MUNDAY'S NEEDS FOR 1948

1. A modern and up-to-date high school building, to care for the present and future educational needs of our children.
2. A waterworks system that meets all requirements of health, sanitation and supply.
3. A street sweeper that will keep our pavement clean enough to be recognized as pavement.
4. Completion of our drainage and paving program, which will probably be accomplished this year.

PAYING FOR FIRE

Fire insurance companies, which have been operating in the red since 1943, have been granted rate increases on certain types of risks in 15 states. The principle properties affected are small manufacturing plants with inadequate fire protection. In two of the states, homes will also pay a higher rate.

This is one more inevitable result of our scandalous fire waste. Ever-increasing fire underwriting losses have made it impossible for the companies to make both ends meet. Last year, the industry suffered a loss of 5 per cent. And over a five-year period, its loss has been nearly 4 per cent.

The National Board of Fire Underwriters stated the problem in a sentence when it said, "In the past 12 months fires that were largely preventable destroyed $703,262,000 worth of irreplaceable property in the United States." This does not include the tremendous damage done in the Texas City disaster, which was caused principally by concussion. During the first 121 days of this year, fire loss held to a rate of more than $2,250,000 a day. And the death rate is around 11,000 lives a year. Fire is thus directly comparable to war as a destroyer and a killer.

There is one encouraging sign—and it lies in the fact that fire prevention activity is being stepped up throughout the country. More and more serious effort is being given to showing the people the causes of fire—and the steps that will prevent fire. If the people listen and act, a heavy cut in the fire bill can be achieved.

AN ITEM IN THE NEWS

A short time ago an item appeared in the news which, while it didn't make banner heads, is an example of the kind of arduous progress that serves us all.

Last year, the item said, the death rate from tuberculosis dropped to a new low throughout the nation. For the first time in our history, the number of fatalities from this cause was under 50,000.

That wasn't the result of chance. It was, instead, the result of decades of hard and often unrewarding work by doctors and other scientists. A long list of factors had a part in the achievement—better preventive medicine, infinitely improved methods of treatment for the afflicted, a generally higher standard of living, and so on.

Every major advance in medicine, save for rare instances where some revolutionary drug is discovered, is made much in this way. And the United States, with its system of medicine, unhampered by bureaucratic domination, has been a leader in conquering disease—a fact which has been proven in survey after survey. By contrast, medicine has generally been backward in the nations where it is controlled by the state—the standards of treatment have gone down while the cost, as in the case of all governmental activity, has gone up.

We in the United States are leading longer, healthier lives. Diseases which were almost sure killers not so many years ago now offer little danger. A system of voluntary prepaid medical care has been built up which brings the cost of treatment and hospitalization within the easy reach of the majority of people. These are achievements of free medicine which must not be forgotten.

THE SILVER LINING

In spite of political turmoil and continuing war and revolution in different part of the world, people everywhere still have to live and carry on the daily affairs of life.

Ernest E. Norris, president of the Southern Railway System says that anyone who takes the trouble to look can find plenty of silver linings in the clouds today.

"Leaders in government, labor, business and agriculture," said Mr. Norris, "must toss self-interest out of the window. It's got to be 'one for all and all for one' in the spirit of the old-time 'barn raisings.'"

"Above all, we've got to do what our grandpappies did who created this country—to work, all of us. We must work and produce as never before to maintain our standard of living and to defeat the disastrous inflation that is already banging at our doors. And as we work and produce I am sure we'll discover that valuable by-product—good will among all of our people—without which all is lost.

"If I am any judge of trends, the American people as a whole are already rolling up their sleeves, tightening their belts, and getting ready to make necessary work in the old-fashioned American way. And that's the brightest of all the silver linings I see in today's dark clouds."

A truly great man in a great position is J. E. Hickman, chief justice of the Supreme Court of Texas. I have known other chief justices personally but it was after they had attained that lofty place. Of Judge Hickman, however, it is my privilege to say, "I knew him when—"

And there has been no change in his geniality and consideration for others from the days when he practiced law in Breckenridge, a good many years ago. There, he taught the Morning Tower Bible Class—in the oil fields, the two shifts were known as morning and evening towers. The class was inter-denominational and was attended by men of all creeds and by men of no formal creed. The class met in a motion picture theater Sunday mornings and drew many oil field workers and cowboys that you would have had to rope and hog-tie to get into a church-house. So human, down-to-earth and yet inspiring were Judge Hickman's messages that the class membership reached way up into the hundreds.

When he was elected to the 11th Court of Civil Appeals, he moved to Eastland, where the court sits. In Eastland, he taught the 9:49 Bible Class and his religious presentations were a great influence on the lives of many men.

In 1935, Judge Hickman became a member of the Commission of Appeals of the State Supreme Court and moved to Austin, and he teaches the largest Sunday School class in that city. He became a member of the Supreme

To Voters Of Precinct Four

I have made an effort to see each of you and personally solicit your vote and influence in my campaign for re-election as Commissioner of Precinct 4, but as election day draws near, I realize that there are many whom I have failed to contact. Please take this as my personal solicitation of your vote next Saturday.
During the time I have served as your commissioner, I have tried to do my duty at all times, working with you and with the Commissioners Court in every move which I considered to be the best interests of the county and my precinct. I pledge you the same type of work and cooperation if returned to this office for another term.
As most of you know the equipment when I went in office was old. This we are still using, being unable to replace it with new equipment. We are proud of the work we've been able to do with this old equipment, having done most all of the repair work on it ourselves. When new equipment can be obtained, we will be able to do more and better work.
We are proud of the fact that one farm-to-market road, Goree to Hefner, under construction and that location of three and one-half miles of the Rhineland road south has been established. The highway Department is cooperating, and we feel this road will be a reality in the near future. You will find me working for other farm-to-market roads for the county, if elected to another term.
Assuring you that I will appreciate your vote in next Saturday's election, I am Very sincerely,
GEORGE NIX

Whose Agricultural Conservation Plan?

Conservation of our soil and water resources is vital to everyone—townspeople as well as farmers, says Emmett Partridge, Chairman of the Knox County Agricultural Conservation Committee. Speaking as a farmer, he points out that the health and welfare of this and succeeding generations depend upon how productive "we keep our land and the use we make of water that falls on the land."
Every part of the Agricultural Conservation Program and everything done under it, he explains, is aimed at protecting the Nation's soil and water resources and is in the National interest. Every practice which farmers carry out with the cooperative assistance of the program is a means of assuring a continued food and fiber supply.
From the standpoint of maintaining the food supply, the people who live in cities and towns are the beneficiaries of the Agricultural Conservation Program. In addition to assuring production, food from properly conserved soil contains more of the essential minerals. The program, the chairman points out, is essentially a national insurance policy against food shortage and reduced quality.
Conservation farming also means more stability in agriculture and in the trades that depend on agriculture. Everyone benefits from the conservation practices carried out under the AC Program, the chairman points out.
For the current year, $150 million has been appropriated by Congress to carry on the Program. This means, says the chairman, an average of about $1 per person to carry on this essential work. This is the cost of the food insurance policy. With what the farmer contributes, the Nation receives at least $300 million worth of conservation for the $150 million appropriated.

Smith-Doxey Service Offered To Area Farmers

Texas cotton farmers who want to receive classification and market news service on their 1948 crop should get their group applications in within a few days.
Deadline date for the eastern part of the state is August 1 and for the western part, August 16, John L. McCollum, manager, south-west area cotton branch, USDA's Production and Marketing Administration, Dallas, announced.
August 1 deadline takes in all counties lying entirely or for the most part east of the 100th Meridian and the August 15 closing date all counties lying entirely or for the most part west of the 100th Meridian.
Both services are provided without charge under the Smith-Doxey Act to organized cotton improvement groups.
Group applications may be filed at the Dallas cotton office, 1104 South Ervay, or at PMA's classing offices located in Austin, Abilene, Galveston, Lubbock and El Paso.
Texas had more than 1,000 organized improvement groups last year consisting of nearly 100,000 farmers who had over a million and a half bales classed. This represents about one-half of the 1947 crop, McCollum explained.

WHY LABOR BOSSES ENDORSE THE OPPONENT OF . . .

JUDGE JOHN A. RAWLINS

Candidate for Associate Justice Supreme Court of Texas

JUDGE JOHN A. RAWLINS

★ It is recorded May 9, 1945, in 188 S.W. Reporter 2d series, page 276, that James P. Hart, opponent of Judge Rawlins, was one of the attorneys for the labor unions in their unsuccessful and ill-advised attempt to enjoin the State Officials from enforcing the Texas law regulating labor unions, which was passed with the view of protecting public interest.

★ The Appellate Court, in upholding the law forbidding the unions from collecting work permit fees from non-union employees, reorganized the policy expressed by the Legislature in the preamble to the Act: "The right to work is the right to live."

★ Judge John Rawlins is under no obligation to either labor or capital. He is now completing 20 years of service as a State Trial Judge. He is a family man, a World War veteran, and a church worker. He has the endorsement of the Dallas Bar Association and is interested only in administering the law fairly and impartially in the interest of the public at large. He is a graduate of Texas University and Texas Christian University.

Veterans' News

Thousands of World War II veterans may lose the opportunity to reinstate National Service Life Insurance worth many millions of dollars unless they act before August 1, the Veterans Administration says.

After July 31, veterans whose NSLI term policies have been lapsed more than three months must take physical examinations to qualify as insurable risks. Before August 1, veterans have only to sign a comparative health statement.

Eligible veterans may reinstate any amount of term insurance up to $500 regardless of the length of time it has been lapsed under present liberal regulations if they apply before August 1.

They need only fill out a single application form, in which they certify that their health is as good as when the policy lapsed, and pay premiums for two months.

Authority of the Veterans Administration to provide automobiles or other conveyances for veterans of World War II who in service lost, or lost the use of, one or both legs at or above the ankle, has been extended until June 30, 1949.

The law granting vehicles to such disabled veterans had been scheduled to expire June 30, 1948. The extension and an appropriation of $1,500,000 for the program were contained in the Second Deficiency Appropriation Act for

G. Hunter and Leroy Phillips, died of burns received in the tragedy. Their bodies were returned to Munday and they were laid to rest side by side in Gillispie cemetery.

"Caking" Pays Dividends As Grass Matures

Gives Protein Needed For Profitable Gain By Beef Cattle

Protein pays large dividends in added gains on beef cattle when fed to supplement mature pasture grasses during late summer and early fall months, Experiment Station results and practical experience prove, according to A. L. Ward, Educational Director, National Cottonseed Products Association.

Cottonseed cake costing $5 per hundred pounds returned $18 worth of beef when fed to steers valued at $24 per hundred pounds in trials at the Kansas Experiment Station, he points out.

Cattle on pasture that received 1 1/2 pounds of cottonseed cake, daily per head, for 88 days gained 152 pounds per head during the period in the Kansas test. Cattle that did not receive the protein supplement gained only 56 pounds. Each pound of cake fed resulted in a gain of approximately 3/4 of a pound.

During July and August, most farm pastures and ranges begin to cure out or become "burned". Protein is the first nutrient to become deficient, the protein content of grasses frequently dropping 50

A. July 31, 1948, is the last day to make application for policies which have lapsed for more than three months without taking a physical examination.

Q. Where do I get an application blank to reinstate NSLI policies?

A. VA form 9-353A should be filled out and mailed to VA on or before July 31, 1948. Blanks can be obtained from the nearest VA office, the service officer of any veterans' organization, the American Red Cross or most insurance agents.

Q. How much will it cost to reinstate my GI insurance?

A. Your application for reinstatement should be accompanied by at least two monthly premiums in the amount of insurance that you had at that time. If you wish a smaller amount, reduce your premium payment accordingly. For example, if you paid $6.50 a month for $10,000 while in service and you want only $1,000 now, you should send VA two premiums of 65 cents each, and continue to pay 65 cents every 30 days to prevent further lapse.

Q. If I cannot afford the full $10,000 can a lesser amount be reinstated?

A. Yes. Application may be made for amount from $1,000 to $10,000 in multiples of $500.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Says That Growing Cotton Is No Job For An Ignoramus In These Trying Days

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek apparently is making excuses for his own crop, his letter this week reveals.

Dear editor:
My neighbor from across the creek was visitin me the other day wantin to know if I knew what kind of insect was botherin his crop, but I couldn't give him any satisfaction.

J. A.

The problem of crop insects has gotten too big and complicated for me and the only way I know to eliminate the pests is to eliminate the crops, which I am entirely willin to do provided we can get the government to launch a subsidy program payin farmers for it. I figure if no body raised nothin for ten years, we could start out even again with the insects, if we had some way of keepin people alive in the mean time. Maybe we could get Europe to feed us.

But what I started to say seriously is that farmin ain't no job for a ignoramus any more.

Say you're gonna raise cotton. It used to be you just plowed your land in the winter, planted it in the spring, picked it in the summer, and took it to town in the fall and got a nickle a pound for it, turned the money over to the bank, tore up the note, borrowed some more, and got ready for another round. If you could read it helped, but it wasn't necessary.

But now it takes education to raise a crop of cotton. You got to have almost a A & M degree to know how to take care of your soil, a medical degree to even know insects is eatin the cotton up, a teacher's certificate to pronounce the names, a chemist's degree to know what poisons to use, a mechanist's rating to know how to apply the poison, a weather man's training to know when to do it to keep a shower from washin it off, have to be a labor expert and have a knowledge of a foreign language to get hands to pick it, and be a Wall Street speculator to know when to sell it.

I tell you, cotton ain't no crop for one man. Some folks haven't learned that but I have, which is the reason I've switched to Johnson grass.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Outlook For Big Texas State Fair Now In Prospect

All outside exhibit and concession space, and 97% of inside exhibit space for the 1948 State Fair of Texas, October 9-24, has already been sold as a result of the greatest early season demand ever experienced by the Fair, Fred E. Tennant Sr., exhibits, manager said Saturday.

Not more than fifteen good spaces in choice locations remain, and these will soon be gone in the current rush, Tennant said.

"We are highly elated over the advance sale, especially considering that we now have approximately fifty per cent more inside exhibit space than last year, stimulated no doubt by the growing importance of this section as a manufacturing and distribution center, and by the growing reputation of the State Fair as 'The Show Window of the Southwest.'"

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by Dr. Geo. W. Cox
M. D., State Health Officer of Texas

Austin—Heart disease continued in the top spot as the number one killer of Texans, according to figures released by the Texas State Department of Health.

Mortality rate figures show an increase of 255 deaths from April 1946 figure of 1,099, as compared to the April, 1948 total of 1,354. This represents an increase of more than 18.5% for the comparative period.

"So-called functional heart disease is usually traceable to nervousness, infections from other parts of the body such as teeth and tonsils, a disturbed function of the thyroid gland, and to influenza," Dr. George W. Cox, State Health Officer, said. "And the excessive use of tobacco, coffee, tea, or other heavy stimulant is often a contributing cause."

Malfunction of the heart is a correctable condition, the health officer said, insofar as the source of infection may be located and eliminated, as in the case of bad teeth or tonsils. Incurable organic heart ailments exist only too frequently.

Strict adherence to competent medical advice will eliminate much worry about either functional or organic heart conditions, Dr. Cox said. He added that such adherence would unquestionably reduce deaths from heart disease materially.

Uncle Sam Says

There are few Americans who cannot get a thrill out of watching crops or flowering plants grow. And by the same token there are few who cannot feel the satisfaction of planting their money where it will grow. Invest in U. S. Combines Meet Threat of Storm Damage

WICHITA, KAS.—Recent heavy rains, which caused flash floods over wide areas, have seriously threatened the wheat harvest in Kansas, Missouri, Oklahoma and Nebraska. Kansas was hardest hit with estimated damage of $100,000 here when a tornado dipped to the ground. The self-propelled combine, above, a one-man machine, is a big factor in cutting losses by the rains, because it works faster, is taking full advantage of breaks in the weather and because it is designed to skim the ground, thus saving grain which has been beaten down and tangled by storms.

The self-propelled combine, since its mass demonstration in the Massey-Harris harvest brigade during the critical harvest years of 1944-45, is the rule today wherever wheat is grown. It can harvest 50 acres of wheat in a 10-hour day.

Lending and purchase operations for price support for other agricultural commodities during 1949 are to be carried out to the extent of available funds.

The Secretary of Agriculture may require compliance with production goals and marketing regulations as a condition to price support.

Beginning January 1, 1950, Mr. Vance explained, the "long-range" farm price-support provisions become effective. These generally provide for a level of support somewhat lower than during war years but higher than was authorized by earlier basis legislation. Price supports for tobacco, however, are directed at 90% of parity when marketing quotas are in effect. Wool is to be supported at 60 to 90% of parity, at what ever level the Secretary determines is necessary to encourage the annual production of 560 million pounds of shorn wool.

Except when necessary to increase or maintain production in the interest of national security, no support under the long-range program can be higher than 90% of parity or a comparable price. Minimum price supports on basic crops will be determined according to the relationship between total and normal supplies of the commodity, the larger the supply, the lower the minimum level of support.

The legislation also provides a new method of calculating parity prices beginning January 1950. The general level of parity prices will continue to be based on the 1910-1914 period. However, the relationship among the parity prices ities will be based on the immediate past 10-year period of actual prices. Provision is made to prevent parity prices for individual commodities from dropping more than 5% per year below parity

Farm Price Support Program Is Explained, Showing Modifications

Recent price support legislation provides some modifications of the so-called "wartime" programs which expire at the end of 1948, but most of the 1949 supports will be similar to those now in effect, according to B. F. Vance, State FMA Chairman. He outlined the major provisions governing 1949 Government programs to protect farm prices as follows:

The basic crops of corn, wheat, rice, tobacco, and peanuts grown in 1949 and marketed before June 30, 1950 are to be supported at 90% of parity. This is the same level at which these crops have been supported recently. The support on cotton grown in 1949 and marketed before June 30, 1950 is reduced to 90% of parity from the 1948 support level of 92 1/2%. Supports at 90% of parity are extended on hogs, chickens, eggs, milk, and milk products marketed before January 1, 1950. Potatoes harvested before January 1, 1949 are to be supported at 90% of parity.

Edible dry beans and peas, turkeys, soybeans and flaxseed and peanuts for oil, American Egyptian cotton, sweetpotatoes, are directed to be supported until January 1, 1950 at a level which may range from 60% of parity to the 1948 level of support for that commodity. This same provision applies to Irish Potatoes harvested after January 1, 1949. The support level announced under the 1948 program on these crops has been 90% of parity or higher.

Wool prices under the new legislation are to be supported at present levels until June 30, 1950.

Six LIFESAVING RULES FOR FARM PEOPLE

TAKE TIME TO BE SAFE

The loss of an arm or leg is a high price to pay for saving ten seconds. When operating power machinery, take time to be careful.

Your life will be safer if you...

Observe these simple rules:

- 1 Shut off P.T.O. before attempting to unclog corn picker, baler, etc.
- 2 Keep all shields in place when operating machine.
- 3 Don't trust defective hitches, brakes, clutches, seats.
- 4 Never mount or dismount from a moving tractor. Don't ride on drawbar.
- 5 Don't wear loose, floppy clothing around power machinery.
- 6 Think first. After the accident it is too late.

This year a disabling injury probably will strike some farm person every 19 seconds. Don't let carelessness put your name on that list.

which until the enactment of recent legislation nearly approached its authorized strength of enlisted men.

Many of the men making up this group were barely able to make the grade for enlistment academically, thus creating an unbalance in the highly technical Air Force of those men who were capable of receiving and imparting information to others with a fair degree of efficiency, and those who qualify only for general duty.

A short time ago the Air Force devised a means of augmenting enlistments of these men so vitally needed in the training and supervision of other groups of enlistees.

The system amounts to this: Any young man who has a high school education or better is permitted by written agreement with the Commanding General, Air Training Command, to elect a specialized course of training from some forty courses in professional schools offered by the Air Training Command. When his choice is made known to this Air Force Command upon written application, the applicant is notified when the course of training will be available to him, and he enlists knowing that this course and its pursuit in duty will be followed during his enlistment.

In spite of this offer, which probably has not received the publicity it deserves, many young men who are eligible for this training continue to go into the Air Force unassigned. Also, many continue to come in who barely meet the educational requirements for general duty. This situation has brought the Air Force to an approach to its authorized strength, and they have therefore been forced to curtail enlistments of the lower academic brackets. All Recruiting Stations throughout the country have been placed on a quota basis for Air Force enlistments of those who do not have the equivalent of a high school education. The Abilene Main Station, for example, is permitted only ten enlistments per week for Air Force unassigned groups. Therefore, those young men who meet the qualifications for specialized training are urged to take advantage of this opportunity for a choice, because there are no restrictions at present on the number of enlistments in the Air Force of this type individual.

We of the Recruiting Service strongly urge those young men who are considering an enlistment to contact the local recruiter from Abilene in their area for details of the offer.

Many ex-service men in this area may also be interested in knowing that the War Department has recently authorized enlistment for direct assignment to the European Command of men with specific Military Occupational Specialties, who must enlist in the grade of Sgt. or below, an opportunity which has been non-existent for almost two years.

The recruiting service has recently opened a sub-station in Haskell, Texas. A recruiting sergeant will be on duty there every afternoon and Saturday morning to answer any questions concerning voluntary enlistment on the draft bill.

Mrs. J. C. Harpham and daughter, Claire, and Miss Dorothy Clement were visitors in Dallas and Denton over the week end and the first of the week.

It becomes increasingly clear that it will be physically impossible for me to personally contact every voter of this district; in spite of my sincere efforts the very size of the district will prevent me from seeing everyone. If the great size of the district, coupled with the rapidly diminishing time, makes it impossible for me to contact you, please accept this as an earnest and sincere bid for your support in my race for State Representative.

In order that I might merit that support I should like for you to know that:

I am 27 years of age, married, and have on child.

I am a student in the School of Law, Texas University where I hope to obtain training that will enable me to better serve you in the field of government.

I am a veteran with 19 months overseas service.

I am a resident of Quanah, Texas.

I solicit your support WITHOUT an array of glittering promises meant to be forgotten the day after the election, but WITH a pledge of honest and IMPARTIAL service rendered to the best of my ability and dedicated ALL of the people of this district AND TO THEM ALONE. This promise I can keep.

If I have had the honor of meeting you, please let me express my appreciation for the gracious manner in which you have received my solicitations. Without an exception you have been friendly, interested, and kind. Meeting you has been a pleasure; representing you would be an honor.

Solution Of Mexican Labor Problem Seen In Move By West Texas C. of C.

Abilene—Solution of the Mexican seasonal labor problem is seen in a request made this week by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce Latin-American Commission to the Texas Good Neighbor Commission is seeking executive action by the governor. This action would include a proclamation by the governor, calling on all mayors and Chambers of Commerce in every town in Texas to use their efforts to prevent discrimination. The WTCC group also would have the governor issue executive orders to the Texas Employment Commission to exercise greater control over movement of the Mexican workers, to prevent exploiting by "jeffes" and otherwise causing overloads on communities unprepared for the influx of hordes of seasonal workers.

This plan was presented to Thomas L. Sutherland at San Angelo by Claude Meadows, Sr., chairman of the WTCC group, after its preparation by General Manager D. A. Bandeen of Abilene. For more than a month the WTCC has been getting letters from city and Chamber of Commerce officials in West Texas, outlining steps taken to provide accommodations. It was pointed out that these letters are from the highest official and civic authorities and speak with authority in their promises.

Sutherland has been asked to transmit the letters to the Mexican government in an attempt to have lifted the ban against importation of Mexican workers.

The following points were made in the presentation:

"1. That there are organized activities in every community to eliminate racial discrimination.

"2. That there are organized activities to provide necessary temporary and permanent housing, eating and entertainment facilities and many such facilities have already been extended.

"3. That educational and religious advantages are offered without discrimination.

"4. That there is a parity in compensation, and Mexican workers are paid on the same basis as any others for the same type of work, and the wage scale in West Texas is considerably higher than in Mexico.

"On the basis of these pledges, we respectfully request that the Good Neighbor Commission of the State of Texas:

"1. Urge the Governor of Texas to issue an official proclamation calling upon all city, county and Chamber of Commerce officials of Texas to take necessary steps to see that no discrimination exists in the treatment of migratory workers coming from Mexico.

"2. Urge the Governor by executive order to request the fullest cooperation of all state agencies, such as the Texas Employment Commission, to exercise their every legal power to prevent discriminations and to establish a definite good neighbor practice.

"It is further recommended that copies of these proclamations and executive orders be transmitted through the Texas Good Neighbor Commission to the proper authorities in Mexico, with the request that the ban against Mexican Nationals entering the United States may be lifted."

SPORTSMEN'S SHOW IS YEAR-ROUND EXHIBIT

Turning a fondness for outdoor sports into an indoor hobby that in turn became a traveling exhibit is the neat trick turned by Albert Saddler, an electrician in the Gambrinus, O., steel mill of The Timken Roller Bearing Company.

An avid hunter and fisherman, Saddler started his collection with a model rifle and from there it just grew. In little over a year the exhibit of some 200 miniature pieces, ranging from game animals to rifles and a frying pan, has grown out of the hobby stage and into a collection that is in constant demand by schools, churches and sportsmen's gatherings.

Included in the display are models of game birds and animals, some in their natural surroundings, guns which are fired by using match-heads as ammunition, casting and fishing equipment, a tent, cooking utensils, a hunter and even a game warden, with badge.
