

Hospital Cardiac Center open to public Saturday

The Knox County Hospital Cardiac Conditioning and Wellness Center will open its doors October 29 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. for a grand opening. Knox City is the seventh center sponsored by the Abilene Heart and Vascular Institute at Abilene Regional Medical Center. Other centers include Breckenridge, Ballinger, Coleman, Comanche, Eastland and Stamford.

Mary Beth Bird, a paramedic, is the center's program director and Dr. Shirley Barretto is the medical director. They will serve refreshments at the opening and offer free cardiovascular screenings.

"The rural cardiac conditioning centers provide a way to return patients back to their local medical care providers and communities," explained Denise Clayton, director of the Well Health Center at Abilene Regional Medical Center and coordinator for the rural centers. "It is more convenient for the cardiac patient and his or her family to participate in weekly treatments locally rather than commuting to Abilene or Lubbock. The centers also provide wellness programs for the community, which allows for continued maintenance."

Cardiac conditioning is designed to improve cardiovascular health in persons whose heart function is impaired. It is a medically-supervised program of exercise and nutrition ideally suited for those who have undergone angioplasty, cardiovascular bypass surgery, or had a heart attack or other major heart condition within the past 12 months.

The program is individually tailored to meet the specific needs of cardiac patients.

The exercise program will improve heart and lung function and muscle tone through a slow, deliberate training process. Held three times per week for 12 weeks, each cardiovascular training session lasts from 30 to 90 minutes.

"To determine functional capabilities and individual needs, EKG stress tests are administered up to three times during the course of the program," Clayton said. "The first EKG stress test documents progress and aids in re-evaluating improved physical capabilities. Then we develop an exercise plan designed to help maintain the achieved level of cardiac fitness."

Throughout the program the patient's personal physician receives written reports of the progress being made by the patient. The cardiac conditioning staff provides ongoing counseling and education opportunities to help the patient control or eliminate cardiac risk factors.

The telephone number for the new center is (817) 658-3535.

The public is invited to come Saturday, October 29 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. to the open house and tour the Cardiac Conditioning and Wellness Center located at the Knox County Hospital. Refreshments will be served. Complimentary Cardiac Health Screenings will be available. You must fast 12 hours prior to the screening.

Local nursing home in business 25 years

Munday Nursing Center is celebrating their 25th Anniversary with a free Hot Dog Lunch from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. Thursday, October 27.

The center opened for business in October of 1969 with Marge Rixford (Wilson) as administrator. Dale Rumbley was the first RN and Director of Nurses employed. Former LVN Director of Nurses were Una Grace Hines, Delores Wilde, Bertha Wilde, LaDean Feemster and Mag Michalik. Mrs. Michalik is semi-retired, but still helps out once a week.

Munday Nursing Center presently employs fifty-four people. Joyce Hardin has been the administrator for the past seventeen years, taking on these duties in 1977. Charlotte Welch, RN, is Director of Nurses at this time, having held this position since 1989.

Present department heads include Mary Huffman, business office; Rachel Gray, assistant DON and medicare manager; Sandy Smith, dietician; Nancy Cypert, activities director; Debbie Sosolik, social services; Amelia Sosa, housekeeping supervisor; and Coyt Smith, maintenance.

The residents and staff invite everyone to join them hot dogs.

It's time to turn back the clock!

Central standard time will officially go into effect at 2 a.m. Sunday, October 30. Remember to turn your clocks back one hour before retiring to bed on Saturday night.

The Texas Commission on Fire Protection recommends that you change the batteries in your smoke alarm as you change your clocks back Saturday night. This is something you seldom think about, but is very important for your safety.

Chamber Bake Sale Saturday

The Munday Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring a Homecoming Bake Sale this Saturday, October 29, at the Munday M-System. The sale begins at 8:30 a.m.

Cakes, pies, cookies, and lots more will be available, so stock up for your homecoming visitors.

MUNDAY RUNNING-BACK #26 JONATHAN REAGINS is taking off. Reagins broke several tackles then sprinted down the home side line for a 55 yard touchdown run. He ran the ball 9 times for 123 yards. The Moguls have bounced back from the loss to Paducah by shutting out their last two opponents 68 to 0. Munday will travel to Roby this week to take on the Lions who are 3 - 0 in district play.

Three local businesses to win cash awards for best dressed window

The winners of the Homecoming window decorating contest will be determined Wednesday (today) by out-of-town judges.

Cash prizes will be awarded to first, second, and third place.

If you haven't taken the time to look in the downtown business windows full of Munday High School memorabilia, you're missing a special treat. The store operators have made a special effort to make this Homecoming a special one for those who don't get "home" very often.

The contest is being sponsored by the Munday Chamber of Commerce.

Make a donation, win a prize from local volunteers

The Munday EMS volunteers have started a fund raiser to update their medical equipment.

They will be awarding the following prizes during halftime activities of the Homecoming football game to the lucky winners of their drawing: a TV, quilt, gas grill, and a large stuffed animal.

Tickets for the drawing are $1 each or 6 for $5, and may be purchased from any Munday ambulance service volunteer.

Munday downs Crowell 34-0; travel to Roby next

The Munday Moguls eased by the Crowell Wildcats last Friday night by defeating them 34 to 0. The Moguls were slow to start by being held scoreless in the first but started a 14 play drive late in the quarter.

The drive started from Munday's 14 yard line. On second Peewee Reagins went for a 26 yard gain to the 44. Robbie Vaughn then connected with Donny Browning for a 21 yard pass to the Wildcat 35. After a penalty and a short loss, Vaughn hit Jeff Cook this time for a 22 yard gain as the quarter ended.

The second quarter began with Bronco Flye joining in. Bronco ran the ball 4 times for 22 yards down to the 7. A sack put the Moguls at the 10. Robbie Vaughn then threw a touchdown pass to O'Keith Taylor for Munday's first score. Reagins kicked the PAT.

On the kick-off, the ball went high and short. Jeff Cook along with other Moguls was there when it came down. Cook caught the ball off a bounce to recover for Munday at the Wildcat 36. Peewee Reagins advanced the ball 15 yards to the 21 but a fumble was recovered by Crowell.

Munday's second scoring drive began at their own 48. After two short gains Vaughn connected with Browning for 16 yards. A personnel foul against Crowell moved the Moguls to the 17. Bronco Flye ran for 7 yards on second down. An incomplete pass forced a fourth down situation. Munday lined up for a field goal but had other plans.

Donny Browning went end

around and scrambled for a four yard gain and the first. Bronco then went for 5 but fell short of the TD. Two penalties pushed Munday back to the 11. Zane Donoho then caught a pass from Vaughn in the end zone for the TD. Reagins kicked the PAT and the Moguls went in at half time with a 14 to 0 lead.

Munday opened the second half with a great drive from their own 41. The Moguls marched down field with all of the offense doing their part. On the ground Munday moved the ball 36 yards on 8 carries and in the air 1 time for 18 yards. Brown Flye ended the drive from 8 yards out with the touchdown. The PAT was good and the score increased 21 to 0.

Crowell bounced back on their next drive. Starting from their own 30 the Wildcats moved the ball down to the Mogul 21. The Munday defense kicked in by taking the quarterback for an 8 yard loss and forcing two incomplete passes causing the Wildcats to turn the ball over on downs.

Munday didn't have the ball long. A fumble was recovered by Crowell at the Munday 20 yard line. After 2 plays and 2 yards and interference call against the Moguls put the ball at the 10 yard line. The Wildcats then went for 1 and 6 yards to the 3 yard line. Munday stopped Crowell for 0 on third down as the third quarter ended.

A penalty at the start of the fourth against Munday put the ball on about the one and a half. The Mogul defense toughed up even more by stuffing the Wildcats for

Purple Cloud Band receives top rating

The Purple Cloud Band did it again! They marched and played in their own true style, and the judges were impressed!

Munday received their 11th consecutive 1st division rating at the UIL Region II Marching Contest held Saturday, October 22, in Wichita Falls. All three judges awarded them a "1".

The Purple Cloud was the only Class A band to receive a 1st division. Throckmorton and Paducah received a Division II, Windthorst received a III, and Crowell a IV. In Class 2A competition, Electra, Quanah, Olney and Holliday received a 1st Division, Henrietta, Seymour and Archer City received a II, Petrolia a III, and Nocona a IV.

Only Class 3A and 5A schools who receive 1st Division ratings can advance to the area competition this year. Munday and other Class A and 2A schools will have the opportunity next year.

Rider High School, Class 5A, and Graham, Jacksboro and Iowa Park, all Class 3A schools, will be heading to area contest next Saturday in Fort Worth.

Homecoming. The long awaited day finally draws near. The floats have all been finished, the program is complete, the football teams primed to perfection to give the stadium full of fans something to cheer about. Everybody is wondering who will show up this time and who won't be able to make the trip.

You start two months before homecoming planning what you'll wear. You decide to take off ten pounds before the big day and have mental pictures of yourself gliding into the packed auditorium -- all eyes turned in your direction while people whisper to each other, "She hasn't changed at all in twenty years."

The week before homecoming, you still haven't lost the ten pounds -- in fact you've gained four, so you buy a new girdle and decide maybe the dress with the long jacket will look better anyway than that sleek new outfit you bought when you were so sure you'd lose ten pounds.

You think, perhaps you need a new permanent and your hair lightened just a little, then, you come home wondering why in the world you didn't get the permanent three weeks earlier so it wouldn't be so tight, and the color makes you look just like a pickled beet.

You find yourself wondering how the high school knock-out looks now. You know, the one who always took everybody's boyfriend and had every boy in school falling at her feet. Remember? She was always voted Most Beautiful, Football Sweetheart, High School Queen. She was always head cheerleader and Class Favorite. You almost hope she won't even be there since you didn't lose those extra pounds and your hair looks like a poodle.

The day comes at last and she's the first person you see when you walk in to register. There she is -- and she's fat! Ha Ha! And not just ten pounds - but FAT! And gray! And she has just as many wrinkles as you have and suddenly you're very glad to see her as you hurry toward her, arms outstretched.

You've caught yourself wondering many times within the last few weeks if the guy with whom you were so madly in love your sophomore year will be there. The wings of memory take you back to those magical days when you were his "steady." You wore his football jacket and he wore your ring on a chain around his neck. You drove through town on Saturday night in his jalopy with the fender skirts and the loud mufflers and the radio turned up really loud. You rolled down the windows so everybody could hear Buddy Holly sing Peggy Sue and be sure to notice you.

You mix and mingle with all your old friends looking for special faces in the crowd. You see him then, but you barely recognize him. Why does he look so old? He has even more padding around his waist than the man you married, and his hair - what's left of it - is almost completely gray. You smile and wave at him and hope you only imagine the look of surprise in his eyes when he recognizes you.

There's almost always somebody there who's twice as successful as anybody else and is afraid that everybody doesn't know it. He passes out business cards to everybody and puffs away on a five dollar cigar as he tells of his latest business venture. Everybody sits there with a forced smile as he goes on and on, and you hope that nobody suspects that the check you gave for the corsages and meal tickets will probably be overdrawn.

Somebody's always got volumes of pictures of their grandchildren. You look at them, saying all the usual things as you dig in your purse for the pictures of your own grandchildren. Then - you extend them toward her and say, "Here are my grandkids," but you're thinking, you thought you had pretty grandkids. Now - eat your heart out.

Invariably, there's an ex-student with a row of little kids at the homecoming game - all polished and adorable. He'll turn to them and say, "See that? Did you know that your daddy was right down there on that same football field ten years ago, making long touchdown runs like that boy just made? Boy, did we have a team that year!"

The little kids' eyes light up as they look at him in admiration and nobody anywhere around him is about to say they remember when their daddy played football and he wasn't really all that great.

There doesn't seem to be a lot to say to the girl who was your best friend. You try to remember what you talked about on those nights when you giggled all night, telling each other all your secrets and your dreams . . . things you both swore not to ever, ever tell. Now, you can't think of anything to say after you've asked, "How've you been?" -- "How are the kids?" - "Where are you living now?"

The day is over and you stand for the school song and you can't quite keep the tears from filling your eyes as the voices of your former classmates, friends and acquaintances are lifted together in the melody of your old alma mater. Suddenly, you are transplanted back to the days when these people were so much a part of your life - the carefree days of your youth - when your future still lay ahead, all bright and shining and untarnished.

Most of your dreams have been replaced by the acceptance of a life that's really not that bad. Things could have been better for you, but they could also have been worse. You look around at the exes as you sing and most of them also have tears in their eyes. You wonder if they're remembering, too, and how many of them have actually realized all the ambitions they had when their footsteps resounded down the familiar halls.

You haven't thought of most of these people for such a long time, but they are always a part of you - tucked away into the little recesses of your memory. They are a part of who you are and where you've come from - the voices and faces from your past.

And you're glad they came home.

Jeff Christian - Minister

I remember being told once as a child that the average head of hair only lasts five years. In other words, the hair on your head today is not the same hair that was there five years ago. I really do not know if it's five years or fifty, but the point still made a lasting impression on me.

Be it hair, fingernails, or anything else for that matter, things are always in a state of change. There was once a time when people were struck with awe when an airplane flew overhead. Now, it is a common occurrence. People used to say that humans would never reach the moon. Now, we have pictures of other galaxies.

In a world full of change, one thing remains the same. People treat Him as if He has somehow grown up. People treat Him as if He somehow changed over the years. But God told Judah, "I the LORD do not change." (Mal 3:6)

The same God who ruled the world of Moses, rules the world today. The same God who sent rain on the righteous of David's time, sends rain on the unrighteous of our time. The same God who longed to rule Jonah's life, longs to rule yours.

Retired teachers meet for fall convention October 19

By Dorothy Myers

The District IX Texas Retired Teachers Association fall convention was held Wednesday, October 19 in the Wichita Falls Ramada hotel.

District IX president, Maxine Cardwell of Vernon, presided. District IX parliamentarian, Perry Goosley of Wichita Falls, gave the invocation. Pledges of Allegiance to the United States and Texas Flag were led by District IX president, Wayne Preston of Quanah. Welcome was given by the District IX 1st vice president, Barbara Ratliff of Munday. Bill R. Lafferty, TRTA 2nd vice president, challenged local units to increase membership. Increasing TRTA membership is crucial! This is a very important legislative year. More membership means more influence with legislators. Continued communication with our Senator and Representative is vital. All TRTA local units should support continuation of the current 7.31% state contribution rate for the 1995-1997 biennium. This must be communicated to all our state leaders and legislative candidates and incumbents immediately.

An update on Building Trust Fund was reported by Mary Helen Cure of Seymour, District IX building trust chairman.

An AARP report was made by Jim Talley, Region I association state director.

A business meeting followed the luncheon. Ann Beam of Vernon read a poem "The Rose" in memory of District IX Retired Teachers which included Mary Groves of Knox City and Betty Taylor of Goree.

Representing Knox County RTA were Ida Jo Owens, Barbara Ratliff and Dorothy Myers, who were in charge of registration.

matters. Work together and size up your financial situation. How much money will your family have? How much are the bills you have to pay? What does each family member need and want to buy or do? What expenses can you adjust by the way you shop and live?

A calendar is a good "size up" tool. Write the amount of money you will have coming in each week from gifts, things you will sell, and ways family members can earn money other than salaries and pay checks. List only the money you know you can count on receiving.

Next list the bills that have to be paid. Figure out how much is left? Now, how can you use this information, use your resources, keep the situation under control and have a successful year's end? First and most important, by working together you will find out what is really important to each family member. Too often families get into the habit of buying and doing things they have outgrown or no longer enjoy. Keep a list of things you have been or would have been using your money to buy if you had not taken time to talk. Talk can be both cheap and valuable!

When you know everyone's priorities, think of as many ways as possible to get what your family wants and needs. For example, children can save coupons and help shop for the best buy when you're shopping. Money the family saves can become their "gift fund". Each family member could decide on the most important things they want to buy or do, and suggest how they might pay for it. Help children plan to do things that are reasonable for their age and ability. Parents need to model the process of identifying and planning to meet individual needs rather than denying their needs "for the children's sake".

Make an envelope for each person's goal and each type of expense the family has. Write the amount that needs to go into the envelope each week until that goal is reached. If each child's gift envelope needs $100 and it's 10 weeks until the holiday, write $10 on the envelope 10 times. After essential bills are paid from each pay check or when individuals earn or receive money, put the amount needed into each envelope. Mark the $10 goal reached for the week. When shopping for gifts, use only money from the gift envelope. You can take advantage of sales without wrecking the rest of your budget.

The key to feeling in control in times of financial crunch is to have planned ahead as much as possible. Your family can always reconsider your goals and make changes to meet new opportunities or needs. Making decisions as a family builds the family team, lets everyone feel their needs and ideas count and avoid surprises. Challenges to plans are not a sign of failure, they are a sign of the reality of living within our means. Success is defined by being in control of your decisions versus getting everything you want now.

Oil Dilemma

An oil which has a label that says "no cholesterol" is not necessarily better for you than one with a label that doesn't make this claim. All vegetable oils are naturally cholesterol free. However, some, such as coconut and palm kernel oil, tend to raise your blood cholesterol levels because they contain highly saturated fats.

Kay Bailey Hutchison Working For Texas

Reducing Government to Strengthen Families and Small Business.

She's voted against higher taxes every time and for the Balanced Budget Amendment. She strongly opposes unnecessary federal regulations that hurt small business.

And she's proposed a new law so homemakers can save with a tax free retirement account, too.

Changing the Way Washington Works.

Kay cut her own Senate office budget 20% — just as she promised last year. Now she's pushed Congress to slash its budget, reduce government overhead by 10%, and trim $50 billion from 50 programs.

Kay's the sponsor of a bill for a national referendum on term limits and will set an example by only seeking two full terms herself.

Now she's determined to make Congress live under the laws it passes for the rest of America.

Protecting Our Freedom.

On the Armed Services Committee, Kay is fighting for a strong defense and defending our Texas military bases that are so critical to national security.

She's committed to protecting private property rights and other constitutionally protected freedoms.

She's pushing for tough crime laws that protect citizens, not criminals.

Already An Effective Leader.

Though we sent Kay Bailey Hutchison to the Senate just last year, she's already making a difference for Texas.

She passed a bill to make the federal government — for the first time — pay for some costs of its failure to protect our Texas border against illegal immigration.

Our choice this year is to keep this effective, new conservative leader who puts Texas first... or replace her with a Clinton-style "New Democrat."

Remind friends to vote in November 8 election

by Secretary of State Ronald Kirk

As we approach the November General Election, I am concerned with the amount of voter apathy and disinterest in the electoral process in the State of Texas. The most fundamental right we have in our democratic system of government is the freedom to vote. That freedom stands as an invitation to take part in a government where the supreme power is vested in the people and exercised by them directly and indirectly at the ballot box. But, only half of the Texas electorate registered to vote take part in the system.

If we are to successfully address the policy issues in this state and nation, we must first address the issues of voter apathy and voter disinterest. We must aggressively and emphatically attack the conveniently and popularly held political fictions that government is not responsive to the people, and that one individual vote does not make a difference in the outcome of an election. I characterize these as political fictions, because we know they simply are not true.

Television has brought us amazing footage from around the world, pictures that prove that the economic and political philosophy of this country - our country - is intellectually, emotionally and spiritually preferred. Ultimately, other countries want what you and I have - a voice in government.

Individuals with practically little or no political portfolio and of modest means have altered the course of history and changed the world in which they lived. It is indisputable that measures such as civil rights, voting rights and equal rights have radically changed the power individuals have to change the community and ultimately the country in which they live. The common denominator in each case was determination to have a voice in their government and consequently a voice in their day to day lives.

You have a voice in government. A government for the people and by the people. Declining to exercise your voice in that system leads to a passive surrender to the status quo. If you find a failing within your government, take a good look at your activity in its process, and when you find a flaw in it address it on the next election day at the ballot box. Your vote is your voice.

Lack of participation is not confined to Texas. It's a national problem. Let your voice be heard at all levels of government. Dwight D. Eisenhower said it best, "There is nothing wrong with America that the faith, love of freedom, intelligence and energy of her citizens cannot cure."

Guardman killed in Military Training accident

An Army National Guardsman from Indiana was killed in a parachuting accident at Camp Robinson, Arkansas, late Friday, October 14, 1994, military authorities reported.

Sergeant Christopher A. Bowden died about 10:30 p.m. Friday during a training exercise, according to a statement from Major General Melvin C. Thrash, adjutant general of the Arkansas National Guard.

Bowden, 25, of Indianapolis, Indiana, was attempting to parachute into a jump zone known as the All-American Drop Zone. He was with about 40 other Indiana Guardsmen participating in a "live-fire" exercise at the base, spokesperson Major Cissy Lashbrook said.

Bowden's unit, the 151st Infantry Detachment (Long Range Surveillance) from Indianapolis, left Indiana aboard a C-130 Hercules from a Wisconsin Air National Guard location Friday.

After a two-hour flight to Camp Robinson, the aircraft circled the drop zone six times, Lashbrook said. Bowden was the jumpmaster on the first three jumps and responsible for the successful exit and landing of his soldiers from the plane. On the fourth pass, Bowden turned over his duties as jumpmaster to another jumpmaster on board the aircraft and exited the plane with a group of parachutists from about 800 feet altitude. When his main parachute failed to open, he attempted to deploy his reserve parachute without success. "He died on the jump," Lashbrook reported, but she refused to be specific. "He was dead at the scene."

Investigators from the U.S. Army Safety Center at Fort Rucker, Alabama, are investigating the incident, she said.

Upon graduating from Lawrence North High School in Indianapolis in 1988, Bowden entered active duty with the U.S. Army serving three years with the 3rd Ranger Battalion, Fort Benning, Georgia. A senior parachutist with over 80 jumps and an Army Ranger, he deployed with his battalion to Panama, Puerto Rico, England, and several training sites in the United States. The rangers were preparing to enter the Gulf War when it ended after 5 days.

Bowden was also a Senior at Indiana University in Bloomington, Indiana, scheduled to graduate in December 1995.

Calling was conducted from 4 to 8 p.m. Tuesday, October 18, 1994, with over 800 friends and fellow students attending. Services were conducted Wednesday, October 19, at Second Presbyterian. Burial services were conducted with full military honors at Crown Hill Cemetery in Indianapolis.

Bowden is survived by his parents, Gerald and Nancy Bowden, and his sister, Elizabeth, all of Indianapolis, and grandparents, Russell and Helen Penick and Sue Bowden, all of Munday.

Memorials may be made to the Munday Cemetery Association for the erection of a flag pole in the cemetery.

We would like to congratulate Munday Nursing Center for 25 years of excellent service to our community

ON BEHALF OF THE TEXAS Boll Weevil Eradication Foundation, Inc., foundation chairman Woody Anderson (seated) of Colorado City, signs a $4.5 million loan agreement with three Production Credit Associations (PCAs). Standing (left to right) are Rick Roach, Wichita Falls PCA president; Ken Smith, Texas PCA president; and Dan Rike, Rolling Plains PCA president.

Production Credit Associations Finance Boll Weevil Eradication

Three Production Credit Associations (PCAs) recently signed a $4.5 million loan agreement with the Texas Boll Weevil Eradication Foundation, Inc. to finance a boll weevil eradication program in the northern Rolling Plains area of Texas.

The financing will allow eradication efforts to begin this fall in nine-county zone, according to Foundation Chairman Woody Anderson. The program is the first cooperative effort to eliminate the devastating boll weevil from Texas cotton fields.

The Production Credit Associations recognize the importance of cotton in the Texas agricultural economy, and we are pleased to participate in such a massive boll weevil eradication effort," said Rolling Plains PCA President Dan Rike.

Funding is being provided by Stamford-based Rolling Plains PCA, Texas PCA, headquartered in San Angelo; and Wichita Falls PCA.

"This partnership with Production Credit is allowing us to be at the forefront of boll weevil eradication," Anderson said, in signing the loan agreement. "Nowhere else in the Cotton Belt have farmers, themselves, taken the lead in financing boll weevil eradication," he noted.

Approximately 200,000 acres of cotton are grown in the southern Rolling Plains. The zone includes the counties of Coke, Coleman, Concho, Irion, McCulloch, Runnels, Scheicher and Tom Green, and a portion of Taylor County.

The Boll Weevil Eradication Program is a cooperative federal-state-grower initiative established by legislation and coordinated on a regional basis. In Texas, the program is coordinated by the Texas Boll Weevil Eradication Foundation, which is composed of producer representatives from each of nine eradication zones in the state.

Cotton producers in the southern Rolling Plains voted last winter to establish a boll weevil eradication zone and to cost-share a weevil eradication plan through an average assess of $10.80 per acre at time of certification, to be collected by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service. The federal government traditionally pays 30 percent of eradication costs and producers pay the remaining 70 percent. The other eight zones have not yet approved eradication plans.

"While we are still counting on federal funding, this PCA loan lets us go forward in the meantime," said Anderson, who farms near Colorado City. Financing from the Production Credit Associations also will allow program costs to be prorated and extended over six years.

Boll weevil eradication generally takes 3-4 years. Eradication efforts have been successful in Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, parts of Alabama, California, Arizona and northwestern New Mexico. Those states have realized increased cotton yields and a 40-80 percent reduction in insecticide use on cotton following eradication.

Production Credit Associations are agricultural lending cooperatives that provide short- and intermediate-term loans to farmers and ranchers. They are part of the nationwide Farm Credit System.

Goree students learn about electrical safety

Employees of B-K Electric presented an entertaining program to Goree students last week in the High School gym.

Aimed at making students aware of the potential dangers of carelessness with electricity, the B-K team gave several demonstrations of the awesome power of a 2000 watt transformer.

The students were reminded of many safety tips when flying kites or being near trees in a thunderstorm.

Jim Novak of Seymour was the speaker with Munday employees Stan Decker and Bill Longan and Seymour employee, Danny Williams providing the demonstrations.

From A Carpenter's Son

Don Whetsell - Pastor
First Methodist Church, Munday - Goree

I'd like to take a little of your time today to talk about a subject that is near to all of us (though not necessarily dear). It affects and influences most all our decisions. It is a hot topic on today's talk shows and there are many conflicting opinions regarding it. Besides anger and love, there is perhaps no other force that drives human beings more than it does. I'm talking about "Guilt".

Webster's dictionary defines the kind of guilt I'm speaking of as: "a painful feeling of self reproach resulting from the belief that one has done something wrong or immoral". Since none of us is perfect, it follows that we all feel guilt at one time or another.

When we do something wrong, and we are conscious of it and aware of it, it pains us. The pain is not usually physical, but instead a mental/emotional anguish, or torment.

Most people would almost prefer physical pain to the pain of guilt, which can be so strong that it has driven people to commit suicide! Guilt can lead to heavy depression and the desire to escape feelings of guilt can lead to all kinds of addictive behavior.

But there is a good side to guilt, just as there is a good side to pain. When I take my index finger and bend it backward with my other hand, there is a point at which the stretching sensation begins to change to pain. It starts to hurt. This warns me that if I continue to bend my finger backwards I will tear ligaments and tendons and possibly even break the bones!

Guilt, in the same way can let us know when we have gone too far in our relationships or in our spiritual lives. It lets us know that we are damaging ourselves, emotionally and spiritually, or at least that is how God designed it to operate.

In the world of humans, guilt has become a worldwide pastime. Everyone tries to see how much of it they can pile on someone else. We almost don't trust people who don't seem to have as much guilt as we do, and so we spend a large amount of time trying to even up the score by making sure everyone has the same level of guilt.

Some people have even given up trying to be free from guilt altogether and instead, they wallow in it. They attempt to take on themselves the guilt of the whole world, as if they were responsible for all the world's problems.

This kind of guilt is usually a smokescreen for the real guilt that we should feel.

One of the hardest lessons to learn in our lives is how to hold ourselves accountable for what we really have done, while at the same time allowing others to be accountable for their own actions. The question we always have to ask ourselves is: "Do I feel bad because I honestly believe I've done wrong or because other people are telling me I'm wrong?"

I'm going to stop here because I'm running out of space. I'll continue this next week as we talk about God's feelings on guilt, and His plan of dealing with it.

Weinert residents assist FCE club in clean up project

The city of Weinert did their part for "Make a Difference Day" on Saturday, October 22. The residents came out to assist the Family and Community Education (FCE) Club clean the two mile stretch on Highway 277 that the club sponsors, as well as cleaning the access roads into town.

The job was started at 8 a.m. and completed by 10:30 a.m. The club members are very grateful for all the help.

The members then went to the school house immediately and busied themselves at putting the Rehab quilt in the frames so they could begin quilting on Monday morning at 9:00. They will be very busy, and hope neighbors will "drop in" for a visit, with a thimble in hand.

Others in town did many personal projects for "Make a Difference Day", such as letter writing, hospital visitation, nursing home visits, etc. Some cleaned city streets, and suggested a city-wide cleanup be planned in the future.

Spanish explorers named the state of California after a treasure island in a popular Spanish tale.

The side of the building is in bad shape and needs repair. If you would like to make a donation so the repairs can be made, please contact Ernesteen Michels at 422-5542.

Principal seeking donations to restore Baby Grand piano

Nothing can compare to the beautiful sound of a piano . . . if it's played by someone who knows what they're doing, that is.

A 1934 Richmond Baby Grand piano has been stored underneath the bleachers in the elementary gym, possibly since the 60's. It was once used by Munday schools during special programs, at graduation, and many other events.

Phil Hall, MHS principal, has come up with the idea of having it restored and placed in the auditorium. The lighting and sound system is being updated in the auditorium, and this grand piano would add a special touch to the renovation.

"This piano was probably used for the first time in 1935. If we could restore it by 1995, we could celebrate its 60 year return," said Mr. Hall.

1934 RICHMOND BABY GRAND PIANO

Will we ever hear those musical melodies from these ivory keys again? . . . maybe so. Your help is needed.

It will cost approximately $3,000 to bring this musical instrument back to life. Mr. Hall will be accepting donations from interested individuals. "With Homecoming activities going on next weekend, we thought it would be a good time to raise funds for this purpose. Perhaps some of the exes will remember this piano during their school days and would like to see it restored," he said. The Baby Grand will be on display throughout the homecoming activities, and a box for donations will be available.

less than a yard.

Munday took over and moved out to the 12 on two runs and a penalty. Another run and a penalty against the Moguls put the ball at the 14. Reagins went for 3 and 12 to the 29 then Gerald Taylor rolled through the line and outran the Wildcats for a 71 yard touchdown run. The kick failed but the Moguls were still on top 27 to 0.

The final score of the game came after receiving a punt at the Munday 39. Two runs for 6 yards went to the 45. Jonathan Reagins then got the ball and broke several tackles then ran down the home side line 55 yards for another Mogul touchdown. The PAT was good and Munday held on to the 34 to 0 win over Crowell.
