Police Chief Lends a Word of Caution

IMPARTS WORDS OF WISDOM -- This scene will be weekly daily routine starting Wednesday morning with the opening of school. Chief of Police Harold White urges all motorists to observe all stop signs and children to cross the highways and streets at school crossings. He is shown here with Zack and Mark Short, the ten and eight year old sons of Mr. and Mrs. Silas Short, showing them how to cross the highway safely and how he and city patrolmen will assist them during the coming school year by stopping traffic for them to cross.

Capt. Jerry Hicks Awarded Two Medals of Distinction

Captain Jerry N. Hicks has been awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross and The Bronze Star Medal for two separate phases of action while serving overseas. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T.B. Hicks and his wife Shirley, the former Shirley Mathiesen.

The citation which accompanied the awards was as follows:

THE BRONZE STAR MEDAL

Captain Jerry N. Hicks distinguished himself by meritorious service as an Air Operations Command Officer, Third Tactical Fighter Wing, Bien Hoa Air Base, Republic of Vietnam, while serving with friendly foreign forces engaged

THE DISTINGUISHED FLYING CROSS

Captain Jerry N. Hicks distinguished himself by extraordinary achievement while participating in aerial flight as an F-100 Pilot in Southeast Asia on 9 February 1966. On that date, Captain Hicks was number two in a flight of two on a normal night mission. The flight was diverted from their planned mission to attack a trapped company of Viet Cong insurgents in a bunker system near Saigon. Despite a low ceiling and reduced visibility, Captain Hicks joined his leader in attacking the Viet Cong position in total darkness. On his first pass, Captain Hicks' right outboard bomb failed to release, creating a hazardous flight condition. With complete disregard for his own safety, he continued to dive bomb and then strafe with the hung bomb. His pinpoint deliveries in the face of intense hostile automatic weapons fire contributed greatly to the annihilation of the hostile company.

The professional competence, aerial skill, and devotion to duty displayed by Captain Hicks reflect great credit upon himself and the United States Air Force.

Noted Evangelist to Hold Lazbuddie Baptist Revival

A revival will be held at the Lazbuddie First Baptist Church starting Sunday, September 3 and concluding the following Sunday, September 10, Rev. Calvin Beach, pastor said.

Morning services will be held at 10 a.m. and 8 p.m. has been set for evening service time.

Dr. Charles B. Howard, considered one of America's greatest gospel preachers, is to be the evangelist with Dale Coady evangelistic singer.

Dr. Howard was head of the Bible department of Campbell College for 21 years. He lives in Bites Creek, N.C. and is founder of Howard Memorial Funds. This is a fund to help needy students go to college. Approximately 1,000 students in 125 schools, 25 states and 18 countries, have received help from this fund. Dr. Howard has conducted more than 1,200 revivals while with Campbell College.

Singer Coady is from Lawton, Okla. and dedicates his full time to evangelistic singing. He has served Texas and Oklahoma churches as minister of music and education for several years prior to becoming a music evangelist.

He has produced three long-play record albums entitled "Heaven Came Down," "Dale Coady Sings" and "My Song." He will present special music each evening.

A nursery will be provided during the revival.

Rev. Beach said "We feel God has allowed us the privilege of having one of the most sought-after evangelists in America for this revival, and his coming to a small place like Lazbuddie seems like a miracle. It has been four years since he was extended an invitation to come to Lazbuddie and only now is an open date available for his coming here."

Symposium Set At Tech

Texas Plant and Food Education Society announces a Phosphorus Symposium for September 6 at Texas Technological College, Lubbock.

ANOTHER STORY--This is another side to the 'back-to-school' story. While older brothers, Zack and Mark march off to school, five-year old Bill Short stays at home with his dog. It is a little hard to tell just who is the sadder, the boy or the dog. As Bill brushes tears from his eyes, his faithful pup looks on with a sad concern for the plight of his friend.

Man Cools Heels In Jail After Sodomy Story Told

A 25 year-old white man awaits hearing in Bailey County Jail on charges of fondling and two counts of sodomy.

Sheriff Dee Clements began an investigation Wednesday night after a Spanish couple went to his home about 11:30 p.m. and reported that their 10 year old son was missing.

Sheriff Clements began a search for the youngster. At 3 a.m., Thursday the man who had picked up the youth, returning to his home from church, let him out of his automobile about two blocks from his home.

After talking with the boy who had taken the license number of the Louisiana licensed Vehicle, Sheriff Clements arrested the suspect at Muleshoe Motel.

The youth told Clements of being taken to an old vegetable shed about three miles west of Muleshoe and of being forced to submit to acts committed which lead to the three charges being filed against the man.

The youth said the man told him "If you don't tell your Daddy about this, meet me at the bus station tomorrow and I will give you $5. He related that his life was threatened in the event he told his father what had happened.

In other happenings, Lenua Lumber Company was broken into over the recent weekend, however, missing items were not discovered until later in the week. Charles Lenua discovered after the initial investigation that some rifles and two shotguns, still boxed, had been taken. The burglar or burglars are being sought.

About the same time, an attempt was made to break into Anthony's. However, those seeking to gain unlawful entry to the building, failed and only jammed the back door.

"Upon your shoulders, motorists, will rest the burden of looking after the safety of school children when the parade of boys and girls start toward the open doors of the four schools here Wednesday morning," Chief of Police Harold White said.

"Remember," Chief White continued, "that a majority of these children are not within the age of responsibility...that they may unthinkingly dash out into the streets while going to school, going home or while at play, they may dart into the street to retrieve a ball. Sometimes they will ride their bicycles the wrong direction, or forget about traffic altogether at times."

"You and every person who drives a car must make up for their youthful lack of caution by accepting the responsibility for their safety through careful, watchful driving," he continued.

"All persons are urged to drive carefully within the school zones and within the legal speed limits, drive even slower if traffic conditions warrant it and be constantly alert for signals on Highway 84 where school crossings are marked and at intersections around the four school buildings. Know your school bus laws and practice them.

"The students are also urged to cooperate with the regulations in crossing at proper places and using caution whenever a need arises for you to enter the streets or highways. The signals and school safety patrol rules are set up for your protection and the part you play in observing them adds to the assurance of your not becoming a victim of a traffic fatality," Chief White concluded.

Luncheon Set For Teachers

The annual Teachers Appreciation Luncheon, sponsored jointly by the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce and the men's civic organizations (Lions, Rotarians, and Jaycees) is scheduled for Tuesday, August 29, at noon in the High School Cafeteria.

The speaker will be Dr. Berlie Fallon, a professor in the Education Department of Texas Tech, Lubbock.

Approximately 120 faculty members, administrators, school board members, and secretarial personnel from the Muleshoe school system will be the guests of the sponsoring groups in this annual event.

Members of the Muleshoe Area Women's Service Organization of the Chamber of Commerce are also helping to coordinate plans for the luncheon.

TEACHER BANQUET --The Muleshoe Classroom Teachers Association public relations banquet was held here in Fellowship Hall of the First Methodist Church Tuesday evening. Superintendent of schools Neal Dillman is shown with guest speaker, Dr. Robert K. Leigh, and Wayland Ethridge. Guests were recognized by Ethridge and the invocation was given by A.L. Burchell. Dr. Leigh was introduced by Mary B. Obenhaus. Kerry Moore pronounced the benediction. Dinner music was provided by Neil Finley.

Legislation Changes In Effect August 28

Mark August 28 on your Calendar! Chances are that a huge batch of widely varied legislation which goes into effect on that date is going to affect you.

A large number of traffic safety, driver licensing and motor vehicle safety inspection laws enacted at the last session of the legislature go into effect Monday.

The remainder of the new legislation goes into effect January 1.

Open House...

the sorghum midge, breeding and cultural practices.

Latest planting and harvesting equipment designed at the center and other new farm equipment will be displayed.

Newly expanded office facilities, research laboratories and green-houses will be open to the public. Exhibits and displays will include information on plant diseases, vegetables, soil testing, cotton breeding, grain sorghum, herbicides, plant physiology and farm equipment.

Certainly if the average citizen isn't aware of the impact the new laws are going to have, area teenagers are.

Hoping to squeeze under the wire before the effective date of the law raising age limits for driver licenses, teenagers throughout this region of the Department of Public Safety have swamped examining stations to take tests.

"We've experienced the greatest rush we've ever had with these kids trying to beat the August 28 deadline," said Lt. J.E. Gray of the Driver License Division.

The legislation has been called the biggest batch affecting traffic safety ever passed in Texas.

Lt. Gray and Capt. Sanford B. Lee acknowledged that the driver's license revisions are the first basic changes made in the state's driver licensing law since it was enacted in 1941.

The new Texas law (House Bill 354) raises from 14 to 16 the minimum licensing age of youths who have passed an approved course of driver education and raises the age of licensing youths who have not had such a course from 16 to 18.

A 16-year-old can be licensed before June 1 without having taken driver education if he presents a certificate from his local school superintendent stating that the course is not offered at his school, however.

Licenses can be obtained at age 15 in hardship cases, when approved by the Department of Public Safety, or where a driver education course has been completed and an adult licensed driver always will be present.

Under no circumstances will a youngster under 15 be issued a license.

Licenses issued for drivers under 21 years old will be provisional and may be a different color after January 1, and all new licenses will be a thumb print and a color photograph of the driver after that date.

At the discretion of the DPS, a driver may be required to take a new examination before getting his license renewed.

If the holder of one of the "provisional" licenses is convicted of two or more moving traffic law violations within a 12-month period, the DPS may call a hearing to suspend his driving privilege. Action to suspend a regular driver license is based on four convictions within a year.

Motorcycle operators are placed in a special category by the new legislation. January 1, they will have to carry a special license and take a special test on a motorcycle.

Original operators' licenses issued on or after January 1 will expire on the next birthday of the licensee occurring four years after the date of application.

Operators whose license numbers end in odd numbers will be given a two-year license on their first renewal after January 1 and commercial drivers and chauffeurs a one-year license, and persons whose license numbers end in an even number or a zero will receive four-year licenses (chauffeurs two) on first renewal after January 1.

All licenses will expire on the birth date of the licensee.

Provisional licenses will be dated to expire on the 21st birthday of the licensee, and the fee will be totaled for the number of years for which the license is 15-year old until the time he is 21 would be $27.00 or $4.50 annually.

Licenses granted or renewed after January 1 will bear a color photograph of the licensee and will be encased in plastic, causing tags to say applicants will be held to "smile, you're on DPS camera," or remark that examiners will be tagged, "Have camera, will travel."

Symposium...

The event will be held in the Student Union building from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Leading authorities from educational institutions, experimental stations, extension services and industry will be speakers for the informative program.

Advanced registration fee is $5, and may be obtained by addressing Dr. A.W. Young, Department of Agronomy, Texas Tech, Lubbock and must be postmarked before August 31. The fee at the conference door is $6. Registration fee includes the noon meal and program copy.

to get it. Holders of regular driver licenses will need a special license for 'cycling' after their licenses expire the first time after the new law goes into effect.

Another new piece of legislation brings into reality a long needed improvement—requirement of special protective headgear, approved by the DPS, for motorcycle riders. This new law goes into effect January 1.

Another important section of the law is one which raises from 14 to 15 the minimum age at which a license to operate a motorscooter or motorcycle with five or less brake horsepower can be obtained.

Another change is a raise to 18 the age a person can get a commercial or chauffeur license without driver education. If a person has passed an approved course of driver education, a license can be issued at age 17.

The minimum for chauffeurs to operate ambulances drops from 21 to 19.

Under another provision of H.B. 354—effective January 1—driver licenses will be valid for four years instead of the two at present. Commercial and chauffeur licenses will be renewed every two years instead of annually.

All original operators' licenses issued on or after January 1 will expire on the next birthday of the licensee occurring four years after the date of application.

Operators whose license numbers end in odd numbers will be given a two-year license on their first renewal after January 1 and commercial drivers and chauffeurs a one-year license, and persons whose license numbers end in an even number or a zero will receive four-year licenses (chauffeurs two) on first renewal after January 1.

All licenses will expire on the birth date of the licensee.

Provisional licenses will be dated to expire on the 21st birthday of the licensee, and the fee will be totaled for the number of years for which the license is 15-year old until the time he is 21 would be $27.00 or $4.50 annually.

Licenses granted or renewed after January 1 will bear a color photograph of the licensee and will be encased in plastic, causing tags to say applicants will be held to "smile, you're on DPS camera," or remark that examiners will be tagged, "Have camera, will travel."

Lt. Gray and Capt. Lee said photos will be taken in the DPS offices by driver license personnel, causing elimination of license renewal by mail. Holders of drivers licenses would have to visit DPS offices anyway, because another section of the law provides for re-examination of eyes each time licenses are renewed.

A permanent photo setup will be established at examination stations, and examiners will carry cameras with them to areas they visit but periodically.

To launch the new - style licenses, about $2.5 million was appropriated by the Legislature.

Because only about 20 percent of renewals are made annually in person and the other 80 per cent by mail, 24 drive sub-stations are to be established in this region alone by January 1 to take care of the 100 percent in-person renewal system, Lt. Gray said.

The four full time offices being operated presently are at Lubbock, Plainview, Amarillo and Wichita Falls. Additional examination stations are to be established at Brownfield, Denver City, Levelland, Littlefield, Crosbyton, Dada, Borger, Childress, Dumas, Haskell, Hereford, Canyon, Friona, Mineral Wells, Muleshoe, Pampa, Vernal, Perryton, Dalhart, Tule, Muleshoe, Graham, Bowie and Decatur.

Expected to be established by October 1 are driver rehabilitation program for drivers whose licenses have been suspended or revoked or are subject to suspension or revocation. Details of the program have not been worked out, however.

Effective August 28 is a requirement that the State Department of Health conduct studies relating to medical aspects of driver licensing and traffic safety and make recommendations in these fields to the DPS.

Also effective is a major change in the driving while intoxicated statute which increases mandatory suspension for defendants convicted of DWI from six to 12 months and for defendants convicted of driving while intoxicated, subquent offense, from 12 -18 months.

Counterfeiting a driver license has been made a felony.

Also stiffened is the penalty for driving without a license. Under the new law the penalty for first offense will remain at up to $200.00. A second offense within a year, however, will bring a minimum fine of not less than $25.00 and up to $500.00, or imprisonment in the county jail for 72 hours to six months, or both and imprisonment.

Judges also are instructed to report convictions of for driving without a license and to send sets of fingerprints to the DPS.

Also strengthened were provisions for denying licenses to drug addicts, and procedures to prevent legally blind persons from obtaining licenses were improved.

Also effective this month is a law prohibiting minors from pleading guilty of traffic offenses in open court before a judge. Courts also were directed to require parents or guardians to appear with minors during all proceedings.

Revisions in the motor vehicle inspection law include checks of steering, wheels and rims, and seat belts. Seat belts will be required in front seats in all vehicles except a part belt anchorages were a part of the manufacturer's original equipment. The new inspection period starts August 28 and continues through April 15. The inspection is being phased from $1.00 to $1.75.

One bill already in effect established a statewide safety program, with Governor John Connally as administrator. Not just incidentally, this bill exceeded the loss of about $22 million in federal highway construction funds that would have been cut off if Texas had failed to enact the legislation.

LAST TOURIST -- The last tourist stop of the summer "Tourist of the Week" was made Friday afternoon. The family honored here by free meals, lodging, gasoline, movies and other courtesies were Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Stevens, Terri, Duane and Doug of Cape Kennedy, Fla. They were en route to Grand Canyon on vacation. Stevens is on leave from a teaching position at Cape Kennedy to finish his doctorate from the University of Southern Mississippi.

Linda Scott, Richard Hutchins Wedding Held in Muleshoe Church of Christ

Mrs. Richard Hutchins (the former Linda Scott)

Miss Linda Scott became the bride of Richard Hutchins in a double ring ceremony at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in the Muleshoe Church of Christ, with D.L. Thompson, minister, officiating.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Scott, is a graduate of Muleshoe High School and of Lubbock Christian College, and is a senior music education major at Texas Tech, where she is a member of the T. B. Symphony Orchestra, Mu Phi Epsilon, national honorary music sorority, and Tau Beta Sigma band sorority. She is employed as Director of the Lubbock Christian High School Band. The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hutchins, of Lubbock, is a graduate of Lubbock High School, attended Lubbock Christian College, and is a senior accounting major at Texas Tech, where he is a member of Phi Mu Alpha, national honorary music fraternity. Both were members of the Texas Tech marching and concert band. The groom is employed by Safeway Stores, Inc.

Presiding the ceremony, wedding selections were presented by Mrs. Rodney Blackwood and Homer Martin, soloists, with the Sunset Church of Christ wedding chorus offering traditional wedding music.

The ceremony was performed before a cathedralled ceiling accented with large jade ferns embellishing a decor of tiered, arched candelabra flanked by arrangements of fern and gladiolus.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of candlelight ivory silk peau de soie with molded empire bodice of re-embroidered Alencon lace featuring a scalloped Florentine neckline and elbow length sleeves ending in scallops. Seed pearls outlined the bow patterned lace, inverted pleats near the hemline of the A-line skirt were accented with lace appliques and seed pearls. A detachable chapel length train with soft pleats flowed from the shoulders. A clustered coil of Alencon lace edged with seed pearls held her finger tipped veil of silk illusion. She carried a cascade of cymbidium orchids and smilax, accented with love knots of ivory satin.

Mrs. Rodney Blackwood, of Duluth, Minnesota, twin sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Mrs. Norman Flanagan, of Lubbock, sister of the groom, and Mrs. Mike Bailey, of Abilene, were bridesmaids. The attendants wore identical floor length empire gowns of frosty pink brocade with cowl neckline and three quarter length sleeves with roll cuffs. Their headpieces were matching double French bows with short veils of tulle and each carried cascades of pastel pink summer flowers with natural foliage.

Norman Flanagan, of Lubbock, served as best man. Groomsmen were Lt. Rodney Blackwood, of Duluth, Minnesota, and Ronald Scott, of Lubbock. Ushers were Mike Bailey, of Abilene; Jack Jones, and Ronnie Johnson, both of Lubbock.

Miss Leslie Wagon, dressed identically to the bride's atendants, served as flower girl. Mark Harmon was ringbearer. Miss Beth Thompson registered guests from a table appointed with a silver candleholder with lighted pink taper and a mixed-flower floral arrangement.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held at the church. The serving table was covered with a pink cloth with an overlay of net and was centered with a crystal candelabra entwined with smilax which held lighted pink tapers. A crystal punch service and a three-tiered wedding cake decorated with white wedding bells and pink roses enhanced the table. Presiding at the serving table were Miss Kathy Hamilton, of Plainview, and Miss Rhonda Wagon. Members of the house party included Mrs. Robert Blackwood, Mrs. Don Harmon, Mrs. Joe Mack Wagon, Mrs. D.O. Burelsmith, Mrs. W. B. Wagon, Jr., Mrs. Clyde Monk, Miss Sheri Scott, Miss Sharla Scott, Miss Rita Harrison, and Miss Sharon Stephens.

For travel, the bride wore a pink knit costume suit with white lizard accessories. Her corsage was the cymbidium orchid lifted from the bridal bouquet.

After a wedding trip to Grand Lake, Colo., the couple will be at home at 4501 - 37th Street in Lubbock.

Teen Fashion Course Is Short and Snappy

Fashion's in motion on the teen scene for back-to-school wear this fall. Short and snappy are the key words, but there's more a fresh-scrubbed look than in seasons past. Silhouettes are A'd, flared, flowing form the yoke, or flouncing from low-dropped belts. Divided skirts--sometimes called "Schoolottes"-- are now fashioned for school acceptability. They're often styled with deep inverted front pleats starting above the natural waistline and making them look more like modified tents than culottes. While the mini-length dress remains popular, it, too, has been modified by addition of matching pantaloons showing a few inches below the shortened hemlines.

In the accessories line, textured and patterned hose rise up to meet the shorter hemlines or stop just below the knee. Shoes are low with squared-off toes and scaled-down bags swinging from shoulder straps are favorites.

Here they come!

John Tower

As 1968 approaches we are being besieged by rhetoric--some logical, most not--designed to persuade this nation of the futility of winning the war in Vietnam.

But, there are good reasons why we must persevere and achieve victory.

There are selfish reasons why we must win. A rebuke for the communist conviction that wars of insurgency are, indeed, the wave of the future could buy 30 years of peace for ourselves and our friends in Asia.

And, there are reasons of honor:

The U.S. pledge to honor its military obligations in defense of our beliefs, wherever we may have such commitments, will not long claim respect if we discard it when confronted by a difficult test.

The entire Free World ascribes to the conviction that the United States as the Free World's leader has a moral obligation to provide leadership and assistance throughout the world. We cannot turn back the clock of history and plunge America into a period of "new isolationism," hoping that the rest of the world will just go away and leave us alone.

Neither our common sense nor our conscience permit that.

The facts are that if we will quit pulling our punches against the enemy in Vietnam, Red China which has helped peace-ful victory is within sight. Red China will have peacefully contained Russia in Europe.

Let me make it clear that I cannot justify nor support military - political victory we obtained in Korea where an exhausted enemy finally decided that he could no longer afford to impose his will where he was not wanted. The fact is that there are signs our enemy in Vietnam is reaching exhaustion.

Now, we should not expect an actual surrender or truce; we probably will not even recognize the end when it comes, but only see in retrospect that the combat the enemy began to fall back. Indeed, that moment may already have been reached. It is important to not just every report currently coming out of Hanoi proves beyond any doubt that the enemy knows he cannot defeat us. He can only hope that we will despair and pull out leaving the field to him.

But none of the reasons for winning the war which I have cited thus far are as vital to this nation, and to its future as this last reason:

It is not in its successes that a civilization, or a great nation, endures, but rather in its response to adversity. For it is in the response to challenge, rather than in easy affluence, that national sinews of strength, survivability and growth are forged.

If we were to turn our backs on this challenge, we would not only close our eyes to the important reasons for winning the war, but we would also level a self-inflicted blow at the very foundations of our national strength. We would weaken ourselves for the challenges and adversities of the future.

Nevertheless, some spokesmen of our so-called "Peace" movements will continue to rationalize America out of the Vietnam war because they find it neither honorable, nor just nor moral, nor important to future U.S. and free world security and stability.

In succumbing to such a rationalization, these spokesmen duck the real issue -- the Red hope that Vietnam-type wars may be too much of a challenge for American society. Mao Tse-tung in Peking and Ho Chi-Minh in Hanoi have placed their bets -- have publicly staked their policy -- on the firm conviction that America will not stand up to this challenge.

I believe it is important that we confront and defeat communist aggression in Vietnam and assist creation of a series of Asian buffer states around Red China which can help peacefully contain her. Just as we have peacefully contained Russia in Europe.

I believe it is important that we confront and defeat communist aggression in Vietnam and assist creation of a series of Asian buffer states around Red China which can help peacefully contain her. Just as we have peacefully contained Russia in Europe.

Let me make it clear that I cannot justify nor support military - political victory we obtained in Korea where an exhausted enemy finally decided that he could no longer afford to impose his will where he was not wanted. The fact is that there are signs our enemy in Vietnam is reaching exhaustion.

Now, we should not expect an actual surrender or truce; we probably will not even recognize the end when it comes, but only see in retrospect that the combat the enemy began to fall back. Indeed, that moment may already have been reached. It is important to not just every report currently coming out of Hanoi proves beyond any doubt that the enemy knows he cannot defeat us. He can only hope that we will despair and pull out leaving the field to him.

But none of the reasons for winning the war which I have cited thus far are as vital to this nation, and to its future as this last reason:

It is not in its successes that a civilization, or a great nation, endures, but rather in its response to adversity. For it is in the response to challenge, rather than in easy affluence, that national sinews of strength, survivability and growth are forged.

If we were to turn our backs on this challenge, we would not only close our eyes to the important reasons for winning the war, but we would also level a self-inflicted blow at the very foundations of our national strength. We would weaken ourselves for the challenges and adversities of the future.

Nevertheless, some spokesmen of our so-called "Peace" movements will continue to rationalize America out of the Vietnam war because they find it neither honorable, nor just nor moral, nor important to future U.S. and free world security and stability.

In succumbing to such a rationalization, these spokesmen duck the real issue -- the Red hope that Vietnam-type wars may be too much of a challenge for American society. Mao Tse-tung in Peking and Ho Chi-Minh in Hanoi have placed their bets -- have publicly staked their policy -- on the firm conviction that America will not stand up to this challenge.
