HELP FOR PREMATURE INFANTS

The science of dietetics, like many other sciences, has made great strides in a comparatively short period of time. A vast literature of new knowledge and information has been gained.

The attitude toward meat in the diet has undergone particularly significant change. It used to be believed, for instance, that meat was not needed by the elderly, and might actually prove harmful to them. Now the dieticians know that meat — with its high protein content and other values — is essential to the mental and physical well-being of practically all people of all ages. And meat — properly prepared, in proper quantity and of the proper kind — has proven to be of outstanding value in promoting recovery from many illnesses.

A fresh testimonial to meat's worth in dealing with specific health problems appears in the June edition of the Journal of Diseases of Children, an American Medical Association publication. Written by two doctors, its point is that anemia and iron deficiencies in premature infants can be partially overcome with the early addition of meat to their diet. This dietary supplement, given within two to four weeks after birth, has particular value in increasing red cell volume and circulating hemoglobin mass and building iron reserves. The study is based on a year-long test, and the authors say that "strained meats were well tolerated by all infants, and frequent gastric distress associated with the administration of medicinal iron was avoided."

The right diet is one of the most potent of medicines.

SULLIVAN, ILL., MOULTRIE COUNTY NEWS: "How widespread is the abuse of unemployment compensation claims? The percentage of unjustified claims that are paid may be small, but when they are flagrant, they leave a sour taste in the mouths of all employers . . .

"Unemployment compensation should not be allotted to workers who 'quit to go fishing.'"

U. S. News & World Report finds that the current business decline is felt most severely in the factory towns and smaller cities—the . . . places that have cut loose from their dependence on the farmer but have not developed a broad base of industry and trade."

FIRE ON THE FARM

Various problems concerning agriculture are widely and continuously discussed. But there's one major problem that we don't hear enough about — and its name is fire.

The Department of Agriculture tells us that fire losses on the nation's farms have shown an almost steady increase over the past 18 years. In that span of time, the loss has gone up about two-and-a-half times — from 64 million in 1940 to $152 million last year.

Fire is a menace anywhere. It is particularly so on farms. Fire protective facilities are often of limited value, at best, and in many instances are non-existent or virtually so. When fire strikes, especially in the hot dry season, the chance of a total loss is high.

Inflation has brought with it another and related problem. The house or barn or other structure a farmer built 20 years ago will cost twice as much today if it has to be replaced, and perhaps more. That goes for equipment and possessions of practically every kind, large and small. The consequence is that farmers — like most of the rest of us — are under-insured. The average property owner — in and out of agriculture — will be in for a shock if he carefully inventories his possessions, totals their value at today's prices, and compares that with his insurance coverage.

The wise farmer will periodically re-appraise his holdings in the light of changing prices and values. And he will continually practice fire prevention. A little thought, a little common-sense, will greatly reduce the hazards.

SANDY CREEK, NEW YORK NEWS: "With the scientific achievements of Russia challenging our educational systems, a sudden, new interest in our schools is apparent across the nation. We believe that our schools have been 'right in there pitching' all the time but they had too little support from parents and townspeople. How many of us make it a point to talk with our Johnny's teacher to discover how we can encourage and help him at home? How many of us ever show up at school meeting?"

National Petroleum News reports that 20 major oil companies plan to spend a total of $210 million on marketing capital expenditures this year. The biggest chunk — 57 per cent — will go for building and rehabilitating service stations.

Recipes . . . Household Helps

By Julia Hunter

HOME ECONOMICS DIRECTOR, LONE STAR GAS CO.

Lucious fragrant cantaloupes open the melon season. Fitting into any part of a meal from appetizer through dessert, they are pretty as pictures, delicious in flavor and extremely healthful. An excellent source of vitamins A and C, they are also a good source of other lesser known but important nutrients. With all this, they are ideal food for weight-watchers. An average size melon contains about 75 calories.

Select vine-ripened mature melons for finest flavor and texture. There are two guides to help you make your selection: the stem end of the melon and the webbing or netting. Look for a slightly sunken, smooth, well-calloused scar at the stem end. This means the melon was mature and ready for harvest. It separated cleanly from the vine, leaving this "fingerprint."

The webbing or netting on a ripe cantaloupe is well-raised, coarse, dry and grayish in color. The background between the webbing should be light in color.

To store a cantaloupe, wash and dry it well, wrap it well in waxed paper, aluminum foil or plastic film and store it in the refrigerator. Experts say a cantaloupe should never be chilled by filling the cavities of the cut melon with ice. This dilutes the special flavor.

For a frosty first course, place 1/2-inch cubes or balls of cantaloupe in serving dishes. Pour iced gingerale over the melon and sprinkle with minced fresh mint.

Add cantaloupe wedges to a platter of sliced cucumbers, tomato wedges and fresh green onions. It goes just right as salad with fresh garden vegetables — squash and green beans or black-eyed peas, for instance.

A fresh fruit cup makes a cooling finish for summer meals. Combine thin slices of cantaloupe, sliced fresh peaches and halved green grapes. Chill thoroughly, spoon into serving dishes and drift coconut flakes over each serving.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

MELON RING SALAD: Cut chilled cantaloupe into crosswise slices about one inch thick. Peel the rings. Place one ring on crisp salad green for each individual salad. Soften cream cheese with cream and season it lightly with salt. Place a spoon of the cheese in the center of each ring. Sprinkle the cheese with slivered toasted salted almonds.

CATTLE AND CALVES WEAKEN, RUNS EXPAND

Fort Worth — Cattle and calves opened about steady at Fort Worth Monday but weakness developed on cows shortly after the opening and sales were around 50 cents lower by the time a clearance was completed. Liberal waterfills offset some of the apparently lower offers in most cases. Fed steers and yearlings sold on a steady to weaker basis, spots 25 cents or more lower. Most of the fed cattle were of the shortfed, or warmed-up grasser variety and attracted about equal bids in many cases from packers and feeder buyers.

Slaughter calves were steady to weaker, compared with the high close of last week, as national packers exerted pressure from the start on that class. Stocker and feeder cattle and calves were firm throughout. Bulls were steady to stronger, some toppy bulls up to $22.50 or fifty cents above most recent sales.

Good and choice slaughter steers and yearlings cashed at $24 to $27 and common and medium offerings cleared at $17 to $24. Fat cows cashed at $17.50 to $20.50, and canners and cutters drew $11 to $17.50. Bulls earned $18 to $22.50.

Good and choice slaughter calves sold from $24 to $28, and common and medium sorts brought $17 to $24. Culls sold at $14 to $17. Medium to good stocker steer calves cleared at $25 to $32, a few to $33. Heifer calves ranged from $29 downward. Stocker steer yearlings of medium to good grades sold from $22 to $27, with some choice lighter weights to $27.50 and $28. Stocker heifers sold around $24 to $25 and downward.

LAMBS AND YEARLINGS OPEN LOWER, FEEDERS FIRM
Slaughter lambs were weak to 50 cents or more lower and the top was $1 under the highest price last week. Strictly choice lambs were very scarce. Yearling wethers were weak to 50 cents lower. Older sheep and goats were steady.

Good and choice slaughter lambs cashed at $20 to $22 and cull to medium lambs sold from $12 to $19. Stocker and feeder lambs ranged from $17 to $20, and shorn feeders sold from $18 down.

Good to choice yearlings ranged from $17 to $18, some 118-pound yearlings at $17. Cull to medium yearlings sold from $12 to $15. Slaughter ewes cashed at $7 to $7.50. Slaughter goats sold around $7. Two-year-old wethers ranged from $14 downward. Old bucks brought $5 to $6. Broken mouthed ewes sold at $11 and fairly low mouthed ewes sold at $14. Young ewes were scarce.

HOGS OPEN 50c OFF, TOP BUTCHERS $23.75

Hogs sold 50 cents lower as choice hogs cashed at $23.25 to $23.75 and medium to good butchers cashed at $21 to $23. Pigs drew $20 to $22. Sows sold from $18 to $21, a few choice light-weights to $21.50.

WORLD WAR TIP AID TO OIL MEN

SAUSALITO, CALIF. — Oil field workers all over the country are trading in their old fashioned wide brim safety hats for new streamlined aluminum helmets. Wide brim safety hats have long been a problem to workers. Working in restricted areas or in the wind, head protection can easily be blown or knocked off.

This is the reason military men in World War II redesigned the old army helmet to make it thinner, lighter and more compact.

This new petroleum workers safety helmet, made by the E. D. Bullard Company here, like modern military helmets is lighter, only 10 ounces, yet its impact strength surpasses that of all other metal head protection. Across its brim are three high ridges that impart a girder-like margin of protection to the crown. These hats are available in fade-proof colors so they can be color-keyed to a company or job. Head band assemblies float freely inside the hat so cool air constantly circulates around the head. You can secure these new petroleum workers safety helmets at your nearest oil field supply store or write direct to the Bullard Company here.

Put Valuables In Order Before Vacation Trip

Planning a family trip? If so, extension home management specialists suggest you put aside the road maps and travel folders long enough to place valuable household papers in order.

Loss of valuable papers from theft, fire or carelessness could spoil your vacation. A safety deposit box at your bank is one of the best places for wills, stocks and bonds, insurance policies, family record of birth, marriage, citizenship, military service, deeds, leases, promissory notes and other documents.

A household inventory is another valuable record. Before leaving on your trip, make duplicate copies or bring existing ones up-to-date. One copy can be placed in the bank box and the other kept at home. You'll be glad you did if you have to settle a theft or fire claim.

Take with you a list giving the name of your automobile insurance and hospitalization insurance companies. Include the number of each policy and the names and addresses of the agents.

If you carry travelers' checks, don't forget to make one or more lists of check numbers to be carried separately from the checks.

Youngsters Have Money Worries, Too

From the time a youngster hears the first coin clink into his piggy bank he begins to have money trouble.

Mrs. Eula Newman, extension home management specialist, says the problem may be only a penny-size one at first, but by the time he reaches his fifteenth or sixteenth birthday, dollars have become one of his biggest problems.

No matter how much money youngsters have, it always seems too little. They would like to have more, either in the form of bigger allowances or from a part-time job. They feel the need to meet the spending competition of fellow students and have some left over to save.

Money management has to be learned as does reading, writing and arithmetic, reminds the specialist. If your child begs and teases for nickels, dimes and quarters, you likely need to change your money management with him.

Many of the questions parents and youngsters ask about these problems are answered in the 4-H leaflet, "WHERE DO YOU GET YOUR MONEY," by Mrs. Eula J. Newman, home management specialist, and C. H. Bates, farm management specialist.

Get a copy from your county extension agent's office. Call a family conference and help your youngsters improve their plan for spending.

Miss Janie Haynie of Fort Worth came in last Sunday to spend her vacation here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Haynie, Sr., and other relatives and friends.

Mrs. W. E. Oxley of Dallas was a recent visitor in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Offutt. Mrs. Oxley is a former roommate of Mrs. Offutt when they were students at NTSC in Denton.

Sure-footed Man Serves Texas

The colorful language of the ranch and trail seems to fit Bill Blakley, who made his start in life as a working cowhand. He still rides and ropes with the hands on his ranch at roundup time.

Speaking of Blakley's service as U. S. Senator in 1957, the Dallas News said: "... If he was as unassuming as an old boot, it was nevertheless a well polished boot that never wobbled or wavered from its purposeful path. For this man Blakley is a sure-footed man who knows exactly where he stands and what he believes."

Texans will vote to return William A. Blakley to the Senate on July 26 because he truly represents the spirit, traditions and views of all Texas.

ories of other battles with weather and pestilence; and better memories of the other times when nature has been on our side.

A great deal has happened, then—both to us and for us. When it has happened to us we have fought it; when it has happened for us, we have been grateful. And while all this has been happening, we have been advancing.

Services of the Texas Department of Agriculture have increased fully 300% over these years, services before unknown in Texas. Newer and better farm laws have been passed by our legislature until Texas ranks first among southern states in protective agricultural legislation.

Examples of this farm protection are the seed protective act, which requires accurate labeling of seed sold or offered for sale, the egg labeling and grading law, grain warehouse protection which provides for inspection and licensing of grain storage facilities, plant quarantine regulations to hold down blight and infestation, and numerous other equally important provisions.

So we have come a long way during these years toward betterment of Texas farming. But that doesn't mean that we have "arrived." On the contrary, there is still much to be done, and we ask only the opportunity to do it.

"ASSEMBLING" A LOAN

You can give some of your rights to other people, for example, the right to collect a bill; but it's a different thing with your duties. You need your creditor's OK firmly to assign your debts to another.

You can sell what you own, all right, but you can't shake a debt merely by getting somebody else to promise to pay it for you. Your creditor—who is a party to your contract—has something to say about who takes over your obligations.

Thus, your cousin, say, borrows from you and promises to pay the money back. He can't get out of it by getting his neighbor to say he will pay for him unless you agree—and this takes a written contract. Suppose you bought Abel's house on time for $15,000 and had paid off $5,000. Then, with $10,000 left to pay, you get Joe Blow to buy the place.

How could Blow pay you for it? Well, for Blow it would be just dandy for you to let him take over the $10,000 debt, pay you back your 5,000 equity, and then pay of Abel the rest of your $10,000 debt. Blow would save the cost of a new loan—if his credit was good enough to get one in the first place. So you set it up that way.

One day Blow blew; and you, yes you, hold the bag. True, you could turn over your equity without Abel's consent.

But your agreement with Blow to pay the balance is not binding on Abel. He can hold you to your original deal. Pay up $10,000.

Don't let someone "assume" your loan unless you protect yourself by an agreement with your lender, or unless you are willing to risk holding the sack.

Your buyer is often a good enough risk for you to let him assume the loan—but don't do it thinking you are free of your debt.

The wheel of fortune which gave you ten to one if you won—which you didn't—was a center of attraction at the carnival in a small town. Only one man was playing and he lost steadily, five or ten dollars at a time. He had been drinking and friends tried to persuade him to quit but he continued until he had dropped all he had, a couple of hundred dollars.

Some of the crowd muttered at the cleaning of their fellow townsman and the man in charge closed the concession for the night.

Next night when he reopened, he began to spin the wheel and to chant his seductive spiel.

A country fellow halted and the operator addressed him. "Come over, neighbor, and try your luck; pick the winning number and win ten for one." Actually, although the odds sounded attractive, they should have been at least fifty to one—even if the wheel had been honest, which it was not.

It was customary however to let the first player or two win a bet; it was good for business. The sight of a man winning ten dollars on a venture of one dollar always drew a flock of suckers.

The country fellow looked uncertain and then, his face reflecting that he had made up his mind, drew closer. Three or four others drifted over. Silas Cornstassel held up his left hand which clutched a folded bill and said: "Ten to one! I'll try you, Mister; No. 69."

"Yes, sir; here's a man with red blood in his veins," sang out the operator. "He's a real sport." And he spun the wheel.

By this time a dozen men were watching. The wheel slowed down and stopped.

The operator said, "What do you know! Number 69! Friend, you win," and he counted out ten one-dollar bills on the counter.

Silas slowly opened his left hand and displayed the bill he was holding. The denomination was one hundred dollars.

"Ten for one, you said," the bumpkin, whose expression did not look so bumpkinish any more, declared.

"That's right—ten for one!" chorused the crowd and the men closed in.

The owner of the carnival was summoned and he paid the thousand dollars.

The lucky man hunted up the drunk of the night before and gave him the two hundred dollars he had lost.

Maybe I ought to apologize to the reader. The winner's name was not Cornstassel, not really. His last name was the same as the drunk's, which was not surprising, seeing as they were brothers.

Spot Treat For Cheapest Control Of Johnsongrass

The newest, easiest, cheapest and most effective way to control Johnsongrass in row crops is to spot treat with oils or dalapon, according to Fred Elliott, extension cotton work specialist.

Many naphtha oils and oil mixtures are satisfactory for the crown treatment of established Johnsongrass, while dalapon may be applied to the foliage and terminal swirl, says Elliott. Naphtha may be used for cool weather treatment but a 50-50 mixture of naphtha with kerosene or diesel is recommended in hot weather.

Oil-soluble dinitro and other proven fortifiers can be added to diesel fuel oil or kerosene according to the manufacturers' directions to increase the effectiveness of these oils. Diesel fuel oil or kerosene fortified with one percent pentachlorophenol by volume is usually as effective in killing Johnsongrass as the naphtha-type oils used alone.

Several kinds of sprayers may be used to apply these oils, points out Elliott. The Texas gravity sprayer is best suited for crown-treatment of 6-inch Johnsongrass sprouts in crop when a free flowing oil is used. The Texas slide-gun is for coarse work such as the non-selective spraying of thick strands of Johnsongrass in spots sparse enough for the crop in the spot to be sacrificed.

The Texas jetgun permits efficient, economical and selective treatment of sprouts in row crops with either oil or water sprays. It is a squirt gun and works like a water pistol. It can be used to hit a target varying in size from a dime to a dinner plate.

County agents have full information on spot oiling Johnsongrass, the materials and equipment to use and where they can be obtained.

News From The U. S. Congress

By Congressman Frank Beard

Now that Alaska has been granted Statehood, great pressures are building up to also admit Hawaii. All indications are that there will be a big push in the Congress to pass the Hawaiian Statehood Bill before we adjourn. It seems to me that the approval of Hawaiian Statehood under these circumstances would be a great mistake.

Two weeks ago the House voted not to consider an agriculture bill that had been reported by the House Committee. At that time it looked as though there was no chance of having any really comprehensive agricultural legislation this session of Congress. However, now the Senate is considering a general agriculture bill that was reported by their Committee. If it is approved in the Senate, then the chances would seem to be good for the House to consider broad revisions of the present agricultural program.

A few years ago, in what has now come to be known as the "Steve Nelson Case," the Supreme Court held that whenever the Congress had enacted a law in a given field, the similar State laws were of no effect. This decision was not in accord with the stated policy of the Congress. This week the House will be debating a bill that would have the effect of repealing this Supreme Court decision. Affirmative action on this measure is necessary if the States are to retain any semblance of authority.

Back to Alaska, even though we will shortly have a Forty-Ninth State, the forty million Flags that are now being used will not be useless. They may continue to be used even though a new one with Forty-Nine Stars is approved. In fact, under law, it is appropriate to fly a Flag with only Thirteen Stars which was once the recognized Flag of the United States. The old Flags also will be good souvenirs as well as continuing to be appropriate and useful as they are.

The Texas Tidflands issue is still not settled. The Federal Government has filed a 425 page brief contesting the Texas title in the Supreme Court. An adverse decision could possibly mean loss of lands that have returned Seventy-Five Million Dollars in revenue to our State school fund since 1953.

New Senate Hand Aided Democrats

When William A. Blakley was appointed to the U. S. Senate in 1957, he was a political unknown in Texas. But Washington awaited his arrival with great interest. So close was the party balance in the Senate that Blakley's vote was the difference between Democratic and Republican control.

True to his Democratic tradition, Bill Blakley voted with his fellow Democrats. They have been in control ever since.

Now Bill Blakley seeks his first elective term in the U. S. Senate. A vote for Blakley is a vote for sound, Democratic government.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Wonders If Alaska Knows What She's Doing In Wanting To Become The 49th State

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek has a new slant on the Alaskan problem his letter this week reveals. Dear editor:

As I understand it from reading the newspapers the last few weeks, Alaska finally has won the right to become a state, Congress has passed the necessary bill, and President Eisenhower has signed it. Now all that's left is for the people of Alaska to vote to come in, and they'll be the 49th state.

However, I've been thinking about this matter pretty thoroughly and I'd like to ask: you reckon those Alaskans know what they're doing?

Understand, it's mighty nice to be a part of the United States, it's nice to be a state, to get Federal grants, to get to send Senators and Congressmen to Washington and to vote on presidents, but has Alaska gone into the other aspects of this proposition?

For example, take debts. The United States is reputed to be a rich country, but you've got to remember in some places they measure a rich man by the amount of money he owes. I don't want to discourage those Alaskans, but one 49th of what the United States owes may put a different light on the benefits of statehood.

LOCALS

Mr. and Mrs. Charles McCauley attended furniture market in Dallas the first of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Temple of Borger spent the week end with her mother, Mrs. D. R. Donoho, and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Anderson, who have been living in Austin, came in last week for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Yost. They plan to move to McAllen to make their home. Mr. and Mrs. Yost and Ronald Clyde, Mr. and Mrs. Anderson and Mrs. Clifford Cluck and children were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Cluck.

J. A.

Moreover, have they considered taxes? States rights is a fine theory, but have those Alaskans figured how many acres of snow and ice it'll take to produce enough tax money to build some roads, some schools, court houses, a state capitol, a governor's house? Have they figured how much it costs to run a legislature, with a state supreme court, welfare office, assorted bureaus and departments, and other necessary endeavors of a state?

On the other hand, I don't see any reason for assuming those Alaskans are any better than the rest of us, and I for one say, come on in. Help tote the load. Taking in more states may be the only answer to our problems, and if anybody else, say Hawaii or any unhappy portions of Canada, Old Mexico, or any place else wants in, get in line.

The way I see it is, every new state we get, that's just another endorser on our note.
