"What a Man Does For Himself Dies With Him—
What He Does For His Community Lives On and On."

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

In proclaiming Fire Prevention Week, to be observed beginning October 6 this year, President Truman said: "Whereas fires threaten this year to exact the greatest toll of lives and the greatest waste of materials resources that our nation has ever experienced; and

"Where as this destruction is taking place at a time when the entire world is faced with distressing shortages of food and housing and nearly every commodity essential to speedy reconversion to a peacetime economy; and

"Where as the vast majority of destructive fires are preventable by the exercise of greater caution on the part of all our citizens. . .

"I ask every citizen to do his part by learning how to detect and eliminate all possible cause of fires in his home and in his business. . ." Mr. Truman then requested that state and local governments, business and labor organizations, churches, schools, the press, radio, and motion-picture industry and other such groups also cooperate "in arousing the public to the awareness of the dread threat of fires."

The President has pointed to a terrible danger and an immediate need for action. Some 11,000 Americans will die on the most horrible of deaths this year unless fire's toll is controlled. More than half-a-billion dollars worth of property, much of it virtually irreplaceable at this time, will be destroyed as the consequence of our carelessness and ignorance. The duty of us all—if only on the selfish grounds of self protection—is clear.

A fierce-tempered business man wrote the following letter:

"Sir: My secretary, being a lady, cannot type what I think about you. I, being a gentleman, cannot say it. You, being neither, will understand what I mean."

Don't expect the impossible

Almost daily, the OPA is issuing orders permitting price increases, and the decontrol board is gradually freeing various commodities from control. Just where does your merchant enter into this chaotic price picture?

In the first place, don't blame the storekeeper for higher prices. He must pay the going level of wholesale prices, add the cost of doing business plus a little profit, and sell to you for the total. Neither chains nor independents have any control over prices at the source.

What the merchant can do is to minimize increases at his level. He can do that by reducing waste, by increasing efficiency, and by holding the margin between what he pays and what he charges, at the lowest possible point. And that is precisely what progressive merchants are and have been doing. A very, very small part of the dollar you spend stays with them—the bulk of it goes for buying goods and paying the overhead.

Today's prices are simply the reflection of today's condition. The typical store is serving you to the best of its ability, and at minimum cost. But it can't hold prices down when everything costs more. It can't stock an abundance of goods when production is lagging. It can't, in short, do the impossible.

New Type Clover Shows Promise For Much of Texas

A new clover called "Dixie Crimson Clover" has proved successful during three year trials at the Beaumont Agricultural Experiment station and elsewhere in the South, and may prove more widely adapted than the common variety in the South because it has an extremely hard seed and will not germinate as quickly. Immediate germination is the chief weakness of common crimson clover, explains R. R. Lancaster, pasture specialist for the A. and M. College Extension Service. Often the common variety will sprout quickly after a light rain or after succeeding in the fall but before there is sufficient moisture for the seedling plant to get well established. For this reason, stands of common crimson clover frequently are lost.

While additional test are needed to know more about Dixie crimson clover, it has volunteered successfully when grown along with perennial grasses in pastures and with small grains for grazing. One other point in its favor is that it has volunteered successfully when grown in rotation with cultivated row crops such as sorghum when the seed was mature before the seedbed for the new crop was prepared.

Pastures experts warn that stock should be kept off the clover at the time of blooming, since grazing at this time would limit re-seeding for good fall stands. Seed and plants of Dixie crimson clover cannot be distinguished from common clover, so production of registered and certified seed is being handled by crop improvement associations in several Southern states.

SOIL POISON FOR TERMITES

SCHENECTADY. — Sprays, fumigants, or paints, will not kill wood termites that are attacking house timbers, but using a soil poison to cut off the mud gallery from the house will do the job.

So stated Dr. John B. Schmitt, assistant professor of entomology at Rutgers University, New Brunswick, New Jersey, in a General Electric Farm Forum address here over WGY.

"The real answer is in the soil," said Dr. Schmitt, who also is a staff member of the New Jersey Agricultural Experiment station. "The key to the whole thing is the termite's need for soil moisture; it must be able to go back and forth between the soil and the wood. Cut off from either one, and it dies. Sometimes a small structural change will do the trick, but more often you need a soil poison."

There are many soil poisons, Dr. Schmitt asserted. The easiest one to use, he said, is ortho-dichlorobenzene. "You dig a shallow trench

"My dear Mr. House: Your kind letter at hand, I assure you that I most sincerely appreciate your generous words, I have not thought it wise to discuss publicly the question which you asked and I will ask you to regard this letter as confidential. No condition that I can now foresee would justify me in being a candidate next year.

"I see no such demand as would make acceptance seem a duty. Besides there is work to be done for the party and the country—work which I can do, which seems to me to be more important than running for any office. I could not do it if I were waiting for a nomination. Again thanking you for your confidence, I am, Very truly yours, W. J. Bryan."

The last echo of the August primaries has hardly died away, with the promise on all sides that there would be no increased taxes and already a proposal is advanced to raise the State gasoline tax 2 cents a gallon. The advocate of this increase of millions of dollars in taxes to be paid by the people of Texas is Senator G. C. Morris of Greenville.

YOUTH IN U. S.

Washington, D. C.—From Alaska to the Hawaiian Islands, school children have responded to the appeal of the world's starving and contributed to UNRRA.

In Noorvik, Alaska, the Eskimo children learned in school of the suffering of Europe's and China's hungry peoples. They told their parents, who found the account so moving that they gave an "auction party" where second-hand articles and canned goods were sold. The entire proceeds were sent to UNRRA.

The Hui Pumehana, Senior Girl Reserves of Roosevelt High School, Honolulu, themselves collected $140, which they sent to UNRRA to be used for relief in China.

Commenting on these gifts, Director General F. H. LaGuardia said: "All of us can be proud of these groups of American citizens who contributed of their meagre resources to help hungry humanity abroad. They have set us all an example of brotherhood in action."

AA FARM NEWS

(This is the sixteenth of twenty-two articles that will appear in this newspaper on the need for soil conservation, the amount of soil conservation being carried out, crop insurance, commodity loans, marketing quotas, and other programs of interest to farmers.)

Commodity Loans

The Nation's farmers in 1945 again went all-out to produce for victory with the assurance that a sudden end to the war would not mean financial ruin to them. Early in the war the Government put a "floor" under prices through its various price-support programs—commodity loans and purchases. On commodities for which the Government has formally requested an expanded production, legislation assures prices for 2 years after the January 1 following the declaration that war has ended. Support is also provided for basic (cotton, corn, wheat, rice, tobacco, and peanuts for nuts) and other vital war crops.

Producers received loans in 1945 (made available through the Commodity Credit Corporation) on barley, corn, cotton, dry beans, and peas flaxseed, grain sorghums, hay and pasture seeds, naval stores (turpentine and rosin), potatoes, sweetpotatoes, soybeans, wheat, rice, rye, and tobacco.

The price-support program which helped farmers meet increased operating costs and gave them a fair return for their products, was a major factor in the record wartime food production.

In administering Commodity loans in the field, county AAA committeemen approved application on all loan commodities except cotton stored off the farm and peanuts and tobacco, prepared loan and liquidation papers, approved storage facilities, inspected and sampled storage commodities, and supervised the erection and sale of storage bins.

Commodities for which price supports are provided are divided into two main groups—basic and Steagall. As required by legislation, prices for basic commodities were supported at 90 percent of parity (except cotton, for which prices were supported at 95 percent for the 1944 crop and 92 and one-half percent for the 1945 crop).

Steagall commodities (those for which increased production was formally requested by proclamation of the Secretary of Agriculture) were supported at not less than 90 percent of parity or a comparable price. Steagall commodities include hogs, eggs, chickens (except broilers and those weighing over 3 pounds) turkeys, milk and butterfat, dry beans and dry peas of certain varieties, soybeans for oil, peanuts for oil, and flaxseed for oil, American Egyptian cotton, potatoes, and cured sweetpotatoes.

Commodity Purchases

Record quantities of cover-crop seed were made available to farmers through the purchase program handled in the field by county AAA committeemen. These seeds produced cover crops which (1) helped farmers produce record quantities of hay and pasture, (2) increased crop yields by adding fertility and organic matter to the soil, and (3) protected against erosion and leaching fields which had been overworked by successive plantings of war crops.

About 189 million pounds of cover-crop seed from 1944 and 1945 crops were purchased by AAA committeemen, who handled the buying, certification, storage, and distribution of the seed. Most of the purchases were in Oregon, California, Idaho, and Washington. The program included Austrian Winter peas, hairy vetch, ryegrass, and crimson clover. The seeds are being resold to local dealers for retail to farmers, mostly in the Southern States. Seeds valued at approximately 2.3 million dollars were handled in 1944.

Committeemen also assisted in the administration of other purchase programs and performed certain marketing services, serving as a liaison between the program administrators and farmers.

An outstanding example of marketing service was assistance to farmers in marketing surplus fresh vegetables which were not covered by Government price-support commitments. Committeemen helped move vegetables into consumption channels by prompt reporting of surpluses to Government marketing agencies and to trade groups which were in a position to find markets.

Under the processing vegetable program, committeemen certified canners who contracted to pay support prices to growers. This certification made the canners eligible for protection of their inventories against price declines by means of Government purchases at specified prices.

Lavaca County's Farmers Will Grow Rice Next Year

College Station—Texas is noted as a land of experiments in colonization and now then echoes are heard from an enterprise to capitalize the land and climate which began with high hopes in the distant years but crumbled when the unpredictable Texas weather corner of Lavaca County are stirring says County Agricultural Agent G. C. King.

More than 35 years ago, he relates, several hundred families were brought down from the north to colonize the region. Each bought five to 10 acre plots of land and planted orange orchards. A town was laid out, a hotel and a number of homes were built, and a high school erected. "In fact, Providence City at one time had a population of 500 persons."

Things went well for a few years, but one winter a bitter blue norther blew in and killed the orange trees. As a result most of the settlers became discouraged and returned north where winter was milder and crops grew only in summer.

As time moved on experience taught that successful farming was in the soil and not citrus. Accordingly, Mr. King, the owners now are sinking 10-inch wells about 900 feet deep and plan to put most of the land in this one-time settlement in rice this fall.

"It will be the first rice grown in Lavaca County," he explains, "but a few miles across the border in Colorado County rice has done well. It is hoped that the adventure with rice will prove more profitable than the attempt at orange culture in the early years of the new century."

Bert Childers and the Melon Patch

Bert Childers put an ad in the Clarion the other day. Here's what it said:

"Planted more melons than I can eat this year. Stop by and pick as many as you want. All free."

As you can guess, plenty of folks sent their kids over and plenty of the parents came too. Stripped Bert's melon patch in no time. And as they went away, Bert treated the kids to lemonade, and offered the grownups a glass of ice-cold sparkling beer.

Naturally it puzzled some folks... but Bert explains: "It gives me a kick to share things when I can afford to—whether it's the melons, or the lemonade, or beer. I guess I just like to indulge my whims."

From where I sit, if we had more "self-indulgent" people like Bert—who believe in share and share alike, live and let live, this tired world would be a whole lot better off!

EVERYONE INVITED

$650,000 From Texas Baptists

Post Veteran First In Area To Get G. I. Auto

Veteran William E. Carey, ex-farm boy and present freshman Aggie student at Texas Technological College, Lubbock, is the first West Texas veteran to receive his specially equipped automobile awarded by the government to veterans who have suffered the loss of a leg.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Carey, Route 2, Post, Texas. An Army infantryman, Carey was participating in the Arno River campaign in Italy, when on August 18, 1944, he was struck by an artillery shell shattering his left leg. After 11 months hospitalization, he was discharged from the Army in July, 1945.

Carey, a tall, typical West Texan, is quiet and unassuming. "I'd had my name in the pot for a new car for some time, when the Veterans administration came along and bought it for me, I was really happy. Because of all the walking to and from classes, I might have had to drop out of school, but now that I have my car I am assured of continuing," he said.

Carey is attending Texas Tech under the Veterans Administration vocational rehabilitation program for disabled veterans. He did not finish high school before going into military service; however, through a series of tests given him by the advisement and guidance section of the VA it was determined he could do college work. He is making an enviable record at Texas Tech.

Under Public Law 663, administered by the Veterans Administration, World War II veterans who are entitled to compensation for the loss of, or the loss of the use of a leg are entitled to purchase a passenger automobile, station wagon, jeep, or tractor not to exceed $1600 at government expense.

Sixty applications have been received in the VA regional office at Lubbock. At the present time 39 of the applications have been approved, Benjamin O. Murph, Adjutant officer said.

New Combine Milo Shows Much Promise

A selection of combine milo, known as No. 7078 is showing good production possibilities in Taylor County, reports County Agriculture Agent Elmo V. Cook.

No. 7078 was developed by the Lubbock Experiment Station, and two Taylor County farmers, Holland Teaff of Merkel and Billie McCasland, Bradshaw, believed that the new selection may out-produce Martain's combine milo, which is the most popular combine grain sorghum in Taylor County.

McCasland obtained a small quantity of pure line seed from the Lubbock Experiment Station two years ago. He has multiplied the supply and has distributed quantities of the seed over a large portion of the county where the crop is showing much promise.

Mrs. J. C. Rice returned home last Sunday from a two weeks' stay in Mineral Wells.

Many Chickens Shipped Out Of State Recently

Austin. — Rail shipments of chickens from Texas stations during August 1946 totaled 28.5 carloads compared with 38 carloads shipped in July of this year and 10 carloads reported for August of last year, according to data compiled by the Bureau of Business Research of the University of Texas in cooperation with the United States Department of Agriculture.

Shipments of eggs, or shell egg equivalent, for the month totaled 308.5 carloads, compared with 432 carloads in July, 1946, and 630 carloads shipped in August, 1945.

These figures include besides shell eggs, 9 carloads of frozen eggs and 35 carloads of dried eggs. No turkey shipments were reported in August.

Interstate receipts of eggs by rail at Texas stations during August amounted to 54 carloads, compared with 33 received during July and 45 received in August, 1945.

Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Holder and Mrs. T. G. Bengel were visitors in Wichita Falls last Sunday.

Shinglasters was the name given to fractional currency issued during the Civil War period.

This aid will be dispensed by the missionaries and other employees of Baptist Foreign Mission Board who are already in residence in the needy areas. Whatever aid is extended to countries in which Baptists do not operate missions, such aid will be proffered through already existing relief agencies. Some aid has already been sent through the Friends Society.

Dr. Baker James Couthen, a native Texan and Baptist Mission Secretary to the Orient, will supervise the distribution of aid for China and Japan through the over 200 Baptist missionaries in those areas. The Haskell Baptist Association gave $1,407.17.

BIRTH ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. James Carden are the proud parents of an 8-pound boy, who was born on Sunday, September 29, at the Knox County Hospital. Mother and baby are reported doing fine. James has been busy, passing out the cigars!

Miss Patsy Mitchell, who has been attending the bedside of her father, Arthur Mitchell, at the Wichita Falls clinic hospital, returned to her duties in nurse's school at Galveston the first of this week. Reports coming from hospital are that Mr. Mitchell is getting along nicely.

Pictured above are Dr. J. Howard Williams, Executive Secretary of the Baptist General Convention of Texas, receiving and Mr. R. A. Springer, Baptist state treasurer, presenting a check for $650,000.00 which represents the contributions of Texas Baptists to World Emergency Relief and rehabilitation since July 1st.

The Southern Baptist Convention, meeting in Florida during May of this year, launched a campaign to raise $3,500,000.00 to be used in rehabilitating their mission work and in relieving the suffering in war torn and famine ravished countries in Europe and Asia. The 920,952 members of Texas Baptist churches were asked to accept a goal of $458,200 toward this amount. To date $650,000.00 or 120 per cent of the goal has been received and offerings continue to come in to the state office.

Dr. Williams, who served as director of the campaign in Texas, expects to report an even larger response to the annual meeting of the Convention at Mineral Wells 11-15. It is anticipated that 7,500 messengers from the 3,301 churches affiliated with the convention will attend that annual meeting.

Sophomore News

We will be extremely busy this week studying and taking exams.

'Tis regrettable that all the dumb bells in school are in the sophomore class. 'Tis also sad that there are only two seats within copying distance of Patsy, and fifteen of us who want to sit there.

Our integrity is about to get the best of us, such as it is, so we really will not resort to plagiarism.

The volley ball girls are enthusiastic over the new suits that have been ordered. The boys will probably be interested in them too, when we get them on.

Mrs. Partridge and Miss Cash have seen the necessity of ordering us some history and English notebooks.

For this year's literary efforts, we juniors will write one term theme and make one term speech, and one term major debate. Beginning next six weeks we will exchange letters with students in France, Switzerland, Russia (maybe) Germany, (maybe) England, Venezuela, Brazil, India and Japan.

Material for our term speeches and themes will be ordered from the Extension and Loan Library. Each of us will deliver our twenty minute speech before the entire student body. This procedure was undertaken last year and was successful. We hope to do even better this year.

Volley ball practice will start soon. Juniors participating will be Carlyne Jones, Maxine Hill, Mozelle Booe, Elizabeth Harlan and Nadine Butler.

Fixing Up the Farm by BURTON WILLIAMS

Fall Is Building Time

FALL and winter, in the nature of farm operations, is traditionally a period in which the wise operator sets things in order for the next summer's growing season. Gear is mended and machinery repaired. Buildings are put into serviceable condition and plans made for the summer's rush of activity.

Building small or portable farm structures is a year-end chore that yields rich dividends in time, labor and money savings. By utilizing the comparative leisure of the fall and winter months, the farmer can put together a variety of small farm structural units. Made with good materials these buildings will be useful for many years.

Asbestos cement board is an ideal material for this purpose. It is easily worked with ordinary hand tools. Its mineral composition is highly resistant to weather and impervious to insect and rodent damage. In addition, it is fireproof. Its rigidity adds to the structural strength of the unit.

Range shelters, milk houses, brooder houses and farrowing houses are a few of the units to which asbestos board lends itself. It also is excellent for building hog and poultry self-feeders.

development. The questionnaire we are answering this week is quite revealing.

Being reliable, courteous, honest, sincere, considerate, energetic, original, adaptable, dependable, cooperative, tactful, fair and open-minded, poised, loyal, respectful, friendly, neat appearing, alert and tolerant—all these traits we hope to develop. We hope to acquire good judgement, initiative, and punctuality.

Texas Editors Are Fair Guests On October 5th

An honored State Fair of Texas tradition of a quarter of a century's standing will be revived at the 1946 State Fair in Dallas when newspapermen from over the entire state gather on opening day, Oct. 5, to celebrate Press Day. Andrew de Shong, chairman in charge of arrangements for the event, has reported.

He said that approximately 750 members of the press are expected to come to Dallas to attend this first State Fair Press Day since the outbreak of the war.

An outstanding event of this annual gathering will be the traditional luncheon, tendered by the State Fair Association, at which journalists gather to exchange news and views. Principal speaker for this year's luncheon will be Merriman Smith, United Press White House correspondent and author of the recent book success, "Thank You, Mr. President."

Entertainment attractions arranged for the day include an afternoon football game between Waxahachie high school and Dallas Tech and a night game between Southern Methodist University and Texas Tech. In addition, there will be a matinee and night performance of the Tommy Dorsey variety show, presentation of the Ice Cycles of 1946 and the Pat Hamilton Rodeo, all of which will play host to the journalists.

Present G. I. Bill To Terminate On October 5th

Public Law 190, the famous GI Bill of Rights, which provides education, loans, and many other privileges to discharged veterans terminates October 5th this year. Sgt. James O. Hendrick, Childress Recruiting Commander announced today. Men taken into the Army after October 5th will not receive the full benefits extended to veterans of World War II, many thousands of whom will go to colleges and into business this year under one of the Bill's provisions.

Men enlisting in the Army on or before October 5th will still be entitled to full benefits of the Bill; however, including a college education, on-the-job training, loans, reenlistment bonuses, free mail, and many other privileges.

The Army Recruiting campaign, which has enlisted nearly 1,000,000 men in the Regular Army, will be intensified during the remainder of September in order to give men who desire to enlist an opportunity to get the most out of their service.

Sgt. Hendrick, whose station is on the 3rd floor of the Childress County Court House, advises all young men who are interested in enlisting before the 5th of October and gaining full benefits of the GI Bill to come in for an interview before the 1st of October, if possible, because a last minute rush is expected on all Central Examining Stations.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Carley of Bakersfield, Calif., are here for a visit with Mrs. Carley's sister, Mrs. F. T. Jarvis, and with other relatives and friends.

Mrs. Ralph Honeycutt of San Diego, Calif., spent last week in the Bob Jarvis home. Mrs. Honeycutt is a former schoolmate of Mrs. Jarvis.

New Wheat That Resists Rust Is Gaining Favor

A new variety of rust resistant soft red winter wheat called Austin wheat has become so popular since its first distribution to Central Texas growers in 1942 that an estimated one million acres were grown in 1946. Outstanding desirable characteristics of Austin as compared with older commercial varieties are its high resistance to leaf and stem rust and a loose smut.

Austin wheat was developed from a cross of Mediterranean, a soft winter wheat of desirable milling and baking characteristics, and Hope, a rust resistant spring wheat; by E. S. McFadden and J. M. Atkins, agronomists at the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

This new variety has been included in nursery variety tests at the Denton substation since 1937. It was seriously damaged in 1943 by a late spring freeze when old standard varieties were not damaged. However, except for the 1943 season, it has outyielded Denton and other Mediterranean strains every year. It has done well in tests of wheat at Temple, College Station, and Beeville. It is recommended for the Central Texas area from Fort Worth and Dallas southward to the Gulf Coast area of the State.

Austin wheat has milling and baking qualities similar to those of its Mediterranean parent. It has a slightly lower flour yield than Mediterranean. The protein content was equal to Mediterranean and the ash content lower, which is desirable. In baking trials, Austin made better cookies but slightly poorer cakes. In bread making tests, Austin was slightly lower in absorption and in loaf volume, but both varieties baked accepted bread.

Field Men To Aid Veterans To Secure Surplus Property

WICHITA FALLS.—Two field certifying representatives from the Fort Worth regional office of War Administration will be in Wichita Falls at room 407 Radio Building, Corner Indiana and 9th Street for three days next week, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, October 8, 9, and 10.

Doyle Smith, certifying officer, and John P. Kelly, veteran interviewing officer, are anxious to meet and assist all veterans of Knox County in obtaining necessary certification to enable them to purchase surplus government property from the WAA. All that is required for certification is presentation of a copy of an honorable discharge from World War II.

Veterans of this county may meet and talk with the WAA men during their three stay in Wichita Falls from 9 to 12 or 1 to 5 and complete the necessary application. Veterans who are already certified can obtain the latest information concerning 43 sales which will be conducted by War Assets in the Fort Worth region during October.

In all sales, including site sales, veterans have a priority buying right, and in many of the October sales the property will be sold only to veterans. Recent declaration of surplus by the armed forces now makes available such items as office furniture, hospital and laboratory equipment, photographic equipment, hardware and machinery, heretofore unavailable.
