Rain brings about some peculiar "puns" sometimes.

The rain, the snow, the sleet that had brought us 2.53 inches of moisture in 1953, up to last Thursday, was most welcomed.

So's this we've received so far this week, but the "puns" have started just like when other rains have come.

Some are that the wheat is going to rust, and the boll worms are going to eat up the cotton. Of course, these are only the aforementioned "puns"—and it goes without saying the moisture is welcomed by everyone.

Like one fellow remarked Monday: "What we need now is a good eight-inch snow, then after it melts and soaks in, we need a good, hard five-inch rain."

Another caller at our office remarked: "Guess you feel that you can pay your income taxes better, now."

Then Arthur Mitchell came into his office at West Texas Utilities Company with a pretty good showing of mud on his shoes, and said: "That's Benjamin mud!"

We said pretty good showing because we're still like we were a few weeks back—the mud on one's shoes doesn't appear an unsightly mess to us, as yet.

An encouraging thing is that the rains are extending over a larger area of the drought-stricken lands. Folks here rejoice with those in the San Angelo area about the nearly five inches reported there during Sunday and Monday.

There's not much left of the old sewer system but the memory.

Before the rains came, they had dozers and other types of machinery out there, breaking the levees to the lagoons and leveling up the land in general.

And with the new plant in operation, and doing a good job of it, the old one has given away to more progress for our town.

Heard quite a few express a favorable remark over the fact that Jeff Williams is going to be the Chamber of Commerce speaker again this year.

The annual banquet set for Thursday night, March 2, and tickets are already on sale.

Some who heard Mr. Williams last year expressed a desire to have him back; others who did not get to attend last year's banquet wanted an opportunity to hear him. So he's coming back.

One thing about it, he's the type of speaker who can come back without his audience getting bored. He's got the wit, the expression, the words and the ability to keep one entertained.

So get your tickets early. You won't go wrong in going to hear Jeff Williams.

People generally comment on how beautiful the wheat looks in this area, and how good present prospects are for a good wheat crop.

A wheat crop is the mainest thing that will go a long way toward compensating for a short crop last year.

Since the Boggs Brothers have purchased the building which formerly housed the Banner Ice Company plant, street talk has been rife about what's going into the building they now occupy.

Various automobile dealerships have been mentioned. But we don't know who's going to occupy it; the Boggs didn't know Munday. The owner, Mr. W. E. McNeill, may know but we don't know that the knows.

Our guess is that most of us will know soon after April 1, which is about the time the Boggs expect to occupy their new quarters.

Rainfall Of .55 This Week Brings Total For This Year To 3.08 Inches

Slow, soaking rains the first of this week again found a hearty welcome by Knox County citizens.

And the most welcomed part of it all is that the rains were fairly general over all of drought-stricken Texas. Precipitation varies in many spots, but most of the state received moisture.

Most favored was the San Angelo area, which had been hard hit by the dry weather for many months. A five-inch rain in this area put millions of gallons of water in Lake Nasworthy, San Angelo's source of water supply, and water restrictions were abolished in that city.

Locally, the moisture measured .55 of an inch, according to H. P. Hill, U. S. weather observer. Other places in the county reported more rain, but it was generally less than .75 in the county.

The moisture came as a further boost to young wheat crops, which, observers says, are looking better at this stage than in many years.

He had been working on the building only a few hours when the accident happened. The building was being torn down by donated labor.

Chamber Of Commerce Banquet Tickets Go On Sale This Week; Date April 2

JEFF WILLIAMS

Worth Gafford, president, announced this week that tickets for the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet are now on sale, and urges all who plan to attend the banquet to secure their tickets as early in advance as possible.

"Since our speaker, Mrs. Jeff Williams, is one of the most widely known philosophers and humorists," Gafford said, "we are expecting a full house out to hear him again this year."

The speaker was brought back this year by popular request. There were many local people, as well as visitors from nearby towns who did not get to hear him at last year's banquet, and still others who were present expressed the desire to hear Mr. Williams again.

Jeff Williams is a confirmed optimist. He has implicit faith in the future and thinks that in the long run everything is going to be all right with us down here. He is a philosopher—"our privileges are vast, our responsibilities are great."

The annual banquet will be held at the school gymnasium on Thursday night, April 2. The time is 8 p. m.

Meanwhile, they are having a sale on p raycaaltc cm gfwjpw sale on pract8lcyalosaraBwDo(t sale on practically all furniture in stock, stating that they are making substantial savings to their customers on this stock. "Instead of us moving it to our new location, we want to move it to your homes at these savings," they said.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

ASHLAND CITY, TENN., TIMES: "Federal Judge Edward J. Dimock offered 13 convicted communist leaders an alternative to going to jail. The man escape jail by going to Russia. It was no surprise that defense counsel promptly rejected the go-to-Russia alternative. Communist leaders are rather inconsistent. They want to change the government in this country and pattern it after Moscow, but the alien country to which they give allegiance has no lure for them."

NEW ORLEANS, LA., HERALD: "Gen. Eisenhower has an unlimited opportunity. It is within his power to remedy the mistakes of the past, to restore respect for constitutional government, to reintroduce morality in the conduct of public business, and to subordinate politics to the interests and welfare of the people."

PETALUMA, CAL., ARGUS-COURIER: ". . . According to a survey of its members just completed by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States . . . businessmen . . . favored reducing waste in military expenses and foreign aid. Other proposed cuts are suggested in such projects as the Tennessee Valley Authority, farm price supports and related programs, and grants-in-aid to the States for social welfare programs."

"BIGNESS" DOESN'T MEAN MONOPOLY

The growth of big business, it is often argued makes for monopoly.

That idea is not held in informed quarters. For example, the Brookings Institution has been working for five years on an exhaustive factual study of the role of big business in this country. In one section its report says, "The nationwide businesses . . . may do more to break up the power of local monopolies than to cement their own."

We see examples of this on every hand. The manufacturers of national brands, for instance, must be represented in every market place—and the result is much greater competition than would otherwise be the case.

A very important example can be found in retailing. A generation or so ago the small-town general store had pretty much of a monopoly. Competitors were few or non-existent. Mark-ups were extremely high compared with present-day standards.

Then the early chains came into being. They pioneered low-cost merchandising, and began to open outlets in more and more communities. Other kinds of retailers had to compete or perish. They did compete—and consumers everywhere received greater value than they ever had before.

In a free country, where government sticks to the role of "umpire", there is plenty of room for business of every size and kind. None has a monopoly of anything—for long.

OFF TO A GOOD START

This is the mechanized age. We see the evidence of that fact everywhere—in our homes and businesses, in the great cities and the small towns. And nowhere has the machine effected a swifter or more dramatic revolution than on the American farm.

Today, it is estimated, our farmers are using more than $12½ billions worth of machinery—tractors, corn pickers, combines, hay balers and so down the long list. These mechanical marvels perform basic farm tasks far more cheaply for more swiftly, and far more efficiently than is possible with human or animal labor. They have been one of the biggest factors in increasing the farm income—and in making it possible for a small percentage of the population to provide ample farm products for all the rest of us, with heavy quantities left over for export to less fortunate lands.

This represents tremendous progress. But it is not the end of the story. In agriculture, the mechanized age is still far from maturity.

An authority on farm management has stated that the average American farmer is actually working for less than one dollar an hour. Commenting on that fact, the president of an organization which markets farm equipment nationally said, "There can be only one explanation for this. It is simply that not enough tools have been provided for the American farmer. Power has not yet been applied to enough of the jobs that make up the complex business of farming. The average farmer still does 60 per cent of his work without benefit of any power other than his own muscles."

The machine has been a boon to agriculture. What is needed now is still more machines, still more mechanization, still greater gains in productivity and efficiency.

ACROSS EVERY STORE COUNTER

One of the largest retailer associations in the country, representing more than 7,000 department, chain and specialty stores recently held its 42nd annual convention. Attending members adopted a resolution which says: "We believe it is imperative that our people and government awake to the full realization that the present future welfare of our national economy is seriously menaced by government waste and extravagance and that all governmental expenditures not essential to the nation's economic health and to the national defense be eliminated."

No one knows better than the retailers the bitter consequences of wasteful government measured in terms of inflation and depreciated money. They must explain it to consumers across every store counter in the nation, because "cheap" money means "high" prices.

Many a flaming heart is disclosed by the flicker of an eyelash.

CHURCHES OF CHRIST SALUTE YOU

What Is the Church of Christ?

Having been led to believe that the Bible is God's Holy Word, inspired by Him (2 Timothy 3:16-17), and having learned from the written word that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of the Living God (John 20:30-31), we are believers in Jesus Christ as the Savior of mankind.

Believing that the Gospel is to be taken just as it is, without addition or subtraction (Rev. 22:18-19), we try to speak as the Bible speaks (Peter 4:11) and not go beyond the written record (1 Cor. 4:6).

We take the New Testament as our sole rule of faith and practice, since the blood of Christ is the blood of the New Testament (Matt. 26:28) and He Himself is its mediator (Heb. 9:15-17).

We try to be Christians and nothing else, since the early disciples were called by that name (Acts 11:26) and Peter, the apostle, bound that name on the followers of Christ (1 Pet. 4:16). We teach that salvation is in a name, for the Bible so states (Acts 4:12).

We plead for the church as Jesus built it, and the New Testament reveals it, since Christ built one church (Eph. 4:4) and only one (1 Cor. 12:20). Hence we exhort men to be members of the Lord's church only, while there is yet life and opportunity (22 Cor. 6:17-18).

To be saved from our sins we have trusted in Christ for salvation, first hearing the Gospel (Mark 12:29) which tells us how that Christ died, was buried, and was raised from the dead (1 Cor. 15:1-2). Being convinced by this testimony, we believe with all of our hearts that Jesus is the Christ (Acts 8:37).

This belief in the goodness of God produced a godly sorrow in our hearts which led to repentance (2 Cor. 7:10) (Romans 2:4).

Repenting of our sins, we confessed with the mouth that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of the Living God (Romans 20:9-10), in order to be saved.

Then having learned that salvation is IN CHRIST (2 Tim. 2:10) and that men must be "baptised into Christ" (Gal. 3:27), we were buried with Christ in baptism (Col. 2:12) for the remission of sins (Acts 2:38).

We were then added by the Lord to the New Testament church (Acts 2:47).

News From The U. S. Congress

Congressman Frank Ikard

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 4—General James A. Van Fleet, who until recently, has commanded the Eighth Army in Korea, in testimony before the House Armed Services Committee here today was high in his praise for the Republic of Korea troops. The General says that they make fine fighting men and that they have a burning desire to fight the forces of Communism for their freedom. He also pointed out how little it takes in the way of food for them to stay in good combat condition. General Van Fleet expressed the idea that he favored the training of additional R. O. K. troops, but he was quick to point out that even though there were enough of them trained to replace all of our men in the line, that it would still be necessary to keep substantial numbers of our men in Korea in reserve and to serve in command positions. From the General's testimony, I gathered that the training facilities in Korea are excellent. I certainly agree with the General's idea that we should train more and more of the Koreans to replace our boys in combat. Linking the Korean War to the world position of the Communists, General Van Fleet stated that the Soviet contribution to the North Koreans was forcing the Russians to take the pressure off of Europe and other critical areas. On the other hand, he felt that the Soviets at the present were not interested in engaging in a world war. He stated that manpower is of little consequence to the Chinese Communists, and loss of supplies and equipment by the Communist forces is felt much more keenly than the loss of troops by them.

The fact that Joseph Stalin is no longer the Dictator of the Russians is the most significant thing that has happened with respect to world affairs in the last few years. It is hard for us, as free people, to realize the position that he has built for himself through the ruthless use of Godless power. Under his direction, the Russians were able to enslave millions of the world's people and to dominate a staggering portion of the earth's surface. The next few months will be anxious ones. No one can predict just what will happen or who will end up in Stalin's place. One thing that we can be reasonably sure of is that our relationship with Russia will probably not improve. It is also extremely doubtful that there will be any sort of uprising within Russia that would overthrow the Communists. Some responsible leaders seem to think that the struggle for power inside Russia might bring about a world war because a new leader, in order to consolidate his position, would seek to show his full strength by accepting all international challenges.

During this session of Congress, there have been introduced 6,495 bills and resolutions. You can readily see that it would be a physical impossibility for each member of Congress to read and investigate the merits of all of these legislative proposals. It is because of this great volume of bills and resolutions that the work of the various committees of Congress is so important for it is the committees that study bills that come within the limits of their jurisdiction and then make reports to the Congress pointing out the merits or demerits of any particular bill. Without these committee reports, members of Congress would be helplessly bogged down in the tremendous volume of legislative business.

Since there are many men in the District who were members of the famous "Lost Battalion" and a great many others who were prisoners of war during World War II, I think it is important to point out that April 9, 1953, is the deadline for filing Prisoner of War Claims and that all ex-prisoners, or if they are deceased, their survivors, who have not yet filed for their compensation for inhumane treatment or forced labor, should do so immediately.

John White, the Commissioner of Agriculture, and Vernon McDaniel, both of Wichita Falls, were in Washington this week.

By JOHN C. WHITE, Commissioner

AGRICULTURAL LAWS OF TEXAS

Farming and ranching serve a vital purpose in the nation today, and the demands made upon them have been great in time of war and peace.

The success of farming, or any kind of business, depends upon proper management. Farms and ranches must not only be properly managed locally, but they must also adhere to and be governed, in part, by laws promulgated by the Texas Department of Agriculture. How well these laws work will determine, to a large extent, the success of these agricultural enterprises.

At various times during the past few years, some discontent has been expressed on various phases of these laws. Since this year is a Legislative year, then it is the logical time to study and remedy certain inadequacies which exist in the law. In some cases, the laws should be more stringent—others should be relaxed, perhaps. But no change should be made which would hamstring the operations of so large an industry as our agriculture. Instead, the laws must provide greater protection, not only for the farmer and rancher, but also for sellers and purchasers of agricultural commodities.

Yet, laws should not be made by one man or any one small group of men without the consent and advice of the persons affected. The Constitution of the United States guarantees people, for the people and this policy should be applied in the state level.

The wishes of those to whom the laws will apply must always be considered before any new legislation is attempted.

In the case of agriculture, the man actually engaged in related farm work is more qualified to make known the needs and to better understand the problems at hand. For this reason, the Texas Department of Agriculture is vitally interested in having their views on new additions or subtractions in present laws. When good workable policies are achieved through efforts of both industry and legislative action, then continued progress in agricultural fields is assured.

Mr. and Mrs. V. M. Lee and son, visited her mother, Mrs. S. E. Robertson, and sister, Mrs. Jimmy Bullington, over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Jarvis were visitors in Newcastle last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Mitchell were business visitors in Dallas the latter part of last week.

Now, They've Electrified Everything!

New applications of electricity to household and farm use have made the business of everyday living continually easier through the years, from such major projects as mass milking operations, to things as simple as toasting a piece of bread. Now they've even electrified the kitchen cabinet itself. A new fixture called a "totalite," which fits in the base of these unusually-styled glass-door "pantryettes," has a two-way fluorescent light, and convenient electrical outlets to plug in the toaster, coffee-maker or electric mixer. The light illuminates both counter-top below, and the interior of the "pantryette."

Texas has had many picturesque outlaws.

Belle Starr, known as the "Bandit Queen," who flourished after the Civil War, lived in Dallas. She was reputed to be the head of a band of horse-thieves and robbers. She would dash through the streets of Dallas on her horse, scattering pedestrians, enter a saloon and, after a drink, try her luck at roulette or poker. She moved to what is now Oklahoma and was shot to death from ambush.

Most famous of Lone Star outlaws was Sam Bass, the "Robin Hood of Texas." He and his band held up a Union Pacific train in Nebraska after a cattle drive to Deadwood and obtained $60,000 in gold.

Back in Texas, Sam spent the money freely. He and his men held up four trains within two months in a radius of twenty-five miles of Dallas. He planned a final coup—the holdup of the bank at Round Rock and then fleeing to Mexico; but a member of his gang tipped off the Texas Rangers and there was a gun battle in which an officer and one of Sam's men were killed. Sam was mortally wounded.

The betrayer lived in fear of his life and died in great agony from poison. Bass' memory is preserved by legends and a song.

In modern times, the most notorious among those who defied the law were Clyde Barrow and his "cigar-smoking moll." Many killings were credited to Barrow before they met death themselves in a burst of gunfire along a country road.

A man who bore the religious-sounding name of John Wesley Hardin killed more men than any other sixgun expert in Texas' history. Deceptively boyish-looking, Wes Hardin was not recognized by "Wild Bill" Hickok, the Kansas cattle town marshal, and Hardin got the drop on him by use of the "border roll." Hickok laughter it off and they had a drink together.

Hardin was sentenced to prison for murder in Texas, studied

Kulhanek-Redder Marriage Rites

Read February 10

In an impressive ceremony in St. Joseph's Church in Rhineland on February 10 at nine o'clock mass, Miss Gertrude Redder, daughter of Mrs. Angela Redder of Rhineland, and George A. Kulhanek, son of Mr. and Mrs. Antone J. Kulhanek of Megargel, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony. Officiating at the double ring ceremony was Rev. Herman Redder of Gainesville, uncle of the bride. Rev. Fabian Diersing of Rhineland assisted at the marriage, and Rev. Theo Francis of Seymour was also present.

The altar was beautifully decorated with large bouquets of pink gladioluses and greenery.

The organist, Mrs. Lena Albus, played the wedding march and was assisted by the choir in singing the Holy Mass. The choir also sang the beautiful "Ave Maria" at the offertory.

The bride wore a lovely gown of white bridal satin and chantilly lace. The fitted satin bodice was fashioned with a scalloped neckline and a yoke and collar of chantilly lace. The long sleeves were tapered to points at the wrists, and the waistline accentuated the very full skirt of satin. The fingertip veil of sheer illusion fell from a tiara of pearlized orange blossoms. She carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations with long satin streamers, also a pearlized bound prayer book, a gift of her uncle, Rev. Herman Redder, and a beautiful crystal and sterling rosary, a gift from the groom's mother.

Serving as maid of honor was Miss Geneva Redder of Rhineland, cousin of the bride. Bridesmaid was Miss Edith Kulhanek of Seymour, sister of the groom. Both wore gowns of turquoise blue satin and lace, fashioned identically to the bride's gown. They wore small fitted hats of blue lace over satin, and carried colonial bouquets of pink carnations and pink gladioluses with long satin streamers.

Best man was Albert Gerick of Cameron, cousin of the groom. Groomsman was Raymond Red-der of Rhineland, brother of the bride. Ushers were Jesse Hajeck, of Seymour and Albert Fetsch of Rhineland. Servers at the mass were Alois Schumacher and Jimmie Fetsch of Rhineland and Jimmie Pechacek of Magargel.

Following the ceremony, breakfast was served at the bride's home for the wedding party and priests. In the afternoon a reception was held for the many relatives of the couple.

The bride's table was beautifully decorated with a lace tablecloth and was centered with a fur-tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom. A bouquet of pink gladioluses was placed on each end of the table.

Following the reception, the couple left for a honeymoon to interesting points in South Texas. For traveling the bride chose a mauve suit with white and navy accessories and wore a corsage of white carnations.

The bride attended Rhineland schools, and the groom is a graduate of Megargel high school and attended St. Edwards University in Austin. He was inducted into the army, serving for 21 months, with 10 months service in Korea. He received his discharge in November, 1952, and is now engaged in farming. The couple plan to reside at Megargel.

Guests were present from Seymour, Megargel, Wichita Falls, Fort Worth, Cameron and Gainesville.

Pioneer Woman Of Haskell Dies At Fort Worth

Mrs. Elizabeth Phillips died at her home in Fort Worth at 3 p. m. Monday, March 2. Born at Waldo, Ark., on February 7, 1862, she was 91 years and 23 days of age.

Although Mrs. Phillips had been a semi-invalid since breaking her hip in a fall in 1935, she had been seriously ill only a few days. Converted at the age of 14, she had never been known to express a doubt as to her salvation, and was a member of Broadway Baptist Church.

She was the widow of W. P. Phillips, Haskell County farmer, stockman, merchant and ginner at Ample, and ginner in Johnson County. He preceded her in death in 1933.

Mr. and Mrs. Phillips moved from Arkansas to West Texas in 1893, locating in Stephens County. They moved to Haskell County in February, 1894, where they bought land. She was appointed postmistress of Ample in 1895, which office she held until discontinuance of the office when a rural delivery route was established.

Mr. and Mrs. Phillips also kept what was called the "Half-Way House," where the mail hacks from Seymour and Haskell met, and Mrs. Phillips furnished noon meals for the passengers.

They moved to the lower Rio Grande Valley in 1912, then to Johnson County, and after the death of Mr. Phillips, she moved to Fort Worth, where she and her daughter, Faye, made their home. On her birthday, February 7, all her children were present for the dinner at her home. One daughter, Mrs. Grossman, could not attend the funeral.

Survivors are for daughters, Mrs. Odessa Couch, Austin; Mrs. Walter Patton of near Weirnet, Mrs. Joe Grossman of Asbury Park, N. J., and Miss Faye Phillips, Fort Worth; a son, S. L. Phillips of Denton; two sisters, Mrs. Ida Stringer, Waldo, Ark., and Mrs. E. A. Flaherty of Texarkana; one brother, John Rhea of Waldo, Ark.; 14 grandchildren, 18 great grandchildren and one great-great grandson. Two daughters, Mollie and Mrs. B. C. Moore, preceded her in death.

Funeral services were conducted at Fleming Chapel, Broadway Baptist Church in Fort Worth at 11:30 a. m. Wednesday, March 4, with Dr. Franklin Segler, assistant pastor, officiating. Burial was in Laurel Land Cemetery.

Pallbearers were grandsons, Rhea and Phil Couch, Gordon Phillips, Rufus Land, and Jack and Floyd Patton.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Baker of Dallas spent Saturday and Sunday with his mother, Mrs. P. B. Baker.

Veteran Entomologist Appointed To High Post With Agriculture Department

K. P. Ewing, veteran entomologist, whose work with the cotton farmers on insect control has meant the difference between success and failure, has been appointed to a high post with the United States Department of Agriculture in Washington. Ewing has been chosen to head the division of insects affecting cotton and other fiber plants. Ewing has been a research entomologist with the Department for more than 32 years. For the past year he has concentrated his efforts on a study of ways to bring under control the pink boll worm, now considered one of cotton, most dangerous pests.

For several years Ewing has devoted much time to training extension service workers, veteran agricultural teachers and Farmers Home Administration county supervisors. He has been particularly interested in the welfare of the family-type farmer.

Becoming associated with the USDA in 1920 Ewing immediately took high rank as an administrator and a scientist, and has made many contributions to the yield and quality of cotton through the development of better insect control.

A graduate of Mississippi

K. P. EWING

State College, he took an important part in research that proved sulphur to be an effective control for the destructive cotton flea-hopper, and he was the first to show that arsenicals could be used to control certain insects, the tarnished plant bug, and other insects that feed on plant juices.

From 1939 until his recent elevation to the Washington post, Mr. Ewing was in charge of a cotton research laboratory at Waco. There he and his staff pioneered in discovering the value and use of many of the new synthetic insecticides, which are widely used throughout the cotton growing states today. In recognition of his work the USDA in 1949 awarded him the Superior Service Award.

The Progressive Farmer in 1950, named Mr. Ewing "Man of the Year" for outstanding service to Agriculture; and the Cotton Gin and Oil Mill Press dedicated its 1951 cotton issue to him for his work on early season and community-wide insect control. The editor in dedicating the issue dubbed Ewing "Mr. Insect Control", a sobriquet that those who know of his work, say was well applied.

While Mr. Ewing's outstanding accomplishments included leadership in actual on-the-ground warfare against cotton insects, he is also distinguished as an author of various bulletins in which insect control is given scientific treatment as to use

All the Way From Private to General

Austin, Tex. —Governor Allan Shivers has named Col. James E. Taylor of Kerens and Austin, present division chief of staff, to succeed General A. B. Crowther of San Antonio as 36th Division Artillery Commander with the rank of brigadier general.

General Taylor, a former senator and now executive director of Texas Motor Transportation Association, enlisted as a private in Battery E., 132nd Field Artillery at Kerens in 1938. He was commissioned in 1939 and in 1943 had risen to command the 131st Field Artillery Battalion, with which he served throughout the Italian campaign and in the campaign of Southern France.

When the division was reorganized after the war, he became division artillery executive officer, serving until his appointment as chief of staff. He holds the Silver Star medal awarded after the Salerno landing and the Bronze Star and the French Croix de Guerre for action in the Southern France campaign.

Educated at Baylor University, General Taylor was in the lumber business for five years and was a newspaper publisher at Kerens for eight years. He served as a member of the Texas House of Representatives for two terms before entering the Army in World War II and was elected to the Senate while still serving with the 36th Division in France in 1944. Returning to the U. S. in January, 1945, he served three sessions as a Senator.

Letters From The People

Mr. Aaron Edgar, Editor The Munday Times Munday, Texas Dear Mr. Edgar:

How is everyone in Munday and yourself? I guess you heard that I was transferred over here about four months ago. I am presently stationed in the Army Headquarters for Japan, Korea and Okinawa. I am in charge of the Adjutant General's files on all the boys over here and also those who have been over here in the last two years (about two million, I guess). As you can see it would be pretty hard for me to look through them and pick out the fellows from Munday, unless I was looking and practices designed to combat effectually cotton insect pests of every kind."

for someone specifically.

It isn't too much trouble, I wish you would publish the fact that I would like to look up any of the boys from the Munday area I used to know to renew old acquaintances or those I did not know and make acquaintances.

In view of my experience in the Army (over seven years), in as many branches) in several Army Headquarters and the Pentagon, it would be a pleasure to help them if they have any problems, if I can.

Thanks very much for your trouble.

Sincerely,
Dick Whitworth.

Life-size Wood Carving of Last Supper

Courtesy Christian Science Monitor

BOSTON, MASS.—All the specialized skills of some of the finest craftsmen of New England have been combined to create this life-size copy in wood of the famous painting "The Last Supper" by Leonardo da Vinci.

More than a year was used in preparing the great carving—18½ feet long and 8½ feet wide. The figures, of limewood, are delicately tinted to give a feeling of lifelike reality, and a giant frame of contrasting walnut gives it depth. The carving will be the point of central interest in The Upper Room chapel, now nearing completion in Nashville. It is expected that visitors who view the carving will be moved to spend a few moments in prayer and meditation in keeping with the purpose of The Upper Room—a devotional guide issued in 17 languages and used round the world. The chapel itself is part of the new headquarters building for The Upper Room, the world's most widely used devotional guide. It is believed that it will become a devotional shrine and point of interest for visitors of the Midsouth.

The picture shows W. D. Irving, of Irving and Casson, New York and Boston, who have produced wood carvings for some of America's greatest churches and cathedrals. The wood carving was done from a model created by Earnest Pelligrini.

We Accept The Challenge

In last week's paper, we and all other tractor dealers who sold tractors within a certain price range, were challenged in the field. Of course, we accept the challenge. We are happy to do so.

We want the public to know that our Golden Jubilee Ford tractor is not only within the $500 price range mentioned by the challenger, but is $100 cheaper. But maybe we will qualify. At least we hope so.

You will find in the Golden Jubilee Ford much more than power. You will find....

- ★ Most advanced hydraulic system in any tractor.
- ★ Extra power in Ford's great new "Red Tiger" engine.
- ★ A bigger, heavier, stronger tractor.
- ★ New live-power take off.
- ★ A new high in comfort, convenience and safety.
- ★ And a low Ford price!

We have been challenged, and we are ready at any time the challenger names the place and sets the time.

LET'S TALK
LIVESTOCK
BY TED GOULDY

FORT WORTH—The sheep trade and the sheep country shared the limelight at Fort Worth Monday. Milk fat lambs were strong to 50 cents higher and topped at $23, a new high for this year's crop of genuine Spring lambs. Top for old crop woolled fat lambs was provided by the FFA and 4-H Club youths of Cottle and King counties who brought their lambs to Fort Worth and sold them at $22. This was the first experiment in feeding lambs for these youngsters.

The sheep country, major portions of it, got the best rains in a long, long time, and jubilant sheep men in those areas had hopes for green feed in the near future. Grain farmers in the area would make grain, and the possibility of some early grass and weeds that would make fat Spring lambs was enhanced. Numerous points reported three to five inches and more, enough to soak the ground and put out stock water.

Salesmen on the Fort Worth market expressed the view that a very good market for fat lambs in the last two weeks of March for the Easter trade loomed. Greek Easter dates coincide with Easter this year. Last year some forty to fifty lb. lambs topped at $40 here for the Greek trade. While that figure is not in the cards this year, Fort Worth salesmen would not be surprised to see some prices well in excess of current lamb prices.

Cattle news was depressing gain. Numerous shipments of X-Disease cattle appeared and it was reported that the cattle poisoning might be much more widespread than originally feared. Heavy runs of cattle appeared all over the country again Monday and prices were uneven and tending lower. Hogs were largely steady at Fort Worth and topped here at $21.50 and $21.75. Sows $16.50 to $19.

Good and choice milk lambs $22 to $23; good and choice woolled lambs $21 to $22. Stocker and feeder lambs at $16 to $20. Yearlings and two's $17.50 down; aged wethers $8 to $12; old ewes $7 to $10. Old bucks $7 to $8.

Good and choice fed steers and yearlings $18 to $22, the Cottle-King County calves at $22, one at $24. Common, plain and medium butcher steers and yearlings $12 to $18. Fat cows $13.50 to $15. Canners and cutters $10 to $13.50. Bulls drew $10 to $17.50. Good and choice fat calves $18 to $22; common and medium grade $12 to $18 and culls $10 to $13.

J. F. McAfee was transferred Tuesday from the Clinic Hospital in Wichita Falls to the Knox County Hospital in Knox City, following an operation on his broken hip. Mr. McAfee is reported to be doing nicely.

Dee Clough, who has been working in Slaton the past several weeks, visited home over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Phillips of Dallas visited relatives and friends here and at Goree over the week end.

Mrs. Clara Nabors of Albany arrived Sunday for an extended visit here with her brother, J. M. Terry.

Pvt. W. E. Stovall, Jr., of Camp Dix, N. J., arrived Monday night to spend his ten day furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Stovall, Sr., and other relatives and friends.

In a way, every day is tax day, because of hidden taxes on everyday purchases.

For instance, if you are a family of three with an income of $3,500 a year, you pay almost three times as much in other taxes (most of them hidden) as in income tax!

Now, we all know taxes are necessary. (This company pays out in taxes 23% of all the money it collects from the sale of electric service.)

But in return, all of us should see to it that our government spends our tax dollars carefully. And it should never spend taxes for those things that people and businesses can do for themselves.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Glad The President Decided To Keep His Farm, Even If It Isn't Paying Off

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek is off on topics he doesn't know much about again this week, which is customary with him.

Dear editor:
Last week in my letter to you I was talking about the school teachers' problem, how there was a shortage of teachers in Texas due to the fact the profession apparently has been under-paid and is failing to attract enough young people, all the smart ones want to go into something that pays better, and how a lot of people believe the solution is to give the teachers an increase in pay.

This may be right, but I'm afraid the request comes anywhere from fifteen to thirty years too late to help the present adult population.

You can look around you now and see what this country needed thirty years ago, add or subtract a few years, was an increase in teachers' pay in order to attract a lot better class of teachers, that is, judging by the amount of education you and me and lot of others I could name absorbed.

The argument for more teachers and better teachers and more money to attract em is pretty plain, when you examine the state of a lot of grown people's education. I ain't sayin if they'd paid my teachers more money they'd had any better luck with me, but I reckon I'm gettin close to sayin it.

It I didn't start out to discuss the teachers' problems, what I started out to say is everybody has problems. For example, before he had any notion of running for President, Eisenhower bought a farm in Pennsylvania and the newspapers and the were full of high plans about it. He and a partner were goin to

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by Dr. Geo. W. Cox, M. D., State Health Officer of Texas

The word which runs through the State Department of Health these days is this:

"Give the Parent-Teacher Association anything they want. They're helping every kid in Texas."

That's the way State Health Officer George W. Cox welcomed 400,000 new allies in the Department's campaign to establish tooth-saving fluoridation programs in all Texas communities.

Members of the Texas P.T.A.—all 401,541 of them—have pledged themselves to work for adoption of fluoridation in all areas where natural fluoridation content of the community water is below the level of 1 part per million parts of water as is recommended by practically every reputable health organization in the country.

Following the lead of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers which adopted a pro-fluoridation resolution in their convention just concluded in Chicago, a spokesman for the Texas organization said the entire membership is being urged to actively campaign for the measure which will mean fewer decayed teeth for our children."

Twelve cities are already conducting carefully controlled programs of water treatment against insidious tooth decay. If the P.T.A. is successful in its promotion project, many other cities will be undertaking similar programs.

And future children of any community where water is treated in the proper ratio will be better off than children in other communities whose leaders have shorter vision.

Long years of study show that children who use fluoride-treated water have 60 to 65 per cent fewer decayed teeth than children who are denied the benefits of such water.

This, says Dr. Cox, is why the health agency is giving unqualified approval to fluoridation, and why he enthusiastically welcomes the support of P.T.A.

A Difficult "Situation"

Did you see that "Classified Ad" last week? The one that wanted a farmhand who had to be "an expert agriculturist, sheep herder, tractor driver, bridge player," plus being "an authority on chemistry and mathematics"?

Slim Thomas, who ran that ad more or less as a joke, called and said, "I got 23 answers and almost every one claimed they could meet all those qualifications! That means I want to keep the man I have—'Handy' Peters."

"He was thinking of quitting but now I've got to talk him into staying. Handy never pretends to be an expert, he's just a good all-around hired hand."

From where I sit, Slim's smart to be wary of people who consider themselves to be all-around "experts." Some folks will "expert" on anything—from the clothes a man should wear to whether he ought to drink beer or buttermilk. Personally I don't want to "classify" myself as knowing all the right answers.

operate it and split the profits fifty fifty.

Well, the other day I noticed in a newspaper that up to now there haven't been any profits to split and that President Eisenhower has decided he hasn't got time to be President and look after a farm too.

I know what he means. Running a farm is a full-time job and the day never was made with enough hours in it to run a from the Presidency, too.

But I notice Eisenhower is holdin on to the place, and I'm glad of it. Just because a farm don't show any profit is no reason for sellin it. If it was, the real estate people in this country would get rich on commissions.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.
