

"These are times that try men's souls!"

Our farmer men, that is.

And that is not to mean, or even insinuate that farmer men's women do not have souls--or that their souls cannot be tried by the same events, tragic or otherwise, as those that disturb the souls of men.

And we imagine the fellow whom we're quoting above, whoever he is, meant the word "men" to apply generally to the great human race. No use adding fire to the ERA movement, you know!

And what plagues the farmer has a bearing on all of us, in a manner of speaking.

Like, when visited with the devastating hail and wind and floods,

Football Practice Upcoming

Coach Rogers Lankford has announced to The Courier that the Mogul football squad members will receive their physicals at Knox City at 4:00 p.m. on August 2.

On August 6, the boys will receive their shorts, t-shirts and shoes so they will be ready for their first practice on Monday morning, August 9, at 6:30 a.m.

School Board Approves Tax Rate; Accepts Resignation

The Munday Independent School District Board of Trustees met in called session on Tuesday, July 20, 1982.

Discussions were held with representatives of architectural firms concerning the physical plant needs of the district.

An agreement was entered into with Huckabee and Donham of Andrews to conduct a study and report back to the board.

The board approved $1.30 tax rate per

McLeskey Goes

To Abilene

Coach Russell McLeskey, who has been on the coaching staff at Munday schools for the past two years, has recently accepted a coaching position with Abilene High School in Abilene.

McLeskey will be assistant football coach and assistant baseball coach at the high school. He stated that the future possibilities available for him on the baseball coaching staff caused him to accept the position.

farmers were in the midst of three very important stages of activity that meant a lot to, not only them, but to everyone.

Cotton was being, or had been, planted. People in this activity had been cooperating with the uniform planting date of June 20 as an effective means of combatting the worst evil of the cotton industry, the boll weevil.

The best they could hope for was that the weather would also co-operate and allow plenty of time for their cotton to grow, put on fruit and finally mature before the icy breath of Old Man Winter put a stop to such activities.

There was wheat in the fields, and ripe unto harvest. The grain would be safer in the elevators or storage bins than in the field, and efforts were being made to bring this about.

The many acres of potatoes were reaching the harvest stage--ready to be dug from the ground, processed and sold to the buyers and eventually be turned into "food for the masses".

Even at best, farmers found themselves involved in three activities at one time, each of which was designed to put a bulge into their pocketbooks or bank accounts, or to take care of that loan.

But the weather didn't co-operate to the fullest extent, or not at all in many instances.

Most of the remainder of June was fraught with disaster for the farmer--the person whose primary job is to feed the nation and the world.

They found the hail and wind and rain had flattened much of their acreage, making freshly-planted rows as flat as the level floor. Cotton had gone byebye, much wheat had been destroyed (though some had completed harvest just ahead of disaster), and spuds were either damaged or endangered.

When TV commentators gave a 20% possibility of rain each night, we could be pretty well assured that the Munday area would receive upwards from an inch by sunrise next morning!

Finally the faucet was turned off, and we were reminded of what one person said while in conversation with us: "I guess when it does quit, it won't rain another drop!"

Buoyed with the hope and the possibility of further credit, farmerfriends set about to make the best of the situation, battling against time with cotton. Some took another route and diverted cotton acreage to other crops; and now they are in the process of needing and wanting and praying for rain on these crops, something that didn't seem probable while the wet spell was upon us.

WORKING WITH BOOKS: Allene Beaty and Edith Hobert, who are in charge of the City-County Library in Munday, are busy sorting and recording a number of new books recently received at the library. Those shown in the shelves are also new additions.

Munday School Bells Will Toll August 23

According to superintendent Doyle Lowrance, students who will attend the Munday schools will report for classes Monday, August 23. Teachers will begin work on August 16.

Students who have attended Munday schools previously are pre-registered. It will be necessary for only those students who have moved to Munday School District this summer to register before August 23.

These new students will need to report to their respective principal's office between August 2 and August 13. Doug Donoho, high school principal, can be located at his office during this time. A. B. Martin, elementary and junior high principal, will need to be contacted by students and parents of that particular age child at his office.

First National Captures First In Local League

In the local men's softball league, the First National Bank team placed first. In second place, in a tie, were the Weevils and Desperados. The Raiders were in third place with Knox Prairie and Weinert tying for last.

Final games were played Friday and Monday, July 23 and July 26. In the Friday games, the Weevils won over the Desperados 18-6 and the Raiders had a 1-0 win over Weinert by a forfeit.

Monday night, the Weevils beat the Raiders 9-8. Knox Prairie won over Weinert by a forfeit, and the Desperados had an 11-7 win over the First National team.

Ray Ford, president of the league, stated, "I feel we had a good season. The men seemed to enjoy playing and everything ran real smooth." The Courier thanks Mr. Ford for providing game results for publication.

One new program will be introduced in high school this year. It is a program for talented and gifted students and will be under the supervision of Mrs. Barbara Ratliff. Various tests and other means will determine the students who will participate.

Men's Softball Tournament To Be Here

Weather permitting, a men's softball tournament is planned on the Munday field west of the high school, beginning Thursday evening (tonight) at 8:00.

A group of men from Munday and Goree have had a team this season, playing in a number of tournaments. Mike Hord and Jerry Atkinson are heading up the tournament. Prospects of 16 to 20 teams were possible earlier this week.

Hamburgers, homemade ice cream and other treats will be available at the concession. Everyone who enjoys softball should plan to attend the games and enjoy the refreshments.

As the month of July came on the the airwaves that in July, 1950, the temheels of a wet period in June, folks were somewhat surprised that the usually hot July 4 came and passed without a temperature of 100-plus degrees. Days went by for almost two weeks and still no hot cury has been above, or hovered near, July temperature.

But the event came on Wednesday of last week, when an even 100 degrees in temperature was recorded for Munday, followed by 101 degrees the next day. It was at that period that we heard via

Favors Some; Snubs Others

Whether you were favored by a nice rain last Monday or just plain snubbed by the elements depended entirely on where you lived!

A "promising" cloud formed to the north and northeast of Munday and began dishing out those refreshing raindrops about midafternoon. Accompanying thunder and lightning made prospects seem more realistic.

Boyd Lynn Meers, who lives about four miles northeast of Munday, reported a needed 1.2 inches of moisture to revive crops.' Other precipitation depended on where you lived.

The shower lasted some 15 minutes or more in Munday, with rain guages registering .2 of an inch and better. Goodson Sellers reported .05 of an inch at his recording station, while those further west had to content themselves by watching this activity as it passed by! *****

We got liberal with money in reporting deposits in the First National Bank in Munday last week. These deposits were listed as $25,777,550.97, when they should have been $22,725,329.87.

This was a matter of giving the bank a little over $3 million too much in deposits.

Ladies' Golf Tournament Set For Saturday

A ladies' partnership golf tournament is planned at Lake Creek golf course on Saturday, July 31.

During the first 25 days of July, only .08 of an inch of rain has fallen locally-and that's not good on seed that was sort of "muddied in" in the first place.

In a lighter vein, we're reminded of a happening some 25 or more years ago. During a dry spell a local man had arrived for services in his church, when he noticed a friend in a sort of kneeling position outside the building.

"What are you doing," he asked, "praying for rain?" His friend said, "By golly, I have prayed for rain, haven't you?", to which came the answer, "Yeah, but that was before I got my irrigation well!"

You may have one or a dozen irrigation wells, or you may be in our shape with "nairy a one", but we think the time is ripe for a good "cotton shower", don't you?

Applications Being Taken For Insurance On Wheat

Wheat growers interested in all-risk insurance for their 1983 crops should contact their insurance agent as soon as possible, according to F. W. "Ted" Crouch Jr., All-Risk Insurance Field Operations Director. Although the deadline to obtain wheat insurance isn't until September 15, Crouch suggests three reasons why growers should begin making their plans now. First, early consideration will provide additional time to develop a program of insurance coverage that best meets the individual policy-holder's needs.

Secondly, it can be useful to farmers to have their insurance arranged before they visit with their lenders about production loans. Insurance helps to minimize the uncertainty involved in the yearahead cash flow projections that many lenders today require.

Third, an early application allows additional time for growers to verify yield records that may enable them to qualify for increased insurance protection.

Crouch points out that the expanded and revised wheat insurance program now in effect provides a variety of ways for producers to tailor their coverage to their needs for insurance protection and to their budgets. For example, policies offer a choice of production guarantees as well as a choice of indemnity payments for each bushel of loss.

The ASCS county office has a list of local private agents who are handling the federally-backed insurance policies.

Alton Hester of Knox City announces this week that he has opened the Quality Lite Window Manufacturing firm in Knox City. Coming after several weeks of study and planning, the firm is housed in the old Paymaster Gin location in west Knox City.

The firm will initially employ five or more persons, Hester said, in the manufacture of both storm windows and doors. "We expect to be able to manufacture between 150 and 200 units per week," Mr. Hester said.

"When we get squared away," he continued, "we hope to be able to give delivery in from three to four days on our orders. Our formal opening will be announced later; and, at this time, the public is invited to attend and get firsthand information on this new business."

Wedding Vows Exchanged By Lezlie Gass, Thomas Parrish

Lezlie Carol Gass and Thomas Wilson Parrish exchanged marriage vows on Saturday afternoon, July 24, 1982, at three o'clock, in a candlelight ceremony at the Church of Christ in Munday. Larry Swan, minister of the church, officiated the double ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Byron Gass. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Ben S. Parrish of Ballinger.

Church decorations included two brass spiral candelabra, two single candelabra, and a center fan candelabrum with yellow tapers and emerald greenery. Dual baskets containing an array of yellow roses and other fresh cut flowers were placed on either side. Hurricane lamps entwined with yellow ribbon and English ivy marked the rows.

The bride chose an original gown by Michelle for Alfred Angelo of bridal satin in candlelight, enhanced with white Venice lace. The fitted bodice, with a Queen Anne neckline and sheer full bishop sleeves, was heavily appliqued with silk Venice lace and sheer crystal pleating. Lace and crystal pleats formed the cuffs. Lace appliques were repeated on the full contoured skirt. An apron design was formed by tiny crystal pleating and Venice lace edged the hemline, with the skirt falling into a chapel length train.

She wore a double wreath of lace and lillies of the valley that held a long veil of imported English illusion. The veil was edged in matching Venice lace. The bride carried a bouquet of cascading silk roses. Stephanotis entwined with English ivy completed the bouquet.

For something borrowed, the bride chose pearls worn by her mother on her wedding day. A traditional blue garter, gift of Lane-Felker, was worn for something blue. A handkerchief given shirts and grey bow ties was the attire of the attendants. Music for the ceremony was provided by singers from the Haskell Church of Christ.

Ushers were Mark Mc-Gaughey of Knox City, brother-in-law of the bride, Quinn Smith, cousin of the bride, Kevin Spreen of Odessa, and James Fuller of Fort Stockton.

Candlelighters were James Gass, brother of the bride, and Russell Smith, cousin of the bride.

Teresa Therwhanger of Abilene registered guests from a table covered with a floor length cloth of candlelight satin and an overlay of white tulle, 'accented with appliqued wedding bells. The table was centered with an arrangement of yellow silk bride and groom.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Gass chose a formal length gown of blue. polyester chiffon over taffeta. The bridegroom's mother wore a dusty rose gown on quiana nylon.

The parents of the bride hosted a reception at the Munday Community Center following the wedding ceremony.

A brunch was also hosted by the bride's family in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Gass in Goree, for the bride's out-of-town guests. Mr. and Mrs. Gass are grandparents of the bride.

The bride is a 1978 graduate of Munday High flowers and a photo of the School and a 1981 graduate of Texas Tech University in Lubbock, where she received a bachelor of science degree in education. She is presently employed by the Ector County Independent School District.

Advice Knox County Extension Agent Drying Fruits And Vegetables At Home Got an over-abundance of apricots, peppers, onions or any other fruit or vegetables? Has the thought, "What am I going to do with all of this," ever crossed your mind? Try drying your fruits and vegetables! Drying is one of the oldest methods of food preservation known to mankind. It also is one of the simplest methods. It requires only basic equipment. Any special equipment that is needed usually can be made at home at little to moderate cost.

Successful drying depends upon the removal of enough moisture from the food to prevent spoilage. This must be done as fast as possible at a temperature that does not seriously affect the flavor, texture and color of the food. If the temperature is too low at the beginning, the food may undergo undesirable microbiological changes before it dries adequately. If the temperature is much too. high and the humidity too low, the water-filled cells of the food may expand and burst, or the food may harden on the surface. This makes it more difficult for the moisture to escape and the food to dry properly.

Gardens Now

Much of Texas is well suited to fall gardening, and while there is still plenty of hot weather ahead, it's time to start getting fall gardens in shape, says a horticulticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University

Pre-Nuptial Events The couple was honored with a bridal shower in the home of Mrs. Bobby Gruben in Rotan.

A wedding shower was also hosted in Munday in the home of Mrs. Bob Therwhanger.

A spice and rice party was given by Mrs. Randy Waters and Mrs. Bill Casey in Abilene.

Lynda Henderson of Rotan hosted a bridal luncheon in her home.

Guests were registered by tain certain enzymes that are responsible for their maturation, or their becoming ripe. A reception was hosted by These enzymes cause color and flavor changes, some of which may become more extensive when food surfaces are cut and exposed to air. The changes continue during appointments. Serving were drying and storing unless the enzyme activity is retarded or stopped. Therefore, pretreatment such as anto-oxidant coating, blanching or sulfering may be recommended.

Home drying, if done properly, can work well for many fruits and vegetables. There are, however, many variations in recommendations for treatment before drying, for methods of drying, for temperatures and length of drying time, and for conditioning prior to storage. You may have to use the "trial and error" approach in finding out which drying technique works best for your situation. Whatever method you use, keep these thoughts in mind: Cleanliness and safety are important throughout the process. * The quality of the finished product can be no better than that of the raw material from which it is made.

* The flavor of dried fruits and vegetables will be different from their fresh, canned or frozen counterparts.

For more information on drying fruits and vegetables at home, contact the County Extension office. Free publications on drying foods are available upon request.

Miss Kim Warren of Fort Worth spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Jerry King, Kerry and Chad.

At MSU... learning doesn't stop when the sun goes down

As a matter of fact, our Evening Program has grown larger than ever before as more and more working and part-time students have returned to school either to improve their job skills or to qualify for newer, better positions.

Right now, ALL of our Graduate Programs and our two-year Associate Degree programs in Computer Programming, and Engineering, Electronics and Chemical Technology can be completed by taking classes only in the late afternoon and evening. PLUS, many of our baccalaureate programs schedule a number of evening classes every semester.

So... if your job or family commitments make it impossible for you to attend classes during the day ... you can still earn a college degree and prepare yourself for a better, more secure future.

To find out more about our evening programs, call or write our Admissions Office at 692-6611, ext. 4333 or come by Room 102S of the Hardin Administration Building. Registration for the Fall Semester will be August 26-27, but new students must apply for admission before August 17 to avoid delays in processing.

Adams, Brown Exchange Vows In Candlelight Ceremony

Teresa Lynne Adams and Kenneth Joseph Brown exchanged marriage vows at five o'clock in the evening on Saturday, July 24, 1982, in St. Joseph's Catholic Church in Rhineland.

Rev. Brendan McGuire of Rhineland officiated at the double ring ceremony.

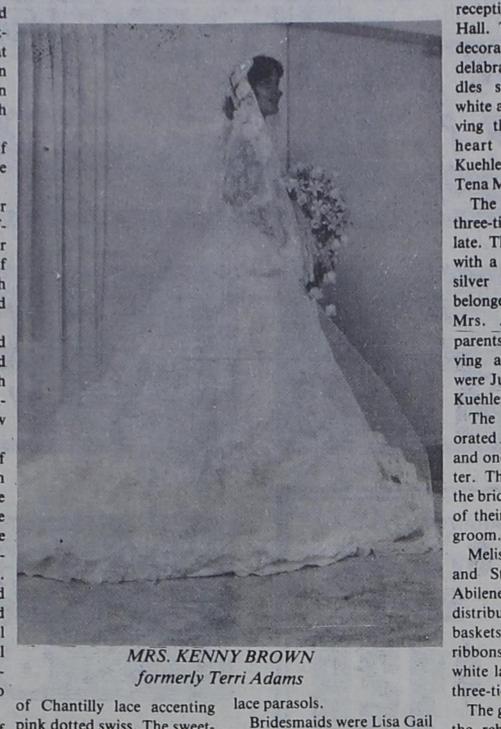

Given in marriage by her uncle, R. D. Hurst of Clifton, the bride is the daughter of Joyce Melton. Parents of the groom are Mrs. Ruth Brown and the late Gerald Brown.

The church was decorated with two brass heart-shaped candelabras accented with white tapers, the unity candle, and pink and white pew markers.

The bride wore a gown of poly-organza adorned with Chantilly-type lace. The gown featured a Queen Anne necknine and sneer lace bishop sleeves with lace applique and seed pearl accents. The skirt was softly gathered with a center lace panel and six-tiered bouffant chapel train. Her chapel-length veil was trimmed in Chantillytype lace and seed pearls to match her dress.

The bride's bouquet was of pink and white roses accented with lace ribbons entwined like sleeve edged in lace. The with a rosary given to the fitted bodice was lace with bride by Emma Duesterhaus, dipped detail. The full boufgrandmother of the groom.

Junior bridesmaids were Kendra Petitt of Amarillo, cousin of the groom, and Michelle Wilde of Munday. They carried parasols of white organza decorated with pink ribbon and flowers and wore floor-length dresses of reception in the Columbus Hall. The bride's table was decorated with a silver candelabra with five pink candles surrounded by pink. white and silver flowers. Serving the bride's four-tiered heart cake were Deedee Kuehler, Mona Choucair and Tena Myers of Munday.

The groom's cake was a three-tiered German chocolate. The table was accented with a silver tablecloth. The silver mint and nut dish belonged to the late Mr. and Mrs. Joe Brown, grandparents of the groom. Serving at the groom's table were Julie Myers, Bernadette Kuehler and Sharon Petitt. The gift table was decorated with eleven red roses and one pink rose in the center. The roses were sent to the bride early in the morning of their wedding day by the Melissa Hurst of Odessa and Stephanie DeFore of Abilene, cousins of the bride, distributed rice bags from baskets decorated with pink ribbons. Their dresses had white lace bodices with pink three-tiered ruffled skirts.

The groom's family hosted the rehearsal dinner in the Knights of Columbus Hall. White tablecloths were accented with pink placemats and pink parasols, in keeping with the bride's chosen colors.

Following the reception, the groom's mother hosted a wedding dance for the couple at the Knights of Columbus Hall with music by the Moonlighters.

The couple was honored

ment of cookies and punch. The bride graduated from Munday High School and is attending Western Texas College. Also a graduate of Mun-day High School, the bridegroom is employed by Brown and Brown Farming in Rhineland.

Following a wedding trip to Lubbock, the couple will make their home in Rhineland. Haskell.

We would like to say Take time to stop and "thank you" to all who came smell the roses.

Conservation Tillage Helps To Fight Erosion Of Soils

Conservation tillage practices can help Texas farmers fight both soil erosion and the cost-price squeeze. burn said.

A survey conducted by the U. S. Department of Agriculture Soil Conservation Service and released this year indicates that soil erosion rates exceed five tons per acre per year on more than five million acres of Texas "Farmers are vitally concerned about the problem with erosion because their future and ours depend on the productivity of the soil," said Dr. Ed Colburn, agronomist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

"Many of our farmers are simply trying to survive in the short run and feel they cannot afford using many good conservation practices," he said.

However, they can use conservation tillage practices as a low-cost method to attack soil erosion. Of course, these practices do not come without some demands and

The agronomist said there are many degrees of tillage involved in the concept of conservation tillage, reduced tillage and minimum tillage. These all refer to the reduction of trips across fields from those normally used in conventional tillage.

"It may be simply a reduction from 10 tillage trips over the field to six in a season, no seedbed preparation or stale seedbed preparation, or onceover planting with a no-till planter," Colburn said. "No-till systems where no seedbed preparation is done or no cultivation is practiced is the most extreme form of conservation tillage," he noted. "This system requires a no-till planter and total substitution of chemicals to control weeds and prevent yield losses." Reduced tillage or no-till

Farm And Ranch Report

CHARLES SIEPEL Knox County Extension Agent Bird Control

In Gardens

Tomatoes are the favorite crop in America, enjoyed by most everyone--and birds. Birds are really not a big garden problem until tomatoes start to ripen. Then they become a real nuisance. Oftentimes birds find your ripe tomatoes about a day before you do. And they eat holes in every tomato they can find about the time it turns red. These holes or damaged spots often become infested by various types of insects and rot-type diseases. The result is obvious - fewer tomatoes for the dinner July 21. table.

One method that does work well involves using old stockings or panty hose. Cut the nylon stocking or panty hose into 15- to 20-inch lengths. Then tie one end shut. Next, slip the resulting "tube" over a cluster of tomatoes and close the open end with a twist tie or short piece of string. The elastic nature of the panty hose or stocking allows fruit to enlarge. Tomatoes can be easily harvested by untying the closed end and removing the fruit. It's important to place the hose or stocking tube over
