Odd Bits Salvaged By The Editor

We were treated to a sort of second-hand tour of South America last Saturday.

By second-hand, we mean our tour was "a quickie." It took the tourists a month to complete their tour; yet, we made it via movies and picture slides in just one afternoon! Of course, our "tour" left out many of the interesting things, but we covered the highlights.

It was fun, too, watching the showing of pictures and hearing the comments of those who had made them. It was also interesting to see those people relive many of the colorful events of the trip.

Our tour came about as we were invited guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Jungman to a reunion of those tourists which was held in the community center at Olney last Saturday. Better than 50 persons assembled for the event, and a majority of them were those who made the tour last March.

We arrived a little late, having delayed some because of severe weather warning for the Seymour area, and the picture show was under way at the time. We were informed pictures had been shown since 10 a. m., and the last batch were run off after we'd had dinner that evening.

"My husband is a cotton farmer, and I had to take his picture in that cotton," one woman said as we entered the building. She was showing her husband in a cotton field with plants almost shoulder high.

The trip took us to Panama, where large ships were shown being taken through the Panama Canal, and then touched on all interesting phases of the tour—to Lima, Peru, to Chile, to Buenos Aires, Argentina, to Montevideo, capitol of Uruguay, to Rio de Janeiro, Port of Spain, Trinidad, and other interesting places.

Each person who showed pictures had some "duplicates" of ones shown before, of course, but something different in each. Of interest were Sugar Loaf Mountain, the beef cattle for the area, sugar cane fields, the many lovely flowers grown over the area, South American cattle and cattle auction sale, the splendid architecture in their buildings, fire ants nests in the trees.

Each one had taken a picture of the statue of Christ, ub Ige Andes, and one was able to catch a picture of Winston Churchill, former prime minister of England, as he came to Port of Spain, Trinidad.

Many of the group contacted a virus on the trip, and they had to poke some fun about that. "My wife took those pictures," one man said, "as I wasn't feeling very good that day!"

Of interest, too, were pictures of Brazilia, the brand new capitol of Brazil. Everything is new in Brazilia, since it was situated in the brush of Brazil only three years ago, and now has a population of 150,000, but in three more years is expected to house more than five million.

We weren't asked but once if we were on the tour, and that came from a lady who was also a guest. Those who made the tour knew looked kinda ignorant and weren't travel-worn. We hadn't been anywhere but to Amarillo and Quanah!

We met Murray Cox, who plans the tours and who will soon be announcing a brand new one. Highlights of Murray's life are the reunions of his tourists, and he was having a big time Saturday.

The group was indebted to Mr. and Mrs. Paul Achley of Olney, who were responsible for getting them together for this reunion and who were hosts to everyone. They went home with many enjoyable events of the tour fresh in their memories.

Conference Returns Rev. Rex Mauldin To Four Year As Local Methodist Pastor

Rev. Rex L. Mauldin, who recently completed his third year as pastor of the Munday Methodist Church, was returned to Munday for his fourth year last week by the annual Northwest Texas Methodist Conference. He started the new conference year last Sunday.

Announcement of the conference appointments were read at the closing session of the Conference in Lubbock last Friday.

"We are looking forward to a year of greater service to you," Rev. Mauldin said Sunday in commenting on his return to the local charge. "As we know you better and are better acquainted with your needs and problems, we hope to be able to serve you better."

The church membership and citizens of the town welcome the pastor and his family for another year of labor and association with local people.

Very few changes were made in the Stamford District, of which Munday is a part. Appointments for the district are as follows:

Bakery Founder Mrs. Baird Dies

Mrs. Ninnie L. Baird, 92, founder of the nation's largest independent bakery operation bearing her name, died late Friday in a Fort Worth hospital after an extended illness.

Funeral services were held at 3 p. m. Monday at University Baptist Church in Fort Worth.

Mrs. Baird first learned the art of baking bread as a girl. She was chairman of Mrs. Baird's Bakeries, which operates bakeries in Fort Worth, Dallas, Houston and Abilene.

She was born in Trenton, Tenn., and was orphaned at an early age. She was reared by an aunt who taught her the skills of baking on a wood-burning range. Her first "salesmen" were her four sons, who were sent into the neighborhood to sell her products.

Her initial success in the business resulted in the purchase of a large oven from a Fort Worth hotel, which was installed in her back yard. The firm now claims to sell every fourth loaf of bread purchased in Texas.

Mrs. Baird and her husband operated a small bakery in Tennessee before moving to Fort Worth in 1901. They entered business there, operating a lunch stand in a railway station. It was after her husband's death in 1911 that she entered the bakery business with her four sons and four daughters.

She is survived by her four sons and three of her daughters and a number of grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

About 235 people attended the three-day meeting and selected Eastland as the site for the 1962 convention. The Breckenridge club celebrated its 40th anniversary at the Sunday banquet.

Delegates voted to combine their own district with District 2-E-2 to the east. The two districts were formed about three years ago, and District 2-E-2 had requested Sunday's action.

Furniture Store Destroyed By Fire Plans Re-opening

Clean-up operations have been under way for several days at McCauley Furniture Co., following the disastrous fire which destroyed the furniture store last Thursday.

The fire broke out at about 7:30 Thursday morning, being discovered when the intense heat within blew out the large plate glass window in front of the store. The McCauleys were eating breakfast at their home when notified of the fire, which occurred just as forms for last week's paper were on the press and ready to go. The damage was estimated at about $35,000.

Contents of the building were destroyed, and much smoke and water damage was done to the funeral home which adjoins the furniture store. The walls of the one-story brick structure remained intact, but all the interior will be reconstructed before the firm is re-opened for business.

Munday's three fire fighting units were placed into use and had the flames doused in about an hour and a half. All three trucks, including the two pumps, were placed into use.

One of the firemen, Ray D. Ford, wearing a mask, entered the smoke-filled building and brought the firm's ambulance and truck out to safety. He also recovered the records before they were destroyed, but they were damaged by the fire and smoke.

The fire is believed to have been caused from the lighting equipment—a fluorescent light which had been kept burning all night in the office, in the southeast corner of the building.

The blaze was first noticed by Mrs. Dorse Collins, who was driving in front of the building when the store window shattered. She notified the fire department.

A good firewall and a south-east wind kept the flames from entering the City Grill, just south of the building.

Charles McCauley, owner of the firm, stated the loss was partially covered by insurance, but as in most instances "the insurance was not enough" to completely recover the loss.

The funeral home is continuing in operation, and McCauley plans to re-open the furniture store as soon as the building can be placed in order again.

Mr. McCauley announced Wednesday that a "Fire Sale" will open Friday at the furniture store. All furniture salvaged from the fire, damaged but not destroyed, will be offered for sale Friday and Saturday on a first come, first served basis. All sales will be for cash—all sales final.

Funeral services were held at 3 p. m. Tuesday, May 30, from the First Methodist Church in Silverton.

Mr. Hodges was born on February 1, 1878, in Grayson County, and married Miss Anna Pearl Castleberry on October 22, 1898, in Gardenville. They moved to Silverton from Knox County in 1925, and had made their home there since that time. He had engaged in farming until his retirement.

Mr. Hodges farmed in Knox County and at one time operated a grocery store in Munday.

Surviving him are his wife; three sons, Boyd of Nogales, Ariz., R. D. of Houston and Loyd Hodges of Valentine, Ariz., six daughters, Mrs. Alene Drummond of Houston, Mrs. Arnold Turner of Silverton, Mrs. N. L. Hollis of Arlington, Miss Jewel Hodges of Lubbock, Mrs. Vernon Garrison of Tullia, Mrs. Robert McGuire of Midland; one daughter-in-law, Mrs. Clifff Hodges of Corpus Christi; two sisters, Mrs. Ruby Hayter of Wichita Falls and Mrs. Deedie Hudson of Sherman; 26 grandchildren and 14 great-grandchildren.

Attending were Chief George Baty, wife and son, Gary; Gene Brown and wife; Ray Ford and wife; Raymond Carden and wife; Robert Patterson and wife; J. B. Scott and wife; Robert Hosea and wife and District Mascot, Gary Cypert.

Sixteenth Annual Santa Rosa Roundup Opens Events In Vernon On June 21st

Mr. C. P. Baker, and W. R. Moore, local members of the Board of Directors of the Santa Rosa Roundup announced plans for the 16th annual rodeo and quarter horse show to be held in Mr. E. Paul Waggoner's show-place arena for four nights June 21-24 in Vernon, Texas. Plans were approved at the annual Director's meeting on Monday in Vernon, where they were guests of Mr. Waggoner at a chuck wagon feed.

The top professional rodeo performers of the nation and a brilliant assortment of specialty acts will be featured. The world champion cowboys, regular contestants at the Santa Rosa Roundup, will be competing for $8,000 plus entry fees in prize money.

But rugged rodeoing is only half the story of this year's rodeo. The outstanding lineup of specialty acts make the show a real cow country circus of thrills, fun and pagentry.

Booked to appear are Buck Legrande, National Finals Rodeo's peerless clown bullfighter, and barrel man Goldie Carlton; "Beeswax" Moore and his famous Taximeter Mule comedy act; Apache Chief White Cloud, whose skill with bow and arrow is astonishing and suspenseful to hold; "The Fancy Turnout," a delightful pony act, and "Gone to the Dogs," a dog act the whole (Continued on Last Page)

Crops Benefitted By Recent Rains

Rains which have fallen locally during the past week have been of great benefit to a majority of the area's growing crops, although portions have been hit with more than plenty rainfall.

The Knox County area has missed a majority of the turbulent weather which has brought high winds, tornadoes, hail and downpours. Some hail damage, however, has been reported southwest of Munday. Some damage was received on the Bob Hicks farm, and H. E. Henson reported only a little hail but damaging rain last Sunday.

A report from H. P. Hill, local U. S. weather observer, shows that Munday received 1.47 inches during the week.

Farmers were fortunate in that most of the wheat had been harvested in this section. Some irrigated wheat and a little of the dry-land crop remains to be harvested.

Mrs. Emma Tyree and Mrs. A. M. Walker and daughters of Amarillo and J. C. Nelson of Pasadena visited their Nelson relatives here last week.

NEVER-ENDING CHANGE

Retailing, to say the obvious, must be ever alert to the varying needs and wants of consumers. A store which fails to meet consumer desires will soon be a store with a padlock on the door and a "For Rent" sign in the window.

This means that retailing is always in a state of change. That fact is emphasized by a Chain Store Age article, in which three presidents of major variety chains give their views on the industry's five-year outlook.

On the sunny side, one of them says, women will continue to fight nature with cosmetics, children will cry for new toys, and do-it-yourself items will continue to sell by leaps and bounds. But on the rainy side, certain low-priced, hard-to-sell items will be forced to give space to new lines in order to meet raising costs.

The emphasis, another of the executives believe, will be on furniture, kitchen goods, rugs, lamps and garden items. In his words, "We have to serve the women who shop with her family and for the entire house. This means the variety chains will have a broader obligation to serve the customer's needs in home goods and apparel. And we'll have to build larger stores to house this sizable expansion in the goods we sell."

Many an item in general demand years ago has disappeared from store shelves. And many a commodity sold in volume today either didn't exist at all a few years ago, or existed in very small quantity. The retailers' big job is to keep abreast of never-ending change.

STORY OF SMALL BUSINESS

New anti-trust business legislation is now proposed in Congress. Its proponents say that it is needed to protect the nation's smaller businesses, the implication being that as matters stand now they are being gobbled up by big operations.

But that belief is refuted by President-elect Wagner of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. In terms of employment, often used as a yardstick by the Federal Trade Commission, the percentage of the work force employed by larger firms has dropped since the end of World War II.

The story: In 1945 business firms averaged more than 15 employees; by 1956, the last year for which these figures are available, the average had declined to an all time low of less than 14 employees per firm; in 1945, 89.9 per cent of business firms had less than 100 employees; by 1956 this was true of 99.1 per cent of businesses. It certainly doesn't look as if big business was destroying the small. The evidence lends support to Mr. Wagner's view—that the present anti-trust laws are sufficient to preserve competition, and that what is needed is appropriate enforcement.

MENACE OF THE CHILD MOLESTER

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover writes: "With the approach of vacation time for our schoolchildren when they will be enjoying happy, carefree hours, it is doubly important that all parents once again emphasize to their youngsters the menace of the child molester . . .

"Courts and parole and probation authorities must constantly consider that in dealing with the inhuman sex offender they are gambling his 'well-fare' and 'rehabilitation' against the life of a child snuffed out in unspeakable agony. The stakes are so high, the innocent lives so precious that they demand a realistic, conscientious, deliberate appraisal of each and every sex deviate's bid for freedom."

LOST—$228 BILLION!

Who gets hurt when inflation sets in, and the dollar depreciates?

A report made by the Economists' National Committee on Monetary Policy may help you answer that question.

It says that a loss of over $228 billion, or 57 per cent, in purchasing power has been experienced by savers on average holdings in six categories for the period 1939 to 1959-60 because of this depreciation. The six categories are U. S. savings bonds; time deposits in banks; savings capital in savings and loan associations; life insurance in force; annuities paid out, and social security trust and unemployment funds.

Just about everybody has been hit, in one or more of these savings categories. And most of the people, obviously, have small or moderate means. The inflationary blow is particularly cruel to those who live on fixed incomes, as provided by annuities, social security payments, and so on.

The dollar's value in purchasing power has gone down by more than half, in a dismayingly short period of time. Will we have the strength, the wisdom, and the political courage to save what is left of it?

Chips From The Carpenter's Workbench

By JAMES HALLMARK

The HANDBOOK OF DENOMINATIONS IN THE UNITED STATES (Second Revised Edition) by Frank S. Mead lists the following facts concerning the churches of Christ in America.

"Twenty thousand independent congregations with a total membership of about 2,000,000 constitute the churches of Christ. They are located in 50 states with greatest concentrations in the South and West, have congregations in 65 foreign countries, and the past 20 years have emerged as one of the top ten non-Catholic bodies in North America. Properties owned by the group probably exceed $75,000,000 in value. There are 16 colleges, including one in Japan; 41 secondary and elementary schools; 20 homes for orphans or the aged; and 65 periodicals, newspapers, and magazines published throughout the country."

The growth of the churches of Christ has been phenomenal. New church buildings, both attractive and functional, are springing up in all sections of the nation.

It is my opinion that this rapid growth and expansion can be primarily attributed to the distinctive plea of churches of Christ to reject all human creeds and dogmas and restore the pristine church of the New Testament. We are convinced that the Bible gives us a complete and comprehensive guidebook for such a restoration. We seek to duplicate the New Testament church in message, mission, organization and worship. We encourage all who share a like desire to unite with us in achieving this goal of restoration. Your presence at our services, and investigation of our simple plea is appreciated.

What About Chemical Poisoning In Foods?

Ever since the start of public water fluoridation for the sake of dental health and the cranberry contamination scare of recent years, there has been growing concern in Texas and elsewhere that we are being "poisoned" by our own progress in chemistry.

The fact is that there is no evidence to indicate that any material approved for use in agriculture or public health has proven detrimental to man in connection with his diet.

The cause for alarm in practically every instance has been the peddling of misinformation, half-truths, statements out of context and concocted stories by seekers of notoriety. These alarmists are often food faddists or well-intentioned but uninformed people who believe that nothing wholesome ever came out of a chemical factory.

Actually, a vitamin is a vitamin whether it's made in a chemical factory or whether it comes from an orange. Oranges, especially Texas oranges, of course, are one of our best sources of natural Vitamin C, and in taste far superior to a vitamin pill.

Fluoridation of water—which must be exacting and carefully controlled—has reduced dental decay in youngsters by 50 to 60% in those communities which follow competent scientific advice. Anti-fluoridationists claim there's a difference between natural and artificially fluoridated water. Water with the mineral nutrient fluoride added and food enriched with vitamins have as much purity as ever and certainly more wholesomeness.

To cite an example close to home, in a recent year there was a sudden alarm sent against use of a chemical cotton defoliant containing arsenic acid because some Texas cottonseed oil products were found to have six parts arsenic acid per million. This seemed shocking and dangerous to the uninformed who weren't aware that arsenic acid is also a by-product of sea-food and that a small shrimp cocktail contains a harmless 150 parts arsenic acid per million. The alarm was soon quieted.

Insecticides, certainly no aid to food enrichment as such, are nonetheless vital to production of healthy and undamaged food stuffs. Use of such chemicals is carefully controlled and, despite fears and shoutings of alarmists, there is no record of any cancer or other serious human illness resultant from use of agricultural chemicals on food crops.

Fortifying of food is one of the outstanding advances of public health of all times. Vitamin D

Less Work Needed For Benefits Of Social Security

"Changes in the social security law in 1960 reduced the amount of work needed to get benefits," reports Erton F. Tate, District Manager of the Wichita Falls Social Security Office.

"For benefits to be paid to a worker or his family when he reaches retirement age, dies, or becomes disabled, he must have worked under social security for a certain length of time," said Tate. Just how long a person must work depends upon his date of birth, or when the payment of survivors or disability benefits is involved, upon the date he dies, or becomes disabled.

As an example, anyone who reaches retirement age (65 for men and 62 for women) this year will need to have no more than 34 years of work. Until the change in the law, a person of this age would have needed at least five years. Also the survivors of workers who died after June 1954, and who were not eligible for benefits previously may now qualify in many cases.

Anyone who believes that he or she may qualify for payment as a result of this change in the law should get in touch with their social security office promptly.

New Low Cost Homes Now In Display At Cameron Lumber Co., In Munday

Charles Sargent, local manager of Wm. Cameron & Co., announced today that his yard has been named as authorized Dealer for the Institute For Essential Housing. The Institute has a new concept in "Low Cost" complete home building.

One of the Institute's modern designed homes has been built by the local Cameron yard and is on display at the Cameron yard site in Munday. Open house for this Model Home will be held Saturday and Sunday afternoons, June 10 & 11 from 1 to 6 p.m. Open house will be continued through the following week.

The Institute For Essential Housing is an organization formed by cooperating manufacturers, and utilizing private capital, has been established in Princeton, New Jersey, to fill the great need for low-cost homes not now covered by conventional building and financing practices. As it is equipped to maintain complete research, architectural and production supervision services, as well as total financing, for essential single family dwellings on any accessible, suitable land to which the prospective home owner can show clear title.

According to Walter Cramp, Director of Information for the Institute, there are over five million young American wage earners who need and urgently desire homes of their own, but who can find nothing that fits their pocketbooks in the rural, low-cost land areas adjacent to their place of employment.

Walter Cramp said that the Institute's basic belief is that the young working man needs his own home while he is raising his family (and not after he has had time to save up the proverbial nest egg), and has the equally strong conviction that the average young working man is an excellent business risk and fully capable of putting a lot of his own energy and skill into the decorating and landscaping of his own home.

Thus, the Institute will specialize in providing and financing these homes in various stages of completion as the buyer desires. Typical stages are; the "basic" (or shell house); the "basic" plus materials and equipment package; the "ready-to-live-in" and the "finished" in which the house is completely finished and decorated. These Institute houses provide generous living space and extra large closets, giving the buyers a lot of extra square leaving the interior finishing, decorating, painting and landscaping to the new owner, if desired.

Unlike the so-called "shell" houses, the Institute will supply and finance the complete "package" even including the kitchen appliance when desired. And under the new financing terms (without a down payment if the prospective buyer owns his own lot), the monthly payments are still lower than those being offered by others for the "shell" alone. A special 5-year paid-up insurance policy is also part of the package at no additional cost. The Institute, will of course, also build just the basic house, or "shell" stage alone, for the man who can finance his own plumbing, heating and electrical equipment and do his own work.

According to Charles Sargent, the local Manager for Wm. Cameron & Co., the prospective home owner can build on attractive rural land, at lake or river, on farm or by-way, just assuming reasonable accessibility for building purposes.

Although the financing plans may extend over a ten or twelve year period, the owner may, if desired, convert at any time to a conventional mortgage if regular mortgage funds become available to him.

With so little mortgage money available to the average working man for construction purposes, the Institute feels that it is aiding rather than competing with the various mortgage institutions. The Institute for Essential Housing intends to license major retail lumber yards or building materials dealers in each community to supply materials and construct the houses under Institute supervision. One of the many ways the Institute provides more house for the money, is through careful architectural design to eliminate waste space and unnecessary interior partitions. Local craftsmen are then

Farm Facts

Farm efficiency has increased more in the past 18 years than in the preceding 120.

Productivity of the American farm worker now is growing more than twice as fast as the productivity of workers in industry, the U. S. Department of Agriculture reminds us.

Since 1950, output per man-hour in non-agricultural industry has risen 2 per cent a year. In agriculture the increase has averaged 5 per cent per year.

The USDA cites the broiler industry as a good example of efficiency from farm to supermarket. Research developed a faster-growing broiler and a better diet for it. This new type of bird, fed the improved diet, produces a 3-pound broiler in 9 weeks, as compared with a 16-pound broiler in 9 weeks 30 years ago.

Production of beef per animal on farms is almost a half higher than 30 years ago. Although cattle numbers have increased no faster than the human population, beef output has outrun population.

Farm efficiency has increased more in the past 18 years than in the preceding 120.

Consumption per person is up one-fourth. This productivity is a great source of strength. If our farmers were no more efficient than those of the Soviet Union, some 225 million Americans who now work in non-farm business would have to produce food, clothing, and forest products.

employed under the Institute's supervision to custom-build each house on the buyer's lot.

The State of Texas has been selected by the Institute in which to launch its national program. Displays of I.E.H. houses are now on exhibit in Longview, San Antonio, Austin and Midland, and other Texas Cities.

Dollars And Sense
By Mrs. S. C. Kinsey, Knox County H. D. Agent

Before you select a life insurance policy be sure you understand all of its requirements, provisions and benefits. Some of these are:

What is the amount of the premium and when must premiums be paid—monthly, quarterly, semi-annually or annually? The less frequently premiums are paid the lower the cost to policy holder because less work is involved for the insurance company.

What special provisions does the policy offer? These vary with different policies and sometimes increase the premium. Check on grace period for payment of premiums.

Is the policy participating or non-participating? Participating policies will have higher rates than non-participating policies because rates are set above what the company expects will be needed to cover all costs. Will you be able to choose how benefits will be paid? Who are the beneficiaries?

Does the policy have a policy loan provision? This allows one to borrow any money up to the loan value of the policy.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Says Efficiency Is Not Correct Answer For The Small Farms Or Big Cities

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek discusses efficiency this week, but we can't say with how much success.

Dear editor: I realize that while whole countries are disappearing these days, worrying over the disappearance of the so-called family-type farm seems like a waste of time if not a misapplication of thought, but according to an article I read in a newspaper last night, a lot of people are concerned about this matter.

But I'm not as interested in the actual disappearance of the small farm as I am in what these people think will bring it about.

According to them, inefficiency is the cause. The small farmer has got to get more efficient if he expects to stay on his farm, they argue.

I don't know about this. In my own case, I don't expect to get any more efficient, and I don't expect to move off this Johnson grass farm. People confuse efficiency with bigness. To me, a four-row cultivator is something you can work your land with in half the time it took with a two-row outfit, but to other people it's something you can work twice as much land with in the same long hours.

Efficiency can be overdone. For example, in this same newspaper I was reading last night I noticed that a contest was held in New York the other day to see which was the fastest way to get across midtown Manhattan. The results showed you can cross this center of American culture and efficiency about as fast in a horse and buggy as you can in a car, and even on foot you won't be far behind.

Efficiency has produced automobiles in such numbers they're becoming useless in big cities, and cities themselves have become so efficient they're unmanageable.

Airplanes have become so efficient and numerous they have to circle around an airport an hour to find a place to land.

Government has become so efficient the tax payers can't afford it.

It was efficiency that produced a bomb that'll kill a hundred thousand times more people than the cannon ball.

The way it looks to me, inefficiency is the hope of mankind and the small farm is the last refuge of this style of operating. The last thing the world should be doing is coming out here and telling me how to get more efficient. In my case, it might not matter, but some farmers might listen.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

family will enjoy. Topping off the program will be classic precision drills by the famed Santa Rosa Palomino Club in Vernon.

Back again to add to spectator enjoyment will be Lew Gillis and his great rodeo band and Cy Taillon, rodeo's top announcer.

A change in the Horse Show Division for this year's show is a Novice Cutting Horse contest in addition to the regular N. C. H. A. approved contest for registered and open cutting horses. No halter classes will be shown. The cutting horse contest begins Wednesday morning, June 21, at 8 a.m. and is open to the public at no charge. Only highest scoring horses of the approved contest will work at the evening rodeo performances of the Santa Rosa Roundup. Horse lovers may also visit the Santa Rosa Stables on the grounds and see Poco Bueno, Poco Mos, Poco Deno, and others of Mr. Waggoner's famous show string of champion quarter horses.

As in years past, the Roundup is being produced by the Beutler Brothers, Lynn and Jake, of Elk City, Oklahoma, who are the nation's foremost rodeo producers. John Biggs is general manager of the show.

Advance tickets are available by calling LI 2-6868 in Vernon or by writing Santa Rosa Roundup Ticket Headquarters, Vernon, Texas.
