Odd Bits Salvaged
By The Editor

What are you predicting for 1961? We were asked that question the other day. Fact is we hadn't been predicting.

k-k
Our prediction, however, is that things will rock along in 1961 just about like they did in 1960 for most of us—barring, of course, world conflicts, tragedies, etc. It would appear to some, however, that another great conflict is almost inevitable, and the world situation don't look too good at the year's beginning.

k-k
We'd think, though, that people and nations, world powers and leaders will do a lot of thinking and bickering before another war is begun. In this time of atomic energy, guided missiles, etc., a war could be very short and very destructive. It wouldn't be too hard to have complete destruction—then who would be the winner? To be the first with the most might might not be assurance of victory.

k-k
But better heads than ours are concerned with this situation, and Mr. K. and Mr. Fidel Castro will be more concerned with their way of thinking than ours. Even though we've broken off diplomatic relations with Cuba, we don't think Mr. Castro's planned-for U. S. invasion of Cuba will take place. We'd like to think, too, that in time Cuban people will take care of Mr. Castro.

k-k
We can predict with a reasonable amount of certainty that 1961 will contain 365 full days, and what we do with them will largely determine how well we get along during the year. A dozen of those days are now gone, so you have only 353 left!

k-k
We predict that in the course of the next few months, the tills of the U. S. Treasury Department will be filling up, as most of us scan our profit and loss sheets and begin contributing to Uncle Sam by means of income taxes.

k-k
We think you'd better pay your poll tax this year, too, as some things will be coming up that you'll want to have a voice in by ballot. The deadlines for this is getting pretty close.

k-k
April 4th has been set as the date for electing a U. S. Senator to take Lyndon Johnson's place in Washington. With a big field of candidates in this race, it is likely that a runoff will be needed, and we'll get to vote twice on this deal. School trustee and city elections are also coming up, so this year will be almost as important as last year, although we regard an off-election year as rather quiet.

k-k
We predict that you'll be getting new safety stickers on your cars, and new license plates, too, before long. And the longer you wait for those safety stickers, the bigger rush you'll get into as the deadline nears.

k-k
We'll be having wet spells and dry spells during the year, too, and if it stays wet very long or dry very long a lot of us will be hollering our heads off about it. We'll make some kind of crop this year—we always have!

k-k
We predict that when next Christmas rolls around, a lot of us just barely make it from one Christmas to the next, but we're never able to postpone the event.

k-k
We predict that D. E. Holder—like a lot of the rest of us—will do quite a bit of fishing this year. He told us on January 9th that he had already made enough money to take care of his minor expenses for the year, so it would appear that he has nothing to worry about except getting to where the fish are biting.

k-k
We further predict that most of us will take as many coffee breaks as we did in 1960; that we'll experience some joys and some sorrows during the year; that we'll continue to plug along at whatever we're doing for a livelihood, because it's all a part of living.

Local Church To Start Building By January 30th

The weather permitting, construction on the $70,000 building program of the church of Christ here in Munday will begin on January 30. A representative of the Paden Construction Company of Cleburne, Texas will be here on January 23 to begin taking bids.

Final plans are being drawn now which call for the erection of a new auditorium with a seating capacity of 600, plus the conversion of the present structure into classroom facilities. The new building will be of brick veneer to match the present auditorium. The interior of the new auditorium will be highlighted by six massive laminated wood arches. An elevated cry-room has been provided at the rear of the auditorium. Many of the latest architectural innovations will be incorporated in the new structure. The present building will be altered somewhat to permit a harmonious blending of the two structures.

The building program will be financed through the sale of church bonds which bear 6% simple interest. The bonds are scheduled to mature over a 15-year period, thus providing the purchaser with an excellent investment. The sale of bonds will begin on January 16. Anyone desiring further information is invited to call J. Omar Cure at 7951. The Security Plan of Church Financing of Fort Worth is working in conjunction with the First National Bank of Munday in the handling of these bonds.

Nursing Home Plan Discussed At Court Meet

A group of citizens, including Dr. D. C. Eiland, county health officer, met with members of the Commissioners Court at their regular meeting last Monday, when the need for a nursing home for the county was brought up.

It was pointed out in the discussion that the best plan would be to construct such a home, if constructed, on the ample grounds of the Knox County Hospital, so the home could be supervised by the medical and nursing staff of the hospital. This would provide, it was thought, one of the best methods in the state for taking care of aged people who would occupy the home.

Members of the court appeared to be in favor of constructing the home, to be financed by a bond issue, and they plan to get the opinion of all Knox County people in the near future.

The court felt, according to those present, that the county hospital's financial situation is excellent so far as a bond issue is concerned. Of the bond issues voted—$50,000 in 1947 and $25,000 in 1949—there remains some $35,000 now outstanding.

Youth Sub-District Meeting Is Held At Benjamin Recently

Churches represented were Seymour, Benjamin, O'Brien, Munday, Weinert, Rochester and Goree. Attending from Munday were Jan Pendleton, Claire Harpham, Jerry Bowden, Willie Weaver, Donna Kay Partridge, Karin Einbrodt, Clyde Burnett, Bill Moore, Nancy Penick, Pat Penick, Kenneth Smith, Judy Anderson, Millie Moore, Mrs. J. Over 300 Cowboys Will Participate In Fat Stock Show

The more than 300 leading cowboys who will compete in Fort Worth's 1961 Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show will be pitted against the biggest, roughest collection of stock used anywhere, reports rodeo producer Harry Knight.

The Fort Worth rodeo will run for 20 performances, January 27 through February 5.

Knight said the "biggest and roughest" label is not just publicity, but fact. The number of performances and cowboy competitors at the rodeo make it the largest user of rodeo livestock. As for roughness, the 170 roping calves to be used average more than 300 pounds. They like the 100 bulldozing steers have never been used in a rodeo arena before.

More than 3,000 local and area committees are working for a record attendance of adults this year.

Search Continued Wednesday For That "Flying Saucer" Down Near Benjamin

A search was continued for that thing—"flying saucer" or whatever it was—which an Abilene pilot reportedly chased from the rough, rolling country southwest of Benjamin.

The pilot circled the huge glowing object for more than an hour, trying to lead Knox and King County sheriff's officers to the site. Sheriff H. T. Melton and two other patrol units had approached to within 100 yards of the strange object when the pilot stopped circling and the search was called off until morning.

The pilot, identified as a "Henricks from Abilene," radioed that the object had stopped glowing and his fuel supply was running low. He first reported spotting the object as he passed near Wichita Falls about 9:12 p.m. Tuesday.

It appeared to be a red-glowing object traveling above him at about 8,000 feet, the pilot was plane was travelling at 6,500 feet.

The pilot followed the "huge ball" to its descent at a spot about 10 miles west and two miles south of Benjamin. "The light is a dull red glare," he advised them about 9:15 p.m. I am circling it and I can see it in a 360-degree radius."

As he circled the object from the air, the pilot's information was telephoned to the Wichita Falls Highway Patrol radio who kept contact with the Knox County sheriff's dispatcher, Mrs. H. T. Melton, dispatcher, remained in telephone communication with the Wichita Falls newspaper, giving an account of the search for the strange object.

"The pilot said the glow is getting dimmer," Mrs. Melton said at 10:15 p.m. Then she reported the pilot could no longer see the glow at 10:45 p.m., and went on to Abilene.

Sheriff Melton, King County Sheriff Dub Hollar and another unit from Benjamin had approached to within 100 yards of the object when the pilot advised them the glow had disappeared.

Wardrup Store Closed Wednesday

Mr. Rennel's assignee, was supervising inventory of the store's merchandise Wednesday. He said that voluntary assignment had been made to him and that a financial statement of the firm would be given creditors as soon as possible. He stated further that he would notify creditors as to how to present their statements for final settlement.

Funeral For Knox Pioneer Held On Friday

Jesse J. Driver, a life-long resident of Knox County and father of Temple Driver, county judge of Wichita County, passed away on Wednesday night, January 4, in a Wichita Falls hospital. He had been ill for some time.

Mr. Driver was justice of the peace at Benjamin for five years until suffering a stroke in 1958. He had been in a nursing home at Vernon until two weeks before his death, when he suffered a relapse and was admitted to a Wichita Falls hospital.

Mr. Driver was born on a ranch west of Benjamin on August 15, 1885. He spent a third of his life on the ranch and the remaining years at Benjamin. His father was a pioneer cattleman of Knox County.

He is survived by two sons, Judge Temple Driver of Wichita Falls and Billy J. Driver of Dallas; a brother, Oran Driver of Benjamin, and three grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at 10 a.m. Friday from the First Christian Church in Benjamin with the pastor, Rev. Carroll Desgrange, officiating. Burial was in Benjamin Cemetery under direction of Pinkard-Smith Funeral Home of Knox City.

Workshops Slated For County Soon

What some people call "good luck" in growing trees, shrubs and flowers is often just good management. A carefully planned landscape that is well managed can add much to the attractiveness of a home.

Two workshops have been planned by the homestead improvement sub-committee of the county program building committee. These are for the benefit of those who have problems or questions on planning or the management of home grounds.

The first of these meetings will be held in the club house at Truscott at 2 p.m. January 17, and the second will be at the American Legion hall in Munday at 2 p.m. January 19.

If you have questions concerning these workshops, please write the County Home Demonstration Agent, Benjamin, Texas.

Richard Jungman, Rhineland 4-H Club member, was fifth place winner in the 1960 Texas Hybrid Grain Sorghum Program for dry-land contestants. It was announced this week by the Texas A&M Extension Service.

Richard produced 2,398 pounds of grain from his acre entered in the contest.

The top dryland yield—a new record—was made by Albert P. Sulak of Itasca, Hill County. The yield, a whopping 7,155.3 pounds per acre, was from RS610 with only a preplanting application of 50 pounds of anhydrous amonia.

Other winners in the dry-land class were from Ochil tree County. They are Bobby and Dale Githens, with a yield of 4,077.6 pounds an acre; Kay and Sammy Justice, 3,896.3 pounds, and Larry Swink, 3,123.7 pounds an acre, and Don Savage, 2,492.8 pounds.

Jim Shearhart, a Deaf Smith county 4-H Club boy with a knack for doing things well, was named state champion in the program. His yield of 7,892.9 pounds from an acre of Texas RS610 was produced under irrigation. He applied 150 pounds of anhydrous amonia before planting. His acre was planted on June 6, using 9 pounds of seed in 30-inch rows. Three irrigations were used.

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Jungman of Pep visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Jungman several days this week.

AN EVER-CHANGING BUSINESS

A leading agricultural economist, Karl D. Butler, recently addressed a gathering of farm equipment representatives. The import of his remarks went far beyond routine "shop talk." He said: "Farming is an ever-changing business. Nothing on today's farm remains static. When a dealer or a farmer stands still, he is dead—or soon will be. . . . We are shifting from a diversified to a specialized agriculture Today, not only does a successful farmer have to be a good manager of his own time, he must employ more capital and less human labor to produce more and more, and do it profitably.

"In spite of all the revolutionary . . . developments in farming, family commercial farms will continue to dominate the countryside of America. Farmers will continue to substitute capital, machinery and brain power for individual men and musclepower.

" . . . compare to the United States, the Soviets are in their infancy in their efforts to bring together various farm operations into highly systemized, coordinated, power-mechanized, well-managed, efficient units. It would appear that where government has taken over as completely as it has there, farmers just cannot approach the efficiency we have in this country. This should be a lesson to us, both from the standpoint of economics and politics. Russia's farmers are about as productive now as we were before we had tractors."

It takes more than military weapons to make a strong nation. The American agricultural revolution of the past 50 years was a result of the flexibility and drive inherent in an economic system where private citizens enjoy maximum freedom of action. Industries such as farm equipment do not wait for permission from a government bureau before introducing a new machine. Research is going on constantly to keep pace with or anticipate changes on the farm. This kind of fluidity and progress has been the source of American strength.

MAY THEIR ADVICE BE HEEDED

Current events give special interest to a statement which has been issued by 277 of the nation's Roman Catholic bishops, including five U. S. cardinals. As reported by United Press International, they view with grave concern a decaying trend toward conformity and call for a revival of traditional ideals of individualism "before it is too late". They find that "we have been faced by a frequent lack of truly responsible leadership both on the part of management and of labor." In attaining social welfare goals, they believe, "pressures are growing for a constantly greater reliance on the collectivity rather than on the individual." Further that, "An inordinate demand for benefits, most easily secured by the pressures of organization, has led an ever-growing number of our people to relinquish their rights and to abdicate their responsibilities . . . intensive socialization can achieve mass benefits but man and morality can be seriously hurt in the process."

The statement of these high-ranking churchmen is directed to parents, businessmen, labor leaders and to government which has done so much through a philosophy of welfare-statism, to undermine individualism and personal responsibility.

BETTER HEALTH—MORE ENJOYMENT

Working in cooperation with retailers, the American Meat Institute has been conducting a campaign to stimulate the consumption and sale of meat. Its nutritional value is stressed.

This campaign obviously is designed to serve the economic interests of the members of the great meat industry — the producers, packers, processors and distributors. But its significance goes further. For meat, as the nutritionists tell us, is essential to the physical and mental health of the vast majority of people.

It is a rich and dependable source of complete proteins—the proteins that built and repair muscles, cells and tissues. It is an important source of many essential minerals—copper, iron and phosphorus among them. It is an important source of vitamins, especially the Vitamin B group, including B-1 which is necessary for growth, appetite and protection against certain diseases. Meat is prescribed by physicians, nutritionists and dietitians for both the overweight and the underweight; for the young and the old; for the convalescent and the expectant mother; and is given to patients suffering from a long list of diseases— anemia, arthritis, rheumatism, high blood pressure, tuberculosis and so on.

To frost the cake, practically everyone likes meat and regards it as the central element in a good meal. So we can serve the end of better health and enjoy doing it.

Chips From The Carpenter's Workbench

By JAMES HALLMARK

You can be just a Christian! Paul, Phillip, Aquila and many others recorded in God's word were simply Christians. In apostolic times there were no "kind of Christians; they were just Christians, nothing more. It has long been the contention of churches of Christ that if all of us return to the pure New Testament Christianity revealed in the Word of God we will be New Testament Christians. What prevents us from doing this?

The gospel, which Paul proclaimed to be "the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth," is just as valid today as it was 1900 years ago. The law which governed First Century Christians remains intact today in its original form. However, "there be some that trouble you, and would pervert the gospel of Christ!" (Gal. 1:7) We must strip away creeds, doctrines and institutions which are of human origin; and accept God's Word as our only source of authority.

It stand to reason that if we practice and teach exactly as did Paul, Phillip and Aquila, then we too, will be just Christians. We would encourage all religious people to investigate this matter. If you would be interested in pursuing this line of thought further; there are several members of the church of Christ here in Munday that are qualified and willing to discuss these things. Call 6151 and arrangements will be made. Also may we encourage you to watch "Five-Minutes With the Master" at 12:15 Monday through Friday on Channel Three. Hear Payne Hattox present the truth of God's Word on KSEY radio, 1230 on your dial, every Sunday morning at 9:15.

Promotes Better Health Through 4-H

Anyone within shouting distance of the 1,599-acre Schuster farm near San Juan knows why their daughter has won state acclaim in her 4-H project. The message has been loud and clear: Health.

Because 15-year-old Roberta Schuster became so actively interested in her health program, the young Texan was named state champion in this category and won a $150 college scholarship. She was chosen for this honor by the state 4-H Club office, and her award is given by E. L. Lyle and Company, sponsor of the 4-H health program.

Roberta Schuster

She has waged a private health campaign in and around her farm, maintained by Mr. and Mrs. Carl Schuster. During the past year, working with a local physician, Roberta helped vaccinate 35 dogs as a health measure.

Miss Schuster, now attending Pharr-San Juan-Alamo High, is popular with her fellow members at the Pharr Eager Beavers 4-H Club.

Miss Schuster not only was nominated a club favorite, but represented the group at the Hidalgo county camp and the state roundup at College Station. In the past few years, this teenager and other club members have given a widely popular dairy demonstration in the district. To prove her versatility, Miss Schuster also has won county blue ribbons in 4-H sewing and cooking projects.

Testing Of Soil Gains Favor With Blackland Farmers

More and more farmers in the Blackland Prairie area are cashing in on the benefits of early soil testing, reports W. F. Bennett, extension soil chemist. The first benefit realized by these "early-birds" is an early return of the soil test results. This is possible because they avoid the spring rush.

Another advantage realized is the ability to apply proper amounts of fertilizer during the fall and winter. This period is ideal for fertilizer application in the Blackland Prairie area because machinery is available and the loss of nutrients by leaching is not a problem on the heavy soils, Bennett explains.

Not to be overlooked is the possibility of a price advantage. During the slack winter months fertilizer may be cheaper than it is during the spring—a simple case of supply vs. demand.

Many of the farmers in this area have found that deep application of the fertilizer has proven very satisfactory. This deep placing of the fertilizer encourages deeper root penetration, resulting in the plant making use of deeper soil moisture. Farmers in areas of the state where the lack of moisture is a problem have also found this method of application advantageous, says Bennett.

The chemist concludes by pointing out that farmers over the entire state, no matter what type soil they have, could reap some of these benefits by sending their soil samples in early.

Most Of Traffic Deaths Occuring In Rural Areas

Little-known facts about traffic safety:

Three times as many traffic deaths occur in rural areas (including towns with less than 2,500 people) than in urban areas.

Reason for this, according to the Texas Safety Association: the abundance of driving done on open roads, which most often are in rural areas, and increased speed.

In many fatal auto accidents, only one car is involved.

Expressways have fewer traffic fatalities, based on number of miles driven, than rural roads. The average mileage death rate recently was a third as high as the rate for rural roads.

Males are involved in almost eight times as many fatal auto accidents as females. Naturally, they drive a lot more than the girls do.

Driving too fast for conditions accounts for more than half of the rural, fatal traffic accidents in Texas.

Saturday — not Sunday — is the most dangerous day of the week for drivers. About one out of every five traffic fatalities occurs that day. Sunday is second most hazardous.

Safety men say the new interstate highway system can save as many as 3,500 lives a year, and that use of seat belts could save an additional 5,000 lives annually.

While few slow drivers ever run afoul of the law, they're still a highway hazard. Driving too slow can cost a life — your life, or the life of a motorist who takes a chance and passes you when he shouldn't. Keep pace with traffic.

Odds are that if your car isn't up to snuff, safetywise, the fault will lie with the rear lights, brakes, front lights or exhaust system. When a hazard is found at vehicle safety checks, those four problems are the ones that crop up most often.

Warm up the tractor in the open to avoid being overcome by carbon monoxide. If you must warm up the tractor indoors, open windows and doors for maximum ventilation, the Council warns.

Keep in the rut too long and you'll dig your own grave.

Texas Corn Acreage Down

The decline in Texas corn acreage continues from year to year while the upsurge in grain sorghum production goes on apace. In 1959, the latest year for which full figures are available, corn was cultivated on 1,526,000 Texas acres, yielding about 42,728,000 bushels with a value of $47,438,000. This compared with more than 7,500,000 acres in grain sorghum.

But back in 1903, 5,816,146 acres in Texas produced 140,750,733 bushels of corn with a value of $67,560,352. The average corn crop for the period from 1937 to 1947 was 70,422,000 bushels from 4,392,000 acres.

The decline in corn acreage is largely a result of greatly expanded grain sorghum production which has been found to be more adaptable generally to Texas soil and climate conditions. Besides this, many small East Texas farms are being placed in pasture. It used to be that corn acreage was second only to that of cotton. Now it ranks fourth in Texas, being exceeded by grain sorghum, cotton and wheat, in that order.

Most Texas corn production is in Central and East Texas, or east of the 30-inch rainfall belt. Some corn is grown in certain areas of West Texas, but low rainfall and heat there during the growing season make corn production somewhat hazardous.

At the same time, the average yield of corn in Texas is on the increase. Where Texas farmers harvested an average of 15 to 22 bushels per acre for many years prior to the 1950's, their yield in 1959 was about 28 bushels, high on record.

The average Texas yield is well below the national average of about 40 bushels per acre because of insufficient moisture during the growing season over the great part of the producing area. Then, too, there are the high temperatures and hot, dry winds usually encountered in Texas from the middle of July through the remainder of the summer.

Some 25 insects have been found to be especially troublesome in corn production. Among the more serious are earworms, chinch bugs, cutworms, army worms, grasshoppers, corn borers, white grubs, rootworms, wireworms, root aphids, leaf aphids, webworms, flea beetles and weevils that attack stored corn. Among the more important factors in reducing insect damage to corn is the choice of well-adapted hybrids for planting.

On most types of soil, corn generally is planted in some kind of rotation with other crops.

Farmer Is Cited For His Service To Agriculture

A slender, six-foot dryland cotton farmer from Lynn County has been named The Progressive Farmer's 1960 Man of the Year in Texas Agriculture. Wilmer Smith, Texas' ambassador-at-large for cotton throughout the United States, received the honor for his exceptional service as a farm leader and as an outstanding spokesman for cotton growers. He was born and reared in Lynn County near New Home and farms about 1,020 acres of land there.

The 48-year-old farmer travels about 60,000 miles each year representing the cotton industry, including a trip to Washington at least once a month. His experience in a variety of phases—as grower, ginmer, and president of an oil mill—gives him first hand knowledge of the cotton industry.

Smith is a member of a dozen boards, commissions, and committees that serve agriculture and is president of the American Cotton Producer Associates. He has been described as a farmer leader "who doesn't have to get his information second-hand." Congressional leaders respect his judgment and listen to him.

After Smith received his college degree in government from Texas Tech in Lubbock, he became principal of the Cotton Center school in Hale County. Four years later he was called home to run the farm because of his father's ill health. He immediately became active in farm organizations. Since then his leadership and sincere interest in promoting the cause of cotton growers has pushed him to national prominence in the cotton industry.

Striped Bass Are Introduced Into Diversion Lake

California striped bass have been introduced to Texas waters as an experiment in providing additional fishing potentials for State fishermen, according to Marion Toole, director of inland fisheries of the Game and Fish Commission.

The fish were planted in Lake Diversion, near Wichita Falls, last week. There were approximately 800 of the stripers, flown in from California. They are about four inches long.

The stripers were provided by the California Fish and Game Commission without cost to Texas. They were flown in from the Sacramento delta, where they had been acclimated in fresh water before their trip to Texas.

The stripper was introduced to the West Coast in the late 1880's from the Atlantic Coast. They have done exceptionally well. Stripers also have been planted in other fresh water impoundments in the United States. They are similar in appearance to the white bass, which now is so numerous in southern waters. Because of that, strict regulations will be enforced at Lake Diversion to prevent their being taken from the lake before they have had an opportunity to grow and a study made of their reproduction.

The stripers are tackle busters, reaching 75 or more pounds in weight.

Dollars And Sense

By Mrs. S. C. Kinsey, Knox County H. D. Agent

When is the best time to buy or sell a car? One person may consider it desirable to trade in a car every year. Another may plan to keep a car two, three, five or more years. Your decision may rest on several factors.

Do you drive a great deal? Is it mostly city or long distance driving?

What is the condition of your present car?

How much has your present car depreciated?

Is your ownership (amount you have paid on your present car) sufficient to establish a substantial trade-in value on a new car?

If buying a car for the first time, do you have funds available for a satisfactory down payment?

How important is prestige and the latest model to you?

What terms of financing can you get on the car you are considering? What will you actually be paying for the car at the end of the installment period?

Just 20 years ago the American ate only 1.97 pounds of broiler annually. Ten years ago the figure stood at 8.65 pounds per capita, but today, says Marshall Miller, extension poultry marketing specialist, the figure stands at 23.65 pounds. A remarkable growth, he adds, because of widespread and popular acceptance of broilers by consumers.

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by the State Health Department

Women residents in Texas nursing homes and convalescent care institutions outnumber men residents two to one. State Health Department year-end records show.

Almost 13,000 elderly Texans presently reside in care homes which have passed State Department of Health scrutiny and are licensed under provisions of the home licensure law administered by the health agency.

Despite the fact that Texas was one of the most recent states to spell out regulations aimed at protecting the health, safety and welfare of nursing home patients, the standards now enforced in this state equal or exceed those of other states, department officials believe.

That this is true is borne out when the beneficial aspects and the results obtained under Texas' standards are compared with the situation in other states, says J. W. Hornburg, director of the Texas licensure program.

In Russia a farmer produces only enough to feed himself and one other. It was not by accident that Khrushchev visited an Iowa farm when he came to the United States. He knows that farm productivity is one of America's greatest sources of strength. He realizes, too, that as long as it takes one Russian on the farm to feed one worker in industry, Soviet progress is greatly handicapped.

Farm Facts

The U. S. farmer is the world's most efficient farmer. Because of this we are the best fed and best clothed people in the world and the most inexpensively in the proportion of our incomes it takes to obtain these items.

Research and its adaptation to farming have brought about a virtual agricultural revolution in this country in recent years.

A U. S. farmer produces enough to feed himself and 23 others. Only a few years ago he produced only enough to feed himself and seven others.

efficiency more than in the preceding 120 years. They have increased their per-acre yield of 18 leading field crops by 71 per cent in less than 20 years. Production per man-hour has almost trebled since the early 30's.

The Texas law has been in effect since June 1953.

Hornburg said 321 nursing homes with a capacity of 9,512 beds, and 241 convalescent care homes with a capacity of 4,833 beds, are currently licensed.

ed from convalescent care homes in that they are required to have supervisory nursing personnel on their staffs. This requirement does not pertain to convalescent care homes, although they must have a physician's statement concerning the physical condition of each patient.

Nursing home bed needs for any given area are calculated on the basis of a widely accepted formula of three beds per 1,000 population. Applying it to the Texas situation shows that approximately 30 percent of the Texas need has so far been met.

The Texas law covers all establishments which furnish "food and shelter to four or more persons unrelated to the proprietor, and in addition provide minor treatment or services which meet some basic need beyond the provision of food, shelter and laundry."

Exempt from the regulations are regularly operating hospitals and homes maintained for adherents to church groups or religious orders which depend entirely on prayer or spiritual means of healing.

Gilliland 4-H Club Has Meeting

The Gilliland Junior girls 4-H Club met January 4 with Norma Jo Navratil, president, presiding. The motto and pledge were said and the roll called and minutes read. They had the announcements and new and unfinished business.

Miss Kinsey then gave a program on main dish salads and also a demonstration on a salad that contained cheese. The meeting was adjourned.

Pvt. Billy Ray Henson left last week for Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., after spending his fifteen day leave here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Henson. Another son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Henson and family, of Shallowater were also recent guests in the Henson home.

ALL AMERICAN DESSERTS

America's near-reverence for its traditions, coupled with a fondness for good eating, has made almost unnecessary the question, "What's for dessert?" at the principal meals served during the holiday season.

Today, centuries after their prototypes were first baked in ovens of England and colonial America, pumpkin and mince pie and fruit cake continue to dominate the dessert menu during the most festive season of the year.

Files of the Louis Livingston Library of Baking, a Chicago library whose history traces back three-quarters of a century, contain articles about (and even recipes for) the pumpkin pies of ancient Greece and Rome, the mince pies of medieval England and the fruit cakes of early Egypt.

Today, America's bakers report that the exacting test of time has made these desserts as typical of the holiday season as roasting turkey, the sound of sleigh bells and auld lang syne choristers.

In capsule form, the Library of Baking reports that English bakers sold "Pumpion pye" more than six centuries ago and that the recipes brought to the colonies were basically the same as those of today. Typical mince pies of medieval England weighed more than 100 pounds and their crusts were confined by iron bands in baking. The first actual fruit cake is thought to have been baked in Egypt several centuries ago from ground wheat, rare spices, oil and honey. It, too, came to us from England.

While these desserts remain basically the same, the modern baker, through years of experimenting with ingredients, techniques and processes, has developed holiday pies and cakes especially suited to the native appetite of Americans.

Research workers of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station's Horticultural Department have developed a new erect blackberry for East Texas — Brazos. It matures early, produces good yields and large fruits, maintains fruit size longer through the season and is softer than Lawton. "Why doesn't a book tell the reader something about the man that the author thought enough of to dedicate the book to?" my friend, Dick Hardy of Dallas, once inquired. He had a point too... although in the case of "You Can Always Tell a Texan," the man to whom the book was dedicated is widely known for his achievements and civic services.

C. T. McLaughlin was born in Pennsylvania, came to Texas shortly after World War I service in an aerial squadron in the U. S. Army Signal Corps; was a drilling contractor in Wichita Falls from 1923 to 1943.

In 1936, he acquired the Diamond M Ranch to raise fine cattle and horses but oil wells sprouted and spouted when the famous Canyon Reef strike was made. He has holdings in banking and insurance as well as oil. He is interested in public affairs, having served on the State Democratic Committee for five years and as chairman of the State Democratic finance committee in 1956, as well as being chairman of the State Department of Public Safety.

"Mr. Mc," as his many friends affectionately call him, is a philanthropist and is especially interested in helping young people acquire an education. The handsome Snyder Country Club was built under his presidency. He has been repeatedly honored as an outstanding citizen of Snyder and of West Texas.

He is a genial and generous host and unless you have attended an annual meeting of the Snyder Chamber of Commerce you have missed one of the phenomena of Texas life. Imagine 2,000 persons present for a dinner and then such a star-studded program as can be provided by silver-tongued Governor Clement of Tennessee; the Irish melody of Phil Regan; the Texan music of Slim Willett ("Don't Let the Stars Get in Your Eyes") and his Abilene orchestra. Well, that's just typical of the wonderful array that the quiet-spoken, modest "Mr. Mc" makes possible for his beloved home city.

A reminiscence about my Uncle Albert:
His favorite piece of chicken was the neck, which happened to be a favorite with me, too. One Sunday, he bit through the bony structure and discovered the windpipe. The sight disturbed him. "I've eaten hundreds of necks," he said, "and I never saw anything like that before." Despite Aunt Rachel's assuring him that a windpipe was standard equipment with all chickens, Uncle Albert never ate another neck—so when I was a guest I always got it, thereafter!

Knox Prairie Philosopher Claims The Cuban Problem Is Only One In Long Series For The New President

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek looks at the Cuban situation this week, but does no more than look.

J. A.

Dear editor:
A man in town cornered me the other day after I'd finished drinking a cup of coffee and also right after I'd paid for it and said, Say, you like to write letters about things, when you gonna write one on what to do about the Cuban situation?

I told him I'd think about it. After thinking about it for a week, I have come to the conclusion that thinking about the Cuban situation, while it doesn't accomplish anything, is still about the only thing that can be done about it at the moment. It's sort of like watching a flood carry your fence down the creek. If somebody had built a dam upstream years ago, maybe the fence wouldn't have washed out, but at the moment, the only thing left to do is to sit there and watch it float away.

A neighbor of mine was saying just this morning what a shame it is for President-Elect Kennedy to no more than get sworn in January 20 when he has to face up to the Cuban crisis. No time to lean back and get the feel of the Chief Executive's chair in the White House, no time to wander around the place and get used to the idea that he's now the President, has to work overtime the first day.

Therefore, don't be looking to me for a solution to the Cuban situation. That's what the President is hired for.

I will add through that trying to solve the Cuban problem is like trying to stop a flood after it reaches your place. What you've got to solve first is the Russian problem. And before I can do that, I've got to solve the problem of this Johnson grass farm. This puts Russia a long ways off on my list.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

CLEAN HANDS

Our courts work with two sets of principles in meting out justice—those of "law" and those of "equity."

Under "law" a court declares the parties' rights and duties and sets money damages for harm already done—as when someone goes back on his contract with you, or injures you in an automobile crash.

But under principles of "honesty, equity, and conscience," for example, a court seeing harm on the way, may forestall it and enforce its orders by fines or jail terms. England used to have two kinds of courts to hear cases under law and equity. But today both England and America use the same judge to hear both kinds of cases.

How did these two systems arise?

Long ago the English king called upon the "chancery"—then largely made up of churchmen, (the keepers "of the King's conscience"), to give "relief" where the older Common Law courts, grown rigid, might fail.

Unable to use the Common Law, the chancellors applied certain rules and maxims, sometimes borrowed from ancient Greece and Rome—"He who comes into equity must come with clean hands." Sometimes this is stated: "No one can take advantage in a court of equity of his own wrongdoing."

This maxim denied a suitor "relief" if he himself has done wrong in the transaction at issue.

A scale maker had advertised that his scales would count fractions of a cent against the customer and in favor of the storekeeper.

He had asked a court in equity to stop a competitor from revealing that his sale was cheating customers. But the court threw the case out: Not having "clean hands," the scale maker had no standing in equity. He could not seek fair treatment when he himself was dishonest in particular situation at issue.

Penicillin Made To Measure

Dr. H. T. Huang (left) and Dr. T. A. Seto examine a three-dimensional model of a synthetic penicillin molecule. The two scientists were jointly responsible for developing Maxipen, an improved "tailor-made" penicillin which can be taken by mouth. Structural formula of the compound is shown on blackboard.

Penicillin is a fascinating but temperamental substance to the scientists who work with it. In the early days, doctors had to give penicillin in "shots," and a lot of research time was spent developing a form of the antibiotic which could be taken by mouth without being destroyed in the stomach.

Unless penicillin reaches the bloodstream quickly and in sizeable amounts, it cannot effectively fight infection—which is why most doctors preferred to give it by injection.

In the Connecticut laboratories of a leading pharmaceutical manufacturer, two biochemists, Dr.

H. T. Huang and Dr. T. A. Seto, were able to synthesize more than 1200 new forms of the drug. Maxipen, the result of three years of research, provides blood levels higher than injections of the usual amounts of penicillin G and twice as high as penicillin V tablets, according to laboratory reports.

No one likes injections. Children hate them. The new tailor-made antibiotic, prescribed by a physician, is taken as tablets or fruit-mint flavored syrup. And, though some people are allergic to any form of penicillin, a severe allergic reaction is less likely when the drug is taken by mouth.

Tax-Man Sam Sez:

It has become mighty popular nowadays for the experts to fuss about what is wrong with our schools and education in general. Most of us don't know enough to do any experting on the subject of education. We all know that education is a wonderful thing.

Education on this income tax business is also a mighty fine thing. If everybody read the little book of instructions that the Internal Revenue Service sends out every year, all of us taxpayers would be smarter and a lot of us would be richer.

The Internal Revenue Service has a booklet called "Your Federal Income Tax for Individuals—1958". This book costs 35c. If you have some time to sit in the rocker on the front porch and read, 35c for this booklet might help you get some profitable information.

TEXAS POPULATION SHIFT

As the year 1960 comes to its end, population trends in Texas confirmed by the Federal decennial census have now been given some study and evaluation.

What the findings in general add up to are that the thinly-populated, open-country areas of the State are becoming even more thinly populated while more people are flocking to counties which already are thickly populated.

Overall, in round numbers, the total Texas population increased from 7,700,000 in 1950 to 9,500,000 in 1960, a rate of growth amounting to 23 per cent against the national increase of 17 per cent. Only two states outstripped the 1,800,000 gain in Texas: California, which had an increase of about 5,000,000, and Florida, which grew by slightly more than 2,000,000.

But despite the over-all gain in Texas, 144 out of the State's 254 counties showed losses in population. This was an approximate follow-up of trends established in the decade from 1940 to 1950, with the losses in total population confined largely to counties which have no sizeable towns or cities and which offer little in the way of industry.

However, there were some exceptions to the movement away from rural counties. Some of these counties, mainly in West Texas and in the Panhandle, showed steady gains in population. In general, these were counties which have developed farming by irrigation, are devoted largely to cotton and grain cultivation, and have resources of oil and gas.

Three of the older, comparatively thickly-settled counties showed the heaviest losses in population. These were Lamar County in Northeast Texas, which lost 9,000 during the decade, Hill and Fannin counties in the old Blackland Belt, which lost 8,000 and 7,600 respectively. Then there were Rusk, Red River, Navarro, Cherokee, Falls and Limestone counties, all of which had losses of at least 5,000.

The trend of the past two decades projects an outlook something along these lines: Rural counties that are in fairly close range of future job opportunities probably will hold their populations at a fairly stable level. Suburban and open-country areas not far removed from work opportunities can expect to grow fairly rapidly. However, until the anticipated population explosion actually arrives, open-country, strictly rural counties far removed from industrial areas may become even more rural before growth overflows in their direction.

A Nacogdoches county 4-H boy, Benny Goodman of Douglas, topped all competitors in the 1960 statewide Texas Hybrid Corn Program. His yield was 139.5 bushels from his acre of Texas 30 and was made under irrigation. The top dry land yield was made by Victor Degner of Hill county, 129.2 bushels from an acre of Texas 28.

Moffett Begins His Thirty-First Year

When the Texas Legislature opened in Austin last Tuesday, Senator George Moffett of Chilton started his 31st year of continued service for this area in the Legislature. He has asked for reappointment to his customary post as chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee.

After serving in the House, Moffett has been a member of the Senate for 22 years. During the last several sessions he has headed the agriculture committee, by his own preference.

R. D. Adkisson, M. F. Billingsley, J. L. Stodghill and Leland Hannah attended the funeral of Mrs. Tom Tolbot in Fort McKavett last Tuesday. The group used to fish on the San Saba River at the Tolbot ranch.
