CHURCH OF CHRIST

GOREE, TEXAS

"From Heaven, Or Of Men?"

"And when he was come into the temple, the chief priest and the elders of the people came unto him as he was teaching, and said, By what authority doest thou these things? And who gave thee this authority? And Jesus answered and said unto them, I also will ask you one thing, which if ye tell me, I in like wise will tell you by what authority I do these things. The baptism of John, whence was it? from heaven, or of men?" (Matt. 21:23-25).

We read in Acts 2:38 where Peter speaking by inspiration, commanded every one to be baptized in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of their sins. Christ said in Mark 16:16, "He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved . . ." Again Peter speaking by inspiration said, "Baptism doth also now save us . . ." (1 Pet. 3:21). Question: Is this baptism which is for the remission of sins, and which also saves us "FROM HEAVEN; OR OF MEN?"

The religious world today is teaching us that baptism has no part in our being saved, that we can be saved just as well without it as we can with it. Friends think! IS THIS FROM HEAVEN; OR OF MEN?"

The following is a quotation taken from a prominent church manual. "Baptism is not essential to salvation, for our churches utterly repudiate the dogma of baptismal regeneration . . ." Question: Is this "FROM HEAVEN; OR OF MEN?" Again from this same manual. "It is most likely that in the apostolic age when there was but one Lord, one faith, and one baptism, and no differing denominations existed, the baptism of a convert by that very act constituted him a member of the church, and at once endowed him with all the rights and privileges of full membership. In that sense, baptism was the door into the church. Now it is different; and while the churches are desirous of receiving members they are wary and cautious that they do not receive unworthy persons. The churches therefore have the candidates come before them, make their statements, give their experience, and then their reception is decided by a vote of the members." Notice, these people first tell us to the letter how it was in the beginning, and then say "NOW IT IS DIFFERENT," then proceed to tell us how it is now. Question: "IS THIS FROM HEAVEN; OR OF MEN?"

Christ said "But in vain do they worship me, teaching for doctrines the commandments of men." (Matt. 15:9). The apostle Paul said "Touch not; taste not; handle not; Which all are to perish with the using;) after the commandments and doctrines of man?" (Col. 2:21-22). Again Paul said, "This witness is true, wherefore rebuke them sharply, that they may be sound in the faith; Not giving heed to Jewish fables, and the commandments of men, that turn from the truth." (Tit. 1:13-14).

Truck-Train Crash Kills 7

HEMPSTEAD, May 21 (AP) — Seven migrant cattle workers, all members of the same family, were killed today when the truck in which they were riding collided with the Southern Pacific No. 13, known to non-railroaders as the Steamboat. The steamboat was enroute to Dallas from Houston when tragedy struck. Five of the family died instantly. A sixth died in the Waller County Hospital a short time after the 9:17 a.m. crash and the seventh died late this afternoon in the same hospital.

The dead were listed by Waller County authorities as:

Paul Gonzales, 22, a son.
Juan Gonzales Jr., 22, a son.
Basilio Gonzales, about 43, believed to be a brother of Juan Gonzales.
Jennette Gonzales, 17, a daughter.
Mrs. Demazee Gonzales, 31, a daughter-in-law.
Leonardo Gonzales, 18, a son.
Chief Deputy Sheriff Jimmy Whitworth of Waller County said the passenger train was making about 70 miles an hour when the accident occurred. He quoted locomotive engineer W. G. Parker of Farris as saying that the train was also going fast at the time of the impact.

Several small children were orphaned by the accident.

Weekly Health LETTER

AUSTIN — Mankind is poised to begin the annual grudge fight with insect hordes that flourish in the warmth of spring and summer.

Inevitably the insect will lose as mankind—armed with noxious sprays and dusts and aerosol mists—seeks to ward off the bites and stings and the destruction of his food and clothing and home.

Only by constant fighting has humanity been able to hold its precarious own against more than one million different insect species which inhabit the world. Some 6000-7000 new species are identified each year to lengthen the list of known kinds. The United States is inhabited by approximately 600 injurious species, some of them vectors of human disease.

The vast majority of insects are neutral or indifferent where man is concerned, apparently content to let humanity go its way and demanding the same privilege. Others are highly beneficial, feeding on noxious weeds or troublesome insects, or pollinating crops. At least 50 different seed and fruit crops would be barren without insect pollinizers.

On the other hand, to fix a price on depredations of harmful insect varieties, you have to re-gear your thinking or get lost in a maze of zeros. Just counting field crops and stored grains, they wreck a yearly havoc of $4 billion in the U. S. alone.

Flies, fleas and mosquitoes were and still are behind some of the most calamitous scourges the human race has ever endured, including plague, malaria, yellow fever and others.

The fact that most insecticides are toxic for humans as well as insects has caused some apprehension. It is true that people who use them carelessly do run real risks. But there is no evidence to suggest the general population is being insidiously poisoned.

A detailed study into the extent to which widespread use of agricultural insecticides might adversely affect the health of humans and domestic animals is scheduled to begin in coming weeks, under auspices of the Texas State Department of Health and Texas A and M College.

Insecticides, despite their great value as weapons against insects, are only supplements to other control activities, the most important of which is proper personal and community sanitation.

Planning Required In Farming Just As In Industry

Modern farming is a competitive business and the individual operator should keep this in mind when planning his enterprises, says C. H. Bates, extension farm management specialist. In order to obtain maximum profits, operators of commercial farms should study every available means of boosting returns.

The first step in this plan-for-profit program is to weigh the price prospects for the farm's major cash enterprises and determine how seasonal price variations will affect potential returns. The decision of whether or not a greater volume of individual output will result in maximum net profit must be made, Bates explains.

Generally, higher production per acre or per animal should mean higher profits, but greater risk is involved in seeking the very highest yields for some crops. It is therefore wise to count the extra cost and consider this risk before aiming at the top production figure.

Regardless of the price situation, however, the greatest emphasis should be toward the highest degree of efficiency—cutting labor and other unit costs, the specialist continues. This can be accomplished by taking advantage of the latest technological advances. Replacement of hand labor with machines and the use of proven fertilizers and insecticides are ways of putting this technology to work.

In short, every opportunity must be taken to assure lower production costs per unit, says

Bates. This requires a strong desire on the part of the operator to improve his decision-making skills. More brainwork is an essential ingredient.

The county agricultural agent is ready to help any of these problems. If you have a plan to increase profits, talk it over with him. This is another example of taking advantage of modern technology, Bates concludes.

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Almanrode went to Bowie Friday for a visit with her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Partridge. Friday night the two couples went to Petrolia for the Homecoming of Ex-students. While never pupils of that school the two sisters attended a Ranch school near by, and later the students went in to Petrolia to finish high school. So, many of the classmates were present, and much talking was done. They also saw slides a classmate living in Oklahoma City had taken while with the Government in the Far East. On Saturday the four went to Oklahoma City to see their sister, Mrs. Grace Humphries, returning to Bowie Sunday, and the Almanrodes coming home Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Spann visited their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Boyd, in Amarillo from Friday until Monday afternoon and attended the funeral of Ed Spann on Monday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Roberts visited Mr. and Mrs. Layne Womble in Sherman over the week end.

Final Statement Of

D. E. 'Tuck' Whitworth

Candidate For Sheriff, Knox County

I have tried to make a complete canvass of Knox County and see and talk with every citizen. I have met many old time friends and made many new ones. I have enjoyed their hospitality and fellowship very much.

Outside of getting dog bit twice, I have really enjoyed this campaign. I want to thank all of those who have been kind and considerate in receiving me in their homes and discussing various topics, local and national.

I have been asked many, many times, could I and would I appoint a Knox County citizen as Deputy Sheriff? I assure you I can and I will. In fact, there have been many fine, moral and qualified citizens of Knox County who have asked to be considered, should I be elected.

The big issue in all campaigns, local and national, seems to be juvenile delinquency. I do not have any "pat" methods of solving these problems, but I do have an extensive knowledge of these situations through past experience as a peace officer and I assure you that each problem that arises will be handled with discretion and understanding.

I do not believe that a display of bad temper or unprovoked violence is becoming of a peace officer. Nor do I believe that your child or my child should be slapped around by an officer of the law although he may have needed his britches spanked at home.

If I have not had the opportunity to meet or contact you in any manner, please accept this as my solicitation for your consideration for my candidacy for Sheriff of Knox County. If elected, I promise to make the kind of Sheriff You would be proud of.

Re-Elect JOHN C. WHITE TEXAS COMMISSIONER OF AGRICULTURE

Knox Prairie Philosopher Claims Scientific Farming Or Scientific Fishing Are Not Always Successful

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek discusses scientific farming this week, a subject rather strange for him.

Dear editor:

A lot of people lately have been talking about scientific farming. I've been noticing, and I have been giving this idea considerable thought.

They say, a farmer has to get scientific if he intends to make it on the land these days, and I guess they're right in one way, but in another way I'm afraid they'll find it takes more than science to farm. What more, I can't put my finger on right now.

I mean, scientific farming is sort of like scientific fishing. If you've got a high-power boat to get you to the fishing spots and all the modern gear and tackle to catch them with, you can catch some fish, maybe more than the man sitting on the bank with a pole, but you won't catch them all the time.

You can have all the farming equipment available to man, all the scientific know-how on insects, poisons, fertilizers, soils, etc., but that doesn't mean you're going to wind up every year with a profit, or even with much of a crop some years.

I read in a newspaper last night where a farmer was talking to a group of city people studying the farm problem and he told them "it's not just a matter of intelligence as to whether you make a success of farming or not," and of course he's right. Intelligence helps, I suppose, I'm not too experienced along that line, but I doubt if you could say the most successful farmer around here is the most intelligent, any more than you could say the most successful business man in town is the most intelligent.

Or take politics. Politics is sort of like farming. Intelligence helps, provided you haven't got too much, but there's a whole lot of luck involved. That is, the successful politician's luck, not necessarily the people's.

Understand, I'm in favor of scientific farming. It works, I know. I've seen my neighbors do it. But it takes more than science to farm, just as it takes more than science to raise a kid. What that extra is, don't ask me.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

FIREMAN'S PRAYER

When I am called to duty, God
Wherever flames may rage,
Give me the strength to save some life
Whatever be its age.
Help me embrace a little child
Before it is too late,
Or save an older person from
The horror of that fate.
Enable me to be alert,
And hear the weakest shout,
And quickly and efficiently
To put the fire out.
I want to fill my calling and
To give the best in me;
To guard my every neighbor and
Protect his property.
And if, according to your will,
I have to lose my life;
Please bless with your protecting hand
My baby and my wife.

The Measure of Success

The measure of success cannot be based on size alone... The largest head of maize is not necessarily the best, or the highest cotton stalk or the bulkiest steer... Many yardsticks must be used to find true quality and worth.

The Stamford Production Credit Association is large enough to be a sound source of agricultural credit... Yet it is small enough to provide friendly, personalized loan service to its borrowers... Its success is measured by its ability to help each borrower attain prosperity through the provision of sound, low-cost credit.

- $8,000,000 annual loan volume

Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Howard are announcing that they have another red headed grandson. He made his arrival in Big Spring on Monday, April 30, 1962. He weighed 9 pounds and 4 ounces and has been named Leslie Brett. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Sanderson of Big Spring. He has a sister and two brothers, Jerri, Rod and Steve, who are delighted over the new arrival. The other grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Sanderson of Big Spring. New Oat Variety Is Available For Fall Seeding Seed of Alamo-X, a new variety of oats developed by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, will be available for fall planting. The new variety is being distributed to replace Alamo because of its greater resistance to Helminthosporium blights and certain races of crown rust. It is also more tolerant of low temperatures.

Observations made during the severe January 1962 temperatures show that Alamo-X is considerably superior to Alamo in cold tolerance. Averaging data for four locations in Texas, Alamo-X survived 92 per cent compared with 54 per cent for Alamo, 72 for New Nortex and 91 for Mustang. This hardiness will permit fall seeding of Alamo-X as far north as North Central Texas.

Although rather limited performance data are available, it appears that Alamo-X produces yields equal to those of Alamo. Where conditions favorable to blight are present, Alamo-X should prove considerably superior for winter pasture or grain production.

Alamo-X is similar to Alamo in general plant characters, growth habit and seed characters. The seed differ in that they have a moderately heavy black awn. Maturity, plant height and general appearance are similar. The new variety has a strong straw and stands well for combine harvesting under favorable conditions.

For more information on this new oat variety write to the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas, and request a copy of L-563.

Power Lawn Mowers Can Be Dangerous

The job of keeping lawns neatly trimmed and mowed will become more time consuming with the advent of warm weather. Power tools for doing the job are readily available and power mowers are regular equipment around most homes. These mowers, improperly used, can run up the cost of lawn mowing, cautions the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council, by being accident hazards.

The rotary type mower can become a lethal machine, warns the Council, if it is used to mow lawns or weeds where rocks, bones, pieces of wire, nails or other debris can be found. The cutting blade can be broken by striking a hard object and hurled through the air. Wire can be cut into short pieces and hurled at bullet speed. Be sure, advises the Council, that the area being mowed is free of such objects and that the mower is constructed so as to prevent objects being hurled toward the operator.

Furthermore, the Council suggests a few additional rules of safety which, if followed, could prevent many accidents involving lawn mowers or other power tools. "Never," they warn, "try to make adjustments to a mower with the engine running. It's just good business to remove the wire

Farm Facts

Farmers have long relied on signs to forecast the weather, but today's operations demand more precise information. Bad weather may hinder application or nullify effectiveness of materials in which they have invested heavily.

The U. S. Weather Bureau, therefore, is providing forecasts tailored specifically to agricultural operations in key areas. News media, the U. S. Department of Agriculture, and other agencies are cooperating.

These services include an agricultural interpretation of the 30-day and 5-day outlook, as well as hourly reports and information at intervals throughout the day on the kind of weather to expect for the next 36 hours and for 24 additional hours.

Also issued are agricultural aviation weather forecasts and summaries during the spraying and dusting seasons. Foresters are kept posted on "fire weather." Warnings also are issued of unusual distur-from the sparkplug before attempting to repair or adjust the cutting blade or remove accumulations of grass or weeds from under the mower."

Children should not be allowed to operate a mower nor should a person who is barefooted or wearing open toed shoes. The engine should be cool when refueling is done and if an electric mower is used be sure the extension cord is in perfect shape or you may be in for a shock, warns the Council.

It's a good idea, say the Councilmen, to once again read the operator's manual which came with the mower or other tools before taking them out for another season. The folks who made the equipment are concerned about the user's safety and have made recommendations to insure a long and useful life for the machine and operator, concludes the Safety group.

He must, points out Tom Prater, extension farm management specialist, keep up with the latest technological developments, new methods for controlling insects, plant and livestock diseases, new fertilization practices and management techniques which are constantly coming from research sources. One miscalculation can mean the difference between profit and loss. His average annual net income is $3,630, $307 above the national average.

Seed of Alamo-X, a new oat variety developed by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, will be available for fall plantings. Foundation seed were released to certified seed growers in 1961 for multiplication and supplies are expected to be fairly adequate for this fall's seedings.

Trial plantings by commercial sweet potato growers of two new varieties, Centennial and Nugget, are recommended by horticulturists of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station. Both have yielded well and produced high quality potatoes.

Game Commission Chairman Retires; Successor Named

Ben F. Vaughan, Jr., Corpus Christi attorney and businessman, has been named chairman of the Game and Fish Commission, following an announcement at the last Commission meeting, by Frank M. Wood, that he felt it necessary to retire as chairman of the Commission.

Wood, a Wichita Falls independent oil operator, has been chairman of the Commission for two years, since the retirement of Herbert Frensey of Houston from the Commission. Wood will remain on the Commission, however, Howard Carney, recently reappointed to the Game and Fish Commission, an Atlanta attorney and businessman, will fill the newly created post as vice chairman of the Commission.

"I would like to establish a new policy on the Commission, by retiring as chairman after having served in this position for two years," Wood said, at the beginning of last Friday's Commission meeting. "I feel that this is an honor and responsibility that should be passed around, and I also have very personal reasons for wanting to step from under some of the burden and responsibility that goes with this job."

Morris Higley, Childress newspaper publisher, was recognized as a new member of the Commission, succeeding Robert G. Carr of San Angelo, who has retired from the Commission.

Other members are W. O. Reed, of Dallas; H. A. Walsh, of El Paso; Carl L. DuPuy, of Lufkin; Wilson Southwell, of San Antonio, and J. F. Corley, of Houston.

CARD OF THANKS

May I express my deep appreciation to every one who visited me and to all who sent flowers, cards and gifts during my stay in the hospital and for all visits and every act of kindness since my return home, I am forever grateful. May God bless each of you.

An Open LETTER

I should like to thank the thousands of people over the 23rd who have pledged their support to Geo. Corse Jr. in the Senate Race; the reception of my candidacy has been tremendous, much better than anyone has a right to expect.

In humble acknowledgement, let me say that I shall continue to strive to make myself worthy of your confidence, win or lose.

Most of you folks already know my background and qualifications; the only thing I should like to add is to sum up: . . . Because of widely varied experiences, working on farms, teaching school, instructor in the Air Force and operating a small business, I feel that I shall know how to legislate fairly for all economic groups. We already have too many "specialists" in the state senate.

Basically, I believe that "economics by legislation" can be quite dangerous to a democratic form of government, because it tends to favor those groups that are politically and economically powerful and tends to ignore the larger elements of our society that are not politically and economically organized.

As individuals, most of us are pretty decent, because we care a great deal about what others think of us; however, as mere members of a group we often disclaim our individual responsibility.

For this reason, political and economic groups often act without the self-restraint and sense of fair play that is so needed in modern society.

We must remember that most individuals have a Christian Conscience; most political and economic organizations do not.

I urge you to remember that the "right to vote" is also a sacred duty; let us all do our duty by going to the polls next Saturday.

Sincerely,

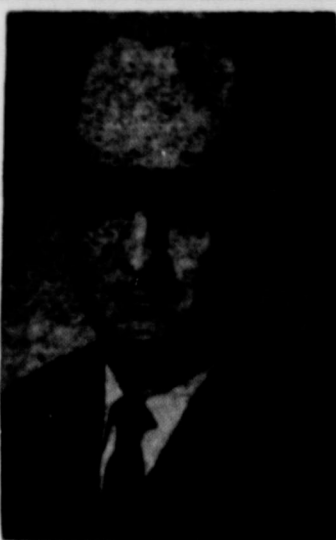

Geo. Corse Jr.,

Candidate for the State Senate

TO THE VOTERS OF KNOX COUNTY—

I again want to thank you for the honor of electing me to the office of County Treasurer three years ago.

I have remained on the job during this time as far as possible for me to do so. I have kept an accurate set of books, and they have always been open to the public. The Auditor has accepted and cleared all the accounts, receipts, and deposits.

I have made out a quarterly report and statement of condition every quarter since I have been in office, and which has been 100 percent correct so far.

I am aware that I have made mistakes since I have been in office but at all times I have tried to work for your interests, and honestly believe I have.

I have tried to see as many of you as I could, but if I have failed to see you it was not intended. I will appreciate your vote and influence for a second term as your county treasurer, and I promise again to do my best to make the kind of treasurer that you want me to be.

I will appreciate serving you a second term very much.

Thank you,
Ed Thompson

I Solicit Your

Vote Saturday

During my campaign for Sheriff of Knox County, I have tried to see as many voters of the county as possible. I realize that I have been unable to see all of you, and I want to assure you that your vote and support in next Saturday's election will be appreciated.

If you see fit to elect me your sheriff, I shall do all in my power to make the county a good peace officer. I will work with all officers of the county and state in seeing that the laws of our area are enforced.

My campaign has been solely upon my ability and qualifications, and I owe special privileges to no person or group of persons.

Let me urge you to vote Saturday—and help to elect me your sheriff.

HISTORY OF WILLS

Courts see that your intention or "will" as to property is carried out after you die. Before then you may revoke or change it any time.

The passing of property to heirs is one of man's oldest transactions. As far back as the Egyptian, Assyrian and Jewish civilizations we have wills written and witnessed on papyrus, clay tablets, etc. In one will an early testator left some of his property to his wife and named a guardian for his children.

The Hammurabi code (2100 B. C.) permitted a father by deed to favor his son.

Under early Roman law the head of a house could tell the patrician assembly his wishes, but later Roman law favored a written will to keep the testator's plans secret until death. It also favored having a firm record of his wishes, not resting on memory.

By 2100 A.D. England, where we got our law of wills, was quite well advanced: The church courts (like our probate courts) supervised disposition of property according to a "testament" of how the testator wanted his property to go.

Church courts supervised personal property (movables like armor or personal effects); land was passed on by wills which the king's court handled. Hence today we speak of "last will and testament" since English courts came to pass on both real and personal property, so that one court could handle the whole

To The Voters:

In the past few weeks, it has been my privilege to renew acquaintances with my friends and to make new friends in my campaign for Treasurer of Knox County.

You of Knox County, individually and collectively, have given me such gracious response and encouragement. It is a pleasure and an honor to live in a county that is made up of so much kindness and hospitality.

This campaign has been one of the most inspiring experiences of my life. I want to thank each of you and urge you to go to the polls and vote for me as your next County Treasurer.

English church courts had "executors" who carried out one's testament. To die "intestate" (without a testament) was almost like dying unconfessed. Sometimes the church in the interests of a man's soul could give some of the man's goods to others besides his family. Then, as now, some property had to be left to the surviving wife and children.

By the time of the American colonies, the laws were well settled, and law courts, rather than church courts, administered and distributed estates here.

(This newsfeature, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

East Texas farmers can put idle farm acres to profitable work by planting them in pine trees. Bill Smith, extension forester, says pine seedlings are available from the Texas Forest Service at a small cost. See your local county agent for more information and order blanks.

Matrons Club Of Weinert In Meeting

In keeping with the theme of the club's yearbook "Let's Open Doors," members of the Weinert Matrons Club opened the "Door of Pleasure" Thursday, April 26, when a fine arts program was presented in the home of Mrs. Buck Turnbow.

Mrs. W. A. King, program director, opened with a quotation from Mischa Elman, "Always remember that it is art which gives civilization life, not commerce." Roll call was answered with the naming of a famous composer by each member.

Mrs. R. C. Liles presented a very interesting and enjoyable talk on "How to get Real Pleasure from Music." She said music was written to be enjoyed not approached with solemnity. Mrs. Liles stated that music is both an intellectual experience, meaning that the better you understand it the more you admire it, and an emotional experience, meaning that it is possible to respond to it, to be lifted high by it, to enjoy it intensely without knowing the first thing about it. It is more important to feel music than understand it, she said.

Mrs. Liles also pointed out that christianity is a singing religion. We sing to express our feeling about God; to tell what we believe; to sustain our faith in time of need.

A recording of Tchaikovsky's "Nutteracker Suite" was played at the conclusion of Mrs. Liles talk.

Mrs. H. W. Liles presided over the business session and welcomed Mrs. Bob Raynes and Mrs. Jimmy Jenkins into the club as new members. The meeting was dismissed with the reading of the club collect led by Mrs. Fred Monke.

A delicious refreshment plate was served by the hostess to the following members: Mmes. W. A. King, H. W. Liles, R. C. Liles, Fred Monke, Henry Vojkufka, P. F. Weinert, Bob Raynes, John Earp, Jimmy Jenkins and Buck Turnbow.

The final meeting of the club year will be at 4 o'clock May 10 at the Weinert Community Center when Mrs. Vern Derr will install officers for the club year of 1962-63.

Dept. Invites Game Warden Applications

Applications for employment of a limited number of game wardens are now being accepted by the Game and Fish Commission. The Commission is interested in receiving these applications from young men between ages 21 and 40, who are high school graduates and have an interest in wildlife conservation. The need for the additional applications has been brought about through reorganization of the Game and Fish Commission, which has created additional opportunities for advancement of men who can meet the requirements.

Application forms are available at local Game and Fish Commission offices or from the Personnel Office in Austin. Completed applications must be received by the Personnel Office prior to May 15, 1962. Written and oral examinations will be conducted in selected areas throughout the state in June, to make final selections.

Applicants selected will be employed in September, 1962, and will attend the 16-week game warden training course at Texas A&M College, scheduled for February, 1963. The course of instruction includes all phases of conservation work.

Glen Amerson Is Injured In Wreck

Glen Amerson, former Texas Tech quarterback, was hospitalized early Saturday after a car mishap returning to Lubbock from Buffalo Lakes.

Amerson, 23, now a defensive halfback for the professional Philadelphia Eagles football team, and his roommate, Jim Henry, were following a car in which David Webb and Robert Denton, also of Lubbock, were riding.

The attention of both drivers was distracted by a man waving for help beside his parked car at the side of the road. The car driven by Webb slowed down and Henry's car struck it. The man who had been waving at the cars left the scene of the accident without rendering aid, it was related.

Amerson was admitted to Methodist Hospital about 2:35 a.m. Saturday and treated for facial and head lacerations. His condition is reported as fair. According to the physician in charge, Amerson will undergo plastic surgery. More tests and X-rays were scheduled for Monday.

He was taken to the hospital in Henry's wrecked car after difficulty in getting either car to start. Amerson is scheduled to get his degree from Tech in June and will report back to the Eagles later this year for training.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Amerson of Munday. Mr. and Mrs. Amerson were on their annual fishing trip with Mr. and Mrs. Jim Gaines at the time of the accident and left for Lubbock upon being notified.
