OUR NEEDS FOR 1950

1. Completion of our portion of the Throckmorton road, giving the farmers of that area an all-weather outlet.
2. A farm-to-market road to the north and east of Munday, possibly connecting with the Herber road.
3. A U. S. Federal building. Munday needs a new post office home.
4. More homes in Munday. We did a good job in 1949, but there's still a housing shortage.
5. A new telephone system, giving the town adequate telephone service and tapping the rural area surrounding the town.
6. Greater cooperation of business man, farmer, and citizen toward long-range development for our community.

MISSING FACTS

An interesting editorial on certain phase of socialized medicine recently appeared in the Christian Science Monitor, which said, "The increase in reported sickness during Great Britain's first full year of socialized medicine has its significance for the United States. Much of the British program is embraced in the proposal of government medical care insurance which the Truman administration is promoting. . . .

"Sickness among adult Britons rose eight percent and workdays lost through illness 22 percent. . . . Officials credit the growth of reported illness mainly to economic reasons—people now getting medical service who previously could not afford it.

"But there are additional reasons. In the experience of European countries with compulsory sickness insurance it has long been observed that when workers are taxed for medical care they often claim it unnecessarily. That is the only way that many figure they can get something back for their money. . . .

"It is also a standard part of the government insurance system to give weekly cash payments to claimants. The chance to stay at home and live for a while with the aid of state funds frequently militates against a speedy return to work.

"These and other disadvantages of a national system of government insurance for medical care are getting no publicity from the Truman Administration. British experience, however, is bringing out some of the missing facts."

In other words, these medical schemes make malingers out of the people—even as they regiment medicine, overwork the doctors to the breaking point, and seriously reduce the standards of medical care.

We don't know how fast our automobile will run. Neither do we know how far we can lean out of a tenth-story window.

THE COUNTRY PRESS SAYS

ARTESIA, N. M., ADVOCATE: "A total of 19 states in the nation have adopted resolutions calling for the limiting of Federal spending to 25 percent of income and efforts are being made to obtain approval of 13 more states to give the necessary three-fourths to make it mandatory for Congress to submit a constitutional amendment."

ASTORIA, OREGON, BUDGET: "There is a tendency for the Federal government to step in and take over the functions which local taxing bodies cannot perform because the voters won't give them the necessary money."

"The fact that voters have indicated they would just as soon do without such functions by voting down the taxes for them is no deterrent to the Federal government."

MORGAN CITY, LA., REVIEW: "While basic material prices are rising and advances are being announced for numerous finished products at the manufacturer and distributor levels, the retail merchant generally is doing business at the old prices. Spending has not been carefree along Main Street. Plenty of goods are moving, but the customer is choosy."

KNOXVILLE, IOWA, EXPRESS: "If the government places shackles on the three largest meat packing companies it would not be long before shackles would be placed on the next ten or twenty meat packing companies and so on down the line. It would be next to impossible to socialize an industry like the meat packing business without placing the source of the raw materials under socialistic control. You farmers in . . . the entire nation better think about this and think hard before it is too late and not let socialism in this country go to such an extent that it cannot be stopped."

GORDO, ALA., PICKENS PROGRESSIVE AGE: "Public ownership or control of enterprise, public operation of a profession such as medicine, public financed housing for able bodied citizens, any enforced distribution of wealth that denies property rights; these are all standards of Socialism in any Socialistic textbook."

"We have talked entirely too much about 'security.' There has been too much emphasis on 'riskless savings' and a 'safe future.' We should do more talking about people becoming owners of business."—Emil Schram, President, New York Stock Exchange.

"We have talked entirely too much about 'security.' There has been too much emphasis on 'riskless savings' and a 'safe future.' We should do more talking about people becoming owners of business."—Emil Schram.

"It is apparent that the Federal government is headed toward an extended era of chronic deficit spending which may continue until the public debt crushes us into national insolvency."—Senator Harry F. Byrd.

after several years, she married another man.

When she was an old woman with grandchildren and her former sweetheart had long since drifted west and disappeared, the postoffice was being remodeled—and an ancient letter was found. It had slipped down between the mail case and the wall. It was the letter she had written—he had never received it.

How different many lives might have been!

The linotype operators who have to set up this "column" each week may think they have it tough—but at least it comes to them written on the typewriter. Suppose they had had to set up Horace Greeley's editorials, which were written in pencil and were almost undecipherable!

In an article, the famous New York Tribune editor quoted Shakespeare's line, "Tis true, 'tis pity and pity 'tis, 'tis true." The printer did his best to read it and here is the way the line came out in the paper, "Tis two, 'tis fifty, 'tis fifty-two, 'tis two."

Henry W. Grady was another editor who wrote a very poor hand, the reason being that the Georgian wrote with such rapidity. A letter was addressed to "Mr. H. M. Crookedmark, Atlanta, Ga." was delivered to him. And he was the man it was intended for.

Which reminds me of a story by Henry Ward Beecher. The great preacher was in the pulpit and, before beginning his sermon, was making the announcements. Someone handed him an envelope. He opened it and read aloud all that was written on the piece of paper, "The biggest fool in the city."

The congregation laughed. Beecher said, "My friends I have often heard of people so absent minded they write a letter and then forget to sign their names but this is the first time that I every knew anyone signing his name and forgetting to write the letter."

Survey Reveals Sharp Increases In Farm Taxes

Sharp increases in Texas farm and ranch real estate taxes during 1949 were revealed in a recent survey made by L. P. Gabbard, head of the Department of Agricultural Economics and Sociology, and Robert G. Cherry, professor of agricultural economics, Texas A. & M. College. Levies made by State and local governments totaled an average of 25.7 cents per acre, rising from 22.4 cents the previous year. This is an increase of 3.3 cents per acre or 15 percent over the 1948 average.

1949 was the third successive year that land taxes have advanced, say the economists. During the 11 year period, 1936-46, taxes were quite stable, varying only slightly from an average of 18 cents per acre. The typical farm or ranch tax bill in 1949 was 40 percent above that level.

Most of the rise in 1949 was accounted for by increases in State and school district taxes. County and special district levies have increased very little since 1948. The advance in the State rate on farm and ranch real estate from 42 cents per 100 dollar evaluation in 1948 to 72 cents was the largest item in the 1949 tax increase.

"Gilmer-Aikin" legislation caused part of the increase in school taxes. A considerable number of farms and ranches were in "dormant" common school districts with little or no school taxes before the legislation was passed. They point out that during 1949 many of these school units were consolidated with active districts, resulting in higher taxes.

Increases in individual counties and type-of-farming areas varied widely throughout the state. Of 197 counties in the survey, only three, Jim Wells, Eastland, and Atascosa, registered declines of as much as 5 percent. All type-of-farming areas showed increases. The highest increases occurred in the Blackland area and in the northern counties of the Grand Prairie. Many of the State's common school districts are concentrated in these areas, and numerous consolidations have occurred recently. The Lower Rio Grande Valley, parts of the Coast Prairie, and the Canadian River Grazing area had the smallest increases.

The decline in prices received for agricultural products during 1949 at the same time that taxes were increasing caused a big change in the ratio of prices to taxes. According to the economists, prices that the farmer received for his products decreased 8.9 percent from 1948 to 1949 while farm and ranch real estate taxes were advancing 15 percent. This movement of taxes and prices in the opposite direction resulted in a relative increase in taxes of 30 percent.

Although the rise in farm and ranch real estate taxes may halt temporarily in 1950, conditions indicate that the upward movement of the last three years is likely to continue, but probably at a slower rate. Public demands for expanded local governmental services such as schools, roads, and hospitals, they conclude, may cause a continued rise in local and school taxes.

Joe Spann, Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Baker and son, Kenneth Baker, now of A. & M., went to Lake Kemp over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Hallmark and Sue were visitors in Marfa with their daughter, Francis Hallmark, last week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Alton Tuggle of Fort Worth visited his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Tuggle, this week.

Jerry Parks of Arlington, Texas, Ronald Paul Luckie of Lubbock and Kenneth Harrison of Denver, Colo., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Terry Harrison this week.

J. W. Christian of Waco is visiting his sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. John Rice, this week. He is also visiting his niece and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. John Bates in Goree.

New Instrument Aids Farmer

FORD TRACTORS now coming off the assembly lines at the Ford Highland Park, Michigan, Plant are equipped with the new Proof-Meter, an instrument which "takes the guesswork out of tractor operation." Actually five instruments in one, the Proof-Meter shows engine speed, tractor speed, power take-off speed, belt pulley speed and total hours worked by the tractor. The farmer in the picture is recording hours of tractor operation for use in determining his farming costs. In the lower right hand corner is an enlarged close-up of the Proof-Meter, which Dearborn Motors officials say is the first instrument of its kind to be made available on a farm tractor.

CHURCH OF CHRIST

OUR SOURCE OF AUTHORITY IN RELIGION

Statement was made in the last article that Authority was of two kinds, viz: Primary and Delegated. Primary authority in religion resides solely in God. He, being our Maker and Preserver, has the absolute right to command and it is our duty to obey. When man was created he was given "dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over every living thing that moveth upon the earth." (Gen. 1:28). Even though man was given this authority, God retained authority over man. For an illustration we note, "And the Lord God commanded the man, saying, of every tree of the garden thou mayest freely eat; but of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil, thou shalt not eat of it; for in the day that thou eatest thereof thou shalt surely die." (Gen. 2:16,17). Now let's follow man a little further and see him in disobedience to this Primary authority, which resides solely in God. We see man taking upon himself the authority, which was never delegated to him, of partaking of the forbidden fruit. When he did this he was driven from the beautiful Garden of Eden, where he and his helpmeet had dwelt from their creation. (Gen. 3:22-24). The Son of God recognized the Primary authority of God, when he walked among men over the Judean hills and in the cities of Galilee. Hear him, "For I come down from heaven, not to do mine own will, but the will of him that sent me." (John 6:38). He not only kept the Father's will, but he taught that people in that time, as well as us today must keep and do the Father's will. Said the Christ, "Not everyone that saith unto me Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that DOETH THE WILL of my Father which is in heaven." (Matt. 7:21). Thus we have studied in this article, who has Primary authority and in whom it lies. More to follow.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Claims He Wants In On Assistance Plan, But Later He Backs Out On It

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson farm on Miller Creek, for the first time in his life, has backed down on accepting some help, his letter this week reveals.

Dear editor: I was sitting on the front porch yesterday afternoon since my wife was attending a Home Demonstration meeting on how to get more work out of husbands and spent the day watching the wind blow a newspaper around in the front yard and along about 4 o'clock the paper sailed up close enough to where I could reach out and pick it up without getting up and I did and then rested a few minutes and opened it up and read where President Truman has signed a bill for three billion dollars for foreign aid.

As I understand the bill, it is designed to help develop backward areas, and I would like for you to find out why my farm wouldn't come under that classification. Of course it wouldn't qualify as no foreign country, and I know Europe comes ahead of me, I ain't never caused a war, but if the government is really interested in helping backward areas, it oughtn't to let the fact I speak English and ain't never started a war or defaulted on a war loan stand in the way of improvin my area too.

However, I discovered by reading further, there is one catch in the bill which cools me off considerably and I imagine it will chill them foreign countries too.

Accordin to the bill, the three billion dollars is for "technical assistance" to under-developed areas.

I can speak for myself and I think I can for most of Europe when I say we ain't near as interested in technical assistance as we are in out-and-out assistance. We got plenty of the former. I can drop a hint now to the county agent for the triple A or the Soil Conservation Service and get more technical advice in a day than I could follow in a hundred years. This country is over-run with technical assistance, what I'm interested in is outright assistance.

If technical assistance is all it's gonna amount to, let Europe have it. I had a technician out here one time advisin me what to do with this place. It would have wrecked it, and me too.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Banding Of Ducks Begins In Texas

AUSTIN—Two determined young wildlife biologists invaded the southeast Texas rice marshes this week on a prolonged duck banding project. They are Gus Engeling and Don Duncan. Headquarters are at Rosenberg, southwest of Houston.

The mottled duck, the principal native Texas waterfowl species, is the primary objective. Game management staffers of the Game, Fish and Oyster Commission seek more data about this bird which provides considerable sport for Texas hunters.

Armed only with leg bands for the birds and generous quantities of mosquito repellent for themselves, the men hope to band several hundred ducks between now and late August. Last summer, 240 mottled ducks were banded. Hunters returned 29 of the bands to Austin game department headquarters.

By tagging both young and old birds, the biologists have determined that this game species, so popular with hunters because of its size and tastiness, concentrate mainly in a 100-mile strip along the Texas coast. They also are found along the coast of Louisiana and of Mexico.

Mottled ducks look so much like mallards that they frequently are mistaken for the former, according to the Director of Wildlife Restoration. He said the mottled species are darker and that they are white beneath their wings. Males do not have green heads or curled tail feathers like mallard males. Thus it is difficult to distinguish mottled males and females.

The Director said the mottled ducks provide as much as 20 percent of the birds bagged during the early season in southeast Texas. In some unusually abundant years they have accounted for 40 percent of the hunters' early bags.

have a better education." Every district in the state has waged intensive campaigns to get children in school and keep them there, Sturgeon said. Schools have expanded or instituted classes in shop work to interest older children. Classes for handicapped children have increased 50 percent. They, like many other special school services, were made possible by allocation of state funds under Gilmer-Aikin school laws. Visual aid facilities have been augmented, Sturgeon said, increasing the interest of children in school work. School terms of six weeks to two months during the summer are popular in many sections of the state, according to Sturgeon.

These make it possible for students to complete their annual scholastic work and yet allow schools to be dismissed during cotton picking time. Sturgeon also reported inroads being made on the problem of regular attendance of Latin-American and Negro pupils. Itinerant workers are prone to leave their children in school only two or three months of the year, at most, Sturgeon pointed out.

Some districts which have Latin-American and Negro populations reported gains in attendance of 15 percent and more during the last school year as compared with less than 5 percent state-wide gain. But even with the increase in attendance, there are still approximately 150,000 children of school age in Texas who are not enrolled, Sturgeon said. These are children whose parents are starting them in school a year late or older children who do not enter high school. One of the most serious problems confronting school districts is lack of classroom facilities, according to Charles H. Tennyson, executive secretary of the Texas State Teachers Association.

Surveys by that organization and state school officials show that 50 percent of the school districts this year increased their classroom facilities. Many others will add classrooms during 1950 and '51, Tennyson said. "These necessary additional facilities will be made available due to increased revenue obtained by the schools through the new and equitable laws which produce more funds, from both state and local taxes," Tennyson said.

Joyous confidence and eager participation both shine in the eyes of 8-year-old Virginia Lee Brown, Borger, Texas, polio patient in the out-patient clinic of the Texas Scottish Rite Hospital for Crippled Children in Dallas. L. R. German, brace maker (left) has assured Virginia that she will soon walk again. Her father, T. A. Brown, (right) lends a helping hand in fitting the specially made braces. Many children, polio victims and others, get the best possible medical care and attention at the Scottish Rite Hospital. The charity hospital, now serving humanity for 27 consecutive years, is supported by contributions from kind-hearted Texans all over the state.

as and Johnston says these infestations should be brought under control as rapidly as weather conditions permit. Right now, he says, Texas cotton producers are at the crossroads so far as the 1950 cotton crop is concerned and the wet, cloudy weather is not helping the farmer in his fight against his insect enemies. He says it's a fight to the finish and nothing less than a continuous battle will control the insect threat. He recommends that you check with your county agent on the best sprays and dusts to use and that no time be wasted in getting control measures in operation, once the bugs hit the cotton field.

Boll Weevil Serious Threat To Cotton Crop

In practically all sections of the State, except the western areas, the boll weevil is a serious threat to this year's cotton crops. Dr. H. G. Johnston, head of the entomology department of Texas A. & M. College, says the threat is the most serious in many years. He says because of this serious threat from the boll weevil, farmers in north-central, eastern and northeastern areas should continue early season applications of insecticides. Normally this procedure would not be recommended, but he points out that any let down on insect control now may mean a serious loss to the 1950 cotton crop. He urges farmers to watch their fields closely and to check at least once a week each field for injurious infestations of not only the boll weevil but other cotton insects as well. When the infestations become heavy enough to cause damage, he recommends that sprays or dusts be applied immediately regardless of the date. Fields can easily become reinfested and should this happen, control measures should be applied at once. Thrips or aphids are still causing some damage in North Tex-

Atkeison's FOOD STORE

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by Dr. Geo. W. Cox M. D., State Health Officer of Texas

AUSTIN—Food poisoning and the spread of food-borne diseases can be "things of the past," State Health Officer Geo. W. Cox asserted here today.

"People need only remember three things to bring about the end of the food poisoning disease classification," Dr. Cox declared. "Buy food from safe sources, prepare it in a sanitary fashion, and serve and store it correctly."

He said state laws covered the sale of contaminated food to the housewife, but "only the homemaker can see that food is properly stored and cleanly prepared for serving to the family."

There is a difference between food infection and food intoxication, he pointed out. Food infection comes from eating or drinking a product contaminated by a germ. Dysentery, typhoid fever, paratyphoid fever and tuberculosis are examples. Animal parasites can also gain entry to the body in this way. That, the doctor said, is how people get trichinosis and tapeworm.

The growth and multiplication of certain toxin forming bacteria in unrefrigerated foods bring on food intoxication, according to the explanation. This is the source of staphylococcus infection and deadly botulism. Some kinds of mushrooms and certain shellfish are also poisonous.

Some poisonous substances may be accidentally introduced into food, Dr. Cox said. "For instance, rodent and insect poisons, spray residues on fruit and vegetables, and poisons from metal containers."

To point up the deadliness of some food poisons, he related the story of the housewife who suspected some home-canned
