Odd Bits Salvaged
By The Editor

Remember, we told you last week there would likely be some elections in which you'd want to vote this year — and that you should pay your poll tax before the February 1st deadline?

Well, we had no inkling of what was coming, although something does in off-election years, such as city election, school board elections, and the likelihood of some sort of bond issue. And these are just as important to local people during these off-years as when we elect presidents and governors, etc.

Well, this week we received news of an election, set for February 7, 1959, that is important to every person in the county — and you'll get a chance to use that right to vote almost before the ink gets dry on it!

This is a bond election in the amount of $55,000 for the "construction improvements and repairs on the County Courthouse Building in the City of Benjamin, the county seat of Knox County, Texas . . ."

An ad valorem tax would be levied to take care of the interest and principal on these bonds — so, whether you vote or not; you, as a property owner, could be effected by the outcome of this election although they say there'll be no increase in taxes. Why not pay your poll tax?

Sen. George Moffett was thoughtful enough to send us a program of the "big doings" in Austin for the Governor's inauguration ceremonies. That's one event we've never attended; guess we have no more business there than a one-legged man at a kicking contest, but we've always had a yen to go.

When we retire from activity in publishing a weekly newspaper, there's two events we'd like to attend: the Governor's inauguration, and the annual communication of the Grand Lodge of Texas. These two events always take place while we are in the midst of getting out this sheet.

"What I'd like more than anything else for Christmas is a good rain." This was expressed by several prior to Christmas, but we still haven't had the rain. Those cold fronts and snow flurries that are rather continuous to the north will likely keep on until we do get some moisture. And when it does come, it will be just as welcome as Christmas.

"We've moved uptown, now — up on Main Street." That's the way J. C. Harpham has of telling of his move, since he's moved from the rear to the front of the building. If you haven't seen the place since it's remodeling, you'd hardly recognize but three things — Jimmie, Mabel and Clara. They weren't remodeled, you see!

"I've sure started feeling pretty old the past few days," said Roe Allred last Tuesday in announcing the fact that he's become grandpa. "Williams was a sure disappointed because it was a girl. He wanted a football player!"

The cold snap, rain, sleet and snow that converged upon us Tuesday night didn't bring us enough moisture. Most of us would be willing to button up our overcoats and wade in deep snow in order to get beneficial moisture for winter grain crops.

6-Year-Olds Needed On School Census

Supt. W. C. Cox last Monday issued an appeal to parents to see that all children who will be six years old before September 1, 1959, be listed on the school census. He requested that their names be turned in to him. "Each year, we always miss a few," he said, "and it is very important that the names of these children be included on the census rolls."

She Told Him How!

Starting to work Wednesday morning, Postmaster Lee Haymes got stuck in a snow drift in his driveway. As he employed a shovel to remove the drift, Mrs. Haymes promptly told him how he could have avoided the situation.

"Why didn't you drive out through the cotton patch?" she asked. "Then you wouldn't have gotten stuck." Some time later, the P. O. telephone rang. Mrs. Haymes was calling. She tried the cotton patch, and got stuck. A truck was employed to pull her car out!

Mrs. Ida Hertel, 80, well known Benjamin resident, was painfully injured last Thursday when she fell in the yard of her Benjamin home.

Mrs. Hertel suffered a fractured hip in the fall. She was alone at the time, and managed to crawl to the steps of her home, but it was some two hours before neighbors heard her calls for help and came to her assistance.

She was rushed to a Wichita Falls hospital, where surgery was performed on her injured hip. She was later brought to the Knox County Hospital to be nearer her children and relatives. Latest reports are that she is resting nicely.

Hogsett Chevrolet Co. Open House Slated For Friday And Saturday

CHARLES, TIMOTHY AND MARY PRISCILLA HOGSETT

A comparatively new-comer to Munday is issuing a formal welcome to people of this area to see a new-comer in the 1959 line of Chevrolets, when Charles Hogsett Chevrolet Co. holds an "Open House" in its showroom in Munday during the week end.

The debutant is a Bell Air sport sedan, a favorite in a most distinctive series of new passenger cars, which goes on display Thursday. Then, Mr. Hogsett is extending the public to come back Friday to his "open house" to see the newly remodeled surroundings and to meet the entire force of Hogsett Chevrolet Co.

The Hogsett family came to Munday last October, when Mr. Hogsett purchased the Chevrolet agency from Verne R. Frost. Mr. Hogsett has been Chevrolet dealer for some 10 years.

Reared in Fisher County, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hogsett, Sr., of Rotan. He entered the Chevrolet business in Roby in 1949, then was at Merkel from 1956 until he came here last October. Active in civic and church affairs, he was president of the Lions Club and Jaycees while at Roby, serving as zone chairman and district governor in Lions International, and as chairman of the Board of Stewards in the Methodist Church. At Merkel he was president of the Chamber of Commerce, director in the Lions Club and chairman of finance commission of the Methodist Church.

Mrs. Hogsett is the former Mary Priscilla Killough, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clive Killough of Ralls. Prior to their marriage, she taught school at Plainview and Wichita Falls. They have one son, Timothy, who is four years old.

Those who attend the Chevrolet open house here Friday will probably have an opportunity to meet the entire Hogsett family.

A feature of the open house festivities will be awarding of a free television set on Saturday afternoon.

Benjamin, Rhineland And Knox City Entries Winners In Livestock Show

Two youths from Benjamin, one from Knox City, and two from Rhineland led the "parade of champions" at the Knox County 4-H and FFA junior livestock show here last Saturday.

Foremost was the brother and sister team of Donnie (FFA) and Sue (4-H) Ryder of Benjamin who showed the top two beef animals. The other top winner coming from Benjamin was Bill Roberts, 4-H Club member who showed the grand champion gilt of the show.

Dwayne Herring of Rhineland 4-H had the first place and grand champion fat barrow, a Berkshire. The remaining Rhineland champion belonged to Dwight Albus of the 4-H Club. Ronald Voss of the Knox City FFA chapter had the first place fine wool fat lamb.

David Denton of the Knox City FFA showed the reserve champion gilt which was also placed first in the open gilt class. The Ryder pair received certificates that entitle them to hand-

Benjamin Wins From Vera 44-42

Benjamin scored a 44-42 victory over Vera last Tuesday night at Benjamin in a District 13-B basketball game that went into an over time period.

Vera held a one-point halftime lead and was ahead by two points at the end of the third quarter, but Benjamin rallied to knot the count, 38-38, at the end of regulation play.

High for the winners was Billy Brimegar with 10 points. Doug Gore of Vera took high point honors with 17 points. The Benjamin girls scored a solid 48-10 victory over Vera, with Marilyn Searcy hitting 22 for the winners and Barbara Weiss collecting eight of Vera's 10 points.

It was at 8:55 p. m. on Wednesday, January 14, 1959, that Mandy Missey Allred made her arrival at the Knox County Hospital. She weighed 7 pounds and 14 ounces and her parents are Mr. and Mrs. William Allred. Her grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Parker Denton of Knox City and Mr. and Mrs. Roe Allred of Munday.

Kenneth Killon, assistant county agent for Wichita County judged the show. Sponsored by the Munday Chamber of Commerce and the merchants and townspeople of Knox City, Benjamin, Rhineland and Gillingham.

The grand and reserve champion calves were products of the Beaver Ranch of Benjamin. It was not the first such time for Donnie to show the grand champion, however. It made his fourth grand champion title in the county. He also won a junior grand champion title at the Wichita Falls show about three years ago.

A sample of the relatively new type of swine was a part of the Knox Show. The Landrace hog that makes an ideal side of bacon won third through eighth places in the fat barrow class. All of the Landrace entries came from Munday FFA boys.

Children's Photos To Be Taken Here; Published In Times

It is an undisputed fact that the responsibilities of tomorrow will rest upon the shoulders of the children of today. Since this is true, the Munday Times would like to give you a good look at these future "world builders" by publishing their pictures in the paper.

An expert on children's photography with all the necessary equipment for this specialized work, will be here on Tuesday, February 3, from 12 noon until 6 p.m. at the Munday Hotel.

There is no charge for running the photos, and parents do not have to be subscribers to the paper. Those who want additional photos may obtain them from the studio representative when they select the pose they want printed in the paper.

Parents should remember the date and have their children's pictures made at that time. They will enjoy seeing them in print later.

Farm Bureau Leaders Plan To Attend Meeting

The meeting, sponsored by the Texas Farm Bureau, is one of 12 such meetings being held over the state to discuss state and national issues affecting agriculture and muster support for the Farm Bureau's legislative program in Austin and Washington.

Among the more important items to be discussed at the meeting is the state's rural road-building program which is expected to come under fire during the current legislative session. Other important state issues which will be discussed include animal health legislation, taxes, agricultural research and education, transportation, water, milk labeling, county commissioners' precincts, labor, and rural electrification.

GOOD NEWS FOR THE ELDERLY

Big and good news for millions of our elderly citizens comes from the American Medical Association. The AMA's House of Delegates, by unanimous vote, has approved a proposal which calls for physicians to provide medical services at adjusted rates to persons over 65 years of age with reduced incomes and modest resources.

Specifically, the proposal asks insurance companies and medical prepayment plans to develop new policies at special low premium rates for people in this category. It further provides that if the income and resources of the insured falls below a specified sum, doctors would agree to adjust their rates accordingly. Doctors throughout the country are urged to "accept a level of compensation for medical services rendered . . . that will permit the development of such insurance and prepayment plans."

In the words of the Minneapolis Tribune, this . . . is evidence that the nation's medical leaders are ready to give serious consideration to new ways—which may prove to be better ways—of giving people the good medical service they want and need. In the case of the elderly the problem is especially important. People are living longer than they used to, and the proportion of the aged to the whole population is steadily increasing.

The AMA, working with other interested organizations, has a number one target—to solve medical and socioeconomic problems arising from a rapidly expanding aging population. The new plan is a big step in that direction.

HEART OF THE MATTER

An influential member of Congress proposes a study of ways to meet the Federal government's need for ever-increasing sums of money.

This caused a reader of the Wall Street Journal to write that the real answer to the budget problem is to reduce "the government's need for more and more money."

If that isn't fundamental, nothing is.

The estimated number of households in this country increased 6.8 million, or 16 per cent, between March, 1950, and March, 1958, says the Census Bureau. On the latter date there were 50.4 million households. The total population was 172.3 million.

—SAY YOU SAW IT IN THE TIMES—

FREEDOM FIRST

"I love America, and I don't want to live anywhere else . . . I feel so many Americans don't appreciate it . . ."

These words were not from the lips of a person wanting to make over everybody and everything; they were spoken by a beautiful refugee Romanian girl. Her childhood record included starvation, floggings, three gun wounds while being used for target practice in prison camps including Dachau.

This girl and her family, including a brother in the Air Force, are not finding it easy to make a living in this country, but they put the right to be free ahead of everything else.

We should never forget or belittle the right every American has to be free. This freedom should not be forgotten when pressure groups, in or out of government, seek to submerge the individual under mass regimentation. Infringements on individual opportunity can destroy the America the Romanian girl loves. The right to work, the right to vote, the right to worship, the right to speak, are not just trick slogans — they mean liberty.

HOW MUCH IS YOUR TIME WORTH?

How much does it cost to feed your family? That question can be accurately answered only by considering two kinds of "spending". One is money. The other is time.

A booklet prepared by the editorial staff of "Everywoman's Family Circle" in co-operation with the National Association of Food Chains tells an interesting story. According to government figures, home prepared meals for a family of four for one day average $4.90 in cost and takes 5.5 hours of the housewife's time. Partly prepared meals cost $5.80 and takes 3.1 hours of time. And ready to serve meals cost $6.70 and requires 1.6 hours of time.

In other words, if the housewife does all her own preparing, the meals will cost about a third less than if she uses the ready to serve types. But she will have to devote well over three times as many hours to the cooking task.

What it comes down to, as the booklet puts it, is "how much is your time worth?" The tremendous increase in demand for partly and wholly prepared foods indicates that great numbers of housewives put high value on their time.

RADIOACTIVE SOIL PROBLEM

Scientists are talking about "paving" farm land as a protection against radioactivity.

The idea is not as far-fetched as it may sound. In this atomic age of international tension, the problem of radioactive fallout is a very real one and scientists are looking ahead for measures that will reduce the after-effects of nuclear explosions. In addition, accidental contamination land is a potential danger as we experiment with radioactive materials.

But whether from nuclear weapons of an enemy or by accident, any contamination would have to be met promptly to safeguard lives and keep valuable farm land safe for food production. That is where "paving" of farm land comes in.

Several experiments have been tried on a test farm by the USDA agricultural research branch. A low concentration of barium 14, a relatively short lived radiation agent, was sprayed on a variety of crops and land uses. Object of the research was to discover the most effective method of removing the radioactive crops to leave as little contamination as possible behind on the soil.

Once the barium was applied, crops, mulches, stubble and sod were removed from the test plots the same day and the radioactivity of cleared fields was measured immediately.

No removal method tried by the researchers eliminated all radioactivity, unfortunately. Raking and removing heavy and medium mulches cleared up nearly all contamination, though a little more was left on the soil from light mulch. Cutting and rolling sod and removing it was about as effective as removing light mulch. When the top layer of soil and stubble was flail-chopped and picked up in a chute-delivery bag, a larger amount of radioactivity was left on the plot. More than two-thirds of the radioactivity was left when plants were mowed and collected in a bin attached to the mower.

Now about the "paving". Once the crops are removed, the remaining contamination in the soil must be dealt with. Still to be tried is the method of spraying the soil with emulsified asphalt, letting it harden, then scraping it off to pick up the radioactive surface layer.

Well, if nothing else, it ought to keep down those winter weeds.

Season's Over, But All Wildlife Facing Trouble

AUSTIN — It's completely over. The 1958-59 hunting season except for rabbits and squirrels in some counties, ended with the close of the quail season January 16. Duck and goose season ended January 14.

It was the heaviest season since controlled hunting, according to the Director of Law Enforcement of the Game and Fish Commission.

"More people killed more quail and deer than in years," the Director said. "Despite this heavy kill our wardens also report an abundance of game still in the field. Our concern now is for the carry-over. Rats are responsible in many areas for a tremendously heavy loss of quail. In some areas they have destroyed the food and the quail are literally starving to death."

A heavy freeze or prolonged bad weather might also be damaging to the deer population, where there is a surplus, or where the feed crop is insufficient, the Director warned.

He also reminded hunters that wardens still will be busy in the field and that arrests will be made for out-of-season hunting.

7-Step Cotton Program Aid To Texas Industry

Texas cotton producers saved an estimated $50,100,000 in labor costs by harvesting approximately 2,000,000 bales by mechanical means during 1958. Too, reports Fred C. Elliott, extension cotton specialist, they saved another $14 million plus through the use of machines and chemicals for controlling grass and weeds in their cotton fields.

While these savings were being made, Elliott adds, they also set an all-time high of 387 pounds of lint an acre. The specialist credits the 7-Step Cotton Program, initiated 13-years ago by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, as a major factor in the progress made by the producers of the State's most important crop.

The program, says Elliott, brought together on the county and state basis committees representing every segment of the cotton industry and all have worked to improve their industry. Since 1946 the average lint yield per harvested acre has been increased from 134 pounds to the 1958 record yield of 387 pounds.

Last year, county agents in 204 Texas counties assisted producers with various phases of the 7-step program. Elliott says that special emphasis was placed on the use of cotton burs for soil improvement and also to reduce gin fire hazards. Burs were spread, he says on 9,735 farms in 129 counties. A few years ago most of the burs were burned as waste.

Cotton followed phosphated legumes on 20,326 farms in 151 counties; barnyard manure was used on 7,685 farms in 151 counties to increase yields and defoliant or desiccants were used on 37,885 farms in 162 counties as an aid to mechanical harvesting.

In posting the $64 million plus savings in labor, cotton producers used 26,662 stripper harvesters and 1,831 spindle pickers in 133 and 78 counties respectively. The weed and grass control savings were made through the use of 44,496 rotary hoe equipped tractors in 157 counties and the use of spot treatment for Johnsongrass control in 148 counties. Lateral oiling with post emergence chemicals for weed control was used in 47 counties. Elliott gives full credit to the 7-Step Cotton Committees and the county agricultural agents for the achievement record made under the program. The economy of the entire state has materially profited from the results of this cooperative effort, Elliott said.

FOR SPACIOUSNESS—Want to make a small room seem larger? Use some of these decorating tricks. Pastel or light-colored walls, rugs, and fabrics give the illusion of additional space, as do scenic windows or mirrors. Furniture, like the attractive French Provincial pieces in the photo, should be scaled to the size of the room. The Simmons sofa also has slim, trim lines, is equipped with a cotton-cushioned mattress for double-duty use as a bed.

Island National Park in compliance with a bill filed in the Senate shortly after the new session opened.

This bill, S. 4, would keep for public use a substantial portion of this unique island which extends the southernmost 115 miles of the Texas coast. This beautiful half-mile wide natural beach, with its mild climate and bountiful wildlife, is one of Texas' greatest recreation resources.

Properly developed, there is no question that as a national park, Padre Island would become the winter park of America just as Yellowstone, Yosemite, Glacier National and the Great Smokey Mountains are summer playgrounds.

Looked at from a standpoint of historical interest, Padre Island is one of the closest links Texas and the United States have with the past for it was there that one of the earliest explorers set foot on New World soil. The explorer, Alonso Alvarez de Pineda, a Spaniard, in 1519 sailed the Gulf coastal waters from Florida to the Mexican port of Tampico, and mapped the coast for future navigators.

I am asking state legislators and other officials to enact necessary supporting state legislation on this subject and I hope that all Texans will give their backing to creation of Padre Island National Park.

IT'S THE LAW
in Texas

MAN-MADE LAW?

With the opening sessions of Congress and the Texas Legislature, thoughts naturally turn to the products of their laws—our state and national laws. Some people find confusing our different state and national laws dealing with the same things. Surely, they say, you can have no real justice, unless there is some one "best way" to do each thing — to hold property to manage traffic, to pay taxes, or to enforce contracts. So it bothers them. Why should Englishmen drive on the left side of the street? Why should married couples hold title under community property laws in some states and not in others? Is law merely a man-made contraption? Is it true that like good manners much law is man-made, growing out of custom or local problems. In card games you can play many different games with one deck. You merely change the rules. But the law goes deeper than convention into man's basic needs for order, for a grasp of the part he is to play, and for a way to settle disagreements. Law provides an orderly way to do things so that people can make long-range plans and work together. Its rules help you to find out where you stand — your rights and duties. And last, law has binding ways of settling disputes if need be, first to keep peace, and then win people over by dealing with them in ways that satisfy their sense of fairness. You can find these traits of law in most groups from the most primitive to the civilized. As man finds out more and more about himself and his world, as his experience and wisdom grow, the law may get better. For example, as the psychological laboratories find out more about man's reaction times, his fears and faults, our laws about driving, for instance, may improve. And here is another purpose the different kinds of laws may serve. You may look upon each as a sort of experiment. Some turn out badly, and some well. But in the give and take of public discussion, these efforts may yet bring us more nearly to the "one best way" — if any such thing exists. (This column, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform — not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

by Wayne Clift, Teacher of Vocational Agriculture, Goree High School

The need for leaders, both in agriculture and industry, is greater today than it has ever been. Leaders are necessary to guide the destiny of our agricultural industry as well as our nation. Schools have a definite responsibility for training leaders. It is in school that students first discover their potential leadership abilities. Too, it is here that students are afforded an opportunity to use and perfect these abilities of leadership. In vocational agriculture, the organization of Future Farmers of America affords students with opportunities to learn and use parliamentary procedure, public speaking, techniques and many other abilities necessary for one to become a leader in society. Each year members of the Goree FFA Chapter form parliamentary teams for the purpose of learning parliamentary procedure. Skill gained in such practice enables them to conduct meetings in an orderly and democratic manner, regardless of whether the meeting is an FFA meeting, student council meeting, or a farm meeting. Learning parliamentary procedure also enables the Goree FFA Chapter to participate in Chapter Conducting Contests where FFA parliamentary teams compete to see who can conduct a meeting with the highest degree of skill and perfection. During the past years the Goree FFA Chapter has won several Chapter Conducting Contests. Opportunities are afforded, too, for students to develop their public speaking ability. These students are also afforded an opportunity to participate in contests. These, and many other activities, are ways by which the Goree High School and the Goree FFA Chapter are meeting their obligation to students and people of the community in providing training that will develop competent leaders and citizens of tomorrow. Next week Mr. Clift, will discuss "Vocational Agriculture and Business Training."

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by Henry A. Holle, M. D., State Health Officer

Last week a strong and vigorous 50-year-old Central Texas dairyman suddenly crumpled unconscious to the floor of his dairy barn while going about his routine chores. The doctor's diagnosis was quick and sure: Stroke. That's one of the most ominous words in the language today. What does it really mean?

The medical term is "cerebral vascular accident," because it is caused by a cerebral vascular disease. The body's cerebral vascular system is the brain's network of blood vessels. Thus, cerebral vascular disease refers to diseases of blood vessels in the brain.

Brain cells require a good blood supply in order to work properly — more so than most other body cells. When something happens to that blood supply, the brain itself is impaired.

That something could be a hemorrhage, thrombosis, embolism, compression, or a spasm. Each one of those key words is a major cause of strokes.

A hemorrhage (bleeding) is the result of a break in a brain artery which allows blood to escape and damage surrounding brain tissue. Apoplexy is this type of stroke.

A thrombosis is caused by a clot of blood forming in a brain artery, stopping the flow of blood to the part of the brain it supplies. But when a clot is formed by a diseased heart or elsewhere in the body and pumped to the brain to plug up an artery, it is called an embolism.

A tumor, swollen brain tissue, or a large clot in another vessel may press upon a brain vessel to stop the flow of blood. This is called compression. A spasm is caused when a brain artery constricts or tightens up, reducing the flow of blood to a particular brain area.

With present medical knowledge it is not possible to prevent the majority of strokes, except insofar as some conditions causing cerebral vascular diseases—high blood pressure, for example — can often be helped by modern treatment.

Too, several conditions associated with blood clot formation respond to anti-clotting drugs, and blood vessel defects with which some children are born can sometimes be corrected by surgery, thereby eliminating the danger of strokes.

Rehabilitating a stroke victim may be long and arduous, but it is never hopeless. If stroke damage is slight, rehabilitation may be accomplished by the patient's family and physician. For those with extensive handicaps, special teams of physicians, psychiatrists, public health nurses and vocational training specialists often work miracles.

LIVESTOCK RUNS LIGHTER MONDAY AT ALL MARKETS

FORT WORTH — Major markets across the nation started off with curtailed receipts this week. In a few spots winter storms curtailed movement, but the principal reason seemed to be farmer's resistance to the lower prices that followed last week's deluge of livestock.

At Fort Worth cattle and calves got off to a fully steady start in most cases, with the exception of fat cows and bulls, with the fat cows 5 cents to $1 lower and bulls 25 to 50 cents off.

Calves were steady, fed steers and yearlings were stronger and stocker cattle and calves reflected unabated demand at strong prices.

Good and choice slaughter steers and yearlings cashed at $25 to $27, some around 1,000 pound steers at $27 and a few light yearlings reaching $28. Plain and medium butcher cattle sold from $17 to $25.

Fat cows cleared at $18 to $20, odd head to $21 and canners and cutters drew $12 to $18.50. Bulls drew $18 to $23.50.

Good and choice slaughter calves sold from $25 to $29, and medium and plain butchers sold from $22 to $25, with cull and common sorts at $16 to $22.

Medium and good stocker steer calves cleared at $26 to $32.50, a few higher. Stocker steer yearlings cashed at $29 downward.

LAMBS ACTIVE, STEADY TO STRONG TO PACKERS

At Fort Worth Monday, slaughter classes of sheep and lambs ruled steady to stronger, and stocker and feeder classes were unevenly steady to weak. Good and choice slaughter lambs sold mostly from $16 to $16.50, a few to $17. Cull to medium lambs sold from $12 to $15 and some heavyweight lambs sold in the $15 to $16 range.

Slaughter yearlings and two-year-olds sold for $14 and a few aged wethers sold at $12. Slaughter ewes sold around $8. Some breeding ewes ranged from $10 to $20 per head. A few slaughter goats sold at $8.50. Medium and good feeder lambs cashed at $16 to $17.

MEAT TYPE HOGS SCARCE, HEAVIES & SOWS NUMEROUS

Hogs were steady at Fort Worth Monday but sows were again weak. Choice meat type hogs of preferred weights were again very scarce, and a few of these topped at $18. Other good and choice hogs sold at $17 to $17.50. About half of the butcher hogs in the run were heavies scaling upwards of 235 pounds and these ranged largely in the $16 to $17 bracket. Sows were in liberal supply and ranged from $13 to $15 with weights of 450 pounds and higher mostly from $12.50 downward.

CATTLE FEEDERS WILL SELL BIG SUPPLY IN FIRST QUARTER

Market observers at Fort Worth this week agreed that only well spaced marketings of fed steers and yearlings could avert a price break in the January-February-March quarter of this year. This theory was based on an analysis of the report just out from the Crop Reporting Board of USDA.

The market men believe a serious price impairment can be averted by selling more cattle on Tuesday and Wednesday and avoiding big runs on Monday.

The USDA report estimated that there were 11 percent more cattle on feed January 1 than a year earlier. Marketing intentions show 13 percent more fat cattle will be sold in the first quarter of the year, than a year ago.

Feeders said they would sell 45 percent of the cattle on feed now in the first three months of 1959. This means 15 percent in January, 15 percent in February and 14 percent in March, according to announced intentions.

Selling livestock around mid week will cushion the impact of this heavy supply on any one day, and in the past has proven a procedure which permits the trade to absorb heavy numbers without disturbance of prices.

Packers explain this by saying they do not have to carry live cattle for long periods, when the runs are better spaced. They save feed bills and save on

News From The U. S. Congress

By Congressman Frank Heard

With all the fanfare and pageantry that goes along with the opening of a new Congress, the work that is necessary for its organization is seldom known. Before the House can really start its work, it is necessary that all of the Members assigned to one of the nineteen standing Committees of the House. On the Democratic side, these Committee assignments are handled by a Committee on Committees which is the Democratic Members of the Committee on Ways and Means. This Committee on Committees upon which I serve is elected by the Members of the Democratic Caucus. Many long hours are spent by the group placing each Member on the Committee in which he has expressed the greatest interest and which his experience seems to best qualify him. While this is very interesting, it is not always easy.

A sign of the times is that a new standing Committee is being created in the House on Science and Astronautics. This Committee will deal with the coming conquest of space which is so vitally important to the future of our country and the whole free world.

This session of Congress is also unique in that there will be 436 Members of the House of Representatives rather than 435. This is brought about by the admission of Alaska as a State. After the 1960 census, the membership of the House will return to 435 Members.

It is now apparent that this Congress will not be as radical or as much of a spending Congress as it has advertised to be. Probably one of its first acts will be the passage of a strong bill to put a stop to labor racketeering and graft.

About 2500 bills have been introduced so far this session of Congress. During the last Congress there were slightly more than 20,000 introduced of which only some 1800 were finally approved by the Congress. Most of these 1800 were private bills or bills that were not of a public nature; therefore, the chances of any particular bill becoming law are slight.

There is considerable bitterness among the Republican Members of the House over Joe Martin having been disposed of as Minority Leader. It appears that it will be sometime before the deep wounds in the Republican ranks are healed.

At the beginning of this Congress, we moved our office. Our present address is 1123 New House Office Building, Washington 25, D. C.

Good Farm Records Can Save Dollars In Income Taxes

Farmers may save several dollars on income tax by keeping good records, reminds C. H. Bates, extension farm management specialist.

Small leaks are the ones that sometimes prove costliest, Bates points out. An oversight of only $25 in expense items may cost an additional $5 tax. So, records should include all items of expense and income that will help determine net profit or loss from the business.

To simplify filling out the tax forms, Bates recommends classifying various items in categories corresponding to the various headings used in tax forms. For recording sales, the following group are recommended: (1) sale of livestock raised, (2) sale of produce raised, (3) other income, (4) sale of items purchased for resale and (5) sale of assets that may receive capital asset treatment. A depreciation schedule should be kept on farm buildings (except dwelling), fences, machinery, equipment and purchased livestock used for dairy, breeding or draft purposes. These items depreciate each year and this loss is deductible for income tax purposes at the end of the year in which it occurs.

Bates advises consulting your local county agricultural agent about your tax problems. The county agent also can provide a copy of the 1959 Farmers' Tax Guide which should be helpful in your tax management this year.

Tax-Man Sam Sez:

The 1958 Form 1040 for preparing your income tax return for the year has several small changes but the most noticeable is the removal of line 6(a). The Internal Revenue Service issued new regulations on reporting travel expenses.

In some cases you don't have to give an itemized accounting of your travel expenses. If you have business travel expenses it will pay to read the instructions very carefully this year.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Claims Tractors Just Don't Cost Weight In Gold, But They're Working On It

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek reviews the state of the union this week, in his own language.

Dear editor:
I was figuring up my income and expenses for 1958 the other night and trying to remember where my money went when I decided to rest my mind and picked up a newspaper a man had handed me in town earlier in the day to keep the rain off while I crossed a street—it was a copy of The New York Sun, and I don't care what some people say about it, it shed the rain pretty good—and got to reading a review of President Eisenhower's State of the Union message.

I have come to the conclusion that the President's speech writers ought to bring their language up to date.

For example, trying to bring home to the people the high cost of defending America, the President said "new bombers now cost their weight in gold."

This is what I'm talking about. It would have brought the message home a lot stronger if he'd said "new bombers now cost their weight in groceries."

When he said fighter planes "now cost fifty times more than they did fifteen years ago," he would have brought us face to face with reality more if he'd said "fighter planes have gone up even higher than new automobiles."

Or if he'd said "it costs more to train a jet pilot than it does to send a kid to college."

I have a great deal of sympathy though for the President. He and I are working on similar problems.

For example, while new tractors don't cost their weight in gold yet, I think they're working on it.

I don't know what it costs to repair a 27-million-dollar bomber, but what it costs to overhaul a 10-year-old tractor is inching up in the same direction.

I don't know what a guided missile costs, but I know what a box of shotgun shells costs, and it's something to make Congress and me both sit up and do some thinking.

I don't think groceries cost their weight in gold yet, but it may not be long before they'll be saying gold costs its weight in groceries.

Everything just costs a lot more these days, everything, that is, except some of the things I produce out here, and if it was left to me, they'd be higher too. Yours faithfully, J. A.

Texas Highway Needs Not Solved By Federal Money, Marshall Formby Says

AUSTIN — "Texans must not feel that Uncle Sam is going to solve all our highway needs with federal money. Texans still have a tremendous responsibility in solving their own traffic needs."

These words of warning come from Marshall Formby, Chairman of the State Highway Commission.

Formby stated that too many people in Texas, after reading about the huge amount of money which the federal government is going to spend on the interstate system of highways, believe that all Texas highway needs are solved.

"The 3,033 miles of interstate highway in Texas, when completed, will carry only about 16 per cent, certainly never more than 20 per cent of our Texas traffic. It is up to Texans to work out their own solution for this other 80 to 84 per cent of traffic."

Formby explained that the biggest problem in Texas highways is the 26,000-mile "primary" system which links most of the state's major cities and towns.

"Two out of three autos travel this system," Formby said. "Yet at the present rate of improvement it will take us 22 years to put the primary roads in top condition. By that time, these roads will need further improvement."

Chairman Formby stated that 1,000 miles of the busy primary system are built with four lanes, and that another 5,500 miles should be four-laned within the next five years.

"Thousands of miles need shoulders paved, and 4,200 bridges need to be widened. It would cost more than $2 billion to put the primary roads in first class condition for safe travel under the present traffic load."

Formby predicted that 500 lives and $50 million property damage from accidents could be saved annually if the primary system were built to proper standards.

"We are proud of the progress made on our 32,000-mile farm-to-market road system," Chairman Formby said. "These paved rural roads are of much benefit to the farming and ranching areas and school bus and mail routes. We have added nearly nine thousand miles to the farm-to-market road system since I joined the Highway Commission in 1953."

Formby stated that the 50-50 right-of-way purchase law enacted by the last session of the Texas legislature has been a great aid to the primary system and to the counties and cities desiring highway improvement.

"However, right of way is exceeding the estimated cost. When more money is required for right of way, it has to come out of the construction money, and so less road-miles can be built," Formby said.

Formby, 47, was born in Hopkins County, but moved to McAdoo in Dickens County when a small boy. He is a former county judge of Dickens County, former state senator, and served with the army engineers in World War II, spending 20 months in the European theatre. He is married and has a young son and young daughter. He is a graduate of Texas Tech, received his Masters degree from The University of Texas, and studied law at Baylor University.

Johnson Story Appearing In Natl. Magazine

There are some who argue that Senate majority leader Lyndon Baines Johnson is in fact, if not in theory, the country's most powerful man . . . because he loves to exercise power and President Eisenhower does not.

So reports Stewart Alsop in an article entitled "Lyndon Johnson: How Does He Do It?" in the current (January 24) issue of The Saturday Evening Post, in which the observation is made that the Texan has little chance of becoming President of the United States.

Alsop comments that it would be silly to suppose that a man in Johnson's position, with his instinct for power and will to succeed, would not want to be president.

He says that while Johnson has repeatedly and vehemently denied that he is or ever will be a candidate, the vehemence may derive from the fact that Johnson is capable of considering his own situation with shrewd objectivity and is well aware of the way things stand.

"The Northern liberal-labor groups in the Democratic Party are strong enough to exercise veto power over the presidential selection," Alsop writes. "In any presently foreseeable circumstances, they will veto Johnson."

"In a way this is grossly unfair — but then, politics is the unfair business in the world. Most knowledgeable observers would agree that Johnson is probably the ablest politician in the Democratic Party."

Alsop finds that Johnson has been true to his New Deal origins — within the limits imposed by his Texas origins. But, he adds, those limits are such as to make a Northern liberal labor veto of a Johnson candidacy almost automatic. A Texas politician has no choice but to take positions — on the oil depletion allowance, for example — which fly in the face of Northern liberal doctrine.

Above all, Alsop's analysis continues, on the civil-rights issue there is a line which no Texas politician can safely cross and plenty of East Texans are reported to believe that Johnson has crossed it already.

"In short," Alsop summarizes, "the accident of his Texas birth almost certainly bars Johnson from the White House."
