Odd Bits Salvaged
By The Editor

She has been an inspiration to many of us.

Her determination, her will power, her faith and her cheerfulness have encouraged many others to "look up and live" in the face of adversities.

Hers was a normal life in early childhood. She had her childhood toys, her play pen, her sand box and all things necessary or instrumental to a normal, healthy, happy life. When she became of school age, she entered her classes with all the hope and promise of any other child.

Then, one day in 1954, she became ill—desperately ill.

She was rushed to a Wichita Falls hospital. After careful diagnosis, her attending physician pronounced those words which struck fear into the hearts of her loved ones—spinal and bulbar polio.

But hope had not vanished in the heart of this little girl. Her own hope and determination strengthened the hearts of her parents and loved ones. As days passed that hope was little more than hope.

We recall checking on her progress one morning with her grandfather, the late P. V. Williams. As we waited in his office the telephone call he was waiting for came through. He talked briefly, hung up the receiver, tears came into his eyes and his voice faltered with emotion as he said: "She's no better."

But she became better. The doctors and nurses did all they could, her parents kept constant vigilance at her hospital ward, but the fact that she became better was largely because of the stout heart and strong faith of this little girl—Jerrilyn Kane.

Days passed into weeks, and Jerrilyn submitted to treatments so painful that her screams could be heard out in the street. So severe was the pain that parents of other children with polio could not continue to submit them to the treatments. But Jerrilyn was determined to go on, which determination was shared with her parents. Some day she would walk again!

Then she came home, but the battle was not yet won. She progressed to a wheelchair and resumed some of her former activities, such as school and church attendance. A special ramp was made for the front steps of her home so her chair could be more easily manipulated from ground level to floor level.

Meantime, she had resumed her studies. Her mother, a well qualified teacher, resigned her teaching job to continue therapy treatments and spent hours teaching her so she could keep up with her classmates. She advanced from wheelchair to crutches.

She spent three months at the Gonzales Warm Springs Rehabilitation Center for treatment, and made several trips for checkups. She submitted to two very painful operations in a Dallas hospital. She was told all the facts, nothing was kept from her, and she knew the pain and suffering she would endure.

Jerrilyn made her own decisions. She was guided by the love, encouragement, understanding and more mature wisdom of her parents—but Jerrilyn made the decisions. She was determined to overcome her handicap and lead a life as normal as possible.

She graduated from high school with her class on May 20, 1960, taking an active part in the graduation exercises.

She's tried to bring hope and encouragement to others whose child has become a victim of polio. On occasions, her admonition to them has been: "Pray! Pray as you've never prayed before."

Last September, Jerrilyn entered Texas University. Adjustments from high school to college life were more difficult for her because of her physical disabilities, but they were made. At the end of the first semester her grades were high enough, but she lacked only one semester.

Knox City Boy Wins Knox County's Spelling Bee; In District Contest

Olie Ray Garrison, last year's runnerup in the Knox County spelling bee, took a deep breath, spelled "e-x-p-i-r-e-d" and was on his way to the district spelling bee in Wichita Falls last Saturday.

The 12-year-old lad emerged victorious over three other contestants in a furious, 50-minute spello-down at the Knox County contest at the Knox City grammar school. Olie said he was wearing his lucky shirt—a plaid shirt which he has worn in four spelling bees.

TO PRESIDE—Aubrey L. Bullard, district commander, will preside over the 13th Congressional District spring convention to be held at Gainesville on Saturday and Sunday, March 25-26. Four posts will be honored by being presented citations for having extended their 1961 membership quotas.

Posts and their commanders are: Bryson No. 149, James O. Manley; Decatur No. 80, George Long; Goree No. 549, Thomas J. Cloud, and Throckmorton No. 74, Fred Wright.

P.T.A. Officers Named Recently

Marshall Benner was reelected president of the Munday P. T. A. at the regular meeting Thursday, March 16. Other officers elected were: first vice president, Mrs. Charles Sargent; second vice president, Mrs. Ronnie Skaggs; treasurer, Mrs. Charles McCauley and secretary reelected, Mrs. Ray Ford.

It was stated that the trampoline was sold to Stamford school for $250. Motion was made and carried that expenses be paid to send Mr. and Mrs. Benner and Mrs. Sargent to district P. T. A. meeting in Rotan on Tuesday, March 21.

The stage band of the Mogul Band furnished music for the group and the chorus of the Dunbar school gave several selections of songs which were enjoyed very much.

C. C. Brown's fifth grade won the room contest. The next meeting of the P. T. A. has been moved back to Thursday, April 13 instead of the 20th. Mrs. James Bardwell will present the program with the Junior High student council and the Junior High chorus.

Benjamin To Get New Post Office

Postmaster General, J. Edward Day, announced to congressman Frank Icard that a contract for the construction of a new masonry Post Office building in Benjamin has been awarded to Keith D. Swim, 501 W. Texas, Iowa Park, Texas. The postmaster states construction of the modern, air-conditioned structure is expected to begin at an early date.

The government holds an option on the property which will be conveyed to the successful bidder. The building will be owned by the builder and will be leased to the postoffice department for a 5 year period with one 5 year renewal option.

The postmaster explained that private ownership of the building would remain on local tax rolls. "The leasing program also is responsible for Benjamin getting the new building because no funds are available for the construction of Federal building" he said.

The new Benjamin post office will have 1,000 square feet of floor space and all equipment will be new.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Garrison of Knox City, Olie was his school representative in the 1960 contest held in Munday and went to the district match as an alternate.

Olie now has a chance to go to Washington, D. C., with expenses paid if he captures the district bee at Midwestern University on April 22. The district contest is sponsored by the Wichita Falls Times and Record News. The winner of the district bee will receive an all-transistor radio, and his or her school will win a set of Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Olie defeated blonde-haired Anita Bartos, 11-year-old Gilliland sixth-grader in the contest. Anita, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Bartos, stumbled on the word "fugitive." She substituted "a" for the "i".

Olie corrected this word and then spelled "expired" to win the contest.

The first to drop out was Rita Skaggs of Munday. She missed "admissible," dropping an "s". Johnny Stodghill of Munday faltered on "feud," trasposing the "e" and "u".

Pronouncer Roger White, minister of the Church of Christ in Knox City, called out 290 words during the 21-round contest. Mrs. E. F. Branton, principal of the Knox City elementary school and director of the spelling bee, said Rita and Johnny were a bit nervous.

Some 20 parents were on hand for the spello-down which was judged by Mrs. Curtis Casey, Knox City teacher, and Mrs. George Wynn, Munday English teacher. Erwin Youngblood, superintendent of the Knox City schools, served as recorder.

C-C Banquet Is Slated Tonight

Plans are completed, tables are being set, and traffic will be headed toward the Munday school gymnasium tonight (Thursday) for the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet. Between 250 and 300 people are expected for this annual event.

R. L. McMillon of Abilene, noted after-dinner speaker, will address the group. His speech is expected to contain "meat for thought" in carrying on the community spirit and development.

New officers and directors of the Chamber of Commerce will be announced at this annual meeting.

L. A. Maddox, Jr., animal husbandman of the Extension Service, was presented the beef cattle award this week at the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association convention in Fort Worth this week.

Maddox pioneered in working with county agents and extension subject matter specialists to develop a practical program—building and educational beef cattle programs. His help and advice also have been sought by other states in setting up similar programs.

Jack Smith, 93 Dies March 13th At Haskell Home

James Harvey Smith, 93, retired railroad man of this area, who was well known here as Uncle Jack, passed away on Monday, March 13, in the Haskell Hospital after a brief illness. Mr. Smith had been a resident in the Haskell Convalescent Home for the past three and one-half years.

Funeral services were held at 4:30 p.m. Tuesday, March 14, in the Holden Funeral Chapel with Payne Hattox, minister of the Goree Church of Christ officiating. Burial was in Goree Cemetery.

Born October 26, 1867, in Tennessee, Mr. Smith married Mrs. Minnie Langley in Denton County in 1904. He was employed in the maintenance department of the Southern Pacific, Santa Fe, and the Burlington Railway lines for nearly 50 years. He was a member of the Munday Church of Christ.

His wife passed away in 1909, and a son, Homer Smith, also preceded him in death in 1960.

He is survived by a son, Roy Smith of Santa Monica, Calif., and a step-daughter, Mrs. Mabel Green, who lives in New Mexico. Pallbearers were Gene Brazell of Munday, Bill Lawson, W. P. McCollum, Horace V. Woodward, Jim Pennington and Gaston Hattox, all of Haskell.

Appeals Court Upholds Validity Of Water Authority; Water Permit Asked

Word was received here last Friday that the 11th Court of Civil Appeals at Eastland has upheld the validity of the North Central Texas Water Authority, comprised of Haskell, Munday, Rule and Goree.

Mayor J. E. Walling of Haskell had appealed a district court decision that the NCTWA was legal. He had claimed the cost will be too high and that Haskell should find other sources of water. The district was created in three elections in 1958.

Meanwhile, NCTWA directors had gone ahead with plans for construction on the Miller Creek Watervoir last week by filing an application for permit to impound Miller Creek water for the Authority. Other relative developments indicated that the long-delayed project is rapidly nearing the actual construction stage.

The application to the State Water Board was filed on Wednesday of last week by Bob Herren of Haskell, president of the Water Authority.

In a recent meeting in Munday, directors of the water authority were given the first report of the five-member land appraisal board which had been employed to check on the land needed for the project.

The appraisers' report on three tracts comprising approximately 1,860 acres of land, placed value of the land at considerably lower figures than had been estimated by initial planners of the project. This encouraging development indicates that cost estimates may be reduced considerably, the directors reported.

April 14 Deadline For Releasing Of Cotton Allotments

Jesse T. Gilpin, ASC Office Manager, states that April 14, 1961, is the final date for releasing unused cotton allotment and also final date for applying for additional acreage to be reapportioned from the released acreage.

Everyone who does not intend to plant their entire allotment should release the excess to the Knox County ASC Committee so it can be reapportioned to other farms that will plant it. This is the only way that our cotton history for the county can be maintained at the maximum.

FAITH THE BUILDER

If the day ever comes when the pioneer has no place in the affairs of men, civilization will have started its decline. There are pioneers in every human activity—literature, art, medicine, business—anything you can name. They are people of strong faith. Nothing requires a greater measure of the instincts of the pioneer than the development of a new enterprise. The next time you step aboard an airliner you will have before you the end result of one of the greatest pioneering epochs in human history.

Air transportation as we know it today is a story of the tragedy and triumph of individuals. One of those individuals is Juan Trippe. Not so many years ago, when Mr. Trippe began operating boats between Miami, Florida and Havana, Cuba, his company was looked upon as an adventurous little outfit but one that probably wouldn't ever amount to much because people thought the airplane had no real future as a mode of transportation. Skepticism did not faze Juan Trippe. He had unbounded faith in the creative genius of aircraft manufacturers and his own operating people. He expanded his lines down through the West Indies and along the coasts of South America, eventually to Europe and on around the world.

Today Mr. Trippe's "little outfit" is known as Pan-American Airways, this country's biggest overseas airline, which has become far more than a means of transportation. Pan Am as an instrument of commerce and travel brings people of all nations into contact with each other. Because of Mr. Trippe's faith in air transportation, the dream of international understanding and good will may be closer to realization than many believe. The big question is, are we going to maintain a country in which the Juan Trippes of the future can thrive?

ONLY A BEGINNING

Writing in National Review, Russell Kirk, one of his country's most distinguished and forthright spokesmen on educational questions, has something of great importance to say about federal aid to our schools.

He quotes an exhaustive two-volume study, published by The Institute for Social Science Research, as proving "that sufficient money for good schools—even the $23 or 24 billion annually which may be required by 1970—can be raised from local and state property taxes and sales taxes." He adds: "There is no financial necessity for federal subsidies . . ."

Why, then, has proposed federal aid to education become one of the leading political issues of the day? Professor Kirk's answer: ". . . what the zealots for federal aid really desire is not simply more money, but more power—great power. The present pretexts of school construction and bonuses to teachers' salaries are intended merely as entering wedges: the first steps toward establishing a wholly centralized system of public instruction, directed by an important Washington bureaucracy."

These are blunt words, but history supports them. Once government enters into any sphere, no matter how modest the scale at the beginning, it demands and gets more and more power. And never forget—he who pays the piper calls the tune.

A report of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States indicates that the American people have hardly been niggardly in supporting the schools. We are spending three times more money on public elementary and secondary schools than we spent 10 years ago. Expenditures will top $16 billion, for a new record, by the end of the current school year. Putting it another way, we are spending an average of about $390 per pupil, which is 52 per cent more than the 1950-51 figure.

From the Omaha, Nebraska, World-Herald: "The rails could be helped most, and helped immediately, if they were given the right to run their business and cut needless costs. If Congress really wants help, an easing of the government's heavy hand is the way to start."

INTERNATIONAL FALLS, MINN., JOURNAL: "The fight for federal aid (to education) still goes on, but the crisis that was supposed to justify it is withering away . . . Those who have said the job could be done without federal aid have been proved right. Those who persist in seeking a federal solution, however, still have a chance of getting their way. This could happen because many Americans, deafened by a propaganda din for federal aid, may not yet realize that the crisis is passing."

Chips From The Carpenter's Workbench

By JAMES HALLMARK

Abraham Lincoln once described the hypocrite in this manner: "He reminds me of the man who murdered both his parents, and then, when sentence was about to be pronounced, pleaded for mercy on the grounds that he was an orphan."

Every minister is well acquainted with the hypocrite. Countless thousands offer the hypocrite as an excuse for their failure to do God's will. Someone has well said that you have to be smaller than something to hide behind it. Precious souls will spend eternity in Hell because they have chosen to pattern their lives after the hypocrite rather than after Christ.

However, my main concern at this time has to do with the plight of the hypocrite himself. If we fully understood the destiny of the hypocrite, we would not be so anxious to hide behind him. We should be deeply concerned for the deceiver. "For what is the hope of the hypocrite, though he hath gained, when God taketh away his soul" (Job 27:8). Consider also that "the triumphing of the wicked is short, and the joy of the hypocrite but for a moment" (Job 20:5). Jesus said that the evil servant shall have "his portion with the hypocrites: there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth." (Matt. 24:51).

Therefore, the Christian should be concerned for the hypocrite, for his eternal destiny hangs in the balance. "Let him know, that he which converteth the sinner from the error of his way shall save a soul from death, and shall hide a multitude of sins." (James 5:20). Think twice before you offer the hypocrite as an excuse for your disobedience.

Blackland Belt Studies Problems
Hill County, in the heart of the Blackland Belt and the historic cotton growing center of Texas, is taking the lead in studies aimed at increasing the county's dwindling farm income from cotton.

Not long ago more than 500 Hill County farmers gathered at Hillsboro, their county seat, to attend a study session sponsored by the Hill County Seven-Step Cotton Committee. The seven steps are aimed at increasing the county's income from cotton by at least $1,000,000 in 1961.

Experts emphasized at the meeting that the biggest problems facing Hill County farmers, as well as those throughout the other counties of the old Blackland Belt, involve the failure on an individual basis to apply practices which will curtail water, soil fertility, insect and disease losses.

C. B. Spencer, educational director of the Texas Cottonseed Crushers Association who is himself a Hill County farmer, told his neighbors that "the average Blackland farmer doesn't make $5,000 a year he could make if he would only apply the practices to his land and crops that research have proven to be effective." Spencer pointed out that 30 years ago the Blackland Belt was the world's leading cotton producing region, but that in 1960 it had the lowest yield per acre in any section of Texas.

Reports showed that the present yield of cotton lint per acre in Hill County is 168 pounds. It was estimated that at least $1,000,000 in added income would result if farmers could increase their lint yield by 32 pounds to the acre on the 128,000 acres allotted to Hill County.

These recommendations were given by a group of experts to help bring root rot, the Blackland's most virulent soil-borne cotton killer, under control:

1. Plow the soil deep, at least six inches or more, soon after cotton harvest.
2. Rotate cotton with disease resistant crops, such as grain sorghum, planting cotton only once in every three years on the same soil.
3. Plow under heavy tonnages of green organic matter on acreage planned for cotton.
4. Fertilize the crops as recommended for the soil and plants by qualified advisors.

Reduction Shown In Traffic Toll

The Texas Department of Public Safety officially closed the 1960 traffic "death book" on March 15, showing a total of 2,254 motorcyclists for the year, a reduction of eight per cent from the 1959 toll.

"While this tragic loss is still far too great, it is somewhat heartening to note that 199 fewer lives were taken by traffic in Texas during the past year," said Col. Homer Garrison Jr., DPS director.

"Texans proved during 1960 that with a concerted effort on the part of official agencies, private organizations and the general public, something can be done about the terrible tragedy of death by motor vehicle."

"In a sense, 1960 was a noteworthy year in the cause of traffic safety in Texas. The death toll was the lowest for any year since 1949 when 1,957 were killed. And based on the 46.3 billion vehicle miles travelled during the year, Texas had a death rate of 4.9—the lowest on record."

"Texans should accept this improvement as a challenge for an even greater effort in 1961 to hold down traffic deaths and injuries and economic loss. The best single effort that can be put forth by every driver is to obey the safety laws and regulations, because in almost every fatal accident at least one violation is involved."

The 1959 report, prepared by the DPS Statistical Services division, indicated that most of the improvement in the motorcyclist toll occurred in the rural areas. The breakdown showed an 11 per cent reduction in rural areas, compared with a one per cent reduction in urban areas.

A complete tabulation and analysis of 1960 traffic accidents is

Best Of 4-H

Carl Wright, 18, of Stanton, a Baylor University student, has returned from Chicago where he was a Texas delegate to the 39th National 4-H Club Congress. He was one of six youths from across the country who received free five-day trips to the event from the Wm. Wrigley Jr. Co. for outstanding work in community relations.

More than 1,350 4-H'ers attended the annual meeting, sponsored by the Cooperative Extension Service, the National 4-H Service Committee and about 50 leading business firms.

The Texas youth's community work has included charity, health, and safety drives, public speaking and church work. Carl was graduated fourth in a class of 43 and was among the nation's top one per cent in scholastic testing.

Winning the community relations was his second statewide recognition. In 1958 he was picked as Texas outstanding 4-H'er in citizenship. In addition, he was county public speaking champion for three straight years.

On his parents' farm, he has raised bees, turkeys, cattle, swine and a vegetable garden. Carl, who is a Sunday school teacher, is the son of the Rev. and Mrs. W. C. Wright, formerly of Tennessee.

Billy F. Fitzgerald Speaker For Youth Meeting In Seymour

Billy Frank Fitzgerald of Munday was the featured speaker at a recent subdistrict Methodist youth banquet held in the First Methodist Church of Seymour. He chose for his topic, "What makes for a Good M. Y. F.?" He answered the question by stating an M. Y. F. member must be a "transformed person."

The banquet got under way at 7:30 p.m. on Saturday evening, March 18. Decorations were in pink and white, and the entire program took place by candlelight.

Invocation was given by Jack Bishop of Seymour, Miss Glory Martin, president of the J. O. Y. sub-district, gave the welcome, and response was by Jerry Bowden of Munday. Entertainment was a sing-song led by Donna Fitzgerald of Knox City and music by Mixie Bailes of Seymour.

1961 Graduates Honored Tuesday At Baptist Church

A banquet honoring the high school graduating class of 1961 was given at the First Baptist Church Tuesday evening by the Woman's Missionary Union.

The invocation was given by the pastor, Robert Young. Appropriate background music was played during the dinner which was served to approximately 60 guests. The menu consisted of fried chicken, peas in a pod, con-ealed salad, corn, hot rolls and butter, iced tea and chocolate pie. Members of Y. W. A. and G. A. organizations including: Joan Cude, Linda Smith, Jan Hawkins, Peggy Booe, Ann Moorhouse, Phyllis Yost, and Karen Johnson served the food. The high school colors of purple and gold were carried out in decorations. Yellow begonias and miniature graduates in purple gowns served as center pieces on the tables.

The program began with Mrs. Curtis Gollehon, W. M. U. president, giving the welcome. Response was made by John Reneau, senior class president. "Oh, You Beautiful Doll" was pantomimed by a quartet of dolls. Jackie Barger of Goree then presented a comical motorcycle monologue. This was followed by a girls trio composed of Jere Moore, Sue Cypert and Brenda Johnson who sang "I Know Who Holds Tomorrow." Guest speaker for the evening, Jack Smith of Houston, brought a very timely message entitled "Formula of Success."

Class sponsors, Mrs. Alice Wynn and Lee Bowden then expressed thanks to those who had made the banquet possible and also to the class for their fine cooperation this school year. The evening program was concluded with prayer led by Willis Apple, school supt.

Space Ship Proposal Far Cry From First Aircraft

Two scale models illustrate the remarkable changes that have taken place in a half-century of aircraft design. Wright brothers' plane (bottom) is sharp contrast to the sleek space ferry (top) like one G-E proposes for near-future trips to a satellite, and return.

In 1903, all it took to make the historic 120-foot, 12-second first airplane flight was the Wright brothers' crude bi-plane. But ferrying men and material between the earth and a moving space satellite requires an incredibly complex vehicle which taxes the ingenuity and creativity of the world's top scientists.

General Electric's Missile and Space Vehicle Department of Philadelphia has proposed a "space ferry" similar to the model shown above (top) for manned flights beyond the earth's atmosphere in the not distant future.

The piloted spacecraft, capable of rendezvousing with a satellite that initially was travelling 3,000 miles an hour faster, would later return to earth for eventual parachute recovery. G-E says the "space ferry" would be light enough to be launched by such current rockets as the U.S. Air Force's advanced Atlas and Titan. The vehicle would be of "building block" form, including a piloted re-entry section; a cargo area (optional), and a disposable space propulsion and guidance portion. G-E also is working on a design for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Apollo space ship, whose mission will be to take man around the moon and back.

Little did the Wright brothers know what they were starting!

Celebrates His 72nd Birthday On Sunday

Sunday was a big day in the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Lowe as it was a celebration of Mr. Lowe's 72nd birthday. All of the Lowe children were present for the occasion and all of his brothers and sisters were present but Mrs. Frank Adams of Munday and Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Latimer of Latimer and illness prevented their attendance.

Present to help him celebrate were Mr. and Mrs. Jim Fuggle of Tucumcari, N. M.; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lowe of Grady, N. M.; Mrs. Minnie McFarland of Seymour; E. C. Lowe and his grandchildren, Johnny Ray and Becky Lowe, of Haskell; Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Lowe of Weinert; Mr. and Mrs. Leo Jones and Ann of Lovington, N. M.; Mr. and Mrs. Jim Needham and John Lowe of Dallas; Mr. and Mrs. Derald Gray of Hale Center and Mr. and Mrs. Sargent Lowe, Joe, Judy and Jerry, of Munday. Mrs. Pearl Irick was also present to help Mr. Lowe celebrate.

Letters From The People

Dear Editor:

On St. Patrick's Day 1911, I was principal of the Weinert School. Munday was having an entertainment as it is in 1961. Six couples of us plus a driver and a boy put seven spring seats on a long wagon frame. With four mules hitched to the wagon we rode for three hours over a sandy road to Munday. We had every kind of weather in the book—sandstorm, snow, sleet, rain, with very threatening clouds.

When we arrived at Munday we discovered the weather was so bad that the natives would not venture out of their houses to the school house. The show was called off so we drove another three hours back to Weinert. I relate this incident partially to prove that we oldsters never did anything foolish or silly as modern youngsters sometimes do.

Bustin' out at the seams!

The WTU service area is growing fast and the facts prove it. Personal income, retail sales, value added by manufacture, bank deposits, savings, construction and other growth factors all are on the way up.

This company's own record of growth in the past decade is further evidence. Our KWH sales have increased 154 per cent, and our generating capability has increased 212 per cent.

Notice that our capacity to serve has increased even faster than our sales. That is because we are working hard to stay ahead of area growth — to have facilities available to serve more people, businesses and industries as they come.

Such an objective is back of our current multi-million-dollar expansion program. One example of it is the new generating station under construction at Oak Creek Lake. When completed it will provide in the very beginning an additional 75,000 kilowatts to our system.

Such long-range expansion plans and the cost figures are significant for one very simple reason. They stand as living testimony to our faith in the future of this area — as evidence of our belief in GROWTH UNLIMITED.

Unused Cotton Allotments Is Concern Of Community, As Well As The Farmers

Cotton is a commodity which creates a good "multiplier" effect in the economy, says Cecil Parker, extension economist, because most of the cotton farmer's dollar is usually dropped into the money stream of the community.

Though the dollar's identity may be quickly lost, it tends to circulate through all the avenues of trade and commerce. The loss of cotton income, on the other hand, can adversely affect a community's whole economy, points out Parker. For that reason, he adds, unused cotton allotments are a matter of community concern.

The law under which cotton farmers are now operating contains provisions for the voluntary release and reallocation of 1961 cotton allotments. Where the release is made, the released acreage is retained on the releasing farm as history and used in figuring future allotments. But, Parker points out, it will not qualify a farm for an old farm allotment as having planted cotton in one of the three previous years. If all the farm allotment is released for three consecutive years, the farm loses its eligibility for an old farm allotment.

In order to expedite the release and reallocation of 1961 acreage allotments, the state has been divided into five zones by the State Agricultural Stabilization Committee and final dates set in each for releasing cotton acreage. The final date for releasing allotments in the San Antonio, Corpus Christi, Laredo area is February 17. In Zone 2, the Austin-Houston area, the final date is February 24. Final date in Zone 3, Northeast third of the state, is March 3. April 7 is the final date for Zone 4, far West and West Central Texas and April 14 is the last day cotton producers in Zone 5, Northwest Texas, can release allotments.

These same dates, points out Parker, are also the final dates for producers in the different zones to file applications for additional allotments. That is, acreage in addition to the cotton allotment already established for a farm.

Because of the complex situations which exist on many cotton farms, Parker strongly recommends that producers contact their county ASC office for details on how the release and reallocation program can affect their future cotton production plans. Some mighty important decisions are involved, he says.

Dollars And Sense

Guide to good buying. As you shop, take time to become acquainted with new food and to compare them with foods of similar kinds which you have been accustomed to using. Some may be superior to foods which have been standards on your grocery list.

Many foods of the same kind are available fresh and in several processed forms — canned, dried, and frozen. All forms of the same kind of food are about equal in nutritive value if they are processed, stored and prepared correctly. Decide which is most important to you, time, money or energy, and buy the one that can do the most for you.

In choosing the quality of food to buy, it is important to know and recognize in visible characteristics of quality and to buy quality suited to the way in which food will be used. Visible characteristics of quality are color, shape and freshness.

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by the State Health Department

Accidents rank third among the leading causes of death, but numerically claim far fewer lives than the two leading causes. About 92,000 persons died from accidents in the United States during 1960.

In Texas last year, there were 5,430 accidental deaths, third only to heart diseases and cancer, based on 1960 provisional estimates compiled by the Records and Statistics Section of the State Health Department.

Texas' death rate from accidents was 56.4 per 100,000 population during 1960 compared to a 52.2 national accidental-death rate.

However, 1960's rate was down from 57.9 the year before.

The lion's share of accidental deaths involve motor vehicle accidents. In Texas, last year about 2,240 persons were killed in automobile accidents.

Nationwide, there were 38,000 motor vehicle accident deaths in 1960—a few hundred more than in 1959.

The national rise reflects the increase in the amount of automobile travel. The motor vehicle accident death rate per 100 million miles of travel in 1960 may set an all-time low of approximately 5.3 nationwide—Texas' rate for 1958 and 1959.

In Texas, deaths from motor accidents actually dropped by about 190, with a corresponding drop in the rate from 26.9 per 100,000 population in 1959 to 24.5 for 1960.

Accidents in and about the home took 26,500 lives in 1960, or an increase of approximately 500 for the entire nation.

Again the leading cause of home accidents was falls—most were same-level falls involving people in the older age groups.

Also of interest from the 1960 provisional death rate estimates is that suicides accounted for 820 Texas deaths for a rate of 8.5 the same as 1959.

Suicides cause more Texas deaths each year—during the last few years—than tuberculosis or influenza, both former leading causes 30 years ago.

Homicides claimed 695 deaths in Texas during 1960, slightly less than the year before. Accidents, suicides and homicides, while claiming too many Texas lives, still rank far down the list compared to "natural" causes numerically. (A weekly feature from Public Health Education Division, Texas State Department of Health.)

Senator Moffett Gives Comments On Fertilizer Law

Senator George Moffett of Chillicothe has issued the following statement concerning the new fertilizer law, which he considers to be one of the first important bills passed at the current session of the Texas Legislature:

"A modernized and improved fertilizer law is needed in Texas," stated Senator Moffett. "The law passed many years ago made no reference to liquid fertilizers, which are widely used at this time. Other new and improved mixtures and brands of fertilizers have come on the market which are not mentioned in the old law. The use of fertilizers has expanded all over the state. Many farmers are now using fertilizers who have never used them before, and all farmers need to know the percentage of the various helpful elements contained in a bag of fertilizer.

"These factors indicate that a new law is needed. It is expected that the Governor will sign this bill and thereby place on the statute books of Texas a measure which will bring about proper control and regulation of the several kinds of fertilizer sold in Texas, with specific labeling as to the actual percentage of helpful elements in each container sold to the farmer or to other consumers for their lawns, flower beds and gardens.

"I am glad to have introduced and sponsored this bill through the Legislature, and will be ready to propose further changes if and when they are needed."

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Tayntor and Michael Earl of Wichita Falls were Sunday guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Raynes.

Six of America's most chic women have been awarded the 1960 coveted Golden Hat Award! Irene Dunne, Mrs. William Randolph Hearst, Jr., Loretta Young, Roberta Peters, Arlene Dahl, and Joan Fontaine were the winners.

Chosen by the votes of hundreds of women's page fashion editors from all over the country.

Comments from the newly crowned queens of millinery clearly summed up six reasons why the hat has become the outstanding symbol of the well-dressed and attractive woman.

Irene Dunne, representing women in Business and Government, believes that a pretty hat brightens up dreary days and keeps a woman working in a predominantly male field looking feminine and charming. Said Miss Dunne: "I can never have enough hats. It seems there's always one more I just can't live without."

Mrs. Hearst, an outstanding leader of American and International society, said: "No outfit is chic without a hat. A hat becomes a personal signature more than anything else that you wear."

Loretta Young, whose clothes on camera are the talk of the feminine world, was the winner for Television. Said Miss Young: "The Golden Hat Award is a wonderful honor. Hats have always been lucky for me."

The singer voted as best-hatted was Roberta Peters, who finds hats particularly delightful when she goes on tour. Commented Miss Peters: "One of the nicest things about winning this award is that my husband is so pleased too. He always likes to see me in pretty hats."

Beautiful Arlene Dahl was the winner for Motion Pictures, in acknowledgement of her choice of hats as glamorous accents to her costumes. Stated Miss Dahl: "I'm really thrilled. I've written about the Golden Hat Award in my column, but I never thought I would win one."

From the Theater comes the sixth winner, Joan Fontaine, who has worn thirty hats in her wardrobe. Loretta Young stated: "I love all hats but my special love is evening hats because they make me feel glamorous during the most glamorous time of a woman's day."

Mrs. Lola Cartwright visited with her son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Cartwright and children, in Abilene from Tuesday until Thursday of last week.

Verbon Voss of Dublin visited with relatives and friends here last Sunday.

Gilliland H. D. Club Meets March 25th

The Gilliland Home Demonstration Club met Wednesday, March 15, for an all day meeting. Some of the ladies made hats of straw braid and some covered shoes.

After everyone enjoyed eating lunch together more working on the hats was begun.

At the regular meeting in the afternoon Miss Kinsey gave a demonstration on management and resources. Two of the 4-H girls, Rita Kay Burgess and Anita Bartos, gave a demonstration on safety in the home.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Bullington and children visited with her mother, Mrs. Paul Espey, and with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Bullington, in El Paso over the week end.

Guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Brown and daughters over the week end were her parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. N. Tyler, and sisters, Mrs. Cordell Clanton and son and Mrs. Syble Tackle and son, all of Milford.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Corners The City Man On Washington's Plan To Save Cities From Blight And Decay

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek asks a question this week that's hard to answer.

Dear editor:
A friend of mine who went to grammar school with me and now lives in San Antonio came by this Johnson grass farm out here the other day and after parking his car carefully to avoid a stack of wire and posts I've been meaning to move since I left them there three or four years ago, got to kidding me about the farm situation.

"Well," he asked, after I'd showed him which side of the front step to step on without getting hit with the other end, "your government checks coming through on time every month? What's the support price now on Johnson grass? How much extra you getting this year to retire some more land? How you tell your retired land from your cultivated land? Just thought I'd stop by and see where us city folks' tax money is going."

I'm not much at talking, but I had been reading a newspaper earlier in the day so I asked him: "By the way, how much is San Antonio going to get out of the Administration's urban renewal program?"

"How's that?" he asked. "Don't you keep up with the news?" I asked. "I see by the paper today that there's a drive on to save the cities. It's a fact. We got marginal cities the same as marginal farms. Looks like cities have been planted too thick, the same as crops. Here, read this."

I showed him the paper, which said President Kennedy has sent Congress a $3,250,000,000 (that's three and a quarter billion) bill to "save the cities," in the form of outright grants plus loans to "reinforce the big cities in their desperate struggle against blight and decay." Under the program, a city man could get a 40-year mortgage with no down payment to build a house in order to "upgrade decaying neighborhoods."

"What's the matter with you city folks?" I asked. "Can't you WANTED—A good reliable man to supply customers with Rawleigh products in Knox County. Write Rawleigh's Dept. TXC-430-127, Memphis, Tenn. 34-3tp run your towns without help from Washington?"

"I don't think you have a true appreciation of what this particular piece of legislation is designed for," he said, or words to that effect, adding that he had to be going, it was getting late, and he sure enjoyed visiting with me.

I'm not saying the cities don't need this money. All I'm saying is that if I'm supposed to get a government check every month, what happened to it?

BOYCE HOUSE
Gives You Texas

This tribute was written by Will Rogers to his sister: "Today, as I write this, I am not in the Follies, the carefree comedian who jokes about everything. I am in Oklahoma among my people, my Cherokee people, who don't expect a laugh for everything I say. Back home at the funeral of my sister. She and my other sister started in this little western town—Chelsea, Oklahoma — some 35 years ago. They helped build the Methodist Church, the first church there. They have helped every movement that they knew was for the best upbuilding of their community. They have each raised a large family of boys and girls who are today a credit to their community. They have carried on the same as thousands of women have carried on in every small and big town in the world. They don't think they are doing anything out of the ordinary. They don't want credit. They do good simply because they don't know any other thing to do.

Death didn't scare her. It was only an episode in her life. If you live right, death is a joke to you as far as fear is concerned.

After all, there is nothing in the world like home. You can roam all over the world, but after all, it's what the people at home think of you that really counts. I have just today witnessed a funeral that for real sorrow and affection I don't think will ever be surpassed anywhere. They came in every mode of conveyance, on foot, in buggies, horseback, wagons, cars and trains and there wasn't a soul that came that she hadn't helped or favored at one time or another.

Some uninformed newspapers printed: "Mrs. C. L. Lane, sister of the famous comedian, Will Rogers." They were greatly misinformed. It's the other way around. I am the brother of Mrs. C. L. Lane, "The Friend of Humanity." And all the honors that I could ever in my wildest dreams hope to reach, would never equal the honor paid on a little western prairie hilltop, among her people, to Maud Lane. If they will love men like that at the finish, my life will not have been in vain.

Mr. and Mrs. John Vardeman of Megargel visited with her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Levi Bowden and Jerry last Tuesday. They also visited the new great granddaughter and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Bowden and LeAnn.

More and more people in the United States are becoming aware of the fact that in the event of a nuclear attack upon the United States that most of the country including this section of the state would be affected.

President Eisenhower stated that one of the best ways for the United States to stay out of war was for the people to be prepared; and that if an enemy knew that the people could withstand an attack, that they would think before they waged war upon another nation.

FIELD DAY PLANNED

The Texas Experimental Ranch, located between Throckmorton and Seymour have announced the date for their Field Day this spring. The date has been set for Monday, April 10. As many people may remember, the tour was planned for last fall and was rained out. Since the time of the tour that had to be cancelled, there have been many people expressing a desire to visit the ranch and there were many people that have visited the ranch individually.

While the Beef cattle producers in Knox County were there recently on their feeding tour, there have been many of them interested in their fencing experiment and one ranch is now planning to erect a suspension fence. Full plans for the program have not been disclosed as yet, but will be published as soon as they are available.
