Wagging Tongue

by Cynthia White

We asked our son if he had given his goldfish fresh water. He replied, "No. He didn't drink the water I gave him last week."

The frog was out eating beside the pond when his owner began calling. "Time to go home, Greenlegs!" the lad said.

"Already?" croaked the frog. "Gee, time's sure fun when you're having flies."

The following sayings were potted on plaques at Buds For You here in Munday.

Golf is like taxes...you go for the green, and end up in the hole.

A fool and his money...are fun to go out with.

Fish and men are alike...they both get in trouble when they open their mouths.

When I die, I want to be buried in the woods so my husband will HUNT me.

Grandchildren are God's reward or not killing your kids.

You know you're getting older when...a little action means your prune juice is working.

If you're going to write in the lust...please don't date it. YOUNG AT HEART. Other parts slightly older.

I'm on a 30 day diet...so far I've lost 15 days.

If you are pushing FIFTY- that's exercise enough.

The most difficult years of marriage are those following the wedding.

What is it called when a mixed breed dog talks to itself?

Muttering.

There was a knock on the door, and when Mrs. Adams answered, she was surprised to see a parcel delivery service truck. "Mrs. Adams," said the delivery man, "here's the muzzle from Mutley's Dog World."

"There must be some mistake," said Mrs. Adams. "I didn't order a muzzle."

"No mistake, ma'am," said the messenger. "Your neighbors did."

When Mark's old dog died, he bought a new one. And because the puppy was so full of energy, he decided to call him Life.

Unfortunately, Mark used all of his old dog's things on the new one. And one day, while he was out walking the pooch, the frayed leather strap snapped and the dog ran away, never to return. Moral: Always try to get a new leash on Life.

A young family had traveled to Mount Rushmore Memorial in South Dakota over the summer and their children were very impressed with the huge Presidential heads.

Upon returning home a TV commercial came on that featured a photo of Mount Rushmore. With all the authority that their five-year-old could capture he turned to his older brother and said, "Look, Bruce, there they are! The stoned Presidents."

MHS CLIC raises money for Rehab

Students from Munday's Community Life Involvement Council (CLIC) helped to raise over $7,800 for those served at West Texas Rehabilitation Center at the Chick-fil-A Rockathon for Rehab on November 7. Fourteen Munday students and sponsors joined area teens at the mall of Abilene for an afternoon of fundraising fun, including Tracee Tomlinson, Angela Albus, Jennifer Carden, and Amanda Sosa.

Also participating were Shareka Allen, Cynthia Thomas, Mandi Myers, Joann Thomas, Jimmy Taylor, Tina Gonzales, and Kellie Zepeda.

Adults accompanying the group included Sara Zepeda, Peggy Myers and Cathy Albus.

Groups are invited to seek donations or pledges in their communities and to bring rocking chairs to the mall for a three-hour session of rocking. Prizes are awarded to groups and to individuals bringing the most dollars. Rockers are treated to food, music, entertainment, and door prizes. The Munday group also was featured on all three Abilene television stations' news coverage of the Rockathon as well as radio interviews during the afternoon.

Abilene's Chick-fil-A operator and event sponsor Will Rogers praised the efforts of the youth groups, saying, "It is amazing what a few young people with rocking chairs can accomplish in a few hours. They have made a positive difference in many lives. I join the staff at West Texas Rehabilitation Center in saying thank you to these caring teens."

The group from Munday arrived in Abilene early for a tour of West Texas Rehabilitation Center prior to the Rockathon and saw firsthand what their efforts can help to accomplish.

West Texas Rehabilitation Center serves over 17,000 children and adults throughout West Texas annually, including over 50 from Knox County in 1998. Treatment services include physical therapy, occupational therapy, audiology, industrial rehabilitation, orthotics/prosthetics, adaptive devices, social services, and more.

EARLY SHOPPERS. Several Munday craft dealers and retail merchants were involved in the Haskell Arts and Crafts Show that took place last Saturday. Kendra Bevel and Lois Reneau assist Mrs. Debbie Williams at her "Cadillac Dreams" booth. Other Munday participants were Schoolmarm Antiques - Ann Therwanger, Mary's Creations - Mary Cartwright, Recycled Relics - Joye Baker and Shirley Gass, Dorothy and Gene Brown and Connie Melton. Many Munday shoppers were also on hand to enjoy the variety of goods for sale.

Munday ISD Board adjusts school calendar

The Munday ISD Board of Trustees met in regular session on Thursday, November 12, 1998 at 7:00 p.m. in the Administration Building. All members were present. Approved were the previous minutes, payment of all bills, and the investment report. Following those items were amendments to the budget and amendments to the 1998-99 calendar. Gerald Rogers was present and gave a report on the audit of the 1997-98 financial records. Also considered was the report on the 97-98 AEIS report.

The 1998-99 calendar was amended because of changes in previously scheduled events. January 22 will be the county stock show day. This was originally on the calendar as a holiday on January 15. The holiday scheduled for February 15 was moved to February 5. Many of our students attend the Fort Worth stock show and this will allow them to attend without missing school. Originally the Concert and Sightreading Contest was scheduled for April 15. This was moved to April 14 and the school calendar has been adjusted. The district track meet was scheduled for April 16 but has been moved to April 8. This is a Thursday and we have had many broken weeks, so there will be no holiday on the day the District track meet is scheduled. This holiday will be taken at Easter on April 5.

A report was made on the AEIS report received from the Texas Education Agency. This report showed gains made by most groups on the TAAS test. Areas of concern were reviewed and suggestions made about ways to improve in these areas.

Gerald Rogers presented his findings on the audit he performed on the financial records of the district. He gave the district an unqualified opinion. This is the highest opinion a district can receive. He did point out some areas to be improved upon.

The next regularly scheduled board meeting will be December 10, 1998.

Waldrip finishes strong in State Cross Country meet

by Tony Cunniff

Congratulations Anna Marie Waldrip for running a time of 13:28 and placing 14th at the State Cross Country meet in Round Rock.

Rain and mud were the main obstacles for the cross country competitors Saturday morning November 14th. It was indeed a true test of strength and stamina. After a few slips and slides through the swampy terrain several runners stripped their socks and shoes off for a better "toe-grip" through the slippery mud. Some had no choice but to run bare footed after loosing their shoes through the vast swampiness of the course.

Running in as the top three State medalists in the girls division out of Class 1A were: 1st Tara Jernigan from Miles, 12:34; 2nd Tracie Akerheim from Sulphur Springs, 12:49; 3rd Miranda Cornelius from Wellman, 12:58.

The top three competitors in the boys division were: 1st James Sock from Wheeler, 17:42; 2nd Ben Botello from Saint Jo, 17:55; 3rd Armando Lopez from Rock Springs, 18:15.

Congratulations Munday Mogulettes and Chris Anderson, this year's cross country Mogul. Everyone did a fantastic job and good luck next year!

Knox County Pecan Show - December 1

The 1998 Knox County Pecan Show has been scheduled for Tuesday, December 1. The judging will take place at the Texas A&M University Vegetable Research Station in Munday beginning at 9:00 a.m.

Entries must be submitted by noon on Monday, November 30, 1998 to the Knox county Extension Service office, Benjamin, or the TAMU Vegetable Research Station, Munday. There is no entry fee and no limits as to the number of entries submitted by an individual.

All entries must have been raised on trees in Knox County. Each entry must include the exhibitor's name, complete mailing address and telephone number. An entry consists of forty (40) pecans of one variety grown on the same tree.

This year the pecan show will be a two county pecan show. Horticulture committees in Haskell and Knox County have combined to have a multi-county pecan show. All entries will be judged against entries from that county. Once both counties have their entries judged a champion overall will be selected.

This year's pecan show is being sponsored by the Brazos Valley Young Farmers, the Knox County Horticulture Committee, and the Knox County Extension Service. More information may be obtained by contacting Paul Weiser in the Knox County Extension office (940) 454-2651 or Greg Kaase in the Haskell County Extension office (940) 864-2658.

BVYF meet to discuss activities for the year

The Brazos Valley Young Farmers Organization met Thursday, November 12, at the Young Farmers Barn. The order of business was to elect officers for the coming year. Elected were Paul Wiser, President; Tommy Bibb, Vice-President; George Oustad, Secretary-Treasurer; Richard Albus, Report and Ricky Moeller, Advisor. Plans were discussed for the upcoming year. Those attending agreed that this is a very good organization. It helps the youth of Knox County, sponsors the Knox County Junior Livestock Show, helps with the Awards Banquet after the Stock Show, and also awards a $500.00 scholarship each year to a Knox County Senior. The BVYF Barn is used for other activities during the year. It was also noted that more members are needed to help with our projects. Plans were made for some fun activities in the future. A fish fry was planned, a domino tournament and a brisket-rib cook-off this summer. This is not a closed organization, it is open to any person who would like to be a member of this fine youth-oriented organization. So, please, if you would like to become a member, contact any officer and we will sign you up. Dues for the local chapter is only $15.00 per year. Our next major project will be the Jackpot Pig Show, December 5 and our Knox County Junior Livestock Show, January 21 - 23. So, please come join us and show your support for the youth of Knox County. REMEMBER, YOUTH ARE OUR FUTURE!

CAPITOL COMMENT

U.S. SENATOR
KAY BAILEY HUTCHISON

TEXANS SOUND OFF ON DROUGHT RELIEF EFFORTS

Last summer this column included a list of questions seeking readers' opinions about issues currently in the forefront of public debate. As has been the case in previous years, your answers were overwhelming, and I would like to thank this newspaper for allowing me to communicate with you this way.

The next several columns will address both the questions asked, and the responses you provided.

The first set of questions I posed to Texans was:

1) This summer's drought has taken a dreadful toll on Texas, particularly the agricultural sector of our state economy. Much of my work this summer has focused on getting federal assistance to those who desperately need it. Are you satisfied that both federal and state agencies have worked together as efficiently as possible to get drought relief to Texas?

Yes ___ No ___ What would you have done differently?

Forty-nine percent of you responded that you were satisfied with efforts to get federal assistance to those who needed it; 51 percent saw room for improvement.

And boy, did I get number of hot answers to this one. Here are some of your comments on this issue:

From La Porte: "Speed up the application process!"

From Hempstead: "Relief was too long in filtering down to those who need it."

From San Saba: "The process for getting this aid needs to be more streamlined, and with less bureaucratic red tape."

From Brookston: "Assistance is restricted to those with 'X' number of acres or more. It doesn't help the little man, who needs help the most. I have a small acreage and try to raise bottle calves. This assistance won't help me, so in essence I'm out of business."

From Marvel: "The ranchers are complaining that they got the help too late for their herds. The hay was a welcome sight, but not nearly sufficient."

From Atlanta: "They should have used the National Guard to deliver hay and other feed. It would give them practice in logistics."

From Rockwall: "The government should have given cash assistance right away."

From DeKalb: "I suggest setting up grants for next year's planting based on this year's losses."

From Crockett: "Federal government should have worked closer with the county agricultural agents."

From Clarksville: "Cattlemen need more assistance. Farmers have a need for better crop insurance. Both need higher prices."

From Romayor: "We need a new program to build up stock ponds and another dam on the Trinity River in Anderson County for flood control, and to impound the water."

From Pettus: "I wouldn't do anything differently. They did a good job."

From Crockett: "The only thing that would help us is rain."

From San Antonio: "The federal government should be engaged in long-term water development projects."

A reader from South Texas more resigned to fate wrote: "Drought is a part of life. We have to live it."

Regardless of how we earn our livings, we all have a stake in Texas agriculture. Last summer's drought, and our efforts to respond to it constructively, have taught us lessons in how to deal with such disasters. I intend to work for quicker, more responsive drought relief measures when they are needed in the future—as inevitably they will be.

Problems facing agriculture are much the same as in 1926

Reprinted with permission from the Tuesday, November 3, 1998 edition of The Abilene Reporter-News.
by J.T. Smith

This being an election year, there's been lots of noise about farm and ranch problems in recent weeks.

At least some rainfall over recent weeks should have many folks in a better state of mind.

But agricultural problems go far beyond Mother Nature, which you can't do anything about unless you're one of those cloud seeders or rainmakers.

Too little rain - or far too much - the other problems down on the farm aren't new either. They are age-old ones.

Warren R. Olson, who farms at Avoca, notes that problems actually were much the same 72 years ago. Only the technology and machinery have changed.

As evidence, Mr. Olson passed this short piece to me from the American Educator, semi-annual, loose-leaf extension, No. 7, Page 1, Copyright 1926. Perpetual Encyclopedia Corp. I would like to share it with you.

You be the judge as to whether any of the 1926 challenges on the farm sound like 1998?

Agricultural legislation
The heated discussion of the McNary-Haugen Farm Relief Bill in the Senate in June 1926, and its final and third-time defeat on June 24, brought up afresh the old question as to what is wrong with American farms.

When it is realized that in 1925, farms of the United States yielded an income of only 2 percent on the assessed valuation of the land - that, according to the National Industrial Conference Board - American farmers received less than half a dollar for every dollar of national income received by other workers.

And in the last five years, there has been a general exodus of people numbering over one million from farms to the cities, it is easy to see something certainly is wrong.

But that the McNary-Haugen Bill was not the cure needed was strongly urged by Secretary Mellon, who insisted the bill was economically unsound; that its effect would be to increase the cost of living. That the purchasing power of wages would be lowered. Production would be increased as a result of the "protection" allowed by the bill, and consumption would decrease owing to high prices.

Vice President Dawes, on the other hand, supported the bill. The supporters contended legislative protection was as necessary for the farmers as for industrial workers. They contended that manufacturers' prices and profits and laborers' wages had been stabilized by legislation, and the farmer is forced to buy in a protected market that he, himself, has no protection against the lowered prices resulting from the greatly yearly surpluses of his products.

The measures sponsored by Senator McNary and by Congressman Haugen provided for the creation of a Federal Farm Board with a large federal appropriation to arrange with cooperative associations and other dealers for the export surplus of wheat, corn, cotton and livestock supplies to foreign markets.

This surplus would be sold abroad at current foreign prices and any loss incurred would be paid out of a Treasury fund to be fed by an "equalization fee" or tax on all those commodities sold by the farmer.

I appreciate Mr. Olson taking the time to share that article from 1926.

Today, the sizeable gap between all the things the farmer must buy at retail while selling his raw commodities at wholesale - for whatever he can get - an paying the freight both ways, still continues.

And Americans continue to enjoy the highest quality and most diverse food supply in the world - at the lowest portion of their disposable dollar - as any people in the world.

As Mr. Olson noted - "Not much has changed."

American Cancer Society's 22nd Great American Smokeout

On November 19, 1998, the American Cancer Society's 22nd Great American Smokeout will help millions of smokers kick the habit, and help youth understand the importance of never starting to smoke.

The Great American Smokeout promotion is the American Cancer Society's annual, nationally recognized day when we ask smokers to put down their cigarettes, cigars, spit tobacco, or any tobacco product because they all have the potential to cause cancer. Because we know that approximately 32 million smokers (out of 47 million current smokers) want to quit smoking completely, we will continue to offer support and education to the public. The promise of an addiction-free life has encouraged many smokers to join in and prove to themselves that they can live a day without cigarettes, and that they can therefore live the rest of their lives without them.

In 1997, 24% of smokers participated in our Great American Smokeout (approximately 11,280,000 people) and of those participants, 19% reported that they were smoking less or not at all one to five days later. That's over two million people who are well on their way to healthier, smoke free lives, thanks to the American Cancer Society.

The Great American Smokeout is not just about adult smokers and cessation. As the times change and our understanding of the addictive cycle of nicotine increases, we're working to prevent children from ever becoming smokers. More than 80% of current adult smokers started before they were 18 years old. That's why the Great American Smokeout is also focusing on promotions that will communicate to our children the social disadvantages of smoking, and provide them with the tools to recognize and avoid negative social influences.

The Society is also offering the 1999 Texas Golf Pass which is a great gift for the golfer in your family, the perfect pat-on-the-back for friends and business associates, and a thoughtful Christmas Stocking Stuffer.

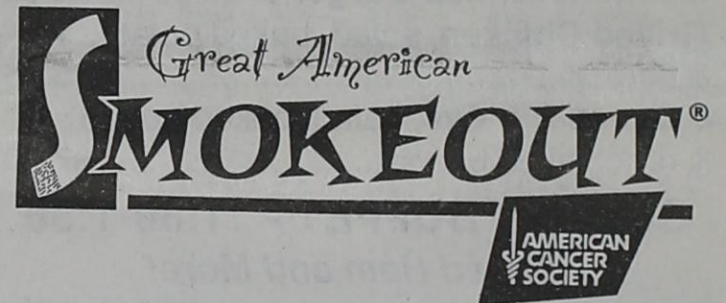

Talk about a gift that keeps on giving - the '99 Golf Pass offers more than 450 rounds of golf to 259 participating courses throughout Texas. For only $35 you give your golfer an entire year of golfing excitement. At the same time, you give the American Cancer Society much needed financial support to help carry out its life-saving cancer research, education, and patient services programs.

The participating courses have contributed the green fees to support the fight against cancer.

A brochure explaining the pass that includes more information and an order form can be found at the country clubs and various places in Munday and Knox City or call 422-4990.

The American Cancer Society is the nationwide, community-based, voluntary health organization dedicated to eliminating cancer as a major problem by preventing cancer, saving lives and diminishing suffering from cancer, through research, education, advocacy and service.

DODGE BALL! Residents at Munday Nursing Center enjoy kicking and swatting at large, soft beach balls during their exercise time. Lifting of the legs and arms is great exercise for these senior citizens and they have fun while getting some activity.

Americans encouraged to get into the action

You've heard that being physically active is good for your health. But here are two more reasons from the American Heart Association to get off the couch and into the action: You'll feel better and have a more positive outlook on life.

"We are encouraging everyone - young and old, fit and not so fit - to include physical activity in their daily routines," says Peggy Guinn, president of the American Heart Association's Knox County Division. "Everyone can benefit from being active."

Physical inactivity is a major risk for heart disease. And when combined with overeating, physical inactivity can lead to obesity and high blood pressure - two more risks for heart disease.

Physical activity builds healthy bones, muscles and joints and reduces the risk of diabetes and colon cancer. It also reduces feelings of depression and anxiety, improves mood and promotes a feeling of well-being.

For health benefits to the heart, lungs and circulation, perform any vigorous activity at least 30 minutes a day each week at 50 - 75 percent of maximum heart rate. Moderate physical activities for 30 minutes on most days provide some benefits.

"Physical activity need not be strenuous to bring health benefits," Guinn says. "What is important is to include activity as part of a regular routine."

Activities that are especially beneficial when performed regularly include brisk walking, hiking, stair-climbing, aerobic exercise, jogging, running, bicycling, rowing and swimming, and activities such as soccer and basketball that include continuous running.

For people not able to exercise vigorously or who are sedentary, even moderate and low-intensity activities, when performed daily, have some long-term health benefits. These include walking for pleasure, gardening and yard work, house work, dancing and prescribed home exercise, recreational activities such as tennis, racquetball, soccer, basketball and touch football.

In general, you should talk to your physician before starting a vigorous exercise program if you are middle-aged or older, have cardiovascular or joint problems or any other medical condition or physical condition needing special attention, or if you have not been active.

For more information about becoming physically active, contact your nearest American Heart Association or call 1-800-AHA-USA1 (1-800-242-8721) or visit the AHA's Web site at www.americanheart.org.

The American Heart Association spent more than $266 million during fiscal year 1996-97 on research support, public and professional education, and community programs. With more than 4 million volunteers, the AHA is the largest voluntary health organization fighting heart disease, stroke and other cardiovascular diseases, which annually kill more than 960,000 Americans.

Official Memorandum
State of Texas
Office of the Governor

Every child deserves a loving, nurturing and permanent home. Tragically, too many abused and neglected children in the care of the Texas Department of Protective and Regulatory Services (PRS) are waiting for such a home. These youngsters often are not the newborns most people picture when they think of adoption. Generally they are older children who may have unique medical psychological or physical needs.

It takes a special family to adopt a PRS child. These youngsters need extra patience and support to help them overcome their previous hardships. The rewards of parenting these children, however, are immeasurable. Adoption gives them a brighter future, brings great joy to the adoptive parents and places fewer demands on social services.

In 1997, I worked with the Texas Legislature to pass new laws to speed up the adoption process in the Lone Star State. These laws accelerate the termination of parental rights in cases of abandonment and sever abuse and neglect; streamline the judicial process; and move children into loving homes more quickly. As a result, more than 17400 children moved from PRS custody into permanent homes during the past year. Even so, nearly 2,000 children still are awaiting adoption.

The plight of abused and neglected children merits the generous response of caring Texans. I urge all residents of the Lone Star State to recognize that there are hundreds of children waiting for loving, permanent homes; to honor the PRS caretakers who rescue these youngsters from dysfunctional situations and place them with loving parents; and to commend those families who have adopted PRS children.

Therefore, I, George W. Bush, do hereby proclaim November 1998, Adoption Awareness Month in Texas, and urge the appropriate recognition thereof.

George W. Bush
Governor of Texas

Newspapers Enlighten, Educate, Motivate

When you give a child a newspaper, you're giving a world of wisdom.

Newspapers are a part of your child's road to life-long learning. Regardless if it's news from across town or across the globe, newspapers are windows to the world we live in. And the better informed our children are about our world the more motivated they will be as productive members in our society.

Share this learning experience with your children. It's important that you and your children read together to encourage their understanding of your world - and the world they will inherit.

Open your child's mind, share a newspaper today.

It all starts with Newspapers!
