Odd Bits Salvaged
By The Editor

How long is a minute?

k-k

Naturally, you'd say right off that minute is only 60 seconds. But that all depends.

k-k

Like, for instance you ask someone to do something for you and they reply: "In a minute," there isn't much telling how long it will be.

k-k

One time a little boy requested something of his mother, and she replied: "In a minute, son." After so long a time he asked: "Mother, is this one of those wait-a-minutes?"

k-k

As we entered Childress last Sunday on our return from the Amarillo-Borger area, we asked the Mrs. if she was going to want to drive by her sister's house near Quanah. "Sister wrote last week," she said, "that she hoped we could stop on our way back home—if only for a minute."

k-k

So we drove by for a minute. A niece and family lived some three miles farther on, and on our way home. She had left word with her mother that we'd better stop by her house—if just for a minute. Since we hadn't been in the area since Christmas, we complied with this request, also.

k-k

Checking our watch as we resumed our homeward journey, we found that we had lost an hour and a half in making those two little "just for a minute" stops. So sometimes a minute is longer than so many tiny ticks of the watch!

k-k

We took the first phase of our vacation last week end, which consists generally of about three such periods during the year, and hid ourselves up to Amarillo for the Panhandle Press convention. We hit it just right again weatherwise. Had a pretty day going up, but the weather got to cutting up after we'd gained the shelter of the hotel. Saturday morning gave us a variety of weather in Amarillo—snow, sleet, rain, hail and a high wind. By the time our convention was over, though, we only had the stiff northwest wind.

k-k

We got worked into a job as a director in the association for the next two years, as did our friend, Ed Elken of the Quanah Tribune-Chief. We had two good friends, we thought, on the nominating committee—Deskins Wells of the Wellington Leader and Bill Klepper of the Ford County News at Crowell—but we didn't know whether to remain friendly with them or not.

k-k

When election was over at the final meeting at noon Saturday, the officers and directors had a round of posing for pictures for the photographer, after which we stepped onto the elevator to go to our room and prepare to depart. Ross Middleton of the Earth Sun-News, who had just completed his term on the board, entered the elevator and said: "Well, congratulations, Aaron." We grinned kinda silly like and said: "Looks like you're the one to be receiving congratulations—you've just gone off the board."

k-k

We had some post office officials on the program, and the question was raised about what would happen if newspapers failed to print an issue in order for their force to have vacations. These boys thought we might get by with it once in a while but said: "If it's consistent, you'll surely get a letter from the department." The general idea was conveyed that we'd better not toy with the idea too much!

k-k

The talk at the convention was pretty well unanimous about how lousy business has been in 1961. Even though, some person was passing out lapel buttons which said: "Business is good," and most of the editors were wearing them!

k-k

Most of the editors said crop conditions were extremely good all over "the golden spread," but from a roadside view while travelling, they were no better than right here on the Knox Prairie. In fact, our grain crops are prettier because of the fact that they're more advanced.

Mr. Salem announced that the fixtures of the Fair Store will be for sale. This includes all shelving, show cases, tables, air conditioners, a large safe and other items.

The students entered the church in procession, carrying candles, while the choir sang hymns. Rev. Anthony Schroeder officiated at the ceremony.

Members of the class are: Stephanie Fernandes, Patricia Ann Zeisel, Shirley Fettsch, Linda Zeisel, Jessie Ayala, John Jungman and John Davila.

DEDICATION—of the new First Baptist Church building in Knox City will be held on Sunday, April 16, it was announced here on Wednesday, with three services being held during the day.

Rev. Billy Frazier, former pastor at Knox City and now pastor of the First Baptist Church in Idalou, will preach the regular morning message at 10 a.m. Rev. Frazier served the Knox City church from 1955 to 1958.

Rev. L. L. Trott, district missions secretary of District 17, will bring the special dedication service at 2:30 in the afternoon. At the regular evening service at 7:30 o'clock, Rev. Claude Stovall of Abernathy, a former Knox City pastor and now retired, will bring the message.

The new sanctuary is a 126x52 foot building which will seat 560 people. It consists of the auditorium, office, study, rest rooms and assembly with six class rooms. It also has year around air conditioning latest lighting equipment and public address system.

Of brick and tile construction, it was built at a cost of approximately $100,000.

Goree Telephone Customers Will Be Using New Dialing System On May 6th

Goree telephone customers will be using a new numbering system beginning May 6, the date set for distribution of General Telephone Company of the Southwest's 1961 directory.

Known as the All Numerical Calling Plan (ANC), each telephone number will be composed of seven digits. F. A. Robinette, district manager, explained that the new system will replace the more familiar two letter-five number (2L5N) system inaugurated when the telephone industry first launched its long-range program to permit operators and/or customers to dial direct from one city to another.

The present Goree prefix is HE6. Under the new ANC plan the "HE6" will be replaced by 436.

Robinette pointed out that the 2L5N system is being replaced as rapidly as possible in order that all number combinations appearing on the telephone dial can be utilized.

"The old 2L5N system requires as prefix such as TUexdo or POrter," Robinette stated, "however, because no words in the English language begin with WX or WY or JK or JL, telephone numbers beginning with 99 or 55 could not be utilized, thereby limiting number assignments."

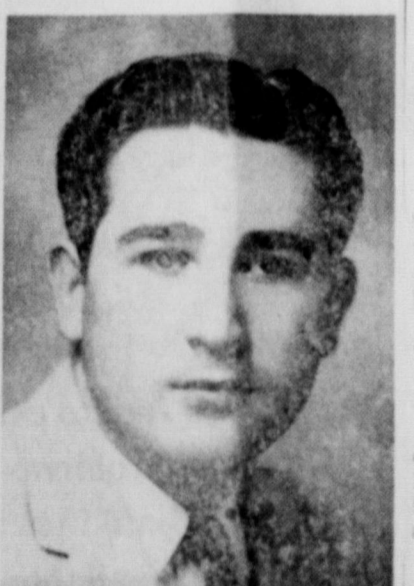

As the number of customers being assigned 2L5N numbers throughout the nation increased, the necessity of using all possible number combinations on the dial also increased.

"In some areas," Robinette said, "we are running out of possible letter prefixes."

As a result of this realization, a study was undertaken in Wichita Falls, Texas, to determine whether assigning seven digit telephone numbers proved satisfactory to customers and operators. Conclusion of the extensive study was that the ANC plan not only was satisfactory, but even eliminated some previous dialing errors resulting from confusion between the numeral "1" and the letter "I" and the numeral "zero" and the letter "O".

Robinette emphasized that the new numbers represented a "paper-work" change in most instances, since the old "HE6" prefix and the new "436" numbers require identical pulls of the dial.

STOP DOWNGRADING OUR SCHOOLS

Supporters of federal intervention in public school education are downgrading the achievements of American teachers, school boards, and communities in building the finest education system the world has ever known.

That is the view of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. It supports it by pointing out that there are more classrooms, more teachers, a lower pupil-teacher ratio, lower pupil-classroom ratio, and a higher level of education in this country than ever before in history.

Statistically, the story goes like this: In the last 10 years the number of public school pupils increased 48 per cent, while the number of classrooms jumped 60 per cent and the number of teachers 51 per cent. Teacher's salaries rose 72 per cent, to an average of $5,389 a year. Money spent per pupil boomed from $244 a year to $390.

On top of that, American communities approved the highest volume of school bond issues in history during 1960.

All this has been done without federal intervention, federal dictation—or the federal control that would inevitably follow federal subsidy of local schools.

FLY KITES SAFELY!

The summer will come soon and with it kite-flying season. So some "flight instructions" issued by Central Louisiana Electric Co., Inc. to "kid kite pilots" who will soon be racing across fields towing their "paper aircraft" into "the wild blue yonder" are very much in point now.

1. Don't fly a kite with metal in the frame or tail!
2. Don't use tinsel-string wire, or any twine with metal in it!
3. Don't fly a kite in the rain!
4. Don't pull on the string or climb a power pole to loosen a snagged kite!
5. Don't fly a kite over TV or radio aerials!
6. Don't fly a kite near electric or power lines!
7. Don't run across streets or highways while flying kites!
8. Don't touch fallen electric wires!

ALL IS NOT WELL

It would seem that not all is well within the vast Communist empire, despite the claims of enormous progress that come periodically from Moscow and Peking. One of the greatest problems, it has become obvious, lies in the food supply.

The other day the premier of the Ukraine, the great grain-producing area known as the Soviet's bread basket, was given the sack for failure to produce. Two other top officials were given one more chance—on an "or else" basis.

Both the Soviet Union and Red China, columnist Robert S. Allen reports, have been frenziedly buying food from other countries. To obtain foreign exchange, Russia has sold big blocks of her precious gold supply on the London free market. In China, the food shortage is apparently still graver, with famine and starvation rampant in some areas. The crisis is due in part to the vagaries of weather—but in addition, says Mr. Allen, there has been "widespread mismanagement and bungling, and extensive pilfering and sabotage."

Communism, according to its leaders, offers the only way to produce the abundant life for the masses of people, and capitalism is doomed to fall before it. But it doesn't seem able to do much of a job of feeding hungry stomachs.

MYRTLE CREEK, ORE., MAIL: "The extension of the 'helping hand' of state funds to those in difficulty not of their own choosing is certainly most praiseworthy. And we should not wish it otherwise for those who have suffered ill fortune. But it should be made neither so comfortable nor so continuous that the recipients should wish to wallow in it. Assistance in time of need is one thing. Continuous support of the lazy and the indigent is another. And those who deliberately prey upon the public coffers, one way or another, need to be discouraged."

CLARISSA, MINN., INDEPENDENT: "We believe the education of our children should remain in our hands and not be placed in some far-off bureau in Washington, where standardization is the watch-word and dictation of what, and how to teach would be the inevitable result."

BRIDGEWATER, S. D., TRIBUNE: "We get a sinking feeling in our stomachs as we read that in a survey among high school students on the question 'Who contributes most toward improved living standards—business, government, or union leaders?'—business ran a poor third."

Chips From The Carpenter's Workbench

By JAMES HALLMARK

Toward the close of the eighteenth century several godly men here in America became disturbed and disgusted with the divergent creeds, names, doctrines and practices of Protestantism. Men like James O'Kelly, Dr. Abner Jones, Barton W. Stone, Thomas and Alexander Campbell refused to believe that the only religious choice that man could make was between Protestantism and Catholicism. It was their purpose to restore Christianity as it existed in the first century, not to reform any existing religious body.

Setting aside the creeds and opinions of man, these men accepted the unqualified example as set forth within the pages of God's inspired New Testament. They were of the opinion that honest, intelligent men could learn from the word of God how the church of the first century worshipped; what it taught; what it practiced; and then duplicate it in this day and age. Members of the churches of Christ are sincerely attempting to restore the church which Christ established in A.D. 33. We encourage you to investigate what the churches of Christ believe and practice.

In order for one to know whether or not a church has been restored, one must measure it by the divine standard, God's Word. If it does not fit the Divine Blueprint, then it is not the New Testament church. Our sincere prayer is that each person will examine his religious belief and practice, to find if it corresponds perfectly to the Bible. If it does not, then may all of us have the courage to change and become a member of the Lord's church as it is revealed in the Bible.

Hawks Help Control Rodents For Farmer

Of all the predacious birds, the hawk family is the most persecuted and the least understood, according to Jerome Kasten in his article, "Hawk, Friend or Foe?" in the April issue of TEXAS GAME AND FISH magazine. This includes hawks, kites, harriers, and eagles.

The good these birds do far outweighs the bad. For instance, the major part of a kite's diet reads like the role of the scourge of the land (beetles, moths, locusts, dragonflies, crickets, wasps, caterpillars, and other insects). Farmers would have a greater appreciation for these birds if they knew of this diet, writes the author. "No excuse can be made for the extermination of kites. They are harmless, helpful, and easily recognizable. Yet, their numbers are ever diminishing in the state."

Kasten's article is taken from a study he made in Texas. His findings reveal some interesting facts about the hawk family. For instance, the farmer who is lucky enough to have an osprey or two nesting on his land need never worry about other hawks. The osprey never eats poultry and makes a habit of keeping other hawks well away from its nesting grounds. And the sparrow hawk is almost exclusively insectivorous—and therefore a benefactor to the farmer.

"One bad act, such as a hawk making off with a chicken," writes Kasten, "causes many persons to conclude that all hawks should be killed. They fail to consider that this same hawk may catch field mice as well. A reduction in the number of hawks will certainly remove one effective check on rodents."

Attends Conference For Farm Bureau

Homer A. Martin of Gilliland, president of the Knox County Farm Bureau, attended first called "Special President's Conference" in Waco on April 3rd. Mr. Martin stated that it was indeed an inspiration, particularly in view of the very short notice.

What was more impressive, however, was the prevailing spirit of those in attendance that gave no indication that the signs of the time was cause for gloom and brooding, but rather presented a challenge and opportunity for even greater achievement in unity and strength in Farm Bureau. Thus, it was only necessary to provide ammunition in the form of information and suggestions to assure the success of the conference.

Dollars And Sense

By Mrs. S. C. Kinsey, Knox County H. D. Agent

Most families are worried from payday to payday. Financial difficulties may be due to one or more of the following reasons:

Over estimating family income; underestimated expenditures; no long-term plans or family goals; irregular or uncertain income; too many fixed obligations; not enough family participation in management; arguing over who should be the manager; differences in attitudes toward values; What is really most important among things from which you have to choose to spend? Poor buymanship; interest-eating debts.

Analyze your situation to discover what may be your difficulty and then set out to do something to correct the situation.

T/Sgt. Glen Ray Morrow, of Dover, Del., was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Stubblefield on Wednesday of last week.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Claims Government Is Not Making It Very Easy To Shirk Your Responsibilities

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek lets the world problems slide this week and discusses responsibility, about which he wouldn't be classified as an expert.

Dear Editor:
A successful business man stopped by this Johnson grass farm out here the other day and looked the place over and shook his head and propped his foot on an old cultivator wheel grown up in weeds in the corner of a fence and without being asked by me said, "Now I'll tell you, what you need out here is some serious planning. You got to plan your work to get a place like this organized and straightened out." I thanked him and said I'd see what I could do about it, without adding that I was way ahead of him and what I already saw was that I wasn't going to do anything about it.

I wouldn't say this place suits me exactly like it is, but on the other hand the amount of work it'd take to change it wouldn't suit me either. I figure if I'm going to be dissatisfied a little, I'd rather be dissatisfied comfortable than worn-out.

As a matter of fact, I have found out long ago if I did everything I planned to do, I never would have time to do the things I don't plan, and frequently they're more fun.

In this connection, I was reading a criticism of the government the other night and this man was saying the government is trying to do too much for people. "The government," he said, "is making the shirking of responsibility easy."

I'd just like to say this is one more case of unwarranted criticism of our government. I've got more faith in the individual, and anybody who has to rely on the government to help him shirk his responsibilities, just doesn't know the first thing about shirking. He's not half trying.

Why the ability to shirk your responsibility hasn't got anything to do with the government. People were shirking their responsibilities back in the days when the government did practically nothing, when it didn't even build highways and it was every farmer's job to keep the road up in front of his house and people were always getting stuck in front of mine. This idea that the government can make it easy for you to shirk your responsibilities is just another half-baked dream. Nobody can make it easy for you, it's hard, but if you have the strength of character, you can do it.

J. A.
