

Kracker Krumbs Odd Bits Salvaged at Random

Folks still remember the watermelon feed the C. D. A. staged while the organization was in its infancy.

It was scarcely a year old when this event was held at the Munday athletic field. It drew people of the community together for a pleasant evening.

Now the directors have hit upon another idea, but along practically the same line.

They're calling it the C. D. A. Goodwill Jubilee. We think they had more trouble selecting a name for the affair than anything else.

They didn't want to make it just a membership affair, or a Munday affair, but they want to spread out and take in every community in the county.

It's purpose is much the same as that first watermelon feed—to bring together from all parts of the county for a pleasant evening together—to enjoy good program and the fellowship of others.

There's people over in the next community whom you probably haven't seen in some time. Possibly they are close friends, former neighbors, but in the course of busy events you haven't had the opportunity to shake hands with them and visit with them for a moment.

And that's going to be the purpose of the Goodwill Jubilee—to bring friends together for an informal evening of enjoyment.

There won't be anything to sell, or buy, except good will. That won't cost you anything, as you meet and visit, eat watermelon, get your face and hands dirty, let your hair down and generally radiate friendship and good will among your friends.

But that won't be all. There will be an able speaker, who will possibly be able to tell you something of the "goings on" up Washington way.

Although still a freshman up there, he's probably been there long enough to know some of the "ins and outs" of our great national Congress.

The speaker will be Hon. Frank Ikard of Wichita Falls, our U. S. Congressman from this district.

Ikard is up for re-election to Congress from the 13th District of Texas. He's running without opposition.

Anyway, the election will be over by the time the Goodwill Jubilee is held, so you need not expect a political speech from Frank Ikard. We rather expect some down to earth, grass roots opinions when Ikard starts talking to the people of Knox County.

But that ain't all, folks. The C. D. A. isn't inviting you here just to eat watermelon and hear a speech.

The directors say there will be other entertainment—that which will be of interest to men, women and children.

They want you to discharge your baby sitters, or give them the night off, and bring the children, along, too. This Jubilee is for everybody.

The directors are thinking along the line of making this an annual affair, too to be held along about the same time each year. And if they do, they hope it will get bigger and bigger as time goes by.

As we said, it's not a snazzy affair—just a common, ordinary get-together that we're having too few of—where the man in overalls is just as welcome as the high-collared gent.

Now, if you're properly tuned up to start making plans, we'll tell you about that date.

It's going to be on Friday night, August 1, at 7:30 o'clock at the Munday athletic field. Be there!

Noted Wichita Falls Man To Speak At Methodist Men's Meeting Here

A. F. Edwards, professor of political science at Midwestern University in Wichita Falls, will be the principal speaker at the Methodist Men's Club at their meeting Tuesday evening, August 5. Edwards has been on the college faculty since it was founded as Wichita Falls Junior College 29 years ago.

Officers of the Methodist Men are planning a large attendance a feed and a good program for this meeting. They believe that in Mr. Edwards they have secured one of the most able speakers in this area.

Born on a blackland farm in Ellis County, Edwards was educated and taught in the country schools of that county. He received his bachelor of arts degree from the University of Texas and his master of arts at Southwestern Methodist University. He has done graduate study in universities in Texas, Colorado and California.

Edwards is widely sought as a speaker and is known throughout West Texas and Southern Oklahoma for his knowledge of government, history and religion. He was for many years a commentator on world news for Radio Station KVFT, Wichita Falls, commanding a wide audience of listeners, and teaches the Couples Class in the Sunday School of the First Methodist Church in Wichita Falls. He was one of eight instructors on the staff of the Interdenominational Life and Leadership School teachers by the large church denominations of Wichita Falls.

Edwards is a member of the board of stewards of First Methodist Church; of the Foreign Policy Association, the Mississippi Valley Historical Society, Texas Historical Society and Knife and Fork Club.

Reserved Seats Now On Sale For Football Games

The athletic committee of the C. D. A. has announced that tickets for reserved seats at football games are now on sale again. Those who bought reserved seats two years ago will be given their preference of purchasing the same seats again, or if they would like to change, they may do so by going to the C. D. A. office and selecting their seats from the diagram of the reserved seat section.

Proceeds from the sale of seats will be used in the maintenance of the athletic field and in painting the grandstands. Seats will be sold for $2.50 each for one year. The original price was $5 per year, and this money went to pay for erection of the stands.

The athletic committee urges everyone who would like reserved seats to purchase their tickets immediately so work on the athletic field can be done before the 1952 football season begins.

Interest Shown In Hawkins Test Near Knox City

BENJAMIN—Interest in Knox County's oil activities centered this week in Deep Rock Oil Corporation's No. 1 J. C. Hawkins, wildcat 4½ miles east of Knox City, in block 2, D&WRR survey.

Official potential test was awaited after seven-inch casing was set at 5853 feet in the venture after a favorable drillstem test was conducted in the conglomerate.

The drillstem test, from 5779-89 feet, showed a recovery of 5130 feet of free oil, 100 feet of oil-cut mud and 20 feet of salt water. Tool was open two hours.

At least 30 major oil companies and independent operators have extensive holdings in the area near the No. 1 Hawkins and considerable interest has been manifested in the outcome of the prospective discovery.

Lease prices in the area have ranged from $25 to $50 per acre and mineral rights have sold for as high as $250 to $300 an acre as far as two miles from the Hawkins test.

Preparations were under way the first of this week for an official initial potential test of the Hawkins well. Operator has put on swabbing the Pennsylvania-Conglomerate from 5772-91 feet. Seven-inch production has been set to 5883 feet.

S.913 IS IN YOUR INTEREST

Every taxpayer in this country have a very real interest in a bill (S. 913) which has passed the Senate and is now pending in the House.

This bill provides for a Joint Congressional Budget Committee, to be made up of 14 members, seven each from the House and Senate Appropriations Committees. The Committee would hire a permanent staff of technical experts whose duty would be to analyze each item in the proposed Presidential budgets and then to detail for Congress items which are wasteful or unnecessary.

This would give Congress that Constitutional control over the purse strings which, in actual practice, it has largely lost. Few members of Congress are experts on money and taxation and budget-making—few have the time or inclination to plough thoroughly through budget requests which are enormously technical and complex in many instances. The result is that bills involving billions of public money are steam-rolled through House and Senate—and taxes approach the point of confiscation.

S.913 would provide Congress with what it needs and must have—recommendations by experts free from outside pressure and influence. It would make it possible for Congress to vote budgets in which waste would be at a minimum. It would save us billions every year.

A QUESTION OF RELATIVITY

A short time ago the Senate Agricultural Committee reported that "the average manufacturing employe today can buy as much round steak and 29 per cent more pork chops with an hour's wages than was possible in 1947-48. It also said, "Today the average worker in manufacturing can buy more of all the important foods at retail prices with an hour's labor than in any earlier peacetime period such as 1947-48, 1935-39, or 1925-29."

"Reports have given city people an impression that farmers increased their incomes in recent years at the expense of urban consumers. The facts do not support this popular impression."

Since that released, the wholesale prices of many classes and grades of livestock and meat have declined, and consumers have been finding more attractive buys. This, as the American Meat Institute pointed out, is the result of the operation of the law of supply and demand—production of beef by the packers, for example, has been running well ahead of last years.

Here is the answer to those who believe that meat prices are out of all reason. The fact is that the average family's income has increased a trifle more than prices have increased. So it can buy as much or more meat for a given percentage of its household budget than it could have in past times.

This is borne out by Department of Agriculture figures which show that meat accounted for six per cent of the average consumer's disposable income during the 1930-39 period and five-and-one-half per cent during the 1948-51. The only sound way to evaluate the price of any article is in the light of the amount of money we bring home each pay-day.

ECONOMY, NOT SPEED

Unfortunately, far too many teen-age motorists regard an automobile as an instrument for getting thrills instead of a means of transportation. It is this tendency which has led to the spread of "hot-rodding," or contests involving souped-up jalopies, throughout Texas.

In most cases, the emphasis of the hot rodders is on speed rather than efficient and skillful driving, which is one of the reasons the teen-age drivers have far and away the worst accident record of any age group.

However, the growing popularity of "economy runs" has suggested what may be a partial solution to the problem. Why not persuade the youngsters to use their hot-rods in economy contests, rather than risk their necks in speed competitions?

It would teach them how to get maximum gas mileage out of their cars, and, what's more important, might well help to cut the swelling number of teen-age highway accidents.

"The future of civilization is, to a great extent, being written in the classrooms of the world."—Milton L. Smith.

One of the characteristics of a small town is its democracy; everyone is respected—unless, of course, by his own conduct, he forfeits respect.

In Brinkley, Ark. (where I lived when I was 7 and 8), there was a young fellow who "clerked" in a grocery store and drove the delivery wagon. Everyone liked him and he became a town hero when, as a member of the baseball team, he made a dash from third base and, in a cloud of dust, slid safely into home plate with the running run.

The principal of the school in Brinkley was "Professor" Bailey. He was a large man, very dignified and all the pupils were in great awe of him—and well they might be because this was before the days of "progressive education" and a boy who didn't obey the rules was not considered as "developing this individuality" and not to be repressed or curbed in any way lest scars be left on his psyche —instead, from Professor Bailey's strap, he acquired, if not scars, at least marks but not on his psyche.

Professor Bailey was more than a rigid disciplinarian. He had a very good mind and also human sympathy, as he proved after Louie came to Brinkley. Louie was a little Jew who had a small beard. He was born in Russia and had arrived in America only a short time before. My father had the town's largest drug store and he provided Louie with space in a corner for a table at which he repaired watches.

Some of the citizens considered Louie fair game for practical jokes. He bore them all with a patient smile. Louie wore a celluloid collar and one day a prankster held a match to it, and in an instant, flame had destroyed the collar and Louie received a burn about the throat. But even then he did not become angry and, after that, the practical jokes ceased.

Louie could not speak any English so Professor Bailey sent off for a Russian grammar and learned enough of that language to teach Louie English. In a few months, Louie had a good command of the language and added a stock of jewelry to his business. It was fine of Professor Bailey to go to all that trouble to teach an immigrant the language of his new land, wasn't it?

Me—Advising a Banker!

The Missus and I were invited to dinner over at Balesville the other night. I sat next to a banker from the state capital.

"Mighty nice country you've got down there," he says. "Don't be surprised if I come to live there myself. In a few years I plan to get away from everybody, buy a farm and just take it easy."

"Well," I told him, "we'd like to have you. But when someone plans to buy a farm and 'take it easy' he often winds up working harder than ever. It takes work to run a farm right no matter how many hands you can afford to hire. "And from where I sit," I continued, "you won't get away from people either. Neighbors are plenty important in a farming community—whether it's helping one another out or just friendly visiting over a social glass of beer." "Hard work and neighbors dropping in all the time?" he asks, looking at me over his glasses. Then he smiles and says, "Sounds wonderful. You've just sold me on a farm."

Munday Man Is All-Around Soldier At Alaska Port

Sgt. John C. Brown, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Brown of route 2, Munday, was recently chosen as an outstanding all-around soldier at the Port of Whittier, Alaska, a year-around shipping center for all Alaskan military bases.

Brown for his excellence in appearance, ability to give commands, military knowledge, the manual of arms with the M-1 rifle and sharpness in executing movements and facings.

A member of Headquarters and Headquarters Company, Sgt. Brown was assigned as harbor master supervisor upon entering Whittier last February, and was later appointed barracks sergeant. Since obtaining the rank of sergeant with 18 months service, he has constantly been urged by his company commander, Lt. Joseph N. Reith, and several other officers to enroll in officers' candidate school, but has not yet made his decision.

To The Voters:

In closing my campaign for County Judge of Knox County, I take this means of thanking the people of this county for their kindness and hospitality shown me during the campaign. Your kindness will always be a pleasant memory.

I realize that some of you were unintentionally missed during the canvass of the county. This was simply unavoidable, and I do solicit your vote and influence in Saturday's election.

Again, I solicit your support for an honest business administration of the affairs of Knox County.

CONFUSION IN SEED LABELS

Judging from inquiries and complaints which have reached the Texas Department of Agriculture in Austin, many farmers are confused as to the purpose of the Tested Seed Label which is required on each bag of seed sold in the state.

There are three tags which can be found on seed bags, all issued by the department—the tested seed label, the Certified seed tag, and the Registered seed tag. Unless the purchaser is familiar with each of them, he can easily become confused and believe he is buying seed guaranteed by the department.

The cream-colored Tested Seed label does not guarantee that the seed is of high quality. The Department of Agriculture issues the tags and requires the dealer to supply information on the tag as to bag contents.

Purpose of this tag is to let the purchaser know exactly what he is buying. The label states that the dealer should include on the tag the commonly accepted name of the seed, its germination qualities, the purity, amount of inert matter, weed seeds, date tested, weight of bag and origin of contents. This is the responsibility of the dealer, and if he falsifies this information, he violates the Texas Seed Law.

Many farmers are mistaking this tag for the Certified Seed Label and the Registered Seed tag. Both of these do guarantee, to a certain extent, a high quality of contents. The Certified tag is a pale blue in color, and the Registered tag, which is backed by even higher standards, is light purple. They are plainly marked "Certified" and "Registered." They also carry the name of the seed grower, variety of crop, weight per container, year of production, and a serial number. Field inspectors have determined qualities of the seed before either tag is issued.

Some unscrupulous operators have been known to attach these two quality tags to inferior seeds, since it would be impossible for the Texas Department of Agriculture to employ enough men to personally tag each bag. Any such practice is a direct and serious violation of the law and should be reported to the department at once.

It is a good practice for each farmer to save a generous sample of seed from each bag he purchases, and keep that bag with the sample. If the seed fails to meet expectations, the sample can be sent along with the tag to the Department of Agriculture for test purposes to be used as a guide in determining if the dealer is mislabeling his seed. Cooperation between purchasers and the Department of Agriculture will go a long way towards elimination of "seed rackets."

Knox Prairie Philosopher Wants Republicans And Democrats To Hold Their Conventions On Alternate Days

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek has been listening to the convention oratory, his letter this week reveals.

Dear editor:
I spent most of last week listening to a lot of oratory and I guess I have been neoped up too long out here on the creek, as I had no idea the country was in such terrible shape. If just half of what them Chicago orators said is true, there ain't no use in fightin Johnson grass any more, the country is shot to pieces and we might as well turn the cows out, fold our hands, and sit.

Now of course I have no objections to such a procedure, in fact I guess I'm ahead of the Republicans, as I long ago stopped fightin Johnson grass, turned the cows out, folded my hands, and began sittin, although I guess I did it for a different reason. I thought I was doin it because I wanted to, but I guess I was doin it because it was all up with the country.

However, I'd like to point out that if the Republicans revealed to me the country was in the gravest peril it's ever been, they also let me in on the fact they are still around to rescue it. In fact, up to now, I had no idea the country was in such bad shape or that there were so many people around who could guarantee to save it.

Now I'm not taking sides in this matter, but I wish the Democrats would hold their convention a little closer to the Republicans. When their oratory starts, it'll paint the country as bein in fine shape, never better, not only gotten prosperity around the corner permanently but rubbed out the corners, but the time in between the two conventions leaves a man so unassured he doesn't know which way to turn.

I'm proposing that they hold the two conventions simultaneously, on alternate nights. Let the Republicans speak Monday, the Democrats Tuesday, the Republicans Wednesday, the Democrats Thursday, etc.

I have the idea the country ain't really as bad off as the Republicans claim, and it ain't as well off as the Democrats are gonna say, but them two wetks in between leaves a man up in the air.

However, either way, it does not effect me much. If the country is as bad off as the Republicans say, there ain't no use workin, it's helpless; and if it's as well off as the Democrats say, workin is superflous.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by Dr. Geo. W. Cox
M. D., State Health Officer of Texas

AUSTIN—The control of the fly menace comes at the top of the list of necessary public health measures which should be applied by every city, community, and individual in the state, declared Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

The most effective measure for fly control is to prevent their breeding. Flies breed in filth and about tight days are required to complete a life cycle. During her life time of several months, one fly lays from 600 to 1,000 eggs.

To eliminate flies, the breeding places must be destroyed. Manure piles, garbage, and other organic filth furnish the requirements of warmth, moisture, and food necessary for propagation of the fly. Flies should be kept from contact with food or drink or utensils in which such food and drink are prepared and served. Likewise, they should be kept from access to privy vaults where they pick up the infections, which they later spread to humans by contact with the food and drink, and by unwashed hands and utensils.

See that your windows, doors, and porches are screened so that the stray fly from some careless neighbor will not molest your family. See that your grocer keeps meat, vegetables and fruit screened from flies.

The use of DDT and other sprays for the control of all varieties of adult flies and fly larvae have come into wide usage. However, their use should be, after all trash and breeding places have been eliminated. Otherwise, spraying will give only temporary relief and a false sense of security.

SHIVERS AGIN AUTO INSPECTION LAW; "SHALL CHANGE IT OR REPEAL IT" He Says

By BEN KAPLAN, Press Staff Writer

Governor Allan Shivers said today that the new auto inspection law should be either modified or repealed.

The Governor told the Press before he left Austin for Houston to make a campaign appearance that he had some ideas for changing the controversial law.

His idea is to take the red tape and confusion out of the law.

"The law was intended to bring about real safety and not inconvenience," said Governor Shivers.

"We need to stop killings on the highways. Texas has become the number one State in the United States for murder on the highways.

"The Legislature passed this inspection law by a vote of 117 to 12 in the House of Representatives and 19 to 9 in the State Senate, with the thought that it would save more than 200 Texas lives each year. If the law fails to do this and instead causes confusion and inconvenience, it ought to be changed or repealed."

The Governor said that he would recommend to the next session of the Legislature that it re-study and examine this law in view of the experience and either modify or repeal it.

(Several months ago, when it became apparent that the new law was causing inconvenience and confusion, Governor Shivers ordered it suspended until it can be reviewed by the Legislature.)

(Pol. Adv.—Paid for by Jack Dillard.)

J. C. Patterson Issues Statement

TO THE VOTERS OF KNOX COUNTY:

As the campaign nears a close, I would like to issue a statement in behalf of myself for the office of District Attorney:

I have tried to see as many people in the 50th Judicial District composed of Knox, King, Cottle and Baylor Counties, as was humanly possible. And any person who I have missed, it was not intentional on my part, but time, conditions, and opportunity has to be taken into consideration, and for that reason, many people were away from home, when I called, and too, with all four counties to canvass, it was just humanly impossible to make a house-to-house campaign.

One thing I would like for my friends to remember during the last days of the campaign, as stated to those whom I have had the opportunity to meet in person, I would like for the campaign to be carried on to the end, free of personalities, to the end that neither you nor I will have any regrets about the matter, for after all, officers are just "servants" of the people, and should conduct themselves and their campaigns on a basis of fair play.

During the remainder of the campaign, I would appreciate any friend of mine to speak to his neighbor, asking him or her to look into my claims with an open mind, and seeking their information from folk who know me, and I assure you that I will appreciate that kind of confidence, and should I still fail to see you, I will appreciate your vote on July 26, 1952, for District Attorney of the 50th Judicial District of Texas.

THANK YOU!

One-Fifth Of Nation Dreads Awful August

Hay fever sufferers—now estimated to constitute an "ill-nosed one-fifth of the nation"—have about given up expecting any relief through medical or weed-pulling projects as Awful August approaches once more.

But spokesmen for one of the nation's newest and fastest-growing industries are sounding a confident note of hope. Air conditioning, they say, definitely is the answer.

According to John A. Gilbreath, head of the air conditioning will provide complete relief because the filtering system used with the equipment is guaranteed to remove 100 per cent of the pollen particles in a home.

Spot checks by Servel engineers of homes equipped with all-year air conditioning have confirmed laboratory findings, he reports, adding that the filters will remove dust particles even smaller than the pollen.

"As a matter of fact we have found that most of the people who purchased the equipment did so for the relief from hay fever and asthma rather than for luxury living," the Evansville, Ind., executive said.

One reason the subject of hay fever has become of such nationwide interest in recent years, he added, is because of the trend toward suburban living. Many people, of necessity, have had to buy homes in the suburbs because they were the only available. The result has been, in his words, "an increasing exposure of people to ragweed and a sharp increase in the number of

Until recently, he said, medical authorities suggested injections with drugs but these were both expensive and time-consuming because of frequent trips to the doctor for administration.

Gilbreath said that one physician, who is an authority on the subject of hay fever, had summed up medical findings on the subject with:

Letters From The People

Editor's Note: The following letter to Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Lambeth of Goree was written by their grandson, Pfc. Bobby G. Lambeth, who is serving in the Marine in Korea.
Dear Grandmother and Grandad:
Thought I would drop you a few lines to let you know I am thinking about you.

We are having some typical Texas weather here, hot and dry. I don't know how hot it is, but it must be about 114. They say it gets to 120 degrees. As far as the heat goes, that hasn't bothered me much.

There isn't much going on but every once in a while the Gooks get their nerve up and come right up to the barbed wire. Every time they do, our boys sure pile them up. The night we got off the ship the company I'm in now killed over a hundred of them. They never miss that many men. What hurts them is

I wish to thank each of you for consideration and vote for this important office.

How To Slash Gin Fire Losses

BELLEVILLE, N. J.—Recent fire extinguishing tests conducted in Mississippi slashed cotton gin fire losses and cut down-time by 75 per cent, according to Walter Kiddle & Company Inc. here. These results, achieved with carbon dioxide fire extinguishing systems, indicate that the vast majority of gin fires can be extinguished immediately with a saving of millions of dollars annually to U.S. ginners.

Statistics show how serious the cotton gin fire menace is. In one record-breaking season, some 600 individual fires, not including hundreds of small losses, were reported. These involved almost 100,000 bales valued at nearly $1,500,000. The fire damaged ginning plants represented another $2,000,000 loss in property.

Here is the experience of just one ginner in Mississippi. Prior to the installation of the Kiddle carbon dioxide system, the gin had periodic fires which were fought with water and resulted in an average down-time of three hours per fire. As this gin earns $50 per hour while operating, each fire cost $150 in down-time alone.

For the 1951 season, this gin was equipped with a built-in carbon dioxide fire extinguishing system. That year nine fires struck the gin. Operation of the system extinguished each one in seconds and reduced down-time to about thirty minutes per fire. The gin owner explained that the nine fires caused shut-downs totaling only five hours and resulted in an operating loss of $450. Going on previous experience, had these same fires occurred and been attacked with water, they would have cost $2,430. "In just the first year," he said, "I figure I saved almost $2,000, which is substantially more than the cost of the system." In addition, this ginner stands to gain additional savings through lowered insurance rates.

The Kiddle method for cotton gin fire extinguishing employs carbon dioxide which is stored as a pressurized liquid in cylinders connected by piping to the gin. If fire breaks out, the cylinders are manually released and a sufficient volume of the agent rushes through piping under its own pressure and discharges as an inert gas into the drying tower, condenser, separator, burr extractor, inclined cleaner, and lint flue from Multijet nozzles flanged into the ginning equipment. It takes only seconds for the carbon dioxide to exclude sufficient oxygen from the gin to smother the fire. Unlike water, the gas does not damage machinery, is a non-conductor of electricity, and leaves no mess to be cleaned up following the blaze.

the supplies. Our planes try to blow them up if they can. It takes a long time for the Gooks to replace them.

If some of the people who can't see why they are fighting here instead of the U. S. could see the country and its people, it wouldn't take them long to change their minds. We sure don't want this bunch of people over there, if we have to fight them for the next 50 years. They don't know anything, but give them a gun and they think they are rulers of some kind.

The government pays them about 50 cents a month, in our money. I don't know what that is equal to in their money. The loyal Korean who works for us gets $3.00 a month, so I imagine that makes a lot of them loyal to the U. S.

Let me know how everyone is.

Love,
BOBBY.

Weeding Tool Can Be Made From Discarded Hoe

AN OLD garden hoe may readily be converted into a tool that can be used for weeding between rows of closely spaced vegetables. Ends of the hoe are cut off, as shown in the illustration from Popular Mechanics, and the bottom edge is trued. Either a hacksaw or cold chisel will do the job. For effective use, be sure to sharpen the edge well.

September Call Includes 1,188 Men From Texas

AUSTIN—State Selective Service headquarters was called on Tuesday to furnish 1,188 men for the armed forces in September, the state's share of a national call of 30,000.

Brigadier General Paul L. Wakefield, state Selective Service director, said quotas for local boards will be computed and put in the mail next week.

The September quota will be filled with men 20 years old or older. State Selective Service headquarters said that at present it appears Texas can furnish around 400 men in September who will be 21 or older. The remainder of the quota will have to come from the 20-year-old group.

The local boards will not be able to send any man for induction in September below the age of 20 with the exception of delinquents and volunteers.

The September call compares with an August call of 1,129, previously announced. The September call was for only 619 men.

State draft headquarters also announced a call for six physicians for military service in August. A call for three dentists in July has been announced previously.

There will be no regular physical examination of registrants in August, according to present plans at state Selective Headquarters. Examination of several thousand men may take place in September. No call for re-examination of 4-Fs in August or September has been received from national draft headquarters.

An honest, fearless lawyer, former district judge and assistant attorney general of Texas; an ex-serviceman and school teacher; a home owner, church and civic worker; and a family man, Yarbrough can and will make TEXAS a Governor of whom all can be proud. He is mature, sincere, diligent and able.

To The Voters:

I wish to take this opportunity to express my sincere thanks and appreciation to the citizens of Precinct No. 2 for the courtesies shown me in presenting my candidate for Commissioner. This has made the job immeasurably easier.

I have tried hard to see each voter but due to the limited time for campaigning have inadvertently missed some. To those I would like to address this statement as a solicitation for their vote and influence.

In closing the first primary campaign, I would like to leave three thoughts with you for your consideration.

1. From practical experience I believe that I am qualified for the technical side of the commissioner's office.
2. From varied business experience, I believe that I am qualified for the administrative side.
3. If elected, I will do the very best I can.

In conclusion, permit me to again thank you for your consideration. It has been a pleasure to talk to all of you.

BOLLWORM is dieldrin-DDT

Close rival to the weevil as a destroyer of cotton, the bollworm has always been more difficult to control.

As the bollworm season approaches, every cotton grower wants to know "What's the best insecticide?" Actually, no one chemical so far tried will provide top control of bollworm. But . . . field tests prove that certain combinations of chemicals do give effective control.

A mixture of dieldrin and DDT is one of the most deadly bollworm killers of all . . . more lethal than either insecticide alone. Used as a dust or a spray, the combination provides excellent control with relatively small dosages. The same dust or spray gets the boll weevil, fleahopper, tarnished and rapid plant bug, grasshoppers and a host of other pests.

Where large areas of cotton must be protected from bollworm damage, and low cost is a primary consideration, dieldrin-DDT mixtures provide profitable control at the lowest cost per acre.

Whichever combination is used, the timing and form of application (dust or spray) should follow the practice proved best in your area.

LIVESTOCK

(By Ted Gouldy)

FORT WORTH — Maybe it's the heat, or maybe it's just the way our mental processes work—but we got a kick out of the following windup paragraph from the Julius Hyman & Co., Newsletter this week. It goes like this:

"The goat that reeks on yonder hill
Has browsed all day on Chlorophyll!"

We see by the West News, McLennan County, Texas, that Elo Zapotek has a cow with the greatest production record we've heard of, or at least the best we recall—she has given birth to seven calves in the past two years!

Just the other day it was twins, last year she had triplets and a year before it was twins.

Just wait'll these government planners hear about THAT!

Despite much heavier receipts of livestock all around the country last week, cattle, calves and sheep moved higher. Gains as much as $1 to $3 were recorded at Fort Worth during that time.

This makes the law of supply and demand look rather silly at the first glimpse—but, the facts of the matter are that despite the larger receipts which included 37,000 more cattle, 6,000 more calves; 100,000 more hogs; 12,000 more sheep—the increase in sales was more than offset by increased demand around the nation's 12 major markets for the period.

Reasons include some cooler weather—more meat eaten.

Stocker and feeder buyers came out of hiding and began to refill pastures and feedlots.

At Fort Worth shipments were resumed to California ranchers and feeders. Some fat steers around 950-pounds sold for feeders, and recently all such cattle were strictly a packer proposition.

Demand for boning types of cows and bulls broke out all over the country. Some order buyers at Fort Worth reported inquiries from packers who had been unheard from for months and months.

The result was a very gratify-

TOOK AFRICAN TRAIL WITH BOW-AND-ARROW!

Robin Hood, the famed Normandy archer, the lads who followed William the Conqueror, and our own Annie Oakley have all been out-shot by one Howard Hill, ace archer of modern times, whose amazing African adventures are presented in "Tembo," thrill-packed feature-length film, directed and produced by him.

The film record of Hill's safari includes such unexpected moments as a close-up view of an enraged lion charging the hunter despite the lethal arrow in the beast's chest! Another unforgettable moment is when an assistant is attacked by a python. Engaging in hand to hand combat, the man finds himself helpless in the murderous coils. Only Hill's arrow, miraculously aimed to hit the reptile's head, saved the shaken member of the hunting party!

The little-known tribe of Leopard Men, unfriendly, suspicious, and definitely inhospitable, was the destination of the safari; adventures enroute as well as the final reception at the hands of the hostile tribe add up to an exciting and unique drama made on-the-spot!

"Tembo," photographed in Anasco color, will be shown at the Roxy Theatre Saturday night only, July 26.

Sunday guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Campbell were Mrs. George Hardin of Vernon and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lacy and baby of Benjamin.

To The Voters of Knox County

On the eve of the first primary, which will determine the contest in the county clerk's race, it is my desire to sincerely thank the citizens of Knox County for all the kindnesses and forbearance you have graciously extended to me during this campaign. I have endeavored to personally present my candidacy to each voter, but Knox County proved too large in the time allotted for the task; in consequence of which some of you have been missed. Please believe that this was not intentional, and to each of you I take this means of soliciting your vote and influence, should you see fit to give my candidacy favorable consideration.

No attempt will be made at this time to enlarge upon my qualifications or reasons for seeking this office, because I believe that I have adequately acquainted the voting public with these. I will only reiterate that if elected, I will do everything in my power to conduct the affairs of the office in an efficient manner.

Again, please accept my thanks for your consideration during the past weeks. Your words of encouragement have made the canvass of the county a pleasant experience.

ALLAN SHIVERS FOR GOVERNOR

THE TRUTH ABOUT OLD AGE ASSISTANCE

Governor Allan Shivers wrote and helped pass the first Old-Age Assistance law in Texas.

He stands for equitable distribution of funds for the needy.

Two years ago he was one of the leaders who tried to get more money for the aged, a cause that failed because the voters disapproved a constitutional amendment.

Governor Shivers has, in the past and will in the future, advocate making available to our deserving aged citizens not merely enough for a meager existence, but sufficient funds to carry them through the evening years of life as proud, dignified citizens.

An increase of $5 in each pension check is due next October.

THE TRUTH ABOUT COUNTY ROAD FUNDS

Farm-to-market road building has been the greatest in history during the Shivers administration.

During Governor Shivers' administration Knox County received $746,062 rural road benefits from state highway user taxes as follows:

License fees $177,915, road bond surplus $61,202 bonds paid $30,483, construction of farm-to-market roads $137,500, authorized but not under construction $339,500.

In this county 12 miles of farm-to-market roads have been built, and an additional 11½ miles have been authorized for construction, for a total of 23½ miles.

Governor Shivers' administration has consistently supported the Knox County road building program and will continue to do so in the future.
