TODAY and TOMORROW

By Frank Parker Stockbridge

STATESMAN Elihu Root

Elihu Root was 90 years old on February 15th. I cannot help thinking of him as the "Grand Old Man" of America. Seven Presidents have looked to Mr. Root for advice and counsel. Not once has his influence been cast in any direction except for the lasting welfare of his country. I think of few other living men anywhere in the world who can so truly be called statesmen.

It was Elihu Root who, as chairman of the New York Constitutional Convention of 1915, first directed public attention to a young delegate named Alfred E. Smith. Although of opposite political parties, Mr. Root took occasion to say publicly that Mr. Smith understood the principles of government and that of New York particularly, better than any other man in the convention.

Mr. Root distrusts people who are in a hurry. They usually go in the wrong direction, he thinks. "Foot over foot, the dog went to Dover," is one of his favorite proverbs.

I hope Mr. Root lives to advise his country for many years to come.

HEAVEN and back

Not only those of simple faith in the hereafter promised to good men and women in the Bible, but almost everybody who has ever given serious thought to the hope of a life beyond the grave, has read or listened to the tale told by John Puckering, the English gardener who came back to life from death. His heart had stopped beating for five minutes or more, after an operation. Skillful surgical massage started it going again; but for those five minutes Puckering was actually dead, to all intents and purposes.

He is sorry, he says, that they called him back from the beautiful world in which he saw his dead wife and many old friends, all looking supremely happy. "Once he feared death; now it has no terrors for him. The world will talk about Puckering and his experience for a long time. If the net result is to lift the fear of death from human hearts, he will have accomplished a great mission.

I do not know the answer to the question of what comes after this life, but I do believe that none who has done his best to help others and injure nobody in this world needs to have any apprehension about the next world.

REWARD for honesty

I don't recall a newspaper story in a long time that struck me as containing such pleasing elements as that of Frank Gregea, who found a wallet full of securities in the snow in Wall Street, turned the treasure-trove over to the police, and went back to his dollar-a-day job as "sandwich man," carrying a sign through the financial district. Now this man of 67, who came to America from Lithuania 47 years ago, has cash in the bank a new suit of clothes and a steady job as the reward for his honesty.

The "Cinderella" theme is always appealing. Everybody likes to hear of somebody rising from poverty to sudden riches. But to me the most appealing part of this story was Frank Gregea's remark that "there's always work in America for any man who isn't particular about what he does."

That is everlastingly true. I believe that it is true today, even in the face of all the talk of unemployment. The greatest handicap any man can put on himself is the burden of pride, of unwillingness to work at something which he regards as degrading.

MAGIC of surgery

What medical science has learned about the mechanics of the human body in the past 25 years or so, is far more than was learned in all the time past. Few know anything about the ductless glands; now every physician knows that they control growth, emotions, mental development, and many other bodily functions.

The nearest approach to magic that I have heard about lately is the result obtained by a Russian surgeon in grafting the pituitary gland of a young man who had been killed in an automobile accident into the body of a girl midwife. At fifteen, the girl was only three feet tall. Within six months after the operation she had grown three inches. Then another opportunity came to obtain a fresh pituitary gland, from the brain cavity of a girl who had just died. This also was grafted into the midwife, who has grown another 2 1/2 inches and is still growing.

AT THE METHODIST CHURCH

The contest with Haskell and Seymour churches started off with a smaller attendance than the average. Church pride and enthusiasm were lacking. We yet enthusiastic about many things and allow the work of the church to lag. The Methodist church is badly in need of coordination. It doesn't have enough solidarity. To many do not attend at all. In fact we have quite a few excellent people who have not been about the church during the present pastorate. A still larger number are spasmodic in their attendance. You never know whether to prepare a sermon for them or not. A good sprinkling of our membership seem to be regular gals-about. Apparently our membership is spending four times as much as it would take to run the church well, on needless use of cars, tobacco, cold drinks, shooting the balls and other needless self-indulgences. If this money could be turned to the church our grounds would not look so badly neglected, our property unpainted and the whole church block look like the hind-wheels of bad management. Suppose we stop long enough to check up on ourselves a little. The group you young people organized for some real work at the parsonage Friday evening.

The Woman's Missionary Society means business and is doing a fine work. The Board of Stewards as a whole are a fine bunch and doing their work well. I have never had a more faithful nor finer group than those that are vitally interested and are at work.

President C. C. Smith of McMurry College is to preach for us next Sunday at 11 A.M.

Come with us and we will try to do you good.

GEO. S. SLOVER.

Knox County was represented at the Wichita Club Calf Show last Saturday by Price Trimmer, who showed seven of his calves, one bringing $14 1/2 cents, another 13 1/2 cents and five for 12 1/2 cents. The calves grossed him $509.45. The grand champion of the show, owned by a Meagard lad, sold for 65 cents per pound and weighed over one thousand pounds.

Government Will Conduct T.B. Tests In Knox County

A county-wide campaign to eliminate T.B. among cattle will be conducted during April and May, according to W. W. Rice, County Agent, who stated that at the same time an effort would be made to eliminate contagious abortion among the cattle of the county, which is taking a heavy toll from cattlemen over the county. All condemned cattle will be bought and paid for by the Government and those who wish tests are requested to call at the county agent's office and sign contacts.

Mrs. Bill Meadows and daughter, George Anna, of Amarillo are guests in the home of Mrs. Meadows' parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Isbell. Other guests in the Isbell home Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. J. R. McKinney and son Gene Edward, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Tidwell and son Jack Quinn of Abilene.

Miss Evalyn Williams and Miss Merle Lowe spent the week end in Dallas.

Funeral Rites For Gail Thomas Smith Held Here Saturday

Funeral services for Gail Thomas Smith, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Smith, were conducted Saturday afternoon at the Baptist Church with Rev. W. H. Albertson officiating. Interment was made in Johnson cemetery.

Smith died in a Houston hospital on Thursday of meningitis after a week's illness and the remains were returned here, arriving on the evening train Friday, and were taken in charge by the Campbell Funeral home.

Born in Comanche County October 15, 1905 deceased came to Haskell County with his parents in 1922 and moved to this community in 1927 and has resided here continuously except for three years spent on the plains. Some months ago he enrolled in the service of the Government and was stationed in one of the CCC camps near Houston when stricken. He was a most excellent young man and his untimely death has occasioned great sorrow among his wide circle of friends.

In addition to his parents he is survived by three brothers, Oils, Menyard and Aubrey, five sisters, Elaine, Ruth, Frances, Mildred and Elizabeth.

The Times joins their many friends in extending sincere condolence in their great sorrow.

Miss Mann Gives Favorable Report On County Schools

Mr. J. Lyndal Hughes, County School Superintendent, Benjamin, Texas.

Dear Mr. Hughes: On the whole, the schools of your county are doing very commendable work. There is an air of progressiveness and wholesomeness about the schools which I visited that is conducive to good school work. I sincerely appreciate the courtesies extended me while in your county. I wish to commend the trustees and patrons of the districts which I visited for the satisfactory condition in which I found the schools at this time in regard to finance and efforts to do standard work. Apparently, the schools are being operated on a sound financial basis as there are very few debts. The efforts to doing standard work is especially appreciated by the State Department of Education as it is the best indication of interest in the educational welfare of Texas school children.

I was particularly impressed with the work that is being done in several of the rural schools on the music program which is being encouraged by Mr. Woods, our State Superintendent of Public Instruction. Incidentally, our district, of which Knox County is a part, is leading the state in sponsoring music in the public schools.

Recognizing that every school child has the right to have his abilities discovered and put to their greatest use, it is encouraging to learn from your teachers that they are giving standardized tests and that they plan to cooperate in the district-wide testing program which will occur before the end of this school year.

I suggest for your county a better organization of its county-wide system of transportation. I suggest this because with the present set-up every child does not have an equal opportunity to attend an accredited high school. I recommend that immediate steps be taken to provide better educational opportunities for the children of Vera, Lone Star and Cottonwood. If this would require the construction of a central high school to accommodate the children of the three districts, to seriously consider the project. I would also recommend that more interest be taken in the music program throughout the county.

I shall be back to visit your schools in April.

Very sincerely yours,
SUE B. MANN,
Deputy State Superintendent.

J. H. Parker was in Vernon Sunday visiting friends.

County Primary Teachers Meet In Saturday at K.C.

The Knox County Primary Teachers met in regular session at Knox City last Saturday morning. The following teachers were present: Miss Eva Jones, Hefner School; Mrs. W. L. Miller, Truscott Public Schools; Miss Jennie Patton, Gorse Public Schools; Miss Elsie Graham, and Miss Ruth Rice of Knox City Public Schools; Mrs. Noel Brown of Dixon School; Mrs. Cleo Moon, Brock School; Miss Jessie Gaston, Mrs. Alta Moore Barton and Miss Gladys Williams of the Sunset Consolidated School.

Several of the teachers brought along their scrap books and these were examined for suggestions. The project to be used in the primary rooms during the month of March was discussed.

Often times the outstanding good received at the primary teachers meeting is the opportunity to inspect the room arrangement of the primary rooms visited. Many complimentary comments were heard on the primary rooms of Knox City.

The program for the next meeting was set for April 6th and will be held at Truscott. The theme of this meeting will be Music. Several of the rural schools of the county that have been doing outstanding work in music in their schools will have their pupils there to sing. Mr. Woods, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, is very interested in the music program that is being promoted throughout the state of Texas. He appreciated the statement that there are three classes of musicians. First, there are the creators of music; second, the performers; and third, listening musicians. Mr. Woods is endeavoring in his music program to enlarge the class of listening musicians.

Farm Modernization Will Be Discussed By Council Women

Messrs. A. C. Kjos and Joe Bracher, field representatives, of Fort Worth, will meet with the Council Women at 2:30 p.m. on March 9 in the Study Club room to outline and discuss farm modernization and all who are interested are invited to attend.

HELEN BURCHARD, C.H.D.A.

UNION GROVES CLUB MEETS

The Union Grove 4-H Club girls met Friday, March the first, at the Union Grove School House. The meeting was called to order by the president, Inaleen Williams, and the minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary, Kanova Loper. Owing to the absence of the demonstrators the sponsor took charge and the girls worked on their sewing boxes, having most of them completed. The girls discussed their gardens. Most of them have their gardens in good condition.

The girls planned to have a forty-two party at the Union Grove School House Friday night, March 15th, at 7:30. Ten cents a person or twenty cents a couple will be charged to play the entire evening. The money received will be used in sending a girl to the A. & M. Short Course. Everyone is urged to come and bring a partner.

After the new business the meeting was adjourned until the next meeting day, March twenty-second.

THE NEW HOPE CLUB MEETS

The New Hope Club met Wednesday, February 27th, with Mrs. Clyde Yost. The president called the house to order and a club song was sung. Maybelle Yost was elected secretary while Mrs. Bill Henderson and Mrs. T. V. Yost were elected wardrobe demonstrators. Mrs. Bill Henderson gave a report on the pattern demonstration for non-club members at Mrs. Warren Huisson's last Tuesday.

We noted that we change the meeting day from the 2nd and 4th Wednesday to 1st and 3rd Fridays. The meeting was then turned over to Miss Burchard, who discussed the use of storage and fitted our foundation patterns.

We are very proud of our new members, Mrs. Fayette Hardin and Lena Hardin. Quite recently we learned that a lot of women have an idea that the club has dues. We are glad to correct this error and we invite these women to join us.

Those present were messdames E. T. Clark, T. V. Yost, Bill Henderson, E. H. Frasure, Jessa Yost, Fayette Hardin, Clyde Yost and Messes Lena Hardin, Maybelle Yost, Lois Frasure, and Miss Helen Burchard.

Mrs. R. M. Matson was called to Austin last Wednesday by a message stating that her sister, Miss Ruth Stinson, was severely burned. Mrs. Matson was accompanied by Mrs. Matson, who returned Friday. Miss Stinson has visited in the Matson home here several times. Late reports indicate slight improvement in her condition.

Pay Car Tax Now

House Bill No. 515 recently enacted by the Legislature permits the use of 1935 automobile license plates now. You can register now and avoid the rush of the last days of this month.

Cotton Contracts To Be Signed From March 11th to 16th

Beginning March 11th and continuing through the 16th, cotton contracts for 1935 will be signed up all over Knox County.

All farmers that had a contract in 1934 are required to sign a new contract for 1935. All that did not sign a contract in 1934 may sign up now for the coming year.

This work is being pushed to a finish in one week in order that it may be sent to the State Board on time this year.

Farmers are urged to lease 25 per cent to the government again this year. This year's contract calls for only 25 per cent reduction with an additional 10 per cent if desired by the farmer.

The government has announced that under the Bankhead Law, certificates will be issued on only 65 per cent of the base acres, therefore, if the contract signers reduce only 25 per cent, there will be 10 per cent for which no certificates will be issued.

Signing will start in all communities in Knox County beginning on March 11 and ending March 16. After this date farmers will have to call at the County Agent's office to sign contracts.

E. O. Peery, county agent for Sunset will handle the contracts in that vicinity at the Sunset School House.

John Rice and Clarence Thompson will be located over the Eliland Drug Store to handle the Munday contracts.

August Schumacher will take care of all contracts from Rhineland.

Checks For $15,000 Received On Cotton Exemption Contracts

W. W. Rice, County Agent, was here Wednesday and stated that 229 checks for distribution among farmers of the county on Tax Exemption Certificates. The checks aggregated $15,000 and represents a portion of approximately $100,000 that will be paid in the county, according to Mr. Rice.

RHINELAND

Miss Sue Mann, the State Deputy Superintendent of this district, visited our school last Wednesday.

When! The exams are again approaching. One consolation that we have is that there are two more this year.

Albert, one of our senior boys, went to the valley last week. He evidently met some beautiful seniors, because by observation his classmates now that they must occupy his mind during long meditations.

A current simile: As scarce as a thought in a senior's mind. As refreshing as an original thought by Mono.

New uses of punctuation marks: An apostrophe is used for decoration. For further information apply at Mono's.

Mrs. Anton Wilde and sons, George and Arnold visited in Windhorst, Texas, the first of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Loran and grandchildren Florene, Harold and Donald Decker visited in Wichita Falls last Saturday.

Mr. Ferdinand Fetsch and son, Albert, motored to the Valley last week. They were accompanied by Mr. Albert Franklin.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sokora are the proud parents of a baby girl.

H. D. CLUBS

Another Score for Sub-Irrigation

Marguerite Westbrook, 4-H Garden Demonstrator of the Truscott Club says, "I was offered either the big garden space or the garden space that is sub-irrigated. I chose the sub-irrigated plot, for I was sure of the seed growing in it, but in the other I was not so sure."

Even the youngsters have found the true value of sub-irrigation; if we could only get their parents interested in the project, especially out here in this dry West Texas section where too much meat and not enough fresh vegetables and fresh fruit are eaten.

THE CLOSET MUST GROW UP

Miss Ruby Myers, Wardrobe Demonstrator Class I, of the Sunset Home Demonstration Club has taken a "before" picture of her closet space and is planning to start work at once on a larger up-to-standard one.

"My brother," said Miss Myers, "built this small closet for his own, but since it is now mine and I have grown up—with more clothes—I need a larger storage space. Too, I want to build it to the ceiling, thus doing away with a dust-catcher and adding space for the storage of my baggage and other things not used so often."

When her closet is completed Miss Myers will take an "after" picture. These two photographs will help to make her wardrobe record and add a great deal to her grade. She keeps an inventory of her entire wardrobe from August 1, 1934, to August 1, 1935; a record of all purchases made, the date, their make, their cost, and how long of valuable use.

At the end of the year, Miss Myers' closet, note book, and dress will be graded. The person winning the County Prize gets a trip to the Short Course at A. & M. College.

ONE GOES FAR WITH SUCH ENTHUSIASM

"From the very first," says Mrs. H. D. Gammill, Pres. of the Sunset Home Demonstration Club, "I have wanted to be the 4-H Pantry Demonstrator, and I was delighted when I was elected as such. I have started my garden, and as soon as possible I shall repair my storage space as near to standard requirements as possible. I have great possibilities for I have an excellent cellar, and I intend to have an enviable demonstration when all is finished."

ASK ME; I MAY KNOW

Mrs. Sam Hampton, Class I Wardrobe Demonstrator of Hefner Club, says, "I want to learn every thing about Foundation patterns and standard Storage Space, so I shall be able to help the co-operators and anyone that comes for help concerning these two major factors included in the work of a Wardrobe Demonstrator. I also want to keep up the good work that has been started in the Hefner Club for the past two years. With help of the other members of the club and a great deal of work on my part, I expect to keep up this record."

SUNSET H.D. CLUB

Sunset H.D. Club met Wednesday February 27th at Sunset, with the president in the chair.

The subject, "The AAA Cotton Program Does Not Threaten Our Cotton Supremacy," was discussed by Mrs. D. E. Culbertson and Miss Ruby Myers. Our Council representative is presenting these programs in a very interesting manner and the women are enjoying them.

Within a very few weeks Sunset H.D. Club hopes to present a play to the patrons and friends of our community.

Our club meets Wednesday, March 13th, at Sunset, at which time Miss Burchard will give a demonstration on the "Value and Use of Leafy Vegetables." She will discuss the causes of Pellagra and the necessity of proper kind and amount of food.

The following members were present: Messdames H. D. Gammill, L. L. Wombie, A. P. Garrett, R. J. Walling, J. G. Swann, Lloyd Brown, Roe Myers, H. L. Rowell, D. E. Culbertson, R. C. Partridge, R. M. Almarode, J. M. Crouch and Miss Ruby Myers.

Friends and relatives of Edd and Wylie Johnson gave them a surprise birthday dinner Sunday. Their birthdays being only a few days apart, Sunday, March 3rd was selected since that was the 43rd wedding anniversary of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. V. Johnson. They received several nice gifts. A real birthday dinner was served to 47 guests.

Brushy News

Sunday School, at Union Chapel, was, as usual, well attended Sunday. Remember next Sunday is regular preaching day. All are cordially invited to be present.
Prayer meeting Thursday night as usual.
Our attendance at the Brushy Baptist church seems to be dropping off. Now that the winter is almost over, it should be increasing. Let's make a special effort to see absentees, and urge them to come back to Sunday School, and to invite those who are not in the Lord's service elsewhere, to come worship with us each Sunday.

The declamation contests, staged at the school house Friday night, for the purpose of selecting our representatives at the League meet, resulted in the following pupils being chosen:

Miss Lucille Poole, of Grasshopper school, Mrs. John Ingram of Cartwright, and Mr. Hinson of Allen Chapel acted as judges. All of the declamations were fine, and we heartily commend the efforts of both pupils and teachers in preparing them.
The sub-juniors of Cartwright, one senior girl, and two senior boys also gave their declamations.
We were so glad to have these visitors from the other schools present.

The rest of the program apart from the contest consisted of humorous readings, song skits and such, and proved very amusing to all.

WHO WOULDN'T BE CRAZY?

The Seniors invite you to their play which is to be presented Friday night, March 8, at 7:30, at the Barn. We promise you a very entertaining evening. Comedy, romance, robbery—this play lacks nothing.

You will have a hard time with your facial expression when Bill Dingus dashes out on a stick horse. The poor little "chocolate colored angel" who is left in an insane asylum where all kinds of imbeciles are running around loose will be sure to capture your sympathy. You will share the Black Boy's joy when he finds a "new gal."

Bring your large red bandana handkerchief. You'll need it when poor Evelyn becomes temporarily insane because her lover does not come to her.

Can you feature Ralph Layne with his arms around Betsy or Virginia? Or both? Imagine Vinton Tiner dressed as Hamlet or Robert Layne as a "hardboiled cop."

If you are addicted to the habit of finger nail-biting, wrap em up. The suspense is terrible when Lois Meredith is kidnapped and the Winslow jewels are stolen.

You can't miss it. Everyone is crazy about this play—but WHO WOULDN'T BE CRAZY?

Time Lost is Money Lost

It costs money to be sick. You see it directly if your pay envelope is short. You lose out on some important work if you live on a farm or if you are one of the few who are not docked for lost time. You can't afford to show up on the job unless you are feeling fit. The boss wants results—not excuses.

How many times do Gas on Stomach, Headache, Sour Stomach, "That Tired Feeling," "That Morning After" Feeling, Neuralgia, Rheumatic, Sciatic, Muscular or Periodic Pains keep you at home or interfere with your doing a full day's work?

All these troubles are caused or made worse by too much acid in your body. To correct this condition take

ALKA-SELTZER

The New Pain Relieving, Alkalinizing, Effervescent Tablet.

It is called Alka-Seltzer because it makes a sparkling alkaline drink, and as it contains an analgesic (Acetyl-Salicylate) it first relieves the pain of everyday ailments and then by restoring the alkaline balance corrects the cause when due to excess acid. Alka-Seltzer is pleasant to take, harmless, non-laxative.

Most everyone is busy in their fields and the tractors are humming from morning to night. Truly, "Hope (like Truth), crushed to earth shall rise again," and the spring-time witnesses a new hope, for a bountiful harvest, rising in the hearts and minds of the farmer.

I haven't the slightest doubt that in another half-century, or even sooner, it will be common practice to interchange human glands by grafting, and so bring back to normal thousands who would otherwise live abnormal lives.

FUTILITY . . . of the hour

Not in many years have there been so many utterly futile projects to make everybody happy, seriously debated by men who ought to know better. From Huey Long's "Share the Wealth" scheme, through Dr. Townsley's $200 a month old age pension plan, Father Conchin's notions about banking and finance, and several of the just as wild things talked about in Congress which would make it a crime for an industry to be big or an individual to get rich and they all one purpose in common.

That is politics.

No intelligent person believes for a moment that under any scheme which is possible of adoption in the United States, the ablest and the smartest would not soon have more than the incompetent and the stupid, no matter what the laws were. But politicians, who know better themselves, have found they can fool many voters by promising the impossible.

AGE in business

I know a New York business man who says he is all through with hiring young men and women for jobs that call for intelligence, industry and attentiveness. He replaced his old switchboard operator the other day with a man of fifty, and says that for the first time people who call up from the outside get courted attention and his outgoing calls are handled promptly and efficiently.

He has a woman of forty-eight, a widow with several children, as head of his stenographic staff. She does not waste his time and money by using the office telephone to make dates with boy-friends, nor does she rebel against overtime work in emergencies. Moreover she takes pains to understand what her job is all about.

About the only reason for hiring young folks is that they come cheap. It takes along time for most of them to learn what work really means, my friend says, and to learn how to work efficiently. Many never do.

I think he is more than half right.

SOFT and selfish

I was struck by a phrase uttered a little while ago by the Rev. Ernest M. Stires, Episcopal Bishop of Long Island. "Our great problem, he said, "is the number of intelligent people who are morally unemployed."

He was talking about the great mass of good people who have grown so soft that they are unwilling to do anything that involves sacrifice or inconvenience, even though they might be of service to individuals or to the social order.

"I am not quite in agreement with Dr. Stires' suggestion that the enthusiasm and self-sacrifice of great masses of people for the causes of Socialism, Nazism and Fascism indicates a better moral tone than we have in America. I think most of the popular enthusiasm for those causes is the result of fear and terrorism, and I am not at all convinced that the real enthusiasts, the leaders, are making any personal sacrifices."

I am fully in accord, however, with the idea that we have been bringing up a generation composed largely of those who put self-gratification first in its code and are too soft and lazy to give serious attention to anything else.

GLAMOR of the city

Twenty-two college girls from Missouri came to New York on a sightseeing trip a week or two ago. They were tremendously disappointed in the city as a show place. Sky-scrapers didn't interest them; they expected to see something of the glamor of metropolitan life as pictured in the movies. All they saw was a lot of uninteresting, rather narrow streets, with people who dressed and looked about like those back home.

As a "show" city New York does not begin to compare with Chicago, where every natural beauty has been enhanced by the wonderful system of parks and connecting boulevards and the water front has been made into the most valuable aesthetic asset the city has. The glamor of New York is for the uninitiated alone. All that a stranger can get of it is what he can pay for. He can buy theatre seats or be neatly trimmed in nightclubs, but the real life of New York is not on public view.

Some said not long ago that while New York is the largest city in America, Chicago is the largest American city. Having lived a good many years in each, I think that is a fair comment.

WIND in Buffalo

One of my earliest childhood memories is of my father saying to me: "When you see a man who grabs hold of his hat before he turns any street corner, you can be sure he comes from Buffalo." I have known Buffalo, more or less, for more than sixty years. I lived there for ten continuous years, from 1891 to 1901. I learned there to scoff at the notion that Chicago was entitled to be called the "Windy City." We used to be proud of our wind in Buffalo.

Now comes the U. S. Weather Bureau and says that Buffalo last year was first among cities in the number of days on which the wind blew faster than 32 miles an hour; it had 97 such days. Chicago was last with only six days of high winds. But, after living several years in Chicago, also, I want to remark that when the wind blows off Lake Michigan, you know it! Also, that the hottest winds I have ever encountered are those that come to Chicago from the West, across a thousand miles of sunbaked prairie.

FAKES in the news

The other day a news story came in from India telling of the discovery of the remains of a tribe of pigmy people only 15 inches tall, together with the bones of a tiny horse of proportionate dimensions. A few days later a doctor reported to a medical convention in New Orleans that an African native woman had recently given birth to six children at one time, going Mrs. Dionne one better.

was that Mr. Hoover, unlike many men who have been accustomed to hard work all their lives, has learned how to relax. Tension kills more men than disease.

HAUPTMANN and crime

Now that Hauptmann has been convicted and sentenced, I suppose there are still some who question his guilt. There are always perverse-minded folk whose pride it is to set up their own personal beliefs against any authority or court. But leaving that sort of crank out, I do not see how anyone who has had a fair chance to read the testimony or to listen to the excellent digest of it over the radio as the trial progressed, can have any doubt.

The clinching evidence was the complete and positive identification of a part of the kidnapper's ladder as a board that had formerly been part of Hauptmann's attic floor. And the story of the search for the source of that and the rest of the ladder is one of the most amazing real-life detective stories I have ever heard of. Any lingering doubt I might have had was resolved when that dramatic tale was told by Arthur Koehler, the Government's wood expert.

With the necks in the blade of Hauptmann's own plans leaving their clear record on the boards of which the ladder was built, we have another proof of the old adage that "murder will out." No crime fails to leave some clue.

HAPPINESS a by-product

There is a whole sermon in a remark that Henry Ford's secretary made the other day. In Mr. Ford's business creed, he said, if one goes out primarily for profit he misses it; it, like happiness, being a by-product.

Happiness as a by-product will strike many as a new idea; but that is precisely what it comes to. Happiness is not something that can be captured by pursuing it. It is only attained by pursuing something else.

The road to happiness is the road of self-respecting duty, of loyalty to obligations, of unselfish goodwill toward others. It may not be seldom is—the road to riches or to power. The time comes in everybody's life when the decision has to be made between the pursuit of pleasure or the pursuit of duty.

Exactly the same is true of business. Business that does not put service and quality, fair dealing and honesty first, never in the long run makes a real profit. If profit is the sole motive for a business, that business lacks the solid basis that will enable it to weather depressions and meet competition.

CANDIDATES on parade

This is the time, a year and half before the Presidential nominating conventions, when each party trots out its potential candidates for public inspection. There won't be any contest for the Democratic nominations, but all over the country people are asking "Who have the Republicans got?"

The other night three men stood on the same platform and spoke at the Lincoln Day dinner of the National Republican Club. One was Herbert Hoover. My guess is that he would give a very firm "No" to an invitation to run again; also that he is not likely to be asked. Another of the three was Harry Hoffmann, Governor of New Jersey. Mr. Hoffmann is looked on by many as the "white hope" of his party. Much will depend upon how he performs as Governor.

The third of the group was Glenn Frank, president of the University of Wisconsin, able political analyst, growing lately in public regard because of his calm but penetrating comments on the New Deal.

There are a lot of "prospects" to be heard from. The one finally nominated will be the one who seems like the best vote-getter in 1936. It's going to be an interesting game to watch.

I had a pleasant half-hour visit with the former President the other day, when he came to New York to attend his first meeting of the Directors of the New York Life Insurance Company. His whole appearance and manner were those of a man in perfect health and without a care in the world.

"For the first time in my life, I haven't a single responsibility," he said. "For thirty-five years I held one important executive position after another. No man who is responsible to or for others ever gets a true vacation. He may escape for a time from the telephone or the radio, but he can't escape the burden which he must carry with him always."

"It is surprising," he went on, "how much enjoyment and satisfaction a man with no responsibilities can get out of the most trivial things."

We talked about other things, of course, but I won't gossip about those. The thing that impressed me
