Economy Aim Of Buying Plan Of Red And White

FULL CO-OPERATIVE OF LOCAL UNITS REDUCES OVER-HEAD COST

By GEO. C. McDONALD
Sales Manager, H. O. Wooten Grocer Co., and Advisory Officer, Red and White

Several years ago every forward thinking retailer and jobber in the country was giving serious thought to the problem of maintaining profitable volume in the face of ever growing chain store competition.

The chain store had several decided advantages not enjoyed by the independent, including economies in buying, cooperative advertising, expert merchandising counsel evidenced in skillful, efficient store and stock arrangement; attractive window displays; the "price special" and the wholesome respect of the buying public for the principle upon which the chain store was founded.

To offset these advantages the independent merchant was a local citizen, with a personal acquaintance among his customers. In most cases he was providing the extra service of credit and delivery. In addition, he had the vital incentive of money invested, to urge him to make his business show a profit.

Obviously if the independent merchant could secure the advantages enjoyed by the chains without losing the advantages he enjoyed as an independent, he would have nothing whatever to fear from his chain store competitor.

Buying System

The first step in this direction was necessarily an effort to effect cooperative buying for the various groups of retailers, but with a few exceptions, these early projects were not very successful, due chiefly to lack of proper organization.

The Red and White cooperative was originally formed for the purpose of buying in bulk for the cooperative buying for a number of wholesale grocers and merely acted as a buying agent for controlled brands of package food products. The plan worked out so successfully that it was later enlarged to include retail grocers. From that time on the growth of Red and White has been truly phenomenal.

The Red and White stores is a cooperative organization of packers and manufacturers, independent retailers and wholesale grocers which now extends from coast to coast in America and the central and western portion of Canada.

Full cooperation exists between the manufacturer, wholesaler, and retailer. Each one retains sole control and ownership of his own business, and as the packer or manufacturer employs no salesmen to sell the retailer, this reduces the operating cost of each factor as compared with the usual old-time methods. Through the close cooperation of the three branches, manufacturer, wholesaler and retailer, these savings are passed on to the consumer. The retailer owning his own store, buys his supplies by mail or telephone and in consequence is able to devote his entire time to the constructive end of his business such as selling, collecting and keeping his store and stock in

Sullivan Grocery Rhineland Sunday Team Will Play

The Sullivan Grocery baseball team of Wichita Falls will play the Rhineland team of the Brazos Valley League at Rhineland Sunday afternoon at 3:30.

The Sullivan team has been one of the strongest inter-city teams in Wichita Falls during the recent season, and Rhineland has been one of the strong contenders for honors during the season in the Brazos Valley League, so the game should be a real contest.

CARD OF THANKS

We so heartily thank all our friends and acquaintances who helped in any way to share our grief, and who helped our dear one in her last hours of suffering. Its such a comfort to know that Red and Alpha had so many such good friends. God bless every one of you.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Webb, and family, good order. His vital interest in the success of his own business, plus the advantage of the wider experience gained through chain store movement and operation enables him to make rapid and substantial progress.

Cooperative

The movement is cooperative in every way. Much of the usual operating expense is eliminated by both retailer and wholesaler. The retailer is enabled to carry a smaller and fresher stock and to increase his cash and credit sales. In consequence he gets a more rapid turnover. Prices are standardized wherever possible. Duplication of lines is to a large extent, eliminated. The merchant, through cooperative advertising, becomes much more efficient in his own community. He is kept fully posted as to new goods, prices, etc., and has direct contact with new merchandising plans and ideas.

The wholesaler in each jobbing center organizes a number of carefully selected, reliable retailers with a reputation for honorable and fair dealing, and as these selected Red and White retailers secure their supplies from the local Red and White distributor without the expense of salesmen calling on them, they can secure their merchandise on as low a cost basis as is possible through any known system of merchandise distribution.

The consumer is further assured of not only obtaining his supplies at the lowest possible cost, but in the purchase the famous Red and White brands, featured by the Red and White stores, he is assured of absolute uniformity as to quality.

While the Red and White organization today comprises many wholesale grocers located in Canada and the United States, and several thousands of retailers, it is worth remembering that this plan does not introduce several new stores in any community, but both the wholesalers and the retailers are local men that have men success and let somebody else take over the government.

Now it does seem as though it is time to stop this whimpering and whining about hard times, poor crops and commodity prices and all that sort of thing. The history of Americans are filled with deeds of heroism, of daring and accomplishment. It is not like Americans to sit down, fold their arms and, so to speak, hang over the portals of the halls of government, "Abandon Hope all ye who enter here." We have met obstacles before and we have overcome them. The same will be the case in this instance.

Stop for a moment and look at the rest of the world. India is starving. China has had floods and the loss of thousands of souls; hurricanes have just galloped across the tropics and there are a thousand and one other misfortunes which have come to every part of the world. The people in America have had no floods, they have had no storms of any consequence, they are not starving yet, and we can still do things.

Let's cut out this whimpering and whining for a time and occupy our minds with work, even though we are not getting as much as we did ten or twelve years ago. We got less in years gone by and we moved forward. Why not do the same thing again. Maybe if we could make up our minds to do

Munday Can Win Its Battle

When People Regain Confidence In Themselves Better Times Will Arrive.

General Pershing went home several days ago to spend his birthday. The public is always interested in what big men have to say. They want to know what they think about this or that and naturally there were a bunch of reporters swarming around to get a chance to turn loose a battery of questions at the General.

Now, Gen. Pershing is quite at home when he lets his tongue and cannons are barking, and he finally agreed to answer a few questions fired at him by a report about the depression.

The depression is uppermost in the minds of everybody. Here in Munday folks are concerned over business conditions. They want to know how long it is going to last, and when men will be able to find full time jobs once more. It makes very little difference what the fellow talking knows about the subject, the public likes to hear words of encouragement.

Now Gen. Pershing, when asked about how long the depression was going to last, said he was confident that it would not be long more before things would take an upward turn. These are not the exact words of the famous soldier, but in substance that is what he said and he based his conclusions on the fact that prosperity is based on confidence of folks one in another and if the people of his country have lost confidence for one and all times, then these United States had just as well shut up shop and let somebody else take over the government.

Now it does seem as though it is time to stop this whimpering and whining about hard times, poor crops and commodity prices and all that sort of thing. The history of Americans are filled with deeds of heroism, of daring and accomplishment. It is not like Americans to sit down, fold their arms and, so to speak, hang over the portals of the halls of government, "Abandon Hope all ye who enter here." RHINELAND

The marriage of Miss Ida Steinback, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Steinback, and Mr. Louis Blake, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Blake, was solemnized on Monday morning, September 14, in the Baymour Catholic Church. The Rev. P. Mosler, O. M. L. performed the ceremony.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Hilda Steinback, Mr. Edward Stengel, nephew of the groom, acted as best man.

We join their many friends in wishing for them a long and happy married life.

Mr. and Mrs. Mat Kroitz and family, former residents of this community, are here visiting their relatives and friends. It has been stated that the Kroitz family will probably reside in this community the next year.

Miss Elizabeth Klug of Laredo, Texas, is visiting in the home of her mother, Mrs. Mary Klug.

Miss Lucy Michalik of Wichita Falls is guest in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Michalik.

George Simanitz and mother have returned from Pep, Texas, where they have been looking after business matters.

Mr. and Mrs. Killian Homer and children visited in Wichita Falls last Sunday.

A. H. Smith, who has been at Redwood, California, for the past four years, is here visiting friends. Mr. Smith states that California is a great country for health, but he states that the citizenship will not compare with that of Texas. Mr. Smith has been reading The Times regularly during the time he has been in California and came in the other day and showed his figures up for the coming year.

this, we would forget about depression and bad business, poor crops and worse prices, and prosperity would be upon us before we could discover that it was on the way, and we would not be sitting around waiting for someone to tell us when he thought good times would be back with us.

Sets a Fast Pace

Edward Kettwitz, 57, Grant County farmer of South Dakota, ate thirty-seven ears of sweet corn in 1 hour and 45 minutes. He admits he could have eaten more only he had corn for dinner two hours earlier.

COTTON

Everybody is talking about the price of cotton. The Roxy Theatre will give a family ticket to every farmer that brings 10 pounds of seed cotton to the Roxy Theatre next Tuesday night. If this proposition should put the price of cotton up we will reduce the number of pounds. Come on folks bring 10 pounds of cotton, the whole family and see a good show next Tuesday night. If you don't want to bring the cotton just bring 50c we will accept that. Did you know that the pictures the Roxy runs are made out of cotton? So you see the more pictures you see the more cotton it will take to make more pictures. I'll bet the gins will be soliciting our gin business, but we are not going to promise to gin with any one gin until we have ginned a few bales with each gin.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to take this method of expressing our sincere thanks and deep appreciation for the many acts of kindness shown us during our darkest hour. We shall always carry in our hearts a feeling of gratitude toward everyone who in any way assisted us in bearing the great sorrow, we also would extend our sincere thanks to those who sent flowers.

MEN'S BIBLE CLASS NOTES

Somebody fell down on the job Sunday, I wonder just who it was? Now don't say that it wasn't you, because it was you if you were not there and somebody else with you.

If you go to town on Saturday why, we can hear lots of talk about hard times, and no clothes to wear. Say, let's cut out that kind of talk, and tell everybody about the blessing that we are getting every day. Talk up our Sunday Schools and preaching services of the town. If you can come to town on Sunday, and stand around on the streets, why your clothes are just fine to come to the Men's Bible Class. Come with your duckings on, they are O. K.

If some one was working for you in the field and the cotton was white, you would want them to be on the job every day, but the class is only asking for one hour every Sunday morning, so please come Sunday.

—Reporter.

C. H. Browning, residing on the Bowen estate farm, and who drew down the premium for bringing in the first bale to Munday, hasn't stopped since he started picking, and now has cut twenty bales of the fuzzy staple. In addition to a good cotton crop Mr. Browning has an abundance of feed stored in his barns and is fattening a nice beef and several hogs, and in addition is maintaining a large flock of chickens, and it is likely that Charley isn't wasting much of his time standing around talking about the depression and the hard times that are ahead.

Mrs. R. G. Campbell Succumbs Friday In Wichita Hospital

Mrs. R. G. Campbell died on Friday evening of last week in a Wichita Falls hospital where she had been carried several days before for treatment and the remains were brought to Munday on Saturday morning and funeral services were conducted Sunday afternoon at 2:30 at the Methodist church by the Rev. John H. Crowe, pastor, assisted by the Rev. W. H. Albertson, pastor of the Baptist church.

Some three weeks prior to her death Mrs. Campbell suffered a stroke of paralysis and despite the fact that everything known to modern medical skill was done the disease continued to spread until it reached the vital spots. For several days prior to her death attending physicians held out little hope for her recovery.

Deceased was born January 16, 1893 at Wolfe City, Texas, and came to Munday with her parents when a young lady. She was married to R. G. Campbell April 12, 1913, and to them five children were born, all of whom survive. They are Jeanette, ineb. Darwin, Jane and the little son, Ridley Grayford.

In addition to the members of her immediate family she is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Webb, of Lockney, Texas, five sisters and four brothers, Mrs. J. P. Hampton, Sanger, Texas; Mrs. J. R. Yearwood, Floydada; Mrs. C. I. Hendrix, Floydada; Mrs. W. H. Holloman, who resides in California; and Merta Webb of Floydada; V. W. and W. M. Webb of Daugherty, Texas, and Harold and Spencer Webb of Lockney.

The profuse floral offering and the large concourse of friends who gathered at the church Sunday afternoon to pay their tribute of respect to this good woman bore mute evidence of the high esteem in which she was held by the neighbors and friends among whom she had lived for so many years, and a beautiful tribute was paid to her by the Rev. Crowe in the service. She was a true mother, and while she was ever ready to respond to the call of neighbors and friends, her interest in life was centered upon making a happy home for her husband and children, and no greater tribute could be paid to her life than that she was a true mother and a consistent christian woman.

Active pallbearers were C. A. Elland, K. B. Davy, E. S. McCord, J. D. Kethelin, H. A. Pendleton, E. W. McGlothlin, John Spinn and W. H. Atkinson. Honorary pallbearers were Cecil Burton, S. V. When a great sorrow like this enters the home of our friends and neighbors we are all at a loss for words to express our deep sorrow. Indeed no greater sorrow can enter the home than that which takes from the patient, tender care of a good mother. Poets have spent their best efforts in paying to be a tribute of love. Writers have searched in vain for words to express their deep emotions and as frail words fail to convey to the human heart and mind even the smallest degree that great love and the loss sustained in the passing of this father and these children life's greatest sorrow, and we join with the entire citizenship and friends in extending our sincere sympathy to them in their great bereavement.

A Beautiful Christmas

BY Florence Harris Wells

IT WAS Christmas morning. Two elderly persons stood at the front window of their big farm house and gazed at the snow-laden world about them.

"Not a chance for Sam and his family to get through these drifts. Mother; not a ghost of a chance. No car on earth could make it."

"Then came the automobile. Santa got a big red one and a black one and a blue one. He carried bigger loads, not to more homes and made more children happy."

"Merry Christmas, everybody!" Marion's face was as rosy as Dick's as she grasped his extended hand.

"Your plane?" Marion gasped. "A plane in this snow?"

"Yes, My plane has six, you know. I can take you one at a time and land you safely at your grandfather's."

"You're a welcome new member of the family," Sam answered quietly, and dropped his hand on Marion's shining hair.

A two thousand barrel oil well was brought in near Harlin, Texas, early in August, and two wells effecting it have been spotted in.

Birds' Christmas Tree and a Cardinal Visitor

"MOTHER, can't we do something special for Christmas, David, all snowy and roof checked, came decking into the bedroom where his mother was doing up Christmas gifts."

"Splendid! We always put colored lights in it and we can tie the apples on it and little cranks of nut and these small branches of berries in the garage are really nature's provision for birds."

"But what's that bright red on the topmost branch?" David pointed excitedly. "Look! Look!"

"That's the cardinal that's been hanging around the tree for days. He's come to the birds' Christmas tree."

Then came the automobile. Santa got a big red one and a black one and a blue one. He carried bigger loads, not to more homes and made more children happy.

"Merry Christmas, everybody!" Marion's face was as rosy as Dick's as she grasped his extended hand.

"Your plane?" Marion gasped. "A plane in this snow?"

Sanitary Survey Shows 240 Surface Toilets In City

W. N. Dabney of the State Health Department, together with Chief of Police Frank Trammell, have just completed a complete sanitary survey of the city and their report indicates that the sanitary condition of the city is far from what it should be, and the city council at a special meeting on Tuesday morning passed an ordinance requiring the installation of pit type toilets within the city, which ordinance is published in this issue of the Times.

The survey made by Messrs. Dabney and Trammell shows that there are 240 surface toilets within the corporate limits, 66 of these toilets are within reach of the city sewer system, 106 of them are in use by property owners and 76 are used by tenants.

In passing this ordinance requiring pit type toilets to be installed the city is acting in compliance with the State Department of Health, and as this type toilet can be installed at a cost of approximately $1.00 it is believed that every citizen in Munday will give the city their fullest cooperation, and if this cooperation is not forthcoming steps will be taken to prosecute those who fail to comply with the newly enacted ordinance.

For the past several years the city officials have striven to bring about a more sanitary, and therefore a healthier, city. The ordinance requiring connection with the city sewerage system has not been rigidly enforced since financial conditions have been somewhat unfavorable since the installation of the system, but the council feels that everyone is financially able to comply with the ordinance requiring the installation of pit type toilets, which, when constructed according to specifications recommended by the State Department of Health, are the most practical for disposal of waste and safeguarding the health of the community.

Upon invitation from the council the Times editor met with them on Tuesday morning, at which time this new ordinance was passed, and we can say without the slightest exaggeration that it is not the aim of our city councilmen, but they are deeply interested in safeguarding the health of our citizens, and in this they should have the fullest cooperation of every citizen. They are anxious to give every aid possible in bringing about a creditable sanitary condition here in Munday, and this is an appeal to the citizens to get in line and give them every cooperation possible, and if it is not practical for you to comply with this ordinance immediately take the matter up with your mayor or some of the aldermen, and they will be glad to cooperate with you in any practical way. They are anxious that Monday be made a better place in which to live. They are concerned in YOUR welfare in this matter, and you owe them your fullest cooperation.

The Home Demonstration Clubs of the county will hold their annual exhibit at Benjamin, in the Dr. Beavers building, Saturday, September 26th.

Fashions, Fads, Fables

Hats are no longer pulled down over the ears, but perch on top of the head and are tilted jauntily over the right eye.

Black leads in colors but African browns, navy, blue, dark green and off-white are not far behind. Gay, contrasting trimmings liver the dark shades.

Satin is the newest fabric; velvet and wool are going strong; and lace is better than ever and a boon to the woman who travels, as it much like the bustle.

Skirts are tending to straight-lined slenderness with all the interest above the waist line. Scarfs and wide collars bunch around the shoulders emphasizing the breadth. High necklines flourish for daytime, but dip almost to the waist in the back for evening. Straps of blouses reveal the bare sun-browned back of military glories in this evidence of her athletic summer. Skirt fulness is drawn away from front and sides and piled up behind in an after does not wrinkle in packing.

NOTES AND COMMENT

Teaching an unwilling pupil is our idea of punishment.

Add modern myths: Election express the people's voice.

Most troubles are said to be imaginary; so are most pleasures.

Ideas are valuable only when put into effect; applies to advertising.

Laugh this off: An honest politician is one of the world's greatest assets.

Religion is living; not a collection of nice ideas about what ought to be.

Useless statistics: The U. S. oyster crop for 1931 will be 18,000,000 bushels.

This is the time of the year that hay-fever victims wonder why the world has to have hay.

Our idea of a washout is the man who thinks everybody is interested in his small son.

There are some people in this country still fighting elections that were decided years ago.

Men who do not understand women have nothing on women who do not understand men.

Postal authorities need not worry so much about the postal deficit; what the public wants is service.

Correct this sentence: "Teacher, you gave me a hundred, but I really do not know all of my lesson."

Well, it's about time for the prosperity boys to begin telling us better times are around the corner.

Farmers who want to receive attention from politicians should follow the example of labor and organize.

portation, profits through the business activities engendered by prosperous farmers, who spend freely for the purchase of clothing, furniture, shoes, machinery, radios, automobiles and so forth."

What's become of the fellow who used to tell about how much he made on the market's daily advances?

The difference between a politician and a statesman is that a statesman stands for something besides his job.

Americans who wonder why China doesn't control her great rivers have probably forgotten the Mississippi flood.

Maybe the world wouldn't have so much trouble in solving its problems if it could get the real facts established.

Farmers seldom starve; that's why there hasn't been an agrarian revolt in the United States in the last five years.

Our own economies: The world can't have a revival of prosperity until there is some way to promote trade between nations on a large scale.

This newspaper is published as a community asset, with the hope that our citizens will use it, write for it, like it and, maybe support it.

The other day a Munday lady declared she could not wear her new hat because she had no dress or shoes to match it. You can see where this leads.

There are some people who don't believe in buying what they need in Munday, although they are anxious to sell what they have to the people here.

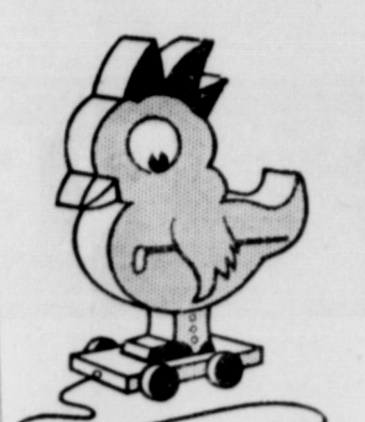

No man is bigger than Munday. Every individual should cooperate in the task of making it a better place for children to live, to grow and to develop in.

Learn a word a day and by the time you are ten years older you will have added 3653 new words to your vocabulary; that's probably more than you have now.

The theorists can call it what they please but the majority of Americans, including the people of Munday, subscribe to the doctrine that every citizen should have the opportunity to earn the necessities of life, at least.

Restless CHILDREN

CHILDREN will fret, often for no apparent reason. But there's always Castoria! Harmless as the recipe in the wrapper; mild and bland as its tastes. But its gentle action soothes a youngster more surely than a more powerful medicine. That's the beauty of this special children's remedy! It may be there the tiniest infant—as often as there is need. In cases of colic, diarrhea or similar disturbance, it is invaluable. A coated tongue calls for just a few drops to ward off constipation; so does any suggestion of bad breath. Whenever children don't eat well, don't rest well, or have any little upset—this pure vegetable preparation is usually all that's needed.

Encouraging Perhaps Without any personal knowledge of the question involved we note that the Federal Treasury says that there was more money in circulation this summer than in any similar period since 1920. On August 31st, money in circulation averaged $40.31 per capita as against $36.71 the preceding August. These statistics may be encouraging and we pass them for what they are worth.

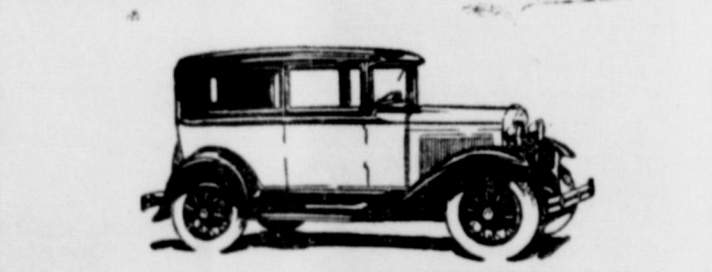

Speaking For The Farmer. The present condition of agriculture justifies special consideration from the government in an effort to bring prosperity back to the farmers. Farmers are not alone in making this suggestion. The former Secretary of Labor Davis, now Republican Senator from Pennsylvania, in a recent address emphasized the peculiar condition of the farmers which justified special consideration. He said: "If the farmer's tax could be reduced, and they should be decreased, he would be in a position to more completely equip his farm and keep in full repair his buildings and barns. And, by a reduction in taxes, the difference could be used to increase the farmer's purchasing power, and when the purchasing power of the farmer, who constitutes the Nation's greatest consuming power, is improved it enhances an economic asset which is reflected in the manufacturing centers that must apply the comforts and necessities of life desired by the farmer, his household, and his dependents. Emphasizing the assertion that his plea for reduction of the farmer's tax burden should not be construed as a proposal for "class legislation" Senator Davis said: "I am not unmindful of the tax load borne by the city dweller but I am constrained to believe that whenever his tax burden is increased it is the fault of his city government, which may be expending vast sums of money for municipal comforts and expansion programs, the scope of which is far larger than reasonable limitations of tax-paying ability of its citizenry. Quite often, however, excessive tax burdens carried by city dwellers can be blamed to the inefficiency, wastefulness, or carelessness of the administrators of the municipality, in their expenditures of public funds. "The farmer's problem is quite the reverse. Day in and day out, he battles with the elements to wrest a living from the soil. He must haunted by the fear of sudden and serious toll for long hours under a blazing sun, ever climatic changes, and the invasion of crop destroying pests. Few other fields of production activities, or business endeavor carry with them such risk of uncertainty on return for investment and labor, as do agricultural pursuits. "For in stance, if a drought seizes a countryside in its ruthless grip, the crops are damaged or destroyed, and, as a result, the farm-

"Why My Next Car will be A FORD"

WHEN you buy a Ford there are two things you never have to worry about. One is reliability. The other is long life. Here's an interesting letter from a Ford owner in North Carolina:

"My Ford was purchased May 8, 1928, and has been run 121,767 miles. It has never stopped on the road for repairs of any kind whatsoever except punctures. "The brakes were relined at 101,000 miles. My gas mileage averaged 21 miles to the gallon, and on tires, 19,000 miles per tire. I travel over all kinds of road conditions—mountainous and flat. "I consider this a wonderful record and I assure you my next car will also be a Ford."

This is just one of many tributes to the reliability and long life of the Ford. A Ford owner in Iowa tells of driving his Ford 73,000 miles in a single year. Another writes of 120,000 miles of good service.

Think ahead when you are considering the purchase of an automobile and consider what it will be like after thousands of miles of driving. Will you still be satisfied? Will you still say "it's a great car"?

If it's a Ford, you know everything will be O.K. It will be taking you there and back in good style, just as it has always done. And you will have saved many important, worth-while dollars in cost of operation and up-keep and low yearly depreciation.

Last Call! Only 4 more days CONTEST CLOSES MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 28, MIDNIGHT $10,000 IN CASH PRIZES FOR THE BEST ANSWERS EXPLAINING THE MYSTERY of the "HIDDEN QUART" AND TELLING HOW THIS QUART BENEFITS MOTORISTS

Fact No. 1—Thousands of motorists and service station men have observed that after a car has been given its first fill of Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil and it drives 200 to 350 miles, a look at the crankcase gauge shows that about one quart of oil is apparently missing... but

Fact No. 2—These same people have noticed that on the second and later fillings with Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil, scarcely a drop of oil will disappear during the first 350 miles, and practically none at 500 and up to 1,000 miles!

The above facts have been checked by actual tests with cars that use six quarts of oil for the crankcase, cars in good mechanical condition and driven at ordinary rates of speed. These facts will also prove true for your car, in proportion to the amount of oil your crankcase usually holds, your car's mechanical condition and the speeds at which you drive

What becomes of the "hidden quart"? The answer is easy if you study the Facts given above and keep in mind the things that only Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil can do. The explanation of the whereabouts of the "hidden quart" is simple—no technical knowledge of motors or oil is necessary.

Remember—The "hidden quart" of Germ Processed Oil does not escape through leakage... does not burn up, wear out nor evaporate. It is "present but unaccounted for." Fact No. 2, given above, proves all this. After you've found where the "hidden quart" goes, you can easily see the special benefits it gives the motorist—advantages that no other oil can give. Ask at any Conoco Station or Conoco Dealer for free Entry Blank which contains information about Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil that may help you win. Conoco Station and Dealer employees will gladly answer your questions. Remember, you do not have to buy anything to enter this contest. See Rules of Contest for complete details.
