Odd Bits Salvaged At Random

(By Aaron Edgar)

Spring renigged on us Saturday; therefore, we had a chilling blast and little moisture that reminded us of the beginning of winter.

And the only good that came from that twister that hit the Texas panhandle and Oklahoma last week was the joy that came to the hearts of local people when the message came through that their relatives were safe.

It's beyond our powers of comprehension as to why such things as cyclones have to happen.

Local golfers met Friday night for the purpose of organizing for the year. Several of them have been practicing on the course during the pretty days. However, we doubt if any were out there Sunday.

Saw Editor O. C. Harrison in Seymour last Saturday, and as chairman of the grounds committee he'd been out getting the golf course in shape. Their city tournament was due to open with qualifying rounds Sunday. Very little cooperation they received from the weather.

Had a breakdown on the newspaper press last Thursday, after we'd run off about 15 papers. Someone suggested that this column was just more than our old press could take. If such a thing happens again, we may have to abandon writing it!

The all-important question of what we're to do about our schools will be decided by the voters on Tuesday of next week. We sincerely hope more than 31 people turn out to vote.

Our school board is very much concerned about the election. They point out that the schools must have more money to operate efficiently and the raising of the tax rate is the logical means of getting money.

The money can be secured by two methods—raising the tax rate, or by raising the property valuation.

By raising the rate, it was explained, the school district can keep the entire amount of money gained for local purposes. By raising the valuation, half of the amount gained must be turned over to the state—and then it's gone so far as our local needs are concerned.

Yes, this election effects our pocketbooks, so our guess is that more than 31 people will vote.

Our guess, too, is that the election will carry. If the schools must have more money, the money will come by one of the two above-mentioned methods, so we have everything to gain and nothing to lose by voting to raise the tax rate.

During the first days of the telephone workers' strike, we heard the story of the fellow who wanted to place a call to some distant point. The operator courteously told him she couldn't accept long-distance calls except in case of extreme emergency. The fellow studied a moment, and said: "That fellow may be dead down there, and I want to call and find out!" He didn't.

But the biggest emergency call we've heard about happened up in Boise, Idaho, when the frantic female discovered that her roommate had gone off to work in her girdle—and she was unable to wear the roommate's girdle. The call went through!

We've a particular weakness for laughing at women's hats. We started to say uncontrollable weakness—but then, we've made no efforts to control it. And the advent of each season always brings no more material for good laughs.

Our good woman always comes to our rescue just before some lady gets mad enough to give us a tongue-lashing. "Why," she says, "if he doesn't laugh at my hat, I never know he's noticed I have a new one."

Miss Butler Is New H. D. Agent For County

Judge William Griffith announced this week that the Commissioners Court in cooperation with Mrs. Myrtle Negy, Extension Service, Home Demonstration District Agent, had appointed Miss Eugenia Butler as Knox County's Home Demonstration Agent.

Miss Butler, a graduate of Texas Tech in 1944, with a B. S. degree in Home Economics, comes to Knox County from McAdoo, Dickens County, Texas.

She has had experience in work of this type for the past three years. Following graduation Miss Butler accepted a position with the Children's War Time Service Bureau in Dallas, and worked at that office until the war was over. She then returned to her home town, McAdoo, to assume a position as English teacher in the public high school of that city. Finishing the school term she accepted a position as Field Director for the Camp Fire Organization in Dallas, Texas, where she remained until her acceptance of her present work.

Miss Butler began her work on April 14, and plans to begin organization of the girls 4-H clubs and assist the Home Demonstration Clubs.

Senior Class To Present Play

The senior class of Munday high school will present the play, "Here Comes Charlie" at the school auditorium on Friday night, April 18.

All the answers to such questions as: Is Charlie a boy or a girl? Is Uncle Alex smart enough to outwit Mrs. Fainham?, and how long will Larry allow women to run his life? will be answered Friday night. Be sure to come and see the surprise hit of the year.

Many Injured, Dead In Texas City Blasts

Texas' greatest disaster struck the coast town of Texas City Wednesday when a nitrate-laden ship blew up in the harbor, setting off a chain of explosions that left thousands of persons dead or injured.

Estimates are that the death toll will run as high as 1,200. With almost the entire town destroyed, Texas City is a scene of chaos and destruction. Practically every survivor in the waterfront area was injured or stunned. They stumbled about the debris dazed with the pain of burns, and cuts from glass and steel and brick hurled through the air.

Aid is being given by Houston and Galveston and other cities near the blasted city. Ambulances, doctors, medical students and the Red Cross are giving all aid possible.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Keel received a wire Thursday from their daughter, Mrs. A. J. Frazier of Baytown, stating she had received word that Dr. and Mrs. E. M. Ammons are safe. They are former residents of Munday.

Many others who formerly resided at Munday are residents of Texas City. They include Mr. and Mrs. Riley B. Harrell and daughter, Jo Ann; Mr. and Mrs. Chapman, and others. Local citizens are making an effort to get in contact with someone at Texas City to learn of their plight.

TO ICE CAPEDES

Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Holder and Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Jungman spent Wednesday of this week in Fort Worth, where they attended the evening performance of the Ice Capades.

LET'S PLAY EDITOR—At the Texas Scottish Rite Hospital for Crippled Children in Dallas, the patients take their editing mighty seriously as they buckle down to getting out their four-page play newspaper, "Little Scotty" which goes to 57 hospitalized subscribers, "every so often." During the long periods of treatment and convalescence the children find much pleasure in preparing cartoons and copy for their tiny paper. Pictured are "City Editor" Kenneth Garner, 4, of Cisco a polio victim of the 1946 epidemic; Sharon Erenbrack, 9-year old San Antonio, undergoing treatment for a bone infection, and Barbara Allison, 10, another polio patient whose home is in Texarkana.

Rain Brings Aid To Wheat, Croplands

The slow, steady rain which visited Knox county and many portions of the country the first of this week came as a boom to wheat croplands of this area.

Falling slowly over a period of around 48 hours, the rain has thoroughly soaked all of this section. Very little of the moisture ran off, and the precipitation has given farmers a good season to start their 1947 crop operations.

Country roads became almost impassable after about two days of the steady rainfall, and very little travel was done off the paved roads. Cars taking rural teachers from their work Monday became stuck, and next day found the teachers taking round-about routes to get to their schools.

Most farmers agree that the moisture this week almost insures a bumper wheat crop in this section, provided the wheat does not catch some hot winds just at maturing stages. Prospects were never brighter, and everyone is going about his work with a song in his heart.

Mrs. Stevenson, Pioneer, Observes 93rd Birthday

Saturday, April 12, was the 93rd birthday passing for a lovely lady of the "old school" of aristocrats of the South, Mrs. R. M. Stevenson.

Three years past, she was quite active, and her daughter, Mrs. Effie Alexander, was hostess for a birthday party. Guests were of the list made by Mrs. Stevenson, and other members of her family were assistant hostesses.

Beautiful decorations in pastel colors were used, and 90 candles burned about the birthday cake.

Saturday, many friends called, bringing gifts and flowers to this remarkable parent who has been ill for many weeks.

The many friends stand by in love and admiration for this gallant sufferer, and they wish the news soon to be of better health.

She was accompanied by her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Moore of Sacramento, Calif., who visited a number of old friends while here.

Parents Urged To List Six-Year-Olds On School Census

Although the school census for 1947 was due to have been completed by April 1, Merick McGaughey, county superintendent, announced this week that parents should list any child that might have been missed during the census.

This is particularly true of those who become six years of age before next September, he said. The child's name should be turned in to your school superintendent or the county superintendent.

If these names are turned in this month's census, McGaughey said.

4-H Club Boys Making Study Of Planting Dates

Approximately two hundred and fifty 4-H club boys received demonstrations in the selection, treatment and time of planting of field seeds during the month of March and early April.

Exercises on the better ways of selecting seeds through hand picking of field seeds, and through the purchase of certified seeds from growers approved by the Texas State Department of Agriculture were studied. In the study of treatment of the field seed the use of Copper Carbonate and the commercial mixture, Ceresan, were stressed. Inoculation of Legumes followed the demonstration of treatment for seed borne disease. Special emphasis was placed on the time of planting of grain sorghums, since experiments last spring and fall, by the 4-H boys, proved that grain sorghums planted between April 10th and April 25th, and June 15th to July 5th produce from 10 to 15 bushels more per acre than the same varieties planted in May.

Distribution of the field seeds for this year was begun with seeds obtained from the Lubbock Experiment Station. This year the boys will plant grain sorghum No. 7078, Early Ramshorn Stringless Blackeye Peas, Certified Early Hegari and adapted varieties of cotton. The boys are looking forward to the results of their demonstrations and to the announcement of the winners in the contest sponsored by Egenbacher Implements, of Knox City, and the Munday Truck and Tractor Company, of Munday.

Leland Hannah Named Member Of School Board

Announcement was made Monday that Leland Hannah, one of Munday's most ardent civic leaders, has been appointed as a member of the Munday school board.

Mr. Hannah's appointment was made to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Wade T. Mahan, who resigned after having been elected to the City Council some two weeks ago.

The knowledge which Mr. Hannah has of operations and problems of the local schools will be of great benefit to the board in planning future activities. He was a member of the school board at the time the present elementary school building was constructed. He had long been a booster for a better school system, and an active leader in church and civic affairs of the town.

WOMBLE IS TRANSFERRED TO FT. MONMOUTH, N. J.

Fort Monmouth—Pvt. Billy G. Womble of Munday was recently transferred from the Army Air Force base at San Antonio for communications specialty training with the Signal Corps School here at Fort Monmouth, N. J. He is a member of a large unit of Air Corps men to be trained at this post by the Signal Corps.

Upon completion of his specialty, he will be transferred to one of the various Air Corps installations as a trained technician.

A representative group of Munday taxpayers were contacted this week in regard to the coming election in which local people will vote as to whether or not the school tax rate shall be raised from $1.00 to $1.50 on each $100 valuation. Below are brief statements from those contacted:

I favor the raise in school tax rate because our school would receive all the money, which is needed for operation and liquidation of bonds.—J. C. Borden.

It looks to me like the raising of the school tax rate is the thing to do for the best interest of the school. I am very interested in a good school system, as I have some children to educate.—Buck Tidwell.

I favor the proposed increase in school tax rate because such a move in any instance is good citizenship, and in this particular instance is good business.—Don R. Davidson.

I feel that raising the school tax rate at this time is necessary if our schools are to progress as they should.—W. E. Braly.

I am glad to see a move to raise some additional funds and help our schools. There is no question but what the money is needed, and we cannot have schools without spending some money.—Travis Lee.

Better schools make better towns, and I feel that raising the rate at this time will enable the school board to offer a much better educational program.—A. H. Mitchell.

Good schools are a prerequisite to good citizenship, going hand in hand with civic pride, a better community and enhancing values of all property. I am for the proposed increase in maintenance tax.—M. F. Billingsley.

It takes more money now than in former times. The only answer is more taxes. It is necessary to keep the schools up to standard.—W. R. Moore.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce of Munday is heartily endorsing the public schools of Munday. As a body it feels that the schools must have more money to operate efficiently, and the members are 100 per cent behind the move to raise the tax rate as a means of securing the necessary funds.—E. B. Littlefield, president.

As every businessman, farmer and housewife knows, up-to-date equipment plays an important part in the success of any undertaking, and this raise in tax rate seems to me to be the only way to keep our school equipment and buildings in (Continued on page Five)

ECONOMICS HIGHLIGHTS

The vast increase in dollar income of individuals which occurred during and after the war has been inequitably distributed. It has been greatest in the field of factory and industrial labor where, in most cases, it has outrun the increase in the cost of living. It has been least in the professional and white-collar field where, in almost all instances, it has been substantially below the increase in the cost of living. These latter groups, far from sharing in the "prosperity" of the present, are much worse off than in 1940.

The best example of this, of course, is the school teachers. Their plight is symbolic of that of millions of people, working in highly responsible jobs, whose standard of living has taken a terrific beating in late years.

The recent teachers' strike in Buffalo simply dramatized a situation which is nationwide in scope. Since 1940, according to the United States News, the average annual earnings of factory workers have risen from $1,314 to $2,440. In the same period, on the other hand, the average annual income of teachers has risen from $1,441 to only $2,133. And this wage, it must be remembered, includes large cities where teachers are paid relatively well. In some rural sections teachers of one-room schools get as little as $800 a year. Almost everywhere, teachers receive less than garbage collectors, janitors and other city employees who work at menial tasks requiring little education.

Furthermore, teachers must live up to their position in the community, which means that they must have homes in good residential areas, dress well, contribute to charity, etc. Many teachers have been forced to take night jobs to make both ends meet—which inevitably involves a decline in their efficiency as instructors. In one widely-publicized case, a male teacher worked at night as a bartender in a tavern—a job which paid him twice as much as his teaching salary.

The long-range effects of this problem are grave. Attendance in teachers' colleges has fallen off heavily at a time when attendance in all institutions of higher learning is zooming. This means that there will be fewer qualified teachers in the future. It is estimated that something like 350,000 teachers have completely abandoned the profession in favor of higher paying jobs in government and business. Throughout the country, school boards have been forced to give temporary certificates to teachers with substandard qualifications, because good teachers were not available, and so youngsters get a poorer grade of education. Lastly, it has been necessary to greatly increase the size of classes. Classrooms of 75 or more children are common in cities now—and educational experts say that 35 is the maximum number of pupils a teacher can handle with desirable results.

Practically everyone admits that the justice of the teachers' demand for better pay is unassailable—but the solution is not an easy one. Cities and

ETERNAL SPIRIT

The path of a tornado can be charted only after it has passed. Courageous man surveys the ruin of his hopes, buries his dead, binds up the wounds, clears away the wreckage and rebuilds. With nearly seven score known dead, several thousand deprived of shelter and three small towns almost wiped off the map, the Texas and Oklahoma region devastated by the windstorms of midweek exemplifies the undaunted spirit of humankind.

In the matter-of-fact stories from the little Hemphill and Lipscomb County towns of Glazier and Higgins and Woodward, Oklahoma, where the tornado directed its full force of destruction, there stand out again and again the simple qualities of human courage, endurance and resilience. Largely unprepared and with the best of preparation helpless against the blind fury of wind in motion, these Texans and Oklahomans endured and set about the vital tasks of emergency relief and reconstruction. It is not iron found only in the hearts of Texans and Oklahomans. It is the quenchless flame of all human spirit that has brought forward from the dawn of time—Dallas Morning News.

Counties have plenty of budget troubles of their own, and if they raise the pay of one group of employees, other groups will certainly demand raises too. States are helping out—but the states, like all other units of government, are hard put to make both ends meet. Many of them are raising taxes and adopting new taxes just to pay present running costs. Federal aid has been proposed—but it doesn't seem practical at a time when Congress is supposed to be cutting costs all along the line.

A partial solution has been found in cost-of-living grants to teachers. A number of states and cities have done this as an immediate measure. But teachers' spokesmen point out that it is a very small part of the answer to the problem. It gives them no assurance of adequate future earnings. They want a guaranteed minimum wage—ranging from $2,000 to $2,500, depending upon locality—with specified raises for educational attainments, responsibilities, tenure of service, etc.

The United States News says that unrest is hanging the union issue into the educational picture. In the past, both the AFL and the CIO have tried to organize educators, but with small success. If teachers feel that they will continue to be subjected to economic injustice, they may be more receptive to the blandishments of labor organizers. And that would produce grave potentialities. Domination of teachers by any organization is certainly not in accord with our educational traditions.

The Knutson Bill to provide a 20 per cent cut in Federal taxes on incomes up to $302,000 is now undergoing revision. Tendency is to give a somewhat larger reduction at low levels, and to gradually reduce the cut in the higher brackets.

Washington News Letter

By Congressman Ed Gossett

Washington, D. C., April 12—Among office visitors this week were two with whom I conferred at some length; both had amazing stories to tell.

Major James McMinn, of Caribad, New Mexico, gave me copies of his sworn statements submitted for use in the trial of Japanese war criminals. Major McMinn was a member of the New Mexico National Guard that went into the Philippines before the war and was captured at Bataan. His verified stories of brutality and atrocities are almost beyond comprehension. How any of these boys survived is a miracle. Two different prison ships on which Major McMinn had been crammed were bombed and sunk by our own forces. The Major and others are here in behalf of a bill to require the Japanese to pay these survivors for work and injuries during imprisonment.

The second visitor was a famous German editor now residing in New York and publishing a German language newspaper, whose name is Gernhart Seger. Mr. Seger told me of a debate he had with Adolph Hitler in 1922. He was the third member of the German Reichstag to be thrown into a concentration camp by Hitler in 1934. His property was all confiscated at that time. He escaped in 1935, came to America and has become a naturalized citizen. He returned and aided Justice Jackson in the Nuremberg trials. He is bitterly anti-fascist and strongly favors an immigration bill of which I am the author to exclude from immigration to this country all members of the Nazi party and its allied organizations.

Thomas Jefferson was born April 13, 1743. Next Monday, April 14, a gigantic bronze statue of Thomas Jefferson will be moved into the beautiful Jefferson Memorial that rises majestically on the banks of the Tidal Basin in the City of Washington. Few of the founding fathers are as generally and justly revered, memorialized, and celebrated as Thomas Jefferson. His is one of the massive figures appearing on the Mount Rushmore National Memorial in the Black Hills of South Dakota. This sculpture was done by Gutzon Borglum and his son Lincoln Borglum. The heads are sixty feet from chin to top, and it is said it will take a million years of natural erosion to destroy this monumental work.

The most amazing coincidence in American history was the death of Thomas Jefferson and of John Adams on the fiftieth anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence, July 4, 1826. The lives of these two men were curiously entwined. While Jefferson wrote the Declaration of Independence, both men were signers of it. In the first Presidential election contest in 1796 John Adams won over Thomas Jefferson by an electoral vote of 71 to 68. Three electors who were supposed to vote for Jefferson voted instead for Adams, or Jefferson would have been elected. However, the two remained friends, and when John Adams died on July 4, 1826, his last words were, "Jefferson still lives". As a matter of fact Jefferson had died some hours earlier. On July 3 preceding his death, Mr. Jefferson had rallied and ask what day it was. Upon being told it was the third he expressed keen desire to live until the fourth, and was doubtless happy that he could expire on the great anniversary with which he had so much to do.

Volumes could and have been written concerning the handiwork of the great Jefferson in the early building of this nation. It was he who picked the American Eagle as a symbol. It was he who wrote the slogan, "E pluribus unum" which appears on all of our coins and is inscribed on the top of the Capital dome.

Jefferson startled his countrymen by discarding the white horses and coach and walking to his inauguration. He startled the country again by receiving the British Ambassador in dressing gown and house slippers. He hated false aristocracy of all kinds and loved and trusted the common people. Even in death he demonstrated his modesty and his democracy. He wrote his own epitaph which is inscribed upon his tombstone. He did not mention that he had been Governor of Virginia, or the first Secretary of State, or President of the United States, or that he had been responsible for the Louisiana Purchase out of which seventeen states were carved. He simply wrote the following: "Here was buried Thomas Jefferson: Author of the American Declaration of Independence—of the Statute of Virginia for Religious Freedom—and Father of the University of Virginia."

A Great Bunch—Those Ex-G.I.'s

Willie Wells and a bunch of the boys from our town went to Pound Ridge Saturday to a reunion of their old regiment.

There were about two hundred and fifty boys who came from miles around to a good old feast in Farmer Collins' barn. I expect they seemed a lot different to each other out of uniform. But they had a great time, spinning yarns, drinking beer, and talking over the old times in South Africa and Italy and the Aleutians.

I went over to cover the meeting for the Clarion, and one thing that sure impressed me was the good behavior of those boys—their preference for a moderate beverage like beer—their friendly spirit.

From where I sit, our ex-G.I.'s are making as good a showing in peacetime as they made during the war. And they're setting a mighty good example to the rest of us—in tolerance, and moderation, and good fellowship.

Some Advantages of A Co-operative Stock Ownership

Stock ownership is the keystone of our system. It has made the Land Bank and National Farm Loan Association possible. It has supported this type of credit through 30 years of dependable service for the specific benefit of farmers and ranchers.

The purpose of the Land Bank farm and ranch loans are not a side line to some other activity, but has its one reason for existence—the opportunity and obligation to furnish credit trimmed and tailored for this one purpose.

The member-owner influence dictates the type of loan which shall be made and the type of service which shall be given it while it exists.

The associations own all the stock in the Federal Land Bank of Houston, and this co-operative ownership should be pointed out as the greatest single asset of this system, and in so doing we add strength and dignity to those who serve through the years as directors, members, and officers of the Baylor-Knox N. F. L. A.

In 1946 the stockholder members received 10% in dividends, which reduced interest paid on loan balance to 3.38%.

The Labor Unions—And You!

Editor's Note: The following is a speech by Oscar Johnston, president of the National Cotton Council of America, and is being printed in The Times by request.

LABOR UNIONS AND YOU
I am going to talk to you today about a modern version of an ancient vice—a vice which throughout the centuries of man's existence has caused perhaps more misery, more suffering, more blood letting than any other. I am going to remind you of conditions we face today, and consequences which threaten us tomorrow, as a result of evil and irresponsible lust for power on the part of scheming and unscrupulous men.

Lust for power is by no means, in itself, a new sin. Genghis Khan and his generals had it so strongly that they put the Oriental world to the torch to satisfy their craving. Caesar had it. Al Capone had it. Hitler and his Nazis had it, and would gladly have enslaved you and me, starved us, or tortured us to insanity or death to satisfy their phobia for domination.

As we examine history's record of power-mad individuals and groups, we find two points of similarity which apply in every case. First, lust for power feeds on the attainment of power and quickly becomes insatiable. Second, man has always, at some point been forced to overthrow those who would oppress him, and the longer he has waited the more difficult and bloody has been his job.

These same fundamentals apply to small group of men who have it within their power today, legally, to reach into our homes and private business, to disrupt the life of this community, to order that we shall receive no food or clothing by rail or highway, that we shall have no coal or automobiles or radios. They have the power to tell the young men of this community which trades or crafts they may enter, and on what terms. There is a tyranny no different in principle, and no less dangerous in potential consequences, than the tyrannies which recently have been overthrown at such staggering costs in lives, dollars, and material resources.

I refer, of course, to those barons of labor who through sly campaigns of attrition have successfully entrapped a large segment of the wage earners of our nation, and who already have attained such power that they have no hesitancy in bringing difficulty and discomfort to every man, woman, and child in America to gain some immediate selfish end. You are perhaps familiar with various examples of the ruthless ambition of these men, but you may not have recognized the full extent of their shrewdness in preying upon the normal human tendencies and habits of people like you and me. Right now, today, this week, we are being taken into camp through a maneuver so simple as to be almost childish, and yet so shrewd that I daresay not one man in a thousand recognizes what is happening. If you will but check your own memory I believe you will find that there were many times in 1946 when you became so incensed at the unreasonableness and presumptuousness of labor racketeers that you fairly exploded with indignation. You were not alone. Throughout the nation, other men and women felt exactly as you did, and enough of them expressed their feelings at the ballot box to sweep into office a political party whose most popular was one to put the gods of labor in their proper place.

Have you felt during the past few weeks as you did during the steel strike last year, during the auto strike, the rail strike, or the coal strike? You have not, and neither have I—and that is exactly the result which shrewdness has accomplished. We in this room are living evidence of the success which has accompanied the efforts of our would-be dictators to see that our influence, and the influence of millions like us, was largely immunized during this vital period when Congress is considering labor legislation. The flood of letters and telegrams that swamped the desks of Congressmen a few weeks ago has become a trickle. In some cases even those who rode into office under the banner of labor reform are weakening under the double drag of public apathy and all-out labor lobbying. That condition, fraught with more immediate peril to you and me than anything that Stalin can do, has been brought about by the simple expedient of calling off strikes for a brief period so that you and I might yield to our normal inclination to tend to our personal affairs and forget our determination to protect ourselves from legalized economic domination.

Let me remind you of a few of the things our labor barons and monopolists are seeking to maintain as their legal rights—a few of the issues for which they are fighting so violently while you and I sit by—a few of the instruments through which they expect to continue to gorge themselves with power at our expense.

Among the foremost tools of their despotism is a legalized racket which you and I know to be wholly antagonistic to the intent of the very constitution of this nation. I refer to the "closed shop"—a form of totalitarianism so incompatible with the principles of democracy that it should make any free man recoil in disgust. Under it the dictators of national labor unions, each in his own sphere, have established systems of government where in they are privileged to make their own laws, collect their own tribute, extend or deny to any individual craftsman the right to work, and punish without jury trial any citizen of their realm who incurs their displeasure.

Under such a system the vaunted "right to strike" becomes the right of a few professional labor monopolists to order tens or even hundreds of thousands of American citizens to quit work whether they wish to or not, under penalty of permanent expulsion from the trade through which they earn their livelihood.

Under such system the individual worker is no longer a free man. He is no longer a man who can make his own decisions, who can decide where he wants to work, for whom, and for how much. He is no longer a man who by working harder and more skillfully may hope to advance above the level of the less ambitious. He becomes not an individual, but merely the one one-thousandth fraction of a group of a thousand workers. He is told how many bricks he can lay in one day, or how many feet of concrete he can pour, and woe to him who dares to give his best to his job if his best is more than the rules allow.

If you have any doubt as to the extremes to which such tyranny can go, I refer you to a mandate of the American Federation of Musicians. The mandate provides that if a professional musician is offered a job in some city other than that in which he is working, he must wait up to six months before the union will permit him to move. If he should make the mistake of accepting a better job in another locality without written permission, he may be permanently barred from again earning his living in his chosen field. On union orders he may be banned from radio stations, from public auditoriums, from concert halls, and even from hotel orchestras.

Let me show you how such a system can be reflected in costs. A few days ago, in one of our southern cities, a public welfare group sought to produce a series of four short radio announcements in transcribed form. They wanted to open each of these four announcements with a few seconds of music. The radio station which was to make the transcriptions offered to contribute its organ without charge. A church organist offered to play the necessary bars without charge. But the owner of the radio station could not allow the church organist to enter his studio under penalty of a strike which would have taken him off the air. Union rules provided that the fee for less than 6 minutes of music, with the musician on the premises for a total lapse time of less than 30 minutes, should be $104.00.

Next Depression Due April 1948, Beardsly Ruml Asserts

Our next depression will come in April, 1948, and will be the shortest in our history, in the opinion of Beardsly Ruml, originator of the pay-as-you-go tax plan and one of the country's leading economists.

In an article which he wrote for the April issue of Cosmopolitan magazine, Mr. Ruml explains that while he believes that our next depression will come in April, 1948, it need not come, and events may prove his prophecy incorrect.

"When the depression comes, it will come as a spasm after a long period of creeping and wasting paralysis of both consumption and employment," he writes. "There will be no specific event, no catastrophe, no bolt from the blue. But instead, some prominent name will cry out, 'For goodness sake, this is no recession we're having—it's a depression.' And history will record that the depression of 1948 began at that moment of time."

In support of his statement, Mr. Ruml declares that the basis for our present prosperity has been weakened, and that therefore we cannot expect it to last.

"We must produce more in 1947 than we did in 1946 to have full employment in 1947," he declares. "We were able to sell what we produced in 1946 as a result of four strong abnormal forces operating in 1946—reconversion expenditures, inventory building, net export abroad, and lower government receipts than expenditures during most of the year. The forces that gave us full employment in 1946 will be weaker in 1947. And so we government it is high time the rest of us put that group in its place.

We have seen that happen before. We once saw big business become too powerful for the good of the rest of us. We put it in its place with the Sherman Anti-trust Act. Yet the monopolies of big business at its all-time worst were child's play as compared with the monopolies which the lords of labor have attained through the technique they refer to as "industry-wide bargaining." If even as many as two manufacturers of automobiles get together to fix prices they are subject to fines and penitentiary sentences. Yet it is perfectly legal, according to our present laws and their interpretations, for automobile labor leaders not only to get together and fix industry-wide prices for automobile labor, but to enforce their prices by denying automobiles to you and me until their demands are met.

What justice is there in such a situation? What justice is there in the government itself shall fix the prices which a railroad may charge for hauling freight, and then permits a labor monopoly to tell the railroads of the entire nation how much each train, what jobs each workman may and may not do, and the terms and conditions under which each workman may be employed.

There was a time, even since today's labor laws were put upon the statute books, when matters such as I have been discussing were of only remote concern to you and me as individual citizens. But that was before labor's lust for power began to feed so ravenously upon the attainment of power. That was before its appetite had become insatiable. Today it has become the standard practice of "big labor" to use you and me as pawns. By depriving you and me and the rest of the public of coal, of cars, or of rail service, these monopolists seek to make us scream so loudly for relief that a manufacturer, an engine industry, or even the government itself must yield to their demands.

The degree of discomfort which we in this room have suffered because of the labor racket has of course varied with our individual

More evidence is seen of activity toward general clean-up. Some of these days we're all going to get the fever, and have a real, sho-nuff clean-up!

There was a time, even since today's labor laws were put upon the statute books, when matters such as I have been discussing were of only remote concern to you and me as individual citizens. But that was before labor's lust for power began to feed so ravenously upon the attainment of power. That was before its appetite had become insatiable. Today it has become the standard practice of "big labor" to use you and me as pawns. By depriving you and me and the rest of the public of coal, of cars, or of rail service, these monopolists seek to make us scream so loudly for relief that a manufacturer, an engine industry, or even the government itself must yield to their demands.

The degree of discomfort which we in this room have suffered because of the labor racket has of course varied with our individual

At The Churches

REVIVAL BEGINS AT HOLINESS CHURCH ON TUESDAY NIGHT

A revival meeting started last Tuesday night, April 15, at the Free Holiness church in Munday. Brother Jessie Mize of Greenville, Texas, is doing the preaching. Services begin each evening at 7:30 o'clock. The public is extended a cordial invitation to attend each service.

Missionaries To Speak Sunday At Vera, Truscott

Next Sunday will be an unusual day for the Baptist churches of Vera and Truscott, it was announced Tuesday by C. H. Harris. Rev. E. O. Mills and Miss Reba C. Stewart, missionaries from Japan and China, respectively, will speak at these churches. The entire public is cordially invited to hear them. Rev. Mills will show pictures of Japanese mission work at the Vera church Sunday morning and in the Truscott church Sunday evening. Miss Stewart will speak at Truscott Sunday morning and in the Vera church Sunday evening.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

All services at the regular hours next Sunday. Next Monday night at 7:30, April the 21st, there will be an associational Young Peoples meeting at our church here in Munday. Of course, our people from Munday will come, and we are expecting a good delegation from each one of the other nineteen churches in the association. A good program has been arranged. Let's put this meeting in our plans. W. H. Albertson

The Methodist Church

Sunday: 10:00 Church School A class for everyone with a prepared teacher and a friendly fellowship. 11:00 Morning Worship Good music and enough ritual to dignify the service and yet leave you freedom to Worship in your own way. 5:45 p. m. Youth Fellowship A meeting for Youth with informal program but a chance to learn of Christian Living and Christ. 6:00 Vesper Service An informal preaching service for the strength and blessing that comes to those who "go a little further."

It is our earnest desire to minister as Christ leads us to do. Your life will be richer if you will seek the ministry of your church. We will be happier to know that you are getting that ministry. We offer you the service of the most important business in town but we have nothing to sell.

The privilege of worship and faith is ours because many died that we might have it. For us to ignore that privilege is to break faith with them and to hasten the day when the privilege will have to be bought again. You may not feel need of God now but the day is coming with terrific speed when you will need Him. You may have him now if you want Him. The Spirit of Christ waits at your door until Sabbath desecration and selfish indulgent living breaks you down. Why not let Him in now? Bring your heart and mind to church Sunday and help Him get the door open for your sake and the sake of those who need you to care.

Methodist Vacation School Workers Will Attend Institute

On Saturday, April 19, workers in the local Methodist Vacation Bible School will go to Rule for a training institute, which will begin at 10 a. m. and close at 3 p. m. Mrs. S. H. Vaughter, district director of children's work, will preside over the day's program. Instruction will be given for teachers of kindergarten, primary, junior, and intermediate units of work in vacation bible schools. Mrs. O. H. Spann is the local superintendent of children's work, and she will attend the school with a number of special workers who were chosen in a meeting of the local board of christian education held last Sunday.

Young People Of Area To Meet At Baptist Church

Rev. W. H. Albertson, pastor of the First Baptist church of Munday, announced last Monday that an associational young people's meeting will be held at the local church Monday night.

This is the first meeting since reorganization of young people of the association, and 20 churches of the area are expected to be represented.

An inspirational program is being planned for this meeting, which will begin at 7:30 o'clock. Rev. Albertson urges all young people of the local church to be present to greet the visitors. A good attendance is expected from other churches of the association. Bro. George Wilson, who is a full-blooded Indian and missionary to the Indian people of New Mexico, will sing in his native tongue. You will enjoy him.

The program of the meeting is as follows:

Young people's leader, Mrs. C. O. Davis, Rule; song director, Carolyn Hannah, Munday; devotional, Max Copeland, Weinert; prayer; special song, Misses Albertson and Bowden, Munday; organization; Indian missions, George Wilson, New Mexico, followed by his special songs in the Indian language.

Toby Lane And Evelyn Moore Wed In Knox City

Before an altar decked in white Easter lilies, in the First Methodist church of Knox City, Rev. Vernon Henderson read the single ring ceremony on Saturday night, April 5, uniting in marriage Miss Evelyn Moore and Mr. John E. (Toby) Lane, both of Munday.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Moore, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Lane. Both families are well known residents of Munday.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was Mrs. Joe Lane. She wore a sheer black dress embroidered in stud pearls, and had black accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations.

Attending the groom as best man was his brother, Joe Lane.

The bride was attired in a gold-trimmed white frock and had brown accessories. Her corsage was of deep red roses. She wore the traditional "something old, new, borrowed and blue."

Both the young people are graduates of Munday high school. Mrs. Lane has served as nurse in the Knox City hospital and the Vernon Memorial hospital. At present she is employed as secretary at the Munday Locker Plant.

The groom served in the U. S. Marine Corps for a year and was stationed in San Diego and Hawaii. He is now employed at Atkinson's Food Store.

After a short wedding trip to Vaughn Monroe's musical-variety show over CBS, March 22, will feature the nimble wit of Johnny Morgan, young comedian being hailed in Hollywood film circles as a real "comer." The singing maestro's other guest act will be the famed Golden Gate Quartet with their smooth blending of spirituals.

Lubbock, the young couple have returned to Munday to make their home.

Guest Night Is Observed by Guild Members Recently

"Guest Night" was observed by members of the Wesleyan Service Guild in a meeting held recently at the local Methodist church.

Following a business session, Mrs. Jerry Kane gave a review of the book, "The Miracle of the Bells," which was enjoyed by all present.

Following the book review, a social hour was enjoyed by the members and guests. Ice cream and cake was served to the 45 ladies present.

good condition for the future.—Mrs. D. C. Elland.

One of the two methods of securing funds for the schools—raising the tax rate or raising the valuation—I believe the tax raise is the logical method. By this means all the money gained will go directly to the schools. I heartily endorse this movement and urge the people to vote for the raise in tax rates.—J. L. Stodghill.

I am in favor of raising the school tax for the benefit of the school.—I. B. Gresham.

I am opposed to a raise in our tax rate to $1.50 per $100.00 valuation. But I am in favor of raising taxes to take care of emergency.—W. E. McNeil.

I am in favor of good schools, and I know that it takes money to improve our schools. I am willing to bear my part of the increase in taxes.—C. R. Elliott.

I am in favor of voting a 50-cent raise in school tax rate because it will help the entire school system, which is much needed.—A. L. Roden.

I am for it.—Lee Haymes.

I am in favor of any program to improve our schools. They must have additional revenue to make badly needed improvements.—N. M. Baird.

I don't know how much money the school needs, but I know that the board does not have enough to run a first class school. Raising the rate is the logical way to obtain the additional money needed.—P. C. (Press) Phillips.

The school needs additional revenue to carry out the program necessary. Raising the rate is the method to use to get this additional revenue. The only mistake that I see is the failure to raise the rate two or more years ago.—E. W. Harrell.

Raising the tax rate is the best way to get the money needed for operating our school system. We want the best school to be had, and this can be made possible only by more revenue.—Fred Broach, Jr.

I think it is the thing to do for the advancement of the type of school Munday should have.—Dr. R. L. Newsom.

I am very much in favor of it.—Mrs. A. L. Smith.

I heartily endorse the movement and urgently request all property owning voters to support the rate increase by voting for it.—J. C. Harpham.

I am for it. If we want a progressive school program, it is necessary.—Joe Bob Stevens.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Harrell and Natalie visited with relatives in Oklahoma City over the week end. Mrs. Harrell and Natalie remained for a longer visit with Mrs. Harrell's mother, Mrs. Sue Park-hiser.

Mr. and Mrs. David Crockett and daughter, Pat, of Sweetwater were week end guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Crockett.

MUNDAY LUMBER CO.

Ark., former resident of this country.

Many thanks to our relatives and friends at Goree for making it possible for us to get The Times and news of Knox county. We are very proud of the same.

Spring has opened in the mountains, and it is very pretty. Fruit trees and the woods and flowers are in bloom.

My wife and I went fishing yesterday, but no luck, as the water was so clear the fish could see you and run away. Things are progressing in this part, in the way of farming. Planting of all kinds is in full blast, and, too, the country is learning that tractors can be used in this mountain country to a good advantage. In fact, it seems that this country is making a change to improve the schools and road systems, which is needed very badly. If would be a wonderful place to live with these improvements.

This is not money country, but the best place I ever saw to make a living. The most wonderful people to live with, and plenty of good, wonderful water and free stock range.

If we get this printed, we will give you more news at another time. Thanks.

nothing of a drive like that. Your columnist visited Hot Springs recently—and it was a most enjoyable experience. All activities seem to center on the main street because the city is in two sections which are connected only by that one thoroughfare, so closely do the mountains press at the midway point.

And such a main street! On one side is bathhouse row, palaces of stone in a setting of trees and velvety lawns, and in the distance the vast structure which is the Arlington Hotel; on the other side of the street, shops with displays of laces, jewelry and curios. People from every state in the Union saunter in a leisurely manner along the sidewalk. Incidentally, Texas ranks second for out-of-state visitors, Illinois being first.

There are sight-seeing buses drawn up at the curb, and there is a shooting gallery on that main street—the targets are against the side of a mountain. One spot was blasted out of solid rock to make room for a filling station and nearby is a bus stop which is only a few paces from a ledge of rock under which one can take refuge from rain.

Over yonder is an ancient two-seated carriage, the kind the governor used to ride in when there was a parade when you were a boy; and the old driver is wearing a high top hat. Honeymooners go for a drive in the quaint vehicle, and of course have their picture taken. From somewhere there comes the sound of music—and you look through a fringe of trees and see, in a park bandstand, an Army band.

Hot Springs has facilities for 31,000 visitors, declares Miss Alta Smith, of the Chamber of Commerce, who for years has ably publicized the city's many attractions. But the races were in progress and finding accommodations for the wife, her mother and myself was a problem—which Miss Smith solved by appealing to a former Texan, Vance Bryan, who used to run a big trucking business out of Kilgore and now is owner of the Jack Tar Court Hotel, favorite stopping place for famous athletes, big business men and movie stars—the most luxurious quarters I've ever seen.

To sum up the swirl of impressions of the three days: Hot Springs seems a gigantic fair, colorful fiesta, a perpetual holiday where everyone is having a great time.

POOR POP! How willingly he took over when Mother got the grippe. But Mother will have a relapse when she sees what's happened to her favorite kitchen!

Pop hasn't yet caught on to Mother's modern way of keeping house. He hasn't yet learned that dependable electric service can take a lot of work out of housework—not only in the kitchen, but in every room of the house. For electricity is like many extra pairs of hands for the housewife—and the house-husband, too, when he takes over K. P.

But there's one thing Pop does know, because he's the lad who pays the bills. He knows that electricity is just about the smallest item in his family budget—even though he may not realize that the average family gets twice as much electricity for its money as it did 20 years ago.

It costs so little—and it does so much! Yes, electricity is a big household bargain that comes to Pop—and to you, too—through the practical experience of your friends and neighbors in this company, under sound business management.

the family including sickness, disease, prevention, and health protection.

In setting aside April 20 to 26 as "Public Health Nursing Week" for America, health administrators and all other friends of nursing should exert their efforts toward the extension of public health nursing services, so that there will be enough qualified nurses to meet the needs of all the people, and thus help in maintaining a maximum health level throughout the nation.

Miss Partridge, Glenn Meeks Are Married April 4th

The marriage of Miss Wanda Sue Partridge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Partridge of Munday, to Glenn Meeks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mervyn Meeks of Abilene, was solemnized on Friday afternoon, April 4, at 5:30 o'clock in the home of the bride's parents.

Gladiolus and lilies decorated the living room for the double-ring ceremony read by Rev. R. O. Sullivan. Music was played by Mrs. Sullivan.

The bride wore a blue suit with black and white accessories. Her corsage was of white gardenias. For something old she wore a bracelet belonging to her mother and which she had worn in her wedding.

Miss Jeanette Partridge, sister of the bride, was her only attendant. She wore a suit of grey with navy and white accessories. Her corsage was of pink carnations and fern.

Mack Hobbs served as best man.

Mrs. Meeks is a graduate of the Sunset high school and is now a junior at Hardin-Simmons University, Abilene. She plans to continue her studies at the university.

Mr. Meeks is a graduate of Abilene high school and served two years in the Navy. He is now employed at the Abilene Municipal Airport.

Following the ceremony, a brief reception was held in the dining room, hosted by the bride's parents. The table was laid in a crocheted cloth made by the bride's grandmother and centered with a bouquet of snapdragons and carnations.

The three-tiered wedding cake, topped by a miniature bride and groom, was served by Miss Jimmie Skiles. Miss Wanda Loyce Milford presided at the punch bowl.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Rennon Meeks, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Krause of Jacklyn and Donald, of Fort Worth; Mr. and Mrs. Mervyn Meeks and Lillian, Mr. and Mrs. Babe Meeks and Jimmie Skiles, all of Abilene; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Partridge and Charles, Jo Anna and Dickie, all of Seymour.

Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Branch, Jr., and son, Billy, left last Sunday on return to their home in Pasa Bobles, Calif., after a visit of two weeks with relatives and friends here.

Mrs. Prudence Sessions, who is employed in Vernon, visited relatives and friends here over the week end.

Rubber Replaces 50 Year Vet

As Akron's last streetcar, piloted by Mayor Charles E. Slusser, pulled out of the car-barns for its final trip through the rubber capital, the new and ultra-modern trolley bus stands poised to take over. There were mingled feelings as the famous old streetcars did their fade-out and one who watched the finale with moistened eyes was L. H. "Harry" Mitchell, a motorman with 49 years of continuous service. Not only were the cars retiring, but Mitchell also announced he was retiring to spend his remaining years on his farm.

After 50 years of banging, clanging trolley-cars, Akron, O., the rubber tire capital of the world, has finally modernized its transportation equipment. Mayor Charles E. Slusser was at the controls as the last streetcar was decommissioned in a large civic ceremony at Rubber-town Sunday. The old electric-powered cars have been replaced by trolley buses equipped with Akron-made General Tires. Akron Transportation company officials have finally proven to Akronites that rubber-tired trolley buses are more efficient, more comfortable and, — more important, — far less noisy.

Veterans News

The Veterans Administration has reviewed more than a third of its disability compensation cases in Texas, Louisiana and Mississippi in the Congressionally-authorized program to establish more accurate ratings for disabled veterans, VA reported this week.

Of the 207,000 compensation and pension cases in VA's Dallas Branch Area subject to review under the new disability rating schedule approved by the Congress, VA has reviewed 75,353 cases; slightly more than 36 per cent.

VA said virtually all veterans drawing compensation for service-connected disabilities will have their cases reviewed under the new schedule. Reviews are automatic, therefore, VA requested disabled veterans not to make inquiries about their cases while they are pending.

Although the new schedule provides increased ratings for certain types of disabilities and decreases for other types, it does not make any blanket change in rating. However, the increases far outnumber the decreases.

World War II amputees eligible for free automobiles, who intend to apply for them, should file their claims immediately because funds for purchase of the cars will not be available after June 30, VA said.

The appropriation authorized by the 79th Congress for the purchases expires on that date.

VA cannot purchase a car until the claim has been filed, the veteran declared legally eligible and a sales agreement made with a car dealer. Since this processing requires considerable time, veterans who intend to apply should file now so that money for purchase of the cars can be encumbered before the appropriation expires.

Veterans who suffered the loss or loss of use of one or both lower limbs at or above the ankle during service in World War II are entitled to the cars. They must be able to obtain an operator's license.

So are 1,376 World War II veterans in the Dallas Branch Area of Texas, Louisiana and Mississippi have filed claims for cars. Of these, 990 have been found eligible. Nearly 600 veterans have received delivery of their cars at an average cost to the government of $1,576 per vehicle.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Q I was discharged from the U. S. Army because my mother was dependent on me. Am I eligible to enter a course of education or training?
A Yes. The fact that you were discharged from the service because of dependency of your mother would not be material if you are otherwise qualified.

Q What benefits, other than subsistence, is a veteran entitled to while pursuing a course of education under the G. I. Bill?
A Veterans Administration will pay for the veteran's tuition, books, supplies, fees and other authorized expenses within certain limitations.

Q I have a service connected disability and am to be rehabilitated under the Vocational Rehabilitation Act. Will my compensation payments be increased while I am pursuing a course of vocational rehabilitation?
A No, your compensation will not be increased; but during the time you are being rehabilitated, you will receive your disability compensation plus subsistence allowance to bring you up to $105 a month if you do not have a dependent. Additional amounts will be added for each dependent or dependents.

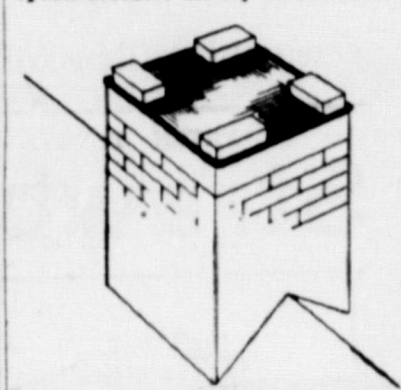

Q I am being rehabilitated under the Vocational Rehabilitation Act (Public Law 16). Am I entitled to a vacation during the summer, and will I continue to receive subsistence allowance during the vacation?
A Yes, you will be entitled to leave of absence not to exceed 30 days in any consecutive 12 months, and you will receive compensation and subsistence allowance during vacation periods.

Fixing Up the Farm by BURTON WILLIAMS

Watch Out for Sparks!

DOES your farm home have a roof that could be set afire by chimney sparks or windblown embers? Such roofs are a double danger. Not only do they endanger the house, but once they have been ignited they may cause the flames to spread to other buildings. The hazard resulting from non-fireproof roofs can be lessened somewhat by the installation of a spark arrester on top of the chimney. It is simply a wire screen with mesh large enough to permit the smoke to escape freely but small enough to stop the passage of sparks. The screen illustrated has been framed with metal rods to prevent curling. It is held in place by brick weights.

A safer procedure is to roof the home and other buildings with a fireproof material, such as asbestos cement shingles. Asbestos shingles are made of asbestos fibers and portland cement and contain nothing that will burn. They can be used either in new construction or put on over the old roof covering. Since they are weatherproof as well as fireproof, they will last as long as the building stands.

Labor Unions—

problems and our individual exposure. Yet all of us know that our discomforts of the past are but to come unless we join together, forerunners of greater discomforts and join with straight-thinking citizens throughout the nation, to bring an end to the growing dictatorship which surround us.

I know that none of us is so naive as to believe that if Congress should adjourn without passing corrective legislation we would see a continuation of the relatively good behavior which now exists. Certainly the tremendous war chests allocated by the CIO and APL for organization work in the South do not indicate any lack of fervor for expansion and further conquest. On the other hand, we may depend upon it that the captains of labor will not be satisfied until they can tell each of us whom we may hire, how much we must pay, what amount may and may not fire. They will of work is to be done, and whom we not be satisfied until every shop is a "closed shop", until every industry must bargain with them on an industry-wide basis, and until the technique of the secondary boycotts—a practice already so vicious that an industry or a business can often be brought to its knees through "sympathetic" action by unions in no way associated with the particular question in controversy. If, for example, an organizer seeks to persuade the employees of your grocery store to join a clerks' union, it is entirely legal for him to call on the truck drivers union to refuse to make deliveries to your store until your employees give in.

There are many more such unjust and un-American practices against which the individual citizen has no legal defense under today's statutes. Not the least of them is the jurisdictional strike, through which a business may be brought to bankruptcy while two unions fight over the one question of which shall be boss. You have recently seen a prime and much publicized example of such strike in the film studios of Hollywood.

Governor Jester Proclaiming April "Cancer Control Month"

Governor Beauford Jester is shown signing a proclamation at Austin naming April as Cancer Control Month. Shown with him are Dana X. Bible (left), U. of Texas football coach and a member of the Travis County Committee of the Texas Division, American Cancer Society, and Dr. Henry L. Hilgartner, Austin, chairman of the Travis County Committee.

"Because cancer has taken an ever-increasing number of lives each year," says the proclamation, "and will kill more than 180,000 Americans in 1947 alone, it is imperative that all of us awaken to the menace of cancer, and unite in attempting to eradicate this dread disease from our land. . . it is my request that the people of Texas support to the fullest the American Cancer Society in its campaign of education, research and service."

Here heads were cracked, property was destroyed, thousands of employees were prevented from working, and millions of dollars were lost to the studios while two relatively minor unions fought with each other, not over wages or hours or conditions of work, but over which should control the workmen building certain scenery. The principle involved is exactly the same as though your drug store were closed down by picket lines while the pharmacists' union and the clerks' union threw bricks at each other over whether or not your pharmacist or your counter clerk should have the exclusive right to sell bottles of patent medicines.

What can you and I do about all this? What positive action can we take? What effective resistance can we, as individuals, put up against huge nation-wide monopolies which operate within the law, and therefore with the support of the courts and law enforcement agencies of the land? Our position under such circumstances is difficult, but it is by no means hopeless. For we are the people who can change the law. We, as average Americans, are the people who can say, and see to it, that there shall no longer be one set of laws for us, and an entirely different set of laws for the professional practitioners of labor. We can insist that the right to work be restored to every American, that unwilling and involuntary taxation and tribute shall no longer be exacted as a condition of employment, that labor monopolies of vital industries shall no longer be tolerated, and that written contracts between workers and employers shall no longer be binding upon employers alone. We can insist, in short, that the benefits and privileges of democratic government be restored to all Americans alike.

In Washington today are men whom we have sent there, among other things, to cast our vote on this particular problem. It is your job and mine, as individuals, to see that they know how we feel, and that their votes reflect the will of the majority rather than the pressure of the privileged. I seriously doubt that there are half a dozen men in this room who have told a senator or representative from this state, either orally or in writing, how they feel on this question. I doubt that there are two of us who have called on even our closest friends to express themselves to those who represent them. This is exactly the situation which contributes most to our danger. It is exactly the situation which the bosses of "big labor" counted upon when they let the steel industry and the coal mines and the gasoline refineries operate smoothly during the period of legislative crisis. All that you and I need to do to make possible still further and still more offensive encroachments is to continue exactly what we are now doing.

Cussing John Lewis or Dan Tobin among ourselves may be an entertaining pastime but it will not get results. Speeches like this won't do it. There is one thing, and one only, that will—positive action in the form of written demands upon those whom we have elected to handle this matter. May I urge that as leaders of this community you accept the responsibility for seeing that minimum of ten of your friends also express themselves in writing. May I beg, in the name of the preservation of your independence and the future of this nation, that you pledge a solemn oath to fulfill this simple but vital responsibility.

At some point you, and I, as have other men in other times, shall be forced to overthrow those who would oppress us. We shall find, as others have found, that the longer we wait the more difficult will be our job. A matter of letters today may grow into a matter of lives tomorrow. It is a job which inevitably you and I must do—a job which will never be easier than today. I have accepted my part of it. I earnestly plead that you accept yours.
