A highway post office might be the answer.

Seems like Munday is not the only town that's getting poor mail service under the present setup.

Postmasters and post office employees were among those present at the first meeting held here to deplore the pitiful mail service situation in this area.

A means of inter-town dispatching is believed the answer to our problems. This could be provided by a highway, or traveling post office.

Two areas in Texas, it was stated, have highway post offices in operation. They provide between-town dispatching similar to that given by trains.

Personally, we'd like to see the area between Wichita Falls and Abilene become the third area to have such mail service. Between-town dispatching is one of the primary needs for this area.

Postmasters are interested, because their post offices can not give the mail service they'd like to be giving.

People are interested, because they'd like their short-distance mail to be delivered without going in such a round-about way.

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce is interested, because Fred Husbands, general manager of that body, was among those who attended the meeting here Friday night.

Banks are interested, because their monies coming from the Federal Reserve Bank can not be handled under the present setup with very much satisfaction.

We are interested, because our publication doesn't reach some of our Knox County subscribers until Monday after publication.

A subscriber from Truscott was in Saturday, bringing us the second protest of recent months that he does not get our paper until Monday sometimes.

Four days for a piece of mail to reach a person less than 40 miles away!

Like we said once before—Pony Express would be much faster.

The idea of mail leaving Munday, going through Goree to Wichita Falls, being dispatched there, and then sent back to Goree—a distance of six miles from Munday—is sorta bordering on the preposterous. Yet, we are told, that's what happens.

The idea of mail going to Weinert being taken all the way to Abilene and then brought back to Weinert is just as ridiculous as the Goree situation. Yet, we're led to believe that's what's happening to our Weinert mail.

One of our neighbors of the Fourth Estate told us recently he set his publication date up a day so his paper would reach county subscribers before the beginning of the following week.

As hard as it is for us to "get the paper to bed" on Thursdays, it seems almost impossible to get it published and mailed on Wednesdays.

The Wichita Valley Mail Improvement Association—that's a longer title than Community Development Association—is planning to request Washington for the highway post office.

Congressmen George Mahon, Omar Burleson and Ed Gossett would receive the request, along with briefs from each town in depicting the "lack of inter-town dispatch, irregularity of delivery, inadequate mail schedules, and lack of facilities to handle parcel post."

In our opinion, our request should be accompanied by more than a "brief." It should be "vol-

Second Meeting Held Here In Effort To Secure Area Traveling Post Office

A second meeting was held in Munday last Friday night in an effort to secure a highway post office for the Wichita Falls to Abilene run, which was formerly served by the Wichita Valley Railroad.

A survey of mail service between the two cities, which has been labeled inadequate by the newly formed Wichita Valley Mail Improvement Association, has been requested.

Ralph Duncan, Haskell, secretary of the group, reported the request would be sent to congressmen from this area.

Plans of the association are to present a brief which it believes will indict lack of inter-town dispatch, irregularity of delivery, inadequate mail schedules, and lack of facilities to handle parcel post. Association members all deplore lack of adequate service in handling bank monies, especially during the heavy fall season.

Present facilities can only handle $25,000 a week maximum in each community, according to Duncan. This had caused bankers to have to drive to Wichita Falls and Abilene during rush seasons.

Each community in the area was asked to prepare a brief for the association, pointing out the need for better mail service.

There are now two highway post offices operating in Texas. They provide between-town dispatching similar to that given by trains.

Among those present at the meeting were O. C. Harrison of Seymour, chairman of the association; Courtney Hunt of Haskell, vice-chairman; Paul B. Pendleton, Munday; Fred Husbands, general manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, and Leon Huff, assistant manager of the Abilene Chamber of Commerce.

HOME FROM HOSPITAL

Mrs. A. H. Mitchell, who recently underwent a major operation at a Wichita Falls hospital, was brought home Monday. An ambulance from the Mahan Funeral Home went after her.

The Sunset school district and the Munday Independent School were consolidated in the election held last Saturday by a close vote at Sunset and an overwhelming majority in the Munday district.

Voters of Sunset differed in opinion as to whether the Sunset school should be consolidated with the Munday school; however, the vote was 84 for and 77 against consolidation. Possibly one factor causing some opposition was the rumor circulated before the election that the Sunset building would be used as a negro school. This rumor was branded as false by local school authorities.

The vote at Munday was 316 for to 9 against consolidation. Some of the opposition at Munday was by those objecting to transporting their children to Sunset, which local authorities stated would be used as a junior high school with over 150 students attending.

The Knox County Commissioners Court convened last Tuesday to canvass the election returns, and declared the two school districts consolidated. Munday's school board is making immediate plans for the appointment of two members from the Sunset community to serve on the board.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

ODESSA, DOWA, CHRONICLE: "The two party system is a great thing in a democracy, but there are times when the two party principle can be carried too far. That is the sorry circumstance today. The country is in desperate danger, yet there are many representatives of the people in Congress who prefer to jeopardize the welfare of the country by playing politics as usual."

SUFFALO, WYO., BULLETIN: "The American people demand four specific actions by the Truman administration. Until these guarantees are given by Washington, popular confidence will continue to sag, says Senator John W. Bricker of Ohio. First, elimination of all non-essential Federal spending. Second, preservation of the value of the U. S. dollar, which already has been devaluated to half its 1946 purchasing power. Third, avoidance of all unnecessary rearmament. Fourth, maintenance of decent standards of political ethics," continued the Ohio senator in an address on the floors of Congress. Can Federalism accomplish these urgent reforms in time to rally national sentiment to a real defense program?"

OAKLAND, CALIF., VOICE: "There are billions of dollars that can be cut from the non-military budget, and they should be. Why should the American taxpayer tighten his belt when the government continues its merry spending spree?"

ELDORADO, KANS., TIMES: "Many Americans doubt this country's financial ability to maintain the nation in a 'garrison state' for a number of years, or even to fight a full-guaged war, if necessary. What they are wondering about—worn reason—is whether they can maintain the nation's tremendous army of bureaucrats."

WHERE ARE WE FAILING

It seems as if practically everybody has had something to say about the meat situation. Government officials say one thing. Representatives of the livestock producers and other elements of the meat industry say another. Spokesmen for consumer groups say still another.

Quite naturally, these statements are often in complete contradiction. So a large part of the public, interested as it is in the meat controversy, has lost sight of a few fundamental facts.

The government can set the legal price at which meat is sold at wholesale and retail. The government can issue orders rolling back the price of meat by some arbitrary percentage. The government can threaten law violators with vigorous prosecution.

However, the government can't make anybody raise meat if he finds that controls and regulations and red tape are taking the profit out of the business and just leaving him with the risk. And, try as hard as enforcement officials will, they can't stop black markets when individuals see a chance to make a quick, easy profit. Our experience during OPA days is sufficient evidence of that.

In normal times, no one sets the price of meat. It is determined by the ever-changing conditions of a supply and demand market. Now the government is attempting to set the price and the troubles are setting in. For the truth is that these controls always lead to rationing, black markets, unsanitary practices, and less meat for most consumers.

One of the main ways to stabilize meat prices is to encourage producers—in developing a sound balance between supply and demand. And that's what present government policies are failing to do.

PLENTY OF HEADACHES

The retail merchant who wants to be a law-abiding citizen has been suffering from a severe series of headaches in recent months. These are the result of various Office of Price Stabilization orders which have been next to impossible to follow. Even large stores and chains, which have all kinds of specialized talent in their employ, have found compliance difficult. Small stores are in the worst position of all, as they haven't the staffs to carry out orders which demand the compilation of endless forms and reports.

OPA, faced with a wave of protests from retailers, has changed some of its orders, and additional changes will be made. But the situation is one more example of the fact that when government dictates to business, confusion and waste are inevitable. The government administrators may be good men, trying hard to do the best possible job. In most cases, they just aren't familiar enough with the problems and internal workings of the businesses they control.

In some instances, OPA policies have been definitely unfair in retailing, in that they do not permit retailers to add to their selling prices increases in wholesale and operating costs. In such cases, retailers have no choice but to stop ordering the merchandise involved. Retail profits are just too small these days, despite high prices, to make any other course possible.

OPA has a great deal to learn. It is to be hoped it learns the lessons fast and applies them without delay—otherwise the national economy will be seriously weakened. If that happens, everyone including the consumers OPA is supposed to protect—will be hurt.

"One of the most potentially destructive illusions harbored by millions of Americans nowadays is that their national economy renews itself automatically. They're forgotten that private investment is what makes the system tick. You find this state of mind even in government where some men apparently believe that lack of private investment can be made up for in the public treasury."—Chicago Journal of Commerce.

Uncle Sam Says

Business is everybody's job. You can play an important part in this national emergency by buying yourself and your country economically strong. Buy U. S. Defense Bonds NOW and REGULARLY. Those who don't save regularly generally don't save at all. Sign up today for the Federal Savings Plan where you work, or the Bonds-Savings Plan at your bank. Defense Bonds are now a better buy than ever. They pay an exciting interest every year for 20 years from the date of purchase. Hold your maturing U. S. Bonds and let them continue to work for you.

I have been a newspaper man all my life. I used to think I knew what news was, but now I'm sure I don't.

Did you notice how, day after day, during that girl Channel swimmer's practice, the papers ran columns and columns—and then she didn't swim the Channel. And did you notice the thousands and thousands of words about the young woman tennis player who plays—tennis, that is—in lacrimated panties—and she can't play tennis especially well, either?

But when Edna St. Vincent Millay, author of some of the most beautiful lyrics in the English language, died, she rated two paragraphs in the big dailies.

"Hobson's choice." Everybody uses the expression, which is said to have originated from the circumstances that there was a Bvery stable owner named Hobson. When a man wanted to rent a horse, no matter how many animals were in the stable, he had to take the one in the stall nearest the door. Hence, "Hobson's choice"—which of course is no choice at all.

And now will some brother kindly rise in the audience and tell us how the expression got started. "He has as many dollars (or cows or whatever) as Carter had oats?"

When a scientist asked William Jennings Bryan to explain certain things about religion, Bryan countered with this challenge. "Tell us why a brown cow that eats green grass gives white milk that produces yellow butter?"

Let's Talk LIVESTOCK

(By Ted Gouddy)

FRT WORTH, June 15—Mid-June livestock prices remained at or near all-time high levels at Fort Worth and around the major marketing circles for this season of the year during the past week.

This, coupled with ample moisture in most sections and improving pastures, served to brighten the outlook for the coming weeks.

Some hope was still held out that the rollbacks of August 1 and October 1 would be avoided but statements this week, first by Price Boss DiSalle, then Defense Program Boss Charles E. Wilson and later by President Truman seemed to indicate that only Congress could prevent the carrying out of the beef program.

July movement of livestock probably will be unusually heavy for as time nears for the rollback of prices at the end of July, many producers will feel like putting some stock in the bank.

A comparison of present prices with those in effect the week of June 22, 1950, the week before the Korean war broke out reveals all kinds of livestock selling well ahead of that period.

On June 22, 1950, top butcher hogs sold at $20.25, while top prices here this week were $21.75 to $22.

Sows at $14 to $17.50 a year ago, sell from $16 to $18.

Feeder pigs at $15 to $17.50 a year ago, this week bring mostly $16 to $18.50.

Good choice fed steers and yearlings at $28 to $30 on June 22, 1950, compare with $32 to $36 this week.

Common and medium steers and yearlings at $18 to $27.50 a year ago, sell now at $22 to $30.

Fat cows a year ago brought $17.50 to $23, with canners and cutters at $12 to $17.50. Currently, fat cows bring $22.50 to $27 and canners and cutters at $15 to $22.50.

Bulls a year ago ranged from $16 to $22.50 and this week some mostly at $21 to $28.

Fat calves a year ago sold for $22.50 to $30, when good and choice, against $31.50 to $36 this week. Cull, common and medium killing calves at $15 to $24.50 a year ago, this week sold for $18 to $31.50.

Stocker calves of the good and choice kinds drew $29 to $31 a year ago, against prices of $35 to $41 this week. Common, medium and good stocker calves

Two Cotton Crops Grow In A Single Season, Due To Science

The production of two cotton crops in a single season sounds like one of the oddities of nature frequently reported in a strange as it seems or believe it or not column. Actually, however, the phenomenon of two cotton crops in one season is a noteworthy scientific accomplishment in a program to develop new and improved strains of high quality cottons.

Last fall special test lots of cottonseed were shipped by U. S. plant breeders to the Mexican Agricultural Experiment Substation at Iguala, about 125 miles south of Mexico City. Since the Iguala cotton season is year-round—in contrast to the U. S. cotton season which begins in the spring and ends in the fall—the seed were planted at the Mexican station in October and November.

Shipped Back to U. S.

The production of the crop at Iguala was supervised by L. R. Lytton, Bureau of Plant Industry, Soils and Agricultural Engineering, USDA, cotton breeder at Las Cruces, N. M., field station.

In March and April the cotton grown in Mexico was harvested and shipped back to breeders in the U. S. for ginning, treating, and re-planting in the spring.

Next fall the U. S. crop will be harvested and the seed shipped to Mexico where the process will be repeated.

The cotton breeding project is all part of a program to reduce by a third or more the time required for developing new and improved strains.

Accelerated Program

Through the program it is hoped that certain high quality cotton may be made commercially available three or four years earlier than was earlier anticipated. Successful commercial development of these strains is expected to bring cottons with extra strength, luster, and other desirable qualities.

The breeding work also offers hope for improvements in American-Egyptian cottons, and that sold at $20 to $28, while this week they sold from $25 to $35.

Stocker yearlings at $20 to $29 on June 22, 1950, compare with yearling stockers at $25 to $35 this week. Older stocker and feeder steers at $20 to $27 a year ago, sell this week at $22 to $33. Stocker cows at $18 to $23 a year ago, sell from $21 to $26.50 now.

Slaughter Spring lambs bulked at $24.50 to $27 a year ago, which compares with $31 to $33.50 this week. Feeder and stocker Spring lambs a year ago at $16 to $23 sold this week at $25 to $32 with one load to $34.

Shorn old crop lambs a year ago sold for slaughter mostly from $15 to $22, against $20 to $31.50 this week. Yearling lambs for feeders a year ago sold for $17 to $21, and this week similar kinds sold from $20 to $29.50, some mixed ewes and wethers to $30.50.

Slaughter ewes at $9 to $11.50 on June 22, sold at $14 to $18 and above this week, while aged wethers up to $12 a year ago, sold up to $20 this week. Two-year-olds at $14 to $19 a year ago, ruled at $20 to $26 this week.

the country some day may be self-sufficient in the production of these valuable extra long staples.

The cotton program is sponsored jointly by U. S. private breeders cotton states agricultural experiment stations, the U. S. Department of Agriculture, and the National Cotton Council.

ARTHRITIS

Hundreds Claim Its Grip Broken!

Dear Friend:

Do you have Arthritis? Have you a relative or friend that is suffering from this painful, distressing ailment?

I came upon a simple remedy, that ended my long search and battle to rid myself of Arthritis. I had my teeth pulled, tonsils out, serum shots, electric fever treatments, special built shoes, hot baths, pills and salves. The Arthritis withstood them all, and examination in several of the best clinics could detect nothing. Finally, I discovered Sulgly-Minol. Today, after seven months I am more free of pain and soreness than at any time in twenty years. Can work ten hours a day, with nothing more than tired feet. Legs, hips, back, neck and arms are practically free of pain and soreness. This has cost me less than six dollars.

This is all I did, and all you will have to do to try Sulgly-Minol. Just rub it on the soles of both feet before going to bed. A bottle will last about a month and will be enough to tell whether it will help. If it helps, keep it up for a month, and after that, just as you feel. If my feet feel sore from too much activity, I rub some on for a night or two. In my opinion, the benefits of Sulphur are more sure and complete on the soles of the feet. The results obtained have been acclaimed by many as a Godsend.

Miss Elda Purl Laird, bride-elect of William J. "Bill" Townsend, was honored at a miscellaneous shower given Saturday, June 16, from 3:00 to 5:00 p. m. in the home of Mrs. O. D. Propps.

Guests were received by Mrs. Collins Moorhouse and registered by Mrs. Buddy Bumpass, who presided at the Bride's Guest Book.

Mrs. J. B. Moorhouse directed the guests to the very decorative refreshment table. The table was covered with a linen cut-work cloth, centered with a bouquet of Shasta daisies, from which two wide blue satin streamers ran. The streamers were lettered "Elda Purl" and "Bill" in gold. Blue tapers in crystal holders flanked the floral arrangement. The crystal punch bowl, individual frosted cakes and blue napkins, on which the bride-elect and groom-to-be's names were printed in gold, completed the decorations for the table. Mrs. A. H. Sams, Jr., presided at the punch bowl and Miss Omiteene Barnett served the cakes.

The reception room and other rooms throughout the house were decorated with lovely arrangements of gladioli. The mirror above the mantel was attractively painted with the date of the wedding, June 24, and the bride and groom walking into the little church on the hill.

Mrs. L. C. Melton directed the guests in to see the beautiful array of gifts for the bride-to-be. A total of thirty-two registered during the afternoon.

The W. S. C. A. and the Wesleyan Service Guild of the First Methodist Church had as their guests the ladies of the Methodist and Presbyterian churches on Monday afternoon, June 18, at three o'clock for a promotional tea at the Methodist Church.

Guests were greeted by Mrs. S. E. McStay, Mrs. J. D. Crockett and Mrs. J. C. Harpham. Greenery and cut flowers decorated the dining room, where Mrs. Crockett, president of the W. S. C. S., presided at the refreshment table, which was lovely with a lace cloth and crystal punch bowl with crystal plates of dainty sandwiches and cookies. Everyone enjoyed the quiet music by Mrs. Bardwell.

"Londonderry Air" and Brahms' "Lullaby" were given on the violin by Mrs. Rippetoe, with Mrs. Bardwell accompanying on the organ. An interesting skit was given by Mrs. Weldon Smith, Mrs. Lee Haymes, Mrs. Gill Wyatt, Mrs. Levi Bowden, Mrs. S. E. McStay, Mrs. J. C. Borden and Mrs. G. R. Eiland, concluding with the history of the W. S. C. S.

Baker was presented a lovely corsage for being the only charter member present. Mrs. Joe Bailey King gave a history of the Wesleyan Service Guild.

Rev. R. L. Butler sang a solo, accompanied by Mrs. Rippetoe on the violin and Mrs. Bardwell at the organ. Mrs. Fred Broach read a group of poems on "Women's Service," after which the violin and organ played softly while Rev. Butler gave the benediction.

Economics In Agriculture Is Proving Worth

The economics of agriculture is an increasingly recognized factor in the thinking and planning of operators of Texas farms and ranches. As never before, they are conscious of the determining influence of such forces as international trade relations and price and income policies upon agricultural production and marketing.

Dr. Tyrus R. Timm, economist for the A. & M. College Extension Service, in 1950 conducted a series of group meetings, with county agricultural agent personnel represented, to study the Extension work being done in agricultural policy. At the same time opportunity for more work in this field was considered.

The importance of American agriculture having a delicately balanced system of efficient farming, public relations farming, and political farming was emphasized at another group of meetings for farm and business leaders and agricultural agents. Along with this discussion, expected changes in agriculture during the next 25 years was pointed out.

The most intensive program for tying public policy work with other phases in economics was in the case of the cotton "outlook" meetings. In addition to participating in five district discussions, the economist spoke upon the place of cotton in public policies before the State Cotton Production Committee. Instead of following the usual practice of considering only the supply and demand factors directly associated with cotton, the discussions were placed in a broader context. Other topics considered included: The fact that farmers and ranchmen do well during wartime but as an important economic group suffer more severely than other major groups afterward; the dollar shortage abroad; the government support mechanism.

Other discussions with county agricultural agents involved how farm families fared since the end of the Office of Price Administration and since the war in Korea commenced. The Agricultural Act of 1949 and the Defense Production Act of 1950 also was considered.

The economist considers the inauguration of the first in-service training graduate course for county agricultural agents called "Government and Agriculture" as perhaps the most important development in the Extension Service's year program in agricultural policy. Fourteen agents and four Extension staff members enrolled.

During the year the Extension economist prepared an outlook statement periodically called "Economic Facts and Opinions." This was primarily for the information of county extension agents. He served as a member of the National Agricultural Policy Committee sponsored by the Farm Foundation and as a member of the sub-committee for the Southern region. He also appeared before the economic section of the Southwestern Social Science Association of

Legal Notice

Benjamin, Texas
June 19, 1951

To the Citizens of Knox County: In 1948 the citizens of the State of Texas voted in favor of a Constitutional Amendment that would permit the counties after a local election to levy a 30 cent ad valorem tax instead of the state levying this tax.

The Commissioners Court of Knox County has called a special election for Saturday, July 14 for this purpose.

If approved by the voters, the tax will provide a 30 cent levy on each $100 valuation over $3,000. Regular homestead exemptions of $3,000 will continue as it has under the present state law.

This will not increase your taxes. If you vote for this levy it will simply mean you will pay the tax to Knox County instead of the State of Texas, as you have been doing heretofore.

All the money received from this tax will be spent in Knox County for the construction and maintenance of lateral farm roads.

This will help get the farmer out of the mud, provide better roads for the school buses and mail carriers, and improve business generally throughout the entire county.

Respectfully,
County Judge and Commissioners Court, Knox County.

P. S. Attached is a list of questions which have been asked most often concerning this election.

Q. Will my present taxes be increased?

A. NO. The tax will be paid to Knox County instead of the State of Texas.

Q. Will my homestead be exempt?

A. YES, up to the value of $3,000.00.

Q. What amount is exempt for homesteads now?

A. The State at present allows $3,000 homestead exemption.

Q. What will the money be used for?

A. To construct and maintain lateral farm roads.

Q. Will the value of my property be raised?

A. NO. This election will not change the values.

Q. Who can vote in this election?

A. Any qualified voter who renders property (real or personal) for taxes.

Q. What is a qualified voter?

A. A person who paid his or her poll tax in January 1951, or is entitled to a voting exemption. To vote in this election, the person must also have rendered either personal or real property or both for valuation in 1950. 47-4tc

America Depends on Family Car

Most car rides—68 per cent—are taken for essential or important reasons.

DETROIT—On an average day, at least one out of every three adults in the United States uses a passenger automobile for some essential purpose such as riding to work, conducting business or going shopping.

This and some 20,000 other facts about how the American family car is used were revealed in a nation-wide survey recently conducted by the Alfred Politz Research organization.

It was learned that 59 million people over the age of 14 ride in automobiles on an average day. This represents more than half of the U. S. adult population. Nearly half of these individuals use a car in connection with earning a living during a typical day, while almost one-fourth of them go shopping by automobile.

About 40 per cent of all rides taken in motor cars, and nearly one-half of the total passenger miles traveled, are for livelihood purposes, the survey showed. Shopping accounts for another 17 per cent of the rides and 11 per cent of the passenger mileage.

These indications of America's growing dependence upon the family car for essential transportation are borne out by automobile and population statistics of the past 10 years. While our population has grown 15 per cent since 1940, car ownership has increased about 50 per cent. Passenger car registrations for 1950 totaled 40,167,000 compared with 27,372,397 in 1940.

This growth in the automobile population has taken place despite the fact that motor vehicle production between 1940 and 1950 was less than in either of the two preceding decades. Consequently there are more older cars on the road today. The average passenger car is about eight years old, compared with the prewar average of 5 1/2 years. Likewise, there is a lack of middle age cars as a result of the wartime halt in automobile production.

In addition to the need for motor cars as essential transport tools, the nation relies on them as a major source of business activity, employment, and tax revenues. The automotive industry directly creates business for at least half a million separate enterprises, or one out of every six firms in the country. One out of every seven jobs, for a total of more than nine million, are automotive.

The average automobile buyer pays about $95 in Federal excise tax on his new car. Last year, total automotive excise payments contributed nearly two-billion dollars to Federal tax coffers. In addition, highway users paid some $2.5 billion in special state motor vehicle taxes and fees for an average of nearly $55 per vehicle.

In my garden early this spring, and it certainly wouldn't do any good to do it now. On cold wet winter nights last year, I occasionally stayed in side the house and postponed milking the cow, and a man who thinks he can go back and make up for them postponements now just ain't familiar with milk cows.

However, in spite of the postponements, the cow seems to be doing all right, give a full two quarts of milk at every milking, don't seem to be holdin a grudge against me, and I figure my garden will produce about as much this year as any other.

If I postpone sendin in any money to renew my subscription to your paper, just keep sendin it, postpone stoppin it. After all if I'm gonna do my part by postponin for defense, you ought to do yours.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Quality Of High Plains Cotton

The final test of cotton is its performance in a fabric, points out J. M. Ward, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station economist.

Ward and other experiment station workers recently made a study of the quality and fiber characteristics of mechanically harvested cotton on the High Plains. Specially developed stormproof varieties are better adapted for the use of mechanical strippers than are open-boll varieties, Ward said.

After gins are operating at full capacity during the harvesting season, High Plains growers have the choice of either storing the surplus seed cotton or leaving it unharvested in the field for stripping later in the season. Most growers practice full scale stripping and most of the storage is on the ground in the cotton fields.

"Samples of lint from the storm-proof varieties graded higher than samples from other varieties," Ward reported. "Higher grades were produced on the sand and sandy loam soils than on the clay and clay loam soils."

Since High Plains cottons vary in fineness, spinning tests were provided to show the spinability, yarn grade and strength of these cottons. It was found that cotton of seven-eighths-inch staple, fair tensile strength and very fine fiber processed into strong durable fabrics.

"Here's the tire I want!"

GOOD YEAR SUPER-SURE-GRIP TRACTOR TIRE

First choice for 2 reasons!

1. Deeper soil penetration — greater pull. Goodyear's open center tread has straight deep-biting lugs. They cut cleanly into the soil, penetrate full depth, full length. Straight bars closer together at the shoulders wedge the soil for firmer grip — don't "plow out" soil at the sides.
2. Balanced straight lug tread design — longer wear. Goodyear open center lugs are all straight, all equal in size and spacing. That's why every lug works equally, pulls fully, wears more evenly.

Goodyear Super-Sure-Grips don't cost a penny more. Get them for your tractor.

We Have The Tires!

If you're interested in tractor tires, we have them in stock for both front and rear wheels. Our prices are right—made to fit your purse. Come down our way, and let's trade!
