Odd Bits Salvaged
By The Editor

We reckon a change in administrations is a pretty good thing at that!

k-k

The First Lady is usually a leader in styles, so the Mamie Eisenhower hairdo, or headgear, or dress styles were becoming kinda old for the ladies. Certainly the Eleanor Roosevelt styles must have been practiced too long.

k-k

So, come this spring and Easter, the ladies blossomed out in something different. It was a little dinky hat, some about the size of a big man's fist, that really did something for the ladies. It was the "Jackie Kennedy."

k-k

We believe it is called the "Pillbox," too!

k-k

The woman who lives with us vows we go to church in early spring, and especially at Easter time, not for the spiritual uplift of the pastor's message or songs proclaiming the risen Christ, but to amuse herself by looking at the ladies' headgear.

k-k

So, on occasion of a recent church going, she mentioned some of the hats, many of which resembled a flower garden growing on a knoll. "Yeah," we says in deep amusement, "and Nina went and bought one that's too small. I know that hat doesn't fit." She allowed that this one especially, was a Jackie Kennedy hat.

k-k

And then, she went and betrayed us! She later told the wearer what we said about her hat!

k-k

As we were approaching the church last Sunday, we were stopped in the middle of the street. The object of our earlier amusement was passing in her car. She stopped and said: "I'm wearing my little hat—and it fits, too!" "It certainly doesn't look like it," we said as she drove away.

k-k

We learned later that some others of the male tribe had entertained the same misbelief that we expressed.

k-k

We know of no one who can more becomingly wear the little pillbox as does Nina Pendleton, the lady who laughs with us about our opinion. She knows we're no authority on the subject.

k-k

We're glad, however, that men-folks don't go in so much for copying the male styles of the White House. We couldn't very well keep up with the energetic gait which John F. Kennedy takes when he goes for a stroll. We've heard that he just about wears his protective detectives out before he completes his stroll.

k-k

Too, we rarely ever see the President with a hat on. We can't copy him in that respect for very long at a time. Our old bald pate would blister in nothing flat.

k-k

We'll let him dress like he wants to, and we'll continue with our comfortable styles we've become accustomed to.

k-k

After last Sunday's fun-fest about the hats, we returned home and started thumbing through "This Week's" magazine and found the pillboxes scattered over two pages headed "Fashion Find" and "Pillbox passion." In order to become better informed about the latest fashion that tickled our funnybone, we read the following:

k-k

"Every once in a while, there comes a time when there is one special thing American women can't seem to do without. This year, it's the pillbox hat. Ever since Jackie Kennedy started showing up at every official and unofficial occasion wearing one, hat makers have had trouble keeping up with the demand. They sell them small and large, flat and tall, plain and beflowered or beribboned. Just so long as they've got a pillbox, the ladies are happy.

k-k

"Fortunately, the pillbox is a most flattering hat for most faces. It's a real hat but, because it's so basically simple, it doesn't tend to overwhelm the wearer. Of course, the pillbox has been a favorite style for years, but never has it had such a fling, and never has it been (Continued on Last Page)

Munday Schools Taken Off "Warned List"; More Improvement Is Advised

A report has been received by local school officials from Accreditation Division of Texas Education Agency regarding a recent visit by a committee from that department.

The report states that the instructional program of Munday

High school and the Elementary schools were exceptionally strong, with teachers showing efficiency in creative teaching. The report also lists the improvements made since the committee's last visit.

The Accreditation Division informed Supt. Willis Apple and board members A. A. Smith, Jr., Charles Baker, and Tommy Harper in Austin Tuesday that the school has been removed from the "warned list" and that the report was a memorandum from that office as evidence of that fact. The report also advised that continued improvement be made at the Dunbar school in the Science Department and the library as is practical.

Local school officials were further informed that due to the improved conditions there would be no need for a visit from Accreditation Division next year.

Youth To Preach

Nathan Bussey, above, will be guest speaker at the First Baptist Church next Sunday at both morning and evening services. Rev. Bussey, who is a student at Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in Fort Worth, is an outstanding youth evangelist, having held revivals in Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas. He is a graduate of Oklahoma Baptist University, Shawnee, and has served in various capacities in summer youth camps.

At 3 p.m. Sunday, he will bring the inspirational message at an associational youth rally at the First Baptist Church in Weinert. Young people from each of the 21 churches in Haskell-Knox Association are expected to attend. A good musical program has also been planned for this event.

The public has a cordial invitation to attend all these services.

Dollars And Sense

By Mrs. S. C. Kinsey, Knox County H. D. Agent

Quantity buying may be a saving when buying food.

Lower unit price, a savings on separate delivery charges, and the convenience of fewer shopping trips may make quantity buying worth while.

Be sure that money needed for other purposes is not tied up in a large supply of a single commodity. If quantity buying leads you to "over-buy" in terms of higher quality or greater expense than is appropriate for your use, it may be an extravagance rather than an economy.

Compare the true cost and use value to you of various sizes of the same product. Learn to estimate price per ounce or pound. Usually the larger sizes in food products are relatively less expensive than smaller sizes.

The amount of storage and refrigerator space and the amount of money that you have will help to determine how large a quantity and how many articles you can buy at one time.

Mr. and Mrs. James Roznovsky of Wichita Falls visited her mother, Mrs. Catheryn Kuhler, over the week end.

Heart Attack Claims Life Of Sidney Winchester, Area Farmer, Stockman

Sidney Winchester, 56, prominent area farmer, stockman and land owner, passed away at 2:45 p.m. Monday in a Wichita Falls hospital. He suffered a heart attack early Monday morning and was rushed to the hospital for treatment. Mr. Winchester had suffered a heart condition for several years.

A native of Haskell County, he was born October 12, 1904, the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Winchester, pioneers of this area. He was married to Miss Mamie Humphries of Munday on July 20, 1924. He was a member of the First Baptist Church of Munday.

Mr. Winchester was a farmer and stockman and a breeder of some of the top registered Herefords in the northeast part of Central Texas. He was an extensive land owner, having a large amount of land in Haskell and Knox Counties.

His registered Herefords won trophies and ribbons at the Ft. Worth Fat Stock Show at different times, also taking honors in the Panhandle South Plains Fair, at the Amarillo Tri-State Fair and the Houston Fat Stock Exposition.

A lover of fine horses, he also showed quarterhorses and had won numerous ribbons and trophies at various shows. He was a member of the Haskell County Sheriff's Posse and had ridden in many events over the area. He lived in Haskell County until 1948, when he moved to his farm just west of Munday.

Funeral services were held from the First Baptist Church in Munday at 3 p.m. Wednesday with the pastor, Rev. Robert L. Young, Rev. Grady N. Allison, pastor of Wooster Baptist Church in Baytown, and Rev. Huron A. Polnac, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Rotan, officiating. Revs. Allison and Polnac are former pastors of the Munday church.

Burial was in Johnson Memorial Cemetery under direction of Holden Funeral Home of Haskell. Pallbearers were Eugene Hunter, Myron Baird, Adell Thomas, C. O. Holt and Roy Cook, all of Haskell; Bud Offutt and Dr. W. H. Stewart, both of Munday, and Raymond Liles of Weinert.

Road Work Under Way In County

Paving work on U. S. Highway 82 and preliminaries for additional farm paved roads are being made in Knox County, according to L. A. Parker, county judge.

Paving is to be widened between Benjamin and the Baylor County line. A crew is now working in the vicinity of Vera. The entire stretch will be widened and repaved.

Hot top will be put on a farm road stretch of five or six miles north of Gilliland, which will give access to a new paved route to Seymour through the Waggoner Ranch to Crowell.

Right-of-way has been secured on a farm road to extend from the store just south of the Brazos River bridge, between Benjamin and Knox City, eastward five or six miles to connect with the Rhineland-Munday farm road.

Ladies Night Is Held On Tuesday

Most of the Lions and their ladies gathered at the Munday school cafeteria last Tuesday night for the Munday Lions Club's annual ladies night. The event was conducted similar to a regular meeting of the club, with much merriment, joshing, etc., and the tail twister collecting fines of misdeeds.

Dorse Collins, president was in charge and introduced the present officers and new officers. He also made awards for perfect attendance and securing new members. Collins received the past president's pin from Goodson Sellers, and Ray Snyder, incoming president, was also presented a pin.

Perfect attendance awards were made to E. B. Littlefield, Aaron Edgar, Charles Baker, Dorse Collins, Earl Little, Joe Morrow, Gene Haynie, Paul Pendleton, Ray Snyder and Omar Cure. Haynie and Cure received awards for sponsoring new members.

The program was showing of a newly released film on activities of crippled children at the Texas Lions Camp in Kerrville, one of the Lions major projects.

If everyone co-operates in clean-up week in Munday, May 15-20, plows, hoes, rakes and other tools will be put into use next Monday as the annual clean-up starts.

Clean-up week is sponsored jointly by the City of Munday and the Munday Chamber of Commerce.

The city will put on extra trucks to haul off the extra amounts of trash and tree limbs. Citizens are requested to place their trash in boxes and near the accustomed pick-up spots. Tree limbs should be cut in to lengths of not over six feet, it was stated.

If the pick-up trucks have missed you during next week, you are requested to call the city hall or Chamber of Commerce office, and your trash will be picked up.

Spring clean-up has been going on at most residences, which are in pretty good shape for the summer, but vacant lots, lots around abandoned houses and houses without tenants are in need of attention, it was stated. Several places in the business section also need cleaning up.

Members of the fire department will inspect alleys and other places after next week, checking for fire hazards, officials said.

Another move is to beautify spots in Munday, such as the park around the swimming pool and iris plants are needed for this purpose. A barrel is being placed on the city hall lawn where persons may place their excess iris after transplanting, and they will be set out at these places.

The sponsors urge everyone to co-operate in this clean-up drive in an effort to rid the town of slightly places.

A PITY—BUT TBUE

The following editorial is reprinted from the Warrensburg, Missouri, Star-Journal:

"Americans are a prudent people. Look at the evidence: In a recent poll, 63 per cent of those questioned said the President and Congress should do something about holding down prices and preventing inflation.

"Americans are a good-hearted people. Look at the evidence: In the same poll, 52 per cent of those who answered said they thought the powers that be ought to get busy and provide more medical care for the aged.

"Americans are a generous people who like to see the other fellow get a break. Look at the evidence: In the poll, 48 per cent said Congress and the Chief Executive should boost the minimum wage to $1.25 per hour.

"Americans are people who also like to see themselves get a break. Look at the evidence: The poll turned up 46 per cent who thought the government ought to 'reduce taxes for people like myself.'

"A higher minimum wage—but no price rise and no inflation. More medical care for the aged, more federal aid to education (said 40 per cent), more housing and slum clearance (38 per cent), more spending on national defense (31 per cent) and to cut unemployment (28 per cent)—but still 'balance the budget by cutting government spending' (37 per cent) and, above all, 'reduce taxes for people like myself.'

"Yep, Americans are prudent, good-hearted and generous. But Americans, judging by that poll, also are a people who need a fast lesson or two in arithmetic and the relationship between cause and effect."

Juvenile delinquency or juvenile decency? Few days pass that we do not hear or read about youngsters, often from so-called "good families," getting into trouble. But only rarely is proper tribute paid to the vast majority of young people engaged in constructive activities.

A happy exception is the Kroger-Westinghouse Search for the Junior Cook of the Year. Forty-five girls and five boys, selected from thousands of teenagers who entered recipes in the contest, will compete in the third annual Cook-Off finals May 14, 15, and 16 at Cincinnati.

The dishes they prepare will be judged by a panel of nationally-recognized food and home economics experts. Top award is $5,000 cash and an all-expense-paid trip to Europe for the winner, her mother and her teacher. Two thousand other prizes, worth $100,000, are awarded in 20 Mid-western and Southern states.

The program is designed to inspire teenage interest in creative cooking and better nutrition. It recognizes accomplishments in an important homemaker art and pays tribute to youth achievements. The Search for the Junior Cook of the Year provides valuable incentives for teenagers to become even better homemakers than their mothers.

CLARKSDALE, MISS., PRESS REGISTER: "Pleaders for Federal aid for education have denied long and loud that Federal control is involved. Now that passage seems assured, this pose is being dropped.

"James E. Russell, secretary of the Educational Policies Commission of the National Education Association, writes in The Washington Post:

"Legislation will have to be drafted and passed which will define and assign responsibilities for planning, approving, administering and coordinating educational activities."

EPHRAIM, UTAH, ENTERPRISE: "The Russians have taken to American-style ads.

"So far it's only a drop in the Red economic bucket. It will be a long time—if ever—before the USSR comes close to the USA in this dynamic area.

"For there is no need to advertise when there is little to offer the public. It is very well to brag of a 'People's State', but it is meaningless when the people have no chance to procure the things all humans want and no freedom to select from what is available."

DUBIOUS HONOR

The state of Washington has boosted its gasoline tax from 6½ cents a gallon to 7½ cents. This increase brings the state's total gas tax, including 4 cents federal, up to 11½ cents, thus giving Washington the dubious honor of having the highest gas tax in the nation.

But the other states, generally, are not far behind. No other necessity bears a sales tax even approaching that on gas.

A Present For Thrifty Nephews and Nieces

Chips From The Carpenter's Workbench

By JAMES HALLMARK

The week of May 7-14 has been set aside for the observance of Soil Stewardship Week. Soil stewardship is directly or indirectly the concern and responsibility of every individual in this community.

Conservation has religious significance, as it is through the wise stewardship of our natural resources that we are enabled to provide the physical needs of the world. America, with its abundance, assumes a tremendous responsibility to a needy world. To neglect and abuse the God-given resources that we enjoy is to fail to fulfill our obligation.

Wisdom in soil conservation is our assurance of continued abundance for future generations. Unfortunately, many lack vision and can see only present needs. No thought is given to the productivity of the lands in this area in the future. As this a farming community, the strength of the church is directly related to soil conservation practices. If we abuse our natural resources the effects will be far-reaching.

Since I am not a farmer, I can only appeal to you as a minister of the word of God. Take whatever steps that are necessary to assure the future of this area. Make wise use of that which God has entrusted to your care. The result of your practices, good or bad, will one day pass into the hands of others.

"You shall eat the fruit of the labor of your hands; you shall be happy, and it shall be well with you." (Psalm 128).

Arrow Heads Make Subject For Book

A Texan who has collected more than 40,000 arrow heads in the last 25 years has written a book under the title of "Arrows Over Texas." It is reviewed in the May issue of Texas Game and Fish magazine.

The author is R. S. Reading, mayor of Corsicana. He is a retired public utility executive who started his interesting hobby in El Paso, some 25 years ago. Since then, he and his family have hunted arrow heads and Indian artifacts all over the southwest.

His present collection, numbering approximately 45,000, has been classified and mounted. They occupy a large room in the Navarro Junior College at Corsicana. He presented the collection to the college, and it is studied by students and archaeologists interested in early-day man.

In his book, Mr. Reading describes the various types of points, indicating which were spear arrow heads and which were spear type heads. He also discusses the type of Indian campsites, pottery finds and other facts unearthed in his wide search for the arrow heads.

His collection comes from 91 counties in Texas and also from Oklahoma and New Mexico. It Will Farmers Produce Enough in 1975?

Will U. S. farmers in 1975 be able to provide food, feed, and fiber for a third greater population than today's? Can they meet bigger domestic needs and also provide exports to other nations?

A probable "yes" to both questions was the conclusion reached by two economists, R. O. Rogers and G. T. Barton, in a recent appraisal of our crop production potential. This is just part of a larger study by the USDA to assess the job of agriculture and agricultural research in meeting future needs. Findings indicate the challenge to farmers in 1975 will not be a lack of resources, but how to allocate them to achieve a better balance between production and market demand. This challenge, the economists believe, calls for research on more efficient use of all resources within agriculture and more effective resource adjustment between agriculture and nonfarm sectors of the economy.

To provide a basis for their analysis, the researchers made several assumptions, including: (1) A 1975 population of 230 million; (2) exports near the high

Home-Made Bale Thrower

Farmers with an inventive flair can save some real money by designing and building special tools and equipment during the winter months. That home-made bale thrower you see in the photograph, for example, was dreamed up by John Thor of Litefield, Minnesota five years before any farm machinery manufacturer had one on the market.

The bale thrower saves the work of a three-man loading team on the Thor farm. And notice the hay wagon. Thor designed this low-slung two-wheel carry-all carries 100 bales with ease.

John Thor has built many other money and labor savers in his farm shop—and many of them are featured in a new 16 mm color movie called "Five Tons to the Acre." If you can get together a farm group that would like to see Thor's bale thrower in action (and how he manages to raise five tons of high-quality hay to the acre), the movie can be borrowed free of charge except for return postage by writing the Farm Film Foundation, 1425 H St., N.W., Washington 5, D. C.

level of 1956; (3) an increase of 10 percent in livestock feeding efficiency; and (4) economic and other conditions favorable to adoption by farmers of improved practices and higher farm production.

Total demand for farm products, including a moderate increase in per capita consumption plus exports, was projected at 35 percent greater in 1975 than in 1956-58. The needed increase in livestock (45 percent) would be considerably greater than in crops (25 percent). This is due largely to the tendency for consumption of livestock products to rise with income, to the present crop surpluses, and to the projected increase in livestock-feeding efficiency.

Projections on production included two levels of yield per harvested acre for each major crop: (1) Economic attainable yield, or that likely through greater use of present technology. This yield level takes into account limitations on management, materials, equipment, and capital, as well as past rates of adopting technology. (2) Economic maximum yield, or that which could be attained with full, efficient, and economic application of present technology.

Analysis indicates that economic attainable yields would provide a 20-percent increase in average crop production per harvested acre above 1956-58. This is not enough to meet 1975 demands, and farmers would require an extra 21 million acres (net).

Additional acres would be needed for feed grains (16 million more), hay (5 million), tobacco (1 million), and cotton (5 million). Fewer acres would be needed for food grains (4 million fewer), oil crops (1 million), and pasture feed (1 million). Potatoes, dry beans, and sweet potaatoes would require about the same acreage as in 1956-58.

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by the State Health Department

Texans are rightfully fearful of snakes, but the fact of the matter is more Texans have been dying over the years from the effects of insect bites than have died from snake bites.

During the five-year period from 1956 to 1960, snake bites claimed 13 Texas lives during the same period insects resulted in the deaths of 30 persons.

Last year, 1960, there were 18 total snake and insect-bite deaths in Texas, the largest number since 1944, when there were 23 such deaths.

An interesting coincidence can be found by examining rainfall averages for various years, and then relating them to the number of snake and insect bite deaths.

For instance, 1956 had no deaths from such bites—this was the peak year of the recent drought. The following year, there was a jump to nine insect-bite deaths and one snake-bite death.

Every Texan recalls the spring rains and floods that year. Rainfall has remained fairly average over the past four years providing an increase in undergrowth, shrubs and other insect and snake-harboring conditions.

Early warm springs also add to the numbers of snakes and insects active in the summer and fall.

In a recent national study involving a five-year period, it was found bees, wasps, hornets and yellow jackets killed 86 persons compared with 71 from snake bites and 39 from spiders.

Bees alone took 52 lives when victims were allergic to their poisons.

Best defense against insect and snake bites is to be watchful. Tramping through woods with thick undergrowth can be asking for trouble.

Around the home, look carefully in tall bushes and vines before trimming to make sure there are no insect nests.

When exposed to snake-ridden areas, carry a snake-bite kit. If bitten, be still to keep circulation at a minimum rate while applying snake-bite procedures or waiting for help. The victim should seek medical aid from a physician as soon as possible.

Extension Agent Wins $3,000 National 4-H Fellowship For Graduate Study

CHICAGO—Margie Sellers, 25, county home demonstration agent, Bonham, Texas, and a former 4-H Club member is the recipient of a $3,000 National 4-H Fellowship. The grant, largest individual award given by the National 4-H Service Committee, Chicago, provides for a year's study in Washington, D. C., in the Federal Extension Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture Graduate School, and at nearby universities.

Miss Sellers graduated in home economics education from Texas Women's University in 1958 where she served as president of the Collegiate 4-H Club, Campus Citizenship League and was affiliated with Phi Upsilon Omicron, home economics honorary.

As home demonstration agent, Miss Sellers has actively promoted home economics extension work with young homemakers. With the assistance of a county program planning committee, the agent conducted numerous educational meetings and workshops for young homemakers and provided them with easy access to home economics bulletins and leaflets. Her most recent effort involved the preparation of a panel discussion on "What Does Breakfast Mean to a School Child" presented to more than 500 P. T. A. members.

The National 4-H Fellowship winner is president of the Bonham Business and Professional Women's Club, member of the Chamber of Commerce, and numerous professional organizations.

A 4-H Club member for 10 years, Miss Sellers carried on extensive 4-H and community safety campaign, being designated a state and national 4-H safety winner in 1953 and delegate to the National 4-H Conference in 1955.

The first step in the fellowship winner's new educational program will be orientation in the work of the National 4-H

Miss Margie Sellers

New Ideabook For Green Stamps Out

The Sperry and Hutchinson Co. has announced distribution here of the new S&H Green Stamp Ideabook, reported to be the most widely circulated business publication of the year.

The initial printing order of the S&H Ideabook was for 32 million copies. The catalog is being distributed in this area to stores that are giving the green stamps.

The Ideabook contains most of the S&H line of 1,700 articles of merchandise, illustrated in 132 pages. Two graphic statistics regarding the record-breaking Ideabook were printed out; about 15 millions pounds of paper were used; stacked one on top of the other, 32 millions copies would stand more than 80 miles high.

Local stores handling S&H Green Stamps now have copies of this new Ideabook.

Annual Summer Cotton School Set For A&M

For the 52nd consecutive year Texas A&M College offers its special summer cotton school.

Its purpose is to provide training for persons who expect to enter the cotton trade; for growers who desire to learn more about cotton marketing and for buyers who wish to review grade and staple standards or become more familiar with the elements of quality in cotton.

The 1961 school will again be conducted by the Department of Agricultural Economics and Sociology during the six weeks between June 5 and July 14. Professor J. M. Ward will again be in charge of the school.

Ward says such important phases of the cotton industry as grading, stapling and the determination of cotton properties and trade procedures will receive major attention. Most of the time will be spent doing actual practice work and in discussions covering techniques of classing. A few lectures by visiting specialists will cover phases of production, marketing and processing of cotton.

Detailed plans for the school may be obtained by writing Ward in care of the sponsoring department, College Station, Texas.

Fishing Reported Very Successful In Area Along Coast

Despite high winds harassing fishermen on the Gulf coast, some excellent catches of trout, redfish and sheepshead are being made, according to reports from the Game and Fish Commission marine laboratory at Rockport.

The largest population of small trout, 12 to 16 inches long, since 1951, has been reported in Lower Laguna Madre. Fishermen in West Bay, around Galveston, have reported tremendous catches during the past week. The same is true up and down the coastline, where fishermen have been able to take good strings of trout.

Pier and jetty fishermen have been the most successful, because they can fish at night with less wind.

Right now, shrimp for bait along the coast are reported as plentiful. However, lure fishermen are having very good luck.

Food Plots For Wildlife Suggested

Most farmers and ranchers are interested in doing the best possible job of managing wildlife. Ed Cooper, extension wildlife specialist, points out that nature does a good job, but says man can be a big help.

Probably the most important principle of wildlife management is to preserve or encourage the growth of food and cover plants. Every wild creature's livelihood depends on certain types of plants or animals that feed on plants, and landowners can be good managers by making sure food and cover plants are provided, Cooper continues.

In many cases, specialized agriculture reduces the amount of food available for game animals. It is possible to offset some of this loss by providing food plots for wildlife. For deer and wild turkeys, small acreages of winter grains can be most helpful. Oats, wheat and similar winter crops offer attractive grazing for these animals. The food plots have even greater value when domestic livestock are excluded, the specialist explains.

Quail and dove will quickly take advantage of certain types of food plots. In the areas where they can be grown, Kobe lespeleze, German millet and sesame produce seeds highly desirable for birds. Several small strips of these plants, located near permanent, low-growing vegetation, are quite valuable.

Even wild geese can be benefited by winter food crops in Texas. In some areas, Gulf rye grass produces excellent grazing for these birds. Any type of winter grazing, including oats, rye, wheat and similar crops, can be used to advantage.

Local county agents can provide information on important cultural recommendations for these crops. He can also help with recommendations on fertilization, time of planting and other important details, Cooper concludes.

Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Wiggins attended the opening of the new First National Bank in Ft. Worth last Saturday night. They also attended the Texas Banker's Association meeting in Dallas on Monday and Tuesday.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Says The Answer To The Cuban Problem Is That There's Just Not Any Answer

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek discusses ignorance this week, a subject on which he claims to have first-hand knowledge.

Dear editor:
Although I don't think the fate of the world rests on Cuba—as a matter of fact, I don't know what the fate of the world rests on, maybe nobody, at least there's nobody I can put my finger on—everybody is pretty generally agreed the United States pulled off a diplomatic flop in connection with that country, but that's not what I've been thinking about.

What I've been thinking about is

4-H Contests Results

Knox County 4-H members represented the county in the district three 4-H Club contests that were held in Wichita Falls at Midwestern University.

Dorothy Edrington and Janice Keuhler placed first in the senior poultry marketing method demonstration, and Glenda Herring placed second in the public speaking contest. All three girls are members of the Rhineland 4-H Club and will compete in the state contests to be held June 6-8 at A. & M. College.

The Knox County senior rifle team is an alternate to the state contests and is composed of Lawrence New of Gilliland, Jerry Decker a member of the Goree 4-H Club, Dwayne Herring and Ed Wilde, both of Rhineland 4-H Club. New tied for the 2nd high individual in the contest.

In the senior electric team demonstration, Frances Reneau and Clyde Burnett placed sixth. Both are members of the Sunset 4-H Club.

In the junior division, Dwight Reeves and Ronnie Simmons of Gilliland placed fourth, Janett Brazell and Shirley Richards of the Sunset 4-H Club placed 3rd in the senior vegetable marketing demonstration. Joan Williams and Judy Lindley placed 2nd in the junior poultry marketing method demonstration. Joan is from Gilliland and Judy is from the Munday Club.

Janice McAnair of Benjamin placed 6th in the junior public speaking contest. Norma Jo Naveratil and Mary Nell Miller placed 8th in the senior safety demonstration, while Loreta Kay placed 6th in the junior share-the-fun contest, and Brenda Young of the Benjamin 4-H Club placed 4th in the senior division.

In the soil, water and range conservation demonstration, Kay Cook and Sharon Burgess of Gilliland and in the senior division placed 4th while the junior division was entered by Karen Cook and Jan Burgess who also placed 4th.

Grain Sorghum Demonstration
Alphonse Keuhler of Rhineland has planted one of the grain sorghum variety demonstrations in the county this year. This demonstration will be different than the others in that Alphonse has planted his cotton with the 4-in and the 4-out method and then planted the varieties in the two middle blank cotton rows.

The purpose of the sorghum in the blank rows is to help protect the cotton from blowing sand and to get some return from the protective crop. It will be interesting to see if there is any variety difference on a one year result basis when compared to the normal planting method.

Clarence Herring, a close neighbor has one of the variety demonstrations and the basis of comparison will be made on the two plots. Alphonse has planted RS 610, RS 608, Comble 7078, TE55, ES6a, C45, Red Raider A, Ranger, Red Head, Double T, NK210, NK135, NK140, TE86, and NKX3007. The demonstration is located in the field east of the Keuhler home.
