G. C. JONES NAMED NEW SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENT

Abilene Man To Head System In 1932-33 Session

G. C. Jones of Abilene, for 17 years a school executive and for 25 years an educator, has been named and has tentatively accepted the appointment as superintendent of the Munday city schools during the 1932-33 term, it was announced following a meeting of the board of trustees Tuesday night.

Although expressing the belief that he will accept the position, Mr. Jones made the usual request for a few days time in which to further consider his final decision.

In the event of his acceptance, Mr. Jones will succeed H. H. Riley, the present superintendent, who was not an applicant for re-appointment.

Mr. Riley's administration as superintendent of schools was commended warmly by members of the board, and announcement was made by G. R. Eiland, president of the board, that every effort will be made to induce the present superintendent to remain with the Munday school system.

"To say that we have been pleased with the manner in which Mr. Riley has conducted the city schools would be expressing it mildly," Mr. Eiland remarked. "He has faced problems, due to the stressful times, with which no previous superintendent of schools here has been called upon to deal. I believe that I am expressing a general and genuine sentiment in saying that as a superintendent of schools, Mr. Riley has given utmost satisfaction."

The appointment of principals of the high school and grammar schools was deferred by the board, with the expectation that the places probably will be filled within the near future. It is the preference of the board to retain the services of the present executives, who are L. S. Hardegree of the high school and L. M. Palmer of the grammar school. The board, however, has no wish to interfere with either bettering himself, and there was a question of the ability of the school district to make the positions sufficiently attractive from the financial standpoint, especially in view of the retrenchments which, it was declared, would appear absolute necessities as plans are made for next year.

The appointment of teachers, other than executives, is not to be considered until after the school elections in April. Terms of Austin Caughran and Mrs. R. H. Neff, members of the board, expire at that time and the places must be filled. It appeared that a good deal of convincing persuasion would be necessary if the name of either is to appear in the ballot as candidate for reelection. Mr. Caughran declared positively he will not permit his name to go on the ballot. Mrs. Neff was not reached for an expression as to her availability.

Members of the board expressed the opinion that Munday will be fortunate to obtain as a superintendent an executive as well qualified as Mr. Jones.

He is a graduate of the University of Texas, holding B. A. and B. S. degrees and has done extensive postgraduate work in the University of Texas and the University of Southern California.

He is a man of middle age, and has a wife and one son who graduates this year from Abilene High school.

Mr. Jones educated himself for the teaching profession, which he has followed virtually without interruption for almost 25 years. For the last 17 years he has been a school executive. He has made comparatively few changes, and each succeeding change has been to a better position, members of the board stated. For about six years, he was superintendent at Kingsville, Texas, heading a school system comprising a faculty of about 45 teachers. He also was superintendent at San Benito for a number of years.

Mr. Jones also has achieved marked success in business, which, for the last year or so, has enabled him to devote his time exclusively to study and research.

Lizzie, 10, Bests Row Of Fence Posts In Smash

Lizzie may be 10 years old, but she still is strong enough to knock down a row of fence posts and then, with $16 worth of dolling up, to come back for more.

Lizzie, be it explained, is the Ford, tin henry or flivver, vintage of 1922, belonging to A. Horton, special agent of the state banking department in charge of the liquidation of the First State bank of Munday.

Next April will bring the 10th anniversary of the day that Mr. Horton first bought Lizzie. Since then, days have been few that she has not been put through her paces. Few cars in existence have traveled the roads of as many different counties in Texas as she. Only a few of the minor parts and one of the major parts have been replaced. And is she ready for the scrap heap - - ? Not by another 10 years or so unless he becomes the sole heir of a rich uncle, asserts Mr. Horton.

Mr. Horton has no idea how far the car has been driven during the time he has owned it, but he believes that 125,000 miles would be a most conservative estimate.

Worst Blizzard of Winter Hits Fruit Crop Here

The calendar told another whopper and the coldest weather Munday has experienced this winter sent the fruit crop during the past week to wherever it is that good fruit crops go.

According to the calendar, spring was at hand last Friday morning when the blizzard struck suddenly shortly before noon, starting the temperature on a precipitous downward slide. After having hovered around summer like temperature for most of the three weeks preceding, the mercury dropped early Saturday morning to an unofficial minimum of 18 degrees.

The cold weather had begun to show signs of breaking and temperatures were pleasant Sunday afternoon when the blizzard struck again during the night. The lowest unofficial reading early Monday morning was 22 degrees, and on Tuesday morning, the mercury hit the 16-degree mark. The lowest previous temperature mark of the season was 24 degrees.

The generally warm weather which had prevailed during January and February, together with the abundant moisture which had fallen since summer had caused fruit trees to bud out earlier than usual, and in as great abundance as at any time pioneer residents could recall. The peach crop, orchard owners generally agreed, will be virtually a total loss as a result of the late blizzard. Plums have not been hit so hard.

The weather remained generally clear during the blizzard, although the cold was intensified and made more unpleasant by the sand laden wind which blew most of the time.

The fruit trees which had not budded out, it was declared, are now about as certain of abundant yields as could be desired. The cold spell will retard their budding.

Thinking Out Loud

By J. A. K.

Where are all the poets Who used to sing of spring, Of violets, daisies, pansies That its coming to us brings.

As we sit and ponder How the gas man we can pay, How the old ice man Will get by until his day.

And we wonder if our heavies Will hold out by a squeeze Until that happy day arrives When we can don our BVD's.

As an optimist, we're hopin' The freeze may help us yet, Help us as we freeze and shiver The spring poet to forget.

The old golf course is callin' But our clubs are on the shelf, We can't worry 'bout the peaches As we almost freeze ourself.

We don't care much for the poets, They can go where'er they please, But we're fondly looking forward To the days of BVD's.

Now, that that's off our chest, We'll shove over just a little bit closer to the fire and note with pleasure and view with alarm for a while.

Tol views, with not the slightest degree of alarm, and with some degree of pleasure, the announcement that the ladies are to wear sandals this spring, and that the hosiery will be made without toes with a view of revealing the toenails which are to be painted in various tints.

However, Tol does view with a degree of disappointment the lack of authority for menfolks to follow suit.

Personally, Tol has a sufficient supply of inks of various hues and colors that could be utilized for toe-nail paint, and his supply of toeless socks is almost unlimited.

And furthermore, our shoes are in such a state of repair that we could easily convert them into sandals with ease, and we are in favor of us menfolks asserting our rights, even at the risk of being called "copy cats."

Here goes Mary, there goes Sally, Mary's toes are painted blue, While the hue of pink shows plainly Thru the hole in Sally's shoe.

Here's that vet'ran, Old Man Roberts, With his golf clubs and a ball, That ain't sox o'er Roberts' toenails, He has on no sox at all.

Sied Waheed tells one on himself to the effect that one night recently after other members of the household had retired for the night, he drew an easy chair up beside his radio with the intention of hearing Amos 'n' Andy. However, Sied relates, he fell off to sleep and was awakened by the blare of the "Midnight Revelers."

Arch Cockerell, who has been associated with this paper as line-operator, has returned to his home town—Seymour, where he will manage a drug store. Arch has been mixing type for a good many years, and here's hoping he is equally efficient in the apothecary shop.

Hal Kiefer, who is associated with The Times, has also been handling news for the daily press, and Munday has appeared in the headlines of the leading daily newspapers more frequently during the past three months than at any previous time. In fact the volume of matter appearing in the daily press during this period is possibly more than has appeared during all the years that Munday has been in existence, and his efforts along this line are worthy of commendation.

Painted Toenail Latest HERE ARE NEW STYLE HINTS Spring Fad For Madame

Paint your toe-nails ladies if you want to be in style. Likewise, you might just as well get ready, your corns and bunions no longer will be your own secret if the latest modes are to be yours.

Sandals for footwear are likely to be more popular than ever during the approaching spring and summer. And to be worn with them may be obtained toeless stockings to be held in place by tiny loops fitting between the toes. The nails should be painted in a color to harmonize with the costume of the occasion.

Mrs. Effie Alexander, just returned from Dallas, where she spent several days studying the styles likely to be most popular during the spring and summer, mentioned sandals and toeless hose along with other fashion hints.

In millinery, she revealed, brimmed hats are to form an important part of the collection for spring, in shark skin, Milans, celluloid, leghorn, crystalline, opaline, and souffe. Among the effective trimmings are novelty ribbons, tucks and creased crowns, and flowers.

In dresses, wool frocks will be popular for spring, with bright colors being worn under winter coats. Bright reds are to question the leads of blue and beige, Mrs. Alexander said. Blue and beige, however, continue important as ever, the greater interest being manifested in twine and string shades, the reason being that they combine so effectively with brilliant colors.

Novelty open work hose and laces will be preferred for the spring season, Mrs. Alexander predicts. Predominant colors will be beige, which is complimentary to light and dark costumes, tan, tan taupe and off-white.

In footwear, trimmed pumps, sandal pumps and oxfords will be preferred for street wear. Sandals, low pumps and buckle pumps will be first choice for afternoon. Patents, Mrs. Alexander, are of course included in the grouping, as well as the fabrics. Dark accessories will outline dark costumes. Black and navy blue with beige for street wear is suggested as an effective combination. Colonial buckles are described as an important accessory.

Expect Hearing Before Railroad Body On Contest

The Texas Railroad Commission Monday refused the application of the Stamford and Western Gas Company for permission to put into immediate effect an increased schedule of gas rates in Munday, according to word received here.

Information concerning the action of the commission was unofficial and the first word was contained in press dispatches. City officials asserted that they never had been formally advised that the gas company had appealed to the railroad commission for permission to put a new schedule of rates into effect. The only information on that subject had come from representatives of the gas company.

The action of the state body, it was declared, probably is only the first preliminary in the effort of the gas company to increase rates here. Presumably, it was explained, the gas company will insist on its right to show cause to the commission at a public hearing which its application should be allowed.

In the ordinary course of events, it was added, the gas company will file detailed arguments and records in support of its application and the railroad commission will set a hearing date at which the city of Munday will be called on to show cause why the present scale of gas rates should not be supplemented. It is wholly problematical as to how long it may be before a hearing will be held and as when a final decision may be given. City councilmen have been informed unofficially that the gas company expects to go into the courts if necessary for their fight for a new rate schedule should it be denied by the railroad body.

The Munday city council has taken no definite action in the matter although its policy of "receiving and filing" without having granted or denied either of two petitions filed with it for the gas company has been interpreted as being a tacit refusal to interfere with existing rates.

Following the failure of the city council here several weeks ago to grant a new schedule of rates which would have more than doubled the cost of domestic gas here, the gas company filed with the railroad commission its petition asking that body to accept the company's bond and to suspend existing rates in Munday.

The commission refused to accept such a bond or to interfere with present rates pending a final determination of the application on its merits, press dispatches received here said. The action was interpreted as meaning that the present gas rates will stay in effect at least until the matter now pending before the commission is decided.

The present net charge for gas in Munday is 75 cents per 1,000 cubic feet with a minimum charge of $2 per month.

Last December the gas company sought authority from the council to put a new schedule into effect scaling downward from $1.50 for the first 1,000 feet to 50 cents per 1,000 feet for quantities above 5,000 feet. The application was received and filed without further action by the council.

About six weeks ago, the gas company filed a second application proposing to establish a schedule which would fix a net charge here of $2.25 for the first 1,000 cubic feet, $1.75 for the second 1,000 feet and $1.50 per 1,000 for all additional.

Rabbit Drive To Start Friday at Alex Jones Farm

Plans for an all day rabbit drive—the biggest such event here in years—to start from the Alex Jones place five miles south of Munday Friday morning, had been completed Thursday.

An invitation to all local riders to participate was given.

The hunters will work south and at noon will feast on basket dinner prepared by ladies of the communities and on barbecue at the Grasshopper school.

The rabbits killed have been offered to charity and the expectation is that a good many of the needs will be fed. More than 4,000 rabbits were killed a year ago in a similar drive.

John Lane Home Complete Wreck Following Blaze

Damage estimated at between $5,000 and $7,000 was done to the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Lane by fire of undetermined origin which broke out shortly before 8 o'clock Sunday night while members of the family were at church.

Apparently originating somewhere near the central section of the eight-room, two-story dwelling, the flames had begun bursting through the roof when they were observed by a neighbor, who turned in an alarm. Mr. and Mrs. Lane had left for church about 45 minutes before.

While contents of the house were virtually a total loss, a considerable portion of the frame structure was saved by efficient work of the fire department. Mr. Lane said that he expects to replace the structure, but only a close examination will determine whether any portion of the walls left standing can be utilized.

The home was erected a number of years ago and had been remodeled at various times. Last year Mr. Lane reported that he had expended approximately $1,200 in remodeling the dwelling. The contents were valued at between $3,000 and $3,500.

Members of the fire department again complained after the fire that they were hampered in their efforts to extinguish the flames by thoughtless automobile drivers. Enroute to the blaze, they reported, motorists trailed so closely behind that an accident had been necessary to halt the truck quickly. They were also delayed, they reported, as they neared the scene of the fire by cars parked in such a manner as to make it difficult for them to string hose.

The loss, which was partially covered by insurance, was described as being the heaviest resulting from any residential fire in Munday in several years.

LONGEST ENDURING OF WEDDING UNIONS HERE BROUGHT TO CLOSE WITH DEATH JESSE W. WALLACE

The most enduring of wedding unions probably in this entire county was broken Monday with the death of Jesse W. Wallace, aged 81, and a resident of near Munday for 24 years, at the home of his son, Jack Wallace, a mile west of the city limits after a brief illness.

On next Sept. 13, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace would have been married 62 years.

Funeral services for Mr. Wallace were held Tuesday afternoon from the home of the son, with Elmer J. M. White of the Church of Christ in charge, assisted by the Munday cemetery. Arrangements were in charge of the Campbell Funeral Home.

Surviving Grandpa Wallace is perhaps the most numerous immediate family circle of any resident of this section. They include two sons, two daughters, 33 grandchildren and not fewer than 44 great grandchildren additional to the widow. The children are Jack and Dan Wallace and Mrs. Felix Franklin of Munday and Mrs. D. K. Gray of Houston.

All the children and most of the grandchildren and great grandchildren were at the bedside at the time of death.

Despite his years, Mr. Wallace was unusually active for one of his age up until his last illness, which began last Thursday. He retained a remarkable mental alertness and his faculties of sight and hearing up until the time of his death. Mrs. Wallace, now in her 82nd year, also has borne her years lightly.

Mr. Wallace was a farmer throughout his lifetime, and during his career experienced the trials which have attended the numerous strenuous times which have been those of the Southern farmer. He has been primarily a family man, a devout member of the Church of Christ, and keenly interested as a citizen in the affairs of his community.

Mr. Wallace was born on July 2, 1850, in Lafayette county, Arkansas, was reared there and married there on Sept. 13, 1870. He and Mrs. Wallace moved to Texas the year they were married, residing in Ellis county during most of the period until their removal to Munday in 1898.

Mr. Wallace was too young for military service during the Civil War. His father died, however, while he was young and the trying

New Telephone Directory Here Is Authorized

Contract for the printing of a new telephone directory in Munday, the first to be published here since March, 1929, was let to the Munday Times Wednesday by Roy Killingsworth, district manager for the Haskell Telephone company, while here on a routine business trip.

The new directory will be off the press and ready for distribution about April 1.

Those planning to install phones were reminded that they must do so at once if they wish their names to be included in the new directory. Cooperation also was asked of subscribers in insuring that names are spelled correctly in the directory.

February Rains Brighten Crop Prospects Here

Further contribution to the crop outlook for the season was made in the Munday territory by the 2.90 inches of rain which fell during February, according to the information given by O. E. Whitmore Thursday.

The precipitation fell a trifle short of the 2.98 inches of rain in February, 1931, although the total for the first two months of this year was 5.43 inches as compared with 4.29 inches during the first two months of last year.

The moisture seasoning for the approaching crop likewise continues to be the best in history—better even than the excellent one of last season. Since last Oct. 1 17.98 inches of rain have been recorded. Mr. Whitmore reported, as compared with 15.93 inches during the corresponding period of a year ago and 3.49 inches during the same time two years ago.

Quilt Show and Game Tourney Score Hit Here

Despite the blizzard which waited almost until the opening hour to strike, the game tournament and quilt show sponsored by the city Parent-Teachers association and held Friday in the Mayes building surpassed in its success the expectations of those in charge.

Ribbon winners in the quilt show, which attracted a total entry list of about 40, were announced as follows:

Prettiest—Miss Delores Campbell, with a grandmother's rose quilt, first; Mrs. J. B. Shine, with a rose of Sharon quilt, second prize.

Unique division—Mrs. D. C. Fritz, with a quilt more than 80 years old originally belonging to her grandmother, first; and Mrs. G. A. Craft, with a quilt 70 years old, second.

Oldest quilt—Mrs. Craft, with a quilt 106 years old.

The Four Leaf club orchestra, composed of Mrs. Joe Davis, Mrs. J. A. Kennedy and U. R. Houser provided music during the evening and Miss Inez Campbell played piano solos. Refreshments were served.

The parent-teacher committee in charge of arrangements was composed of Mrs. John Lane, Mrs. J. C. Campbell and Mrs. O. F. Greer.

Houser Named Agent Here For Falls Refinery

Announcement of the appointment of U. R. Houser as distributor in Munday for products of the Falls Refinery of Wichita Falls was made here during the week.

The refinery, which is located in Wichita Falls, manufactures a complete line of petroleum products, including aviation, blue and straight run gasoline and lubricants of various kinds. Mr. Houser will be exclusive distributor of the products here. It was announced.

ALF CAMPBELL ILL

The many friends of Alf Campbell will learn with regret that he has been critically ill at his home in Fort Worth, and late reports are that there is little improvement in his condition. He is a son of Mrs. J. N. Campbell, and a brother to E. G. Campbell and Mrs. J. C. Borden of this city.

has been true even of the most revolting murders. It likely will be true that there will be other kidnappings inspired wholly by the tragedy at the Lindbergh home.

FIRE RIGHT-OF-WAY

The appeal of Fire Chief Grady Thornton to motorists to clear the right-of-way of other traffic when the fire truck approaches is one which never should require another repetition.

The New Jersey incident is likely to inspire in warped brains the thought that kidnapping looks like an easy way to make money.

To suppose that any motorist would endanger firemen and himself for any reason other than through thoughtlessness is inconceivable.

Even the failure of the New Jersey kidnapers would hardly tend to remove the added dangers.

Dangers have arisen from two principal sources in the past. One has been the vehicle ahead of the fire truck.

The small-time kidnapper would neither expect nor ask a $50,000 ransom. It might be only $100.

The observance of fire traffic regulations will harm no one and cost nothing. On the other hand, thoughtlessness may easily mean tragedy.

The general danger naturally would be greatly increased by the payment of the ransom demanded of the Lindberghs.

HITCH-HIKERS.

The hitch-hiker in one respect may be likened to the old saloon. He is bringing about his own extinction.

The mathematical possibility is of course infinitely small that the Lindbergh kidnaping will motivate a similar type of crime in Munday, or any community considered by itself alone.

The motorist who speeds a way-farer along the way may derive satisfaction from the belief that he is lending a helping hand to one less fortunate than himself.

It simmers down to this—likely there will be no such occurrences to affect Munday directly, yet it COULD happen here.

KIDNAPPERS.

It is a far cry from the hills of New Jersey to the most humble home in Munday, but the kidnaping of a baby has established a common bond between the Lindbergh country mansion and the cottage here.

No parent can be justified in the position that "it might happen to some other parent's child, but it couldn't happen to mine."

Bank Official In Munday Sees Better Outlook

A pronounced improvement in conditions has been observed in his official contacts as special agent of the state banking department...

While no figures can be given with any degree of certainty at this time, the outlook for those who will share in the final dividends of the institution has vastly improved during the last two months.

The improvements he has observed, Mr. Horton declared, have been both psychological and material. The excellent crop prospects together with the fact that there has been some strengthening...

It is wholly problematical as to when the payment of dividends will begin to those holding valid claims against the bank...

Reconnection of Gas Ordered By Eastland Court

A mandatory injunction was issued Saturday by Hon. George L. Davenport, judge of the 91st district court, commanding the Community Natural Gas company to re-connect gas service to George Bryant.

Bryant had filed against the gas company a suit for damages for disconnecting his gas service when he failed to pay the new rate after the 88th district court had issued an order restraining the gas company from charging the plaintiff, George Bryant, and others more than 75 cents, the only legal rate in the city of Eastland.

The gas company, disregarding the order, has attempted to levy the new rate on the plaintiff. The 91st district court further restrains the gas company from interfering with and harrasing the plaintiff and from interfering with gas service in violation of the restraining order which is now in full force and effect.

The order was issued by Judge Elzo Beas some time ago when Bryant and a number of other citizens filed suit in the 88th district court asking an injunction to prevent the gas company from charging them more than 75 cents per thousand feet.

Minor Epidemic of Flu Brought Under Control

influenza— A minor epidemic of influenza which has prevailed in Munday and vicinity during the last two or three weeks has about disappeared according to information given by local physicians.

With few exceptions the cases reported here were extremely mild and in many instances physicians were not summoned. For that reason an accurate estimate of the number who have been ill was not available, although the belief was expressed that not fewer than 100 were ill at the height of the epidemic.

While the epidemic here seems to have run its course, the utmost relaxation of vigilance would be warranted. Particularly is that true of those who already have been ill. They are especially susceptible, it was explained, and recovery from a second attack is invariably less likely than from the first.
