

Kracker KrumbS

Odd Bits Salvaged
By The Editor

It happened last Monday for the first time in many months.

k-k

When we first came to Munday, it wasn't an uncommon occurrence to see Bud Reynolds inside of or coming out of the West Texas Utilities Co. office. He worked there, you know.

k-k

But last Monday, as we started inside the building we ran right smack into Bud, coming out. About the only time one finds Bud around the place of his former employment -- he retired several years ago, you know -- is around the first of the month when he, like a number of others, go there to pay for their electric service in person.

k-k

We remarked to Bud about how unusual it was, now, to meet him coming out of that office. He didn't reply to our remark, but asked: "Reckon it's going to rain?"

k-k

"I started to wash and grease my car this morning," he continued, "but I knew just as sure as I did it would rain, and there are a lot of people who don't want a rain right now, so I didn't. Not that I care for the car, but I just didn't want to ruin a lot of cotton that's just been planted."

k-k

That sort of consideration, we claim, can come from no person, other than Bud Reynolds.

k-k

Some folks can find fault with almost any season of the year. Back when there were vests with men's suits, we always dreaded for the warmer season to arrive -- the time when we had to discard the vest. We'd get used to those four vest pockets which could contain pens, pencils and various little items that were handy to reach. Then, too, we used to toy with the idea that a vest helped to keep our bay-window in check.

k-k

Then in the fall, we are somewhat reluctant to discard our straw hat and short sleeved sport shirt. Having to don a coat kind interferes with our freedom of action, or something. We got to thinking about just what season of the year we liked best when we ran across the following little item:

k-k

A wise old man, who had lived buoyantly through four score years, was asked, "Which is the happiest season of life?" He replied thoughtfully, "When spring comes, and in the soft air the buds are breaking on the trees, and they are covered with blossoms, I think; how beautiful is Spring! And when the summer comes, and covers the trees and bushes with heavy foliage, and singing birds mingle with the branches, I think how beautiful is Summer! When autumn loads them with golden fruit, and their leaves bear the gorgeous tint of frost, I think, how beautiful is Autumn! And when it is so cold winter, and there is neither foliage nor fruit, then when I look up through the leafless branches and see, as I can see in no other season, the shining stars of heaven, I think, how beautiful is the Winter of life!"

k-k

Rev. Marvin E. Burgess, who is pastor of Gillespie Baptist Church, is a champion horseshoe pitcher, having won the Class B championship of Texas at Henrietta last August. He says it's possible to get the state tourney right here in Munday if someone will show enough interest. The cost, he estimates would be around $350, but a number of people would come here for the event.

k-k

A number of people used to indulge in horseshoe pitching right out on the city hall lawn a number of years ago. We don't know why they quit, unless they just got interested in something else. Maybe folks here would like to see a championship tourney.

k-k

"I don't guess anybody is getting along any better than I am," said Ted Russell of Vera as we sat down beside him at the lunch counter Wednesday. "I get a shower every time I need it, and our wheat looks a lot better than that south of the river." He felt so good he paid for our lunch -- so we'd give him this plug. We had quite a conversation about fishing, too!

"Safety Makes Sense" will be theme for the 16th annual Farm Safety Week, July 19-25.

Munday Man Now In Pilot Training

LACKLAND AFB, TEX., -- Second Lieutenant Richard A. Shropshire, son of Mr. L. H. Shropshire of Munday, has completed training in the Air Force Officer Pre-Flight School here and will be assigned to Bainbridge AB, Ga., for initial flying training as a pilot.

Lt. Shropshire, a graduate of E. E. Bass High School, received his Air Force commission through the Reserve Officer Training Corps program while attending the University of Texas.

Completion of Lackland's pre-flight training school qualifies officer students for their flying training and integration into the Air Force flying program. It covers a period when many of them are making a transition from civilian to military life.

Annual Junior Senior Banquet Held On Friday

The seniors of Munday High School were honored by the juniors at the annual junior and senior banquet Friday night in the grade school lunch room and the theme "With a Song in My Heart" was carried out in the decorations in pink and white.

Master of ceremonies was the president of the junior class, John Massey, with invocation given by Rodger Bell. The welcome extended by the vice president, Joe McMahon, and response, Gaylon Allred.

Class history was read by Maturce Tidwell, prophecy by Nancy Cowan, and the senior will by Charles Partridge.

Guest speaker for the evening was Dan Yeary, student at Hardin-Simmons at Abilene, who encouraged the class to choose a ship and set their course.

Other officers of the class are secretary-treasurer, Sandy Stubbs; reporter, Billy Fitzgerald. Sponsors are Mrs. Elizabeth Canafax and Mrs. Alice Wynn.

Seniors Leave On Annual Trip

Thirty-one members of the Munday senior class left by train from Abilene Wednesday for their annual senior trip. The seniors chose New Orleans, La., for their trip this year and will remain in New Orleans until Saturday afternoon.

Making the trip with the seniors are their sponsors, Mrs. Travis Lee and Joe Canafax. Also accompanying them are Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Offutt.

Annual Rodeo And Horse Show Set At Haskell

The sixth annual Rice Springs Roundup and Horse Show will be held in Haskell May 14, 15 and 16, featuring a full schedule of rodeo events each night in which cowboys will compete for more than $2,000 in cash prizes.

In addition, a Yoakum saddle will go to the champion roper of the 1959 Roundup.

In connection with the Roundup rodeo events, an AQHA approved Quarter Horse Show will be held May 15, and separate Palomino and Shetland Shows on May 16.

Added Roundup feature this year will be the observance of Old Settlers Day on Friday, May 15. A building on the west side of the square will be used as Old Settlers headquarters, and will include displays of early-day West Texas articles of all descriptions.

An Old Fiddlers Contest, with cash prizes for the top three fiddlers, will be staged at 2:30 p. m. Friday, free to the public.

Highlight feature on opening day will be a colorful parade at 4 p. m. Thursday in which 12 or more visiting riding clubs and scores of cowboys and cowgirls will take part.

P-TA Bake Sale Slated May 8-9

A bake sale, sponsored by the Munday P. T. A., will be held Friday and Saturday, May 8 and 9, at Jean's Specialty Shop. Every P. T. A. member is urged to bring one cake or two pies, or $2. All proceeds will go to the summer youth program.

Come and buy the cakes and pies, so the youth of our town may have "constructive leisure time" instead of "destructive leisure time."

Please contact Mrs. Rhoads Allen, Mrs. George Beatty, Mrs. Bill Wright or Mrs. H. D. Matthews, Jr. They will pick up and deliver the cakes and pies.

Officers Named For Band Booster Club

At the Band Booster meeting held last Tuesday night the following officers were elected:

President, Mrs. Delbert Montgomery; vice president, Mrs. Everett Thompson; secretary, Mrs. John Peysen. Mrs. R. T. Morrow was reelected as treasurer.

The group was entertained by the junior high school band.

G. A. Council Is Held In Munday

The Haskell-Knox Association G. A. Council met in the First Baptist Church in Munday on Saturday, May 2.

The program was entitled, "Telling His Story," and was emceed by an address by Joy Phillips of Dallas, Texas Girls Auxiliary director, who spoke on "God's Call -- My Answer."

127 junior and intermediate aged girls and their counselors representing ten churches were in attendance. The churches are: Gillespie, Goree, Haskell, Knox City, Munday, O'Brien, Paint Creek, Rochester, Rule and Weinert.

The community missions project was a clothing shower for the O'Brien storehouse for needy Latin-Americans.

Fausto Salvoni Of Italy To Speak Here On May 11th

Fausto Salvoni, evangelist of Milan, Italy, who has been on a speaking tour of many churches of this area, will be in Munday on Monday night, May 11, and will speak at the local Church of Christ at 7:45 p. m.

The speaker has been a minister of the Church of Christ in Italy for nine years, working under the oversight of elders of the Knox City, Tex., church.

The Munday speech will cover some of Salvoni's experiences as a Roman Catholic priest and teacher in a college for priests in Milan. He also will talk about his study of the Bible, touching on such subjects as baptism, the Christian priesthood, organization of the church, rulers of the church, the confession, and the harmony of persons who study only the Bible and accept it.

Salvoni then will discuss his work for the Church of Christ. He has preached in Austria, Germany, Switzerland, France and Belgium, because of his knowledge of German and French. Most of his work, however, has been in Italy. He has addressed as many as 2,000 on more than one occasion in Sicily.

He also plans to discuss his difficulties in trying to preach the gospel, and then will present the needs of the church in Italy.

Salvoni is a priest for 19 years, teaching Bible, theology, Hebrew and Greek for seven years in Milan. He also was a clergyman on the advisory board at Treviglio, a city near Milan. He holds the Doctorate in Theology from a Catholic Seminary, and he holds the Master's Degree in Holy Scripture from the Biblical Pontifical Institute. While teaching in Milan, Salvoni collaborated with various theological reviews and ecclesiastical encyclopedias, including the Vatican edition of the Catholic Encyclopedia. He also published several books, including a pedagogy of the Bible, Bible Dictionary, and a commentary on the Book of Kings.

Harold Paden, minister, and members of the congregation extend a cordial invitation to the public to attend.

Dickey Morrow of Texas University in Austin was a guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Morrow, from Thursday until Sunday.

Munday Woman Honored As Baptist Mother of Year

Mrs. Blanche Tompkins Nelson

DALLAS -- Mrs. Blanche Tompkins Nelson, a 59-year-old Munday, Tex., housewife who has reared five children and sent them all to college has been named 1959 Texas Baptist Mother of the Year.

One of her sons is a Baptist minister and the other is a physician. Both hold graduate degrees from professional schools. Her three daughters were school teachers before they married.

Mrs. Nelson was chosen because of her influence on her own children and other youngsters she taught in school, Baptist leaders said in Dallas.

She started teaching school when she was 17 years old to help support six brothers and sisters. Her father died when she was a senior in college.

"I was the only teacher in the little Red Creek school near Benjamin," she recalls. "I had to walk two-and-one-half miles to the school house. Some of the 32 pupils were older than their teacher."

Mrs. Nelson was born in Munday the second of seven children. Her father was postmaster in the town and operated a small store. She graduated from Munday High School and studied at Southwest Texas State Teachers College, San Marcos; Hardin-Simmons University (then Simmons College); and the College of Industrial Arts, Denton.

She married in 1923 after a "horse and buggy courtship" that extended through two teaching assignments. She met Mr. Nelson while teaching at Gillespie and later taught at Jayton.

"It was too far for him to visit me during our courtship," the silver-haired mother recalls, "so I transferred to Goree the next year."

For awhile, they lived in Wichita Falls but returned to Munday in 1931 and began farming. Mrs. Nelson often helped with farming chores.

"We had 12 cows and had to get them milked, the cream separated and the kids off to school by 7:30 each morning," she said. "All of our children were taught to help with the work, and all of them helped work their way through college."

About 12 years ago, Mr. Nelson suffered a crippling attack of arthritis. Mrs. Nelson carried on the farming and faithfully cared for her husband until he partially regained the use of his hands and legs. She continues to drive the car for him to direct their farming operation.

Mrs. Nelson has taught a Sunday School class for more than 30 years, and has been active in the Woman's Missionary Union of her church. Some members of the adult class which she now teaches were pupils in her public school class rooms 30 years ago.

She has developed a widespread reputation around Munday as a practical nurse. ("I've always enjoyed taking care of sick folks.") One time an infant was supposedly still-born. But Mrs. Nelson applied standard treatment "and the child hasn't stopped wailing yet!"

The "Mother of the Year" project is sponsored by the Baptist Standard and the 1 1/2 million-member Baptist General Convention of Texas. Judges for the final selection were Walker Knight, associate editor of the Standard; Oliver Hailey, newswriter for the Dallas Morning News; and the Rev. Paul Petty pastor of Trinity Baptist Church, Dallas.

Mrs. Nelson is the fourth mother to receive the honor. Last year's award went to Mrs. J. B. Henley of Lamesa.

W.T.C.C. Convention Set At Amarillo

ABILENE -- Senator Grady Hazlewood of Amarillo and Speaker of the House Waggoner Carr of Lubbock have been added to the convention program of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, according to WTCC officials who arranged the event in Amarillo for May 7, 8 and 9.

A total of nine speakers will address the 41st annual meeting of the regional chamber's membership on the theme "The Shape of Things to Come."

Desmond Barry of Houston, truck line president and subject of a November Reader's Digest article, "The Man the Teamsters Found Too Hot to Handle," will address the convention on "What Labor Unions Can Do to Your Business Today."

Munday Library Has Books For Adult Readers

A new feature in the Munday Public Library is a rent shelf for adult readers. These books will rent for ten cents each day which will enable to library committee to add new adult books to the shelves.

The library is now receiving help through the Munday United Fund and this money will be used to pay for encyclopedias and books for children and young people. 1399 books were checked to children and young people and 651 to adult readers from March 1, 1958 to March 1, 1959.

Watch for news of the books on the rental shelf each week beginning this week with The Bone Picker by Al Dowden. This is the story of Texas and a Texas family -- its money and its shame. "The Bone Pickers" are the stinger family of Amarillo -- the oil rich heirs of a fabulous estate. Any Texan would be interested in a story about our State.

SOCIAL SECURITY MAN TO BE HERE TUESDAY

A representative of the Social Security Administration will be at the city hall in Munday at 10 a. m. Tuesday, May 12. Persons who desire information or assistance in Social Security matters are invited to meet with him at this time.

ATTEND MARKET

Joe Choucri and Mrs. Clayton Wren attended Bobbie Brooks market in Pecos last Monday.

Brownwood Man Elected Head Of Texas' Jaycees

Jack Miller of Brownwood was elected president of the Texas Junior Chamber of Commerce at the close of the 32nd annual convention in Fort Worth last week end.

Awards for outstanding club work in particular phases were presented at the banquet. The new Jaycees leader, 29, is administrative president to the state land commissioner. He succeeds Dr. Douglas Guthrie, Waco chiropractor, who Saturday afternoon was presented with a life membership in the organization.

The Jaycees picked Houston as the 1960 convention city. Corpus Christi was a strong bidder.

National director elected during the session include Alex Beall of Tyler, Tom Fielder of Dallas, Herschel Kelly of Stamford, Ernest Klein of Houston, Harvey W. McEachern of Plainview, Dick Wadsworth of Irving and Ernest Warley of Garland.

Munday's Jaycees were represented at the convention by Hal Weigel and Troy B. McKnight.

Farmers Busy In Fields After Added Moisture

Added moisture which has come to this area during the past week has put farmhands in better shape for spring working, and farmers are getting busier each day in work of planting their crops.

The rain clouds which visited this area last Friday night brought only 51 of an inch to Munday, according to H. P. Hill, local U. S. Weather observer, but more was received to the south and southeast. A cloud which missed Munday gave Weinert a good rain, then veered to the east and north, bringing moisture east and southeast of Munday. Better than an inch was reported in places.

Monday night we had what one person called "a good goatead shower," bringing 19 of an inch to Munday and making a total of 70 of an inch in all. The latter shower was just right to save some farmers the job of scratching to get crops up.

Some replanting is being done where the heaviest of the rain fell, while some farmers report cotton and other crops coming up.

UNDERGOES SURGERY

Mrs. G. M. Roden underwent surgery in the Bethania Hospital in Wichita Falls last Friday. She is reported to be doing fine. Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Roden and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Booe were with her for the operation and visited her again on Sunday.

LIONS CLUB OFFICERS -- Who were installed at the ladies' night banquet on April 28 and who will take office June 1 are: Back row, l to r, Joe Canafax, third vice president; Oscar Spann, second vice president; E. B. Littlefield, retiring president and director; Goodson Sellers, president, and Charles Hogsett, director. Front row: Dorse Collins, secretary and treasurer; Earl B. Little, director; and Dwight C. Key, first vice president.

SERVICE STATIONS WITHOUT SERVICE

We Americans take the competitive, free enterprise system for granted. It would be a good thing if we could all spend a little time in a country where government owns or runs everything, where competition is non-existent, and the consumer can like it or lump it.

In an article appearing in Ethyl News, Thomas L. Riley, a widely-traveled writer and photographer tells of service stations without service. The scene is Moscow. It's a huge city, in the 8 million population bracket. But there are only a handful of service stations—and they operate strictly on a do-it-yourself principle. The buildings are mostly dilapidated. The pumps are antiquated, by U. S. standards. And the customers do their own pumping—the attendants are just there to take the rubles.

The gas is of low quality, and it costs about $1 a gallon. Motor oil isn't sold where the gas is sold—you have to go to special stations to buy that, and for lubrication, and other services.

So, as Mr. Riley puts it: ". . . while millions of American motorists are enjoying the advantages of clean, fully-equipped service stations, manned by cheerful, well-trained attendants, the Russian has no choice but to put up with inferior products, high prices and no service." That is inevitable—in the case of gasoline or anything else—when the government is the boss and competition is outlawed.

IT'S HARD TO BREAK EVEN

If you earned $5,000 a year in 1939, and have a wife and two children, you have to earn $12,113 today to break even in terms of purchasing power, according to a recent survey. Putting it another way, the same man who earns $7,035 a year today can purchase only as much as his counterpart earning $3,000 a year in 1939.

The "why" of this is found in two forces. One is taxes. The other is inflation. The first takes away more and more of your dollars—and the second cheapens them.

SANTA PAULA, CALIF., DAILY CHRONICLE: "If the trend since 1929 were to continue for another 50 years, about 99 per cent of our economy would be socialized and only one person out of 100 would be privately employed. . . . We now spend one-third of our working days each year working for the government. We are one-third socialized."

CHAMPIONS OF FAILURE

Once again there is talk in Washington of "standby" laws to control prices. These laws, the theory is, would be used only if prices started soaring again. They are advocated as a sure-fire means of stopping or at least braking inflation.

It is to be hoped that our memories are long enough to recall the experience with price and other economic controls following World War II. Black markets flourished. Shortages were rampant. The normal processes of production and retail distribution were disrupted, to the disadvantage of everyone.

That aside, the idea that price laws can stop inflation is a prime example of how to put the cart before the horse. These laws would not, and could not, do anything about the real causes of inflation. They would not, for instance, prevent federal deficit spending, which is probably the strongest inflationary force that exists. Nor would they prevent wage increases which are unrelated to worker productivity, and which irresistibly drive prices up.

Prices, in a free enterprise system, simply reflect the forces of the time. They don't generate those forces. The only thing that can stop further inflation is to stop further debasement of the purchasing power of the dollar—whether at the hands of government, labor, agriculture, or industry.

TENSIONS

"We like to think that we are living in a highly civilized and very advanced world," says William Park, chairman of the board of American Stores. "We point with pride to all the things we have that make for 'better living' that our forefathers never enjoyed. Yet in almost any newspaper you can read of broken homes, murders and a whole host of crimes that make your blood run cold. . . ."

"I think this is a rather sad commentary on our way of living in this so-called 'enlightened age'. We cannot help but wonder if human nature has changed at all through the centuries. I doubt if it has."

"If you read the Old Testament of the Bible, you will see recorded many murders and other sins of all sorts. The world was in a constant state of war. People were restless and full of tensions."

"The prophet Isaiah gave them a prescription to help them. . . . If you are interested, you will find it recorded in the third verse of the twenty-sixth chapter of the Book of Isaiah. A sure relief from tension."

THE 1959 WATER SUPPLY

The ground water supply outlook this year is "poor in the South and Southwest" and "fair to good in the North," according to U. S. water survey crews.

This rather dim outlook contrasts sharply with last year's generally abundant water supplies in Texas and other western states. It also recalls some vaguely disturbing reminders of the earlier 7-year trend during the bad drought years in Texas.

Snow survey supervisors report, however, that carryover storage from the high 1957 and 1958 runoff, will provide supplemental and late-season underground water where the snowpack is normal. The carryover will also tend to alleviate any disastrous shortage during the 1959 season where the snowpack is low. The forecast virtually eliminates any damaging high streamflows resulting from snow melt. With average of less snow accumulated in the mountains at the April 1 measuring time, the prospects for spring floods are very slight in the southwest.

Commenting on the irrigation water outlook, D. A. Williams, administrator of the Soil Conservation service had this advice: "Farmers and ranchers in areas faced with deficient water supplies should seek expert help and advice in planning their water programs. The soil conservation district agents can also offer aid in planning cropping and grazing patterns to fit area soil and available water supply."

The seasonal forecast covered 16 states and British Columbia. Of particular interest to Texas

News From The U. S. Congress

By Congressman Frank Ikard

The House has approved this week a bill making appropriations for the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare and Labor for the fiscal year 1960. This bill makes available the money for a study of water quality in the Arkansas-Red River Basins. As we have noted heretofore, this study will deal with the sources of natural pollution. Among the streams that will be thoroughly examined will be the Pease River and the Big and Little Wichita Rivers as well as all of the other tributaries of the Red River. It is hoped that these studies which will take approximately two years will point the way to effective control of the gyp and salt that contaminates the water of these streams.

The 49 Star Flags are getting harder and harder to obtain. It seems to be reasonably certain that Hawaii will not ratify its statehood and officially become the fiftieth State until after the Fourth of July when Alaska will officially enter the Union; however, the Flag manufacturers have hesitated to manufacture the 49-Star Flags and are now only making them on special order.

With the passage last week by the Senate of a bill to control labor racketeering, Congress moved one step closer to finally enacting this much needed legislation.

The Agriculture Marketing Service of the Department of Agriculture has forecast a billion dollar decline in net farm income for 1959. The Agency expects farmers to sell more products and take in larger volumes of cash, but it is estimated that higher costs of operation and lower prices will more than offset this greater cash in take. It is obvious that if such a decline comes about, it could have serious implications on our National economy.

Mr. Robert McFarlane of Graham who is presently a senior at the Naval Academy at Annapolis was a visitor in Washington this week. Mr. McFarlane has made an outstanding scholastic record at the Academy and also has won the distinction of being a Company Commander.

Mr. Gene Fincher, Mr. Jim Ed Jones, and Mr. Jimmy Park of Wichita Falls stopped by Washington for a visit enroute to Atlantic City to attend the "Youth Conference of the Atom".

CARD OF THANKS

Since Mike's illness, our friends have been so kind to us. The cards, calls, visits and food brought to our home have meant so much to us. May we say "Thanks," and that we appreciate the thoughtfulness of all of you. May God richly bless you all. Mr. and Mrs. Lill Lemley and Family

LAW NOT AN EXACT SCIENCE

Many people have the impression that a lawyer can tell them in any and every fact situation. Few realize that in many instances the lawyer, like the doctor, can only give his expert opinion on the state of the law as applied to a particular set of facts.

There are some fact situations, which arise repeatedly, where the law is well settled, and the lawyer can state with considerable conviction the exact rule of law applicable.

However, in many situations, the lawyer, after studying the statutes and the court decisions that are applicable, can only give his best judgment as to what a court would hold the law to be as applied to the particular set of facts presented to him.

How does a lawyer learn how to advise clients on legal questions? First, he must have had six or seven years of academic education. In Texas this means at least three years of college work and three years in a recognized law school. Because the community at large has an interest in the qualifications and conduct of members of the bar, these minimum educational requirements must be met before examination for admission to the bar may be taken.

During the three years of formal legal education, the law student attempts to read, digest, reconcile and understand from 10,000 to 20,000 separate cases, statutes, and monographs. He must draw from these an understanding of basic legal principles, of processes of legal reasoning, of methods of fact and legal investigation, and of court procedures which bring relief to clients.

In both counseling and litigation, a lawyer must draw upon a wealth of precedent which he er exactly the same. After searching his memory, the lawyer will usually check the pertinent rules and precedents. These are found in an ever-increasing volume of statutes with which modern legislation seeks to regulate many aspects of our life, and in the decisions of the courts, boards and bureaus.

Almost every problem presented to a lawyer requires research in the statutes and law books before a proper answer can be given.

Therefore, you will not receive an immediate answer to your problem from your lawyer, unless it is of the most elemental type. Your lawyer should, and you should give him time to, form his opinions from the authoritative statutes and decisions. You should also understand that, due to the constant fluctuations in our laws, he will sometimes be able to give you only an informed opinion rather than an absolute statement of the law applicable to your situation.

WIN $50 IN GROCERIES!

IN OUR LOCAL GULF GULFTANE LP-GAS BUTANE PROPANE

WATER HEATING CONTEST
Just write down one number—Nothing to buy!

An LP-Gas water heater will deliver much more hot water than an electric. How many gallons more in 30 days—that is the contest question.

SEND IN YOUR ESTIMATE YOU MAY WIN!

Wonder why we have a contest like this? To prove what some folks don't know—that Gulfthane beats electricity in providing plenty of hot water 24 hours a day at low, low cost.

It's a dramatic way of saying that if you aren't using Gulfthane for water heating, you're probably getting too little and paying too much!

What IS Gulfthane? It's a high quality LP-Gas, also known as bottled gas, propane or butane. It is gas compressed into concentrated liquid form, so that we can deliver Gulfthane to you easily and economically. Here's what it will give you:

HOME HEATING—clean, automatic heating with Gulfthane for only pennies a day.

COOKING—the modern way, with fast, clean, automatically controlled Gulfthane flame.

TRACTOR FUEL—clean-burning Gulfthane cuts maintenance costs up to 50%... costs less too.

MANY, MANY OTHER FARM AND HOME USES!

FACTS TO HELP YOU WIN!

An average 30-gallon LP-Gas water heater is able to deliver between 13,600 and 17,900 gallons of hot water per month... an average 52-gallon electric water heater between 3,950 and 5,250 gallons per month. But the total gallons of hot water each produces in 30 days, operating 24 hours a day will vary one way or the other between these totals, depending on operating conditions.

Your Gulfthane distributor has an ENTRY BLANK which contains all the test details and gives you plenty of additional information to help you win. To get your Entry Blank, phone, write, or drop in at the address below, or mail your estimate by using the coupon each will deliver. By calculating how much hot water you can estimate from an LP-Gas water heater. Your calculation may win the contest and bring you the prize.

United States Testing Company, Inc. will test two new water heaters—one LP-Gas, one electric. These heaters picked at random from stock. The test will measure how much hot water (normal clothes washing temperature) each will deliver over a 30-day period operating at full capacity, 24 hours a day. The certified results of this test will determine the contest winner.

- Here are the easy rules
1. Phone, write or visit your Gulfthane distributor and ask him for your entry blank—or use the coupon below.
  2. Fill in your estimate of how many more gallons of 160° water the LP-Gas heater will deliver over the 30-day period. Don't forget to add your name and address and that of your Gulfthane distributor. Type, or print in ink. Incomplete or illegible entries will not be considered. Mail to Water Heating Contest at the address below. Entries must be post-marked no later than June 12, 1959.
  3. The Contest is subject to all Federal, state and local laws and is open to any adult resident of the continental United States except those employed by, or who are members of the families of employees of Warren Petroleum Corporation, its branded distributors, or its advertising agencies. More than one entry from an individual or a family will not be considered.
  4. For each local contest area, the estimate determined by the judges to be closest to the actual, official test result and bearing the earliest postmark wins the prize. Judges' decisions are final.
  5. The prize is a certificate worth $50.00 in groceries at a food market selected by the local Gulfthane distributor.
  6. Your Gulfthane distributor will display the official test result June 27, 1959 at the address below. Keep a record of your estimate—compare it with the official result. Winners will be notified by July 15, 1959 and will receive their certificate shortly thereafter from their local Gulfthane distributor.

Miss Elliott And Fred L. Pearson To Marry June 21st

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Elliott, 208 North avenue D., Kermit, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Linda Kay, to Fred L. Pearson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Pearson of Kermit.

The marriage ceremony is scheduled for June 21 at 2 p. m. in the First Methodist Church in Kermit with Rev. Carl Lawson, pastor, officiating.

Bobby Pearson will be his brother's best man and Miss Cassandra Blackburn will be maid of honor.

Miss Elliott attended Kermit High School where she was an active member of the pep squad and Future Homemakers of America. She is now attending Odessa Beauty School in Odessa.

Mr. Pearson is a 1955 graduate of Kermit High School and will receive his B. B. A. degree this summer from North Texas State College in Denton.

The bride to be is the granddaughter of Mr. W. J. Wallace of Munday and Mrs. J. W. Elliott of Goree.

Bragging Drivers Cause Accidents

By Martha Johnson
Traffic Safety Consultant

Do you have to show off the power of your new car? Do you have to demonstrate your skill in making time through traffic?

The National Safety Council warns that this kind of "YOU" causes accidents.

You may be an experienced driver, but if you have the competitive urge to pass cars even when you're not in a hurry—then you're asking for trouble.

If you have to beat everyone away from the light, and insist on keeping the other fellow in his lane—you are in danger of becoming a traffic statistic.

The over-confident driver causes many accidents. He gets a sudden feeling of power when he takes the wheel. This power-complex leads him to take chances. And, when you take chances, you frequently don't win.

Try to remember that the other driver pays highway taxes too. It's his road as much as it's yours.

The other driver has just as much right to the road as you have. Don't try to compete with—just try to live with him.

Give him part of your slice of the road, and be safe.

Niagara Falls—A Fascinating Vista

NIAGARA FALLS—scenic, historic, world renowned—is an attraction for the millions of United States vacationers who visit Ontario, Canada, annually. Left is the American falls; right the horseshoe falls, as viewed by one of many vacationing families visiting Ontario. ### Civil Defense In Meeting May 4th

The Munday Civil Defense met at 8:30 p. m. at the fire hall Monday, May 4, for their second meeting.

H. E. Arledge was elected president. M. M. Booe was elected vice president. Mr. Arledge is going to try to get a first aid course for the C. D. members.

The chairman of each division is urged to be present Monday night at 7:30 at the fire hall to find out what their jobs will be. All the people of the town that are interested in Civil Defense are urged to be present also.—Gene Brown, secretary.

The Farm Tractor Can Be A Killer

Ignorance and carelessness in using farm machinery are sure ways to make the headlines. Records show that more than 1,100 fatalities in the United States each year are caused by tractor accidents. Extension Agricultural Engineer Willie L. Ulich offers suggestions for preventing such accidents.

A child's safety is a parent's responsibility, he says. Teach children the importance of safety and point out dangers involved in the use of machinery. Emphasize that operating a tractor is a job for a mature person.

Tractors are involved in 35 percent of all farm accidents making it the Number One farm killer. Forty percent of all tractor accidents are fatal to the operator.

Chances of an upset, points out the engineer, increase four times when speed is doubled. If possible lock brake pedals together when driving on the open highway. Use brakes cautiously and keep them evenly adjusted.

Other safety suggestions by Ulich are: throttle down before making turns, do not carry extra riders on either the tractor or on trailed implements, and avoid climbing steep banks with the tractor since overturns are one of the chief causes of tractor accidents.

Be careful where you work. Often ditches, rocks and stumps are hidden by tall grass or brush and the tractor may overturn with little warning.

Mrs. Ben Yarbrough and Mrs. Dee Clough were visitors in Wichita Falls last Friday.

Scientific Farm Buildings Produce Extra Farm Profits

The increasing demand by the American consumer for more and higher quality foods is now being met with the help of scientifically controlled farm buildings. Tests have determined the exact conditions required by animals for maximum production. These conditions are now being duplicated in "controlled environment" buildings on farms throughout the country. The result is bigger profits for the farmer.

The top picture shows a Stran-Steel Stran-Master poultry house. It is windowless and completely insulated to regulate temperature and humidity. Lights control the waking and sleeping hours of the hens. Feed and water is automatically supplied and regulated. A push of a button removes droppings from the floor of the building by means of a motor driven scraper. Eggs are collected from nests lining the central aisle in the building.

The bottom picture is that of a Stran-Master all-steel building for producing feeder pigs on a production line basis. The farrowing room is insulated and ventilated. Radiant heat lamps keep pigs and sows comfortable in cold weather. Ventilation fans are thermostatically regulated to control temperature. Pens have concrete floors that are clean and easy to keep clean.

The appearance of the buildings has not been overlooked. Bright metallic colors of blue, green, rose, bronze, gray and white are now being used on walls and roof. The color coating is a double layer of vinyl-aluminum that is baked on to the steel at the factory.

Bow Hunters Of Texas Will Get Open Deer Season

AUSTIN — The Game and Fish Commission has yielded to the request of Texas bow hunters for an open season in counties under regulatory authority, according to the assistant secretary of the Commission.

At the meeting last week a subcommittee of the Commission offered the following resolution, which was adopted:

"That a hunting season, for the use of bow and arrow, be provided for in each county under regulatory control of the Game and Fish Commission after the holding of a public hearing. Such season to precede the gun season and where possible to provide for a period of time between the bow season and the gun season. That such season not exceed 30 days and not exceed the gun season.

"That regulations on the size and type of equipment to be used by the bow hunters be developed in cooperation with the organized bow hunters of the State."

Don Bowman of Texas Tech in Lubbock spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Bowman.

W. C. (Bill) Hertel, who recently underwent surgery in a Fort Worth hospital, was brought to his home in Seymour last Saturday. He is reported to be getting along nicely.

PLAN ORGANIZATION

The women of Goree are planning to organize a Home Demonstration Club in Goree and are requesting that all women interested to meet at the Memorial Hall in Goree on Tuesday, May 12, at 2:30 p. m. Miss S. C. Kinsey, Knox County Home Demonstration agent will meet with them.

BOYCE HOUSE

A block of native stone on top of which has been crudely chiseled just two words, "Sam Bass," marks the grave of Texas' most renowned bandit. It was quite a few years ago that I visited the spot, with J. H. Kavanaugh who, for a long time was editor of the Round Rock Leader, as my guide.

In a corner of the old cemetery, under the shade of a large tree, side by side, are the graves of the "Robin Hood of Texas" and his "right bower", Sabe Barnes. A small stone with no inscription marks Barnes' grave.

There have been two previous monuments to Bass' resting place; one was entirely destroyed by souvenir-hunters, and of the second, only the base is left. The original monument was erected by Sam's sister. The wording, besides the name and dates of birth and death, read: "A brave man reposes in death here. Why was he not true?"

A debate has gone on almost from the day of Bass' death as to who killed him in the Round Rock battle. One group maintains the fatal shot was fired by Ranger Ware; another group contends that the distinction belongs to Ranger Harrell.

Mr. Kavanaugh took no sides in the debate. However, he did relate that, years before, a retired Ranger named Jackson ran a dining hall in Lometa. Jackson and Chris Connor were in the Ranger service together; in fact, they usually worked as a pair. Connor was one of the first Rangers to reach Round Rock when the "tip" came from a traitor in Bass' gang that the Round Rock bank was to be held up. Connor, Ware and Harrell came to the town together to take part in the plan to trap the outlaws.

The injudicious attempt of an officer to arrest Bass for carrying a pistol — (the officer had been advised by Major Jones of the Rangers to avoid precipitating matters) — set off the battle, prematurely. The officer paid with his life — the only man Bass killed during his career, which included five train robberies and a number of stage-coach holdups.

When the shooting broke out, Barnes and citizens joined in. Barnes was killed and Bass was mortally wounded. Frank Jackson of Bass' gang helped his disabled chief into the saddle, and, at the same time, single-handed fought back a dozen or so adversaries. The two rode out of town, the outlaw continuing to fire.

Next day, Bass was captured. He had been left by his reluctant companion who had offered to remain and fight to the last. But Sam told him, "I'm done for; you go on." The captured robber was taken back to Round Rock where he lingered in great pain for two days. His mind was lucid and he talked freely but would not "tell off" on his pals. He died on his twenty-seventh birthday.

Now back to what Jackson, the retired Ranger (not to be confused with the other Jackson who was Bass' associate), told Editor Kavanaugh. Connor decided to resign as a Ranger and, on his last day in the service, Jackson asked him who killed Sam Bass. Connor (who had been in as good position to know as anyone) said in substance:

"There were 50 shots fired and it could have been any one of them."

So it looks as though the mystery will never be solved.

Bike Fun— and Safety

Bike control means bike safety. Best way to teach youngsters control is through special races; they're fun and educational. For example, there's the slow race; teenagers compete in 6-ft. wide lanes over a 100-ft. course. Last one to finish wins.

Another fun-filled event that teaches bike control is the coasting race. The idea is to see who can coast the farthest after a hard-peddle start of 15 feet. Usually, the contestant who coasts in the straightest line wins.

Perhaps the best way to learn control is over an obstacle course. Variations are countless; can include a low teeter board placed on a sandbag; a "mine field" of ten pins tied to ropes; stakes to ride in and out of, etc. Teenagers can learn more about bike safety in May—American Bicycle Month—through a free rules leaflet and bike inspection, offered by cooperating bike sellers everywhere.

in the special appliances available for that purpose.

Keep stairs free of all objects to prevent tripping and falling. Train your child from the start to put his toys away. It isn't only safer, but much easier on a busy mother.

While children are young, use table mats rather than table cloths that hang over the table edge. A pot of hot coffee or bowl of soup can easily be pulled down on himself by a toddler.

Keep sewing baskets, scissors, and other constantly used hazardous articles on a self or in a drawer that can't be reached by children. This applies to all kitchen utensils as well.

Turn handles of pans on the stove away from the front of the stove, so that your child can't pull them over. Buy a stove whose controls are out of reach of toddlers. (A weekly feature of the Division of Public Health Education, Texas State Department of Health.)

Mrs. Fred Broach is visiting in Canyon this week.

A lot of blade—and a low, low price!

Here's a utility blade priced within the reach of anyone who owns a light tractor. We state flatly, this will be the largest selling light blade in the country, because it is the greatest value. All welded, sturdy, 240 lb. construction. 13" mouldboard plus 6" replaceable cutting edge of 1/2" grader-blade steel. 8 adjustments for angling and reversing.

If you need a larger, more versatile blade for specialized ditching and terracing work, Servis makes big tough ones that tilt, angle, and pitch in more directions than the average man can think of. But for simple utility work, this Lone Star blade is it!

Plan to see it this week $95.00

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by Henry A. Holle, M. D., State Health Officer

Last year 936 Texans under 15 years old were killed in accidents. Most met death on the highways — or at home. Last year 1142 Texans in all died in home accidents. That old saw about being as "safe as in your own home" just isn't based on fact.

National statistics show a little more than half of non-fatal accidental injuries to children under 15 occur in the home. Nearly 5,500 children die each year as a result of home accidents.

Just how safe is your home? Especially — how safe is your home for your children?

Even if it is fireproofed, moth-proofed, and rust free — is it child-proofed?

Here are some suggestions for helping your children avoid accidents in and around your home:

Always keep matches in metal containers, out of reach from small hands.

Be absolutely certain none of your gas fixtures leak. Use metal pipe connections, not flexible tubing which may fray and leak with use.

Check all your electrical connections, wires and appliances for frays, shorts, and bare wires. Either buy new or repair any which look dangerous. Tape over unused electrical outlets or plug

Tornado And Severe Weather Warning

The tornado season, a time when disaster can strike with very little warning, is here again. Tornadoes can occur any place in the United States at any time of the year. However, they occur more frequently in Texas from March through September. None of us can forget what happened during this period in the last several years when San Angelo, Waco, Silvertown, Dallas and other communities were stricken by tornadoes.

A number of people in many areas of the State that were struck by tornadoes were able to save their own lives and the lives of others through the Severe Weather Warning Program and because they had at least a rudimentary knowledge of what to do in the face of disaster.

A re-statement of the joint activity of the Division of Defense and Disaster Relief, the Texas Department of Public Safety and the U. S. Weather Bureau on tornado observations and warnings is attached. A list of rules to follow in case of a tornado disaster may mean the difference between life and death.

With the tornado season now upon us these rules will be helpful in case we are struck.

1. The safest place to be during a tornado is in a cave or storm cellar. When time permits, go to a tornado cellar, cave, or underground excavation which should have an air outlet to help equalize the air pressure. Any of these should be kept fit for use, meaning free from water, gas or debris, and preferably equipped with pick and shovel.

2. If you are in open country, move at right angles to the tornado's path. Remember that tornadoes move ahead at about 25 to 30 miles per hour as a general rule. If there is no time to escape, lie flat in the nearest depression such as a ditch or ravine to avoid injury from objects being hurled through the air.

3. If you are in a city or town, seek inside shelter, preferably along the inside walls on the lower floors of a steel reinforced building. Stay away from windows. If you are at home in frame-type house, the southwest corner of the lowest floor (preferably a basement) offers greater safety. People living in brick or stone houses should find other shelters, such as a storm cellar or the southwest basement corner of a frame house. If time permits before a storm strikes, turn off the gas and electricity. Windows and doors on the north and east sides of the house may be opened to help reduce damage to the building from outdoor pressure difference.

4. If you are in a school and the building is of reinforced steel construction, stay inside, keep the children away from windows, and remain near inside walls on a lower floor when possible. Avoid auditoriums and gymnasiums under all circumstances. In any rural schools that do not have reinforced construction, children should seek shelter in a ravine or a ditch when storm cellars are not available and a tornado has been reported or seen.

5. If factories or industrial plants, a lookout should be posted immediately upon receiving a tornado warning, and he should keep safety officials advised of the tornado's approach. Advance preparation should be made for shutting off the electrical circuits and fuel lines if the tornado approaches the plant. Workers should be moved to sections of the plant offering the greatest protection.

6. Above all, keep calm. Persons have been killed by running out into streets and by turning back into the path of a tornado. Even though a warning is issued, the chances of a tornado striking one's home or location are slight.

As a rule, tornadoes cover such a small area that relatively only a few places in a warned area are directly affected. You should be familiar with the safety precautions, however, in case a tornado does approach. 7. Keep tuned to your radio station for the latest information when tornado warnings have been issued. Do not call the Weather Bureau, except to report a tornado, as your request may tie up telephone lines urgently needed to receive special reports, or to relay messages to radio stations for broadcast to thousands in the critical area.

'Oldest' Ship To Be National Shrine

Constellation Under Sail, on Face of Special Souvenir Coin

The U. S. Frigate Constellation, oldest ship in the world still afloat, is being restored in Baltimore, Md., as a National Historic Shrine. The ship was authorized by George Washington in 1797.

Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, national chairman of the restoration program, is calling on American citizens and industries for contributions required for the project. Among major donations already received and acknowledged by Admiral Nimitz is one from the Borden Chemical Company, which provided 100 gallons of Elmer's Water-proof Glue needed in restoring the exterior hull planking. The glue, which exceeds military specifications, forms a bond stronger than the wood itself. It will be used to hold the planks to the 12 x 12 frames of the historic Frigate Constellation. It is the same adhesive used by home handymen in making garden furniture and boats.

More Range Forage Can Be Produced By Vegetation Control

"Reduction in output, which is not always apparent, is by far the greatest loss to the production phase of agriculture," says Dr. Wayne G. McCully of the Range and Forestry Department of Texas A&M. He said that injurious plants, such as shinnery oak, increase labor and may lower the quality of the marketing commodity.

Vegetation control is the establishment and maintenance of a particular kind of vegetation on a given area. Land managers have long used the practice of intensive cultivation with a planted crop as a means of vegetation control, he added.

The recent development of selective phytocides has furnished tools to use in vegetation control over large areas of non-cultivated range and timberlands. Aerial applicators are important in the development and use of these new tools in agriculture, he said.

Dr. McCully pointed out that the concept of vegetation control implies that some plants are more desirable than others in furnishing a monetary return to the farmer, rancher or forester. These undesirable plants have long been known as weeds or brush. Management programs have been directed toward minimizing or overcoming their effects on the production of desirable plants.

According to statistics recently released by the U. S. Office of Education, only about one-third of high school graduates ever enter college and only six out of ten who enter ever get a degree.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Says That Fidel Castro Didn't Fly Into Washington Just To See A Barber!

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek tells what he knows about Fidel Castro this week. He's probably as accurate as he ever is, which is something we never know.

Dear editor: I don't know any more about Fidel Castro than he does about me, but I have been reading about his success in winning a revolution in Cuba and have found that things are working out about like I expected.

I mean, putting down a dictator, so long as it's not just swapping one dictator for another, is a highly commendable piece of work, but in these days, when you win a revolution or win a war, your troubles are just beginning. Sort of like getting married.

I mean, sitting out in the Cuban jungles plotting how to overthrow a dictator is a definite piece of work, and when you finally get him overthrown and he flies off to another country with a few million dollars, and you get through riding in triumph down main street and sit down behind a desk and size up the job ahead, the situation loses a lot of its glamour.

Heading the dictator off at the pass is one thing, but finding the tax money to build the roads the people can drive around on enjoying the freedom you've just given them is another thing. Getting the deed to a piece of land is not the same as paying off the mortgage on it.

Consequently, after Castro had been in office a few months, it didn't surprise me any to see him heading for the United States, and I don't think he was coming over here to see a barber. I don't think he came right out and asked for a loan, but when any government official in the world has a big job on his hands requiring a lot of money and he flies to Washington, you can feel reasonably sure he's not just sight-seeing. Castro, you can be sure, was never kicked in the head by a horse.

What he was doing was proving he wasn't a Communist, as this is the main step these days in getting an international loan. Understand, I have no complaint about the U. S. not lending money to anybody it suspects is a Communist, but all the bankers I know go a few steps further. They're so out of touch with the international situation they not only demand that you not be a Communist, they also check around to see if you're a safe risk. This is what keeps banks sound, but it sure ain't international.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Pastor Winner In Horse Shoe Pitching Match

(By Marvin Burgess)

Dr. Edgar Bloom, chemistry professor of Midwestern University of Wichita Falls, who holds the Wichita Falls city horseshoe championship visited in the home of Rev. and Mrs. Marvin E. Burgess and visited the Gillespie Baptist church Sunday.

The visit was not entirely social. Rev. Burgess holds the horseshoe championship for B Class in the state of Texas, having won that class at Henrietta last August 31st in the state horseshoe pitching tournament. Therefore when we say the visit was not entirely social, it is to say that a friendly rivalry has sprung up between the professor and the pastor.

In last Saturday's tussle of ten games of fifty points, Munday's representative came off best with seven of the games. Now Pastor Burgess has an urgent invitation to come to Wichita Falls for a visit at his earliest convenience.

It is possible that the state horseshoe tournament might be brought to Munday if enough interest were shown in it here. Prize money and courts would have to be provided by the city in which it is held.

Water Heating Contest By Gulfthane Distributor Draws Local Interest

$50 in groceries awaits family that figures margin by which gas will beat electricity

TULSA — In a unique "show-down test" supervised by famous U. S. Testing Laboratories here, two water heaters — one gas, and one electric — are about to run 24 hours a day delivering 160-degree hot water for one full month, to see which of the two water heaters will deliver the most hot water.

When the final result of the test is certified by U. S. Testing Laboratories, it will cause some rejoicing to a family in Munday, because it will mean they've won $50 in groceries, because of an unusual contest run by J. H. Kane, local distributor of Gulfthane.

As far as is known, the two major kinds of home water heaters have never been operated side by side in an impartially-conducted test of this type to see just exactly what each can do. During this month, local people are invited by Mr. Kane to look over the facts about the test, figure out which of the two will deliver the most hot water, and estimate that the LP-gas water heater will beat the electric by so many gallons.

"The Gulfthane-fueled water heater will beat the electric by a good country mile", says Mr. Kane, "the only question is how many gallons the gas water heater will deliver than the electric — and that's where the contest comes in. You just read the ad in this paper — or — better yet — come in and pick up an entry blank that gives you all the information you need. Write down one figure, and there you are. Nothing to buy, and nothing to write. Somebody within a few miles of here is going to win, and it could be anybody."

In most kinds of contests, some human judges pick the winners. In this case, the winner will be picked not by a human being but by two water heaters!

Applications For Highway Patrolmen To Close May 11th

AUSTIN — The Texas Department of Public Safety today urged young men interested in becoming patrolmen to make sure they have their applications filed by the deadline of May 11.

Colonel Homer Garrison, Jr., Director, announced that competitive examinations will be given on a State-wide basis May 19, 20, and 21 to fill approximately 75 vacancies in the patrol.

"This is an opportunity for young men between the ages of 21 and 35 to become a part of one of the most respected organizations of its kind in the Nation and at the same time to occupy an essential position in our society," he said.

"We are searching for qualified young men who want a lifetime career with prestige and security for themselves and their families. Applicants who make the grade will emerge from the 14-weeks of training at the State Law Enforcement Academy in Austin as commissioned patrolmen."
