Munday Merchants Inaugurating Sweeping Price Reduction Sales

It really looks like fall when the merchants begin to put on their fall merchandising campaigns, and that is just what a number of the merchants of Munday are doing, and we believe that Munday offers the best values this fall that have ever been offered in this section.

Last week the Akers Dry Goods Company announced their Fall Opening Sale in which they announced a substantial reduction in prices on all seasonal merchandise, and Mr. Akers announces that the sale has gone so far in a most satisfactory way, and predicts a continued business on the strength of the substantial reductions he is offering the buying public.

This week the Grissom-Robertson store is inaugurating a great store-wide Stock-Reducing-Sale, in which they plan to reduce their big stock of merchandise by approximately $10,000, and in order to do this they are making drastic reductions on all their fall merchandise, as will be found by consulting their large double-page advertisement in this issue of The Times. J. E. Reeves, local manager of the concern, states that never before has he made such a sacrifice, but realizing that conditions are not so favorable for selling merchandise as they were when their buyers were in the market, they have determined to unload several thousand dollars worth of this new merchandise at the very opening of the fall season at a sacrifice, and that's the way of the big sale announced by the Grissom-Robertson store, which opens Saturday morning.

The Baker-Campbell Company are announcing their Stock-Breaking Sale in this issue of The Times. This sale opens Saturday morning and some attractive bargains are being offered by this old reliable establishment. Another sale announced this week is that of J. Arthur Smith who has announced a Clean-Up Sale of his entire stock of gents furnishings.

Other sales are likely to follow, and with these various sales going at full blast we believe that Munday offers the buying public the greatest array of bargains that has ever been offered to the public in this section of Texas. Never before have the merchants made such sacrifices as they are making in merchandise at this early stage of the season and, regardless of where you may reside, it will pay you to come to Munday to do your shopping.

Miss Lorene Parker has returned home from Dallas, where she has been employed by a wholesale millinery firm for several months.

Harvey Lee spent the week end in Wichita Falls with friends.

Geo. W. Jackson of Waco is here this week shaking hands with his many friends. Mr. Jackson was, until his resignation a short time ago, city marshal of Munday.

It's not what you get, but what you expect to get that makes life worth while.

THINKING OUT LOUD

BY J. A. K.

Among the delegation here from Rule the other day were Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Harris who preside over the destinies of the Rule Review, and who do a mighty good job of it giving the Rule folks one of the very best papers in this section.

And Mrs. Harris registered a kick with TOL, having missed the previous week's issue of The Munday Times, and among other things she stated that she read this column each week—and liked it.

In fact, most of the lady customers appreciate this column and TOL's efforts far more than the menfolk do.

When a paper fails to reach its destination it's usually the ladies who register a kick.

Advertising experts tell us that more than ninety per cent of the purchases are made through the ladies. They tell us that even in men's wearing apparel a vast majority of the purchases are made either directly or indirectly thru the lady folks.

Haskell County Fair Urges Early Entries of Stock

All those contemplating exhibiting both dairy and beef cattle at the Haskell County Fair on October 16, 17 and 18th, are urged by the association to bring in their cattle on the 14 and 15 so that they may be tested. The association will have a state veterinarian on hand and will do all possible to cooperate with both the exhibitor and the state department so that the fair will be the success that all expect it to be, and that we live up to the law which requires this test.

T. E. Camp, Mgr.

Moguls Take Game Off Throckmorton Friday Afternoon

The Munday Moral football squad journeyed to Throckmorton Friday afternoon and trounced the boys to the tune of 18 to 0.

Ideal football weather put plenty of pep into the boys and they just couldn't be stopped. With boy Myers ramming the line and Holder circling ends and tackles, the Moguls were hard to stop. When the gun fired for the end of the first half the Moguls only lacked 3 inches. Williams, who did not get into the lineup in the Seymour game because of a side injury, looked good at half-back and promises to be a very valuable man this season, especially on the defense. Capt. Pruitt furnished the thrill of the game when standing back in his own end, circled right end for 25 yds. The Mogul line was entirely a different machine from what performed at Seymour, and was opening holes to perfection. Coach Riley gets the credit for the improvement of the line. He only started work with them last week and states that the line will be in perfect condition for the affair with Haskell Friday, and that if Haskell intends to score they will have to take to the air or around the ends for the line is going to refuse to lose ground.

Football fans, the Moguls need support and your presence at the Haskell game Friday will encourage the players and help them win.

Contrary to the program printed last week the Moguls will play their first home game October 10 with Crowell. So get the old football spirit and back the best football team Munday has ever had. Do you want the boys to win? Then go to Haskell Friday afternoon.

Being courteous is much more to one's credit than merely being respectable.

Generally speaking, as a man's bank account increases, his heart takes the opposite direction.

So, it isn't any wonder that the ladies appreciate TOL's column. They know something good when they see it—or read it. They are more discriminating in their tastes than are we menfolk.

—And TOL caters to discriminating consumers.

We had something to say last week about the marksmanship of one of our delinquent subscribers, and now comes Old Man Davy with another story about the marksmanship of Thomas Greene Bengze, another one of our delinquents, and states that the same Sid is authority for the statement that the aforesaid TGB fired eighteen shot from a ten gauge shotgun and brought in only one little dyspeptic dove.

Personally, TOL knows nothing whatever about the marksmanship of either of the two above-named consumers, however the reports that they turn in concerning each other make us feel all the more secure when it is suggested that TOL might get shot.

Community improvement, like physical improvement, comes from exercise. Somebody has to do something.

Falling

CONFRONTED as we are with an enormous National Fire waste which has reached to proportions of an "economic burden" and has resulted in great loss of time, property, and even life, which could, in many instances have been prevented, or at least lessened, by proper observance of simple rules of fire prevention,

Now, I, C. L. Mayes, Mayor of the City of Munday, Texas, proclaim the week of October 5 to 11 as Fire Prevention Week, and earnestly solicit the cooperation of all the people of Munday in helping to observe this week in removing any and all fire hazards in and about their homes and further suggest that the press, volunteer fire department and public schools foster such programs of Fire Prevention during that week as will be of an educational value to our citizens.

Given under my hand and seal of office this 2nd day of October, 1930.

C. L. MAYES, Mayor of the City of Munday.

Half Million Cost of "Set" In Big Feature At Roxy

More than a half million dollars were spent in creating sets and costumes for "Dixiana," Radio Pictures' original musical drama to be seen at Roxy Theatre, Oct. 8 and 9th.

This was disclosed by Max Ree, Radio Pictures' art director, who designed settings for the colorful story of the old South which features Bebe Daniels and Everett Marshall.

"Six mammoth sets were designed for six of Radio Pictures' new sound stages," Ree said. "Each of these cost in the neighborhood of $100,000 to build and furnish!"

"There was, for instance, a replica of Cayetano's famous circus-theatre of New Orleans, a social rendezvous of 1840; a complete interior of an old Louisiana plantation home; a Louis XIV gambling saloon; two New Orleans streets; and a lavish Mardi Gras scene which occupied two of Radio Pictures' mammoth new sound stages.

"It took more than 5000 yards of silks and satins to produce the 300 criminal gowns. That ran into a lot of money."

Community improvement, like physical improvement, comes from exercise. Somebody has to do something.

County Agent Asks Farmers-Stockmen Aid In Shipments

"Farmers and ranchmen desiring to take advantage of the reduced railroad rates on feeds to be shipped into, or from one county to another, in the drought relief section of Texas should see the railroad agent or county agent at once and secure the necessary information. These rates will expire October 31, 1930," stated J. W. Jones, county agent for Knox county, when he was in Munday Monday afternoon.

Mr. Jones also stated that this reduction is also given in livestock shipped out of the designated drought county by cause of the drought. This does not apply to livestock sold to regular markets, or in regular marketing channels, but to other farmers or purchasers, stated Mr. Jones.

Sheriff C. R. Elliott of Benjamin was here on business Monday.

E. L. Covey of Gore was a visitor in Munday Wednesday.

Pastor Thanks Friends For Big Pounding Given

Last Friday afternoon, September 26th, the good people of Hood community gave to this pastor and family one of the most generous poundings it has ever been our good fortune and privilege to receive.

We embrace this opportunity of expressing publicly our sincere appreciation, not only for the bountiful poundings, but for the many kind words of love and esteem that have been so extravagantly bestowed on their unworthy servant. I have never served a better people in my ministry and I trust what time I may serve the people at Hood, that we shall all work together for the salvation of the lost and the glory of God.

We are indebted to Mrs. Edith Tidwell, Mrs. Lora Zellers and Mrs. Bessie Hendrix for services rendered. May God richly bless and prosper every one of you in my prayer.

E. V. TOOLEY, Pastor, Methodist Church, Munday Circuit.

Boosters For Rule Fair In Munday Tuesday At Noon

On Tuesday at noon a large delegation of citizens of Rule, accompanied by a negro band, came into the city boosting for the Rule Community Fair, which is to be held in that city on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week.

The negro band, while small in numbers, made up for their fewness by the pep they injected into the numbers played in their brief concert on the street, and announcements were made by members of the party concerning the approaching fair. The party had dinner in Munday and went on their way to other towns to tell of their great annual event.

Houston Sweatt Funeral Services Held Saturday

Houston Sweatt was born in Hunt county, Texas, January 29, 1894 and died at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. C. Sweatt near Knox City, Texas, September 26, 1930, and was laid to rest in Gillespie Cemetery September 27, 1930. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. McGregor, pastor of the Baptist church, assisted by Rev. Stoval, pastor of Baptist church of Knox City, and Rev. W. J. Mayhew, pastor of the Methodist church at Munday after which services at the Masonic lodge of Munday performed the last ceremony in laying to rest the body of their deceased brother, according to their usual ancient rites and customs.

Brother Houston Sweatt was reared from early boyhood in Knox county, where he was well known and universally liked. He was a member of the Gillespie Baptist church and also a member of both the I. O. O. F. and A. F. & A. M. Fraternal organization at Munday. The beautiful floral offering, the host of friends and the solemnity of the services, all bore true evidence of the high esteem in which Bro. Houston was held in this community.

The bereaved wife, Mrs. H. W. Sweatt, nee Miss Nell Ellis; the father and mother, Mrs. and Mrs. J. A. C. Sweatt, Knox City, and four sisters, Mrs. A. A. Nicholson, Knox City; Mrs. E. D. Herndon, McKinney; Misses Bertha and Flora Sweatt, Knox City; and four brothers Vernon Sweatt, Altman; Cecil Sweatt Brownfield; Lloyd Sweatt, Munday; and Gordon Sweatt, Silvertown, Texas, desire to express their appreciation of the courtesies, assistance, and floral offerings of all those who in any way rendered services in their sad bereavement.

Munday Contry Gets Over Half Inch Rain Sunday

The Munday country received a nice rain on Sunday, amounting to .65 inch, and which will likely prove of great benefit to some of the late feed. The rain fell slow and was accompanied by no wind, and little damage was done to the cotton, however, ginning has been slowed down considerably during the week on account of the shower.

More Cooperation Urged On Part of Business People With Athletics

The Moral football squad is the largest in history, having 23 men out regularly for practice.

O-O-O

The boys are doing their best for Munday High school and the town at large. With a little support from the town the boys could put Munday on the map.

O-O-O

Somehow the Mundayites are not as appreciative of a good football team as they should be.

O-O-O

Most of the live towns of Texas and other states declare a two hour holiday when there is a football game in the community and all the stores are closed for the occasion.

O-O-O

Then the boys are always rewarded in some legitimate manner when they win for the advertising they have brought the town.

O-C-O

Notice the town that is full of enthusiasm for football and you will see a community that puts pep into all community projects—and more than that—puts them over.

O-O-O

How many towns make the athletic fund hire transportation, pay gas bills etc, when the team plays away from home?

O-O-O

How many people meet the football boys on the street, shake their hand and say "you played a wonderful game and I am proud of you?" The majority of the people do not even know who won.

O-O-O

Do business men appreciate home town trade? The high school is the Munday boys and girls business and they appreciate your support.

O-O-O

Do you know that the Munday football team has played eleven straight games and their goal has not been crossed? That they have not had a single boy in four years to be heard cursing on the football field? That they hold the best sportsmanship record in this section of the country? That they have as much pep as any team they have ever played?

O-O-O

Yet, Citizens of Munday, you don't know who is on the football squad and who is not; you don't know who they play each Friday; you are not even proud of the record your home town boys have set.

O-O-O

How many merchants are willing to close their stores for two hours when a football game is being played here so that they and all their employes can attend? We suggest all who are willing to do so get together and put the matter over.

Let's show some pep and put the town of Munday on the map.

Wanna Williams Wins Title As "Miss Munday"

Miss Wanna Williams will be "Miss Munday" at the Haskell County Fair, she having received the largest number of votes in the popularity contest staged under the auspices of the Lions Club. The standing of the four candidates entered in the contest at the conclusion of the contest was as follows:

Miss Wanna Williams—12,260
Miss Lillian McGlothlin—8,532
Miss Blanche Newsome—7,590
Miss Lela Brock—3,600
Miss Lillian McGlothlin, who was second in the contest, will accompany Miss Williams as Maid of Honor, while the third contestant, Miss Blanche Newsome, received $5.00 in gold.

As a result of the contest the Lions Club received $168.91, which will go into the Community Chest fund, sponsored by the Club.

In the selection of these young ladies to represent Munday we feel that our city will be well represented in the present, and we congratulate the young ladies upon being selected, and also the successful candidates, for their friends worked faithfully and hard for them in the brief period in which they had to work.

KEEPING INFORMED

Some men who are neither blind nor illiterate, claim with great sincerity that they never “read the advertisements.”

Yet if you could investigate, in each case you would find that the man who never “reads the advertisements” used an advertised tooth paste, shaved with an advertised razor and shaving soap, or cream and smoked an advertised cigar. If he owns an automobile it will be an advertised one. If you ask his opinion of any automobile, he will reply in words that might have been lifted bodily from an advertisement of that automobile.

Advertising was formed his opinion to a great degree. He may have received his information thru others who obtained their knowledge from the advertising. But it is a fact that no man can escape the effect of advertising, even if he does say he “never reads the advertisements.”

In these days of good, truthful, helpful advertising to say, “I never read advertisements,” is merely one way of saying, “I don't read all advertisements.”

WHERE MAN FALLS DOWN

It may seem a bit odd, but a standing offer of $1,000 to the man who will imitate the work of the bee and reproduce the honeycomb is still without a taker. Master-lieck could write feelingly of the life of the bee.

Doc Foster and James Whitcomb Riley could philosophize humorously, and fool the busy insects into doing double duty by shifting the hive from north to south and back again; experts are able to obtain honey in various flavors by sending the honey gatherers into varied pastures and among dif-

POULTRY

When Fowls Are Removed Pests Do Not Survive.

Under ordinary temperatures a louse will not live more than a week removed from a bird, so if louse-free chickens are to be placed in a henhouse previously occupied by other poultry, it is necessary only to clean the house a week or so in advance, according to F. H. Wilson of the department of entomology of the New York State College of Agriculture. Incubator-hatched chicks can be reared louse free quite easily if they can be isolated from other chickens, he says.

To rid birds of lice the sodium fluoride treatment is recommended. Pinches of this material distributed among the feathers is the usual procedure. It is a rather irritating substance so precautions should be taken to prevent its getting into the eyes or widely distributed over one's skin, Mr. Wilson warns. If the bird is dusted over a paper, the dust which does not stay on the bird can be saved and used again.

A new method to kill lice suggested by the makers of nicotine sulphate is to paint the upper surface of the roosts with the substance undiluted. It is thought that the fumes from this material rising among the feathers of the roosting chickens will kill the lice and cause them to drop off.

To merely clean the henhouse and leave it a few days will not kill red mites, however. These are small reddish colored creatures that live in cracks and crevices and crawl over the birds at night to feed, and then return to hide during the day. Painting or spraying the roosts with kerosene or a properly diluted sulphate usually eliminates the mites.

Cod Liver Oil Helps Build Up Ailing Hens

Adequate roosting space is essential to the proper development of chicks on range. Chicks that are crowded at night are overworked and weakened. From four to six inches of roost space should be allowed for each bird. If there are too many birds for the size of the colony houses, summer shelters should be built. A summer shelter consists of a roof, sides and doors covered with wire and with roosts on the inside running from end to end.

Moving Pullets

Well developed pullets should be housed so that they will not be moved to a new house. This means that the laying house should be fixed up, any surplus stock sent to market and the pullets put on winter valances. If the pullets are underweight, then they should receive considerable grain and a limited mash ration. If the pullets are already well matured, then a liberal feeding of mash can be employed so as to encourage laying before cold weather.

Interior of House

The walls of the house must be tight to prevent drafts of cold air on the roosting area. Some old houses may be easily improved by lining the house with a good insulating material. The height of the house is very important. We frequently see poultry houses with from nine to twelve feet of overhead space. Since the heat from the birds rises to this large space overhead it results in a cold house for the birds both day and night.

POULTRY FACTS

Pullets thrive better if separated from the cockerels soon after sex can be distinguished.

The only difference between white and dark eggs is the color of the shell. The insides are exactly the same.

Hens are rarely profitable layers after two or three laying seasons. Production drops sharply after the second or third year.

Leghorn chicks will usually start roosting on low flat roosts in two or three weeks while the heavy breeds still prefer to stay on the floor at that age.

The best treatment for sick turkeys is the ax. Ordinarily there is little that can be done after turkeys become affected and run down physically.

A board or concrete floor, either is suitable for a poultry house. Concrete has the advantage of not warping and being more easily cleaned than a board floor.

Careful market men no longer buy thin, sickly birds. Since the grower has been responsible for the condition of the fowls, it is only fair that he should stand the loss.

A flock of Leghorn pullets laying 50 per cent must eat from 24 to 25 pounds of grain and mash daily. A decline of two pounds of feed from that amount is enough to cause a falling off in egg laying.

parent blossoms to do their stuff, but the construction of the comb continues to be the private and secret function of the bee himself. So far as making honeycomb is concerned man gives a fine imitation of the drone.

VALUATIONS AND TAXES

Taxpayers who have dreams of lowering taxes through smaller valuations are due for a jolt when it comes time to pay the taxes because taxes do not depend on arbitrary values placed on physical property by appraisal.

The old delusion will never wear off. So many property owners still cling to it as the panacea for all of their taxation ailments.

The amount of taxes levied is dependent entirely upon the amount of money required to run the government, local, township, county, state and federal.

As long as our present system of taxation prevails government expenses will be the measure of taxes needed.

If valuations decline as the result of new appraisements expenses remaining the same the tax rate will be higher. If valuations are increased the tax rate will be lower but the amount assessed will be unchanged if the expense of government does not vary.

This is a law that can't be evaded. No amount of altering down taxation values will change it. The only way to reduce taxes is to reduce government expenditures. This is a fact that every taxpayer should remember instead of building up false hopes when new appraisements are made.

THREE IMPORTANT FACTORS ENTER INTO THE COST OF YOUR AUTOMOBILE

1. How much it costs to make the car
2. How much extra you pay the dealer
3. How much it costs for operation and up-keep

THE PURCHASE of an automobile involves a considerable amount of money and it should be carefully considered from all angles before a final decision is made.

The value of the car to you depends on the value built into it at the factory, how much extra you pay the dealer for distribution, selling, financing and accessories and what it will cost to operate and maintain the car after purchase. Each of these factors, as it relates to the Ford car, is frankly explained below.

Economy in production

THE FORD CAR is made economically because of the efficiency of Ford production methods. The money saved through this efficiency is put back into the car in improved quality of material and in greater care and accuracy in manufacturing. The constant effort is to eliminate waste and find ways to make each part better and better without increasing cost—frequently at lowered cost.

Because of Ford economies in large production and because the Ford organization operates on a low-profit margin, the price you pay for the car is much less than it would be under any other conditions. Yet it brings you many unusual features of construction and performance. At least $75 extra value is represented alone by the Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield, the Rustless Steel, the four Houdaille double-acting hydraulic shock absorbers, and the five steel-spoke wheels. The unusually large number of ball and roller bearings and the extensive use of fine steel forgings instead of castings or stampings are additional features that reflect the high quality built into every part of the car. Throughout, it is a value far above the price you pay.

Low dealer charges

THE SAME PRINCIPLES of efficiency and economy that characterize the manufacture of the Ford car are applied also to distribution. Obviously it would do the public little good to save in production if these savings were sacrificed later in excessive costs of selling, financing and accessories.

The Ford dealer, therefore, operates on the same low-profit margin as the Ford Motor Company, his discount or commission being the lowest of any automobile dealer. He does a good business because he makes a small profit on many sales instead of a large profit on fewer sales.

Low charges for time payments through the Universal Credit Company

The lower cost of selling, combined with the low charges for financing and accessories, means a direct saving of at least $50 to $75 to every purchaser of a Ford in addition to the savings made possible by economies in manufacturing. The money you pay for a Ford goes into value in the car. It is not wasted in high dealer charges.

Low up-keep costs

IT IS IMPORTANT to remember that the cost of your automobile is not the first cost only, but the total cost after months and years of service. Here again there is a decided saving when you buy a Ford.

The cost of operation and up-keep is lower because of simplicity of design, the high quality of material, and the reduction of friction and wear through unusual accuracy in manufacturing and assembling. The reliability and longer life of the car contribute to its low depreciation per year of use.

The intelligent, painstaking service rendered by Ford dealers is under close factory supervision and is a factor in the low up-keep cost of the Ford. All labor is billed at a flat rate and replacement parts are always available at low prices through Ford dealers in every section of the United States.

In two, three or five years, depending on how much you drive, the saving in operating and maintaining a new Ford will amount to even more than the saving on the first cost of the car.

SEE AN OCULIST

If you have a growing child, it might be a good idea to drop around at the oculist's some day and have his vision tested. Often children have defective eyesight that does not get discovered. School authorities in Washington, D. C., recently found that only 3.4 per cent of 1860 school children examined were free from eye defects.

It is highly important, if there is something wrong with a child's eyes, for that fact to be learned. A youngster cannot hope to do himself justice in school if his eyes are defective. Often a supposedly dull student has been found to be suffering simply from weak vision; when remedial measures are taken such a child will show his full mental powers.

MAKING CITIZENSHIP

The greatest industry in this country is being promoted and the children can be prepared for more useful futures if the school patrons will work with those in charge of the schools.

Teachers will testify that the best results are obtained when the school work is placed first and consideration. They will also bear witness to the fact that the best results are obtained when parents back up school discipline.

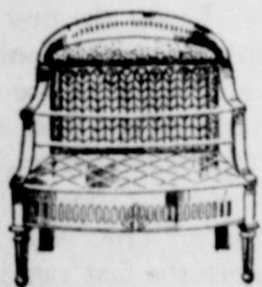

country is now under way, to continue for several months. It is one in which there are no labor, but its finished product is good citizenship. That industry is the American public school.

The American people, whose motto sometimes seems to be, "Let George do it," have a way of evading the responsibility for this great idealistic and practical enterprise, and leave it all to the teachers and school executives. They kick with great gusto when the high school graduate can't spell or write well, or when the schools have failed in some other respect, yet they never ask themselves if the success of the undertaking does not depend in large part on home cooperation.

Teachers and school executives who have to contend with parental indifference, find that their plants turn out only an indifferent product.

The success of the school operation can be greatly promoted and the children can be prepared for more useful futures if the school patrons will work with those in charge of the schools.

Teachers will testify that the best results are obtained when the school work is placed first and consideration. They will also bear witness to the fact that the best results are obtained when parents back up school discipline.

PROSPERITY AND ALASKA

When the United States government acquired Alaska from Russia in 1867, Secretary of State Seward, who engineered the deal, was the subject of much criticism in the press. The American people could hardly see the use of the new purchase; Alaska was dubbed "Seward's ice box" by the scoffers.

But in 1898, when gold was discovered, the time changed. Alaska became immensely valuable, the wisdom of Seward's act was made evident.

The gold rush didn't last, however. In the course of time the readily available ore was exhausted. Fairbanks, which was a town of 20,000 people during the height of the rush, declined to a village of 2,000. Alaska once more was looked upon as an unproductive almost useless waste.

Now it appears that Fairbanks is going to regain something of its former prominence. Hydraulic mining is to be undertaken on a big scale. Gold deposits, which could not be worked in the old style will yield a rich return if attacked by modern machinery; and more than $10,000,000 has been spent in preparation for large-scale activities.

As a result, Fairbanks' population has doubled, and is still growing. The Alaska railroad, which connects Fairbanks with the seaports of Anchorage and Seward, has been reaping the benefit of the new activity. For the first time in its history it is showing a profit.

Not is this all. The department of the interior, under whose wing Alaska nestles, estimates that the new mining operations will last for at least 25 years. By attracting men and money to Fairbanks and vicinity, they will stimulate other forms of production. Agricultural lands are rising in value; Alaska's soil is fertile, and the department believes that the impetus which the new mining ventures will give to farming will have a lasting effect.

Alaska is, potentially a rich country, even if it has not a grain of gold dust. It has good land, timber, forests, many kinds of ore-bearing rocks, fine fisheries, abundant water power, power sites. Some day it will be a populous and prosperous land. It may well be that the present developments at Fairbanks will be the beginning of the rise of Alaska to a place in the community of states.

Ernie Was Fast Worker, but Speed Didn't Count

Ernie was one of a group of plants on their way back from the Cape after a day in the water when a fire on one of the cars went flat. After desperate tooting, the leading car was started and the party in that machine, returning to volunteer aid, found that Ernie had made good progress in pulling out the stuck car.

With a deftness that surprised the party in view of the heat, Ernie soon had the ground covered with a row of tires, nuts and what not. In a surprising time everything was fixed.

"Just let her down off that Jack," he ordered one of the more impatient in the party who was holding with an apparent urge to help. The Jack was removed and the car flattened in the road.

"What a splendid job you've done," the gang echoed as Ernie looked around in disgust.

It was quickly found that Ernie had not only pulled the car out, but had put it back on again, at the same time the spare, all pumped up and ready to go, was lying within his reach.—Drocton Enterprise.

Cold Old Feather Bed Not Entirely Obsolete

Although feather beds are seldom used in this country, many of them are still in use in rural New England, particularly among elderly persons, says a writer in the New York Times Magazine. In earlier days the feathers of wild geese were considered best for stuffing the bedding, with duck feathers being used for the covers. There were numerous, and farmers and their sons found gunning profitable.

There was a ready market not only for the feathers but for the bodies. John Winter, in his account of expenditures at Richmond's island (Maine), in 1639, mentions paying a shilling each for geese, four for ducks and two pence for teal. In 1810 a Maine gunner paid for a farm from the proceeds of the geese, the greater part being derived from the sale of brant feathers. The aristocracy demanded brant feathers for their feather beds; probably not because they were better than other feathers, but because they were more rare.

Saved by Salt

One of the secret activities developed toward the end of the war was the creation of mine fields. One of these, in the state of New York, 200 miles long by 35 wide, was laid down by Capt. D. Pratt Mannix and his associates, and is described by a writer in a special article for St. Nicholas Magazine. The mine laying ships consisted only of storage space for the mines and a deck railway to drop them overboard. One rough hewn log was sunk in the water, dropped and anchored every eight seconds. The only thing that prevented (usually) an explosion from occurring was a small can of compressed salt which dissolved after half an hour's soaking in the ocean, and left the mine ready to explode. The mines were of this type, but to King Lear of bygone days.

He Got His Price

Jimmy's mother stored all the winter bed clothing in a small shed at the back of the house. One day, on returning from downtown, she found that all the bed clothing had disappeared. Without a delay she sought out Jimmy and asked him where the goods were.

"Do you mean those old mattresses and things?" he asked.

"Why, I sold those old things to the big man," he said.

His mother, agast, asked him how much he had received for them.

"Well," replied Jimmy, "I got a great satisfaction, after a lot of arguing I finally got him to give me six cents."—Indianapolis News.

Boys Will Be Boys

There came an angry rap on the kitchen door, and Mrs. Brown opened it to admit her neighbor, who was in a state of great indignation.

"It's that mischievous boy of yours," cried the enraged woman, holding up a brick for the other's inspection. "He's been and thrown this through my window."

A delighted look came over Mrs. Brown's face.

"Really? How interesting!" she remarked. "I wonder if you will let me have the brick? We're keeping all the little mementoes of his youthful pranks—the 'll be so interesting when he grows up."

Still a Surprise

Wilson & Webster received a letter from a London firm. It read: "We are very much surprised that the money we have so often demanded has not yet been paid."

"What shall we do?" said Mr. Wilson.

"Write them a letter," said Mr. Webster.

They wrote a letter, and when the manager of the London firm opened it he read: "You do not need to wonder, we have not sent the money."—London Answers.

The Volga River of Russia furnishes sturgeon from which eggs are taken. These eggs find a ready market throughout the world and are traded for tractors, electrical machinery and cotton goods. We import 500 tons from Russia which comes to over $600,000 annually.

MEXICO PLANS FARM REVIVAL

Employs American Experts to Restore Prosperity of Agriculture.

Urbana, Ill.—Mexico, "cradle of wars," has set out to restore an industry which it the more troubled times of 20 years ago proved its undoing, and it has summoned an Illinois authority to help do the job.

H. W. Mumford, dean of the college of agriculture, University of Illinois, and director of the state agricultural experiment station and extension service, has been appointed along with two other American agricultural authorities to serve on a commission which will study the state of agriculture and other phases of the republic's farming industry and make recommendations for their development. Members of the commission are now in Mexico carrying out their assignment.

Back in 1911 money accumulated by the Madero family of Chihuahua from stock raising supplied the means of war for the overthrow of the Diaz government. That benevolent dictator, who ruled between 1876 and 1910, is credited with having done more for the progress of Mexico, one of the world's richest treasure lands, than had been achieved by any other ruler in all the centuries of its previous history.

United States Plan Appeals.

Now stock raising in the rich republic is not as prosperous as it once was. Mexican officials realize, however, that the industry can be made just as potent a force for building up good government as it was when it flourished 20 years ago. Through the help of the Illinois expert and the two other members of the commission, Mexico hopes to bolster its live stock raising business and build up its agricultural education system after the pattern of agricultural colleges in the United States.

This is the republic, sometimes stoken of as "a wondrous storehouse of nature's wealth," taking a published course from the forces of internal struggle which has retarded its progress for years.

Citizens in the past have found in the broad pastures of Mexico a paradise of grazing land from which each year they reaped millions of profits. Hides constitute an important export to the United States. Ninety per cent of all the kinds of fruit grown in the world flourish in Mexico and every variety of grain found in the United States grows there in abundance, especially in the rich soils of that favored land.

Mumford is Authority.

The most important Mexican plant is the agave, or maguey. Fibers of the maguey are used to make paper and rope and its huge leaves are thatched for houses. Mexico produces normally about 100,000,000 bushels of corn annually, or about one-third as much as Illinois. The frijole, or Mexican bean, is grown in every one of the 28 states and two territories. Soybeans, which has made Yucatan one of the richest states in Mexico, is used largely in the manufacture of winter twine for American harvesters.

In naming Dean Mumford as one of three American counselors on its live stock problems, the Mexican government has selected one of the foremost live stock authorities of the United States. He was one of the first, if not the first, authorities in the country to recognize the importance of marketing studies in experiment station work. The first bulletin ever published on the marketing of a live stock product is "Production and Marketing of Wool," issued in 1909 by the Michigan experiment station. Credit is given him for doing the pioneering work in standardizing market classes and grades of live stock.

Matter of Orderliness More Than Being "Tidy"

It is not so much a matter of being tidy as it is a matter of being orderly.

If you talk to some folks about their lack of orderliness, they tell you, more often than not, that they cannot be bothered. Somehow they seem to love their disarray. It is always odd to see a man happily doing his work in the midst of a pile of disordered papers.

Disorderliness in a home, on the bench or desk or table, is not pleasant to look upon. Besides, if we are orderly in our work, it means more efficiency and therefore greater success. We have no right to do anything, or have any method or lack of method, that retards progress.—G. H. G. in London Tit-Bits.

Monks of Mount Athos

Form Large Community

Mount Athos is a rocky promontory in the Aegean sea, 40 miles out from the Aegean sea. It is the home of the greatest monastic community in any Christian land. Nearly 5,000 monks dwell in the republic. Athos and all its buildings are owned by the 20 sovereign monasteries of the orthodox church that rule the peninsula. The monasteries are the central relation to the administration is that of a minister plenipotentiary. In a thousand years only one woman has set foot on the island. She was the wife of Lord Stratford de Redcliffe, British minister at Constantinople during the Crimean war, and was permitted to land here as a special favor to her husband. Others claim to have been there, but the authorities at Athos deny their assertions. According to tradition, the first religious settlements were made during the reign of Constantine. It is known, however, that St. Athanasius established the first monastery of Lavra in 950 and it is still standing.

Peculiarities of Concrete

The barest of standards says that concrete does not blow up. Concrete, however, as well as practically every other material, expands with an increase in temperature. On a very hot day, under a sun, with no clouds in the sky, concrete roads will become very warm and expand to such an extent that it means are not taken in the design of the road to accommodate this expansion the road will "heave." As it is called, frequently breaking at the point where it has been raised in the air. The more cement that has been used per unit volume of concrete the greater will be the expansion.

Concrete also changes its volume due to changes in water content. Drying out causes shrinkage and wetting causes this expansion and contraction.

Go Afar for Perfume

When a tiny insect begins to damage rosebushes in Bulgaria, you may think that means nothing to you. Yet the rose oil, which will be a higher price for certain perfumes sold in America, notes Aromatics Magazine, for those decorative little bottles on the American woman's dressing table hold ingredients from every segment of the globe.

Grasse, in southern France, is the center of the floral perfume industry, but other flowers, blossoms and spices used in perfuming come from Spain, Ceylon, Brazil, Java, Ceylon, Japan and practically every corner of the world. Even the sperm whale of the northern oceans contributes by producing the ambergris which is essential to many perfumes.

Great Early American

Stephen Girard of Philadelphia was at first a seaman, working up until he became a master of the coasting trade. He then settled in Philadelphia as a merchant and ship owner, who devoted largely in the shares of the old Bank of the United States, 1810, and in 1812, on the lapsing of its charter, purchased a controlling interest in the banking and received a bank under the name of the Stephen Girard bank. He retained the old officers of the bank and made it one of the most financial institutions of the country. His fortune at his death was about $7,000,000, and he left to Girard college about $3,250,000.

Well, What Did You Say?

We quote the utterances of four persons of different degrees of education and greatness as they gazed into the Grand canyon:

Theodore Roosevelt — God Almighty made the Grand canyon. Man cannot even make the words to describe it.

An Anabaptist — It bankrupts the English language.

Girl from New Jersey — Golly, what a gully.

Cowboy — It shore is a — of a hole. — Vancouver Province.

That Last Journey

When a death comes sometimes it is said that the person has "gone West." The phrase, in this connection, is of great antiquity. Sophocles, in "Oedipus Tyrannus," referring to a calamity involving death throughout a wide district, says: "One man after another than mightest see, toward the shore of the Western God."—Detroit News.

A little fellow of five years fell and cut his upper lip so badly that a doctor had to be summoned to see up the wound.

The mother, in distress, could not refrain from saying: "Oh, doctor, I fear it will leave a scar on his face."

Tommy looked up into her tearful face and said: "Never mind, mamma, my nurse will cover it."

MAUD HART LOVELACE

Maud Hart Lovelace Advances New Theory on Our National Music

New York City.—Jazz is probably one of the most discussed themes in the world, and the problem of its origin still starts heated arguments.

Maud Hart Lovelace, famous novelist and portrayer of early Minnesota life, believes that the origin was spontaneous and simultaneous in America.

"Jazz comes from everywhere," she declares. "No portion of the United States has failed to contribute to it. The influence of the West are clearly defined, but few people realize the French Canadian influence which originated in Minnesota. The steamboats which plied between the early trading posts of Minnesota and St. Louis, often as far as New Orleans, brought many early French tunes in their wake.

"My research for 'The Black Angel,' the story of a family of early day troopers and my latest novel, 'Early Candlelight,' revealed to me several early songs of which traces are found in much of our modern music.

"'En Roulant Ma Boule,' 'La Claire Fontaine,' 'Alouette,' 'Ma Mignonette,' 'Embras-Moi,' are some of the early songs which still persist in many forms. 'Fanny, Dear What Love Can Do,' that very popular foxtrot song, is especially reminiscent of those early French Canadian tunes of Minnesota's contribution to the jazz melting pot."

U. S. Boys' Life With "U" Scholarships as Goal

Newly formed Fisher Body Craftsmen's Guild offers $50,000 in awards to youth

Detroit, Mich. — Four university scholarships of $5,000 each are offered to the boys of America, an announcement today of the formation of the Fisher Body Craftsmen's Guild, an organization dedicated to a program of education, arts and to perpetuate the ideals of the ancient craft guild.

The scholarships and more than 600 other awards having a total value in excess of $50,000 will be given to the boys who build the best miniature models of a Napoleonic boy in the nation between the ages of 12 and 19 inclusive. Owing to the wide age range, there will be two divisions: juniors aged 12 to 15 years and seniors aged 16 to 19 years, with equal awards to each group.

The Fisher Body Craftsmen's Guild and its educational program are headed by leading educators and industrialists. Dan Beard, national commissioner of the Boy Scouts of America, is honorary president of the Guild, and William A. Fisher, president of the Fisher Body Corporation, is its active president. The honorary board of judges of the Guild is composed of the following nationally known educators: Albert J. Thomas, president, Michigan State University; William A. Fisher, president, Michigan State University; J. A. Hitchcock, dean, College of Engineering, Pennsylvania State University; R. S. Kimball, dean, College of Engineering, Cornell University; F. R. Kellie, president, Institute of Technology, California; Robert A. Millikan, California Institute of Technology; R. L. Sackett, dean of engineering, Pennsylvania State University; Rev. T. A. Steiner, C. S. C., dean, College of Engineering, University of Notre Dame; and S. W. Stratton, president, Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Model of Napoleonic each boys of nation will make in educational contest fostered by the Fisher Body Craftsmen's Guild. Left, Dan Beard, national commissioner of the Boy Scouts of America; and honorary president of the Guild.

Through the training received as Guild members, and thereby to stimulate and develop in them the habit of saving money to buy a car, the contest is being held in the United States. The boys will be given a trip to Detroit to see the Fisher Body Corporation in its new plant, now being completed.

Each of these 20,000 motor car dealers has been supplied with educational literature with which to enroll the youthful entrants. In addition they will advise and assist the contestants in any questions which may arise. At the conclusion of the contest, each model made in each state and according to junior and senior groups. Abilene Morning News Gives Writeup Of Munday and The Munday Country

Munday, Sept. 27.—The City of Munday in "The Center of Prosperity in West Texas," has practically all of the advantages of the larger cities.

Churches, schools, business houses, industries, utilities and municipal government in the heart of the famous Knox Prairie are second to none in any town its size.

Schools, Churches
Munday prides herself in her schools and churches. The high school is recognized as one of the very best in this section of West Texas with 23 credits of affiliation already recognized by the state board of education. The school board this year is adding new departments which will increase the units of affiliation.

Both the Baptist and Methodist churches have excellent buildings and parsonages, and the Presbyterian and Church of Christ congregations, served by full-time ministers are well housed also.

An abundance of pure water is found beneath Munday and it is distributed through a modern municipally owned water system. A modern sewage system also is in operation here. The principal business streets are paved, and the area is served with electrical current by West Texas Utilities company for lighting and commercial power. High lines enter the city from five different directions, making interruption of service unknown.

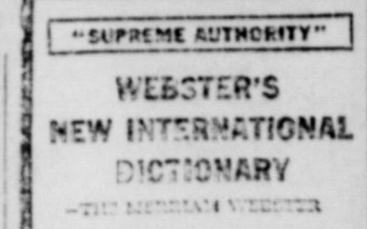

Plentiful Water Supply
Tapping the inexhaustible supply of water that is found beneath the Knox Prairie, several experiments have been made in irrigating crops. All small projects thus attempted have proved unusually successful. However, the Munday section is one of the safest dry farming sections in West Texas, as the sandy soil retains moisture and produces abundantly in years when tight land sections fail.

This season it is estimated that from 12,000 to 15,000 bales of cotton will be marketed here.

Farmers of the area are taking to the idea of diversification, and a well balanced program of diversification insures this section against failures that have been experienced in the past with all-cotton programs. A large surplus of feed has been grown here this year and farmers are selling it at a profit which exceeds that they are realizing from their large yield of cotton.

PROSPERITY CENTER
Surrounded on all sides by rich, smooth sandy soil which resists drought, and with a program of diversified farming, poultry raising and dairying the Munday section is called "The Center of Prosperity in West Texas."

Munday is situated midway between Abilene and Wichita Falls

The Electric Man Recommends Safety and Convenience Lighting

"Do you know, I think one of the most convenient uses of lighting is the garage light, the driveway light and the yard light."

"More than likely you've noticed this type of lighting equipment, and have made up your mind to install it at some future date."

"Don't deny yourself such an important convenience—when it costs so little. Under the new rate system, this lighting is possible at a cost of only 4c per kilowatt-hour—3c where service is also used for heating or cooking—and will increase your monthly bill only a few cents; not enough to counterbalance the advantages of good lighting."

"With the new Home Comfort rate, your normal use of service should absorb the first two rates, placing all additional consumption on the low rate."

"You are sure to appreciate the many advantages that Safety and Convenience Lighting will bring you—and now at such low cost, you cannot afford to be without these advantages."

And Remember—You Can Make Your Own Average Rate

Initial rate 12c
2nd rate 7c
Low rate 4c & 3c
