Odd Bits Salvaged
at Random

Politics goes deeper than common sense!
k-k
And we think it's reached that point in the case of our retiring governor and our governor-elect. Both of their views on the matter of Daniel's resignation as U. S. senator may have legal aspects. Both are supposed to be attorneys and should reach some definite conclusion, but all this squabbling about who has resigned, who hasn't and who wants the senate seat to be vacated by Daniel kinda makes us common folks sick at the stomach.

k-k
Our two-bits worth of opinion—if it's valued that highly—is that it should be up to the voters to determine who shall fill that senate seat. An appointment by either Shivers or Daniel would not be the choice of the people.

k-k
Another governor, W. Lee O'Daniel, made an appointment back yonder when Senator Morris Sheppard died—and most of us haven't forgotten that.

k-k
Today (this Thursday) is actually Thanksgiving, according to act of congress, but we in Munday are taking the Texas Thanksgiving. We Texans, you know, like we've said before, like to be different—even if wrong.

k-k
So we in Munday just went along with Texas. It seems that Shivers preferred the last Thursday—in this case the fifth one in the month—as Thanksgiving, so he proclaimed it as such.

k-k
The schools have a teachers' meeting in Houston on that date, to which very few local teachers will go, so they voted to take next week end for the Thanksgiving holidays.

k-k
The big Texas A & M—Texas University football game is scheduled for the 29th—and that's not to be sneezed at, even though we won't be able to see it.

k-k
We remember when the mess first started. We then had Thanksgiving and "Franksiving" so called after President Roosevelt started the mess.

k-k
Anyway, we guess it won't hurt us to be thankful on both dates—and the mess won't come up again, we understand, until 1960, so let's begin thinking about which Thanksgiving we'll take then.

k-k
And if you can't go to the teachers meeting, to the big football game, and your relatives are observing Thursday, the 22, as Thanksgiving and you couldn't make it to their dinner table, we know of one place you can go . . .

k-k
The folks out at Rhineland are having their big Thanksgiving dinner and special events on the 29th. From past experience, we know you'll get your dollar's worth if you got out there for dinner.

k-k
The article "Lone Star Agriculture" by John C. White, commissioner of agriculture, should be of interest to many people of this area. It concerns the importance of returning cotton burs to the soil. Turn now and read it.

k-k
Mrs. A. E. Womble and the Joe Bailey Kings went out of the chicken business overnight just recently. They didn't have a large flock, some eight or nine hens, just enough to keep the family in fresh eggs. One night a dog got into the chicken pen and killed all the chickens. A night or two later, a neighbor's pet white cat became the victim of the same or another dog, and folks would like to know exactly what dog is on the rampage.

Moguls Close Season Friday With 33 to 7 Win Over Wildcats From Crowell

The Munday Moguls wrote "finis" to the 1956 football season last Friday night by roundly whipping the Crowell Wildcats, 33 to 7, on the local field.

Both teams were held scoreless in the first period, which was a rough and tumble affair with numerous penalties, but the Moguls turned on steam in the later periods for another 1A-11 victory.

The Wildcats turned in a fine defensive game for two periods, but the hard charging of the Moguls subdued them, as the local boys came out in the second half with their peculiar brand of "par football."

Munday's first touchdown came in the early moments of the second quarter when Freddie Caram went from his left half-back position through right tackle for the last five yards.

Crowell knotted the score a few minutes later when Gerald Bradford took a pass from Printins Gidney that covered 26 yards.

Munday took the hint and took to the airways on its own a few minutes later. Glenn Amerson hit Caram with a 25-yard pass and Caram scooted the remaining 20 yards for the tally.

Caram scored again in the third period on a line plunge off tackle for 10 yards. Amerson scored early in the fourth period from 10 yards out and passed to Gerald Tidwell for 23 yards for the final tally.

Munday racked up 10 first downs to Crowell's seven and had 293 yards from scrimmage compared to 80 for Crowell. The Moguls passed for 126 yards and Crowell passed for 69.

Ben Boston of Vernon has been named chairman of District 13 on the Texas United Defense Fund, the state-wide group which will sponsor USO's campaign for $702,396 in Texas this year.

In accepting the appointment, Mr. Boston stated that "The uncertainties and the threats of the present time make the task of our boys and girls in service extremely difficult and trying. They need to know that we are behind them, that we realize and appreciate the sacrifices they are making and the dangers to which they are exposed for our defense, safety and peace in the world. There is no finer way we can show our understanding and appreciation than by giving as volunteer Americans to the USO, and providing a 'Home away from Home' for our servicemen and women."

DIVIDING UP A DOLLAR

The word "spread" is used to describe the difference between what producers get for raw material of various kinds and what consumers pay for finished products in the stores. And just about everyone must have heard that this spread is too great—and that some group, like the retailers, are profiting excessively.

A top authority, so far as the prices of farm products are concerned—the Oklahoma Farm Bureau—has now performed a public service by making a factual contribution to this discussion. Out of each dollar spent by consumers for food, the farmer gets 39.5 cents—a decline of 23 per cent since 1947. Labor gets 31.5 cents—a rise of 30 per cent since 1947. Handlers, such as the retailers and processors and others, get 2.9 cents—a decline of 42 per cent since 1947. Other costs—including packaging materials, insurance, depreciation, rents, etc.—account for 23.3 per cent, up 42 per cent since 1947. The balance of 2.8 cents goes for federal taxes.

One big reason for the increase in labor and related costs is that people now demand and get more and more foods with "built-in maid service"—that is, foods so processed and prepared as to demand a minimum of work on the part of the housewife.

Finally, the fact that the handlers' part of the dollar has steadily and materially dropped since 1947 shows that there is no profiteering there—and that keen competition holds their share to the lowest possible figure.

What is true of food is true of all manner of other things at retail.

CLEAR BLUEPRINT

Some weeks before election day, the Citizens Committee for the Hoover Report sent kits of research materials to Senate and House candidates of both parties.

It is to be hoped that those who have been elected to office will study this material with care. The recommendations, if all are followed, would save an estimated $5 billion a year, and some put the figure much higher. They constitute the clearest blueprint for increased efficiency and economy in the federal government ever made.

TERRE HAUTE, IND. TRIBUNE STAR: "The great foundation on which free representative government rests is free private enterprise. Government in business eats away at that foundation."

TRANSFORMATION

Does communism work to the advantage of the "common man" and the masses of people?

If you have doubts as to the answer, some statements made by Edward Crankshaw, one of the few Western authorities on Russia, in his new book, "Russia Without Stalin: The Emerging Pattern", should be illuminating.

He says: "The Soviet Union today offers contrasts of luxurious living and privation as great as anywhere in the world . . ."

In another place he writes: "The trade unions were steadily transformed from protectors of the interests of the workers in face of the state to protectors of the interests of the state in face of the workers."

For selfish reasons, if none other, workers should be among the most aggressive opponents of communism or any other form of super, all-powerful government. This kind of government inevitably destroys free labor just as it destroys free enterprise.

WANT TO WIN A BET?

Citizens Public Expenditure Survey suggests that "if you want to win a bet, bet your neighbor he can't tell how much taxes he pays in a year." The odds are overwhelming that he can't—because of the vast number of hidden, indirect, and so-called "painless" taxes that exist.

Here's the way the tax bill works out, according to a recent authoritative computation. If you make $67.30 a week, you pay $1,043 a year in taxes. If you make $86.54 a week, you pay $1,425 a year. And if you've got a job paying $7,500 a year, the tax collectors will get $2,637 of it—more than a third.

The Survey states: "At $86.54 a week, you work more hours to pay your taxes than for food and clothing combined!" Tell that to those who still say that taxation is a serious problem only to the rich!

TELL CITY, IND. NEWS: "It seems that warm months offer many new means for the fast buck guys to operate. The field of operation may include everything from fake roof and gutter cleaners to phony telephone quizzes . . . Actually there is no need for this to happen. There is a cure. Let the fellows who are in business in local concerns do your work."

WHAT DOES THE BIBLE SAY?

That For Which We Stand, con.

8. We stand for the way of life described in the New Testament as the only way of life for Christian men below. We are warned to "live soberly, righteously, and godly in this present world." Titus 2:11-12. We must follow such simple life as the beatitudes (Matt. 5:3-12). And the Golden Rule (Matt. 7:12), but these are not the only things we must do to enter heaven at last. Christ is our example (1 Pet. 2:21-23), and we must be followers . . . of Christ," 1 Cor. 11:1. We are warned to "take heed lest ye fall," 1 Cor. 10:12. We are told to make our "calling an election sure," 2 Pet. 1:5-11. We are warned that "whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap, Gal. 6:7-9. Only "those who 'die in the Lord,' (Rev. 14:13) will be blessed at last. We urge men, therefore, to "do his commandments," in order to "have a right to the tree of life, and enter in through the gate into the tree of life," Rev. 22:14.

9. We stand for Christ, as the only hope of the world, and the only saviour of the entire human race. Only in Him may we have redemption through his blood, the forgiveness of sins Eph. 1:7. So we urge all men every where to become Christians and be faithful unto His will, for only "if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature," 2 Cor. 5:17. We must be satisfied to follow Christ's way of life, for "if a man abide not in me, he is cast forth as a branch, John 15:6. This means eternal damnation.

We stand therefore, against any change in God's plan, which would reflect upon the wisdom or integrity of the Almighty God and His Son Jesus Christ.

OUR PLEA, THEREFORE, IS SIMPLY THIS: Let us make a complete return to the Lord and His way in our religious work and worship. Let us restore the church of the New Testament in our generation, exactly as it was when inspired men left it on the earth. Let us abolish and destroy anything and everything that would lead men away from God and His laws.

Seller Remains Liable When Buyer Assumes Mortgage

Henry Jones decided to sell his home for $15,000 and when a buyer was found, the question arose as to how the buyer should finance the purchase.

Henry had a mortgage on his house, with a balance of $10,000, and the buyer suggested that Henry permit him to take over the mortgage payments, paying Henry the difference of $5,000 in cash. This, argued the buyer, would save him the trouble and expense of getting a new loan himself and so Henry agreed.

Several years after the deal was closed, Henry received a letter from his bank advising that the payments on the mortgage were far in arrears and that he would have to pay or a lawsuit would be filed.

Henry was surprised to learn that he was still liable on the original obligation, and that if the property could not be sold at foreclosure to bring enough money to pay the mortgage balance and the costs, he would have to pay the difference.

Of course, Henry might have sued his buyer for his loss, but the chances would be that the buyer is insolvent and "judgment-proof," so that Henry could not collect a judgment against him.

When a mortgage is assumed by a purchaser of real estate, the financial institution still holds the

MODERN HOMEMAKING RECIPES... HOUSEHOLD HELPS

By Julia Hunter
HOME ECONOMICS DIRECTOR, LONE STAR GAS COMPANY

A single visit by a modern homemaker to her grocers or bakers is all she needs to learn that at one of these places she can find her favorite breads, buns or rolls baked just to her liking by experts. And while she knows she can depend on these experts daily for quality, there comes a time when she likes to try her own skill at home baking. Baking is a very satisfying cooking experience, for the results are so appreciated. Like the preparation of any other foods, reliable ingredients, tested recipes and easy to understand directions are the most important steps toward making your culinary expedition a success.

Basically there are two types of bread; quick bread and yeast bread. Available time will probably determine the type to be made, for as names indicate yeast breads take longer to prepare. A little practice can make you an expert at either and the old saying "variety is the spice of life" still holds true.

Quick breads use quick-acting leavening such as baking powder, soda, sour cream or steam. Included in the quick bread type are biscuits, muffins, cornbread, pancakes, waffles, fritters, nut loaves and the many variations of all these. Quick breads may be made just before serving, for most of them are at their best when served piping hot.

Yeast breads are just those made from doughs in which yeast is used for leavening. Because time must be allowed for the yeast to cause the dough or batter to rise, yeast breads have a more porous texture than quick breads and the dough or batter contains some form of sugar since yeast and sugar work together to cause them to rise.

If you plan to serve a quick bread piping hot from the oven or griddle, avoid a last minute rush by measuring all dry ingredients ahead of time. Quick breads may even be made an hour or so ahead of time if the dough or batter is kept in a cold place until it is baked.

When baking muffins, if the batter does not fill all the cups in the pan, wipe out the grease from unfilled cups. If the pan is placed in the oven with greased cups unfilled, the grease will brown on the pan. Muffins baked in paper cups are attractive for serving and make easy work of washing muffin pans. If muffins are done a little ahead of serving time, tip them slightly in the cups and keep them warm in the oven.

For further information on home baking send a post card to Home Economics Department, Room 601, Lone Star Gas Company, 301 S. Harwood Street, Dallas, Texas.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

No-Knead Oatmeal Bread: Dissolve one package or cake yeast in 1/2 cup of lukewarm water. Combine and cool to lukewarm 1 1/2 cups boiling water, 1 1/2 cups quick cooking oatmeal, 1/3 cup shortening, 1/2 cup light molasses and four tablespoon salt. When mixture has cooled, add softened yeast. Mix well and blend in two beaten eggs. Add five cups of sifted flour, mixing well. Shape into two loaves and place in greased 9x5x3-inch loaf pans. Cover and allow to rise in a warm place until doubled in bulk or until an indentation is left when two fingers are quickly pressed into dough. (About 1 1/2 hours). Bake in moderate gas oven (350 degrees-F.) one hour. Remove pan and let cool on wire rack. Makes two loaves.

Note: This dough may be stored in the refrigerator for several days. Store dough after it is shaped into loaves, but before rising. Remove from refrigerator to allow time for rising before baking.

Pvt. Vern Reddell, Miss Neldra Starling Marry In Dallas

Pvt. Vern R. Reddell and his bride, the former Miss Neldra Starling, are on a wedding trip to Acapulco and Mexico City.

The couple exchanged wedding vows in a double-ring ceremony on Saturday night, November 10, at the East Dallas Baptist Church before the Rev. Carroll T. Cole, pastor of the East Paris Baptist Church in Paris.

Nuptial music was presented by J. L. Bass, Jr., and Tommy Lander.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Starling of Dallas. Mr. and Mrs. James Fred Reddell, Sr., of Munday are parents of the bridegroom.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a gown of white chantilly lace over satin, featuring a back cascade of lace and tulle ruffles. The high empire lines of the tightly moulded bodice was accentuated by a Queen Ann collar.

Her veil of tulle fell in tiers to her fingertips from a crown of satin tipped with pearl teardrops, and she carried a white Bible surrounded by white carnations and stephanotis centered with an orchid.

Mrs. James Farrow, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and Mr. Leo Hill was best man. Bridesmaids were Misses Helen Onley of Dallas and Janice Rowland of Shreveport. Dorothy Maynard was flowergirl.

James Orville Cook and T. W. Weaver served as groomsmen, and Bill Starling was ringbearer. Seating the guests were Cecil Sanders and Curtis Cook.

A reception was held following the ceremony. Members of the houseparty included Mrs. Joy Cutchshaw, Patsy Hill and Miss Barbara Ward.

The bride is a graduate of Palestine High School and attended East Texas Baptist College. The groom was graduated from Munday High School and Texas Technological College.

The couple will live in Dallas, where Pvt. Reddell is serving with the Army Audit Agency, U. S. Army.

TWO GIRLS, A CHEVY AND A RECORD!

A meaningful achievement in automobile performance

Most automobile performance records are pretty difficult to relate to the kind of day-in, day-out driving most of us do. Running at safe and legal speeds, a '57 Chevrolet recently chalked up an important new coast-to-coast record on the road. And the way it set this record is even more important than the record itself!

A new '57 Chevrolet recently proved it has the qualities most people look for in a car—and proved it on the roads you travel. It set a new record of less than 57 hours for the run from New York to Los Angeles (certified by NASCAR). It was a strictly stock, V8-powered Chevy. It was driven by two young ladies.

When you consider that all the driving was done by 98-pound Betty Skelton and her friend Caroline Russ, the true significance of this record run becomes apparent. It's a tribute to Chevrolet's great-hearted V8 engine and solid road-worthiness that it could travel day and night for 2,913 miles at safe and legal speeds—and better the existing record for the trip by more than three hours. And when a pair of young ladies step into a car and drive it round the clock to a new transcontinental record, you know that car is easy to drive. Come try a Chevy.

BOYCE HOUSE

As a gag, some of Will Rogers' friends launched a "campaign" for his nomination for president and celebrities were asked to endorse his candidacy—all in fun, of course. It is said, however, that one declined—then the heavy-weight boxing champion.

The champion had been interviewed, from time to time, on literature and had been depicted as a highbrow. He replied to the request with the statement that he declined in view of Will's comment about him.

Some time before, the boxer had stated that he admired Shakespeare tremendously and that he had to read the plays three or four times to get the full meaning. Will's comment was that Shakespeare must not have been such a great writer if he couldn't make his meaning clearer than that—or else the champion must not be very bright to have to read something three or four times in order to understand it.

A single act can mar a life. When I was police reporter in a large Southwestern city, one of the most popular officers took a spare-time job to supplement his income, this being during the depression. He worked as a special officer at a golf course where there had been some trouble from boys purloining golf balls.

One day, he saw two boys fleeing after one had picked up a ball. He called to them to halt and when they didn't, he drew Indians. They are in poverty and need, physically as well as spiritual help.

At present, my husband is on one of his missionary journeys. He is in the northern part of Arizona with the Hopi Indians. He works with several different tribes throughout Arizona; the Apaches, Mojaves, Navajos and some others.
Last winter he preached to the Indians in Northern Arizona who stood out in snow knee deep, barefoot. It is pitiful, and one can't imagine such conditions among people right here in our United States unless they've seen it.
He tells them the plan of salvation. Some have never heard the gospel. He tells them the clothing, food and medicine he brings to them are free gifts from God's people, as well as the wonderful plan of salvation is free. I am sure anything you might do for them will be blessed by

God. If you would like for my husband to pick your things up, he will be back the last of this month. He has slides of his work which he shows to churches or any organization that might be interested. I think he has some open dates in December, if you would like to see them.
Thank you again, and may God bless and lead you.
Sincerely,

Many Applications Are Processed For Grain And Feed Under Drought Program

During the four months period through October 31, 1956, Texas farmers and ranchers eligible under the emergency feed grain and roughage programs, received assistance in the purchase of 1,443,867,646 pounds of grain and 1,374,170 tons of roughage, Walter T. McKay, Farmers Home Administration State Director at Dallas announced today, 91,787 applications for grain assistance and 37,405 applications under the roughage program were processed during this period.

The emergency feed grain and roughage programs are meant to help established farmers and ranchers, who are primarily engaged in farming and ranching, to maintain their basic herds of cattle, sheep and goats, if their circumstances are such that this assistance is needed, McKay advised. The local Farmers Home Administration committees have the responsibility to determine the eligibility of individual applicants and to approve the amount of feed each applicant may purchase under the program.

233 counties in Texas are designate under the emergency feed grain and roughage programs. In these counties, eligible applicants are helped in buying corn, oats, barley and grain sorghums, or approved feed mixtures containing either 60 or 75 percent of these grains through a Government subsidy of $1.50 per hundred weight. The Federal Government bears the full amount of this subsidy. In addition to the emergency feed grain assistance, eligible applicants are helped to buy

CONVOCATION LEADERS - Rev. Paul Cardwell of Dallas, Executive Secretary of the North Texas Methodist Conference Board of Education, left, is serving as the director of the Dallas-

Fort Worth Area Methodist Convocation for adult leaders to be held in First Methodist church, Fort Worth, Thursday, Nov. 29, through Sunday, Dec. 2. He is pictured with two of the convocation speakers, Bishop William hay or other approved roughage to maintain their basic herds. Under this program applicants receive a Federal subsidy of $7.50 per ton of roughage actually bought.

C. Martin of Dallas and Dr. Gas-ton Foote, pastor of the host church. Bishop Martin will address the convocation Thursday and Dr. Foote on Sunday. Approximately 2,000 Methodist adult leaders are expected to attend.

Regulations that guide FHA county committees in the review of applications provide that applicants will not be certified if they are financially able to obtain the necessary feed for their basic herds without difficulty and can continue their normal farming and livestock operations. It is not expected that applicants will exhaust their total resources, including credit, before they can be certified for this assistance, McKay advised.

"However," McKay added, "the fact that the purchase of feed at regular prices may not be profitable to the applicant is not sufficient to qualify him for assistance. It must be determined in every instance that an applicant is primarily engaged in farming or ranching and that this is his main source of income. A nominal portion of his income from other sources would not necessarily disqualify the applicant. The overriding factor in determining the eligibility of any applicant is his financial ability to obtain the feed necessary to maintain his basic herds and continue his normal operations. An applicant whose financial circumstances are such that he can provide necessary feed for his basic herds and carry on his operations without serious difficulty is not eligible for this assistance."

Under the present designation applications may be filed through December 3, 1956, for a supply of feed grain and roughage to carry basic livestock herds through December 31, 1956.

TWO BLADES OF GRASS

— where one grew before

We have many blessings to be thankful for on this THANKSGIVING DAY. We haven't suffered bad storms. We haven't had epidemics of the dread diseases. We have not had hungry people lined up before "Soup Kitchens." Many blessings have come our way — this THANKSGIVING DAY.

Because of adverse conditions caused by the lack of rainfall, all of us must double our efforts... we must make TWO BLADES OF GRASS grow where one grew before.

We, in the West Texas Utilities Company, are doing this very thing. We have spent, in the past 10 years, 56 million dollars on new equipment and installations. We are looking at both today and tomorrow, forming plans and working to keep ahead of the needs for electric power in the area we serve. We have confidence in West Texas and its people; we know they will do their best to make TWO BLADES OF GRASS GROW where one grew before.

State Department of Health.

The prolonged drought in Texas has given new significance to this responsibility as more and more municipalities of Texas seek additional sources of water for their parched citizenry.

It was also disclosed by Dr. Henry A. Holle, commissioner of health, that at the close of the biennium there were over 800 domestic sewage treatment plants in Texas, all of which come under the scrutiny of the department of health.

Because of the phenomenal growth of Texas cities in the post-war years, it is estimated that from 25 to 30 percent of these facilities are either overloaded or are in need of replacement, enlargement, or additional treatment units.

The scrutinizing eyes of the sanitary engineers have seen the growth of Texas industry give rise to an air and stream pollution problem. So far industry, teaming with state forces, has kept pollution of Texas streams to a minimum.

However, should the drought continue during the next biennium, engineers feel many additional problems will be created involving industrial waste disposal, particularly those industries situated inland.

These are all problems of a perpetual nature, varying only in magnitude. But who could have foreseen the Buck Rogers aspect of disposing of waste materials of a radioactive nature in our day and age?

Nevertheless, this is still another problem confronting the workers of the sanitary engineering division, and a program of inspection and control of radioactive material in Texas has long been in effect.

Most facets of modern living are taken for granted by Mr. and Mrs. Average Citizen, but the cutting and polishing of many of these facets is drudging every day routine for health department technicians.

Mosquito control programs, rendering plants and swimming pools must be inspected and supervised. In cooperation with other divisions of the department, the sanitary engineers watch over our shellfish and other food products.

And the visiting tourists from other parts of the United States sleep safe and clean at night because the tourists courts don't escape inspection either, but must have department of health approval.

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek probably is misinterpreting somebody's speech, his letter this week indicates.

Dear editor:
With the north wind picking up speed recently, I've been getting more newspapers than usual blown onto my farm out here, and there's nothing more satisfying than a good newspaper to read on a chilly day in a warm spot.

Yesterday I found one caught on a barbwire fence—a barbwire fence is one of the greatest inventions in the history of man when it comes to snagging a blowing paper, and while maybe there are some papers worth chasing after all over the pasture as the wind scoots them along the ground, it's a lot more pleasant to let the fence do the work for you—and I pulled it off and took it home and settled down to my main occupation.

I hadn't read far before I ran into an article that made me smile. According to it, an agricultural expert made a speech recently and declared that "agriculture is now a business, requires business methods, and a few acres of land is no longer a haven of refuge where a man can sit and dream."

Well, I'll tell you. It looks to me like somebody has been sitting and dreaming about what farming maybe ought to be. There's some business connected with farming, all right, but most of it is applied to what the farm produces, after it leaves the farm. You take a Jersey steer from my farm. Very little business administration goes into getting him ready for market, outside of what he's picked up on his own, but the minute he leaves my hand at a price set by somebody else, not me, then business takes over, and a 10-cent steer turns up a little later on as 40-cent hamburger or 60-cent round steak.

I know that not all farms are run like mine, or there wouldn't be a surplus, but the surplus itself demonstrates somebody is failing to be very business like in agriculture. You don't hear of the U. S. steel industry producing four times as much steel as the country needs. This country has more oil than it needs, but you don't hear of any surplus gasoline depressing the price you pay at the filling station.

And as far as a farm being a haven of refuge where a man can sit and think, that's what mine is exactly, and if it comes to a choice of installing a business administration out here or giving up sitting, you know which one I'm gonna choose. I haven't got anything against business or business methods, but if I wanted to go into business, the best place to do it is in town, not in the country.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Use Of Cotton Burs On The Soil

New research by the cotton industry indicates farmers should think twice before allowing that by-product of the harvest—cotton burs—go to waste.

Some areas of Texas cannot return burs to the soil without special treatment to kill pink bollworms. But once protective procedures are observed, the burs can be a real boon in stretching benefits of rain and maintaining fertilization.

Preliminary studies show that on bur-treated soil, wind erosion is lessened because of the better condition of the soil. It is also known that burs mellow the soil and make it spongy and easier to work. Water penetration from rainfall is greater and evaporation is minimized.

Crop yields and their relationship to burs is being studied. On one test farm, five tons of composted burs increased the yield of cotton lint by 65 pounds per acre; 10 tons of composted burs increased the yield of lint per acre by 275 pounds.

Cost of bur usage varies but the general figure is about $2.50 per ton. The burs themselves usually are free, with the farmer paying only for the spreading. When this spreading is done by the individual, the cost figure is less.

Effects of burs on the land remain for an extended period. Definite increased yields from one application of burs has been noted for a three or four-year period.

Increased yields made by farmers using burs in an area usually spurs others to action. The increased water holding capacity is most attractive to irrigation farmers who are confronted with annual underground water level declines.

For information on laws regarding the use of cotton burs, write to John White, Commissioner of Agriculture, Austin, Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Stone and children of Corpus Christi were guests in the home of her sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Pape and children.
