HUNDREDS GO TO PICNIC AT RHINELAND MONDAY

More Than $1,000 Realized At Annual Celebration Will Go Towards Finishing Large Church In Rhineland Community

Citizens of the Rhineland community were "elated", as John Hoffman, superintendent of Rhineland schools expressed their sentiments of appreciation, from the way their annual picnic and celebration was successful, both in attendance and money made to apply on their church. The picnic, staged to raise funds for completion of the new large church edifice of that community, netted approximately $1,100, it was announced Wednesday afternoon.

Feed 850 Persons

More than 850 were fed at the dinner and supper hours at the picnic, which was the feature of the annual celebration. Several hundred local citizens were present at the dinner hour and a large number enjoyed the supper.

The ladies of the community, who prepared the meal served in family style, had but one aim in view—that of satisfying every person that they served, Supt. Hoffman stated.

Complete Part of Church Hoffman stated that it would take something like $3,000 to finish the outside of the church, which is being built in old Gothic style throughout.

Money made from the picnic will probably be used to construct the towers for the front of the building. The center tower, which will be 100 feet high, according to original plans. The other towers, will be built on each side of the center tower.

Sponsors of the picnic expressed appreciation to citizens of Munday who attended the celebration, and especially desired to express appreciation to business men and the chamber of commerce of the city.

Chickens Stolen From Brown Farm

J. W. Brown, farmer residing four miles southeast of Munday reported the theft of approximately 30 chickens from his farm last Thursday night, to local officers Saturday.

No arrest had been made in connection with the reported theft of Tug Nesbitt, city marshal stated. However, Nesbitt was sure a trace of the thieves had been picked up at Seymour, Texas, but a Seymour poultry dealer, who was thought to have purchased the fowls, could throw little light on the case. Nesbitt said.

Two Scouts From Weinert Are At Washington, D. C.

Congressman Mahon, Haskell District Took Lads On Sight-seeing Tour of Capitol

Six Haskell County Boy Scouts, two of whom are from Weinert, are having the time of their lives at the National Jamboree in Washington, according to letters received by the boys parents this week. The Weinert boys are James P. Cadenhead, Jr. and Herman Josselot.

Friday morning Congressman George Mahon, representative from the Haskell district came to the camp grounds and took the six boys from Haskell County on a sight-seeing tour of the National Capitol. He called for the boys at 8:45 and returned with them to the camp at 4:30 p.m. Among the places of interest visited during the day was the Senate, House of Representatives, Arlington Cemetery, Smithsonian Institute, Congressional Library, the Supreme Court building, Mount Vernon, the White House where the boys sat in the president's chair and saw his private swimming pool and other rooms in the building.

They attended a baseball game between the Washington Senators and the Boston Red Sox and saw Fox knock a home run.

The Scouts will start on the return trip home Friday of this week.

MUNDAY BEATS HAMLIN OILERS IN LEAGUE TILT

Hamlin Knots Score Twice Before Going Down 6 to 5

KUHLER SLAMS OUT THREE HITS

Nichols Hurls Invincible Ball For Six Frames Here

Through the fine hurling efforts of Nichols and errorless fielding by his mates the Munday baseball nine eked out a win over the Hamlin Oilers here Sunday, 6-5.

Nichols hurled great ball for the first six frames holding the invading Oilers to a lone single and one run, which came in the sixth. Nichols ran into trouble only once during the fray, in the eighth, when Hamlin chased over three men to knot the score.

While Nichols was holding the hard hitting Hamlin crew in check his mates were pounding the offerings of Courtney and Portwood, Oiler hurlers, for four runs during the early innings.

After Hamlin tied the score in their half of the seventh, Munday squeezed in a run in the eighth to again take the lead, which was short lived.

In a desperate last inning rally the Hamlin crew again knotted the count, but Nichols retired the Oilers without further damage. A long double, sacrifice and an infield out gave Munday the winning run in the final stanza.

Rayburn and Kuhler were the big seige guns for Munday, each with three hits. Kuhler had two doubles in his collection.

RAINFALL HERE WEDNESDAY AID TO GRAIN CROPS

Feed Needed Moisture Badly; Will Fill Out Heads

.31 INCHES FELL DURING NIGHT

Temperatures Drop as Rains Cool Hot Winds Here

Rain fell in the Munday area late Wednesday afternoon and Wednesday night totaled .31 inches. H. P. Hill, local weatherman announced Thursday morning.

The fall, first experienced in July, was much needed by the feed crops, more especially maize and corn. Corn in spots was beginning to burn and maize, which has started to head, needed moisture to help fill out the heads.

Cotton Good

Cotton in this section, has been growing to such an extent that farmers are talking bumper crop proportions in the fleecy staple, with intermittent rains following the summer months. At present, the cotton of this area does not need moisture.

Temperature Drops

Cooler weather following the showers was welcomed by local citizens after burning sun rays had surged thermometers up to the 100 mark and above for the past few days.

Monday was the hottest day the past week, when mercury hit 101. Wednesday the high was 100, but dropped sharply with the approach of showers from the south and east. The reading hit a low of 69 degrees Wednesday night.

Lyndol planned to compete in the grand opening arena parade Saturday morning, but failed to appear in time to compete. The cir-

42,000 SEATS AT COTTON BOWL TO BE FREE OF CHARGE AT TEXAS PAN-AMERICAN EXPOSITION AT DALLAS

101 Boxes and 4,000 Choice Seats Will Be For Sale

Dallas, Texas, July 7.—As a gesture of good will towards Latin American nations participating in the Texas and Pan American Exposition, the Pan American Games, July 15-18, will be thrown open to the public free of charge. The announcement was made by director general Frank McNeny.

"The management of the Pan American Exposition feels that in deference to the Republics of South America who are participating in our World's Fair that every person in the Southwest should be invited to the Pan American Games free of cost so that they may join in a general appreciation of the splendid athletes who are here to compete with the champions of the United States.

"I believe that the opening of this $50,000 athletic spectacle to the public free of charge will be regarded as tangible evidence of the good neighborhood on which this Exposition is based.

"These Pan American Olympic Games are one of the truly great athletic spectacles in history. Athletes from a dozen South American and Central American nations have traveled thousands of miles to participate.

"The soccer football team of Argentina is considered to be perhaps the best in the world and they will meet the crack football teams of the United States.

"South American champions will meet the amateur champions of the United States as selected in the National A.A.U. meet in Milwaukee. Athletes whose names are almost household words in America, such as Glenn Cunningham, will be here for the first time in history to demonstrate their skill with the pick of contestants from Latin America. There will be a 26 mile marathon race July 18."

Mr. McNeny stated that 42,000 seats in the Cotton Bowl would be free of charge to the public. Only the 101 boxes and 4,000 choice seats will be for sale.

Felony charges filed by Peek against McCarty, were dismissed by Judge Bryan on a ruling by County Attorney Patterson at Benjamin.

DID YOU KNOW . . . ?

Here are a few interesting events that happened in the month of July in other years: 1st, 1897, the great "gold rush" to the Klondike began.

THE LITTLE OLD LADY

Over in Dallas the other afternoon a little old lady with bent shoulders, tired and worn out, tried to end her life by drowning. A friendly hand, she thought was not near, rescued her and then talked to her in a voice most friendly—something, she said, that had not been done for many months.

Says South Must Rebuild Agriculture

Unless foreign markets are restored in the near future, the 2,000,000 cotton growers of the South must revalue their resources and build an agriculture on a domestic market basis.

WHAT A MAN!

Some fellows can get away with anything. There's one in our neighborhood that does. Morals don't mean a thing to him. He's unmarried, and lives openly with a woman he's crazy about, and doesn't care what the neighbors say or think.

HE'S OUR NEW BABY!—Exchange.

There would be fewer appeals if lawyers had as much reverence for the Court as they claim to have. It is surprising how much nonsense a hard-headed business man will believe when the speaker talks about him.

WORSE THAN MAD DOGS

A writer for the Dallas Dispatch pointed out the other day that nobody has died from the bite of a mad dog in more than two years—but that 23 persons have been killed in the city limits by drunken drivers during the last two years.

NOBODY'S BUSINESS BY JULIAN CAPRINI JR.

Austin. — Cumulative evidence that the end of the depression may be written in Texas this fall has been piling up here for weeks. This time, the return of better times is based not upon stock market activity, bank clearings, or other technical factors which may or may not be accurate, but upon steadily improving conditions in the two basic industries of Texas, which every Texan knows and can read, namely, agriculture and oil.

The state has just harvested its best grain crop in 10 years—which brought $42,000,000 cash revenue on a favorable market. The wheat harvest was well distributed throughout the grain area of North and West Texas, with all sections harvesting a normal crop except a small section of the Panhandle which lacked sufficient moisture. In some West Texas sections, the harvest ran as high as 50 bushels to the acre on land which can be bought for substantially less than $50 an acre.

The corn crop is virtually made already, assuring a successful harvest regardless of the weather from now on. South Texas is ginning a bountiful cotton crop already, and the cotton is off to a fine beginning on North, Central and West Texas. Wool and mohair crops have been heavy, with the most favorable market price in years. Specialized crops, including fruits, vegetables, melons, etc. have been plentiful with fair market prices.

Oil affecting more than half the counties of Texas, is selling at the highest price in years, with the technical position of the market excellent and evidence of further increases in the price of crude in sight, with demand heavy and storage light.

SMALL TOWNS REVIVING

This correspondent, during the past two weeks, has toured a large area of the state. In the smaller towns and villages, there is ample evidence of reviving business based upon this improved outlook for the farmers. Small town merchants are stocking their stores, resuming and increasing their advertising. Trades days are being revived in towns where no such activity has been carried on in years. County newspapers are increasing their size, and many are buying equipment, to handle increased advertising volume.

More than half of Texas' population is agricultural and when the farmers prosper, that prosperity seeps into every business and counting house in the land. Conversely, without rural prosperity, there can be no real prosperity in Texas. It has been a long and bitter struggle—but it looks like the end is in sight.

PROSPERITY THREATS

But two menaces are visible to certain revival of business this fall in Texas. One is labor trouble, which has paralyzed some industries in the eastern cities, and which have caused some sporadic trouble in certain Texas metropolitan areas. Only two industrial developments—oil and transportation—employ sufficient industrial labor to be seriously threatened by labor trouble. The oil industry, by timely wage increases and tactful handling of employees, has so far avoided difficulty. The big four railroad brotherhoods have demanded a 20 per cent wage increase, retroactive to May 1, on a national scale. In Texas, this means an increase of $3,200,000 annually, affecting 9000 employees of the Texas railroads. The railroad management asserts the demand is unfair at this time, in view of the claim that rail wages are much higher than average in industry, and the fact that a 10 per cent wage cut, imposed during the worst of the depression, was restored many months ago. The rail heads further their claim that to restore their lost volume they will have to spend millions on modernization and maintenance of their equipment, including installation of streamline trains, air conditioning, etc. The brotherhood assert they are a conservative union, and need the increase to prevent inroads by the John Lewis-C.I.O. group upon their organizations. Texans will watch with eager interest the outcome of the wage problem.

TAX PROBLEM ACUTE

But business generally in Texas is most fearful of what the politicians will do to it, come next September, when the 45th legislature will again meet in special session to impose increased taxes. Business, struggling upward from the depths, contends that heavy new taxes will strangle its comeback now. But the politicians point to the 10 million dollar state deficit and the elections next year, as practical justification for the unending cry for more tax money to spend. Another 5000 old age pensioners were lopped quietly off the old age pension roll for July, and there are more cuts yet to come.

GAS TAX COLLECTIONS UP

Responding to corrective legislation, enabling the comptroller to do a better job of collecting, and with consumption increasing substantially, gasoline tax collections have stepped up substantially. Comptroller Sheppard estimates $4,500,000 increase for the year over last year, which will give about $2,000,000 net additional to the highway department, for state projects, and the same amount to the schools and the county bond retirement fund, equally divided. The increase in gas consumption is further evidence of returning prosperity, as is the difficulty of obtaining delivery in some models of motor cars, reported by motor car dealers.

REGENTS DEFER ACTION

With a $17,500-a-year salary authorized, the new president of Texas university will be selected carefully and in no hurry, members of the board of regents have said recently. They seek an outstanding man, 35 to 50 years old, with whom a long time contract can be made, thus removing the job from the exigencies of politics. A vice president, at a good salary, to relieve the president of much detail, likely will be chosen first. The university, with its oil wealth providing one of the finest educational plants in the world, now turns its attention to building a great faculty. With the legislature co-operating by authorizing a salary scale that will attract really qualified educators, Texas university can be made one of the world's greatest institutions of learning within a few years.

FDIC Will Pay Depositors of Bank That Failed

Within a short time the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation is expected to begin payments to depositors of the First State Bank of South San Antonio, Texas, which closed on June 29. The bank held total deposits of approximately $450,000.00 at the time of suspension and it is estimated that about $400,000.00 of that amount was insured by the Corporation. There were more than 2900 depositors in the bank. This was the ninth closing of an insured bank in the State of Texas since the beginning of deposit insurance on January 1, 1934. Up to December 31, 1936, payments had been made available to 88,912 depositors of 75 closed insured banks in all parts of the country.

Famous Case In Texas Legal History Turned On Semicolon

There's a reason why members of the Legislature examine with such care the placing of each comma, period and semi-colon in the laws they write.

One of the most famous cases in all Texas jurisprudence turned upon the location of a semi-colon. This case is recalled in a sketch of Texas court history by Attorney General McCraw in the recently published "History of Texas Democracy."

The four-volume work, which has just come from the press and is being distributed among subscribers only, was edited by Frank C. Adams, newsmen.

The case highlighted by McCraw in his brief history of the courts is known by lawyers as the "semicolon decision" and the court which wrote the decision as the "semicolon court." The court had been appointed by the military regime which ruled over Texas for a few years immediately following the War between the States.

Coke-Davis Contest

The semi-colon decision resulted from the election of 1873 when E. J. Davis, the notorious carpet-bag governor, stood for re-election on a Republican ticket. The Democrats, regaining the power which had been wrested from them by the carpetbag rule, put up Richard Coke to oppose Davis.

Despite the fact that Davis' soldiers guarded the polls, Coke won the election by 30,000 votes; and Davis' problem was to stay in office despite the mandate of the people. McCraw recounted the facts which have led many historians to declare that the consequent lawsuit—and the semi-colon decision—was, as one historian characterized it, "a monstrous fraud and political conspiracy to which the court too readily lent itself and its powers."

The constitution then provided that "all elections shall be held at the county seat, unless otherwise provided by law; and the polls shall be open for four days." The election law of 1873 provided one-day elections. The general view was that the constitution provision was intended to establish a procedure for holding elections only until another method was provided by law.

Defense Contentious

Law suit was brought on behalf of an obscure Mexican, who it was charged, united a group of highly distinguished lawyers, was that the election law of 1873 was in conflict with the constitution of 1869, because that constitution said elections must be continued four days; therefore the election was invalid, therefore the defendant could be guilty of no offense.

The military court sustained this reasoning, holding that the semi-colon in the constitutional clause divided it into two separate provisions. The first provision, that elections were to be at county seats, could be changed by legislative enactment, but the second provision, because of the presence of the semi-colon, could never be changed.

Numerous other of the more notable decisions of the appeals courts from days of the republic on, are cited briefly by McCraw in his paper.

Good Habits Are More Easily Formed In Early Childhood

A child's habits are responsible, in a large measure, for their mental actions in later life, according to Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer. A child of five or six years may have a bad temper. He can be taught as he grows older, to exercise self control so that it will not often be manifested. It would be better for him had he acquired a good temper instead of a bad one.

Today the medical profession understands more fully the enduring influences of habits that begin in the earliest years of life in the nursery, or even in the cradle. In the young child, as a result of habit, certain types of behavior become established.

Perhaps the child had learned while yet an infant, that he could get what he wanted if he cried long and loud. Perhaps he had learned, when a little older, that bad behavior, as tantrums, screaming, rolling on the floor or sulking, brought him what he wanted after his request had been refused or ignored.

If he had this experience once, you may be sure that we would repeat the action the next time the occasion arose. If he found that such actions did not bring the desired results he would not try it again.

Other behavior habits, good and bad, are acquired from imitating older children and adults. In this way many likes and dislikes, tastes and ambitions which in later years become crystallized into character habits have their beginning. Calmness and poise, as well as nervous and panicky behavior habits established by imitation and made permanent by repetition. The elders are responsible far more than they realize for the conduct of the child in the family. In this we see a new meaning of the old adage, "As the twig is bent, the tree is inclined."

To force a tenant to move, F. C. Goodyear of New Orleans carried away the door of the house, but a blanket was hung up in its place.

Origin of Bluebonnet As Flower of Texas

The angry Gods demanded a human sacrifice of the pestilence-ridden Aztec in Mexico.

A maiden offered herself. As she ascended the altar a blue flower dropped.

Next morning bright blue flowers splashed with red grew over the altar. The Indians thought the red splashes contained the blood of the maiden.

Thus runs a legend of the origin of the state flower of Texas—the bluebonnet.

From Mrs. Mary Doggett Lake's "The Legend of the Bluebonnet" and "Legends of Texas" edited by J. Frank Dobie, comes the information that the "Wolf Flower," as the Indians called it, refuses to grow on the San Jacinto Battlefield.

5,500 Drug Stores Engage in "Push Milk" Campaign

The "push milk" campaign, now being carried on by 5,500 chain variety and drug stores throughout the country in an endeavor to assist dairy farmers in disposing of heavy seasonal supplies of fluid milk, is being widely aided and publicized by farm cooperative organizations.

Thus, in a recent editorial, the Dairymen's League News, official publication of the Dairymen's League Cooperative Association of New York, a real pioneer co-op in its field, says: "This is the first time so far as we know that retail people have engaged in a national campaign to definitely increase the consumption of milk. . . . Dairy farmers can help greatly by observing the stores in their communities which are taking part in this campaign and showing their appreciation for such fine support."

This milk campaign is similar to other campaigns, actual and projected, carried on by organized merchandisers—dependent as well as chain. It is particularly fitting that large-scale merchandising units should work with cooperative organizations representing producers.

Both co-ops and organized retailers operate on principles of great similarity. Both use mass production and distribution methods to reduce overhead and in-between costs. Both perform vital services for the consumer as well as their own members. The work now being carried on by these stores is definitely in the public interest.

Social Security Board Assigning Account Numbers

Dallas, June 30.—Effective July 1, all social security account numbers will be issued to workers from field offices of the Social Security Board. It was announced here by Ernest L. Tutt, manager of the Dallas field office of the Board.

Works in the Dallas territory have not yet applied for account numbers may obtain application blanks (Form SS-5) at their local post offices, but the executed forms should be forwarded with required postage prepaid to the Social Security Board, 1530 Allen Building, Dallas, where the account number cards will be prepared and returned to applicants.

"Since the account numbers of all workers in employment covered by the Social Security Act must be reported by employers to the Bureau of Internal Revenue during July, it is likely that receipts of SS-5 forms by our office will be heaviest during that month; however, every effort will be made to return account number cards promptly to each worker whose application form has been completed satisfactorily," Tutt said.

Postmasters will continue to give the applicant any information and assistance he may require in filling out the form.

Employers who have not applied for identification numbers may obtain the necessary form (SS-4) from post offices. This completed form should be forwarded to the Social Security Board, 1530 Allen Building, Dallas, Texas.

Spotted Fever Appears in South-Eastern Texas

Disease Transmittable to Man By Infested Ticks, Dr. R. R. Spencer Declares

Austin, Texas, July 8.—Appearance of the dread Rocky Mountain Fever in Texas was evident this week when two cases of the disease reported in Southeast Texas were officially diagnosed as such by Dr. R. R. Spencer, spotted fever expert of the United States Public Health Service. Dr. Spencer, vacationing in San Antonio was pressed into service by State Health Officer Dr. Geo. W. Cox, to diagnose the two cases, one of which proved fatal.

Dr. Spencer's diagnosis is the first official recognition of the presence in Texas of spotted fever, a disease transmittable to men by the bite of infested ticks. Although many wood and dog ticks are not infested with the fever, the disease in man is serious enough to warrant the practice of precautionary measures. A person with spotted fever will develop the disease with 2 to 12 days after receiving the infection.

When the ticks appear, they are unfed and are seeking some animal to attach themselves to and suck blood. When the tick drops on an animal, including man, it does not start feeding at once, but usually spends some time searching for a suitable place. Experiments have shown that a previously unfed tick will attach itself to the body and feed for a few hours before transmitting the infection but it then becomes highly infectious.

Three measures may be used to prevent spotted fever; avoid ticks, remove ticks from the person as soon as possible, or be vaccinated. Vaccine to prevent spotted fever is not readily available, so precaution should be used to avoid or eliminate ticks from the person immediately.

Mrs. Carl Mahan and daughter, Mary Charles, and Mrs. E. M. Wilson, all of Abilene, were here this week visiting friends and relatives.

CASINO SETS NEW HIGH IN SHOW WORLD

Casino Built at Cost of $1,000,000 Seats 2,000 Persons; Air-Cooled

Dallas, Texas, July 7.—The Pan-American Exposition at Dallas has taken the top names in show business—designers, lighting experts, costumers, composers, singers, dancers, comedians—and produced the "perfect" revue.

The show is presented in a 2000 seat, air-conditioned Casino, built in blue and chromium beauty into municipal auditorium in Exposition Park. There's a reason it's a hit; it's costing a million dollars.

It's the kind of a show that a preview crowd paid a sawbuck to see, and thousands nightly are seeing its regular run for one-tenth of that admission. It has eleven smash hits, and you see them for one thin dime apiece, at the dollar-and-tax cost.

All-Star Company

Stars that make the show are Georges and Jaina, international dance team; Borrah Minnevitich and his Harmonica Rascals; the singing stars, Jack Arthur and Art Jarett; Stan Kavanagh's comic juggling; glowing antics of the Three Sailors; the precision line of 48 Chester Hale Girls, and the chorusing of the 24 Singing Gauschs, all in a show timed to the baton of Ray Kavanagh with his orchestra. Then, before, between and after shows dancing is to the tune of Ted Fio-Rito and his orchestra, with the featured entertainers the Three Debutantes, Muszy Marcellino and Stanley Hickman. Fio-Rito's engagement will be followed by Rudy Vallee and company, then Phil Harris' orchestra and, in September, the swing king, Benny Goodman.

That show would have to be a hit, but the making of it started many weeks ahead of its opening.

$1,000-a-day Producer

When the Exposition paid $100,000 to George Preston Marshall for a few months of directing its program of entertainment and sports, that sportsman-producer turned on all force. For the Casino itself he employed Jo Mielziner, 36-year-old Paris-born artist who has designed the stings and scenes for a large share of the Broadway successes of the last fifteen years. Mielziner brought George Gebhardt to set up startling effects in lighting.

For costumes, to be spotlighted in the cool, blue and chromium setting created by the Mielziner design, the director commissioned the famed Constance DePina, who worked under the supervision of Charles LeMaire.

"Bolero" for Finale

Chester Hale, long-famed producer, was brought in to stare the production, and music for it all is under conductor Ray Kavanagh, musical director of Earl Carroll hits on Broadway for ten years.

For music the show drew on compositions by Sammy Fain and Irving Kahal, who have given the show the stirring "El Gaucho," and lilting songs of Jarrett and Arthur, "Pin a Blue Bonnet on Your New Bonnet," and "Don't You Know, or Don't You Care?" And for a finale, the combined scenic, lighting, costuming and dance effects for a thrilling production of Ravel's "Bolero."

And there is a show, as they say when they've been to the Casino at the Pan American Exposition in Dallas. The international fair, dozen neighboring nations from below the Rio Grande participating, runs until October 31.

Joe Fugitt of Greenville, was here last week attending to farming interests.

Two New Dorms For Texas State College for Women

Denton, Texas, July 7.—Cooperative living on the Texas State College for Women campus has become so popular that two additional $9,000 homes are now under construction. When these are completed the college will have 12 cooperative residences in which students may work to earn a part of their living expenses.

Girls living in these dormitories may pay part of their tuition fees with canned foods or other home-produced foods, and may do light house-keeping to lessen their room and board. The system was begun in September 1934, and has grown so rapidly since that by fall accommodations will be ready for 550 students.

The two new buildings will be frame structures similar to the seven new ones constructed last year, according to W. M. Lovless, business manager of the college. Each dormitory will house forty girls.

The New NRA Bill. SANTA MONICA, CALIF.—They do say the new NRA bill, as drawn by the Gallagher and Shean of the administration, Messrs. Corcoran and Cohen, is more sweeping than was the original NRA.

Even Gen. Hugh Johnson, once as conversational as Mrs. Astor's parrot, but lately exiled amid the ungenial silences, crawls out from under a log in the woods with lichen in his hair, but the lower jaw still working smoothly in the socket, to tell how desolate a thing it is.

Critics assert this legislation will cover business like a Irvin S. Cobb wet blanket over a sick pup, and point out that the number of sick pups benefited by being tucked under wet blankets is quite small.

Still and all, I can't help thinking of Mr. Pincus, who invaded the east side to invite his old neighbor, Mr. Ginsburg, whom he hadn't seen in years, to be a guest at Mrs. Pincus' birthday party.

He gave full directions for traveling uptown, then added: "Here we live now it's von of dose swell walk-up flats. So mit your right elbow you gif a little poosh on the thoid button in the doorknag downstairs and the lock goes click-glick and in you come. You go up two floors and den, mit your other elbow, you gif one more little poosh on the foist door to the left and walk in—and vill mommer be surprised!"

"Vait," exclaimed Mr. Ginsburg. "I could get to that Bronxix. I got brains, ain't it? But also I got fingers and thumbs. Vot is de pooshmit-elbows stuff?"

Murmured Mr. Pincus gently: "Surely you wouldn't come empty-handed!"

Visiting Ancient Ranchos. UNDER the guidance of Len Carrillo, that most native of all native sons, I've been visiting such of the ancient ranchos as remain practically what they were before the Gringos came to southern California.

What's more, every one of these lovely places is lived on by one of Leo's cousins. He has more kind-folks than a microbe. They say the early Carrillos were pure Spanish, but I insist there must have been a strong strain of Belgian hare in the stock.

And a mighty noble breed it is—producing even yet the fragrant essence of a time that elsewhere has vanished and a day when hospitality still ruled and a naturally kindly people had time to be mannerly and the instinct to be both simple and grandly courteous at once.

He may fight duels. Heretofore, this inestimable boon was exclusively reserved for the highborn. But now he may go forth and carve and be carved upon the field of honor like somebody had been cleaning fish.

This increase in his blessings makes me recall a tale that Charley Russell, the cowboy artist, used to tell: "The boys were fixing to hang a horse this." Charley said, "He only weighed about ninety pounds, but for his left he was the champion horse thief of Montana. The rope was swung from the roof of a barn. Then they balanced a long board out of the left window, and the condemned was out at the far end of it, ready for the drop, when a stranger bust in."

"Everybody thought he craved to pray, but that unknown humanitan had a better notion than that. In less'n a minute he came inching out on that plank and there wasn't a dry eye in the crowd as he edged up behind the poor trembling wretch and slipped an anvil in the seat of his pants."

Health Department Suggests Means of Preventing "Summer Complaint"

The season of the year when the most complaints are received on account of diarrhea and dysentery or "Summer complaint" is here and the Texas State Department of Health has issued a warning to parents in regard to this, and offers the following suggestions to prevent its occurrence among babies.

The chief cause of diarrhea include impure milk, over heating, fever from any cause, too much sugar or cream in the diet, over-feeding and under-feeding.

Mother's milk is the safest food, however, if other milk must be used the supply should be clean and pure. The water should be clean, pure and boiled.

Articles of food should be fresh and clean and no unsuitable articles of food such as cake and candy should be given.

If a feeding formula is used, it should be one prescribed by a physician and it must be prepared with extreme attention to cleanliness and kept cold until used.

The baby should be fed at regular intervals and should not be forced to eat when he is not hungry.

The baby should be kept cool and comfortable in hot weather should be overclothed and should be given plenty of clean water to drink.

Any infections which develop in the nose, throat, ears or other organs should receive prompt attention from a physician.

If diarrhea develops, feedings should be stopped or greatly diminished and an abundance of water should be given.

Cathartics should not be given except on the advice of a physician. If the diarrhea does not improve within a short time a physician should be called and a complete examination should be made.

The three F's, flies, fingers and food, are the three sources of danger to the baby. Flies carry disease germs to the baby and to its food. Fingers and hands that are not thoroughly washed before preparing the baby's food are likely to be germ carriers also.

All milk and water that is intended for the baby should be boiled for five minutes.

There is an anecdote of Chauncey M. Depew which puts the whole matter in a nutshell. On his ninety-third birthday Mr. Depew was called up by a representative of the press who brought him congratulations and good wishes and invited a statement from Mr. Depew as to how it felt to be 90 years of age.

"But," said Mr. Depew in a startled tone of surprise, "I am not ninety years of age!" The journalist, quite taken aback, said, "But, Mr. Depew, my newspaper is very careful in these matters. Surely they cannot have made a mistake. Were you not born, sir, on April 23, 1834?"

"Certainly," answered Mr. Depew. "Then," said the journalist triumphantly, "surely that makes you ninety years old today."

"Oh," replied Mr. Depew with a characteristic smile, "I see, young man, I see. You are one of those who measure age by years. There is nothing in it, young man, nothing in it!"

Cicero once again spoke truth, when he wrote that it is not by muscle, speed or physical dexterity that great things are done, but rather by reflection, by force of character and by ripened judgment.

All these qualities are made richer, not poorer, by the passing years. Moreover, as the years bring a likely lessening of labor they are quite likely to bring also an increase of influence.

Solomon, one of the earliest of wise men, long ago spoke words of hope and truth when he said: "I grow old constantly learning many new things."

May you stay always on the Morning Side of Life!! May success and happiness attend you each and all!

Snake Venom Keeps Many Out Of Hospitals

Dr. Roy Upham of New York City said today that "many thousands of women" suffering from mental disturbances as they approach middle age were being kept out of insane hospitals by the use of snake venom.

Pains from inoperable cancer, he continued likewise were alleviated by the use of the same venom. Dr. Upham, attending the annual convention of the American Institute of Homeopathy, in an interview discussed a paper on snake venom he is to deliver.

The venom for mental disturbances, he said, is given hypodermically or by mouth. In the case of cancer, he said, the nerve endings of afflicted persons were paralyzed by the venom so that they would not conduct pain.

In contrast with certain other drugs used to relieve cancer, Dr. Upham declared, snake venom has no side reaction and was efficacious for a longer period of time.

In the case of mental disease, particularly in women, Dr. Upham said, snake venom had proved to be a direct curative. In cancer, he said its value was palliative.

In mental disturbances in women, he explained, the venom altered cellular activity in the body, restoring persons to normal mental condition. In men he continued, the venom was used to cure disturbances of the digestive tract.

During the convention, Dr. Thomas Hodge McGavack of New York City, said rheumatic fever was an infectious disease probably due to a streptococcus. He pointed out all clinical manifestations of the fever were allergic in nature and added it was also probably due to deficiency of vitamin C.

Several Changes Affect Season of Dove Shooting

Dove hunters in Texas rejoiced this week that the federal government had conformed its season regulation in part, if not in whole, with state laws.

The action came after the legislature had failed to arrange seasons concurrent with previously announced federal edicts, leaving some sections with sharply limited hunting dates.

By the new regulations, however, 20 counties in the northern portion of the old south zone will have no seasons at all due to conflicts. It was pointed out the legislature might correct this in an early fall session.

The game, fish and oyster commission this week announced the effect of federal and state regulations as follows: Mourning dove shooting will be permitted in the Panhandle country from Oct. 1 to Oct. 31; in the remainder of the north zone, mourning doves may be shot from Sept. 15 to Oct. 31; in the newly created coastal zone, Oct. 1 to Nov. 15, except south of the Tex-Mex Railroad where the season will be open Sept. 15 to Oct. 31.

A bag limit of not more than 15 mourning or white wing doves or an aggregate of 15 of both species in one day and not more than one day's bag limit in possession at any one time.

An open season Sept. 1 to Oct. 31 in Yoakum, Terry, Lynn, Garza, Kent, Stonewall, King, Cottle and Childress counties and all other counties north and west of those.

For the remainder of the state an open season Sept. 15 to Nov. 15.

HEADLINES FROM THE LIVES OF PEOPLE LIKE YOURSELF!

"Terrible Resurrection" By FLOYD GIBBONS Famous Headline Hunter

YOU know, boys and girls, there are all kinds of fear. Some of them are worse than others, and the fear that comes on you when death is staring you right in the eye comes pretty close to being the worst of them all. But there is one kind of fear that is worse than even the terror of approaching destruction.

Martin J. Colbert, Chicago, had a taste of that sort of terror once—the kind of fear that has been known to make men's minds crack and turn them into gibbering idiots. Mart had an experience with the ghastly unknown. He saw the impossible happen.

He saw something that couldn't be explained except as the horrible manifestation of some ghostly supernatural hand. He saw a row of dead and buried corpses start rising from their grave!

It was a thing terrifying enough to make hardened men drop senseless from sheer fright. It shook Mart Colbert to the very marrow of his bones. All this happened in 1902, along about the end of June. For several years Mart had been in South Africa, fighting with the British forces in the Boer war.

Solemn Duty Precedes Big Celebration. When peace was declared at the end of May, 1902, he was a soldier in the Fifth R. L. Lancers, a cavalry regiment, stationed about fifty miles from his depot at Naasport, Cape Colony.

When the good news was received, the Lancers packed up and started back to their depot, and when they arrived there it was announced that they had two weeks in which to clean up and rest, and get ready for one last job they would have to do before returning to England. That job was to bring in the dead, scattered in temporary graves throughout the country, for reburial in a military cemetery.

It was the sort of work that passed all too quickly and Mart was detailed to a squad consisting of himself, three other privates and a sergeant, commanded by Lieutenant Cooper.

They proceeded to a point about fifteen miles from Naasport, where the Lancers had been in action some time before, and where a number of their men had fallen and were buried.

The Kind of Work That Raises Goose-Flesh. Arriving at the spot, the men started to work at their grisly and unpleasant job. It was open country, and there was an abandoned farmhouse about a quarter of a mile away.

The lieutenant carried a rough map, made in the field, which showed where all the dead of the regiment were buried, and he pointed out the graves which were to be dug up.

It was the sort of work that gave the men the chills. They dug up the bodies of two of their old buddies, but none of them relished the job.

Corpses began pushing their way up out of the ground!

As they took the second man out of his grave, one of the men discovered a third grave close by. It was a wide grave—much wider than the other. When it was pointed out to the lieutenant he said it looked as if several bodies were buried there together.

He looked on his map, but this grave didn't appear on it. Whatever was underneath that broad mound, it was evident that it contained none of the Lancers' dead. But in order to be on the safe side, the lieutenant ordered the men to dig up that grave as they had dug up the others.

Their Eyes Couldn't Believe What They Saw. It was that grave which was to give Mart and his buddies the most terrible fright of their lives.

The men were taking turns with the spades. Two men at a time went down into the graves to do the digging. Mart and another fellow had dug down the first couple of feet, and now two other men were in there digging.

Mart, another private, Sergeant Kirby and the lieutenant were standing at the edge of the pit, watching the others work. The two diggers had worked their way down to about a level of four feet below the ground. Their spades were working rhythmically, tossing out one scoopful of earth after another.

Mart was looking at the bottom of the grave, when suddenly, his whole body stiffened. The other men saw it too. The earth at the bottom of the grave began to move. Dirt and stones fell aside, and a row of long buried corpses—hardly more than skeletons—began pushing their way up out of the ground!

Strong Men Fainted in Terror. Down in the grave, the two diggers dropped—unconscious from sheer terror. Mart, with the icy hand of fear clutching at him, turned and ran. The rest of the men did likewise.

No sensation Mart has ever known could quite equal that strange, horrible feeling that came over him at the sight of those long-dead skeletons pushing their way up through the earth at the bottom of their common grave!

They ran full tilt for about fifty feet—and then they stopped, looking at each other in fear. They looked back at the grave, but there was no other sign of life there.

Then they got a grip on themselves. What about the two men who had been digging—the men who were now lying senseless in that ghastly pit with its row of moving corpses? They had to get them out of there.

Explanation Is a Satisfactory One. They went back slowly—reluctantly. The men were still lying there unconscious. The corpses—a row of bones clad in rotted clothing and topped by grinning skulls, were where they had been when they last saw them. They had moved upward a few inches and then stopped.

They went down and pulled out the two unconscious men—and found out the explanation of the whole grisly business.

The corpses had been buried on a bed spring. It had collapsed with the weight of the earth that was piled on it, but as the men dug down, the pressure was relieved, until, when the earth was almost all shoveled away, the spring rebounded again, pushing the bodies upward.

"We found that this was a Boer's grave—probably people from the abandoned farmhouse a quarter of a mile away," says Mart. "We could tell that by the remains of civilian clothing that still clung to the bodies. The lieutenant ordered us to put the bones back in place and fill up the grave again. But afterward, we did no more digging for the rest of the day."

Simple Meals Save Time For Early Summer Sunshine

A game of tennis, a round of golf, a long afternoon of bridge—all these are possible when plans are made ahead of time for easy summer meals. Let your forethought save you hours for outdoor enjoyment with easily prepared dishes like these.

Casserole of Beef
1 teaspoon shortening
1 small chopped onion
1-2 teaspoon salt
1-4 teaspoon pepper
1 pound beef cut in cubes
1 cup peas
1-2 cups mashed potatoes
Cook onion in melted shortening until soft. Add salt and pepper. Brown the small pieces of beef on both sides in a frying pan. Combine cooked onion and the beef, add water to cover and cook until tender over a low heat. Place the meat and gravy in the bottom of a greased casserole. Add the peas and cover with the mashed potatoes. Place in a moderate oven and cook until potatoes are well browned.

Let Over Roast Pork With Spaghetti
1 medium onion minced
1-2 cup celery finely chopped
4 tablespoons butter
1-2 cups cooked pork, diced
1 tablespoon flour
1-2 cup milk or water
1 large can prepared spaghetti in tomato sauce
1 teaspoon salt
1-4 teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
This dish may be prepared in the morning and put in the oven just about half an hour before serving. Serve with this a molded salad that may also be prepared in the morning—or even the night before.

Molded Beet Salad
Cook red beets until tender, saving the juice in which the beets have been cooked (about 2 cups). Dice enough beets to make 1-2 cup. Have ready 2 tablespoons gelatine; 2 tablespoons cold water; 2 cups liquid in which the beets were cooked; 1-2 cup diced cooked beets; 1-4 cup diced celery; 1-4 cup diced cucumber; 1-2 teaspoon salt; 1 tablespoon sugar; 1 teaspoon vinegar; 1 tablespoon lemon juice.

Soak the gelatine in the cold water and then dissolve in the beet juice which has been warmed. Add the seasonings and stir well. Let cool. When it begins to set add vegetables and let chill in the refrigerator until firm. Use small individual molds or one large ring mold. If large ring mold is used fill the center with a lettuce cup containing mayonnaise.

Molded Corn Beef
Soak 1-2 tablespoons gelatine in 1-3 cup cold water. Dissolve 2 bouillon cubes in 2 cups boiling water and pour over gelatine. Stir until dissolved. Add 1-4 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce and 1-2 teaspoon salt. Chill. When the mixture begins to thicken, add 1 cup diced celery, 3-4 cup canned peas, drained, 1-4 cup sliced radishes, 1-2 cup diced pickled beets and 6 ounces pressed corned beef pulled in pieces. Mold in any shape desired. When thoroughly chilled turn out on crisp lettuce leaves and garnish with cucumber pickles and serve with mayonnaise.

Hash De Luxe
Cut up boiled potatoes into small and even pieces, and cube left over meat to the same size. Melt 2 tablespoons butter in a double boiler, add 2 cups of cubed boiled potatoes, mix, and then pour in 3-4 cup cream with 2 teaspoons chopped parsley. Lastly add the cubed meat—2 cups is the right amount. Mix, but do not break or mash the potatoes. Mold lightly in a single flattened loaf or in individual portions. Put in a buttered pan, butter well and bake until well browned—15 to 20 minutes. Indent the top of the hash with the underside of a tablespoon and place in the indentations one poached egg to each portion. Dust the eggs with paprika, garnish with parsley and serve.

Scalloped Chicken and Macaroni Au Gratin
2 cups boiled macaroni
2 cups cold chicken cut in large pieces
1-2 cups white sauce
2 tablespoons grated cheese
Arrange half the quantity of macaroni in a baking dish; cover with cold chicken. Cover chicken with remaining macaroni; pour white sauce over all. Sprinkle with grated cheese. Bake in a moderate oven about 20 minutes or until delicately browned on top.

Veal in Aspic
1 quart clear soup stock
2 tablespoons gelatine dissolved in 1-2 cup cold water
1 cup cooked peas
1-2 cup celery cut in cubes
3 pimentos cut in cubes
2 cups left-over veal cut in cubes
1-2 teaspoon onion juice
Juice 1-2 lemon
1 teaspoon salt
Mix dissolved gelatine with hot flavored soup stock. When cold pour a little of this liquid in a moistened mold. Chill. When set, add alternate layers of vegetables, meat and liquid. Put in refrigerator for several hours or over night. Serve with pimento mayonnaise on a bed of watercress and garnish with hard-boiled eggs.

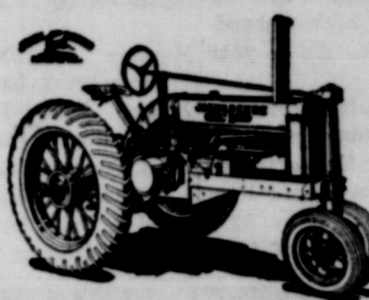

Pineapple Frozen Salad
2 cups crushed pineapple and syrup
1-2 cup grated fresh American cheese
2 cups cottage cheese
1 envelope granulated gelatine
1-2 cup cold water
Soak gelatine in cold water for 5 minutes. Heat pineapple syrup. Add to gelatine and stir until dissolved. Cool. Combine with both kinds of cheese and the pineapple. Turn into freezing tray. When semi-frozen serve in squares on lettuce with mayonnaise. For variations, add chopped parsley, pimentos, green pepper, maraschino cherries or walnuts.

Students in the Commercial Department of Mary Hardin-Baylor College, selected for NYA Educational Aid employment, put their energy into practice working for the center in the college business office. E. D. Walker, Business Manager, reported to J. C. Kellam, Texas Youth Director.

William McCraw, Texas Attorney General, applied to the National Youth Administration for extension of an NYA work project he has sponsored at the State Capitol, from which a large number of youths have graduated to full-time private employment. About 30 youths are now employed part-time on the project doing clerical work, J. C. Kellam, Texas NYA Director, said.

INDUSTRY AND TRADE OF TEXAS CONTINUE UPWARD TREND FROM APRIL TO MAY REPORT SHOWED

In Contrast With Decline of Business In Nation

Austin, Texas, July 7.—In a recent report by Dr. F. A. Buechel, assistant director of the Bureau of Business Research at The University of Texas, it was pointed out that industry and trade in Texas continued their upward course from April to May in contrast with the declining tendency noted in the Nation at large. The composite business index for May showed an increase of almost 2 per cent over April and 12 per cent over May last year.

Each of the components of the composite index showed a gain from April to May. The most significant increase, however, was that of payrolls for which the index rose from 92.6 to 95.2—nearly 3 per cent. Compared with May, 1936, the payroll index has risen nearly 26 per cent while the index of payrolls as increased only 11 per cent. As a result the index of payrolls is now considerably above that of employment and clearly reflects the series of wage increases which have taken place in recent months. Since no such marked increase has occurred in cost of living, the average worker with a job is now enjoying a considerably higher standard of living than he did a year ago.

Normally farm cash income in Texas declines in Texas from April to May, but this year the computed farm cash income was more than $31,000,000 compared with $27,000,000 in April. The index of farm cash income, adjusted for seasonal variation, was accordingly 154.1 as against 105.2 in April and 93.6 in May, 1936—increases of 46 per cent and 64 per cent respectively.

Cotton Grown On W. H. Sheedy Farm Putting on Squares

W. H. Sheedy, pioneer farmer of Knox county, was in the Times office Monday displaying two large stalks of cotton from his farm one mile north of Munday. The stalks were loaded down with squares and blooms which is rarely found at this time of the season. Sheedy, owner of four Knox county farms, stated that he had 90 acres of cotton on his home place that was just as good as the plants he brought in.

While in the office Mr. Sheedy renewed the subscription of Mrs. John Summers, of Trenton, Texas, who is his daughter, and last week paid up his own. He has been a reader of the Times for quite a number of years.

Singer Sewing Agent To Serve This County

Knox county residents will be served by a Singer Sewing machine agency in the future, according to an announcement made by C. J. McNeill, who is new agent for this section.

McNeill will operate his agency out of Seymour, which is more centrally located in his large territory. He will serve three counties in this line, Knox, King and Baylor.

McNeill will be glad to give demonstrations to any one wishing them and will also carry a line of parts for machines and do all types of repairing.

LOCAL FIREMEN TO ATTEND FIRE SCHOOL AT A. & M.

Annual Fire School To Be Held From July 19-23

Austin, July 8.—Marrin Hall, Fire Insurance Commissioner, today urged Texas fire chiefs and city officials to cooperate in sending to the annual Firemen's Training School representatives from every fire department in the State of Texas. The school will be held at College Station from July 19 to 23.

In a letter addressed to 250 fire chiefs Hall said, "From past experience you know that the good of this school training cannot be estimated in any monetary way. We want to urge that you make every effort to see that your city officials are informed on this subject, and that your department is represented this year."

"In addition to the benefits of specialized training involved, it will be possible for over 250 cities to receive three per cent lower fire insurance rates by sending their representatives to the school," Hall explained. "If a city is receiving credit for a recognized waterworks system and fire department, and the requirements of the Texas General Basis Schedules are complied with, there is a three per cent credit provided in the key rate for full attendance as a student and satisfactory completion of all subjects of the course."

Besides representatives of the Fire Insurance Department, there will be some twenty-five instructors at the school who are experts in the fields of fire fighting and fire prevention. Prof. H. R. Brayton of A. & M. College will be Director of the School.

"Our goal this year," Hall said, "is to top last year's record attendance of 450. Certainly I know of no activity in which fire departments can be so profitably engaged as training themselves to be ready to serve the interests of their citizens in time of trouble."

Local Firemen to Go
At least three and possibly five members of the local fire department will attend the session. Firemen selected to attend will be named at the next meeting Monday night at the city hall, Porter Bryan, president of the organization said.
