

Kracker Krumb's Odd Bits Salvaged At Random

Saturday was Munday day at Fort Worth, and next Saturday is Knox County day in Munday.

Last Saturday it was the Fort Worth Fat Stock Show, and Munday had her day along with some other towns—quite a few of them, in fact.

Next Saturday it's Knox County 4-H Club calf show in Munday and we're expecting a large crowd of interested people here for that event.

For the first time since 1932, the editor took in the stock show. Since it was Munday day, we felt it our bound-n duty to attend—besides we wanted to go.

The editor and wife and the H. F. Jungmans teamed up for this trip. We "Dodged" our way down to a hotel, then "taxied" out to the Will Rogers Coliseum.

Got in cow-town in time for a leisure meal before going out to the show grounds to meander around a while before seeing the rodeo.

We ratched the show grounds and had just gotten enough walking to get limbered up from the ride when we began to run into Munday folks.

For a time it was kinda hard to tell whether we were in Munday or another town. The buildings were a little different, but some of the faces were very familiar.

Nudging through the crowds, looking here and yon, listening to the yapping of souvenir peddlers praising their wares, and just acting the natural country boy in town, and those familiar faces began to appear.

First were the Gill Wyatts and Walter Rodgers, who had left home earlier and had gotten there in time to visit the zoo and other places before hunting up fat cattle.

Munday's section began to attract others from the home town after we found our seats.

Among them were the Earl McNeill family, the L. B. Patersons, the J. C. Elliott family, the J. T. Offutt, etc.

Soon the show started, and there were the bucking horses throwing their mounts, but some riders staying on; then a gaited horse show.

The calf roping event would be followed by a horse show. The bulldogging event, then a horse show.

We began to wonder if we'd come to see a wild-west rodeo. They had men with riders, horses with women riders, horse to bright shiny little surreys with men drivers, then the same with women drivers, etc., et cetera.

But this was all mixed up with the other events which made the program interesting and entertaining.

The announcer told everyone this was Munday day—and several thousand people heard about Munday.

He announced Munday's sponsor first, and into the arena came Miss Gerry Allen, Munday's sponsor, on a dashing steed to the applause of that great group of merry-makers.

Our own Knox County boy, "Tick" Moorhouse of Benjamin, was in the bulldogging event. We wanted him to do a jam-up good job, but his steer didn't.

"Tick" made a good jump from his horse, and a good catch of the steer, but every time he'd yank on that stubborn beast's yank on that stubborn beast's head he'd do the sitting down instead of the rolling over act. Tick finally gave out and had to take no time.

The contestants looked young and seemed tired. The wild stock looked mean and seemed very tired. After all they'd been

Morrison To Seek Re-election To State Post

State Representative John E. Morrison, Jr., has authorized the Munday Times to announce his candidacy for re-election. His statement to the voters follows:

I take this means of announcing my candidacy for re-election as State Representative and to humbly solicit the continued support of the people of the 114th District. At this time of financial crisis in State Government—with its probability of additional taxes—I should like to take the liberty of calling attention to the fact that my belief as to the desirability of the strictest economy in spending the taxpayers' money has been reflected not merely in "platform pledges" but in my voting record as a member of the 51st Legislature. I was among the minority who tried to reduce by 10% the appropriations made to run the State Government during the current biennium—a reduction which would have saved the taxpayers of this state the sum of EIGHTEEN MILLION, ONE HUNDRED AND NINETEEN THOUSAND, NINE HUNDRED AND SEVENTY DOLLARS. (House Journal of June, 13, 1949, pp. 3939-3942). I consistently supported and voted for expenditures for those public services which I believed to be worthwhile and justifiable (improved rural roads, modernization of the prison system, soil conservation, increased old-age assistance, among others) yet the appropriations which I attempted to reduce, and which I voted against when the efforts at reduction were unsuccessful, totaled more than ONE HUNDRED AND TWENTY-FIVE MILLION, SIX HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS (House Journals of May 16, 1949, pp. 2960; June 27, 1949, pp. 4268; June 28, 1949, pp. 4364, 4368-4370).

If the people of the 114th District see fit to again honor me with this office I will continue my efforts to effect every possible economy in the field of State Government and to represent them to the limit of my humble abilities.

New Gadget At Bank Just Nearly Talks To You!

It refuses to budge—just like a balky mule—when you make a mistake of one penny, says those who've been fooling with it.

If you make a mistake in your bank deposit, it cuts up something awful. When it's going good, it will raise a flap to show you where the out-of-town checks go for different clearing houses, and even to which book-keeper a local check goes to.

It almost talks to you, and it saves the boys and girls lots of work. They won't even "run your deposits" for you anymore. They just let this gadget do it. It's called a proofing machine, and it's been installed at the First National Bank. One of the latest do-dads, it brings the bank right up to snuff in every department.

Large Crowd Expected To 4-H Calf Show Saturday

Bates Well Is Opened, Flows Liquid Gold

We stood a short way off and looked at the sight, somewhat unfamiliar to a country editor. There was a pipe coming out of the ground with a big knot on the top, to which was attached two valves.

One valve was to a pipe running on top of the hill, where some storage tanks were located. The other was to a shorter pipe extending a few feet to the edge of a pit which contained black liquid and beyond which the grass was black spotted and greasy looking.

They're going to open her up as soon as Bob gets back from dinner, we were informed. She flowed clear across the pit awhile ago. Charles Baker was ready to take pictures.

We asked about the Cooksey well, and Reuben Bates pointed through the mesquite brush. There she was, not so many yards away, looking lonesome like by itself, but pumping away.

Soon Bob was back. Bob is R. J. Watson, drilling contractor. Directly he turned on the valve there was a blowing of gas, she died down.

Disappointment ran through the small group that had assembled. Ross Bates, standing at the pipe, seemed disappointed, too.

Bob shut her down again, waited a few minutes, then opened the valve quickly.

The gas started again, there was a rumbling sound under the ground. "Here she comes," Bob said.

"That looks like oil," Ross said as the black fluid came spurting from the pipe. "What do they call that?" he asked. "Black Gold?" He stuck his finger in it. "I believe that's oil," he said.

Charles snapped his camera. Jimmy Branch of Knox City snapped his. Barton Carl turned on his movie camera. Other cameras clicked.

The R. J. Watson No. 1 Ross Bates well, north of Goree, was flowing oil. She had been "cleaning out" ever since they drilled through the cement last Friday night. Tuesday, she showed she contained oil.

There's talk of it being a 200 barrel well, and talk of a 150 barrel producer. Depth is around 1681 feet.

Anyway, she's a well, and there's oil in her. We saw it coming out!

P-TA To Have Father's Night

Since this type discussion under the direction of Mr. Bardwell has met with decided approval on previous occasions, the program is being especially planned for all P.T.A. members at the time the fathers are being honored.

Entered as second class matter January 4,
1919, at the postoffice in Munday, Texas, under Act of Congress, March 2, 1879.

OUR NEEDS FOR 1950

1. Completion of our portion of the Throckmorton road, giving the farmers of that area an all-weather outlet.
2. A farm-to-market road to the north and east of Munday, possibly connecting with the Hermer road.
3. A U. S. Federal building. Munday needs a new post office home.
4. More homes in Munday. We did a good job in 1949, but there's still a housing shortage.
5. A new telephone system, giving the town adequate telephone service and tapping the rural area surrounding the town.
6. Greater cooperation of business man, farmer, and citizen toward long-range development for our community.

WHAT ABOUT THE PROBLEMS?

One of the most thoughtful commentaries on the President's legislative proposals was recently made by Walter Lippmann. He wrote: "Truman's technique is never to deal with problems but only with the excellent results that would be achieved if the problems had been solved . . . leaving the critic no target to shoot at, no antagonist to get hold of, only the thin air to thrash around in."

No one—including the President's most aggressive political opponents—is opposed to such generalized goals as better housing, better health, a vastly increased family income, and happiness and prosperity on an almost sublime scale. In fact, these are goals toward which the nation has been making consistent and remarkable progress for generations. But what many people do object to is Mr. Truman's belief that the only way to attain these goals is to let the government do everything.

One columnist said acidly that virtually limitless "social security" may be necessary—for the reason that soon the people would have no money left to do anything for themselves. Every time the government gives us its own particular version of social progress, it digs deep into our pockets to pay for it.

As an example, it would be certainly splendid if everyone had the $12,000 a year income the President forecasts for the future. But it would not help much if the government took $10,000 of it in taxes. It is all very well to deal with wonderful objectives. But what about the immediate problems?

IT'S DIFFERENT ABROAD

In one of his revealing Saturday Evening Post articles on his experience as ambassador to Russia, General Walter Bedell Smith described the scarcity of consumer goods of all kinds. He observed, "Americans with their corner drug stores, super-markets and five-and-ten-cent stores can hardly imagine the life of foreigners in Moscow." Lack of even the most necessary supplies at the retail level is always found in totalitarian economies. And this lack, of course, is the inevitable result of any system based on rationing, price fixing, and iron-handed, noncompetitive government control or ownership of practically everything. We saw, on a small scale, something of the same thing when OPA regulations were maintained for some time after the war. As soon as those regulations were lifted, and normal competition was restored, all the scarcities were swiftly made up and, in many lines, there was actual over-production.

The Munday Times is Democratic, yet supporting only what it believes to be right, and opposing what it believes to be wrong, regardless of party politics, publishing news fairly, impartially.

American stores, which we all take for granted, seem like miracles to visitors from other lands—and particularly the few who come here from inside the Russian orbit. They see the chains, the independents, the variety shops, the dealers in both the necessities and luxury goods—and everywhere there is an incredible abundance judged by their past experience abroad. And, equally important, there is open competition which forces every merchant to try to offer lower prices, better services, more attractive stocks, or some other consumer inducement.

The retail store is the show window of the nation. It is an accurate reflection of this great country.

THE COW STORY UP-TO-DATE

It doesn't make any difference whether you are a Republican, a Democrat or an Independent, the following article from the Bernice, La. News-Journal is good for all to read who wish to see the American system of representative government survive.

Capitalism: If you have two cows, you sell one and buy a bull.

Socialism: If you have two cows, you give one of them to your neighbor.

Communism: If you have two cows, you give them to the government and the government gives you milk.

Fascism: If you have two cows, you keep the cows and give the milk to the government.

New Deal: If you have two cows, you shoot one, milk the other, then pour the milk down the drain.

Fair Deal: If you have two cows, you let them starve so you can buy your milk in cans, thus making business better.

Those who repeat everything they hear so do because they haven't any place to keep it.

One great trouble with a checkered career is that it's always your move.

Courses In First Aid Given Many Americans

Robert Lafferty of Brownwood, Texas, is a little different from his neighbors. He has saved two lives. On July 25, 1949, he answered a cry for help at a local swimming pool when a woman screamed that her husband and baby boy had disappeared from sight. Diving in, Lafferty pulled out first the boy and then the father and gave artificial respiration to the latter who regained consciousness after about four minutes. For this act of mercy Lafferty became the 42nd Texan to receive the coveted American Red Cross Certificate of Merit, an award only to persons trained in Red Cross First Aid or Water Safety who use their skills in "saving or attempting to save the life of another in an act judged meritorious."

Stories like that of Robert Lafferty make the headlines. But, while less spectacular, the 100s of unpublicized rescues from death which take place every day thanks to first aid or water safety training are more important. The things we take for granted—life savers at swimming pools, first aid kits in buses, free community classes in which our kids learn to swim—are tangible results of the contributions made by the American people to their Red Cross.

At the turn of the century swimming was not a very popular sport, probably because of the fact that it was an exceedingly hazardous one. Nearly 14,000 Americans drowned every year. Today, when millions rush to the beaches and pools every summer, the national drowning rate is down to about 7,000 per year. Red Cross Swimming and Life Saving instruction has made the difference.

At the turn of the century a man injured on his job almost inevitably had to wait for dozens of precious minutes—hours even—till a doctor could be summoned to care for him. In the interval he frequently died. It

Washington News Letter

By Congressman Ed Gossett

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 4 —I was made very happy this week when the Senate by a vote of 64 to 27 passed the Gossett-Lodge Amendment to abolish the Electoral College. It is my hope to get this Resolution acted upon in the House within the next few weeks. If we secure a two-thirds vote in the House, the Amendment will then be submitted to the State Legislatures for action. If and when ratified by three-fourths of the Legislatures, it will then become a part of the Constitution. In my opinion, it is one of the most badly needed reforms in our whole structure of government. Under the present system, the big cities of New York and Chicago largely control national politics.

A great many of my friends in Congress, both Democrats and party. The real question is, how will this Amendment affect our party? The real question is, how will it affect our country?

Under it, elections will be fair, honest and accurate. One vote for whomever he pleases and his vote is counted. Any party that cannot survive under such a fair and democratic system, does not deserve to survive. Some of the Republican leaders who oppose this Amendment seem to me to be stupidly shortsighted. The Republican party at this time is a sectional party. It cannot survive as a sectional party. If and when this amendment becomes law, the Republican party can become a national party by writing a platform that will appeal to people throughout the nation.

Southern States will greatly benefit because they will no longer be kicked around by the Yankee politicians in both parties. For years, to our sorrow and embarrassment, the South has been used as a sort of whipping boy. Today, the headlines in the Washington papers screamed of the British scientist giving H-bomb secrets to the Russians. In today's mail I got a letter from a very fine lady, deploring our President's decision to develop the H-bomb, said to be far more devastating than the Atom bomb. These things, of course, are terrible to contemplate. However, it has long been my conviction that we got into World War I and World War II, primarily because our enemies thought; first, they could bluff us; or second, if they couldn't bluff us, they could whip us. The town bully never stated a fight with a fellow whom he knew he couldn't bluff or could not whip. No aggressor is going to attack us unless he thinks he can win.

A friend of mine who claims to be well-informed in the preises, says that Russia can now defeat America hands down—that they can practically wipe us out in thirty minutes. Our military experts disagree with this conclusion. They reply that if Russia had this power, she would unquestionably use it. They feel that when Russia is confident of the ability to destroy America, she will turn the dogs loose.

Thus, it seems that our only hope of peace is to be so strong that no nation will dare to attack us. It's too bad that certain "pinks" in our government have tried to betray us heretofore.

Most Congressmen have felt sure from the beginning that Mr. Hiss was unquestionably guilty. Incidentally, it was a Committee of Congress that developed the Hiss case. At the same time, the House Committee on Un-American Activities learned that a man named 'White' who was Assistant Secretary of the Treasury under Morgenthau was also a member of this gang of "pinks". "Mr. White's" name was not White. He was a Russian who had changed his name. He supposedly was the author of the "Morgenthau Plan" which many people think prolonged the war many months and made the rebuilding of a democratic Germany impossible. You will recall that the "Morgenthau Plan"—announced months before the war was over, was that it was our intention to completely obliterate the German nation and reduce the German nation to agricultural peasants. Through our concessions to the Russians at Yalta and Potsdam, we permitted them to carry out such a policy in their part of Germany and we almost carried out such a policy in the Allied section of Germany. Now, we are turning around, trying to build a buffer in Western Europe against communist aggression.

Pecan Tree Pest Reported In Texas

People with pecan trees are advised by those "in the know" to pick up and burn left-over nuts and husks on the ground as a means of controlling the pecan tree pest.

R. A. Rix, head of the agriculture department at East Texas State College, Commerce, said the hickory shuck worm is showing up in large numbers this fall and winter in the husks of pecans left on the ground. The worm lives during the winter in the husks of old nuts, he said, and cold weather kills very few.

"Efforts to stamp out the insect must be done on a community-wide basis," he said. "The adult of the worm is a moth and one yard with several pecan trees can supply enough moths next summer to infest all the pecan trees of the community."

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by Dr. Geo. W. Cox
M. D., State Health Officer of Texas

AUSTIN—Public Health in Texas has received another boost with the February 1 formation of the Fort Bend County Health Unit.

State Health Officer Geo. W. Cox, in announcing the commission of the Fort Bend Unit said Dr. John R. Turner, a public health man of long experience in Texas, and elsewhere, has been named as director. The budget is set up to include a director, a sanitarian, a public health nurse, and a clerk. Their operations will cover Fort Bend County in its entirety.

Texas now has forty-nine units, some of them serving more than one county. Altogether, fifty-seven counties within the State have protection from full-time health units.

"We've come a long way toward our goal of raising the standard of public health in Texas to a high plane," Cox asserted. He cautioned: "But we still have a long road ahead of us."

Ideally, a local health unit is designed, according to Cox, to promote better health among Texans it serves by performing

- these functions:
1. By investigating cases of communicable diseases, and tracking down, if possible, the source of the germ.
  2. By teaching people, through meetings and personal visits, how smallpox, diphtheria, whooping cough, and other diseases are spread, and how immunization and sanitation will prevent their spread.
  3. By making studies of venereal diseases (mainly syphilis and gonorrhea), tuberculosis, poliomyelitis, etc., and providing for patient education concerning the illness affecting them.
  4. By making visits to expectant mothers referred by private physicians, and by holding well child conferences which are designed to keep children in tip-top health.
  5. By making periodic inspections of food-handling business like dairies, slaughterhouses, grocery stores, and cafes to make sure the operators are sticking close to sanitation laws.

Drainage Ditch To Reclaim 280 Acres Of Land

By GLENN SHELTON,
Farm Editor, Wichita Daily Times

Three miles southeast of Munday a lake is being moved because a small group of Knox County farmers decided they were "tired of raising ducks and geese."

The operation, which is virtually complete, will drain the water from Scott Lake and release for cultivation 280 acres of highly fertile sandy loam soil. At the same time it will lower the water table which in recent years has been getting perilously close to the surface.

The water is being moved through a ditch measuring 4,700 feet in length, 10 feet in width, and a maximum of 18 feet deep. Connecting the lake with Lake Creek, nearly a mile to the eastward, the ditch is legally recorded at Benjamin as the "Scott Lake Drainage Project" and is actually a memorial to the spirit of co-operation of the men of the soil conservation district, the Production-Marketing Administration and the enterprising farmers who conceived the idea and gambled their money on to successful fruition.

Co-operation Pays Off

Though the entire project cost about $10,000, the farmers took advantage of aid offered by the Production-Marketing Administration's agriculture's conservation program and through a pooling agreement were allowed $3,750 on the over-all costs.

And the farmers are unanimous that their investments will be returned many-fold in good crop yields. If the land had been in cultivation in 1949, they say, the project could have been paid for from proceeds of the single year's crops.

The farmers who organized the Scott Lake Drainage Project are W. E. McNeill, president; C. R. Elliott, chairman; J. C. Elliott, secretary-treasurer, and Members J. A. and W. A. Reid and F. A. Warren.

C. R. Elliott, who with his son owns the right-of-way for the project, has 1,132 acres tied up in the big ditch operation. He says that 53,000 yards of soil were moved out in order to create the outlet for the surplus water.

J. A. Reid, one of the area's more prominent pioneers, says the idea of draining the lake had been "suggested and speculated upon the past 30 years."

He said the lake once furnished a "great place for stockmen to herd cattle to cut and brand when the water level was low and the turf was in good condition." Legend around these parts also holds that the lake was once a favorite watering place for buffalo.

Project Old Dream

And though a project similar to the one now being completed was long a favorite dream of owners of the lake land, the idea of carrying it out was never too seriously regarded.

The expense involved in building a mile-long ditch back in the days when power was confined to the horses made it prohibitive. It is practical now, the men who have completed the job agree, only because of modern machinery, the excellent help of the U.

S. Soil Conservation Service and the financial aid rendered by the government through the Production-Marketing Administration.

Charley Cape, work unit conservationist with the soil conservation district, helped lay the groundwork for the project back in September and early October. It was also the boys of the SCS who suggested that a gate be constructed at the bridge on the lake end of the ditch for use during drouths. An SCS engineer pointed out that the water could be dammed during periods of drouth and could also be controlled for flushing the ditch of accumulated debris. This idea is still back in their minds but the farmers have not yet decided to build the gate.

PMA Secretary Helps

Bennett Haymon, secretary of the Knox County PMA, suggested the pooling arrangement whereby the farmers could make full use of their agricultural conservation funds.

Within a day or so water will start flowing from Scott Lake into Lake Creek via the new canal. Ultimately the Brazos River will get the liquid which heretofore prevented the rich Knox County soil from producing crops of food and fibre.

The only casualties will be

Highlights from Austin

(By Senator George Moffett)

AUSTIN, TEXAS, February 6—Members of the Legislature have done some serious thinking in these early days of the thirty day special session. Most of us are convinced that the people of Texas want suitable steps taken to care for the more than twenty-two thousand inmates of the state's eleemosynary institutions, which include state orphanages (both white and colored), state tubercular sanitoriums, epileptic institutions, schools for the blind, deaf and feeble minded, as well as the large institutions for the adult mentally ill.

There are more than twenty of these institutions in Texas, some of the buildings are more than seventy years old. Very little construction was done during the depression and almost none during the war period because of the scarcity of labor and materials. It is the state's plain duty to start a suitable build-

The Board for State Hospitals and Special Schools which supervises the above named institutions estimates that at least forty million dollars is needed for buildings and equipment. However, most members of the Legislature believe that this building program should be carried out over a period of years so that the cost will be spread out over a reasonable time.

The state's present financial shortage has been brought about partly because of a decrease in the demand for crude oil. In the fiscal year of 1946, the tax on crude oil alone brought thirty-seven million dollars into the state treasury. In 1949 it brought eighty-seven million dollars, a fifty million dollar difference. In 1950, the revenue from the crude oil tax will be much less than in 1949 because of smaller demand for Texas crude oil. Foreign oil is being imported into our country in great quantities and nationwide conditions are such that not as much crude oil is being consumed as was the case one year ago. These two factors (imports of crude oil and decreased consumption) will bring about a decrease in the state's revenue

PMA CHAIRMAN LISTS ACP PRACTICES FOR 1950

Assistance under the 1950 Agricultural Conservation Program will be available to the farmers of Knox County on the following practices:

- Construction of terraces for which necessary outlets and waterways are provided.
- Construction of diversion terraces to control excess water.
- Establishing a vegetative waterway to dispose of excess water causing erosion.
- Field strip cropping.
- Subsoiling to permit better penetration of water.
- Bringing clod-forming subsoil to the surface of sandy cropland to prevent wind erosion.
- Leaving on the land as a protection against wind erosion the stalks of stubble of sorghums or millet.

- Control of blindweed.
- Construction or enlarging drainage ditches.
- Drilling or digging wells for livestock water.
- Installing pipe lines for livestock water.
- Development of springs and seeps for livestock water.
- Construction of earthen dams or reservoirs for livestock water or erosion control.
- Lining earthen reservoirs for livestock water.
- Application of potash and phosphate.
- Growing a green manure or cover crop of summer legumes.
- Increasing the total farm acreage of biennial and perennial legumes and grasses.
- Establishing a satisfactory cover of winter legumes and ryegrass seeded in the fall of 1949.
- Turning under or leaving on the land a satisfactory stand on growth of rye seeded in the fall of 1949.

Elimination of destructive plants on non-crop pasture and range land.

Control of competitive brush. Controlling competing weeds in pastures for mowing.

Reseeding range or pasture land by deferred grazing.

Constructing fireguards on non-crop pasture and range land.

Plowing or chiseling non-crop land.

Establishing or improving permanent pastures by seeding adapted pasture grasses, pasture legumes, or mixtures of grasses and legumes.

Planting forest trees (including shrubs in protective plantings.)

This assistance, averaging about 50 percent of the total cost of the practices represents the interest of the people of this county have in protecting and building up the soil and water resources upon which all people depend, says J. C. McGee, chairman of the County PMA Committee.

He urges that each farmer in the county take an inventory of the conservation needs of his farm—what is needed to check erosion, to keep the top-soil from blowing or washing away, what is needed to build up reserves of organic matter and humus in the soil so that the land will soak up more water and not wash away so easily? What is needed to bring about a better balance in the use of the land so that production can continue indefinitely?

The chairman suggests that farmers also consider the priority of conservation practices, with those most urgently needed at the head of the list. With the help of the local PMA committees, these needs should be checked with the practices which have been approved for Knox County and those practices selected which will do the most to meet the most urgent needs. In this way a conservation program can be worked out for the individual farm which will result in the greatest benefit.

We Need—

(This is the fourth of a series of articles by the American Heart Association for the "Save A Heart" campaign, which is February 12 to 25.)

Lack of knowledge is the greatest obstacle in the fight against heart disease.

The primary need is for scientific research to discover the unknown causes of rheumatic fever, high blood pressure, and hardening of the arteries.

Authorities in the field are agreed that if any really significant steps are to be taken in conquering or controlling the heart diseases, such progress must be achieved through wide, intensive and prolonged research by competent investigators who can devote all their time and energies to the task.

It is the responsibility of every citizen to see that these research needs are adequately fulfilled. This calls for public education to develop a broad understanding of the seriousness of heart disease and the need for public support of the fight against this leading cause of death.

One of the major unsolved problems in the field of heart disease is the maintenance of those suffering from cardiovascular disorders as useful, productive members of society.

To meet this special problem, it is necessary to institute cardiac placement and vocational training programs in the community, to conduct studies on the performance of cardiacs in industry, and to educate employer groups on the economic soundness of employing capable workers with heart disease.

There is urgent need for community cardiac programs in many major areas of the nation. It is imperative that such programs be established if latest knowledge relating to the prevention, care and treatment of heart disease is to be brought directly to all citizens.

Community cardiac programs will assure that facilities for the overall care of the patient are available, and that these facilities conform to the standards set by the American Heart Association. Such programs are needed to foster and develop local rehabilitation, vocational guidance and employment services.

Read next week: "Plan to Combat Heart Disease."

Rubber-against-rubber shelling contacts in the ALL-CROP Harvester give a natural shelling action, just as you rub out a head of grain in the palm of your hand.

The crop falls on a wide, rubberized draper and rides straight to the full-width, spiral-bar cylinder in a thin stream just as it grew in the field. Rubber-cushioned cylinder bars rub out the grain or seeds against rubber concaves.

This same gentle handling of over 100 grains, seeds and beans makes the All-Crop what is . . . truly an ALL-CROP Harvester. Stop in and talk to us about an All-Crop for your farm.

To the flutter of a flag and the notes of a bugle, Fort Worth was founded 100 years ago by Major Ripley A. Arnold and 42 men of the Second Dragoons. Arnold named the post in honor of Gen. William J. Worth, under whom he had served in the capture of Monterey.

Fort Worth was a fort in name only, the chief buildings being the barracks. Three times a year, Major Albert Sidney Johnston, the paymaster, was a visitor. According to tradition, Col. Robt. E. Lee, on a visit, gazed into the wilderness and declared, "I hear the incoming march of thousands of feet."

The first woman to come to Fort Worth was Mrs. Arnold. And on the frontier with its crudities and perils, with no woman to console her, the commander's wife saw one of her children die and later a second one passed away.

Arnold, founder of Fort Worth, was born in Mississippi, graduated from West Point and served in the Florida Indian War as well as the Mexican War. He and his cavalymen patrolled the frontier and, one writer says, there was a battle in which 52 Indians were killed. The fleeing redskins made a stand and another fight took place in the vicinity of Lovelers Retreat in Palo Pinto County. The only battle at the fort was

"Left-Handed Compliment"

See where a bank in Denver is putting in left-handed checkbooks. They figure their southpaw depositors deserve just as much consideration as the right handers.

Time was when it was believed that left-handed people had no right to exist at all. If a youngster showed signs of using his left hand, his parents were supposed to break him of the habit—to force him to use his right.

But today most doctors will tell you that changing a child's natural left-handed tendency usually causes more harm than good.

Stammering and other nervous disorders often get their start that way with children.

From where I sit, if a man wants to use his left hand—that's his business. It's not such a good idea to make anyone do things our way, just because we think it's right. Personally, I think a mellow glass of beer is the finest beverage on earth. If you happen to prefer a Coke—why, go to it! Only leave me the same freedom of choice, won't you?

Knox Prairie Philosopher Favors An Annual Income Of $12,000 In 1999, But Wants An Advance On His Now

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek no doubt has misinterpreted the newspapers again, an habitual accomplishment for him, but here's what he has to say this week.

Dear editor:
I was out here yesterday doin nothin, not even pretendin to be doin anything, a man ought to have some time every day when he hasn't got a blamed thing to do and he can sit down and let his mind come to a halt, when I noticed a newspaper flutterin down out of a tree, must have been picked up by the wind earlier in the day and since it wasn't any trouble to watch it and remember where it landed and when I got through loafin later in the afternoon I got up and went over and picked it up and took it home and after supper read where some Washington government experts estimate it's possible for every man to be earning $12,000 a year by the end of the 20th century.

like a scene from a comic opera. The savages, enraged by the two defeats, assembled in great force on a bluff. Arnold ordered the fort's "artillery", a howitzer, wheeled into position and gave the command, "Fire!" The flash and roar of the little gun so terrified the Indians that they ran.

The fort was evacuated after four years, on Sept. 17, 1853. Major Arnold is buried in Pioneers Rest beside his children. If he could return to the scene which he knew as a wilderness and where he put up a few log buildings, wouldn't he be astounded at the city he would see!

There ain't no argument against such a offer, I think it's reasonable and attractive enough and certainly ain't no more than a man could use if he set his mind to it, but I never did like to go hog-wild over money, there are other things in life, and in view of the fact I ain't sure I'll even be here for the end of the 20th century, I was wonderin if I could maybe draw part of mine in advance?

I want to be entirely fair about this and will be willin to settle for half, say $6,000 a year, now, and let somebody more deservin get his 12 thousand and my extra 6 around the end of the century. Or, if the government is already over-burdened with too much bookkeeping, I'd be willin to handle this privately, and would like to know if any of your readers would be interested in buyin my $12,000 a year income for 1999 for fifty cents on the dollar now? Seems like a awfully good

Four Dams Are Proposed For Area Rivers

ABILENE—Tentative proposals for the building of four dams on the Colorado and Brazos rivers and tributaries to impound adequate domestic and industrial water for all towns in central West Texas were outlined to the Executive Board and committees of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and the West Texas Domestic Water Association at a meeting held in Abilene on January 26.

Harry P. Burleigh, state planning engineer for the Bureau of Reclamation, told the group that most of the preliminary engineering work is out of the way for the four reservoirs and that on March 1 the Bureau will make a complete report on the projects including costs.

Cost of these studies was estimated at more than $200,000.

One dam site is proposed on the Colorado river in the southwest corner of Scurry County and another near Robert Lee. On the Brazos river watershed, the location of a reservoir on California Creek near Haskell was recommended, and an alternate on Clear Fork, part to be in Throckmorton and part in Shackelford counties. The fourth recommended project is on Colony Creek, near Eastland.

Size of the lakes will be determined by estimated water requirements for all participating communities, based on needs for the next 50 years.

The WTCC-WTDWA board authorized the organizations' Water rate of interest for somebody.

Will appreciate you sendin any replies you get to me out here on Miller Creek and I'm going down to the mail box now to prop it up and get it ready.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Warren Observe 50th Wedding Anniversary Sunday

On Sunday, February 5, 1950, this beloved couple who have made their home in this area for many years, observed their golden wedding anniversary with an open house at their home near Munday. Open house hours were from three to six o'clock.

Many friends called during these hours to pay respect to this couple. In all approximately 100 friends called to make this occasion a memorable one for Mr. and Another reason for happiness was the fact that their three sons and their families were present to help in this celebration.

Children present were Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Warren and Jerry Marvin and Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Warren and children, Dickie, Linda and Johnny, all of Plainview, Texas, and Mr. and Mrs. Troy Warren of Wink, Texas.

Kracker Krumbs—

Downtown after the show, we ran into other Munday people. First were the W. C. Hertels and Henrietta, who were waiting for William to get in from Austin, then they were taking in the show on Sunday.

Then the C. P. Bakers and R. L. Ratliffs walked out of the dining room, visited with us briefly, and headed for the Saturday night performance.

Munday was pretty well represented on Munday day. And, of course, a good many people from these diggings were there at other times during the week.

As we said in the beginning, it was our first trip in 18 years—and we expect to go again before 1968, which will be another 18 years.
