Odd Bits Salvaged

Contrary to the opinion expressed by some, the method has not been changed.

It's just that we here in Munday are tornado jittery, especially when those tornado warnings come out over the radio and TV.

During a rainstorm one night last week the fire alarm sounded. It was actually a fire alarm and not a tornado warning.

A sleeping populace began flicking on their lights, jumping out of bed in excitement, and reports are a number of them dashed to the storm cellars.

Then the report got out that the method of giving tornado warnings had changed. But not so.

We checked with Fire Chief Toby Lane last Monday, and he thought it was just a case of jittery since the big siren sounded for quite a spell.

But if a tornado warning is given, not only will Old Betsy sound off like nobody's business, but all three fire trucks will take off in separate and different directions with their sirens going, trying to warn all sections of the residential area.

The report was the new method of warning about a tornado was for Old Betsy to cry out continuously for five minutes.

But if she woke us up in the middle of the night, we wouldn't know how long she'd been crying before waking us.

Then, too, if we suspected a tornado was heading in our direction it would be hard for us just to stand there and time Old Betsy to see if she cried out for a full five minutes!

So disregard all reports to the contrary—the tornado warning system remains the same.

How much rain did you get?

This question is asked repeatedly, and most people enjoy answering it.

Because we've possibly received more than ample rain for the time being, and with drying weather, farmers are going to find themselves heap much busy.

There's harvesting to do, although the wheat crop is light. There's planting to do, for the cotton and grain planting season is well upon us. There's wheat stubble to plow, and there's weeds growing by leaps and bounds.

Some say they've had too much rain—especially those who are waiting for the ground to dry out enough to get combines in the fields.

But wasn't it all wonderful?

A coveted plaque, first place prize on six-man hookup, was brought home by the Munday fireboys from the West Texas Firemen's convention in Archer City last Sunday. This is the only time in many years that a Munday team of firemen have taken a coveted first prize.

Out at the swimming pool Tuesday, a move was started for contributions for making the pool area into a nice recreation park, with picnic tables, cooking ovens, a tiny-tot wading pool, etc. Seems like a good thing, and your contribution will help.

Texas Savings Bonds Week Now In Full Swing

Citizens of Texas were becoming Savings Bonds conscious this week as "Full Speed Ahead" Week for U. S. Defense Savings Bonds got into full swing. Community leaders throughout the state are sparking the campaigns to stimulate bond purchases among all Texans. Texas ranked only 38th among the states last year in the percentage of bond goal attained. This year the goal is $201.9 million of which Knox County is expected to sell $248,000 in E and H bonds.

"We are pleased by the response of local citizens to this appeal," W. E. Braly, County Savings Bond Chairman reported today. "The volunteers who are working on this drive are reporting an unusual enthusiasm among the people for getting bond purchases up and on a more regular basis."

"Full Speed Ahead" Week was launched with an official proclamation by Governor Shivers, who called on all Texans to join in the bond-buying program.

Mr. Braly said business firms in the county are canvassing their employees in an effort to increase regular bond purchases. Some already offer the Payroll Savings Plan for automatic savings, and others are installing it this week.

He said he expected to have a report on the Payroll Savings accomplishment later in the week.

Opening Of Swimming Pool Held On Tuesday

Cars were parked all over the place, and an unusually large crowd milled about the pool area last Tuesday when the Munday Municipal Swimming Pool was officially opened for the season.

Little folks and youngsters frolicked in the water, having the time of their lives, while older ones were looking on and enjoying the entertainment. Coach Troy Stewart, pool manager, was busy all over the place while Lifeguard Skip Cure kept an eagle eye on activities from his perch above.

So the pool was open, and everyone was having a nice time. During the hour's program, Mayor M. F. Billingsley reviewed activities leading up to the pool's beginning and completion. He said a total of around $26,000 was spent to make the pool possible, but the property's estimated value was around $30,000.

He visualized an adequate and attractive park for the pool area, with picnic areas, a wading pool for the tiny tots, cooking facilities, bleachers along one side of the pool, etc. "We believe the people will contribute around $5,000 to make this possible," he said, "and I'm in for my part."

And the park movement was started. Members of the P. T. A. passed through the crowd to receive contributions.

During the ceremonies, Coach Stewart reviewed some of the rules governing the pool and urged observance of the rules for the health and safety of all.

Drive carefully. The life you save may be your own.

BOY FOR PRESIDENT; CIGARS FOR THE LIONS

Plate favors of cigars were found at the Lions Club luncheon on Tuesday, compliments of President-elect Tom Bullington. Reason: A boy in the family.

The young fellow made his arrival at the Knox County Hospital at 4:30 p. m. Thursday, May 19. He tipped the scales at 8 pounds, 13 1/2 ounces, and his name is Thomas Wilson, Jr., of course.

Tom said he wanted a little girl because "girls are nicer," but he's tickled about the boy and since it was a boy he said: "Way down deep, I didn't care which it would be." We don't think Janet cared, either.

Mrs. Bullington and son were brought home Wednesday. They are both doing fine, thank you, but she's going to have plenty of trouble with those two boys—Tom, Sr. and Jr.!

DOES RADAR HAVE ANY EFFECT ON AUTO ACCIDENTS?

During the first six months of radar's use, the Highway Patrol has stopped with radar 2,335 speeders in the North Tex. area, consisting of the following 12 counties: Archer, Baylor, Clay, Cottle, Foard, Hardeman, King, Knox, Montague, Wichita, Wilbarger and Young.

The results for the same period last year without radar were: 21 fatal, 95 personal injury, 284 property damage accidents, totaling 400 accidents. With radar the past six months' picture looks brighter, with 14 fatal, 73 personal injury, 179 property damage accidents, making a total of 266 accidents, or 134 accidents that didn't happen.

Capt. K. B. Hallmark, Jr., the commanding officer for this district, states that radar has primarily helped in this reduction, and continued effort on the part of the patrol will continue to reduce accidents. Hallmark says a great deal of this reduction is due to the voluntary compliance with speed laws, and he urges continued cooperation during the vacation season.

Wheat Referendum Vote Is June 25th

Any wheat producer in commercial areas who will have in excess of 15 acres of wheat for harvest as grain in 1956 is eligible to vote in the referendum. Local voting places for the June 25 referendum will be announced for each county in the commercial areas where wheat is grown. Two-thirds of the vote in the referendum must favor marketing quotas before they can be put into effect.

If quotas are approved, producers in commercial wheat states who stay within the acreage allotted for their farms will be eligible for the full level of price support. Producers in commercial states who do not comply with their allotments will not be eligible for price support and will be subject to marketing penalties on their excess wheat, if they have more than 15 acres for harvest.

If quotas are not approved by wheat growers in the June 25 referendum, the law provides for a wheat price support level at 50 percent of parity for producers who stay within their acreage allotments. If quotas are voted out, farmers can exceed allotments without being subject to quota penalties. However, even when quotas are voted out, compliance with the established allotments is still a requirement for eligibility to receive any price support.

In the non-commercial states, the price support will be at 75 percent of the level available in commercial states. There will be no allotments or quotas in the non-commercial states.

In the referendum last summer for quotas on the 1955-crop, 73.3 percent of farmers voting approved quotas. The vote was 208,623 in favor, and 76,023 against.

Announcement was made this week that Verne Frost, formerly of Abilene, has purchased the interests of H. E. Sharp in the local Chevrolet agency. The firm name has been changed to Frost Chevrolet Co.

The business deal was completed some two weeks ago and has received final approval of Chevrolet Division of General Motors Corp.

Mr. Frost was connected with General Motors Acceptance Corporation in Abilene for several years before coming to Munday. He has purchased the Bill Morris residence and moved his family to Munday the first of this week.

In announcing the sale of his interests, Mr. Sharp expressed his appreciation to the people of this trade area for the patronage given him during the two and one-half years he served as local Chevrolet dealer. He solicited a continuation of this wonderful patronage for the new owner.

Mr. Sharp did not announce his plans for the future, but is still maintaining his home in Munday.

"We are here to serve the people of this trade area," Mr. Frost stated, "and to do our part in furthering the progress of this community. We want to meet the people and serve them as best we can in our line."

"We are maintaining the same personnel in our service and repair departments, and we assure you of prompt and efficient service at all times. Feel free to call on us for all your automotive needs."

GOOD YEAR FOR RETAILING

Retailing enjoyed a good year in 1954, due largely to the business pick-up that took place in the second half. Volume was not far below the all-time high.

This near record business—believe it or not—was done at a profit so small that, if it had not existed at all, the gain to the consumer would have been exceedingly small.

A report covering a large number of department and specialty stores scattered around the country tells the story. Their 1954 net profits after taxes amounted to 2.1 per cent of their net sales. And this was not at all unusual. In 1953, the net was 2.2 per cent.

In other words, almost 98 per cent of the money we spent with these stores went right out again—for stocks, wages, taxes, rents, advertising, and all the other overhead costs which are an inescapable part of carrying on a retail business. And some stores dealing in staples, such as the food chains, commonly report profits of as little as one cent on each sales dollar.

This is the result of one thing only—open competition in a free market, in which the merchant who does the best job gets the trade. In that kind of a market, no one has a monopoly of anything and no one can profiteer. It is a market which makes for maximum quality at minimum price. It is one of our greatest material blessings.

A CONCRETE ANT HILL

If ants were provided with a concrete ant hill, what would they do? In all probability they would start building a regular ant hill next to the concrete one. Ants would perish without castles to build.

Socialism is much like the hypothetical concrete ant hill. It shouts Utopia and its sponsors promise a life of security. But it has in the past torn down the people's accumulated savings. What if socialism could give cradle to the grave security? That alone would leave man as lost as the ant in a concrete hill.

A republic of free men is based on the premise that the individual can build his own castle at his own risk instead of living in a cubicle provided by the state. With incentive as an urge to produce, man pushes himself to the highest standard of living.

The energy of man must find an outlet in building, as much as the ant. The creative spirit cannot be static.

THE STATES DIG DEEPER

This is a legislative year for 46 of the 48 states. Kentucky and Virginia being the only exceptions. In 12 of those states, the Tax Foundation reports, the governors asked for new taxes, and in 29 they asked for boosts in existing taxes. In all parts of the country, the state levies are going up on property, corporations, individual incomes, gasoline, and so on down the list.

In the fiscal year which will end this coming June, the states will collect over $12,000,000,000—more than double the 1946 figure. The total for the next fiscal year will be substantially greater.

These are matters of fact. And they add up to one thing—that we must demand economy on the local level as well as in Washington, D. C. The moderate tax reductions made by the federal government last year are being largely offset by mushrooming local taxes.

EDITORS DEFEND THE RIGHT TO WORK

The American Press magazine recently polled the editors of weekly newspapers to get their views on a number of current legislative controversies. One concerned the right-to-work laws, forbidding compulsory union membership, which have been passed by 17 states.

Of the 1,050 editors answering the poll, 86.1 per cent favored the laws and only 10.6 per cent were opposed, with the small remainder offering no opinion.

The great majority of editors, like the great majority of other citizens recognize the need for unions and support the legitimate activities of organized labor to better itself. But to force a man to join any organization and pay dues to it before he can earn a living is plain tyranny. Let the unions get their members on the basis of merit.

BRANCHES OF THE SAME TREE

The Hillsboro, Oregon, Arugs, says: "Those who argue for more and more government should get a better look at those countries that already have it. Maybe they would change their tune."

Big government has been the cause of wars and revolutions since time began. Putting all power in the hands of government and a ruling political class has caused oppression, slavery, and the destruction of human rights and human dignity. It makes no difference what label government wears—fascism, communism, socialism, welfare state—do-everything governments are branches of the same tree. They all wind up at the same place along the road of history. Freedom dies. The individual becomes a number—a hapless pawn of the state.

WHAT DOES THE BIBLE SAY?

BAPTIZED AT WHAT AGE?

"How old should a person be before he is baptized?" This is a question that cannot be answered in terms of years. The Bible does not answer it that way. We are not even told the approximate age at which one becomes accountable before God.

The Bible does tell us that one must hear the gospel before being baptized. Christ said, "Go ye therefore and teach all nations, baptizing them." (Matt. 28:19) It was said of the Samaritians, "But when they believed Philip preaching the things concerning the kingdom of God, and the name of Jesus Christ, they were baptized, both men and women." (Acts 8:12)

One must believe before he can be baptized. Christ said, "He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved." (Mk. 16:16) After Philip had preached Jesus unto the eunuch, the eunuch said, "See here is water; what doth hinder me to be baptized?" and Philip answered and said, "If thou believeth with all thine heart thou mayest." (Acts 8:36-37.)

Repentance is essential before baptism. "Repent and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of your sins and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Ghost." (Acts 2:38.)

And the faith that is in the heart of the one to be baptized must also be confessed. "Whoever therefore shall confess me before men, him will I confess also before my Father." (Matt. 10:32) "For with the heart man believeth unto righteousness; and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation." (Rom. 10:10)

Infants cannot be scripturally baptized. Neither can any other person who has not been taught, nor has believed the gospel, repented of his past sins, and made the good confession (That Jesus Christ is the Son of God) that one is capable of being baptized, regardless of his age.

News From The U. S. Congress

Congressman Frank Ikard

The problem that is foremost in the minds of everyone is whether or not means will be developed whereby lasting peace in the world can be brought about. The events of the last few weeks which have indicated that the Soviets are willing to talk with some degree of seriousness about this problem are certainly encouraging. Everyone is hopeful that much good will come out of the meeting of the heads of the great powers when they meet sometime within the next few months. As encouraging as all this news is, it is important not to let our enthusiasm run away with us and to always remember that those who are dedicated to world-wide conquest and establishing Communism as the only system in the world do not change their way of thinking over night, and while we must proceed hopefully, it is also important to use caution, and above everything else, to maintain our armed strength. If we let our guard down, the Communists would be the first to exploit our weakness, and we must not let them lull us into a sense of false security. The meeting of President Eisenhower with the heads of the other great powers should be fruitful; however, we must bear in mind that they should not be expected to solve in three or four days the problems that have been haunting mankind for hundreds of years. There seems to be no question but that the world situation has improved, but it has improved primarily because of the fact that we in this country have remained strong militarily and determined in our dedication to world-wide peace.

It now looks as though the Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee of the House will report a bill limiting the jurisdiction of the Federal Power Commission so that it will not have authority to regulate the price of natural gas in the field sometime this week. The hearings on this question have gone along for over six weeks. All indications are that the Committee will report a bill excluding the producers of natural gas from the jurisdiction of the Federal Power Commission and that the question will be up for consideration in the House sometime within the next two weeks. I strongly favor the enactment of legislation of this type because if affirmative action is not taken by the Congress, it could easily mean that within a few years the Federal Government would have absolute control of the oil and gas industry.

Many former prisoners of war in Korea have failed to file claims with the Foreign Claims Settlement Commission for their compensation. The deadline for filing these claims is August 21, 1955. Every former prisoner of war should investigate this immediately for it would be a shame if anyone's claim were denied because of failure to file.

Visitors from home this week were Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Lem Parks and their son, Jimmy, who is our District Spelling Bee Champion, Miss Connie Kubecka, of Wichita Falls; Mr. Edwin L. Owens of Denton, and Mr. Glen Savage, Jr., of Lewisville.

Diana Roberts, Defense Savings Bonds Queen for the current Texas "Full Speed Ahead" Savings Bonds campaign during May 22-23, breaks through Treasury posters to ask all Texans to purchase Defense Savings Bonds during the drive. Diana, who is 23 years of age, has been directing for over five years customers and depositors of Dallas' Texas Bank and Trust Co., to purchase Savings Bonds. Diana would like to see Texans everywhere sign up for payroll savings or purchase bonds regularly at their local banks during the "Full Speed Ahead" week. Treasury volunteers hope to double the number of payroll savers and Defense Savings Bond purchases.

The most memorable sight on my Florida visit last year was the Spanish fort in St. Augustine, oldest city in the United States. Construction of the grim, gray fortress began in 1672. A moat surrounds the stronghold and there is a drawbridge, like a castle in the Middle Ages—in fact, it is called Castillo de San Marcos. Walls, made of shell-rock, are from nine to 16 feet thick. There is a 100-foot square in the middle.

First, France and then England disputed with Spain for Florida. At the time of the American Revolution, England held Florida and two, perhaps three, signers of the Declaration of Independence were held prisoner in the fort.

After the United States acquired Florida, Fort Marion (the fort was renamed in honor of Francis Marion) was used as a prison. The famous Indian Chief, Osceola, was a captive. The cell from which another Indian chief escaped is pointed out. The cell has a narrow window, high up the wall.

During the Civil War, a band of Geronimo's Apaches were held in the fort, and while the Spanish-American War was going on, court-martialed soldiers were imprisoned in the stern stronghold.

There is a dungeon. Another feature of special interest is the chapel. One room, never reached by direct rays of the sun, never theless has rich green vine, growing on the barren wall, the moisture seeping from the rock.

The fort has known Spaniards, Englishmen, bombardments and sieges. Though historic St. Augustine has a number of old buildings and a magnificent hotel, the most impressive sight is the frowning fortress.

What ever happened to the Iver Johnson pistol? When I was a boy, all the magazines carried an ad, with the slogan, "Hammer the hammer" and a picture of a carpenter's hammer hitting the pistol's hammer to demonstrate that it would not go off unless the trigger was pulled.

When Rocky Marciano writes his memoirs, wonder if he'll use the title, "My Scrap Book"?

IMPROVED CROP OUTLOOK

Recent heavy rains in many areas of the state have changed the Texas crop outlook from "dismal failure" to "hopeful prospects."

Yet, regardless of the immediate picture, it is evident that Texas farmers and ranchmen still will need a "normal" amount of additional moisture the rest of this year.

Enough rain has fallen to assure a good grain sorghum planting condition in the production belt from Corpus Christi to the High Plains region. In the next few weeks, farmers will be busily planting millions of acres to this crop.

Cotton prospects are now fairly good after a disheartening start. Even though the rain washed out some fields and some hail damaged others, it is not too late to replant, in most cases. Hopes for corn look even better than cotton.

Unfortunately, the rain came too late to do much good for Texas wheat. Oats are gone for the most part but benefits to pastureland cannot be underestimated. Ranchmen hail the rains as "the best in the last five years" in Central and North Central Texas.

Despite the unusual amount of rainfall, however, the relief cannot be termed as a "drought breaker." Damage done by five extremely dry years will not be repaired by a week of rain. A vast area of South Texas, extending from Alice to Laredo and north to San Antonio has received only spotted downpours.

Water reserves are still short in many sections except those which received more than five inches. The initial showers must be followed by additional moisture equal to a normal year's supply before the threat to our water reserve is past.

Briefly, the rains are a blessing—but Texas needs more! At least a full "wet" year will be necessary to put agriculture back on its feet.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Worried Over Suggestion That Experts Get Out And Show Farmers How To Farm

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek is unnecessarily worried this week but apparently he'd rather worry than work.

Dear editor:
According to an article I read in a newspaper last night which my wife had spread on the floor to keep from tracking mud in after a little rain some time back, some experts in Washington have been thinking over the farming problem and have come to the conclusion the trouble with farmers is they aren't efficient enough, they don't produce enough stuff per acre.

To remedy this, one of the thinkers said it might be wise for the experts to get out in the field and show the farmer how to grow more per acre.

I'd like for you to know I don't believe the situation is bad enough to require such a desperate remedy.

In the first place, I don't know any experts who are hankering to get out in the field and plow, if they were inclined in that direction they wouldn't be experts. Most experts I know, with a few exceptions, got that way to avoid plowing.

And in the second place, I don't know any farmers willing to turn their plow to em.

It's sort of like economists. Business men listen to speeches by economists at conventions telling how business will pick up by three and two-tenths percent by September, but don't many of em hire em to run their outfits. Every time they try it, something goes wrong with the profit department.

Understand, I'm in favor of economists and agricultural experts, but they want to stick to their own departments.

However, this particular group of experts I'm talking about may be smarter than we realize.

If most farmers thought there was any likelihood they'd have to turn their farms over to an expert if they didn't get more efficient, things would pick up considerably, although not necessarily in my case.

If anybody wants to come out here and show me how he can make more per acre off this farm than I'm doing, he's welcome to it. There's the tractor sittin over there where I left it three weeks ago.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Chiggers may not cause a lot of damage but they can take the pleasure out of picnics and other out-of-doors activities. A pound of five percent dust of either chlordane or toxaphene applied to 1,000 square feet of lawn will control the pests for a week.

DON'T BE A HURRY BUG!

SLOW DOWN and LIVE!

An Appeal for 101 Days of Safe Driving

During the summer months—from Memorial Day through Labor Day—highway traffic fatalities are high. So high that the Governors' Conference has endorsed a nation-wide safe driving program during the 101 days between the two holidays.

Only you, the motorist, can make this campaign a success . . . If you, and every other highway traveler, will resolve to drive at a safe speed, to follow the recommendations of Safety Associations for safe highway driving, literally hundreds of lives will be saved during this summer's travel. One of them may be your own.

Wherever you drive this summer,
PLEASE DRIVE SAFELY

Safety Associations recommend that you follow these simple rules for a safe vacation trip:

- Observe all posted speed limits; don't hurry, ever.
- Regulate the speed of your car to highway and traffic conditions.
- Don't drive too long—stop when you're tired.
- Observe all highway caution warnings—slow down for curves, when descending steep hills, etc.
- Don't drink when driving.
- Follow the golden rule of traffic courtesy: give other motorists the same consideration you'd like for them to give you.

LET'S TALK
LIVESTOCK
BY TED GOULDY

Cattle and Calves Mostly Steady

FORT WORTH—On Monday most cattle and calves sold around steady at Fort Worth. Exceptions to the steady trade were fed steers and yearlings which were around 50 cents or more lower. Some stronger prices were reported on slaughter calves of the upper grades and also on stocker kinds of cattle and calves.

The recent rains in the Southwest cut the receipts to market only slightly, and not enough time has elapsed to create any definite stronger tone to the stocker trade in most parts of this area.

Fat cattle were depressed despite a small offering here. The pressure on fed cattle came from reported heavy runs at Corn Belt points, Chicago reporting the biggest runs since October. Other midwest points also reported large numbers of fat cattle.

Most observers here agree that while movement of cattle to market from the western two-thirds of Texas will be moved back some weeks by the rains, that normal seasonal patterns of shipping will prevail in the Eastern third of the State where June and July are usually periods of heavy shipping.

Prices included: Good and choice fed steers and yearlings $18-$22.50; helpers mostly $21 down; common, plain and medium sorts $12-$18. Fat cows $10.50-$13.50; canners and cutters $6.50-$10.50. Bulls $10-$14.50. Good and choice slaughter calves $16-$20.75; cull, common and medium sorts $9-$15. Stocker steer calves $16-$22 and loads choice quotable higher; yearling stockers $21 down; older feeding steers $20 down; stocker cows $7-$12; helper calves and yearlings in stocker flesh $2 to $4 under comparable steers.

Hogs Hit New High Ground For Season

Hogs topped at $19 and $19.25 Monday at Fort Worth. The advance was 50 cents to 75 cents above the previous week's close. Shorter runs around the 12 major markets was credited with the improvement. Sows were 50 cents higher.

Good and choice butcher hogs drew $19-$19.25, while less desirable kinds sold from $17.50-$19. Sows cashed at $11 to $15.

New Yorkers Like Cattle Biz, Too!

Report from the American National Cattlemen's Association is that New York has joined up, reporting 31,000 cattle. This seems small to folks in the cow country, but in 1940 only 7,000 beef cattle were reported in New York. This same increase in cattle numbers can be noted in most states to a more or less degree. Proving again that farmers are finding livestock their very best cash crop—salable any day, weather resistant, and in most cases good insurance against crop failure.

Lambs Continue Sharp Advance
Spring lambs opened 50 cents to $1 higher again, and other sheep and lambs were strong to 50 cents higher. The run of 13,500 was about level with normal seasonal movement at Fort Worth Monday.

Packers again were faced with stiff contention from shipping buyers, and the country demand for stockers in the Southwest appeared to be building up. While the recent rains have not had time to make much pasture in the big sheep country, the stock water situation is far better and reports of greening are heard. Demand for stocker ewes is

RETIRED MINISTER AND WIFE PRESENTED TELEVISION SET

Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Baughman were invited to spend the day with friends, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Thornton, in the country recently. When they returned home late in the afternoon, they were surprised to find cars parked all around the place and an antenna over 50 feet above the house.

Upon entering the house, they found a beautiful new cabinet model television set in the living room and a group of friends with refreshments ready to serve.

It seemed that two or three had the idea of the gift about the same time and when mentioned to a few friends the money came in so fast from friends in Goree, Munday and Seymour, that after the set was purchased there was a love offering of $50 in cash to go with it.

Rev. Baughman was married to Carrie Mathews of Hearne, Texas, in November, 1908. He has pastored Methodists in parts of Texas for 38 years and was in Oklahoma one year. He moved to Goree 17 years ago and retired after pastoring the Goree Methodist Church for four years and purchased his home here

He has been quite active since retiring, serving as a supply preacher and in civic activities.

Mrs. Baughman was educated in Baylor University. She did mission work with the Indians in New Mexico and taught school in Texas before her marriage. They have one daughter, Mrs. Lora Barnett, a teacher in the Gainesville schools, and two grandchildren.

POW-WOW DINNER GIVEN SENIOR CLASS

The senior class had a very enjoyable evening Thursday, May 12, when members were entertained with a "pow-wow" dinner given by the Study Club in the memorial building. The club had been studying Indians for the past year.

An Indian theme was carried out in the decorations. Guests were greeted by club members dressed in Indian attire. They were led by a tee-pee where two boys, David Bates and Jackie Barger, sat dressed as Indian children. Tables were covered with bright cloths and centered with pieces of pottery. Indian figures of plastic served as plate favors.

A delicious plate was served to club members and their husbands and the senior class members and their dates. After the meal, guests and officers for the new year were recognized by Mrs. Sue Bates, outgoing president.

A short play was presented by Mrs. Sue Bates, Mrs. Walter Hadley, James Carver, Rev. Walter Hadley, Reuben Bates, Barton Carl and Mrs. Dorse Rogers, reader. Mrs. James Carver, program chairman, directed the games and led the group in several songs to close the evening's activities.

IT'S THE LAW in Texas

DIVISION OF SEPARATE ESTATES BY STATUTE EXPLAINED

The death of an intestate person (one who has made no will) may give rise to many problems regarding distribution of his separate estate. In the preceding column we investigated the manner of dividing the community estate upon the death of a husband or wife. Now we shall see that, where separate property is involved, a completely different set of rules applies in determining heirship and apportioning the estate among the rightful claimants.

It may be well to recall that the separate estate of a husband or wife includes property owned by either before marriage, and that which is acquired after marriage by gift or inheritance. Any other property acquired after marriage is presumed by law to be community property until the contrary is clearly proved.

Now, here is a general idea as to how your separate property will be divided if you do not make a will with contrary provisions prior to your death.

If your husband or wife survives and if, in addition, there are surviving children or descendants of previously deceased children, the children and their descendants immediately obtain a full (fee) title in two-thirds of the real estate involved. The surviving spouse receives a life interest in the remaining one-third of the real property, which passes on to the children and their descendants upon the death of the spouse.

The rule for distributing personal property—cash, stocks, or bonds, furniture, or any other items not constituting real estate—is different. Here the surviving spouse gets full ownership of one-third, and the children and their descendants inherit the balance.

Now suppose your husband or wife survives, but there are no surviving children or their descendants. In this case the surviving spouse inherits all of the personal property involved.

With regard to real estate, the survivor obtains full title to one half, and the other half is divided between your mother and father, if both survive you. If only one of them survives, he or she receives only half of this portion, and the other half (or one-fourth of the entire real estate) will be divided among your brothers and sisters (and their descendants) who survive. If there are no surviving brothers and sisters and their descendants, then the one surviving parent inherits the full one-half.

Where no parent survives, but there are brothers and sisters and descendants, the full one-half is divided among these survivors.

And, if there are no parents or brothers and sisters (and their descendants) surviving, then the surviving husband or wife inherits all of the real estate.

advised vacationists to look for these protective features: a well site protected from flooding with good drainage, and a concrete platform surrounding the pump. The pump itself should be securely mounted on the platform, should have a rod that enters the top through packing, and should have a turned-down spout. Contaminated water is usually found in wells with open wood platforms, pits underneath the pump, openings where the pump rod enters the pump, and in pumps that require priming to operate.

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by Henry A. Holle, M. D., State Health Officer of Texas

AUSTIN—One of the most important factors contributing to the well-being of summer vacationists is a safe and healthful water supply. Contaminated water is the annual cause of much sickness and many fatalities. Water from sources not known to be safe should never be used to supply vacation needs.

Dr. Henry A. Holle, Commissioner of Health, stated this week that most municipal water systems in Texas are periodically inspected and samples submitted to the State Health Laboratory for examination. He advised that it is always best, when in doubt, to endeavor to secure water from a municipal supply.

"Families away from home on picnics, excursions, or vacation trips," Dr. Holle said, "should either ascertain that their water supply is safe or they should make it safe for human consumption. Water can be rendered safe by boiling for 15 minutes or by the addition of chlorine. A few drops of ordinary chlorine laundry bleaches can be added to a gallon of clear water and if the water is allowed to stand for 15 minutes it may be used for drinking."

If drinking water is obtained from a private well, Dr. Holle

Early Season Cotton Insect Control Pays Dividends To High Plains Farmers

Early season cotton insect control paid up to $108.33 per acre at the Lubbock Experiment Station in 1954.

Insecticide tests at the station included pre-square applications for thrips control and post-square treatments for fleahoppers and thrips control. Toxaphene and dieldrin sprays also were compared in two experiments.

W. I. Owen, Jr., entomologist at the station, reports that the pre-square toxaphene applications controlled thrips effectively for at least one week. Two treatments reduced plant malformation but did not protect cotton from thrips injury where infestations persisted after the plants reached the fruiting stage. Where damage was confined to the pre-square stage of growth, controls did not increase yields materially.

Where fleahoppers and thrips occurred in damaging infestations, economical control was gained with two or three applications of toxaphene or dieldrin sprays, Owens says. Although both materials were equally effective in controlling fleahoppers, dieldrin was superior to toxaphene for thrips control since infestations were reduced for longer periods.

Yields of seed cotton were 653 pounds to the acre with two applications of toxaphene while two treatments of dieldrin produced 700 pounds of seed cotton per acre more than untreated cotton. Three applications of toxaphene and dieldrin increased yields 727 and 934 pounds per acre over untreated cotton.

Owen says assuming the lint from treated and untreated cotton was equal in quality the average gross return from control was $96.46 per acre for toxaphene and $108.33 per acre for the dieldrin treatments.
