

Kracker Krumb's Odd Bits Salvaged At Random

Boy! Is your face red? We were asked that question via post card from over Seymour way this week. The card was signed J. E. C. Above the question was a clipping from this column last week, as follows: "We feel that, as long as our American Legion is manned by the type of men who are not at its helm, we need have no fear as to the success of the organization." And our face was red! Go back and read—if you're reading—the above paragraph and change that "not" to "now" and you'll see what we were trying to say. As Russell Penick, commander of the American Legion, said when we called his attention to it, "That word just tore down everything good you were trying to say. But everybody makes mistakes sometimes." Funny thing, though, is how readily people, including J. E. C. of Seymour, call the editor's attention to mistakes in his weekly effort.

But if we were to publish one issue without a single error—which we don't expect to do and considering the many and varied opportunities we have to make them—wouldn't a soul call the editor's attention to it.

We're starting a new sort of news item this week. It's going to be called "C. D. A. News."

With the cooperation of the president and secretary of the Community Development Association, this will appear about twice a month, following the directors' meetings.

Its purpose is to try to keep the members and public informed as to the many things and problems which the community has to be solved.

The item this week covers briefly what happened during a 7:30 to 11 o'clock session Monday night. We had a feeling of relief Monday night as we realized for the first time in three years, we didn't feel compelled to attend the meeting. You see we went off as a director.

After three years, we know some of their problems, we know their limitations, we know they get cussings, etc., and they have our best wishes.

We believe the organization would be a better one if every member would help the directors in carrying out the four things the president pointed out recently in mailing new 1951 membership cards. They are:

- 1. Spirit of unity in our community. 2. Co-operation of each member on our community projects. 3. Cooperation of the members with the directors in carrying out the work of the association. 4. Willingness to serve on a committee when appointed.

The last two paragraphs in the latter are fine, too. They state what has been the sincere desire of the C. D. A. directors since the Community Development Association was organized.

We reckon it won't be amiss to quote them here:

"We want you to know that you are always welcome to attend any Board of Directors' meetings on every second and fourth Monday nights of each month."

"The directors are striving to make our organization the best in this area, and without your cooperation our efforts will be in vain. Our aims are to do more things that will help the community, and if you have any suggestions, please submit them at any time."

If all members would follow these suggestions, the boys who serve as C. D. A. directors wouldn't feel like they were butting their heads against a brick wall so often.

Benjamin Buys New Rural Fire Fighting Truck

New fire fighting equipment which will enable the city of Benjamin to combat fires in rural areas as well as in the city proper had recently been added to the Benjamin Fire Department, it was announced this week. Included in the purchase was a 1948 model 2-ton Chevrolet truck which is equipped with a Hardie high pressure fire fighting unit. This new unit will develop 800 pounds of pressure which a "traveling pump" for fighting grass fires has also been installed. The truck has a capacity of 700 gallons of water and it is also equipped for pumping water from any available supply, it was stated. The equipment was purchased at a total cost of around $6,800, while the $2,800 down payment was raised by the finance committee of the Benjamin Fire Department through the voluntary contributions of citizens of Benjamin and neighboring towns and interested ranchers. Benjamin also maintains an additional truck which is always available in case the new equipment is called to combat a rural or grass fire.

All of Family Work Together To Build New Home; Dream of Fifteen Long Years To Soon Be Realized

High on a hilltop northeast of Goree, with a wonderful view of the Brazos river to the north a lovely new home is nearing completion. It's a home that ordinarily would cost around $35,000 to build today—but it's being built for an expenditure of between $12,000 and $15,000. And therein lies a story. It's a story of hard work, careful planning, fine cooperation ingenuity and determination. Blanche Haskins was a girl who was reared on the farm and she loved the farm. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Haskins, who reside north east of Goree. She fell in love with and married Melborn Morse, and they went to Dallas to live. After some two years, Blanche grew tired of city life. She was unhappy away from the farm and longed for the wide open spaces again. One day Melborn said to his wife: "We've tried it in the city and haven't made a go of it. Now we'll try it for a same period of time on the farm and see how it works out." Back they came to Goree to work out their future married life. Friends predicted they would last one year on the farm. Mr. Haskins placed them on a small farm way down in the river breaks and told them what they made on it was theirs. They started to work, and son, Melborn was completely in love with the life on the farm. They started out with mules but in 1936 they purchased a Model B John Deere tractor. They now have a later model John Deere, but the old 36 model is still in operation and in fine repair.

THE MELBORN MORSE HOME

On the wall of the implement shed is a chart, and Melborn can glance at this and tell you how many hours each of his tractors has been operated, when oil was changed, when repairs were made, etc. Those repairs are made right on the farm. Melborn has his own tools, his own air compressor, welding torch, and can make any type of repair. "It costs too much to have to run to town every time you need repairs or have a flat fixed," he said. But back to the home, which is being constructed without a dime of labor cost. Mr. and Mrs. Morse and their children are doing the work—all of it. They cleaned off the hilltop some 15 years ago, moving some of the dirt with a horse-drawn Fresno, but that's as far as they got at the time. Planning and thought continued. After ten years of actual planning, they were ready to begin construction. They had no architect, but they drew their own floor plan and went to work. Their children, Elwynn, who is 17 years old and Glenda Ardelle, 12, are members of the "Morse Construction Co., Inc." too. Our son deserves lots of credit," Mrs. Morse said. Construction was started on the last day of August, 1950, and their records last Friday showed that from one to three persons have worked on the home a total of 136 days. They don't let it interfere with their farming operations. A nice basement and a 7,000-gallon underground cistern were dug by hand. A storm-proof wire fence surrounds the lovely home. The fence is 100 feet in width by 143 feet in length, and was constructed of galvanized pipe and fittings set in concrete. The home has 3,300 feet of floor space, including the double garage and basement. Its concrete foundation is constructed so the walls can be bricked later but at present its outside surface is of white asbestos shingles. When we drove to the scene with Cliff Moorman, Melborn was sanding the floors in preparation for laying a tile floor. Mrs. Morse (or Blanche) had her paint brush and was finishing the ceiling of one room. The two children were in school. The home has seven rooms and bath, a basement, large hall and double garage. Rain And Snow Bring Moisture

High wind, drifting sand some rain and snow and cooler weather have come our way this week but moisture has been very light. Following a day of wind and sand Tuesday, rain began falling shortly after dark Tuesday night. Quite a peppering of snow was reported at about ten o'clock, almost covering the ground at one time. But it was all over in a short time—and the official rain gauge of H. P. Hill, U. S. Weather Observer, recorded on 14 of an inch moisture.

Oil Activities

Stanolind Oil and Gas Co. No. 1 Thomas, four miles northeast of Knox City, was coring below 4,262 feet in the Palo Pinto reef several days ago. The reef, topped at 4,242 feet was drilled to 4,257 feet, with the section drilling at the rate of four minutes per foot. Drillstem test of 90 minutes recovered 990 feet of heavily oil and gas-cut mud, one gallon of free oil. Core from 4,257 to 4,262 feet recovered four feet of dense lime with slight show of oil. Continental Oil Company No. 1 B. B. Campbell, a 6200 foot rotary test four miles northwest of Knox City, a wildcat, was moving rig to location in preparation for drilling the first of this week.

New Books Are Added Library

Three new books for children. The Adventures of Pinocchio. The Iliad of Homer, and The Odyssey of Homer, have recently been added to the Munday public library. The Adventures of Pinocchio is still the naughty, vain, boastful and cock puppet who can think of more mischievous things than any child could, but still come out on top. The two books about Homer, a blind singer who sang songs of chivalry at the court of kings and princes, has been retold by Alfred J. Church and illustrated by John Flaxman. Both stories have been presented in a simplified prose form to make them easy for the younger children to understand and enjoy. The illustrations are associated with the text of the books so that children will love and understand the stories. The Iliad of Homer actually deals with the war of the Achillean against the Agamemnonians and the wrath of Troy and the recovery of Helen of Troy. The Odyssey of Homer narrates the adventures of Odysseus while he returned to his native home, the island of Ithaca. Unlike The Iliad, this book deals with the romantic, marvelous and domestic; therefore, it is more modern in tone and appeal. The library committee urges children of all ages to read these books, since they are very educational and adventurous.

MORE GOODS AND BETTER GOODS

Retail sales are one of the best barometers of a nation's living standards—most of our spendable income goes across store counters. And here the American experience has been a remarkable one.

In 1939, these sales totaled $42,000,000,000. In 1946 they passed the $100,000,000,000 mark. And last year they soared to the record figure of $140,000,000,000.

This, of course, is in large part a reflection of the general rise in prices during the last ten years. But that tells but part of the story. The average family buys more goods and better goods than it ever did before. And the purchasing power of the worker, measured by the amount of working time he must earn enough to buy this commodity or that, steadily increased.

We credit the American system of mass production for such achievements as these, and deservedly so. But we must also credit mass production's all-important partner—mass distribution. Our magnificent productive machine would be of small value to the consumer without a machine of comparable efficiency to bring him the goods. The tens of thousands of retail establishments that blanket this country constitute that machine. Their existence depends upon pleasing the fickle public—the store which fails there will soon lose its trade to a competitor down the block. And they provide their essential service at a far more modest profit than is realized.

Some believe that retail sales may increase by 10 percent this year as compared with last. In any event, the buyer may be sure that he will get the best possible value for his money—and that goes for periods of high prices as well as periods of low prices.

WELL CARED FOR NATION

Dr. Frank G. Dickinson, economist and statistician of the American Medical Association, told the Federation of State Medical Boards of the United States in address, that "we are more likely to have a surplus of physicians in the United States in the Nineteen Sixties than we are to have a deficit." He went on to say:

"The tremendous changes in medical practice wrought by the introduction of the wonder drugs, the expanded use of auxiliary personnel by physicians . . . and the increase in the percentage of patients treated in the office and in the hospital rather than in the home, have combined greatly to increase the technological efficiency of physicians.

"Are we laymen going to say there is a shortage of physicians if one has to spend more than thirty minutes getting to a physician or travel more than thirty miles? Is there a shortage of medical schools unless every qualified candidate can be admitted to medical school?" It would be a splendid thing if the services of a physician were instantly available to everyone desiring them. But this is a huge country, much of it sparsely settled. There are whole counties, embracing hundreds of square miles, in which the population is so small and scattered that it would be an economic impossibility to support a physician or to keep him occupied. Even so, modern means of communication and transportation usually make it possible to visit or call in a doctor in a brief period of time.

The big fact is that we have the best medical care of any nation—and that care is steadily improving. Would that situation be bettered under a system of government—dominated or socialized medical service which made the doctor a creature of politics?

NATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL WEEK

The week of April 9 to 15 is National Sunday School Week.

For the past generation the United States has been under the shadow and effects of world wars. We have had depressions and false prosperity caused by war. We have been so busy with material matters that many of us have forgotten the simpler things that make life really worthwhile.

How many families dress up on Sunday morning and go to church and Sunday School as was the custom in less strenuous days? Children are losing something by being ought of touch with some religious activity. Going to Sunday School give a child an intangible character foundation to tie to in later life.

Six years ago a group of public spirited citizens of all faiths established in the United States a National Non-Sectarian Sunday School Week. It is asking little of parents to devote an hour or so each week to see that their children have an opportunity to attend some Sunday School. An important time to begin is now.

 Bills and belies and bawls . . . make things tough and tight,
 What nerve it takes to work all month . . . and be broke pay-day night.

Where does your money go . . . what makes it slide so quick?
 It goes only half as far . . . or gets there twice as quick.

 Cause we won't do as much for it . . . and that's why it has slid.

MR. D.A.'s CRIME CALENDAR

MARCH is the Month for . . .
RURAL CRIMES. Farm-bound (and often snow-bound) through the long winter months, rural dwellers now find themselves out-of-doors and rarin' to go. Pent-up emotions are suddenly loosed, old flames and animosities re-aggrieved. Result: violence, burglary, aggravated assault and purple crime keep country law enforcement officers hopping. You can name an upswing in rural infractions in almost every crime category. This is not merely the hazarding of a guess: crime reports covering farm areas jumped 7.4 per cent this time last year and are still on the rise. Homicide and auto thefts, oddly enough, drop noticeably in rural areas.

THE EQUINOX: Crimes are seasonal. Late this month, the sun's center crosses the equator and days and nights become of equal length. In many ways the seasonal change affects people strangely. In some respects the personality change takes a trend toward rash, ungovernable action—and law-breaking. Persons never before involved in such matters are suddenly—but here predictably—mixed up in violent physical outbursts influencing their entire lives.

ADULT DELINQUENCY: The kids are well into the year's first semester after an early revolt against the discipline of the classroom. Sporadic incidents of juvenile delinquency will continue to crop up but on the whole, with mid-term exams staring them in the face, the youngsters will not break out of their rebellious shell until summer vacations. But parental delinquents will be up and doing! The children being occupied removes that aspect of their own obligations—so the grown-ups step out, have a good time, become careless, and get into trouble!

"The good old days" is a subject that stirs the imagination of most of us. When the Rockland County Leader of Spring Valley, New York, was 50 years old, its editor, W. R. Sherwood wrote a poem, looking backward through the years. Editor M. S. Sellers of the Rising Star Record, republished it:
 I keep thinking of Spring Valley
 As it was so long ago.
 Can you, too, remember, Martha
 Back, say, fifty years or so?

It was such a pretty village,
 Stores and houses side by side,
 Here a store, there a dwelling
 With a green lawn stretching wide.

And a picket fence around it,
 And perhaps a tree or two.
 I know folks won't quite believe it
 But we oldsters know it's true.

Country roads were dark and lonesome,
 There was no electric light.
 We hung lanterns on our wagons
 When we drove to town at night.

Schools were good and so were churches,
 Though quite different in that day—
 One thing, we had no school buses,
 Had to walk then, all the way.

Sometimes I feel sort of homesick
 For the church as it was then.
 When a man was not thought quiet
 If he chanced to say "Amen."
 But I guess that's just a fancy—
 Just an old man's backward look.
 For though churches may be different,
 They still use the same old

May. State headquarters originally had intended to examine around 10,000 men in May, but cut the figure down after the April induction call was reduced from 4,150 to 2,075. Brigadier General Paul L. Wakefield, state Selective Service director, said.

General Wakefield said that local board quotas for the May physical examinations and May inductions are now in the hands of local boards. The May induction quota for the state is 3,112.

May physical examination quota for the state will bring the number of those called for that purpose since beginning of the Korean fight to 88,117.

Pre-induction examinations and induction are carried out by Fourth Army joint examining and induction stations at Abilene, Amarillo, Corpus Christi, Dallas, El Paso, Houston, San Antonio, Shreveport, and Texarkana.

Washington News Letter

By Congressman Ed Gossett

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 7—The Senate this week finished the so-called "great debate." It perhaps was not a very great debate after all and no one is sure what, if anything, was accomplished. Of more importance, perhaps, is the debate now going on in the House on the so-called Manpower Bill, i. e., the draft and universal military training bill all rolled into one. Congress is certain to extend the draft. There is much opposition to the present provisions in the bill on universal military training. The bill, in brief, provides that a commission be appointed by the President with power to draw up a military training bill. This commission would report a bill to Congress and if Congress did not repudiate the bill by resolution within 60 days of its submission, it would become program to abolish all forms of segregation. They may eventually succeed in the complete mongrelization of American society.

The Displaced Persons Commission was before the Subcommittee on Immigration upon which I serve this week. They are asking for a six months extension of the DP program. By March of this year, 240,000 DP's had been admitted. The program end under present legislation, on June 30, by which time it is estimated that 285,000 will have been admitted. The Commission want to extend its life in order to bring in an additional 35 or 40 thousand. The current newsletter from the U. S. Customs Service in New York reports on several DP's whom they have intercepted and searched a few days ago. One Leiser Weitman had in the heels of his shoes 11 packages of diamonds totaling 718 carats worth more than $100,000. Later in the detention house he was found to have 1100 more carats concealed inside his body, of the value of $650,000. On the day following Weitman's apprehension, one Ellis Hoff man just arrived from Holland had concealed 1674 carats of diamonds of the value of $696,000. Later, in a cache found in the hollowed supports of her luggage was found other diamonds of the value of $60,000. A few days later, great quantities of jewelry and silver were found concealed in the luggage of one Joseph Orzechowski. One hundred and fifty-six watches were found artfully concealed in the baggage of one Jacob Weirza. The custom's officials are to be commended for this good work. Of course, one knows how many get by with smuggling or how many wolves in sheep clothing are admitted.

Buzz And The Off-Key Baritones

Reverend Lester of the church out on Hillshoro Road coaches his Young Peoples' Choir late Thursday afternoons—after high school basketball practice lets out.

Buzz Ellis pastures cows next to that church. Around 5 o'clock they used to make a lot of racket about wanting to go home. That made it kind of rough on the choir.

When Buzz learned what was going on he said to Reverend Lester: "I never yet heard of a cow that could moo on key. So, I'll just move 'em in a little earlier..." This started me to thinking. Buzz doesn't go to that church. And he's so tone-deaf he couldn't carry a tune in a bucket!

From where I sit, you might say that Buzz didn't have much in common with those singers. But he doesn't divide folks into groups he's "with" or "agin." Your politics, your personal preferences—or the fact that you like a moderate glass of beer—mean nothing either way to Buzz. He's a real neighbor to everybody!

law. Many of us feel that this is an unwise delegation of legislative power and that Congress and not some commission appointed by the President, should write UMT legislation. We do not want Anna Rosenberg doing it. It is hoped this provision of the bill will be changed before final passage.

In the newsletter he is mailing out this week, my colleague, Congressman Olin Teague, of College Station, discusses a UMT bill he has drawn. Of his bill, he says: "Under this UMT program, the average youngster would be liable for 4 months basic military training in a special training corps in his eighth year. Immediately upon completion of basic training he would have to elect one of nine alternate programs to enter to fulfill the balance of his UMT requirements. Among these alternatives are additional active duty; entry into one of the reserve programs; entry into an officer training program (including college ROTC) or entry into a university for military technical or specialist training. The program would be directed by a civilian commission to be appointed by the President. The main advantages of this program would be that (a) it is definite and would allow the youngsters and their families to make definite plans; (b) it would not be necessary to interrupt a youngster's education or career since 4 months basic training could be taken during a summer and an alternate program selected which would fit in with what ever plans he had; (c) the program would be controlled and directed by civilians; and (d) the program would build a large trained reservoir of manpower on a permanent, democratic basis."

I agree substantially with Congressman Teague. It has always been my contention that a UMT program should, first, be controlled by civilians, and secondly, it should give to the young man at least a half dozen alternate methods which he could satisfy the requirements. It should be designed to be the least disruptive of normal living and designed to build character and intellect, as well as train the youngsters to fit into a useful slot in the event of war. Few of us would subscribe to the European style of Universal Military Training. National strength lies in a great deal more than simply armies and armament. We have created and are creating many things through scientific techniques and synthetic processes

Men of strong character cannot be produced through synthetic processes.

One amendment which will be very controversial in this bill, is the so-called Winstead amendment. This amendment provides that "insofar as practical" the Government shall respect a boy's wishes as to service in a segregated unit. Adam Powell, Negro Congressman from New York, is offering an amendment to strike this provision. The socializers in our country have been very successful and are making rapid strides in their

Pendleton Has Guests For Stay At Lake Kemp

H. A. Pendleton, district manager of the Paymaster Gins entertained a group of guests at his camp, "Rye Cove" on Lake Kemp on April 4, 5, and 6.

The group enjoyed the relaxation and boating. They also reported plenty of fish and enjoyed steaks off the Knox County 4-H Club champion beef. Included in the party were the following:

Chas. A. Bennett, chief engineer, U. S. Experiment Station, Leland, Miss.; John McColium, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Dallas; Ivan J. Campbell, vice-president and editor of the Cotton Gin and Oil Mill Press, Dallas; A. M. Pendleton, cotton gin specialist, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Dallas; George C. Crook, engineer, Western Cotton Oil Co., Abilene; Roy F. Saunders, cotton improvement program, Western Cotton Oil Co., Munday; Mark Wadzeck, manager, Western Cotton Oil Co., Munday; A. D. Brown, cotton Big Spring; H. D. Mason of Bullington-Mason Co., Wichita Falls; and H. A. Pendleton, Jr., vice president, First National Bank, Wichita Falls.

4-H Clubs Are Making Plans For '51 Work

4-H meetings were held in the Munday, Goree, Sunset, Gilliland, Vera and Benjamin schools on April 3rd and 4th. by W. C. Pallmeyer, County Agent, and meetings are set for Knox City and Rhineland for April 12th.

At these meetings plan of work for 4-H members was discussed, and programs that 4-H members were interested in were planned. These programs included beef cattle, swine sheep, chickens, gardens, field crops, orchards, and rabbits. In addition, a farm and home electric program is started in which 4-H members check their home to see different ways that electricity may be used to make their work faster and easier.

Another program that was started was farm and safety. Many members were enrolled in this program which consists of making regular checks of the home to see if any hazards can be found that might cause an accident. These hazards are removed thus eliminating the chance of accident and making the home safer.

A wildlife program has also been explained to the members and many are showing interest in conserving the birds and animals of the county. The program consists of making shelters for the birds and feeding them when there is nothing left in the winter for them to feed on. A system of controlled hunting will be enforced on the demonstrators' places and game demonstrator signs are being obtained to mark the plots that are to be included in the 4-H conservation demonstrations.

The last series of meetings that will be held before the close of school will be held the first week in May and for this program a form showing the 4-H work carried on in Texas and Mexico will be shown. Also at this meeting it will be determined if there is sufficient interest to hold 4-H meetings during the summer months.

Another reminder for the May 4-H meetings are that the letters in the Sears pig contest are due, and that members who have not decided on their projects should do so by that time. In the interest of good 4-H work each member must pick out some phase of agriculture to work with, and if it is possible for the bys to work with some crop, animal, or bird, the safety, electricity, and wildlife programs may be used.

At the six meetings that have been held, 35 new members have been added to the 4-H rolls. At future meetings, boys between the ages of 9 to 21 that are interested in 4-H work are invited to attend the meetings, and if interested they may join. Members are free to select their projects, and there are no joining fees, or dues.

Munday Boy Is Working Out With College Gridders

West Texas State's Border Conference football champions open their spring training here with Coach Frank Kimbrough looking for a "power-speed" combination to replace his effective "Wright-Cross" duo who graduate this spring.

A total of 55 prospects answered the first call with 26 of them being varsity lettermen and another 16 lettermen up from last years mediocre fresh squad. New students and transfers made up the remainder.

"We have a long, long way to go," said Kimbrough on opening day. "We will sorely miss those 14 seniors and the oss of Tommy Jinks to the Marines and R. C. Dalton, Jerry Glass, Jim Bob Newman and Sonny Windom to the Air Force are mighty big blows."

Only two regulars from the conference and Sun Bowl champions of last fall will be back Joe Spann, Munday end, and all-conference center Bob Kelley Bovina, are the two returning regulars.

Country Agent Gives Tips On Gardening

Retail food prices have continued to rise, thereby making the home garden more valuable. Indications are that more home gardens are being planted there by providing for a better balanced diet for families and a saving on the food budget.

Gardening information may be obtained from your local county agent and Bulletin B 70 is very helpful as to garden care, varieties of vegetables to plant, and insect control. Information on 4-H garden contests may also be obtained.

Now is the time to plant the following vegetables: Squash cucumbers, pole snap beans bush beans, pole or lima, cantaloupes, cream, blackeye or purple hull peas, okra, pepper plants, New Zealand spinach eggplant and watermelons. If not already planted, spinach, onions, potatoe, mustard, English peas, radishes, carrots, and sweet corn should be planted.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Grammer and twin daughters and son, were here a while Tuesday and Wednesday visiting relatives on their way to Alabama.

Pfc. Joseph Borden returned to Fort Hood last Saturday after a 14 day furlough with friends and relatives.

Miss Bobbye Price was a business visitor in Dallas over the week end and the first of this week.

Mrs. Dee Mullican and Mrs. Roy Bullington were visitors in Knox City Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Leflar were visitors in Shamrock over the week end.

FARM NEWS

From the County PMA Committee

USDA ANNOUNCES SETTLEMENT TERMS FOR WAREHOUSE LOANS

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has announced that if the market value of certain commodities under Commodity Credit Corporation warehouse loan is in excess of the loan value plus interest and charges at the time the CCC takes over the commodities the farmer will be paid the difference.

Commodities covered by this announcement include grain sorghums, wheat, oats, barley rye, rice, corn, Buffalo grass seed and hay, pasture and range seed. Maturity date on loans on grain sorghums is March 31, 1951. On Buffalo grass seed maturity date is September 30, 1951. On all other commodities the maturity date is April 30, 1951.

Warehouse receipts for these commodities under warehouse loans remaining unredeemed on the above dates will be taken over by CCC. If the market value as of the close of the market on the final date of payment of the loan value, plus interest and charges, the excess will be paid by CCC, but only producers are eligible to receive payments.

Producers who have warehouse storage loans may pay their notes before maturity date if they choose. They are urged to do so in those instances where current prices are above the loan plus carrying charges. Producers desiring to redeem their warehouse loans must have the funds placed in the mail on or before the final date for repayment.

Department officials pointed out that this announcement applies only to warehouse loans and does not modify in any way the operations of the price support program for farm-stored commodities on those supported by purchase agreements.

Edith Marilyn Reeves And Dr. John M. Pierson Marry Here On Saturday

The First Baptist Church at Munday was the scene Saturday night of the wedding of Miss Edith Marilyn Reeves, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Reeves of Weinert, and Dr. John M. Pierson of Palisades, California. Rev. J. Temple Lewis officiated at the double ring ceremony. Mrs. J. F. Gadenhead Sr., of Haskell, organist, played the musical music. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of candlelight slipper satin fashioned with a sweetheart neckline bordered with seed pearls and embroidered in a floral and star-point design. The full skirt formed a regal train. Her veil of imported illusion was attached to a halo decorated with flowers of seed pearls and rhinestones. It was designed by Mrs. Pearl Monke of Weinert. She carried an arrangement of white orchids atop a white Bible.

Reception Held

The reception which followed was held in the church parlor. When the couple left on a wedding trip to Carlsbad Caverns and Grand Canyon and Boulder Dam, the bride was wearing a navy suit with navy and white accessories and a corsage of white orchids.

Before her marriage the bride served as head nurse at St. Vincent's Hospital in Los Angeles. She was graduated from Park

DALLAS—Mildred Coffman, Goree student, participated in the Second Annual Southern Methodist University Music Festival April 27.

The festival featured four operas, in which SMU music students performed in company with professional musicians. Operas were: "Samson and Delilah;" "The Maid as Mistress;" and "Carmen."

Last year's SMU Music Festival brought together in concert for the first time three major symphony orchestras of Texas: those of Dallas, Houston and San Antonio.

Miss Coffman is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orb Coffman of Goree. She is a member of the SMU Choral Union and is a junior piano student at SMU.

Alyce Ann Martin of Seymour visited in the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Reeves, over the week end.

Walter Medley of Santa Rosa, New Mexico, spent the week end in the home of his sister Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Warren.

For Leaves

Reports from ROTO-BALER owners say that weather-resistant rolled bales contain more leaves. Livestock eat rolled hay better because it is soft, sweet and retains its natural color.

Here are some of the things farmers wanted to know:

Would rolled bales really shed showers? Would they handle and transport easily? Would livestock eat them without waste, fed whole or unrolled? Could straw for bedding be rolled out without shaking?

The ROTO-BALER has answered "yes" to each of these questions, satisfying farmers everywhere. Stop in and ask us for a free booklet on rolled bales and the ROTO-BALER.

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by Dr. Geo. W. Cox
M. D., State Health Officer of Texas

AUSTIN—With a few well-placed bites a tiny little six-legged animal, so small it's hardly discernible without a microscope can make a red-eyed, itchy in somnolent out of a sound sleeper. Whether you call them red bugs, harvest mites, chiggers or Eutrochium alfreddugesi, their scientific name, State Health Officer George W. Cox warns you are due to meet them this spring and summer, especially in lawns of Bermuda grass.

Chiggers, Dr. Cox says, can spot an unkept lot a block off, and take to those places like a hungry chicken takes to corn. When you're enjoying a lounge outside in a balmy spring evening, they'll go to work. The itching starts at bedtime, and continues all night.

Seems as though chiggers have declared open season on humanity beginning about May and lasting until cold weather or fall and winter reduces their (the chiggers') numbers. Contrary to common belief, Dr. Cox says they do not burrow into the skin but merely attach themselves by their mouthparts and suck blood until they are girded.

That severe itching is caused by anti-coagulant material they inject into their host, according to the health official. Favorite spots seem to be feet, hands and stomach. Secondary infection in the form of boils and sores results from persistent scratching. Dr. Cox says chiggers are tough to control in heavily wooded sections, but in lawns, camp sites, and picnic grounds where grass can be cut loose, the job can be done inexpensively and without much trouble.

He recommends dusting or spraying the area with crude benzene hexachloride at the rate of 2 to 5 pounds per acre.

"Your summer will be more pleasant for the effort, the doctor advised.

Miss Maurice Patterson, who is attending Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene, visited with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Patterson, over the week end.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Says The Racketeers Are Very Busy, But Crime Is Not Increasing Out There

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek takes an optimistic note this week his letter reveals.

Dear editor: A group of my neighbors and me was considering organizing a crime investigation committee out here, but the radio facilities are so poor I doubt if we could get a audience big enough to make the thing worthwhile, but as a substitute we listened to everything we could hear on the radio and read all we could find in the newspapers about the other investigations, the senior one in New York and the junior one in Austin, and since about everything has been said about the discoveries that could be said, ain't no use in me commentin'.

Understand in the television areas business was at a stand still because everybody was at home watchin the performance but I suspect what the committee was turnin up was worth what business was lost.

A neighbor asked me this mornin if I thought crime was on the increase, and while I can't answer for New York or Houston or Dallas, I know it ain't increased none out here on the creek. Newspapers, radio stations and television studios would starve to death if they depended on a livin reportin the crime news from this area. Guess we're just backwards.

However, I don't think crime has increased so awfully much it's just reported better these days. I'll admit some strange goin-on have been takin place in the big cities, where gambles and racketeers have been supplantin the police's income due I suppose to the high cost of livin and them feelin sorry for em, and some men in high places have been asked some mighty embarrassin questions which they aint answered satisfactorily to me and my neighbors, but I ain't been able to find no decrease in the number of average citizens, inside of congress or out, who are about as law-abidin as they ever was. The racketeers aint about to take this country over. I don't think nobody is. It still belongs to the people, even if sometime

Selective Service Forms For Students Not Yet Available

AUSTIN — College students were urged today not to seek application forms for Selective Service aptitude tests from local draft boards, as the "local draft boards don't have them yet."

Brigadier General Paul L. Wakefield, state director of Selective Service, said "scores of students in Austin have been asking the Travis County boards for these printed forms today, and I imagine the same thing is taking place in other college and university towns in the state."

General Wakefield said application on part of the students was probably caused by a news association story from Washington printed in Tuesday morning newspapers. He quoted from the story as follows:

"College students were advised to get in touch with their local boards immediately and obtain Selective Service forms 105 and 107. These actually are one-cent postcards attached to each other."

Morse Home—

the rooms are large bedrooms and in the basement is storage for canned goods, their electric water pump, a woolen storage

etc. The home will be heated with five wall heaters.

Melborn can tell you just what has gone into the house besides the hard work and planning. They used 47 squares of composition shingles on the roof, 126 sacks of cement in the structure, 155 pounds of putty on the steel windows, etc.

In their workshop, a concrete tile building which they also built themselves, are their tools—an electric saw, a lathe, the electric welder, etc., and here is where they are building their own window and door frames.

In there, too, is an old Deico light plant which the family used for 14 years. It's still in fair shape, but is being placed in retirement. Their light and power now come through the R. E. A. lines.

About three of the rooms will soon be completed, and the family will move into this portion of the house while they're completing the other rooms. Term ites have just about eaten up their present home.

"It's just a dream being realized," Mrs. Morse said Friday. A trip through this lively home reveals more than a dream.

Melborn and Blanche Morse worked and planned, and saved and sacrificed while they dreamed. And they had the cooperation of their two fine children Elwynn and Glenda Adelle.

Knox City School Man Resigns Post

Announcement was made this week that T. E. Holcomb, superintendent of the Knox City schools for several years, has resigned this position, effective at the close of the school term.

Several candidates for the post may be interviewed at the next board meeting.

Eddie Shaver, Jr., and Walter Thomas were recently elected to the Knox City school board.

Spring has officially arrived, and this usually signals the beginning of a stepp-up gardening program. There is still time to get the spring garden going. It will provide lots of good exercise; help supply the family with the fresh vegetables needed and will help stretch the food budget.
