Odd Bits Salvaged By The Editor

We never did go in very much for special days — weeks or months, either for that matter.

Seems like half the weeks or months have special significance — like National Thrift Week, June is Dairy month, etc., but we're not going to eat any more dairy products during June than any other time.

Take straw hat day, for instance. We read just recently where June 30, we believe, was straw hat day. We don't think three's such a day nationally. We tell our dry goods merchants that straw hat day is any day they wish to get and want to plug their straw hat sales.

Straw hat day for us is that day when our old felt becomes uncomfortably warm. That happened to be last Thursday! We dug out our bargain straw which was purchased at the close of the season last year, and discarded our old felt.

We doubt if there's a designated sport shirt day, either. But there is for us. It's the day when a short sleeved sport shirt becomes more comfortable than any other kind.

Mrs. M. L. Barnard asked us some time ago: "When are you and Doc going to come out with your short sleeves and leave your shirt tail out?" We explained that we'd already tried it one day, but a norther and cool front blew in late that afternoon—and now we're trying to forestall any more cold spells. People with gardens were opposed to them.

We settled this question last week, too. If it's going to get summer time in April, we're going to dress the part!

This conversation went on at our breakfast table just last week. "If we keep watering the lawn and flower beds, and start running our air conditioner in April," the Mrs. says, "it's going to be a pretty expensive program." The morning coffee had made us pop out in a sweat, anyway, so we replied: "Just one more day like yesterday and our air conditioner is going to get turned on." The expensive program has started.

Some special days we've observed rather religiously. Mother's Day is a day which we all kinda cater to. We like to honor our mothers on this special day so long as they're with us. When they've departed, it's still kinda nice to honor the memory of a very wonderful Mother.

Father's Day, too, has become a kinda special day with all of us—for a kindred reason.

But even San Jacinto Day didn't have the meaning for us as for those who were able to take a holiday. While observing the day last Friday, a Knox City man reportedly remarked: "I sure do like old Sam Houston. He whipped the daylight out of that Mexican!"

We have a hard time remembering the special Flag days—those days, such as national holidays, when we're supposed to have "Old Glory" flying in the breeze. We reckon we fail to unfold our flag on at least half of these special occasions. At times, we've glanced over town on those days and noticed 90 per cent of our merchants come in this same category. We just don't display our flag often enough.

Seymour has always observed "Fish Day" on May 1. Of course this all started, we've been told, when the fishing season officially opened on that day. The town has just kept it up and declared a holiday on that day.

According to our way of doing, this is quite foolish. Fish Day to us is that day when we're able to assemble our fishing gear and hike off to the lake, tank or pond in the fond hope that they're biting today. The day of month don't make any difference.

Fish don't always cooperate with us on our fish days. They've been known to be uncooperative on May 1, too. But when we get out some place holding a tight line or watching a cork bobble, the troubles of a work-day world seem to vanish. Special days seem to kinda serve that purpose, too.

Haskell To Host Tri-County Golf

The Haskell County Golf Association is host this year for the annual Tri-County Invitational to be held May 5, 6, 7 at Haskell.

This tournament is an annual affair held by Munday, Seymour and Haskell. Since last year Throckmorton has joined the association, thus 4 counties now as host.

For a number of years, Haskell was without a golf course, but 3 years ago, a group of golf enthusiasts and citizens of Haskell formed the Haskell County Golf Association. A site was purchased, the course laid out and built under the supervision of Morgan Hampton, Golf Professional at the Abilene Country Club. Today, the course boasts the finest Bent Grass greens in West Texas.

The entrants may qualify anytime during the week of 30 April-5 May, or by calling in score to co-tournament directors: R. C. Couch, Jr. and Lloyd Feemster, Phones 864-3272 and 854-2212. However, players must qualify on the course for the championship flight on Friday, May 5 which will become a part of the 54 hole medal play. The balance to be played on May 6 and 7, 18 holes respectively. The other flights will be match play beginning on Saturday, May 6 and 7th.

There will be a $10.00 entrance fee with a barbecue at 7:30, Friday, May 5 for entrants, wives and anyone else desiring some good Underwood's Barbecue with all the trimmings.

The club is offering over $1,000.00 in prizes to the winners, runner-up and consolation winner of all flights. There will be other prizes for a long-driving contest, pitching and putting contest.

Due to the problem of overloading a 9 hole course, the number of entrants will be limited to 96, so a first come-first served policy has been established.

State Water Board Sets Tuesday, May 30 For Hearing On Miller Creek Permit

Announcement was made last week that the State Board of Water Engineers has set Tuesday, May 30, as the date for a hearing on an application of the North Central Texas Municipal Water Authority for a permit to appropriate water from Miller Creek in Baylor County by building a dam and reservoir.

The hearing will be held at the office of the state water agency in Austin, beginning at 10 a.m. on May 30.

Application for the permit, filed by R. W. Herren, NCTMWA president, asks for appropriation of 6,050 acre feet of water annually, by impounding 25,520 acre feet of which 3,500 feet would be for municipal use, and 1,500 feet for mining use.

Location of the dam and reservoir would be approximately 9.5 miles southeast of Goree. Granting of the water appropriation is the final phase of the project before purchase of land can be consummated and construction work started on building the dam and reservoir.

Although opposition to granting the permit is expected from South Texas water users, who generally oppose all applications for upstream water, NCTMWA officials do not believe there is any likelihood of the permit being denied.

POLITICAL PROMISES LIKE PIE CRUST

The petroleum industry has urged Congress to make good on a 1959 promise that the federal tax on gasoline will revert to three cents on July 1. Political promises for tax reduction or economy are like pie crust—easily broken. The drive is already on to ignore the July 1 date for ending the latest "emergency" gas tax, and further increasing it.

In the first four years of the new highway program, the federal government collected more than $14 billion in special taxes from highway users.

The total tax on gasoline—state and federal—is now equal to a sales tax of 48 per cent of the retail price. No similarly necessary product in the whole country is taxed at a rate even approaching that.

From 1950 to the end of 1960 the national average retail price of gasoline, excluding tax, increased by only 4 1/2 per cent in 55 representative cities. In the same period, the retail consumer price index went up by nearly 23 per cent. In the same period the national average tax on a gallon of gasoline increased by 52 per cent.

If the people calmly accept what amounts to a 50 per cent tax on one necessity, how long will it be before the politicians pick out another necessity for similar taxation by the "emergency" dodge which means permanent—witness the telephone and transportation taxes some 15 years after the emergency ended.

TIDAL WAVE OF CRIME

"There is little chance that the dikes of decency and morality in America can long withstand the surging tidal wave of crime threatening our Nation unless every citizen, just as in flood-menaced communities, is willing to pitch in to help stem the tide."

The words are those of an outstanding authority on the subject of crime—J. Edgar Hoover, Director of the FBI. He supports his statement with some grim statistics. Serious crime reached its all-time high last year, showing a rise of 12 per cent above 1959. And in the FBI's vast fingerprint files there are, at any one time, some 90,000 cards which bear small, red tabs. These tabs mean that the owners of the fingerprints are wanted by some law enforcement agency in connection with crimes. In other words, they mean that 90,000 fugitives from justice are walking in our midst.

The law enforcement ranks are thin, and they cannot do the job alone. In Mr. Hoover's words, "A solid front of citizens behind the law enforcement officers who stands face to face with the criminal is the prerequisite for turning back the forces." Defense—whether against enemies without or criminals within—demands the active support of us all.

LONG ARM

Another income tax time has come and gone. And millions of us feel a sad flatness in the pocketbook.

Once the income tax was a rich man's tax—people of small and moderate earnings paid little or nothing. But now, as Citizens Public Expenditure Survey observes, "the long arm of the Internal Revenue Service reaches out to nearly everybody."

Here's the cold statistical story: Of the total federal tax, people who earn under $5,000 a year pay 21 per cent. The $5,000-$10,000 group pays 39 per cent. The $10,000-$15,000 earners pay 11 per cent. The $15,000-$50,000 people pay 17 per cent. And the real big income group—$50,000 and over—pays only 12 per cent.

This isn't because the rich are favored—income tax rates reach a top bracket of 91 per cent. It simply reflects the fact that there are not enough wealthy people to foot the bill for government—but there are millions of individuals in the modest income brackets. So, inevitably, the latter must pay the great bulk of government costs. And they, collectively, would gain the most from reductions in non-essential governmental spending.

HARTLAND, WISC., REPORTER: "There has been a great deal of talk that the new administration may well be advised to make some temporary tax cuts as one means of getting the economy 'moving' again. . . . The dissident thought occurs: Is this what taxes are for? Are they meant to provide the necessary costs of government, or are they intended to be a magic wand that will change or cure, speed or retard our economic and social enterprises? A tax cut, even though temporary, would of course be welcome. But it would be far sounder and more beneficial if it reflected a reduction in government expenditures."

Chips From The Carpenter's Workbench

By JAMES HALLMARK

God does not always look upon a practice in the same manner as man. Take for instance the drunkard. To most men he is a source of amusement. However, God looks upon the problem in an entirely different light. "Wine is a mocker, strong drink is raging; and whosoever is deceived thereby is not wise." (Proverbs 20:1).

Some men think that it is smart to drink. God says, "Wine and new wine take away the understanding." (Hos. 4:11). Drink takes away reason, shatters the nerves, and causes the loss of will-power and self-respect.

Heartbroken wives and children find little amusement in seeing the life of their loved one ruined. The effect upon the family is nothing to laugh about. "The drunkard and the glutton shall come to poverty." (Proverbs 23:21). His family accompanies him on this tragic journey.

God says that drunkenness is a work of the flesh and "that they which do such shall not inherit the kingdom of God." (Gal. 5:19-20). Shall we laugh at the drunkard, or should we feel genuine pity for his sad state?

The drunkard usually sacrifices his home on earth and in eternity. Let us look upon drunkenness as God does, then perhaps we will be more earnest about dealing with the problem.

Good Management Needed To Reduce Cotton Root Rot

Cotton losses due to root rot can be reduced, But, points out Harlan Smith, extension plant pathologist, plans must be made and carried out over a period of years to be most effective.

A combination of practices carried on for a number of years is necessary for best results. These include the growing of resistant crops in rotation; turning under a large tonnage of organic matter prior to the growing of cotton crop and deep plowing during June, July and August of infected land.

Smith advises that none of these practices can be counted on for effective control when used alone. Crop rotation is of little value if susceptible weeds are permitted to grow in resistant crops. Turned under organic matter needs to be decaying at its maximum during the early flowering stage of the cotton to be most effective. Rains immediately following the deep plowing will cancel out the expected benefits from this practice. Therefore, adds Smith, the combination of practices is best.

Producing early cotton will, in most instances, help the plants escape root rot damage. The control of cotton seedling diseases, he says, will help get the plants off to a fast start and aid in setting the early crop.

Smith suggests to cotton producers in the areas of the state where root rot is a problem that they visit the local county agent and discuss with him a long-time control program. Also that they pick up a copy of MP-361, "Root Rot Losses Can Be Reduced."

Life is becoming too standardized. People are getting stereotyped. We don't have "characters" anymore, except in small towns—and, pretty soon, we won't have any small towns.

Now when I was a boy, there were roaming ex-convicts who lectured on prison atrocities; human flies who climbed buildings with no aid except their hands and feet; and, every now and then, there would be a visitor who was hard to classify.

One such individual came into town in a buggy drawn by a big shaggy horse; and, trailing on a rope, was the sleekest, silkiest racing mare you ever saw.

"Doc" Martin (that turned out to be the stranger's name) hadn't been in town any time at all before the sports were badgering him for a race with "Red" Traylor's big bay. The visitor seemed reluctant but, when mention was made of a $100 bet, his eyes brightened and he said, "All right—in a couple of days."

There was a half-mile track out at the grove and quite a crowd was there for the race, which was to be 400 yards. Each owner rode his own horse. Martin's mare won by a length but the bay was gaining. Everybody had been pulling for the local entry and there was clamor for another race—and over a longer distance.

"Doc" didn't say "Yes" and he didn't say "No"—in fact, he didn't say anything. They kept after him for two days, though, and finally he said, "I'll run my horse against Mr. Traylor's next Saturday—half a mile, but the bet this time will have to be $500." This was a rather sizeable amount but Traylor put up $200 and other sportsmen provided the rest.

The approaching race was the talk of the town and there must have been close to 500 people at the track. It was almost 2 o'clock start, and only Traylor and his bay had put in their appearance.

Then "Doc" rode up—only he was on that shaggy plowhorse that had been hitched to the buggy. There was a general laugh.

It was well that the crowd laughed before the race for that uncouth creature made a runaway of it. There was some haggling to the effect that the mare was supposed to have run but Martin declared, "The only stipulation was that my horse was to run—and he is my horse and he sure did run."

So he collected and departed—to "take" the sports in some other town. The world no longer has such a figure as "Doc" Martin, wearing a slouch hat and a shapeless blue serge suit with grease spots, with his buggy and his sleek, silky racing mare and an old clothopper of a horse that was a disguised thoroughbred.

And so our lives are duller.

Farm Facts

Usually when we think of the farmer it is as a supplier of food and fiber. This, however, is only one aspect of his importance in the economic scheme of things. While he is a consumer and a purchaser of nearly all the goods and services his urban neighbors buy, he provides a major market, furthermore, for many additional items.

It is estimated that farmers spend more than $25 billion annually for labor and supplies, providing employment for millions of people on and off the farm. Expenditures for feed, livestock, seed, fertilizer and lime, repairs and operation of capital items, and for miscellaneous necessities amount to more than $16 billion a year.

Farmers pay out nearly $3 billion a year in wages. Repair and maintenance bills on buildings, vehicles, and machinery amount to nearly $4 billion. This includes expenditures for gasoline, petroleum fuel and oil—about $1.5 billion.

For new construction and

FOOD COST COMPARISONS

While the most frequent public complaint about rising living costs concerns food, the fact is that rent, medical care and transportation have gone up twice as much as food during the past ten years.

This is a point frequently emphasized by Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman during his brief term in office, and it is apparent he wants to have it repeated again and again.

For understanding of the farm problem, says the secretary, "I am convinced that success depends in no small measure" on how well the message can be carried to the non-farm public.

"Evidences of this need for greater understanding abound," he has pointed out. "Only recently a Gallup Poll revealed that the most frequent complaint on the part of the general public was concerned about the increased cost of food; yet the fact is that costs of rent, medical care and transportation have increased twice as much as that of food during the past ten years.

"The relatively slight rise in food costs has been one of the principal non-inflationary aspects in recent years. If the prices received by farmers had increased in proportion to other prices, and if such increase had been passed on to consumers, Americans would pay billions of dollars more each year for food and clothing. And thus, in a very real sense all American consumers have gained, at the expense of the American farmer.

"But there is so little general public understanding of these facts that we must, in effect, become salesmen for American agriculture. We must develop a recognition on the part of the general public of the contributions made by agriculture to the high standards of living we enjoy—and a public understanding of the importance of a sound farm program, not only to farmers, but to all Americans.

"As long as two thirds of the people of the world are hungry, the problem of our agricultural surplus is a world problem as well as a problem of our farm states. As long as millions of Americans lack adequate standards of nutrition in their diets

Texas Longhorn Cavern, in the beautiful Highland Lakes area, is centrally located in the state just 50 miles northwest of Austin and can be reached over excellent highways from any direction. Its variety of colorful and unusual formations, miles of tunnels to explore, and comfortable year 'round temperature of 64° make it one of Texas' favorite tourist attractions.

the problem of stored foodstuffs is more than one of the storage costs to taxpayers and price supports to farmers—it is an integral part of our effort to improve consumption and distribution.

"As long as competent and efficient farmers, utilizing the modern methods and scientific advances that have made American agriculture outstandingly successful, are unable to earn a fair return for their capital and labor, we can have no sound and permanent health in our economy."

markings. "While we can't be sure just how many of our traffic accidents are a result of disregard for traffic signs and signals," Musick said, "we do know there's a close relationship between traffic violations and traffic accidents."

Some of the more common violations that cause traffic accidents: Exceeding the posted speed limit, improper passing, failure to keep to the right of the center line, failure to yield right-of-way, and disregarding stop and warning signs.

"Traffic signs," he said, "are designed to protect you against accidents. But unless you heed them faithfully, they are of little value."

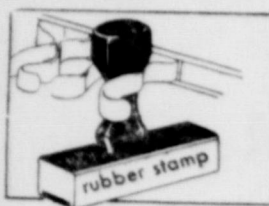

He said several studies of motorists' behavior at traffic signs shows an alarming laxity in consistently obeying traffic signs—particularly stop signs. He said the major purpose of the current Signs of Life program is to cut down on the number of traffic accidents by convincing motorists and pedestrians of the need for observing traffic signs and signals.

"Signs of Life," he said, "are meant for your protection. Heeding them can save your life, or prevent you from serious injuries."

Knox Prairie Philosopher Advises Big Cities That Their Problems Won't End When They Get A New Department

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek lets international problems slide this week and discusses city affairs.

J. A.

Dear editor:
According to a news article I found squeezed in between news about all the whooping and hollering and threatening to shoot now going on in the world, President Kennedy, in between international crises, has asked Congress to create a new department of Urban Affairs, with cabinet rank.

Its purpose is to help cities deal with their growing problems, it was announced, sort of like the Department of Agriculture has been helping us farmers for years.

As I understand it, big cities are all in favor of this new department, but I would like to give them just one word of advice, with the understanding of course that when somebody offers one word of advice it's usually a lot of words.

Now it's true that cities have a lot of problems and they're growing more numerous and probably worse all the time and certainly something ought to be done about it and if Dallas and New York can't handle their problems, it seems natural, if unplanned by the founding fathers, for them to turn to Washington.

But here's what I was thinking these big cities shouldn't get their hopes up too high. I mean, after they get a Department of Urban Affairs set up and going strong, they shouldn't give a sigh of relief and figure they've got smooth sailing.

The Department of Agriculture has been working on us farmers' problems for years and so far we've managed to stay at least fifteen problems ahead. I don't know where we'd be without the Department of Agriculture, no doubt in much worse shape except for one or two periods in there, but as a man from a group with some experience.

Jimmy Lee of Texas University in Austin spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Travis Lee.

your work arranged at 45 to 70 degrees from the horizontal. Tilt-top desks or book easels are best for children because reading material can be kept at the most comfortable eye focus.

Read in bed if you like, so long as you obey the rules of good lighting and good posture. Never read in sunlight, even when your book is shaded.

Watching television won't hurt your eyes provided the picture is clear and steady and there is enough light in the room to prevent too great a contrast with the screen. Don't sit off center when watching TV and don't sit too close.

Protect your eyes from long exposures to sunlight, but don't wear sunglasses merely to be Hollywoodish. Never wear them at night, especially while driving. They reduce your vision to the point where you cannot distinguish dark objects.

Close work calls for eye muscles to work overtime. You can give them the rest they need by closing them for a moment from time to time as you read or do close work. Looking off into the distance occasionally will help. Persistent eye fatigue may indicate you need an eye examination, in spite of having good distance vision.

Notes From Knox Farms, Ranches

By Jack Moore, Knox County Agent

4-H Rifle Contest

The Knox County 4-H members will be competing this Saturday for the right to represent Knox County in the District rifle contest that will be held in connection with the other district contests in Wichita Falls May 6 on the campus of Mid-Western University.

The County contest will be held starting at 10:00 a.m. on the League ranch near Rhineland. The range is located on the north side of the Brazos river east of the highway.

There will be two divisions in the county contest, namely the junior which are those 4-H members that were not 13 years old on January 1, 1961 and the senior division for those that were 13 or older this last January.

The contestants will fire on official 50 foot small boar targets and will fire ten rounds in the four standard positions. The four positions are prone, sitting, kneeling and standing.

Grain Sorghum Demonstrations

Three of the grain sorghum variety demonstrations that are to be conducted in Knox County have been planted. The demonstrations that have been planted so far are the Farm of H. A. Reeves of Gilliland, C. H. Herring of Rhineland and Bobby Partridge of Sunset. The demonstrations will contain a number of varieties that are on the market locally. The demonstrations were designed for the purpose of testing varieties on the Knox County area to see which were varieties that would do good in this area.

The demonstrations will contain RS 610, RS 609, Combine 7078, TE55, TE66, E56a, C45, Ranger and Red Raider A. In addition to these there will be in some of the plots NK 210, NK135 and NK140.

Several of the tests will also have some experimental varieties that are expected to do well and be on the market in the spring of 1962. The demonstrations were set forth in the objectives of the Grain committee of the Program Building Committee.

The Grain Committee is headed by Arnold Navratil and the members are Gaylon Scott, Sam Leaverton, Fuller Shannon, Billy Mitchell and Lester Hickman. The committee pointed out that the results of the demonstrations would only prove what varieties will do well in the Knox County soils in the various communities where tested and that it will take several years before any decision can be made that will give a good answer to the problem of which variety is the best.

Other grain sorghum demonstrations are scheduled for the Benjamin, Knox City and Munday area. There are two forage sorghum variety demonstrations that will be planted in the Benjamin area also.

CEMETERY CLEAN-UP SET AT GILLESPIE

The Gillespie Cemetery Association has set Tuesday, May 2, for clean-up day at the Gillespie cemetery. Anyone having loved ones buried there are asked to meet at 9 a.m. to help make the cemetery more presentable.

Ronnie Skaggs, pastor of the Gillespie Baptist Church, announced that lunch will be served to all the workers by the members of the church. Mrs. Lloyd Sweatt is chairman of the food committee and anyone wishing to furnish a dish for the lunch may contact her.

Fashion Must Fit

BELT AND BUTTONS may seem to be the keynote of this sensationally slim sheath. Yet, the secret of its success is in the beautiful fit. No inch is added where not needed, no curve shown, not wanted. Perfection is assured with a 24" Talon Magic Zip neckline zipper down the back. No question on how to apply it since instructions are in the zipper package and a sewing guide line on each side of the chain. It's Simplicity pattern No. 3874. You simply make it yourself.

111 Arrested For Fishing Violation

This is the time of the year when many fishermen get caught without licenses, according to Capt. E. M. Spratt, director of law enforcement of the Game and Fish Commission.

In the arrest report for the month of March, there were 111 persons who were arrested for fishing without first buying the regular $2.15 license required. This license is required for all persons between the ages of 17 and 65, who fish outside their home county, or who fish with any type of winding device, such as rod and reel, regardless of where they fish. The $2.15 license applies to residents and non-residents alike. It can be bought in practically all sporting goods stores and many other places throughout the State.

Game wardens also arrested 27 night hunters during the same period of time. Although several were arrested for netting violations, no arrests were made during the month for "telephoning" fish. In all, there were 245 arrests which netted fines and court costs of $5,929.40.

The law enforcement director warned that with the approaching summer months, all fishermen should be careful to have their required licenses. While persons over 65 years of age are not required to have a license, there is an exemption certificate available for the asking, and it is good to have one of these in possession because it properly establishes the age when the fisherman is checked by a game warden.
