Odd Bits Salvaged
By The Editor

"Borrowed items" sometimes convey a message better than one with all the originality in the world.

Some time ago, we ran a borrowed item on "Ten Ways to Kill a Town," we believe it was. Just recently, the item appeared in some other publications, and people have asked us about it. They thought it was good, in that it applied so forcibly to towns like our Munday.

Recently, though we ran across one of a more personal nature, in that it applies to newspapers. It gives vent to a pet peeve of almost every editor, and one which we've nourished almost from the day we arrived in Munday.

We found it in the West Texas Publisher, official organ of the West Texas Press Association. It was borrowed from a member publisher, who borrowed it somewhere else. When we use it, which we are, it will be three times borrowed—and our guess is that it will appear in many other papers because it says what editors often want to say:

"NOW PLEASE put it on the front page where everybody will see it!" How often we newspaper folks hear that.

Why, bless your hearts, gentle readers, if we thought people read only the first page of our paper, we'd print one page every week and quit.

A newspaper is a good deal like a store. The front page corresponds to the show window. Inside you'll find the goods you're after. We publishers know that the backbone of our product is composed of the messages and offerings of our advertisers. Without the ads, a newspaper just wouldn't be worth taking home—if in fact it were printed at all!

As for news—well the most popular features in any newspaper, speaking from the feminine viewpoint to which we cater, are the personals and the social news. Inside also you'll find the sports department, informative letters sent in by our correspondents, classified advertisements, and legal publications. Some folks even read the special columns and the editorials!

Of course, the front page of a newspaper is attention compelling—it should be. But never make the mistake of thinking that your newspaper stops there.

Read it each week kiver to kiver. You'll find every column is well worth your attention!—The Pilot-Tribune, Storm Lake, Iowa.

Why, even home made ice cream tastes better from the bottom side of the freezer than it does from the top side!

The newspaper office is "his household" to the editor. Did you ever stop to think how riled up a housewife would get if you walked into her home and said: "Either run your household this way, or don't run it?"

When you step into the editor's "household" and say: "Either run this on the front page or don't print it at all"—you're getting his dander up, and you may bet on that. He may force a smile and give you a courteous reply, but you may bank on the fact that he feels slapped in the face. Thank goodness it don't happen to us very often.

We had such an incident happen to us over 20 years ago, not long after coming to Munday. To this day, we've nourished a feeling of enmity toward that person and the project—a worthy one then, and still is—that she was pushing.

We Texans, who like to do things big, have gone from the sublime to the ridiculous in the U. S. Senate race. As the deadline for filing passed last Saturday, a total of 71 candidates had paid their filing fees—a most outlandish figure in our estimation.

It was a wide open field, we know, and anyone with fifty bucks and a few other requirements could enter. How some of them could figure a Chinaman's chance to win is beyond our comprehension. The figure will be cut down to two after April 4th—and then a person might be able to venture a guess as to who our next Senator will be.

Friends Gather To Congratulate "Doc" Barnard; Fifty Years A Pharmacist

It was about 3:15 p.m. Friday. He had caught a slack period in the prescription department and was taking a short rest, paying no particular attention to what that several people were coming in, to or three at a time, and just kinda milling around.

Directly he heard a voice: "Doc, will you come up here a minute?"

Doc Barnard approached the front of Eiland's Drug store—the place where he had worked some 26 years—and found a counter had been cleared of merchandise which had been replaced by a large anniversary cake, forks and napkins.

"Doc, these friends have gathered here to congratulate you on your 50 years as a pharmacist," said Jesse G. Smith, owner of the store. "We're sorry this could not have been a more elaborate celebration, but we just knew about it this morning."

It had gotten out that Doc Barnard was completing his 50 years as a pharmacist, and by telephone and word of mouth, a few townspeople had gathered to consume the cake upon which were the words in pink lettering, "Congratulations, Doc, 50 years a pharmacist."

M. L. (DOC) BARNARD
... 50 Years A Pharmacist

"Fifty years ago today, I started out rolling pills," Doc said as he helped cut and serve portions of the cake. And Doc's surprise party was under way. Cake and coffee were served to those who had come in.

Doc recalls that he started out at Chismville, Ark., where he worked for a while, then took time out to attend a school of pharmacy at Little Rock, Ark. As a result of this schooling, he became a registered pharmacist.

He has spent longer in Munday than any other place—26 years in all. During World War II, he tried travelling for a drug concern for a while, but he was wearing out a car that couldn't be replaced, so he returned to his old job at Munday.

Following his graduation in 1911, he entered business at Charleston, Ark. He came to Texas in 1923, locating at Groesbeck, and since then he has plied his trade at Goree, Olney, Knox City, Honey Grove, Canyon, and in Munday since 1935.

Doc doesn't roll pills any more, he counts them. But those doctor's prescriptions he's compounded in all these 50 years have made lots of sick people well, and puny people better.

It's Spring Again! Children Asked To Not Fly Kites Near Electric Highlines

Local children were cautioned today against flying kites near electric wires by Goodson Sellers, local manager for West Texas Utilities Company.

He suggested an open field, away from electric wires and busy streets, as the ideal place for kite-flying. "It's dangerous to fly kites in the streets or anywhere near poles and wires, partly because of traffic hazards and partly because kites may come in contact with electric lines," the WTU manager said. Serious trouble may result if the kite becomes entangled in electric wires.

"If a kite gets caught in electric wires, a child may receive an electrical shock, or at best may lose his kite," Sellers warned. He emphasized, however, that kite-flying can be completely safe if a few simple rules are followed.

The WTU manager made his pleas for safety as warm temperatures and steady breezes signalled the beginning of the spring kite-flying season.

He also suggested kite-flying enthusiasts use only dry string. Wet string, wire or twine with metal in it are good conductors of electricity and increase the danger of electric shock, either from electric wires or from atmospheric conditions. Metal shouldn't be used in the construction of kites either.

Sellers warned model builders

Munday Mogul Band Wins Sweepstakes In Contest Held At Sweetwater Sat.

On Saturday, March 4, the Munday Mogul Band, along with 15 other bands of the area, journeyed to Sweetwater to compete for trophies in marching, concert playing and sight reading. The Mogul Band won every award in its class, and was one of the two bands that was able to do this.

This contest was attended in preparation for the Interscholastic League contest to be held in Wichita Falls the latter part of April. The band will enter into the sight reading and concert events in this contest, as they won first in marching in a contest last fall.

Judges were Lyle Skinner of Waco High School, Major Kurtz of Lackland Air Base in San Antonio, Gene Stutsberry of Pasadena, and Robert Fielder of San Antonio's Alamo Heights. Each judge tape recorded his comments as the bands played their selections.

Mr. Skinner of Waco said: "March very well played. There was good musical balance in the chords and a steady tempo and a very wholesome respect for the notes and their musical meaning. The general effect was excellent. A good musical contrast, a very interesting performance, quality was very pleasing. In all a most commendable performance."

Mr. Kurtz said: "Very partial to this march. The band is well dressed and well disciplined—a commendable performance."

Mr. Stutsberry used very colorful adjectives to make his feelings known. His comments were: "This is a fine little band. Now I tell you right now I think you play very fine and very musical. This little group of boys and girls really deserve lots of credit. You have fine tempos, your intonation is very good. You have a fine interpretation of this march. I have enjoyed every bit of this march. Your dynamic level is good, not too loud, not too soft."

About the overtures, Mr. Stutsberry said: "Entrances sound very good. Baritone very good. The band plays real musical, ending very well played. I think you are to be commended. This is one of the best Class A bands I've heard in a long time. You're small, and everybody plays well. I want to commend you and your conductor. I think he has a very fine interpretation and a very fine beat. I've enjoyed your band a lot."

The next public performance of the band will be for the annual Mogul Musica-de, which will be held on March 17, in the school gym.

"Cityfied" Munday Has One-Way Street

Munday has gotten up in the "big city class," as of Thursday afternoon of last week. We have a one-way street!

Fifth Avenue—the street between "M" System and the cotton classing office—has been so designated, with only south-bound traffic being permitted.

The one-way designation is for one block only, between Main Street and I Street.

The street was just too narrow, it was explained, to permit parking and unloading zones and two-way traffic. The purpose for designating it as a one-way drive is to try to eliminate traffic jams.

Munday may soon have another one-way street, between Wardlaw Appliance Co. and Horton Equipment. City officials are studying the situation.

THE THIRD DIMENSION

Man is a being of three dimensions—mental, physical and spiritual. There are some who doubt the third dimension. They cite man's progress in the field of pure science—but some of our greatest scientists have stated that they believe in a supreme power.

In today's world, truth and right are in jeopardy. Their vigor can be nurtured and maintained through religious education—third dimension training.

The 17th annual National Sunday School Week will be observed April 10-16, with Pat Boone as national chairman. On accepting the chairmanship Mr. Boone said, "In the Communist world, everyone serves the state. In our world, we serve God and each other. Sunday Schools are needed more than ever as a 'Guide to Faith', the theme of the Week, for our young people, who will be the citizens and leaders of tomorrow. Still better, I suggest that Sunday School be a weekly ritual for the whole family."

National Sunday School Week is sponsored by the Laymen's National Committee, an interfaith organization whose purpose is to reaffirm the heritage of faith declared by our forefathers and to encourage regular attendance in the houses of worship of all faiths.

HAPPY WEDDING

There is a wealth of criticism of the quality of television programs, and for good reason. A high percentage of the whole falls below any reasonable level of taste, intellectual content and plain entertainment value.

But there are outstanding exceptions. For instance, the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey announces sponsorship, in New York and Washington, D. C., of a 15-week Shakespearean dramatic series entitled "An Age of Kings." The program, which covers almost a century of English history, was produced by the British Broadcasting Corporation. Standard Oil's sponsorship will mark the first presentation of a chronology of Shakespeare's works in the United States, and also, the first commercial support of a Shakespearean series on television.

The company's announcement says its sponsorship is designed "as a contribution to education and entertainment as well as a vehicle for information about itself and about the oil industry and its people." Here is a happy wedding of commercial interest and immortal art!

OFF TO THE RACES

An editorial in Life magazine has this to say about the proposal to increase the federal minimum wage and extend its coverage: "That is certainly not going to help the unemployed any. Some jobs just aren't worth more than $1 an hour and to make them illegal is to eliminate them."

The words are blunt, but justified. The extended coverage that is proposed, for example, would be primarily in the retail industry. This industry provides marginal employment for beginners, teenagers, part-time housewives and others whose productive worth is strictly limited. An out-of-line wage would force the elimination of as many of these jobs as possible.

Also, it is hard to square the minimum wage proposal with the President's urge that labor accept wage stabilization in order to help prevent more inflation. An increase in the lowest wage means increases all along the line—the higher-paid, skilled workers naturally demand that their differential be maintained. Then the wage-price spiral is off to the races again.

Veteran Washington observer Arthur Krock writes: "There is . . . a demonstrable check against waste and inflationary spending that the President has not mentioned in his messages and statements thus far. It has been sought by and for presidents ever since 1876, and was steadily denied by Congress, although most of the states have granted it to their governors. This is the so-called 'item veto' power whereby the President can refuse to approve certain appropriations in a federal supply bill without disapproving the entire measure . . . If President Kennedy could get this authority he would have a most effective, immediate and self-evident means of regularly balancing spending and revenue."

Goodwill Industries, which is the largest private employer of the handicapped people, says that within a normal working lifetime a rehabilitated handicapped worker will pay $10 in income taxes for every dollar invested in his rehabilitation.

Average life expectancy in this country has increased by more than 22 years during the present century, according to Health Information Foundation.

Chips From The Carpenter's Workbench

By JAMES HALLMARK

Because members of the church of Christ contend that the Lord made water baptism one of the conditions of salvation we are sometimes accused of believing in "water salvation." As a member of the church of Christ, let me assure you that I neither believe in or teach "water salvation," "baptismal regeneration" or anything akin. Those that accuse us of such are poorly informed. Since this is a matter of eternal importance this misconception needs to be clarified!

The story of Naaman the leper, as recorded in II Kings 5:1-14 illustrates my thinking in regard to baptism. Since in many respects this incident is parallel with water baptism a pertinent question suggests itself. When Naaman dipped seven times in the river Jordan was his trust in the water, or in the God who commanded him to perform this simple act of obedience? Of course, Naaman was trusting in God, not the water, to cure him of his leprosy! His faith was not in the water.

When we are scripturally buried with the Lord in the watery grave, our confidence is not in the water, but in the God who raised Christ from the grave. "Buried with him in baptism, wherein also ye are risen with him through the faith of the operation of God, who hath raised him from the dead." (Col. 2:12).

As with Naaman, it is our obedience to the will of God that secures the promised blessing. Would Naaman have been cleansed if he had not dipped seven times in the river? "And being made perfect, he (Christ) became the author of eternal salvation unto all them that obey him." (Heb. 5:9). "And he (Christ) said unto them, Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature. He that believeth and is baptised shall be saved; but he that believeth not shall be damned." (Mark 16:15-16).

TEXAS FARM INCOME, 1960

The 1960 estimated cash income to Texas farmers and ranchers amounted to $2,209,219,000, the third straight year in which total income was well in excess of the two billion dollar level.

At the same time, 1960's total income was down 3.2 per cent from 1959, which came out at $2,300,906,000.

Income in 1960 from all crops amounted to $1.2 billion, while income from livestock was a little over $1 billion. This represented an increase in livestock receipts over the $895,261,000 realized in 1959. But it was not enough to offset the drop from $1,405,645,000 for all crops in 1959 down to $1,200,000,000 in 1960.

The increase in cash income for livestock was principally the result of a 24 per cent increase in cattle marketing in 1960 over 1959. Average prices for cattle were down about 16 per cent, but heavier marketings more than offset the drop in prices.

Shrinkage in farm cash income for crops was due largely to the drop in proceeds from cotton and cottonseed. Farmers received 15.9 per cent less for their smaller cotton crop in 1960. Farm cash income for cottonseed was 15.3 per cent less in 1960 than in 1959.

However, there was a spectacular increase in income for Texas wheat growers, which gained 27.6 per cent in 1960 over 1959. Income for wheat in 1960 was $135,475,000, compared with the 1959 income of $106,205,000. At the same time, income from sorghum grain dropped six per cent, from $207,479,000 in 1959 to $194,968,000, a direct result of a huge over-supply of corn in other states which was a development of U. S. Department of Agriculture policies.

The Texas crop production index for 1960, compiled by the Texas Crop and Livestock reporting service, stood at 138. This was two points greater than 1959 and was equal to the 1958 level, which was the second greatest crop year in Texas history. The peak production year for Texas agriculture was 1949. In that year the index, which includes 13 major crops, reached its all-time high of 145.

Best opinion is that, assuming normal weather conditions, the Texas crop output in 1961 will continue at least on a level with that of 1960. Livestock production is expected to show some increase over 1960, and this could develop some gain in total cash income. But, as elsewhere in the nation, Texas farmers and ranchers are caught in the severe cost-price squeeze which has severely diminished their net.

We try Mister—we sure try!

Yes, Mister—the answer is Yes! You see, we are an investor-owned company, so one of our aims is to make money for our investors—the people who own us (after we pay our taxes, bills, and employees). . . you know we are owned by many thousands of individual investors.
 We don't have any special privileges from the government, to borrow money or to be excused from any taxes. We operate just like any other "free enterprise" business. We manufacture and distribute electric energy and we must make a profit to stay in business. So again, Mister—the answer is Yes—we sure try to make a profit.

Highest 4-H Honor Bestowed On Former Texas Club Member

A former Texas 4-H Club girl has just received the highest honor the 4-H program has for former members.

Sallie Fletcher Hill

She is Miss Sally Fletcher Hill, of Dallas, senior home editor of the Progressive Farmer. She has been named one of eight national winners of the 4-H alumni recognition award for 1961.

Miss Hill will be honored at the annual alumni banquet during the 40th National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago next November.

There she will receive a gold alumni key, presented each year to eight outstanding 4-H graduates, selected from throughout the nation, who have "continued to live by 4-H ideals."

Miss Hill has been editor of the magazine's home department for 27 years, and has resided in Birmingham, Ala., until recently. Her latest accomplishment, authoring the Progressive Farmer Southern Cookbook, is just off the press.

As a girl she spent two years in 4-H Club work in Whittle, Parker county, and became a club leader. Her projects were tomato culture and canning, major interests of the early clubs.

Now this 4-H alumna owns 525 acres of Texas farmland and raises a small herd of Hereford cattle.

Before entering journalism, Miss Hill was a district home demonstration agent in West Texas and several southern states. From 1909 to 1917 she taught at rural schools in Palo Pinto and Parker counties, Texas.

Born and reared on a Texas farm, Miss Hill was graduated from Palo Pinto Academy, attended West Texas State College, then earned a bachelor of science degree in home economics at George Peabody College. She later took graduate work in home economics and journalism at Columbia University, New York City.

In 1955 Miss Hill received the National Headliner award for distinguished contribution to the field of journalism from Theta Sigma Phi, national fraternity for women in journalism.

During her magazine career she has been third vice president of the National League of American Pen Women; president of the National Farm and Home Editors Association, and was on the editorial staff of Matrix, national publication of Theta Sigma Phi.

The 4-H alumni program, conducted nationally by the Cooperative Extension Service, and the National 4-H Service Committee, is supported by Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp., Chemicals Division-Agricultural, Little Rock, Ark.

Dollars And Sense

By Mrs. S. C. Kinsey, Knox County H. D. Agent

Buy — don't be sold. Develop good buying habits. Make your plans in advance and make your list.

Buy what you need and can use, but don't take what you do not need or that with which you are dissatisfied.

Buying without planning or without much consideration at the moment is known as "Impulse Buying" and impulse action may not prove satisfactory.

Impulse action is promoted by pressure selling at the door or in the store.

Poor buys in goods which are expected to last for several years such as equipment, furniture, etc. is especially hard on the buyer and perhaps on the family.

Buy the product, do not be sold on the package. You probably do not need an article if you have not thought about it before and put in on your list with the expectation to buy.

CARD OF THANKS

The kindness and sympathy of neighbors and friends in our recent sorrow in the death of our father, Joe Ejem, will always remain a precious memory. Our sincere thanks and gratitude for the food, the flowers, those who sat up with him, and for all comforting acts. God bless you all.

Insurance Company To Help Drivers With Difficulty Getting Auto Insurance

State Farm Agent Leo Fetsch advises us that the newly organized State Farm County Mutual Insurance Company of Texas is going to try to help a large number of drivers who now have difficulty getting auto insurance.

Single men under 25, men and women over 65, and motorists with minor driving infractions whose records are generally satisfactory are prospects of the new State Farm program, to become effective in Texas immediately.

Many under-25 and over-65 car owners have had special problems finding auto insurance in the voluntary market, because they are members of "statistically undesirable" driver categories. Earle B. Johnson, regional vice president of State Farm's Southwestern Office and Vice President of the State Farm County Mutual Insurance Company of Texas, located at Dallas, said the new program—called the "Standard Plan"—is based on the belief that drivers with good driving records and meeting only standard underwriting requirements should be able to get voluntary insurance protection regardless of age or other factors over which they have no control.

"State Farm County Mutual's Standard Plan takes into account the individual's driving record, rather than that of the group he may belong to," Johnson said. State Farm Mutual Automobile Insurance Company, parent company of the group, is the nation's largest auto insurer, with over 6,000,000 policies in force.

Rates under the program will be slightly above the uniform rates established by the state's board of insurance commissioners. However, Johnson noted, the surcharges and credits of the Texas merit rating plan will not apply to policies issued under the new Standard Plan. The Plan provides for discounts from 3 per cent to 15 per cent for successive six-month periods of claim free driving, but no surcharges will be applied to the basic Standard Plan rates, Johnson said.

In December 1960, State Farm Mutual contributed $1,000,000 to the surplus of the County Mutual, and made it an affiliate of the State Farm group. County Mutuals are exempt from the Texas insurance statutes under which Texas uniform auto insurance rates are set.

"As the leader of the auto insurance industry, we feel a particular responsibility for developing means whereby every deserving driver can secure broad insurance protection," Johnson said. "Because the voluntary market is closed to some groups of motorists, many of them have had to seek insurance in the as-

Your RIGHT TO VOTE

MR. AND MRS. VOTER, do you feel that you should have an opportunity to vote on legalizing Parimutuel Horse Race Betting?

A constitutional amendment (H.J.R. #4) is being considered whereby Texans will be given an opportunity to legalize horse race betting in Dallas, Tarrant, Harris, Galveston, Bexar, Midland, Hidalgo, Cameron and Webb Counties, subject to approval by LOCAL OPTION.

H.J.R. #4 provides for distribution, ANNUALLY, among all counties that do not have race tracks, one-half of the STATE TAX REVENUE obtained from horse racing. Each county would receive approximately $1.00 per capita population the first year. Counties where the tracks are located would receive 2% of parimutuel handle. The state's tax income from horse racing alone would run close to $12,000,000 the very first year—possibly more—besides all the income tourists would bring to Texas—which would amount to millions of dollars, plus a great ad valorem tax on race tracks, breeding farms and many valuable race horses.

Please express your opinion by checking  the appropriate box below. You do not have to sign your name unless you like, but we would prefer it.

POLL

- YES: I feel that the people should have an opportunity to vote on horse race parimutuel betting.
- NO: I am not in favor of letting the people vote on the subject.

Health of Americans Making Great Progress

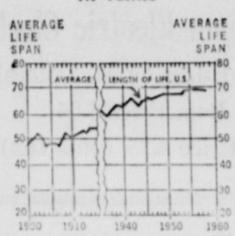

The health of Americans is making such progress that a new population explosion is taking place at the other end of life's cycle. Back in 1900, the average span of life in the U.S. was about 47 years. Today the average lifetime is nearly 70 years. Americans 65 years or older today number 16,000,000. By 1980, these "senior citizens" will number about 26,000,000.

Factors such as these are forcing a closer look at many unexplained and unsubstantiated "health scares" that occasionally hit the headlines.

They have led, for instance, to the issuance of a report called "Tobacco and the Health of a Nation" by The Tobacco Institute, Inc. This leaflet cites facts and figures from U.S. Government and other authoritative reports to show the great advances in health made since the turn of the century.

Death rates from all respiratory diseases have plummeted in the past 60 years to about one seventh of the level in 1900. The height and weight of young people has increased. The death rate from heart ailments has declined, when the age of the population is taken into account. Reprinted from the leaflet, the following chart shows the trend in the longer life of citizens of the U.S.

ESTIMATED AVERAGE LENGTH OF LIFE IN YEARS

Source: U.S. Vital Statistics

"These facts and figures show the tremendous advances made in the health of our people," said Edward F. Ragsland, vice-president of The Tobacco Institute, Inc. "Tribute should certainly go to the medical profession and the drug industry, as well as to our high standards of nutrition, for helping to give us a longer, healthier life."

"Those who attack cigarettes by blaming them for all kinds of health problems seem to overlook the fact that these health improvements also have occurred during the same period that the cigarette was constantly gaining widespread favor as the most popular form of tobacco use."

Other points covered in the leaflet include these:

- 1) In 1900 death rates from major lung ailments were 700 per cent higher than today, lung cancer included.
- 2) Death rates for major heart diseases, when age-adjusted to allow for more people living into older age brackets, now are lower than at any other period since 1900.
- 3) The average height and weight of young men has shown a steady increase since 1900. Physical measurements of freshmen at one major university have gone up more than two inches in height and more than 20 pounds in weight since the turn of the century.

Copies of this pamphlet, which are obtainable free from The Tobacco Institute, Inc., 919 Seventeenth Street, N. W., Washington 6, D.C., also reveal how hundreds of doctors and scientists, here and abroad, continue to seek more knowledge about lung cancer, known to be a complex disease that cannot now be explained by any simple cause and effect answer. This work is supported by millions of dollars from public and private agencies.

An extensive program in this area is supported by the Tobacco Industry Research Committee which by 1960 has provided $3,700,000 for independent scientific research into such problems as cancer and heart disease.

Grants are made to research scientists who then independently conduct their work and publish their findings. Scientific studies show that much more research needs to be conducted into many possible factors before definite answers to cancer, including lung cancer, will be forthcoming.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Demands The Right To Be Misquoted If He Says Something, Then Wishes He Hadn't

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek needn't look to us to help him out on the problem he discusses this week. That's his lookout.

Dear editor:
There's a peculiar occurrence that shows up in the news every once in a while that has always puzzled me.

For example, a politician in Austin or Washington will come out with a sensational statement that makes the headlines, then when it turns out he has stepped on somebody's toes higher up, or it didn't have the reaction he thought it was going to have, or maybe it made him look like a monkey, he calls in the reporters a second time and announces he was misquoted.

Now the strange thing about this is that everybody seems to accept this explanation, the newspapers carry it, and everything goes along like nothing had happened. The same fellow will be on television next week making another statement.

I am not criticizing this, I'm just asking why it can't have a more widespread use?

For example, say six months ago I went into the bank and told my banker if he'd let me have some money I'd pay it back on March 9, but here it is March 9 and I can't do it. Why can't I call up the bank and say, "Look here, I got this notice in the mail this morning saying my note was due. There's been a mistake. I been misquoted, I been misconstrued. I been taken out of context. When I said March 9, I didn't mean March 9, 1961, I meant March 9, 1971. There's a big difference, you know. Let's set the record straight."

I don't know why it is, they don't read the newspapers enough I guess, but if you tried to pull this off on the bankers I know, the story wouldn't end there, like it does in politics.

Or take my neighbor. He's always misquoting me. Just this morning he came over and said, "Where's that pipe wrench you said you'd return in two hours when you borrowed it month before last?"

I said no such thing. What I said was I'd return it in two hours, all right, but that meant I'd take two hours in returning it when I started toward his house, I didn't say what day the two hours would come out of. But he's not up on the national level either and he wanted it right then and was mad to boot.

This misquotation business is one of the handiest devices ever invented by a public official, and I would like to see its use trickle down to us plain citizens. No telling when I may say something I wish I hadn't in one of these letters to you, and when I do, I hope you stand ready to admit you misquoted me.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

The death a while back of Byron Utecht, dean of the Capitol press corps, calls to mind a little incident of many years ago when I was editor of the Ranger Times.

A campaign for governor was in progress and Byron was traveling with one of the candidates who was a good friend of his. The day before they were scheduled to be in Ranger, a state Senator made a speech on behalf of one of the others in the race. He was an able speaker and he gave all of his man's opponents a good working-over.

In a spirit of mischief—I was young then—I wrote in full what he said about Byron's friend and referred in a brief paragraph to the fact that the speaker had criticized the others.

I knew Byron well and, soon after his arrival, called on him at the Gholson Hotel and handed him a copy of that afternoon's Times. When he read the article, he became excited and at once called it to his friend's attention—as I figured he would. The candidate was furious and devoted almost all of his speech to the Senator and the Senator's candidate—which gave me a good story for the next day's paper.

Only thing was, the situation nearly got out of hand. The more Byron's friend thought about it, the madder he got and Byron had all he could do to persuade him not to drive over to Mineral Wells (where the Senator was, on his speaking tour) and give him a licking.

When I used to see James E. Ferguson, in the twilight of his career, going through the lobby of the Driskill Hotel, speaking to a friend or stopping to talk a minute with a group, the thought came:

"There goes a legendary figure. Some day, people will say—as people did about Sam Houston, Henry Clay and James G. Blaine after they had vanished from the stage—'So you saw Jim Ferguson? What did he look like?'"

He was close to six feet, rather large of build. His eyes were blue, his hair (once dark) was now gray. His complexion was ruddy. He usually wore a dark suit—although, as I remember, sometimes in summer he wore a linen suit and a Panama hat.

Usually however his hat was black felt, broad-brimmed, and he wore a black string tie and a white shirt. It was the traditional raiment of a statesman of the period when he was in his heyday, and earlier.

His voice, in conversation, was pleasant and he smiled easily.

Usually those whom I saw greet him in the hotel lobby were of about his age. Doubtless, they had supported him in his numerous campaigns and "Governor Jim" would always be their idol.

Notes From Knox Farms, Ranches

By Jack Moore, Knox County Agent

Farm Management Increasing in Importance

Farm records kept by farmers throughout the country show a variation of several thousand dollars in farm income on farms of the same size having the same labor and about the same capital investment. This can best be explained by good management.

One farmer produces 25 barrels of rice per acre while his neighbor produces 17 barrels. One cotton farmer produces cotton of much better quality than another. One cattle man has a calving percentage of 90 percent while another has only 75 percent. The gap between the good farmer and the average farmer continues to widen as the cost-price squeeze grows tighter.

The top farmer usually is easy to identify. He keeps a good set of records and first tests a new practice with paper and pencil to determine if it has a chance of paying. He makes his labor count and gears the size of his operation as much as possible to reduce the per unit cost of machinery. In addition, he studies the market and does many other things which make him a better manager.

The successful farmer of tomorrow will have a large operation. The operation will be made up of the most profitable combination of enterprises with each enterprise being managed with maximum efficiency. He will be using many farm economics ideas which are in the process of being developed or have been developed only recently. In other words, the emphasis will be on management — the economics of farming.

Therefore, it is important that farmers and ranchers spend an increasing amount of their time on management.

Crop Insurance Policy Has Waiting Period Of 120 Hours

Wallace Moorhouse received word this week that the crop insurance policy that has been approved for this year has a waiting period of 120 hours before the policy goes into effect instead of the 24 hour waiting period that has been in effect heretofore.

Mr. Moorhouse stated that the policies have not been printed yet although they are approved and will be out in 3 or 4 weeks. All stock company agencies can issue a binder effective in 120 hours from the hour of signature at any time now.

Mr. Moorhouse stressed that this would mean that the farmer will have to look ahead in order to have insurance when needed.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hertel and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Melton spent the past several days sightseeing in San Antonio, Austin, Old Mexico and the Rio Grande Valley. While in the valley they visited with Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Beaty in Rio Hondo.

Mrs. P. V. Williams spent the week end with her sister, Mrs. Ruby Kethley, in Abilene.

David Reynolds of Stillwater, Okla., visited his grandfather, G. E. Reynolds, and other relatives here last Friday.

HOME FROM HOSPITAL

Jimmy Harpham, who underwent surgery in the Bethania Hospital in Wichita Falls on Monday of last week, was able to be brought home last Friday. He is reported to be doing fine but is having to take it easy at home for a while.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Franklin and family of Pep visited Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Franklin and Mrs. Anton Kuhler over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Morath and family of Wichita Falls were Sunday guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Decker.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Franklin spent last Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Jones in Wichita Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Krause of Fort Worth and Mrs. Glen Meeks and children of Abilene visited their mother, Mrs. R. C. Partidge, last Monday and attended the funeral of W. H. Walling on Monday afternoon. Mrs. Krause remained for a longer visit with her mother.

COMPLETES SCHOOLING

Kenneth Searcey has just completed Drivers Instruction Schooling with the Dallas Fire Department. He had one of the top grades in his class with an 85 average.

Mrs. Muriel Mitchell visited with relatives in Baird over the week end.

Savings of time and labor have resulted from an improved method of pinpointing dairy herds infected with brucellosis. The improvement consists of taking the test samples from the milk used in butterfat tests, thus eliminating the need for getting separate samples.
