PUBLIC HEALTH

One basic trouble with such sweeping measures as the proposed Wagner-Murray-Dingell public health bill is that they attempt to do too much too fast. This bill, for instance, would give the Federal government all-inclusive power over medical practice, including doctors, hospitals and clinics, at a huge and untold cost, on the theory that the public health would be greatly improved.

The truth is that public health is not a matter of medical care alone. For the most part, the doctor steps into the picture when the patient becomes ill. His job is to cure. The ideal of better public health requires that the conditions which create illness be prevented. And this involves such huge problems as diet, housing, recreation, working conditions and so on down a long list.

A study recently made by the Insurance Economics Society of America reveals the enormous fluctuations between the forty-eight states in population, medical facilities and other matters related to health. The health problems of one locality, or one age group, or one income group, differ greatly from those of another. As the survey observes, "No matter which... conditions we undertake to improve, we would waste part of our effort if we blanketed the country with a packaged program."

We have taken long strides in bettering the public health. Great progress is now in the making, and the effects of such programs as the various Blue Cross plans, prepaid medical care and individual and group health insurance are entirely beneficial. Voluntary activities like these, instead of measures which would virtually socialize medicine, point to the proper road.

HAVE WE STRENGTH OF CHARACTER?

"The government, contrary to popular conception, spends more on taxes and take a long step to reduce the debt by regular amortization, the fear of insolvency will come upon the people as a 'thief in the night' and the wreckage will be colossal with none escaping. Neither Congressmen, Senators, nor the Executive branches of government can provide food, clothing, or shelter except by slave labor with lost economic and spiritual rights.

"Is there strength of character enough in the supposedly free American people to draw in their belts and produce? Or will they look to their Congressmen and Senators to do the impossible?"

The government will spend close to $40,000,000,000 in this, a boom year, when employment is at its all-time high. What would happen in some future depression year, when revenues drop and at the same time the pressure for more government gump priming is turned on at white heat? Never in its history has this nation pursued so potentially ruinous a fiscal course. The fact, unwelcome as it is, constitutes the greatest problem facing the country today.

HOW AMERICANS EARN A LIVING

Your columnist has been interested all his life in public affairs. colm R. Patterson, the greatest political orator I've ever heard. The subject of keenest interest to me in high school was debating. Our coach was a young, red-headed dynamic teacher from Texas, James Leonard Highsaw, who used to live in Delta and Collins counties. I took every subject he taught: economics, government, history and sociology. Then, after school three of his favorite "boys" would meet in his room and we would prepare for our next debate until it grew too dark to see.

We debated such subjects as the one-house legislature, initiative and recall, capital punishment, government ownership of utilities and the tariff. We had two literary societies and debated within our society also in inter-society contests and with other high schools. My two colleagues on the high school team were orators. Sterling Tracy won the State high school oratorical championship and, in the University of Wisconsin, he won the oratorical championship of the "Big Ten". Clifford Davis is about to begin his fourth term in Congress. Your columnist lacked the speaking ability of these two and so tried to make up for this deficiency by studying, extra hard, on the subject. In the rebuttal, where the speaking has to be extemporaneous, I used to attain a speed of 200 words a minute. The other boys were generous and elected me captain of the team.

AAA FARM NEWS

(This is the seventeenth of twentytwo articles that will appear in this newspaper on the needs for soil conservation, the amount of soil conservation being carried out, crop insurance, commodity loans, marketing quotas, and other programs of interest to farmers.)

Special Services

Surplus Property—As military needs diminished, greater quantities of materials manufactured for war were released for civilian use.

AAA—with local committees to reach every farm in the country—advised the Surplus Property Board and disposal agencies in directing surplus property suitable for farm use to areas where it was most needed. Committeemen assisted in arranging and supervising a number of rural auction sales of surplus Government property.

Under a special program in effect from June 1 to August 25, 1946, AAA committees allocated surplus trucks to farmers in areas where production was impaired. After AAA had determined that lack of transportation impaired or threatened to impair farm production in an area, the Department of Commerce as disposal agency, released the specified number of trucks for sale in that area. Sales were made to regular dealers who agreed to resell only to farmers and farmers' cooperatives certified by AAA committees. Certificates were issued by the county committee on the basis of need.

State and local committees worked with Army engineers to help farmers use or buy barracks and other buildings released by the armed forces. They furnished information to farmers on how and where to purchase the various types of surplus materials.

was lifted late in 1944, with corn pickers last to leave the list. But through most of 1945 the committees gathered information on the needs for machinery in their county. Assistance also was given farmers in replacing and repairing machinery and equipment lost and damaged in floods.

Crawler tractors were in an important item in our war machine. Therefore, shortages of that type tractor for farm use started early in the war and stayed late. AAA committees assisted farmers in filing applications and made recommendations on applications for crawler tractors. Restrictions on the sale of these tractors ended in August 1945.

County AAA committees issued preference certificates to veterans needing new farm machinery and equipment for their farming operations.

Are Returning Veterans "Different"?

During the war you heard a lot about how hard it was going to be for returning veterans to get adjusted to civilian life . . . how they'd be "different."

Well, plenty of them have returned to our town, and a finer, steadier bunch you couldn't ask for. Most of them are back at the same jobs . . . going with the same nice home-town girls (getting married, some of them, and setting up families) . . . renewing the same old friendships.

Even their amusements are the same. Nothing more exciting than fishing Seward's creek or pitching horseshoes . . . enjoying an outdoor barbecue with friendly wholesome beer and pleasant talk.

If they've changed at all it's in the direction of maturity and tolerance . . . tolerance for everything except dictators, and those who would destroy our democratic principles of live and let live. And from where I sit, that's another reason to be proud of them.

OIL FOR COLDS

We note that the Army is experimenting with a light-oil solution for spraying blankets and bed clothes in the hope that it will reduce respiratory diseases, colds, flu, and the like.

Let's hope that these tests turn out to be a great success. The common cold cause more misery, costs more money in days lost, and upsets things generally more than all the more dreaded diseases combined.

Anything that reduces the incidence of colds will be a major benefit to mankind.

Rosie Doesn't Work Here Any More!

Back yonder in the early part of 1945, a young lady came in off the farm and applied for work at The Munday Times. She expressed willingness to learn portions of the printing trade, even though she knew absolutely nothing about it, and said a farm girl didn't mind getting her hands dirty.

So Rosemary Hertel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Hertel, was seated at the intricate and complicated Linotype machine and was told to set type. This she did, somewhat laboriously and tediously, but soon the knack of the thing began to sink in, and Rosemary was setting type.

This she did for about 18 months, setting most of the "straight matter" and doing jobs that needed to be done. She made a hand where help was badly needed. She became a valuable asset to The Munday Times as she learned more of the detail that needed to be done. Some three weeks ago, she decided she was tired of pounding on the machine, "typing" those various events as they were turned back to her. She served notice that she was resigning her job on October 5.

She isn't with us anymore. And it is rumored that wedding bells will be ringing for her sometime in the not-too-distant future.

So, Rosie doesn't work here anymore!

Miss Naomi Hampton of Goree spent last week end visiting Miss Trudy Jane Coffman in Wichita Falls. Trudy attends Draughon's Business College.

Fourth And Fifth Grade News

This cool damp weather certainly makes us all feel full of pep. Let's hope it makes our grades increase in the coming six weeks.

Pansy Wilcox went to Electra with her parents last week end.

Bonnie Smethers, formerly from O'Brien school, is our new pupil this week. Her presence swells our number to 34 in the fourth and fifth grades.

About twenty five friends and relatives met at Sue Ann Richardson's house Sunday for a reunion. Jimmie Burl Morgan's cousin from Haskell visited him over the week end.

week. Roy Dykes and Bobby McCard are rearranging the books in the library. We are expecting some new books most any day.

Goldie Reeves visited her sisters in Fort Worth last week.

Elaine Nix visited relatives in Abilene Saturday and Sunday.

Don Lefevre's cousin, Glenn Garland and two children from Graham, Texas visited here this week end.

Joy Minchew's mother left for Fairfield today. Joy will go later.

Our honor roll pupils are June Sparks, Elaine Nix and Goldie Reeves.

Freshman News

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Stone spent the week end with Joan Tacka. They are from Callalin, Texas.

Wanda Sharp visited her aunt and uncle, Sunday.

In English we have two new English work books. We are going to do some extensive English grammar practice.

Home ec is extremely interesting this week. Most of us are working on our first garments. Miss Cash was surprised to find some of us sewing up the leg or arm hole in some of the pajamas, giving the garment a sack effect. It's surprising how confusing a jumble of carefully cut and pinned pieces of a pattern can become when one begins to sew the pieces together.

Sophomore News

Second six weeks! We sophs can hardly believe there are only thirty more weeks between us and summer vacation!

If anyone observed a worried expression on any of our faces this week it was only because we were trying to figure out how to explain some of those grades on our report cards to father and mother. Too bad Sunset grades with round figures, numbers to you. We worm our way out of S and U and similar letter grades. 60 is plain sixty any way you look at it. And the scene that follows after Pop sees that sixty is depressing, any way you look at it.

Beginning soon we will be on the long schedule. Volley ball practice will come the hour just before noon. Thirty or more girls are coming out this year. Each of us has a chance to be on first team. It's just up to us to be better than the next one in order to hold that place.

Junior News

Test papers were handed back this week, with corrections to be made. Most of us accepted our papers with happy hearts and shining eyes. Mr. McCord is especially proud of his algebra, geometry and civic pupils. Even after changing teachers three times this first six weeks most of us came out with good grades.

Literature exam was exacting, long and tedious. Even though some were skeptical about the outcome of their grades, only three out of eighteen failed.

This six weeks the highlight of our literature work will be an intensive study of the Shakespearean drama Macbeth.

Senior News

This dreary, dismal, drechning, weather isn't a very good moral support, for the seniors, who are trying to recover from the grief of their exam grades.

We are patiently waiting for our chance to start practicing basket ball and volley ball. This will be start on our new schedule.

We got our English note-books last week and they look as if they might require lots of studying, so some of us will just have to start sleeping at night instead of in English class.

Baylor University at Waco, spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Bilbray of Lubbock spent the week end with relatives and friends here and at Goree.

Bobby Broach, who is attending Texas Tech at Lubbock, spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Broach, Sr.

Mr. and Mrs. Wade Mahan were business visitors in Abilene Monday.

Lack Of Roadway Illumination Will Cause High Traffic Accidents In Texas

Unlighted streets and highways in Texas will be the scenes of over 4850 night-time traffic accidents this year with the fatal accident toll amounting to over 630 if the present nationwide increase in motor vehicle accidents continues, according to The Street and Traffic Safety Lighting Bureau's office of information services, Cleveland, Ohio.

Traffic accidents are already up 20 per cent over last year, said the Bureau which has just completed an analysis of the motor vehicle accidents in Texas based on 1945 figures.

The study showed that 4032 accidents and 523 fatal accidents occurred on unlighted Texas roadways in 1945. A total of 1302 fatal accidents were recorded for last year with 694 occurring during hours of darkness when there was only one-third the volume of daytime traffic.

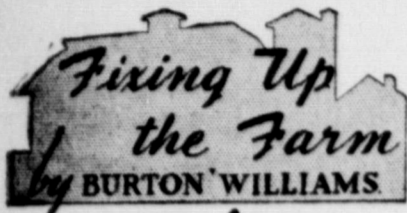

Installation of modern traffic safety lighting at hazardous sections of Texas' urban and rural streets and highways would reduce these night-time accidents and deaths by at least 50 per cent, said the Bureau. At the present time the majority of Texas' streets and highways are lighted inadequately for traffic safety.

The Bureau urged that both the Texas state government and municipalities could greatly reduce this high toll of life if they followed the examples of the state of New Jersey, and such cities as Detroit, Salt Lake City and Hartford, which at the present time are installing adequate street and highway lighting in order to increase traffic safety conditions.

Motorists, how about being honest with yourself and doing a little self-analysis of your own driving? The Texas Safety Association thinks it might help you to become a better and safer driver. Have you had several accidents since you've been driving a car? Do you frequently go on a fender bender? Have you had quite a few close shaves on the highway? If so, who is to blame? It's probably your own fault. Good drivers don't get into tight places—they stay out of them! Remember—your driving record is your best credential.

Alligators are harmless as long as you can keep their mouths closed," says a naturalist. For that matter, so are gossips.

Fixing Up the Farm by BURTON WILLIAMS

For Lightning Protection

CHECKING the farm's lightning protection equipment is a fore-and-aft thing to do at any time, but if it is done in fall while the weather is still pleasant it may save breaking into next summer's busy schedule.

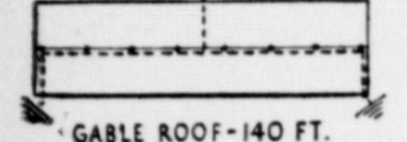

Lightning rods should be placed within two feet of the ends of all ridges, gables and dormers and be spaced not less than 20 feet apart. They should be placed so that no corner of a chimney is more than two feet from such air terminals.

BARN ROOF WITH SILO

HIP ROOF 80 FT. GABLE ROOF 80 FT.

GABLE ROOF-140 FT.

There should be at least two down conductors with independent ground connections, located preferably at diagonally opposite corners. If the building is over 80 feet in length, extra conductors are necessary for every additional 60 feet of ridge length.

An effective lightning conductor system demands that the conductors extend into moist ground. In normally moist soil a depth of 10 feet is sufficient. In dry sand or gravel it is necessary to sink two electrodes 10 feet below grade spaced six feet apart.

AIR CARGO

CHICAGO—The zooming growth of air cargo is seen in steps taken by the 19 domestic airlines of the United States to set up equipment and schedules that will raise their capacity in the immediate post-war years by five-fold over the 1944 level, according to a survey by the Air Transport Association of America.

The airlines last year carried 202,879,006 pounds of mail, express and excess baggage, whereas the use of added planes on order or option will provide cargo space sufficient to handle about one billion pounds of cargo, ranging from jewelry and drugs to perishable foodstuff and machinery parts.

The expanded fleet of passenger planes will provide much additional cargo space, with some of them having compartments for mail and freight which can be made larger as any particular passenger load grows smaller. All-cargo planes of war-time types are increasing in numbers, to be supplemented very soon by planes designed exclusively for cargo carrying, with features which will greatly expedite the speed and economy of loading and unloading.

Meanwhile plans are underway for expanding present pick-up systems, which operate without landings. New methods are being studied by airlines and manufacturers. Already a unit has been developed allowing a plane in flight to pick up a loaded glider from the ground, making peacetime routine of one of the war's most dramatic exploits.

Amendment For Good Roads Will Be Pushed Soon

Austin — Approximately 500 Texas roads enthusiasts will meet here Monday evening, October 14 to open the active campaign for adoption of the Good Roads Constitutional Amendment at the November General Election. The proposal will appear as Amendment Number three on the November 5th ballot.

Speakers will include Governor Nominee Beauford H. Jester, Lieut. Governor-Nominee Allan Shivers, Congressman O. C. Fisher of San Angelo, John S. Dadditt, Chairman of the State Highway Commission, and State Representative Neville Colson.

Congressman Fisher is the only Texas member of the House Roads Committee. Mrs. Colson is the author of the Good Roads Constitutional Amendment and has the distinction of being the only woman member of the House of Representatives in Texas Legislature history to obtain submission of a Constitutional Amendment and also has the honor of being the only woman legislator in the United States to sponsor such a proposal. A similar amendment has been approved by the voters of 18 states and has been initiated in three States in addition to Texas.

Col. Ike Ashburn, Houston, will serve as master of ceremonies for the rally. Col. Ashburn, long associated with good roads movements in Texas, was the first manager of The Texas Good Roads Association after its organization by the late Judge W. O. Huggins, editor of the Houston Chronicle.

Judge Sid Caillavet, president of the County Judges and Commissioners Association, and Bun Raley, chairman of the Roads Committee, Rural Letters Carriers' Association, along with representatives of farm organizations and users of farm roads, strongly backing the amendment, will participate in the program.

In addition to members from the more than 30 state organizations which have adopted resolutions pledging support of the Good Roads Amendment, enthusiasts from practically every county in the state will be in attendance.

The Good Roads Amendment guarantees the continued allocation of one-fourth of the gasoline tax to the Available Free School Fund; assures the availability of the remainder of the gas tax and all motor vehicle registration fees for road purposes, subject to the direction, allocation, and appropriation of the Texas Legislature. The amendment continues legal refunds on non-highway gasoline; continues authorized payment of county and road district bonds, guarantees counties their present share of motor vehicle registration fees.
