Locker Plant, was a business visitor here the latter part of last week.

Mrs. B. L. Blacklock and son, Wayne, were visitors in College Station and other points over the week end. Wayne is making plans to enter school next fall.

Early Planting Of Grain Sorghums Proves Profitable

Farmers in Knox County who planted early grain sorghums in order that a maturity date will be on advance of the dry period that can be expected in the latter part of July and the first part of August are realizing for the third successive time that this is a profitable practice, as present indications favor a very satisfactory yield, since the high rainfall period of the year usually occurs during the months of May and June, according to a 40 year rainfall record kept by Mr. H. P. Hill, of the Munday Cotton Oil Mill, at Munday, Texas, says R. O. Dunkle, County Agent. This rainfall record very definitely indicates that two satisfactory planting dates can be selected in Knox County that will miss the dry period of the summer, and the result in yields of grain sorghums will be from 20% to 50% more than when planted during the month of May, when the critical stage of development occurs in the latter part of July and the first of August.

The selection of these planting dates were first demonstrated by eighty two 4-H club members throughout the county, and especially in the Sunset community, where a demonstration team composed of Joe Edd Sweat and Charles Hardin gave demonstration throughout the county and in adjoining counties proving by examples what will occur when no attention is given to the planting date that will result in the critical stage of development during the dry period of summer.

The two most satisfactory planting dates, according to 4-H Club demonstrations, prove conclusively that an early date of planting beginning about April 10 through the 25th, and the second planting date beginning June 15th and ending July 15th, will in most every instance result in increased grain production.

Approximately 19,000 acres of early planted grain sorghums in Knox County has promise of producing a very satisfactory yield. The plantings of late grain sorghums is now in progress, and the critical stage of development will occur in the latter part of September and the first of October, when increased rainfall and cooler nights can be expected.

Miss Kattie Sweatt of Denver, Colo., came in last week for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Sweatt, and with other relatives.

Mrs. W. M. Huskinson and son, Bill, of Wichita Falls visited with relatives and friends here over the week end.

Visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sied Waheed last Sunday were Mrs. D. Hassan and family, Seminole, Okla.; B. Hassan and family, Hamlin; S. Hassan and family, Haskell, and Frank Silman and family, Rochester.

Mrs. G. R. Elland returned home last week after several days' visit with relatives in Dallas. She was accompanied home by her daughter, Mrs. James N. Walker, and children, who are visiting here this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Don L. Ratliff were visitors in Dallas over the week end.

McAdams, also of Quanah, were united in an impressive all-white military ceremony at Quanah on Saturday night, June 15. Nuptial vows were spoken in the First Baptist Church at 8 o'clock, with Rev. George R. Wilson, officiating.

A background of greenery covering a trellis formed the altar with candelabra holding white tapers flanking each side. Tall baskets of white gladioli, shasta daisies, and greenery completed the floral arrangement.

While the guests were arriving, Miss Jackie Gose, cousin of the bride, played the organ prelude. She accompanied Mrs. John Sanford Gilliland, cousin of the bride, who sang "Through the Years."

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by Dr. Geo. W. Cox
M. D., State Health Officer of Texas

Austin.—Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, has released some interesting information concerning Vincent's angina which was commonly called "trench mouth" during World War I.

Dr. Cox states that Vincent's angina is a specific infection producing inflammatory condition of the mucous membranes, more commonly those of the mouth, and the disease is spread by indirect as well as direct contact.

"Because of the readiness with which this disease is transmitted, it has been occasionally found in epidemic form among school children and other groups," Dr. Cox states. "Vincent's angina assumed epidemic proportions in the front line trenches in 1914-1915 and it was during this period that the disease became generally known as trench mouth."

Although trench mouth is now worldwide in distribution, reasonable application of preventive measures which are merely those in line with approved personal health practices will be found a sufficient defense against this infection.

According to the State Health Officer the most common causes of Vincent's angina are neglected mouths, broken teeth fillings, and other types of oral irritation. Daily hygiene, plus the periodic visit to the dentist can be relied upon as reasonable buffers against this infection. However, persons who are very careful regarding oral hygiene can acquire this disease by using infected drinking cups and eating utensils and other personal articles; also by kissing, though healthy gums and mucous membranes have a much superior resistance to the infection than does an unclean mouth.

Mr. and Mrs. Fay Killian and son, Bobby Fay, left last week for Stratford, Texas, and other points, where Mr. Killian is working in the wheat harvest.

Mrs. Worth Gafford and son, Buddy, are visiting with relatives in Coleman this week.

Unique Air Service

WASHINGTON—"The sky is the limit," is a phrase being proved extra true in aviation. The amazing progress of air transportation is vividly shown in the plans for broadening the scope of commercial operations as soon as the transition to peace-time conditions permits.

Delivery of new automobiles by huge glider trains of the sky is only one of the more striking enterprises for which applications are just waiting to be given the green light by the Civil Aeronautics Board. The list according to the Air Transport Association of America, includes:

Flying ambulances and funeral planes.

Armored airships for safe dispatch of currency and valuables.

Big tank planes for shipment of gasoline and oil.

Bus and taxi service, using both helicopters and conventional models.

Deliveries of medicine, of food, and of department store merchandise.

Sightseeing specialists. Fly-yourself systems.

Delivery of new or "used" airplanes to buyers or dealers.

Many war veterans who have gained invaluable experience flying in the war are in the forefront of these projects. There are some whole groups which served together in battle and plan to stick together as partners in the airline business.

Truman Urges Regular Buying Of U. S. Savings

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Convinced that future security of most American families is dependent upon the leadership of women in continuing the wartime income savings habits, Mrs. Harry S. Truman, wife of the President of the United States, has accepted the honorary chairmanship of the Women's Advisory Committee of the United States Savings Bonds Division of the Treasury Department.

The announcement by Mrs. Nancy Robinson, women's director for the peacetime savings bonds program, of the formation of the committee highlights national developments in the mobilization of women's organizations in support of the Treasury's post-war bond sales campaign behind the theme: "Back Your Future With U. S. Savings Bonds."

Serving with Mrs. Truman will be Mrs. Fred M. Vinson, wife of the Secretary of the Treasury, Miss Harriet Elliott, women's dean at the University of North Carolina, Miss Mabelle Blake, wartime women's bond division director, Mrs. John Herrick, well-known Washington (D.C.) newspaper-woman, and Mrs. Ellen S. Woodward, member of the Social Security Board and U. S. R. A.

"The future well-being of most American families rests largely upon the resolute habit of women in maintaining the wartime habit of investing every dollar above needed living expenses in United States Savings Bonds."

"It was vital to back the attack on our enemies by buying war bonds."

"Let us all heed the lesson we learned during the war—that the most effective way to save is to make each pay day a step toward ownership of another savings bond."

"Women who have the responsibility of handling 80 per cent of the nation's spending know what rising prices mean to their everyday living as well as the future security of their homes. During the war they were the hardest workers in selling war bonds as well as being foremost in buying bonds for themselves and their families. They recognized the fact that bonds were a direct link with their fighting sons, husbands and friends. In the post-war period, women face the reconversion problem wisely, too. They are conscious that the battle for security of their families is still to be won on the economic front. Every savings bond is a fighting unit against inflation now and insecurity later in life."

Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Busby, Jr., of Brownfield spent the week end here with Mr. Busby's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Busby, and with other relatives.

Cotton Root Rot Demonstration Is Showing Progress

The Cotton Root Rot control demonstration that is being conducted on the E. O. Jamison farm by Claude Reed, shows considerable promise in the production of Hubam Clover seed that is being used in the crop rotation to control the root rot, according to R. O. Dunkle, County Agent.

The Hubam Clover is now in full bloom and will perhaps be ready for harvest about the middle of July. Two sources of revenue can be realized in a crop rotation with Hubam Clover, a seed crop the first year, and almost 100% in cotton yield the second year. Hubam Clover seed is very high in price, and it is hoped that Mr. Reed will harvest a good seed crop, as many other farmers of Knox County are planning a similar demonstration for 1947.

Results of the experiment stations of Texas have proven that the attack of Cotton Root Rot upon cotton can be reduced downward from a 54% to a 2% with a Hubam Clover rotation.

Farmers of Knox County who are interested in this demonstration should visit the plot of Hubam Clover just two and one half miles east from Knox City on the left side of the road.

Check plots adjoining the Hubam Clover plot are being used to determine the difference in yield of continuous cotton and the yield of cotton that has been rotated with a Legume crop. The effect of grain sorghums on root rot control is also being tried out and increased cotton yields will be determined in 1947.

In the July or August issue of the Farmer-Stockman that is published in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma will carry pictures showing the Root Rot Control demonstration that is being conducted by Mr. Claude Reed on the E. O. Jamison farm.

In spite of heavy tax contributions to help win the war—increases in cost of materials and supplies, together with increases in labor costs, made necessary in turn by increased living costs—

Technical developments in production and distribution of electric energy under private management and initiative have made these lowered costs possible.

AA FARM NEWS

(This is the fourth of twenty-two articles that will appear in this newspaper on the need of soil conservation the amount of soil conservation being carried out, crop insurance, commodity loans, marketing quotas, and other programs of interest to farmers.)

Farm lands of the East Central Region have been in production since colonial days. This long period of constant cropping has depleted the soil and caused serious erosion. Most farmers must apply limestone and fertilizer and carry out other soil-building practices to operate at a profit.

The drain on soil fertility speeded up during the war because of the need for larger acreages of cultivated crops. Principal crops grown in the region are corn, tobacco, cotton, peanuts, vegetables including potatoes and sweetpotatoes, hay and small grains, all of these except hay and small grains hasten erosion, especially if farmers fail to follow good soil practices.

AAA meets need. — Because most of the farms in these States are small, many farmers cannot afford to carry out needed practices without assistance. Since AAA assistance was first offered in 1936, however, there has been a growing conviction among East Central Region farmers that good soil management pays off in bigger yields and soil saving.

Under the 1945 AAA program, East Central farmers carried out practices costing an estimated 60 million dollars, compared with about 37 million dollars in 1944 and 42 million in 1943. From one-fifth to one-half of these amounts came out of farmers' pockets, since AAA assistance does not cover the full cost of the practices.

Farm plans.—Allowance limitations were set up for each farm in 1944 because available funds were small compared with conservation needs. In addition, AAA help above the farm allowance could be earned for certain urgently needed practices.

Besides helping to develop a list of approved practices, AAA community committees encourage more than 623,000 farm operators in setting up conservation plans for their farms.

County AAA committees have improved the quality of practices by (1) requiring prior approval for certain practices, and (2) verifying the proper maintenance of permanent practices like terraces.

AAA practices.—Practices most encouraged in the East Central Region are winter cover crops, establishing permanent pastures, contour tillage of row crops, construction of terraces, and applying lime, phosphate, and potash to legumes and grasses. Although considerable conservation has been achieved under the AAA program, much remains to be done.

Since 1936, when AAA assistance was first offered, farmers have increased the use of limestone five fold, and of phosphate nine-fold. In 1944 they spread 4,553,000 tons of ground limestone on cropland and pastures, and 349,000 tons of 20-percent superphosphate on legumes and grasses. It is estimated that 8,624,400 tons of limestone, nearly 2 million tons of superphosphate, and 347,000 tons of 50-percent-equivalent potash need to be applied in the region annually.

Farmers in the region used 4,833,000 acres for green-manure and winter cover crops in 1944. These cover crops were planted principally on land devoted to row crops during the summer. The annual need is for the seeding each fall of over 11,822,000 acres to winter cover crop for green manure.

Other practices in 1944, with comparisons, were: terracing, 70,000 acres in 1944, compared with an estimated need of 8.7 million acres; strip cropping, 5,000 acres in 1944, about twice 1939 figures, compared with a need for the practice on 5.3 million acres; seeding and re-seeding permanent pasture, 875,000 acres in 1944, compared with a need for the practice on more than 9 million acres.

POTATOES IN ABUNDANCE

The early crop of Irish potatoes now abundant in local markets can be of paramount value in filling the gap caused by the world shortage of wheat and wheat products, says B. F. Vance, state director, Production and Marketing Administration.

In urging housewives to serve this seasonally abundant food more often, he said one small serving of potatoes can replace a piece of bread in well-balanced diets. Increased use also lessens demand for the less plentiful processed foods and makes it possible to release greater supplies for famine stricken countries abroad.

Mr. Vance said that while early potatoes doubtless would be welcomed by peoples abroad, their low keeping quality makes it impracticable to try to ship them. Those spoiling in transit wastes valuable shipping space which could have been filled with wheat and other foods of good keeping qualities, he added.

"Even if they will not stand up under long hauls, we can consume greater quantities here at home as an alternative for the more readily exportable cereals," he explained.

Through the latter part of June, production is expected to reach 52,000,000 bushels. Based on current crop conditions, the total crop in early commercial areas up to September 1 may establish an all-time record as high as 70 to 75 million bushels.

A SQUARE DEAL WHEN YOU SELL OR BUY!

When you have produce to sell, we give you prompt service and market prices always. We welcome your poultry, eggs, cream, hides.

BOYCE HOUSE

The wind is one of the outstanding characteristics of our South-west. Here is a poem by Nina Green Copenhaver of Dallas:

Oh, wind, why do you sigh and moan—
Why wa'l among the trees?
Why do you grieve, why do you groan,
Why cry among the caves?
Have you sometime done some great wrong?
Why do you sorrow here?
Why love, compassion in your song
With just a hint of tear?
Oh, wind, where have you been to-day?
Where spent your yesterdays
Have you been fanning new-mown hay
Or rippling quiet bays?
Have you flown over prairies bare
Or over desert sands
Or have you precious time to spare
In far-off, distant lands?
Oh, wind, why autumn's leaves a-mass?
Why drift the winter's snows?
Why scamper 'neath the springs fresh grass?
Why kiss the summer's rose?
Why do you howl in norther's blast?
Why gently blow with rain?
Why fierce wick hail, dark clouds o'rcast?
Why calmer grow again?
Oh, wind, why cool the fevered cheek?
Why humming all the while?
Why lull the weary to their sleep?
Why make the lonely smile?
Why are you always on the wing?
And by whom are you led?
Why is it that you always sing
Where sweetly sleep our dead?
Oh, wind, don't you ever rest
And don't you weary grow?
Are you, like all the world, distressed?
And will you ever blow?
The troubled, sorrowing hearts to heal
To comfort those in death?
We can not see your form but feel,
Oh, wind, you are God's breath.

A good while ago, our friend, Rufus Higgs of the Stephenville Empire Tribune, got to thinking about "the good old days," with the following result:

Cotton production in the old days was a simple matter of calculation—forty acres was good for fifteen or twenty bales, sometimes more. Taxes were low, living expenses at a minimum and a good buggy horse would sell for more than $100.

A span of mules sixteen hands high would easily sell for four and five hundred dollars.

Everybody went to church in those days; prayer meeting was an event rather than a formality. A political rally attracted crowds from far and near while an ice cream supper was tops in attendance. School and church picnics would ordinarily bring out one hundred per cent co-operation, while a "badger" fight created a sensation.

The man who worked all Spring and Summer—as they did at the turn of the century—would seek a place for diversion after he laid his crop by. He would either go to see his relatives in East Texas, hunt up a camp meeting where horse feed and tie ropes were supplied, or take off on a fishing trip. If he had been provided with modern-day attractions such as movies he more than likely would have been far more contented to spend a few hours listening to Clark Gable than he would have driving a spavined team back to Hunt County for a visit with his wife's kinfolks.

Many other comparisons could be drawn, of course. Yet oldsters marvel at the progress that has been made and as well as they like to think of the "good old days" it would be a hard matter to get a single one of them to agree for a return of those halcyon days.
