MUNDAY DEBATERS WIN IN DISTRICT

Are we proud of Hubert and Vera? Well, I guess, yes! Maybe you think it wasn't just grand the way they walked off with first place in district. Why, no one else even had half a chance when they began their orations. No! We think they are about the most capable students in Munday High School, don't you? And say—wouldn't it be wonderful if they would win state, too? We believe that they will, so here's three cheers for the master declaimers of Munday High!

"You cannot dream yourself to a character; but must hammer and forge yourself into one."
—MHS—

The boys' debate team composed of Jesse Geotge Kennedy and Lowry Rigby, who were in high spirits when they left for Abilene Friday, arrived too late to participate in the debating. They were very disappointed, but they were good sports and kept cheerful faces. We feel sure that they would have won some place if they would have taken part, because they are both excellent debaters.

"If to do were as easy as to know what were good to do, chapels had been churches and poor men's cottages, prince's palaces."

KNOW YOUR TEACHER
Riley B. Harrell started his education in a small rural school, Maxey Hall, in Hunt county. He completed the ward school here and entered high school at Wolfe City. Mr. Harrell is too modest to tell us very much about himself, but unusual things just breeze out, so we want to impart to you parts of our knowledge. Mr. Harrell graduated from Wolfe City with high honors. Do you know, Latin students, you may believe it or not, but Mr. Harrell took Caesar and Cicero without any first year Latin! He then entered North Texas State Teachers' College at Denton, where he majored in science and mathematics.

Mr. Harrell began his experience as a school teacher in 1929, in a rural school, serving as principal. He married Miss Katherine Snow just a few weeks before coming to Munday. Mr. Harrell came to Munday as fourth grade teacher, and Mr. Harrell came to M. H. S. as science teacher. He has also taught part of the high school mathematics.

Mr. Harrell is rather peculiar and his students do not always know just how to take him. We have learned that he is a man of few words, but that the words spoken are "well put", practical, and sensible. Mr. Harrell will make a very good record in the scientific fields.

world some day for he certainly knows everything he has had.

One of Mr. Harrell's characteristics that we especially appreciate is the consideration that he gives to even the smallest of our problems. He is always ready to laugh with students.

Mr. Harrell's dearest companion, besides his wife, is his ever faithful pipe.

—MHS—

One doubts that spring is here, when we have these occasional north winds, but you should just drive by our Munday High School building, and notice the numerous signs of spring. The paradise trees have foliage budding out more each day, and our flowers around the building look as if they were much older than they really are. In fact, we are watching them each day to see the blooms that we have so anxiously waited for. And another thing, the grass is coloring this bare old sandy ground with spots of bright green that really thrills every student. School means more to us this spring, because we are proud of our campus.

"To thine own self be true, and it must follow, as the night does the day, thou canst not then be false to any man."
—MHS—

AN APPRECIATION
"Each morning sees some task begin,
Each evening sees it close;
Something attempted, something done,
Has earned a night's repose."
—The Village Blacksmith—Longfellow.

The students of M. H. S. have learned to love, respect, and admire one person in this building without knowing just exactly why. We have learned that no matter what kind of weather we have; no matter what has happened at school, that there is going to be one person that is always on the job. Each morning when we come to school, we are assured of having the pleasure of seeing one calm, smiling, and understanding person in this building. As every high school student and teacher has already guessed, this person is Mr. Harrell.

Like a Symphony... the best Gasoline is Blended

IT'S primer knowledge to the orchestra conductor that each group of instruments in the ensemble brings a necessary influence into the symphony's blended sound of tone. In the unaccompanied "oomph" of the bass horns the over-lay of melody provided by singing violins and mellow woodwinds is lacking. All must be blended by the baton of the conductor according to the expert formula of the composer before the perfection of the symphony is achieved.

CONOCO long has realized that harmony is as necessary to gasoline as to music. So CONOCO gasoline is blended—and balanced. One type of gasoline is no more satisfactory than is an orchestra of bass horns. So CONOCO refiners take the three types containing the elements of the perfect fuel and deftly combine them until they blend in absolute harmony.

That's why CONOCO contains: Natural Gasoline, for quick starting... Straight-run Gasoline, for power and long mileage... Cracked Gasoline, for its anti-knock qualities.

No single type of gasoline can contain all these qualities. They are present, though, in CONOCO Gasoline... Blended three into a symphony, harmonious whole, with CONOCO'S master refiners wielding the baton. For, after all, it's in knowing how. That's why some musical directors, as well as some refiners, achieve fame. You'll find this triple-test gasoline with the balanced blend wherever you see the CONOCO Red Triangle.

FORD RELIABILITY

Long, hard use shows the value of good materials and simplicity of design

EVERYWHERE you go you hear reports of the good performance and reliability of the Ford.

One owner writes—"The Ford Tudor Sedan I am driving has covered 59,300 miles through all kinds of weather. It is still giving perfect satisfaction."

Another owner describes a trip of 3217 miles in 95 hours over bad roads and through heavy rain and sleet in the mountains. "Throughout the entire trip," he writes, "the Ford performed excellently and no mechanical trouble of any kind was experienced. The shatter-proof glass undoubtedly saved us from serious injury when a prairie chicken struck the windshield while we were traveling at 65 miles an hour."

See the nearest dealer and have him give you a demonstration ride in the Ford. Then, from your own personal experience, you will know that it brings you everything you want or need in a motor car at an unusually low price.

Roxy Theatre, April 27-28

RICHARD DIX

Who plays the leading role in "Cimarron," coming to Roxy Theatre April 27 and 28.

"Folks, there's never been anything like it since Creation. Creation! Heil! That took six days. This was done in one. It was History made in an hour—and I helped make it. Thousands and thousands of people from all over this vast commonwealth of ours traveled hundreds of miles to get a bare piece of land for nothing. But what land! Virgin except when the Indians had roamed it. Lands of lost gods, and godlike men! They came like a procession—a crazy procession—all the way to the Border, covering the ground as fast as they could, by any means at hand—scrambling over the ground, pushing and shoving each other into the ditches to get there first. God knows why—for all they knew that once arrived there they'd have to wait like penned cattle for the firing of the signal shot that opened the promised land.

"As I got nearer the line it was like ants swarming on sugar. Over the little hills they came, and out of the scrub-oak woods and across the prairie. They came from Texas, and Arkansas and Colorado and Missouri. They came on foot, by God, all the way from Iowa and Nebraska! They came in buggies and wagons and on horseback and muleback. In prairie schooners and on carts and carriages. I saw a surrey, honey colored, with a fringe around the top, and two elegant boys drawing it, still stepping high along those rutted roads as if out for a drive in the Presidio. There was a black boy driving it, brass buttons and all, and in the back seat was a dude in a light tan coat and a cigar in his mouth and a diamond in his shirtfront; and a woman beside him in a big hat and a pink shirt laughing and waving the horses along the red

THE LEGISLATURE PASSES A PROTECTIVE LAW.

A bill has been passed by the legislature which would prohibit the county commissioners from issuing warrants in large amounts without submitting the issue to the people for a popular vote.

This is one of the best laws that has been enacted by this session of the legislature, according to our way of thinking, and the tax-ridden citizens of many counties will regret that this law was not enacted some years ago.

In one Texas county the commissioners' court recently issued warrants to the extent of almost $300,000 for the erection of a new court house. Other counties have had the same experience, and in most instances these warrants have been issued in spite of the fact that the commissioners knew full well that should the issue be submitted to the people it would be badly defeated.

Tax burdens are mounting each year and earnings from farms and other lines of endeavor are on the decline, and unless something is done to put a stop to increased burdens in the way of taxation the country will face bankruptcy.

In some instances commissioners have given as an excuse for the issuance of warrants the unemployment situation, and contend that the improvements at this time will provide employment for the unemployed. This may be good business, and probably is—for the unemployed. But what about the citizens who must pay the bill by producing cotton at less than the cost of production. How about placing an additional burden upon the farmer who is already overburdened with land notes, and is hanging on by bulldog tenacity in order to protect the equity in his home that he has spent years of hard work to acquire? Should he not have a voice in the placing of additional indebtedness against his property?

If the legislature down at Austin does nothing else, it has to its credit one of the best pieces of legislation that has been enacted into law in recent years, a law that will return to the people and to the people only the authority to place a tax burden upon themselves.

LET THEM SPEAK THEIR MINDS

Let's have a word in praise of the coming graduates even now working their minds upon problems to be solved at the annual commencement.

While the race of human beings pokes fun at the youngsters isn't there something to praise in the eagerness with which they attack the evils of the day and the hopefulness with which they plead their special causes?

Youth may be criticized for lack of years, but if cynical experience may really see that she is well qualified for this position, and we may say that she certainly knows Spanish and English. Miss Kendall will not soon be forgotten by this group of Senior students, or by members of other classes.

"He is well paid, that is well satisfied."

—SENIORS—
Well, folks, old "M. H. S." is still sailing! One morning just as the sun was coming up "M. H. S." anchored in the harbor of Mayfield, Texas, and picked up Floyce Crume.

Floyce started to school here in the first grade but moved from here after her first year. Nevertheless, Floyce started back with us last year, and today she means as much to us as one that has journeyed with us all the way.

Floyce has about the best disposition of any girl in our class. If you have ever seen her mad that beats us. She has much "dry wit" and we seniors are very proud of her.

Floyce wishes to attend some school in Arkansas. Do you know her ambition? She said that she wanted to be an old maid (feature that!) and "to live in the house by the side of the road and be a friend to man."

Occupation: Saying something sarcastic.

—MHS—
Old M. H. S. did not stay long in Mayfield and she sailed peacefully along until one of the crew, Mr. Hardegree, told the pilot, Mr. Riley, that he had left a little girl by the name of Francis Dickerson away back in Munday, so we see the old ship anchored back in the harbor of Munday.

Having taken her A. B. degree in Mrs. Miss Kendall came to Munday as the Spanish and Assistant English teacher in September. One the man who has to strain his entire financial resources to undertake new enterprises might as well watch his step.

As in other critical days common sense is the best asset. Big talk and extravagant expectations will not make the grade. Progress today should be based on something more substantial than dreams if it is to endure.

ONE KING LESS

King Alfonso has packed his goods, including the crown jewels, and moved out of Spain, leaving with the expressed hope that his people will call him back to power at a later date.

We know little about Spanish affairs but we are for the republicans, and hope that they give the country a break. It needs one!
