

Kracker Krumb's Odd Bits Salvaged at Random

They knocked the whey out of our police chief's radio.

Guess that's what one would call being excommunicated. Any way, he's out of communication—for the time being—with other law enforcement officers, so far as the radio method is concerned.

We had kinda been taking notice of the identification signs on the chief's "wagon" lately, where the word "Police" had been painted on the hood and on the back of the auto.

Monday, we were admiring the nice lettering on the rear of the car, when we were struck by the absence of his two-way radio antenna.

We cornered our constable and inquired about the decoration being removed.

"They all went FM on us," Caz says, "and here we are with a bunch of radio equipment that we can't use any more."

It seems the Highway Patrol, sheriff's departments and other law enforcement groups decided FM was the best means of their two-way radio communication.

That left an office set in the city hall, Chief Massey's set in his car and Caz Lansford's "listening set" in his car all out of date.

So they won't radio any messages, or receive any by radio, until there's some changes made.

About the time we got "detailed" about the matter, Mayor Billingsley walked up.

He was called out of the city council's meeting recently, but he expressed the belief the council voted to supply our police chief with another set.

"We'll have to do without the office set," the mayor said, "because that entails the expenditure of some $1,500 which the city doesn't have."

With the weather warming up, the election and the national party conventions drawing nearer, politics is also beginning to warm up.

Noticed in Tuesday's paper a headline reading "Eisenhower Woos State Delegates." That's quite a change in position for the general—from commanding to wooing.

Don't hear much talk from the local or county political arena, but we're still printing candidate cards and we reckon the boys are still working for their jobs.

But our would-be presidents are keeping a spotlight on the front pages of our daily papers. Locally, the interest seems to be in farm operations.

Wheat nearly all harvested, and cotton nearly all planted.

"If we don't get a rain in a week, all this cotton will be up," one person remarked to us Monday.

Our guess is that within a few days after it all gets up, we'll be ready for another rain of the right kind. No hard dashing rain, but a good "cotton shower."

Some believe that enough irrigation wells in this area—so the feed can be watered in July and the cotton given a soaking in August—will make a big difference in production in this section.

Traveling along the roads and highways of Knox County, we see some people planting cotton, lots of cotton peeping up out of the ground, and some few fields where choppers are already at work.

But ginners express the opinion that crops are as late, or later, than they were last year, and that it'll be the middle of October before any great amount of ginning will be done.

Most of the gins are about ready now, so all our farmer friends have to do is to produce the cotton.

County Judge J. B. Eubank, Jr., received word recently from D. C. Greer, state highway engineer, that a change had been made in the designation of a farm to market road in Knox County. The engineers quoted the highway commission's minutes, as follows:

"In Knox County, it is ordered that the portion of Minute No. 30281 designating a farm to market road from end of spur 150 in Truscott west and north to county road, with a spur south to county road, a distance of approximately 3.6 miles, be and is hereby modified to describe the designation as extending from end of Spur 150 in Truscott west, north and west, a distance of approximately 3.9 miles. Spill From Ladder Sends Farmer Of Knox City To The Hospital

A broken ladder sent Finis Walker, 61-year-old Knox County farmer, back to the bottom of his cistern, then to the hospital with a broken arm last Thursday afternoon.

He had tried for several days to get someone to replaster his cistern, then finally decided to do the job himself. The job completed, he started climbing to the top of the cistern, right proud of his ability as a plasterer.

His home-made ladder started shlimmying, then collapsed, and Walker landed back in the bottom of his cistern.

The cistern is on the back porch of his home, nine miles west of Knox City. Walker's wife and daughters and Walter Webber, negro helper, heard the ladder crack and rushed to the cistern. For an hour and a half they tried to bring Walker to the top, then sent to a neighboring farm for help.

Guy Bradley, another farmer, arrived at the scene and slid down a rope to see how Walker was doing. Then he called for

Pfc. Booe entered service on February 1, 1951. He received his training at Camp Atterbury, Indiana. After basic training he entered the signal corps and after six weeks of maneuvers at Fort Bragg, N. C., he was sent back to Indiana. On November 10, after a 15 day furlough home, he left Hampton Roads, Norfolk, Va., on the U. S. Naval ship, General H. Nation's First Bale Of Cotton Sells For $2,684 At Houston

The nation's first bale of 1952 cotton was sold at auction in Houston last Monday, bringing its grower $2,684.40. Ray Barnick, 41, of Mission was the grower. He received $1,334.40 for the cotton, plus a $1,350 bonus.

"I guess I owe all this to what I first thought was bad luck," he said. He referred to the 1949 freeze of citrus in the Lower Rio Grande Valley, which made him decide to shift to raising cotton.

The 480-pound bale brought $2.78 a pound, second only to last year's bid of $3. It was sold to Anderson Clayton & Company.

The cotton arrived in Houston ten days ahead of the first bale in 1951.

Robinson stated that a recent test made of the city's water supply showed it to be good.

Band School To Feature Classes For All Musicians

The Munday-Haskell summer band school will begin on June 23 and continue through July 18. In addition to the classes in musical instruction, students who are interested in twirling will learn routines as well as fundamentals from Bill Adkins, drum major at McMurry College.

All persons interested in enrolling as beginners are invited to meet with Mr. Posey on Monday night, June 16, at 7:30 o'clock in the Munday band hall for a display of instruments by the Max Kreutz House of Music of Wichita Falls. This will be an excellent opportunity for beginners in next year's band to look at instruments and consult Mr. Posey.

Registrations for advanced musicians will be from 9 to 11 a. m. and 4 to 6 p. m. Monday and Tuesday in the band hall.

The advantages of attending a summer band school are many. Beginners as well as advanced players get to work and play with students from other towns. Recreation is a big part of the summer band school. Most important in that musicians get to play in a large mixed band along with more experienced musicians.

Transportation to and from Haskell will be furnished by the Munday schools.

New Type Fertilizer Is Now On Display At Munday Implement

The Munday Implement Company this week announced receipt of a new type fertilizer to side dress cotton. This machine is manufactured by the same company that makes the famous Gustin crop duster, and it works on the same principle.

It's choke-proof, with the container revolving to keep the material being used mixed good.

The duster is easily attached to the cultivator with only four bolts. This new machine is now on display at the Munday Implement Company.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bill Pierce and children of Midland spent last week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. V. Williams.

No Shortage Of Spuds At The Home Of Walter Bevers

Walter Bevers came in the office Tuesday morning, reaching deep into a paper sack. He brought forth a cluster of nice potatoes—those things you couldn't buy a short while ago. These were presented to us for the editor's dinner table.

Walter explained that he had just a little patch in his garden—not enough to cut much figure in the shortage of spuds—but enough for his family for a while. He dug about 15 vines and got a half-bushel of the spuds.

"They're pretty expensive, though," he said, "by the time you plant them, fertilize them, work them and water them with the city water."

Clean-Up Week Slated To Begin Here On June 23

Monday, June 23, has been set for the opening of "Clean-Up Week" in Munday, and it is hoped that the entire citizenship will co-operate in giving the city a thorough cleaning of all trash, cans, weeds, etc.

The clean-up is being sponsored jointly by the Community Development Association and the City of Munday. It has been pointed out that several spots in the city have been allowed to get into unsightly and unsanitary conditions, and the clean-up is expected to eliminate such conditions.

All citizens are urged to get their trash, cans and refuse placed at convenient places in the alleys, so the trucks can pick it up conveniently.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

ST. LOUIS, MO., LABOR TRIBUNE: "The bona-fide labor paper champions the institution of private enterprise based on private property ownership, and only attacks the abuses in the system which tend to weaken and corrupt it. The good labor paper considers our economic and social system the best ever devised to maintain democratic institutions and give free play to individual opportunity, initiative and talent."

FLUSHING, OHIO, HOME NEWS RECORD: "We believe the trend of our government in recent years has been definitely toward socialism and we view this with alarm . . . the prospect of socialism is frightening. The reason for this is quite simple—the past history of the results of socialism."

BROWNSVILLE, PA., TELEGRAPH: "Freedom automatically entails responsibility. One of the chief marks of the slave is that he does not need to be responsible because he has lost his authority over his own actions. And when the freeman becomes irresponsible, he soon becomes a slave. Today the people of the United States are threatened by actual tyrannies from without and potential tyranny from within. But neither of these menaces so seriously threatens our liberty as our own irresponsibility. Whenever we subordinate the general welfare to self-interest (which is the essence of social irresponsibility) we weaken another stone in the foundation of our freedom."

ECONOMIC HIGHLIGHTS

No one knows who the next President will be. But whatever his name and party label, he is in for a rugged time.

United States News & World Report recently dealt with what the new President would face a brief but comprehensive article. As it observed, the job offers many unique assets and prerogatives. The Chief Executive lives in one of the most magnificent homes on earth. Legions of assistants and servants are at his beck and call. He is treated with the utmost deference by everyone. Hardly a wish goes unfulfilled. He is paid a large salary and receives $50,000-a-year tax-free expense fund in addition.

But all these material benefits lose much of their lustre in the light of the enormous problems with which the President must deal—and of the fateful questions he, and he alone, must make.

The U. S. News article is called "Troubles Ahead For Next President." Here, in capsule form, is the gist of what the magazine anticipates for him:

DEBT. Soon the national debt will touch the $275,000,000,000 legal ceiling. The President will have to choose between asking Congress to raise that ceiling or cut the spending. Either way, he will make political enemies.

WAR. It seems certain that the Korean War will still be going when he takes office, even though it may be relatively passive. This is a stalemate, totally unpopular war. What will he advocate to end it?

BUSINESS. Many economists think that the boom is running down. Next year, it is forecast, expansion. There will probably be a drop in profits—and that will bring a drop in tax collections, its—and that will bring a drop in tax collections, making the budget problem still more difficult. The ranks of the unemployed will be swelled. All this may happen very soon after the President moves into the White House.

AGRICULTURE. Some farm commodities are in a surplus state now. Other surpluses are anticipated. So, as U. S. News put it, "The next President is to be caught between the pressure of city people interested in cheaper food and a farm population insisting that government support farm prices against substantial decline."

BUREAUCRACY. The President is the titular boss of 6,200,000 people—2,500,000 civilians and 3,700,000 military. And here again the next President must make a difficult decision. In the view of U. S. News, "If he does not cut the payroll and the functions of the government bureaucracy, his financial troubles will grow. If he does cut the payroll, some people will be out of jobs, raising political fuss, and if he cuts functions some group or region will lose a good thing and also will raise political fuss."

These aren't all of the problems the beleaguered next President will face—not by a long shot. And great problems we can't even anticipate today may also be his. But they serve to indicate the enormous and unavoidable burdens that are part and parcel of what is accurately described as the biggest job in the world.

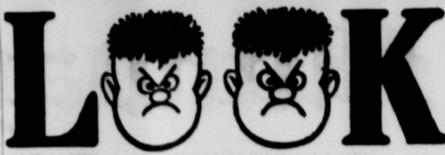

BUSINESS "TAKE HOME PAY"

How do you explain a complicated financial statement to employees? It's a tough job to break it down into terms everybody understands.

A retail food chain recently came up with a unique idea. A small booklet compares company expenses with the deductions listed each week on the pay checks of employees. Each page discusses a company "deduction." Money spent for merchandise, wages, taxes, maintenance, and contributions is explained in terms of the deductions each employe finds on his own pay check. Net profits of 9/10 of a cent on the sales dollar are referred to as company "take home pay." Familiar phrases like these make it easier to understand the company's financial structure and problems.

The booklet was timely, too. 1951 was the first year of the firm's new employe profit-sharing plan and employes were particularly interested in the financial condition of their company.

Ideas like these help bring management and the complex business picture. labor closes together in their understanding of Hail Insurance on Cotton!

J. C. Harpham Insurance Agency
 MUNDAY KNOX CITY

Cities are much bigger now than those same cities were when I was a boy, but in at least one particular, they can not measure up to the glory of yesteryear and that is the theater. As a lad, I visited St. Louis with my father half a dozen times and I recall the ads of a dozen shows in a single issue of the paper—stage shows, live people. I recall seeing "Across the Pacific," a melodrama of war in the Philippines; a light opera, "The Prince of Pilsen," and a comedy starring two Dutchmen—they might have been Webber and Fields but wert probably imitators of that great team. I recall that they had a fuss and the fat little fellow threatened, "I will stick mine finger in your mouth and I won't let go."

Now, in St. Louis as in practically all other cities except New York and perhaps, Los Angeles) the shows are shadows on a screen, the same attractions that you can see in Ranger, Texas, or Piggott, Ark.

When a man was asked by a court of Congressional committee whether he is, or has been, a Communist and says, "I refuse to answer on the ground it might incriminate me," he has answered the question and the answer is that he is, or has been a Communist.

Because if he were not, he could say "No" and certainly that would not incriminate him. Of course you are familiar with the expression, "He's has as much money as Carter had oats." Carter was a farmer in Georgia many years ago and he declared that his oats crop was so bountiful that he had to move his fence back to keep the oats from breaking it down.

Arkansas had the only trial court in the history of the United States from which there was no appeal—not even to the Supreme Court of the United States. A convicted man's only hope for clemency was the president.

The court sat in Fort Smith but it did not try Arkansas cases. Its jurisdiction was Indian Territory. Judge Isaac Parker presided and for 14 years there could be no appeal. (Then the law was changed.) Eighty-three men were hanged.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Sloan and daughter, Sandra, returned to their home in Midland last Friday after a two weeks vacation here with Mrs. Sloan's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Mitchell, and with relatives in Fort Worth.

Mr. and Mrs. I. V. Cook and Patsy and Mrs. Cook's mother, Mrs. Phillips, visited relatives and friends in Abilene and Putnam over the week end. Mrs. Phillips remained for a longer visit and will go on to Roswell, N. M., to spend the summer.

Miss Florence Gaines spent the week end with relatives and friends at Fort Worth.

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by Dr. Geo. W. Cox
 M. D., State Health Officer
 of Texas

AUSTIN—This is the season when an increase of undulant fever may be expected, according to Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

An undulant fever patient suffers from chilly sensations, or severe shaking chills, sweats and high fever. The patient loses weight and becomes weak. If the illness is of mild type, the patient may find it hard to remain in bed, but if he tries to keep up with his work he finds he has not sufficient energy.

Symptoms often continue for a number of weeks before recovery occurs. Fortunately, undulant fever has a low death rate. Body temperature may reach a higher mark each day than the day before for some time, and then gradually return to normal over a period of several days. Fever may be absent for some days and come back again in the same way as before, registering higher each day and then gradually going lower. The patients temperature chart will resemble smooth waves or undulations. The appearance of the temperature curve in typical cases has given this disease the name undulant fever.

Undulant fever is one of the infectious diseases known to be transmitted from animals to human beings. In hogs and cows, the germ produces a great economic loss because it causes contagious abortion. When this same germ invades the human body, the resulting disease is undulant fever. Prevention is dependant upon (1) eradication of the disease in farm animals, (2) careful pasteurization of dairy products, and (3) avoidance, in so far as possible, of direct contact with infected animals.

Mrs. A. H. Mitchell and Mr. and Mrs. Michael Sloan and Sandra visited relatives in Abilene, Merkel and Baird a few days last week.

Caz Lansford left Wednesday for Dallas to spend a few days attending to business matters.

Miss Maud Isbell Honored As Area's Pioneer Teacher

MUNDAY, Tex., June 7 (Special)—Her groceryman, druggists, postmaster—her neighbors in Munday—all are special people to "Miss Maud" Isbell.

They are all former pupils of this well-known Munday resident, who was honored as "Outstanding Pioneer Teacher for 1952" by Knox County Delta Gamma, honor society for women teachers.

Mrs. B. B. Campbell as chairman of pioneers teachers in this organization, paid special tribute to Miss Isbell at the final meeting of the organization this spring.

And Miss Isbell, described by Mrs. Campbell as the true teacher, in response to the honor said her life had been made "fuller and richer from these varied contacts" and expressed her gratitude at the progress education had made in this area in the last 50 years.

Miss Maud Isbell taught 27 years consecutively, then four years at intervals, then later six years of part-time teaching.

First Taught in 1896
This pioneer Knox County teacher taught her first school in 1896—a small school, "Little Arizona" in the brakes between Benjamin and Guthrie. The two terms there were short—the first four months and three weeks, and the second five months. In this little school "Miss Maude" was teacher, janitor and nurse, all in one.

Between terms, Miss Isbell went to "normals"—as teachers colleges were called then.

The next school taught by Miss Maud was the "Vernon School," seven miles from Stamford but in Haskell County. After teaching two years, Miss Isbell's mother wished her to accept a place in the Haskell School. She did this for one year and then returned to "Vernon School" for two more years.

Then followed teaching terms in Haskell, more rural schools, Sweetwater and then home to Munday where her mother had moved in 1907 following her father's death in 1906. She was in Munday until 1918, except two years—1911-12 and 1912-13, when she was superintendent of the Weinert School.

In 1918, Miss Isbell became superintendent of the grammar school in Seymour—her last step up to what was to have been a college chair.

Influenza Affects Career
But the influenza changed her career and after that, with the exception of two years in a ranch school in King County and coaching Texas Technological College students in English, she has done no more regular teaching.

Humane sort of way. You get contouring and terracing are moisture is to leave stubble and rant County, near Fort Worth, but came to Knox County as a small girl—before there was a Knox City or a Munday. Her father, T. D. Isbell, was first sheriff of Knox County, serving in that capacity nine years. He also served as county judge two years. He was appointed sheriff the first time in 1895 and the following year when the county was organized, he held the elective position.

When the family moved to Knox County they settled in Benjamin, then only a settlement of ranch families. She attended the Benjamin School for her basic education. The small one-room school was taught by one teacher, R. P. Dimmitt.

The Isbells then moved to what is now the Benedict Farm, northeast of Knox City, before finally settling in Munday where she now makes her home.

Early Start
Miss Maud took the state examination for a teacher's certificate and began teaching while a very young girl. She later attended the State Normal School in Canyon when R. B. Cousins was president. Majoring in history and English, her teachers were J. A. Hill, history; H. W. Morelock, English; R. L. Marquis, science, and Mr. Guenther, mental and moral science. These were her teachers at all times.

The little red school where Miss Maud began her teaching career has gone and education has become more centralized.

But to Miss Maud, as she travels down the broad, modern highway which runs near the location of her first school, a certain "halo seems to shine in the spot where the ranch children used to gather to learn their three-R's."

"Little Arizona" would be on the edge of Benjamin with modern methods of travel, but in those days it was a far distance from Miss Maud's home and she seldom got back to see her family. Frequently, cowboy friends of hers and the family rode up, tied their horses to mesquites, and came into the school to deliver mail and say hello.

Reminisces
Reminiscing about her teaching career, Miss Maud says: "Of all the girls and boys who passed through my classrooms, I have yet to find one who didn't have some quality to be appreciated and I cherish my memories of all of them. They have, each in his turn, added a little spice to life."

Among some of her pupils who have become known exceptionally well were Dr. Lewis Sherrill, outstanding in the Presbyterian Church; Rev. Clark Meadow, "the perfect pastor;" the late Dr. Q. B. Lee of Wichita Falls; Dr. Bryan Newsome of Seattle, Wash., and Matty Bell, athletic director of Southern Methodist University.

"I rejoice to see the progress that has brought about the modern school of today but I also cherish the memory of those days when as a pioneer teacher I taught from 8 o'clock in the morning until the shadows were lengthening in the west . . . and still wasn't through," Miss Maud said.

Mrs. Campbell, in her tribute to this pioneer teacher, expressed the gratitude of the modern teachers for the pioneering in the field of education by such leaders as Miss Isbell.—Wichita Falls Daily Times.

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by Dr. Geo. W. Cox
M. D., State Health Officer
of Texas

AUSTIN—Public health workers are encouraged by the drop in venereal disease, but are wary of future developments should persons feel that the danger is past, said Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

As long as the infections remain among a relatively small segment of the population the danger of spread to non-infected persons exists. Dr. Cox declares that everyone should avail himself of the free information concerning the nature, cause and spread of venereal diseases.

There is little reason for a person who becomes infected with a venereal disease today to suffer without treatment. Modern "wonder drugs," principally penicillin, have made possible the rapid treatment and cure of most cases. Just a few years ago treatment required one and a half to two years care by a specialist.

Despite the encouraging progress against venereal diseases it must be recognized that many undetected cases still exist. Our overcrowded mental institutions are populated with thousands of

Knox Prairie Philosopher Wants To Drop His Johnson Grass Seed On Enemy Countries Instead Of Germs

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek won't get anywhere with his idea this week, mainly because all farmers aren't lazy as he is.

Dear editor:

The onswep of civilization, I noticed from a copy of the paper I pulled off my face after a gust of wind wrapped it around my head yesterday as I came up the lane toward my house out here, has now reached the point where bacteriological warfare is getting more and more possible, and there is a general hue and cry against the idea. Germ warfare is devastating, and it throws the whole conception of war out of joint. Trainin to perfection on how to fire a bazooka is poor defense against an attack of athlete's foot at the hands of enemy-trained bacteria. Knowin how to trigger an atom bomb is no defense against a

New Type of Insecticide Approved for Cotton Crops

An average field of cotton showing lush growth and vigor of plants protected with new insecticide.

A revolutionary new type of insecticide, known as Systox, has been approved for use on cotton crops, the Pittsburgh Agricultural Chemical Company, a division of Pittsburgh Coke & Chemical Company, announced recently.

It is the first true systemic insecticide ever approved for use in this country. Available as an emulsifiable spray concentrate containing two pounds of the active ingredient per gallon of concentrate, it can be applied at the rate of a pint and a half of the concentrate in 100 gallons of water per acre. Extensive large-scale field tests showed that probably only two applications will be required per season to give complete control of aphids and mites.

Last season, cotton acreages about to be destroyed by two-spotted mites were saved by the use of this new systemic insecticide when all other miticides had failed to give control.

After being applied either to the foliage or to the soil, the new type of insecticide is absorbed and spread throughout a treated plant by a physiological action known as translocation. The entire plant is then highly toxic to many destructive insects for a considerable period of time. Even new growth is protected through the systemic action of translocation.

It kills insects in two ways: (1) As a stomach poison when sucked into the digestive system. (2) As a contact poison when it reaches the nervous system. It does not have to come in contact with the insect to be effective. Experiments indicate that Systox is harmless to beneficial insects, which kill destructive insects. It also does not kill pollinating insects such as bees.

The insecticide is unaffected by rain or wind because its toxic action has become a part of the plant and is not a residue clinging to the foliage. For this reason, it remains effective considerably longer than other types of insecticides. It may be effectively applied to seeds of some plants before planting and thus protect young plants from attack for a considerable period.

stealthy attack of cold germs. This germ warfare idea will put a crick in civilization quicker than all previous warfare from musketry to precision hydrogen bombin, and it ought to be headed off.

Furthermore, I believe I've got an idea that will do it.

Instead of workin on the idea of plantin germs in enemy territory, why don't they try Johnson grass? High altitude bombin of enemy country with some of my pedigreed Johnson grass seed will, in the long run, slow down the enemy's production capacity more thoroughly and effectively than all the gunpowder and germs modern man has perfected, and it will do it in a Johnson grass started behind the Iron Curtain and it'll guarantee peace for a thousand years from that direction. We've never started a war out in this community, and I attribute it to the fact we've been busy fightin Johnson grass. When you come home after a day spent fightin that stuff, you ain't got much ambition to start a war.

Of course, we wouldn't want to horn in on all the production effort in this new type of war. No doubt there are other areas which would like to contribute auxiliary weapons, like bitter weeds, tyevines, cockleburrs, stink weeds, skunk cabbage, prickly pears, mesquite, crab grass, Jimson weed, bindweed, pigweed, tumble weeds, rag weed, etc.

You get a program of warfare like this started and I believe mankind will be so busy survivin the grass and weeds his weapons will rust.

Why I can gather enough Johnson grass seed alone from my farm out here to subjugate Korea in less time than it takes to sign a truce. Let's get the planes loaded, Johnson grass to the enemy.

Yours faithfully,

Farm and ranch work over the state will soon be shifting into high gear now that the long over-due rains are arriving. Members of the State Farm and Ranch Safety Committee urge rural residents to practice safety on the job.

Livestock producers are warned to be on the alert for screw worms. Weather conditions are favorable for their spread. When found, the infected animals, should be treated with EQ-335.

Heavy growths of moss on trees do cause damage. The moss does not take food from the tree but shades and crowds out the leaves. This prevents the leaves from manufacturing the food needed by the tree for healthy and normal growth.

Clothing specialists for the Texas Agricultural Experiment Service report that 138,076 women and girls were taught new methods in sewing last year as a result of their home demonstration and 4-H work.

With Mrs. Nance

The Munday Home Demonstration Club met on Thursday, May 28, in the home of Mrs. W. C. Nance, at which time a very impressive talk on narcotics was given by Mrs. Paul Pruitt. Eleven members and two visitors attended the meeting. The next meeting was set for Wednesday, June 11, in the home of Mrs. R. E. Humphries.

Mrs. Lee Haymes and Mrs. C. E. Hobert and children, Tony and Carolyn, were visitors in Abilene last Monday. Joey Davis returned with them for a week's visit with Tony.

Reunion Slated
For Old Settlers
Of Baylor County

The annual meeting of the Baylor County Old Settlers' Association has been set for June 19, according to D. A. Holman, president of the organization. Registration will begin at 9 a. m. at the Seymour Park.

The meeting will not conflict in any way with any other entertainment in connection with the rodeo which is slated June 19, 20 and 21. The entire day will be given over to honoring the early-day citizens of Baylor County. A number of Munday people usually attend this annual event.

Meat, bread and drinks will be furnished by the association. Those attending are urged to bring a basket to supplement those furnished by the association.

"We can't have an old settlers' reunion without the old settlers," Holman said. "Everything is in readiness for them, and all they have to do is to be here."

Other members of the reunion committee are I. O. Newton, W. E. Lunsford, J. D. Dickson, T. E. Craddock, vice presidents; and O. McDaniel, secretary. Directors are Mrs. W. T. Britton, Miss Daisy Baskin, Mrs. Mart Russell, R. G. Quisenberry, J. A. Wheat and Lee Howe.

DAUGHTER IS BORN TO JOHN R. RAYBURNS

'Tis a girl at the John R. Rayburn home. Didn't make a difference, though, John says—a girl was his second choice, anyway. However proud as he is acting, bet it made no difference, either.

She entered this old world at the Knox County Hospital a few minutes before midnight last Friday night. A pretty husky girl, named Sammy Anne, she tipped the scales at eight pounds and seven ounces.

Susan, her sister, is delighted with the new baby sister. As she so aptly put it, "I'm glad it was no boy 'cause he wouldn't play the right games." Mother and baby are doing nicely, and we note that John R. is in the job.

MUNDAY GROUP GUESTS AT DINNER IN ABILENE

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Almanrode and daughter, Barbara Jane, and William O. Ratliff were dinner guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Easter in Abilene last Sunday. The dinner was in honor of Miss Almanrode and Mr. Ratliff, whose wedding will be solemnized on June 24.

Miss Easter and Miss Almanrode were sorority sisters in McMurry College, and both taught in the Albany schools last year.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hobert and daughter, Linda, spent the week end in Menard with Mrs. Hobert's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alf McWilliams. Mrs. Hobert and Linda remained for a longer visit.

Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Bruner and daughters, Linda Lee and Lonell, of Galveston spent last week here with Mrs. Bruner's father, R. V. Burton, and with relatives in Seymour.

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Almanrode were visitors in Abilene on Wednesday.

Beverly Stewart Is Honored At Birthday Party On Tuesday

Little Miss Beverly Ann Stewart was honored with a birthday party on her third birthday on Tuesday, June 3rd in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Stewart.

Little cars were presented to each guest for the favor motif. A lovely cake with three candles and ice cream and punch were served to the following guests: Jimmy and David Cumba, Judy and Brenda Kay Talbert, Nina Ruth Roberts, Peggy, Shirley Nell, Carla Mae, Jackie and Phyllis Booe, Johnny Hunter, Johnny and Ricky Smith, Johnny Ivy, Ronnie Stewart and Jenette Roden.

Others that sent gifts are Travis Floyd, Danny Stewart, Mrs. Hutchenson, Miss Opal Booe, Miss Billy Jo Dickerson, Mrs. Booe, Mrs. Stewart, Catherine Victory and Mozelle Smith.

HOME FROM CONVENTION

Dr. Fidella Moylette returned home this week after attending the 37th annual convention of the Texas State Chiropractic Association in Dallas. She said it was one of the most informative conventions she had attended, most of the program having been devoted to a series of refresher and post-graduate courses and educational lectures in various phases of chiropractic.

A BOY ARRIVES IN CHANCEY HOBERT HOME

Occupying a place of welcome in the Chancey Hobert home is a youngster by the name of Patrick Lyn. He made his appearance at the Knox County Hospital at 5:30 Saturday morning, June 7, and since then everyone seems to know he's around the place.

Patrick is no little kid to begin with. He made the scales hit eight pounds, five and one-half ounces. He's getting along fine, and Mrs. Hobert reported to be improving. Chancey is a better bookkeeper than ever, and we're informed the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Hobert, are calming down to some extent.

Alfred Guinn returned to Midwestern University last week after two weeks visit with his mother, Mrs. L. C. Guinn, Sr., and other relatives and friends. Alfred received an associate of arts certificate with all honors merited.

Beat bollworm this year

These new steps will help cotton growers kill bollworm

CLOSE RIVAL to the weevil as a destroyer of cotton, the bollworm has always been more difficult to control.

The mature bollworm in the illustration has been feeding inside the boll for several days. During this time the boll itself offers the protection that makes it extremely difficult to get a high kill with insecticides. For this reason, proper timing of insecticide applications is essential: Early bollworm infestations must be treated as soon as worms are found; later broods should be treated within a day or two after hatching and while young worms are still feeding outside the boll. A good measure for this is when 4 to 5 small worms (or 10 to 15 eggs) are counted on 100 terminals.

As the bollworm season approaches, every cotton grower wants to know "What's the best insecticide?" Actually, no one chemical so far tried will provide top control of bollworm. But... field tests in widely separated areas prove that certain combinations of chemicals (chlorinated hydrocarbons) do give effective control. At the same time, these mixtures kill almost all other insects that destroy cotton.

A mixture of dieldrin and DDT, for example, is one of the most deadly bollworm killers of all... more lethal than either insecticide alone. Used as a dust or a spray, the combination provides excellent control with relatively small dosages. The same dust or spray gets the boll weevil, fleahoppers, tarnished and rapid plant bug, grasshoppers and a host of other pests.

Where large areas of cotton must be protected from bollworm damage, and low cost is a primary consideration, aldrin-DDT mixtures provide profitable control at the lowest cost per acre.

Whichever combination is used, the timing and form of application (dust or spray) should follow the practice proved best in the area.

Your insecticide dealer can supply either dieldrin-DDT or aldrin-DDT in suitable formulations for your cotton program. Further information can be obtained by writing to Shell Chemical Corporation, P. O. Box 2099, Houston, Texas, or 808 William-Oliver Building, Atlanta 1, Georgia, or 1221 Locust Street, St. Louis 3, Mo.

"Good Neighbor Policy"

Remember one time when I told about the old loose-stone wall that separated Easy Roberts' property from Handy Peterson's?

That was when they decided they really didn't need the wall between them in the first place—so they simply stopped repairing it.

Now I hear where a fellow, who bought the old Johnson place, wants to buy all those stones. It seems he figures a stone wall is just what's needed on his property.

From where I sit, if that fellow wants to build himself a stone wall, that's his business. But if it's not really serving any useful purpose he may sooner or later discover—just like Handy and Easy did—that he'd be just as well off without one. Even some old-fashioned walls of prejudice are disappearing—like those that would deny a person's right to a friendly glass of beer now and then. Most Americans are learning that "walls" can get in the way of the persons inside as well as the persons outside.

The San Saba Star published these lines:
If everyone who drives a car would lie a month in bed With broken bones and stitched-up wounds or fractures of the head, And there endure the agonies as many people do, They'd never need preach safety any more to me or you.

If everyone could stand beside the bed of some close friend And hear the doctor say "No hope" before the fatal end,

And see him there unconscious never knowing what took place, The laws and rules of traffic, I am sure, we'd soon embrace.

If one could meet the wife and children left to moan, And step into the darkened home where once the sunlight shone, And look upon the vacant chair where Daddy used to sit, I'm sure each reckless driver would be forced to think a bit.

If everyone would realize pedestrians on the street Have just as much the right of way as those upon the seat, And train their eyes for children who run recklessly at play, This steady toll of human lives would drop from day to day.

And last, if he who takes the wheel would say a little prayer, And keep in mind those in the ABOVE—The refrigerator and washing machine are all that remain in the splintered ruins of G. R. Nelson's newly remodeled home near Lonoke, Arkansas, after tornadoes struck in this and six other southern states March 21. The twisters destroyed 1,044 homes, caused other losses to 4,510 families, killed 214 persons, injured 2,000 others of whom 636 needed hospitalization. The Nelsons' young daughter was one of hundreds for whom Red Cross paid medical bills.

BELOW—Made possible by a $4,023 Red Cross building award, the Nelson's new four-room home now is almost ready for the $693 of essential furniture also bought for the family by the Red Cross. Meeting actual needs, Red Cross is aiding 775 families in rebuilding homes and additional hundreds are receiving awards—outright grants, not loans—to pay for household goods, medical bills, and other needs. Expenditures now are nearing the million dollar mark.

more for your money

EVER buy a telephone? Ever receive a bill for telephone repair or maintenance, or the many feet of wiring that connect your telephone within the house? The answer, of course, is no. These are items of cost you never have to contend with.

Now, ask yourself the same questions about any of your other home appliances—refrigerator, kitchen range, radio, water heater. Original cost and month-to-month maintenance of such items amounts to a sizable investment.

But, you don't have to buy the telephone or its wiring—that's part of your telephone company's investment. And, monthly telephone bills take care of all operating expenses, as well as a return to investors. No matter how often you use local telephone service, you pay the same for it each month.

Considering all this, don't you agree that telephone service is the biggest value in your budget?

TEXAS—ANOTHER DUST BOWL?

Dust storms are a part of man's age-old struggle with nature—and Texas' greatest scourge!

Recurring "dusters" have changed once fertile areas of the world into desert. That was the fate of one of the most productive regions which we know through the Bible as the Garden of Eden.

Our trouble in Texas is not enough cover. Old-time cattlemen think the prairies should have been kept as pastures and never plowed. There may be some truth in that. But millions of acres are already under cultivation in the so-called dust bowl, supporting millions of people. We can't go back. Our problem now is how to go on and cope with the combination of intensive prairie land tillage, lengthy droughts and strong winds which sets the stage for dust storms.

Of course, the way to conserve the moisture and prevent blowing in the "wide open spaces" of Texas is to adopt measures which will replace the cover nature originally gave us.

Contouring and terracing are two ways of making that running water walk. They keep the water from draining off the land as rapidly as it falls.

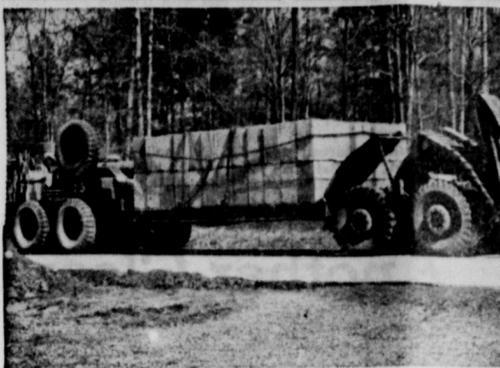

Still a better way to conserve moisture is to leave stubble and crop residue on top of the soil instead of plowing it under. This "stubble mulch" practice breaks the impact of the rainfall to let it soak in more slowly and thoroughly. It also provides protection for the soil from the sun and wind.

Stubble mulch has been used in Texas for only a few years and it is not yet in general practice. Planting strips of foliage in a field, or "strip-cropping", is a good way to keep the field from being a bald race track for a high wind.

A lot of us have been forcing the soil to get more production out of the maximum land. And, of course, all of us are for full production. On the other hand, we can't afford to abandon the practices we know will hold the soil and soil moisture.

So long as we don't have much water in Texas this year, the determining factor in our production for 1952, as well as in preventing a repetition of dust bowl conditions, may very well be how well we take care of the little moisture we do have.

Mrs. J. K. Jackson and son, Kenny, returned home last Saturday from Celeste where they had been visiting Mrs. Jackson's parents the past week.

MONSTER TANK CARRIER TRIES TEST ROAD—This 200,000-pound Army tank retriever was one of the heavy vehicles used on the Maryland Test Road by highway engineers in an experiment which proved that pavement built on gravel will carry weights far greater than the heaviest commercial trucks permitted anywhere.

Motorists today drive smoothly at 50 mph over the site of the road test, despite earlier unofficial reports the road was "ruined" by the specially heavy test trucks which were shuttled back and forth 24 hours a day for six months.

The Highway Research Board's official findings, just released in Washington, D. C., describe how the engineers withheld normal road maintenance so that washouts of clay beneath the pavement would permit cracking they could measure against various weights.

The report shows that the 28 concrete slabs on good soil didn't crack, and the tank retriever was run over this part of the highway to confirm that a properly-built road can support heavy loads.

The inadequate Choptank clay under 85 percent of the test road, it was said, exists nowhere except in a few parts of Maryland and Delaware, but the engineers' findings indicate that pavements built anywhere on poor soils, without adding gravel, require faithful maintenance if rain and weathering are not to weaken them so they cannot bear even ordinary traffic.

The Maryland Test Road was reopened to public use after the state highway department spent $9,918 on it, mostly to fix shoulders and drainage found faulty before the test.

Highway designers and builders are hopeful that the Maryland test and others in prospect will point the way to better highway construction and care. They have learned that a good foundation is a good start, for any road.

Cotton Improvement Groups Being Formed By Farmers Of Area

It's time to join a cotton improvement group.

This reminder comes to cotton farmers today from H. J. Matejowsky of Production and Marketing Administration's cotton classing office, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Abilene, Texas. "If you belonged to an improvement group last year, get with your neighbors and bring your organization up to date," Mr. Matejowsky said, adding, "and if you don't belong to one, join one."

He explained an application form could be obtained from the county PMA office, county agent, or local ginners.

Farmers who organize into improvement groups get two special benefits from USDA—free classification and market news service.

Both are provided for under the Smith-Doxey Act, which encourages farmers to grow varieties of cotton that are particularly adapted to their soil.

Mr. Matejowsky said that as soon as all farmers in the group have planted their cotton, the application for classing and market news should be mailed to this office. Address is P. O. Box 2001, Abilene, Texas.
