Odd Bits Salvaged
By The Editor

Christmas is a time when we wonder what became of our savings—or why we haven't any!

It's a time, maybe, when we should reflect upon why we haven't laid aside a small amount systematically and periodically.

And an investment in our government is a pretty substantial way of doing this. Buy U. S. Savings Bonds.

In this big world of ours, the number of people who can buy U. S. Savings Bonds is very small indeed. Only Americans have the privilege — just one person in each 17 of the world's population.

In case you've never considered it a privilege before, talk to a few of the other 16. The ones who've literally climbed walls and swum rivers to find some of the benefits Bond dollars help protect for us.

In spite of their "restricted" sales—to just one person out of 17—U. S. Savings Bonds happen to be the most widely held security in the world. Exercise your privilege to buy Bonds soon. See if you don't feel pretty good about it.

They don't make bad Christmas gifts, either! They're a lot better than something that may be discarded in a week or two.

Right now, Knox County is somewhat short of its 1963 quota of Savings Bonds. It's been quite a few years since the people of Knox County have failed to "go over the top" in this respect, and those in charge of Bond sales have been made to feel proud of Knox County citizens when the county is cited out as one of the few in the 13-county district to meet its quota.

The last report received by this newspaper—which included sale through October—we had achieved slightly more than 80 per cent of the 1963 goal. And not many bonds were sold locally in November, according to official reports.

We have just about 10 days to meet this quota. Let's go over again, as we have many years in the past.

Noticed recently where Baylor County was the first in the Wichita Falls district to raise the 1963 quota. Baylor and Knox generally go along pretty close together in this respect.

Christmas time, too, is time to consider Christmas for the needy in this area—and that's what the local fireboys try to do each year in sponsoring the Goodfellow movement.

Whether or not this will be a happy occasion to some families in the Munday area will depend to a great extent upon the thoughtfulness and generosity of those of us who care.

Adversity comes to many people during the year, but at the Christmas season—the season of good cheer, goodwill, good neighbors, etc.—is a time to make a slight contribution to those who have experienced adversity.

No matter how good the times, there are always some families that are unable to provide those little extras that are associated with the Christmas season. Those "extras" can be provided by our firemen if they receive the support they should.

Contributions of money have been received, though far short of the amount needed. Church and civic organizations are doing their part, and the goodfellow boxes are out in many stores of the town to receive those nickels, dimes and quarters of those who can't or don't care to give larger amounts.

Every see a little child's eyes light up when something completely unexpected is presented him (or her) at Christmas? You can have a part in this "Christmas lighting" by giving to the goodfellow fund before it's too late.

Firemen get nothing out of this drive, except the joy and contentment of having brought a little happiness to the less fortunate at Christmas. Let's help them in this worthy movement. There's only a few days left!

Earl C. Stoker, Area Resident, Buried At Goree

Officers For County Council Are Installed

The annual Christmas luncheon of the Knox County Home Demonstration Council was held recently in the courthouse at Benjamin.

Mrs. R. M. Almanrode, chairman, installed the following officers who will serve during 1964: Mrs. A. L. Cook, chairman; Mrs. Roy Petty, vice chairman; Mrs. Marion Chowning, secretary; Mrs. W. M. Dodd, treasurer.

Presiding during the afternoon program was Mrs. Gill Wyatt, recreation chairman. Carols were led by Mrs. Almanrode and Mrs. W. T. Cook. Mrs. Chowning told a Christmas story and games were played before the exchange of gifts.

During the business meeting before noon, the new yearbooks were distributed to all club members. Plans were made for the next meeting which will be held at 1:30 p.m. on January 3. Council committees are to meet that morning at 10 o'clock.

LACKLAND AFB, Texas—Airman John P. Sousa, above, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Dennington of Knox City, is being reassigned to Amarillo AFB, for technical training as a United States Air Force aircraft maintenance specialist.

Airman Sousa, who enlisted in the Air Force a short time ago, has completed his initial basic military training here.

The airman is a former student at Benjamin High School.

Patients Moved Into New Scott And White Hospital

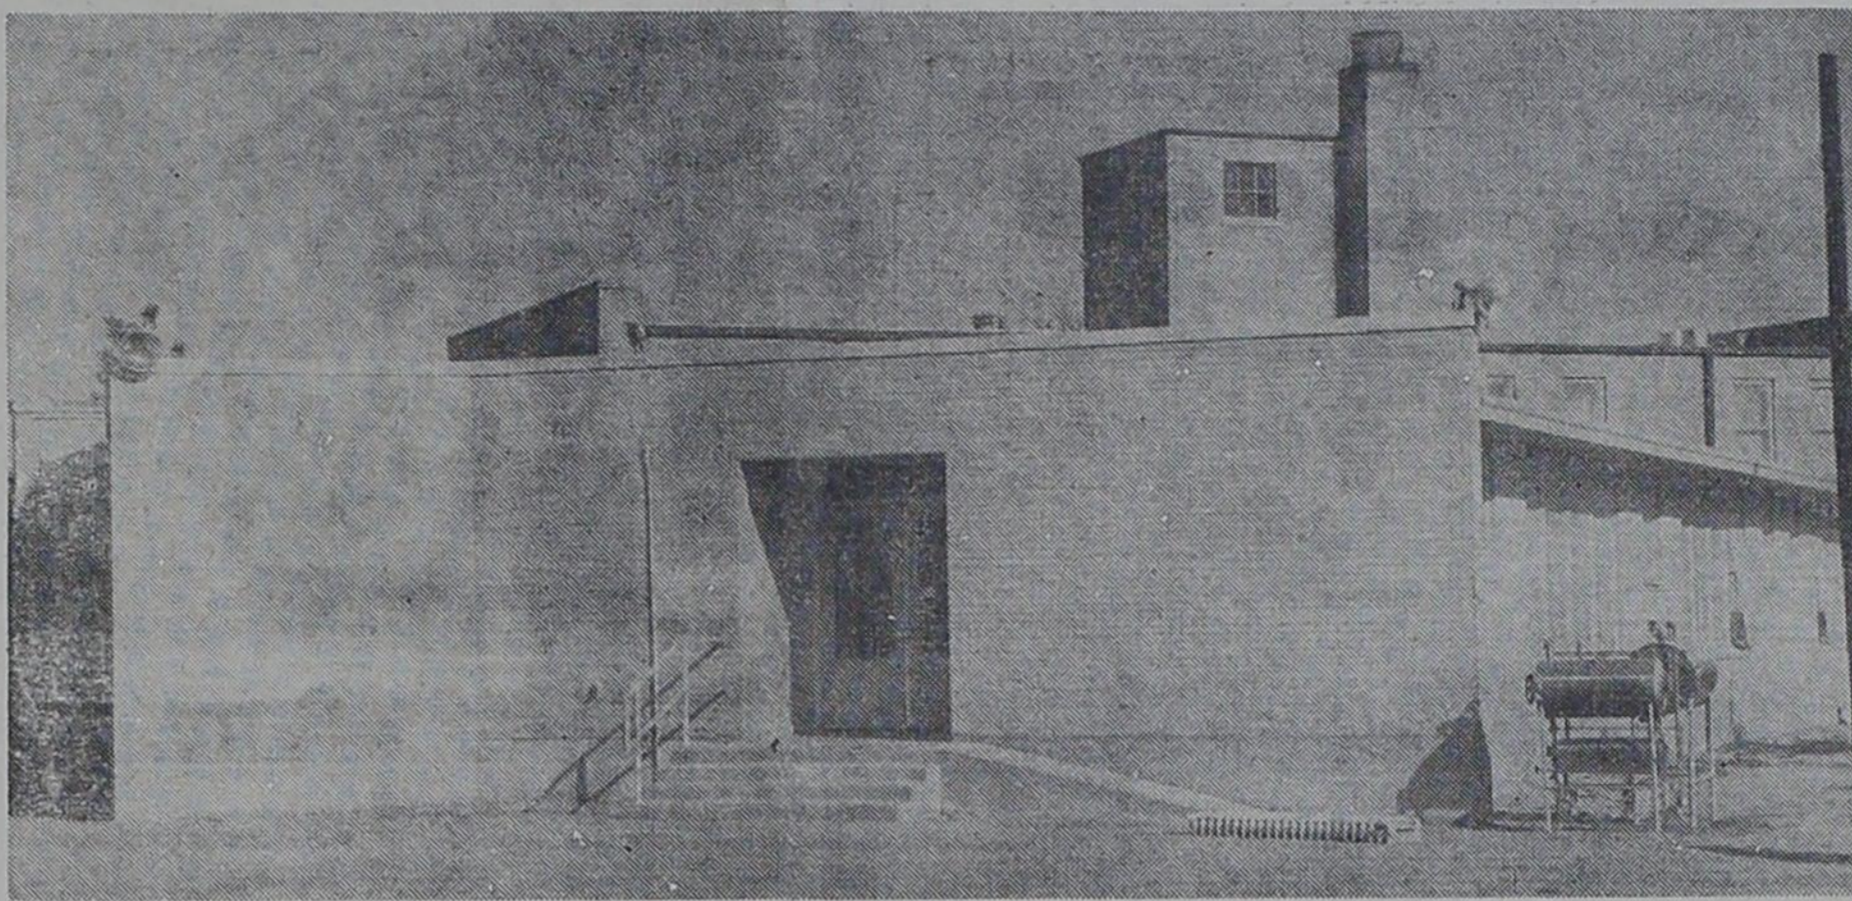

Scott and White Memorial Hospital in Temple cared for its patients in a new $9.3 million building on Monday, December 15, as all went along smoothly on this moving day.

The 74 patients were served a pre-dawn breakfast in the 60-year-old former building near downtown Temple. At 7 a.m. the move started to the new seven-story structure on the south edge of town.

By 10:15 a.m. all patients were in the new building, and before noon two babies had been born and four new patients had been checked in.

The new Scott and White building is the first clinic and hospital building to be built at the same time.

Students Attend Nuclear Symposium

Ten students of Munday High School attended an all-day nuclear science symposium at McMurry College in Abilene on Wednesday, December 4. They are: Gary Cluck, Edwin Wilde, Paul Reed, Charles Patterson, Kenneth Smith, Clifford Rhoads, Dickie Patterson, Jackie Booe, Dewey Myers and Ricky Smith, along with Mr. Tidwell, physics teacher and sponsor.

They left Munday at 7 a.m. in order to be at the college at 8:30. They had lectures all day, and went through the McMurry science buildings at noon.

Clyde Carman, representative of West Texas Utilities Co., sponsors of the program, said the lecturers termed the 450 students "a very sophisticated group." The speakers were:

Dr. Harold P. Hanson, chairman of the physics department of Texas University, who spoke on "Fundamental Particles;" Dr. William E. Drummond, theoretical physicist, general atomic division of General Dynamics Corp., whose subject was "Controlled Thermonuclear Reactions;" Dr. W. T. Guy, University of Texas Department of Mathematics, who spoke on "Mathematics and Physics," and Dr. B. H. Anstead, associate dean, college of engineering, University of Texas, whose subject was "Engineering for the Nuclear Age."

A question and answer period followed each lecture. Mr. Carman said the lecturers considered the questions of an exceptionally high level.

Munday Student Is Expert Marksman

College Station — Richard B. Partridge, Box 133, Munday, is among the 41 Texas A&M University freshmen in the Army Reserve Officer Training Corps who scored highest in ROTC marksmanship training. Col. Denzil L. Baker, commandant and professor of military science, announced Tuesday.

"Each of these top marksmen deserves recognition," Col. Baker said.

Each scored 85 points or more out of a possible 100 points in firing 22 caliber rifles to qualify easily as expert marksmen.

Infant's Graveside Rites Held Saturday

Graveside rites for Wesley Eldon Bowman, 15-hour-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Bowman, were held Saturday, December 14, in Seminole.

He is survived by two sisters, Donna and Lynn, and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Buck Jackson of Yoncalla, Ore., and Mr. and Mrs. D. Bowman of Seminole.

The new addition to the Knox County Hospital is now nearing completion, with only a few minor details remaining to be done.

Open house and dedication of the new wing is set for January 12, 1964, from 2 to 5 p.m. The public is invited to view the new nine-room addition with its waiting room, medicine room, offices and storage facilities.

Visitors will also be shown the newly decorated older part of the hospital, which has newly added baths, modern stainless steel equipped kitchen and cafeteria, piped-in oxygen and an intercommunications system. The operating room and adjoining work areas have been enlarged and remodeled, and a new elevator has been installed.

The dedication ceremony is tentatively set for 1:30 p.m. on the hospital grounds. The new addition will be known as the Frizzell-Elland Memorial Wing.

Contract was let last March to T. E. Shelbourne and Sons of Snyder for the new addition and to redecorate the existing buildings.

The original hospital building was built in 1926. A wing was added on the east connection with the nurses' home and one on the west as a memorial to Dr. T. S. Edwards, who had a private hospital here before the county hospital was built.

The new nine-patient-room addition to the south has, in addition to the patient rooms, a waiting room, medicine room, office and storage facilities.

The older part of the hospital has had a number of baths added, giving each patient room a semi-private bath. The kitchen has been enlarged and furnished with stainless steel equipment. A cafeteria adjoins the kitchen. The main operating room has been enlarged and a new elevator installed.

Miss Beulah Sanders is administrator of the 45-bed hospital.

Injured Boys In Need Of Clothes

Last September 11, Christobel Hernandez, age 12, and his brother, Lorenzo Hernandez, age 13, were riding in the back of a pickup truck driven by Juan Lopez, near Benjamin, when it was rammed in the rear by a truck filled with maize, knocking the boys clear of the vehicle and breaking their legs and arms. They also received cuts on their faces and bodies.

They were brought to the Knox County Hospital, where they have been since. By the skill of the doctors and nurses, the boys are expected to be released in about two weeks. They have no parents and have been living with and uncle in Raymondville.

If you have a little Christmas cheer to spare won't you remember these two boys with a gift? They will need clothes when they are released from the hospital. They have been to the third and fifth grades grades in school.

Growers Urged To Divert Feed Acres

The 1964 feed grain program can furnish the answer to some farm operators' questions about what to do with their land next year, according to O. E. Moore, chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and County Committee.

If the farm has a feed grain base, the farm operator will be eligible to participate in the 1964 feed grain program, thus earning diversion payments by keeping land out of unneeded feed grain production and shifting it to conservation uses.

"We're encouraging feed grain farmers to look into the advantages to be gained by taking part in the 1964 feed grain program," the Chairman declared. "There are definite advantages to farm owners and operators in putting crop acres into conserving uses under the feed grain program instead of turning out crop production which only results in building up extra supplies.

"We've made good progress in the past few years in trying to cut back production of the feed grains so that our stocks will be in better balance with demand, but we're not in the clear yet. That's why Congress authorized continuation of the feed grain diversion program for 1964 and 1965.

"While the signup will not be held until early next year, the main provisions of the 1964 program have already been announced. A farm operator can participate by diverting from 20 to 50 per cent of his farm's feed grain base, with higher rates of payment for diversion greater than the minimum. And of course eligibility for price support on corn, grain sorghum, and barley depends on participation in the feed grain program."

Chairman Moore suggests that farmers become fully familiar with advantages of the 1964 feed grain program before completing their crop plans for next year.

Stores To Close December 25-26

People of this area are reminded that Munday merchants will close their stores for two days—Wednesday and Thursday, December 25 and 26—for Christmas.

This is the custom followed by local merchants for several years, thus giving their employees an extra holiday for the Christmas season. They will be open again on Friday, December 27.

When making their purchases for Christmas, local people are urged to anticipate their needs for this extra holiday.

WITH A FULL HEART

Now another President has died at the hands of an assassin. He thus joins, after many years, the tragic trinity of Lincoln, Garfield and McKinley.

What can be said of the mentality that finds its virtue and necessity in government by violence? There is no good answer. And the problem it presents is not new. But it is also true that we live in a world in which violence has become, so to speak, a way of life. We have seen it almost everywhere—in the communist nations, in Latin America, in Asia. We saw it, a few days before John Kennedy was killed, in Vietnam, where the dethroned men of power were brutally slaughtered.

This is not an easy thing to write about, or to think about. All of us, whether or not we agreed with what the late president did and stood for, can offer, from full and grievous hearts, our profound regrets. We feel deep compassion for his wife, who was with him during that dreadful moment, and for his family. And we feel a sadness that in this state of civilization such a thing could occur. The human hand, it seems, has reached a far higher degree of development than has the human heart. And this may be the ultimate world tragedy.

The problems—world problems—created by the President's death are enormous. The mere transference of the reins of power from one man to another is a matter of the utmost complexity. But it will be done; the nation will stand and go forward as it always has. And the nation, in its sorrow, may think and reflect once more on the moral values which transcend all others.

And finally, out of that same full heart, the nation prays that the new President may have that strength and wisdom which is so sorely needed.

"GOVERNMENT IS LIKE FIRE"

Traditional, historical liberalism was based on a doctrine which was profound and simple at the same time. The founders of this nation all subscribed to it, wholeheartedly and without reservation. It lay in the knowledge that all-embracing government is the enemy of human freedom. George Washington expressed that idea vividly in these words: "Government is like fire, a dangerous servant and a fearful master."

But now, as Captain Eddie Rickenbacker said in a recent speech, ". . . by some queer twist of language, the modern socialistic liberals are those who ceaselessly strive to pile up more and more power of government in Washington. Bureaucrats from Washington swoop like vultures over cities large and small to infest and assault the countryside. Federal regulations, decrees, reports and questionnaires find their way into every business office, every home, every school, and every church in the land."

Strong words? Indeed they are—and they are totally justified. Liberalism is an honorable word. But it is defamed by those who would extend, apparently without limit, the power of giant bureaucracies over the rights and freedoms of the people.

PROFIT MUST EXCEED RISK

An oil well has long been a symbol of vast wealth. And it is true, of course, that some wells are enormously profitable, to the abiding benefit and pleasure of their owners. But that is not true, by a long shot, of all wells. The majority of them—and in wildcatting it is a heavy majority—either turn out dry and worthless, or produce oil in too small a quantity to be commercially worthwhile. This is one of the hazards of the business.

Beyond that, the costs involved in the oil business—and costs are a measure of risks—are king-sized and then some. In a recent and typical year, the American Petroleum Institute reports, the cost of finding, developing and producing oil and natural gas in the United States totaled $6 billion and 593 million. This was before any provision was made for federal, state and local income taxes, payments of interest or principal on debt capital, or payments to owners as a return on their investment in the business.

What is the motive that makes such vast expenditures possible? It is, primarily, the hope of profit—returns commensurate with the risks. This is true of every field of productive enterprise. If that motive is ever eliminated, this nation's material well-being, and the living standards it has created, will become history.

SIGNIFICANT ADVANCES

There have been significant advances in three areas of medical education vital to the future quality of medical service in this country. That encouraging report comes from the American Medical Association's Council on Medical Education and Hospitals.

These are the three developments: Firm commitments for the construction of six new medical schools, bring to 11 the total number now in the planning stage; a 10 per cent increase in the number of medical school applicants, the first upturn in six years; and evidence of an enlarging pool of potential medical teachers.

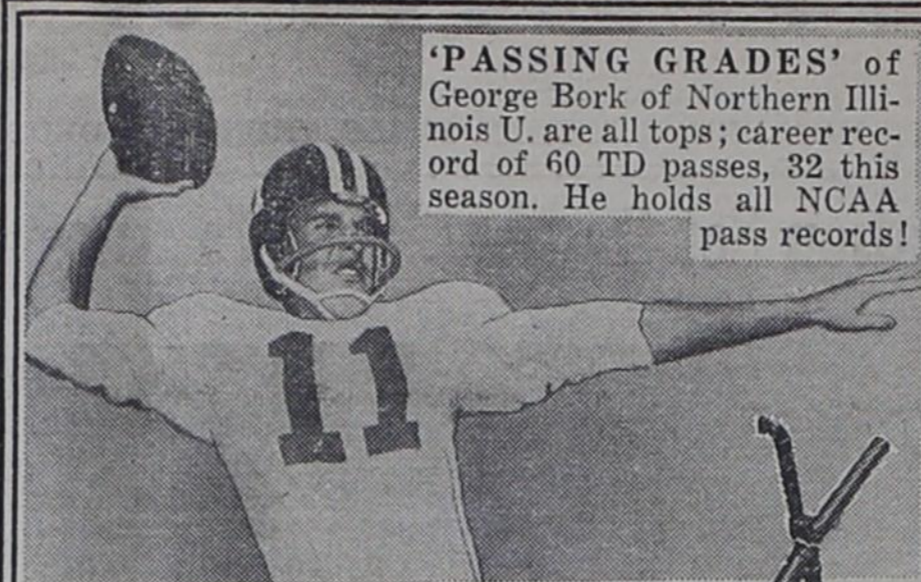

The Council doesn't go overboard. It says: "Though it is too early for certainty, still, on the basis of current progress, cautious optimism can be expressed in regard to satisfying future needs." And it adds that efforts to interest more students in a medical career, which have been intensified in recent years, should not be relaxed. Medicine must compete with an increased number of other status professions for ambitious and talented students.

Medical education, like just about everything else, presents problems, some of which cannot be accurately evaluated as yet. But the road signs pointing to the future provide sound grounds for confidence that we will not only continue but improve this nation's splendid standards of medical care.

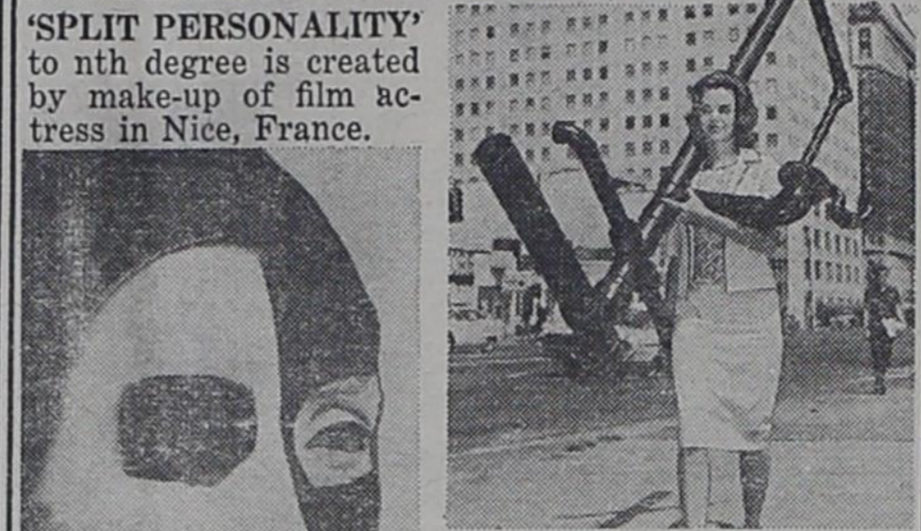

CUERO, TEX., RECORD: "We are now in a tight competitive position, with several leading industrial countries. . . Automation should enable us to pay our workers more, because they will produce more, and maintain our high standard of living. This is the normal development in our specialty—mass production, and mass production has enabled us to achieve the standards we now enjoy."

Special taxes on motorists accounted for more than 26 per cent of all tax revenues collected by state governments during fiscal 1962, according to recent figures.

IT'S THE LAW in Texas. A public service feature of the State Bar of Texas.

Our "Bill of Rights"

December 15 is observed each year as "Bill of Rights Day" throughout the United States. What does this important "document" mean to us?

The American "Bill of Rights," consisting of the first ten amendments to our Federal Constitution, all adopted at one time in 1791, specifies in some detail a number of basic civil rights of the individual citizen. Unaltered by subsequent amendments and jealously guarded by our courts, these privileges must still be respected by our governing bodies today.

Among the most familiar of our constitutional guarantees are those relating to freedom of religion, speech, and of the press. The same article protects the right of peaceable assembly and the privilege of petitioning the government for redress of grievances.

Another amendment secures our persons, houses, papers and effects against unreasonable searches and seizures, and specifies that no warrants shall issue but upon probable cause, and unless supported by oath or affirmation.

witnesses and to have the assistance of defense counsel in all criminal prosecutions are secured by another section of the "Bill of Rights."

Excessive bail and fines, and cruel and unusual punishments, are prohibited in Amendment VIII. Other articles insure the right to bear arms and ban quartering of soldiers in private homes during peace time.

Then, to make quite clear to our governing bodies the underlying intent of the preceding provisions, the Ninth Amendment states: The enumeration in the Constitution, of certain rights, shall not be construed to deny or disparage others retained by the people.

The Tenth Amendment further emphasizes this basic theory by providing: "The powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the States, are reserved to the States respectively, or to the people."

Thus, that fundamental philosophy expressed in the Declaration of Independence, that men are endowed with certain inalienable rights, and that "to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed," has been carried forward into the highest law of our land.

Myers On Program Of Weinert F.H.A.

Supt. Douglas Myers of the Weinert Schools was guest speaker at a meeting of the Weinert Chapter of Future Homemakers of America recently. His topic was "Individuals Can Improve Personal, Family and Community Living."

Mrs. Sue Yeary then discussed the topic, "You and Your Values." The program was under the direction of the first vice president, Dorothy Raynes, who was assisted by Londa Davis and Sharon Dutton.

Following the program a questionnaire compiled by Sandra Dutton was distributed. It concerned the values placed on subjects of interest to teenagers. A panel discussion on the questionnaire followed.

The announcement was made that Greta Stout, Sandra Dutton and Linda Davis entered the "Make it Yourself with Wool" contest held recently in Rochester.

Refreshments were served by Wenni Jones and Sherry Newton.

The bothersome and sometimes destructive problem of birds in hay lofts can be solved by the use of a flashing light. A revolving cylinder with two amber and two clear lenses placed over a 75 watt bulb will annoy the birds and drive them away. Don't burn the light at night, however, because from a distance the flashing amber and white lights make the barn appear to be on fire.

COLLECT SOIL SAMPLES NOW

You can get prompt service on samples submitted to the soil testing laboratory during December. C. D. Welch, Extension Soil Chemist at Texas A&M, who is in charge of the laboratory, says that right now they are processing the samples and getting the returns to the producer within a week. They hope to maintain this prompt service through January, Welch says, but generally the requests for soil tests increase after Christmas and there is often a delay in getting a reply.

Welch suggests that you consult your county agent on how to take a representative sample. He can also tell you how soil tests can supply you with information that will help you make greater profits from the use of fertilizer.

BUCKLE DOWN FOR SAFETY say these eight top winners in the 1963 National 4-H Safety Program as they pull the ends of an outside auto seat belt together. They hope to dramatize for two and one quarter million 4-H Club members and all Americans that auto seat belts, if worn, can save 5,000 lives each year. Helping them make their point is Edmund Steeves, center, General Motors director of field operations. Each national winner received a GM $500 college scholarship. In addition, GM gave them and 36 other state safety award winners all-expense trips to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago. General Motors has been 4-H safety awards donor since 1945. New Features Added To Texas Almanac, Now Termed As Encyclopedia Of Texas

Many new features in the 1964-1965 Texas Almanac, just published by The Dallas Morning News, have been added to material that has made this 106-year-old publication the "Encyclopedia of Texas."

Texas' increasing urbanization is emphasized in special pages containing photographs and comparative statistics for 21 metropolitan areas, including the cities of Abilene, Amarillo, Austin, Beaumont, Port Arthur, Corpus Christi, Brownsville, Harlingen, San Benito, Dallas, El Paso, Fort Worth, Galveston, Texas City, Houston, Laredo, Lubbock, Midland, Odessa, San Angelo, San Antonio, Texarkana, Tyler, Waco and Wichita Falls.

Maps of 254 counties and data on all counties and cities of Texas have been brought up-to-date, including population and other figures from the 1960 U. S. Census. New features are a County Economic Index, and maps showing leading Texas counties in production of crops and livestock.

Texans who like to brag will find ample ammunition in two pages showing the rank of Texas among states, and in proportion of the United States total, in leading categories.

Other data appearing for the first time include carlot shipments of fruits and vegetables and added information on export-import trade.

Texas landmarks are listed by counties in a special section, revised through information obtained from authorities on county histories.

All Governors of Texas and Presidents of the Republic of Texas are pictured in the historical section.

Agricultural information has been completely revised, with the help of authorities of Texas A&M the U. S. Department of Agriculture and others. For this and other sections, several thousand Texans have supplied information and photographs, according to Walter B. Moore, editor.

Election returns, the text of the Constitution of Texas with amendments adopted through 1962, a list of wet and dry counties, maps of Texas Senatorial, Representative and Congressional Districts, lists of state, county and municipal officials, and other information are found in the discussion of politics and elections.

Water, soils, plant life, weather, wild life, minerals, employment and labor, manufacturing service industries, and hundreds of other topics are summarized in the 688 pages.

A widely-used section is the list of more than 500 statewide civic organizations, with their chief executives and home addresses.

A comprehensive index increases the usefulness of the Texas Almanac's data for schools, businessmen, public officials, writers and speakers, and others. While it is primarily a reference publication, more than 400 illustrations, including a 4-color photograph of the Alamo on the cover are expected to make the publication popular as a gift item for individuals and business firms.

Students To Set Pace For Safety

The Texas Safety Association has called on students to "set-the-pace" for safety during the Christmas-New Year holiday period.

"Each year thousands of lives are lost needlessly during the holiday period," Dr. Milo E. Kearney, TSA Vice President for School and College safety, said. "However, I believe the high toll anticipated for this season can be drastically reduced if the thousands of students in our state join individually in the campaign for holiday safety."

Dr. Kearney, who also is Director, Division of Teacher Education and Certification for the Texas Education Agency, praised high school and college students for their interest in safety. He also pointed out that the youthful driver is among the best equipped driver in the world.

"Tests show that young drivers are well-equipped physically for driving. The young driver reacts much faster in an emergency situation, and his vision is better than that of older drivers," he explained.

"In addition, most young drivers have a better knowledge of their motor vehicle and its performance."

While Dr. Kearney urged all student drivers to put "courtesy" in their driving and "caution" in other holiday activities, he had a special message for college students traveling home for the holidays.

"Make sure your vehicle is in good condition for driving and that you do not overload it with passengers or packages. Don't pile packages so high in the back seat of your car that the rear view window is blocked," he said. "And, watch your speed. Highway traffic will be heavy, so be patient. You won't be the only driver on the road."

ond chapter of Luke. Gifts were exchanged, and canned food and toys were brought to be given to the Good-fellow fund.

Just here I am thinking about Paul telling Timothy to preach the word. Paul was in trouble but he wanted the world to no he had met Jesus on the road. Tell the good news as Paul did because men and women are dying every day, some with no God in their heart and no Saviour on their side.

SIX FLAGS '63 SEASON ENDED—The ancient narrow-gauge steam engine circled the mile and one-half track around Six Flags Over Texas, then ground noisily to a stop at the depot. Its work, after carrying more than 1,430,000 passengers in 1963, ended. The farewells by the park attendants were brief but impressive. After a complete overhaul during the winter months, the "old Iron Horse" will once again be put back in service along with many new rides, attractions and shows on April 18, 1964 when Six Flags commences its 1964 season.

Garrison announced that the DPS Statistical Service calculates that a total of 180 persons will meet violent deaths of all kinds during the period of "Operation 12:01 a.m. December 24 and ends at 11:59 p.m. January 1.

Teens Turn Out by Thousands To Join March of Dimes TAP's

Thousands of teenagers across the nation have found a way to have fun while doing an important community project.

They have joined the Teen Age Program (TAP) of the 1964 March of Dimes in the fight against birth defects and arthritis.

Many are helping to carry out the public education program against birth defects, today's greatest unsolved childhood medical problem. Others are assigned to help with the Mothers' March for the March of Dimes. A great many choose to think up their own projects in their schools or suburbs.

Whatever job, it is important, because the fight against birth defects is vital to every young person who plans to have his own family someday, after completing school and career preparations.

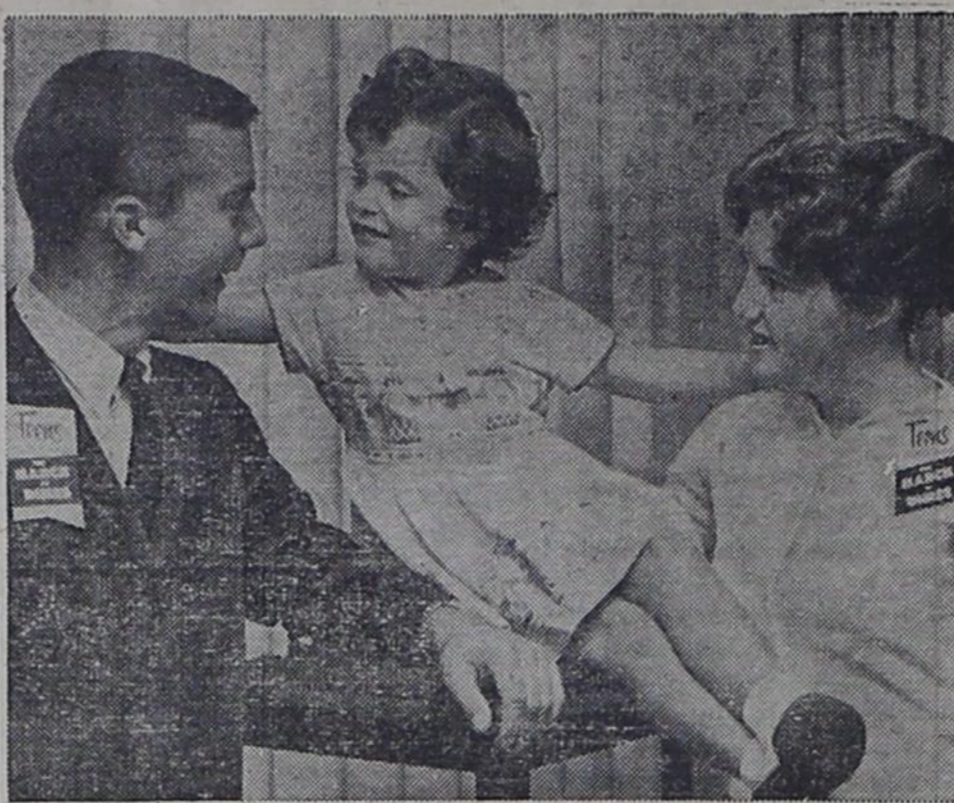

Heading the TAP program are Judy Meyers, 18, Aurora, Colo., and Philip Dawson, also 18, Jamestown, N. Y., who are the national TAP co-chairmen for the 1964 March of Dimes this January.

Judy, a freshman at the University of Colorado, was a vice president of Mu Alpha Theta, mathematics honor society at Aurora High School, and Philadelphia, Pa. She is a member of the National Honor Society at Jamestown High School.

Both young people feel that a high scholastic rating is not only desirable but necessary in today's world. Both feel that good marks give a teen leader added prestige with his peers.

"It's terribly old-fashioned to think that the Big Man on Campus is a 'C' student," Judy and Philip said. "More often than not, he's an 'A' student who is also aware of the importance of community activities."

Judy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Meyers of Aurora. She became a March of Dimes volunteer several years ago because she wanted

GETTING TO KNOW YOU: Little Virginia Paige, 5, who was born with a birth defect, gets acquainted with Philip Dawson, 18, of Jamestown, N. Y., and Judy Meyers, also 18, of Aurora, Colo., who were appointed national co-chairmen for the 1964 Teen Age Program (TAP) of the March of Dimes. Thanks to the latest medical techniques, provided by March of Dimes funds, you'd never know that Virginia, who lives in New York with her parents, was born with a serious birth defect.

"to do something useful." She decided to study languages at the University of Colorado for the same reason, because she thinks that linguists can be of service to their country in the coming years.

Philip, son of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Dawson of Jamestown, comes from a family active in community service. His father is a deacon in the First Presbyterian Church of Jamestown, and a district commissioner for the Boy Scouts of America. Philip first heard of the March of Dimes through his mother, who was active in the Mothers' March for the March of Dimes during the years the Salk vaccine was being developed and tested.

Currently, Philip plans to go on to law school after college. He has tentative plans for a career in politics, "because I feel that this is an interesting part of our present-day life."

Both young people feel that if teens throughout the country are told the importance of the March of Dimes programs against birth defects, arthritis and polio, they will volunteer in great numbers for January's March of Dimes.

They based their predictions on two things, (1) neither Philip nor Judy ever had any trouble in finding volunteers for their March of Dimes projects in their home states, and (2) both teens pointed to the fact that the Peace Corps never has any trouble in finding volunteers.

"Young people today want to do something useful, along with putting forth every effort to do justice to their scholastic programs," the two national March of Dimes volunteers said. "Just because a teen wears sloppy clothes sometimes and is a little loud other times doesn't mean that he doesn't want to do something worthwhile. The vast majority of teens want very much to be good, useful citizens."

MEN! Put New Sparkle In Your Dishwasher's Eyes!

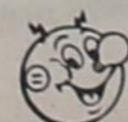

FIRE HER!

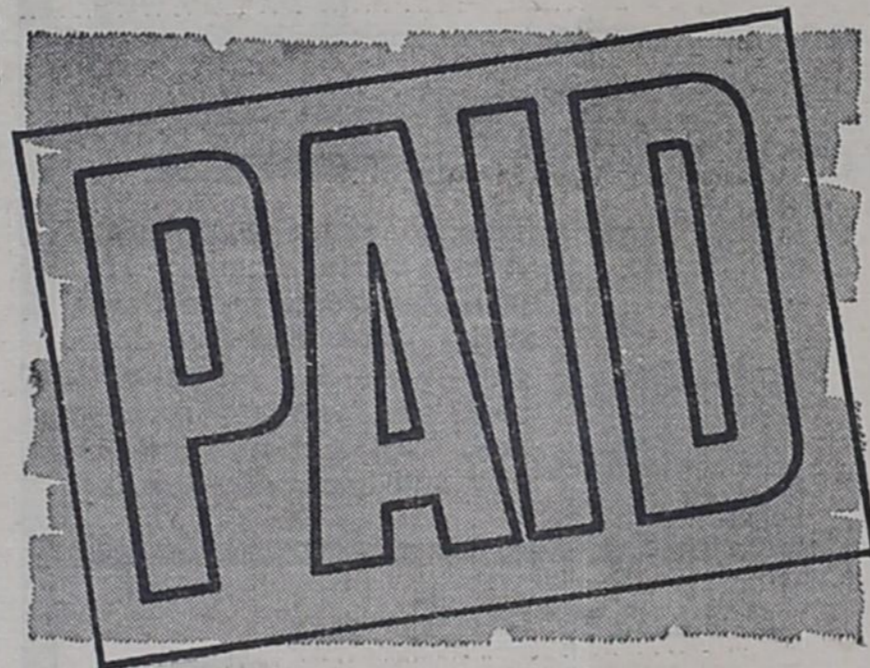

Buy her a portable electric dishwasher for Christmas. There's no installation and it comes on rollers for convenience of moving. Later on, if you wish it can be permanently installed.

With an automatic dishwasher your lovely wife can relax after dinner over a second cup of coffee instead of jumping up to face a hot steamy sink full of dirty dishes and harsh detergent. Besides all this men, face it... a soggy dishtowel is no substitute for the sports page or your favorite TV program, and an automatic dishwasher doesn't drop a dish.

Stop in this week and see your local electric appliance dealer or WTU.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Says It Looks Like The Russians Getting Tired Of Orbiting While They're Hungry

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek expresses some views on Russian farming this week, his letter indicates.

Dear editor:
It has long been my theory that an ordinary Russian citizen finally would get tired of conquering space and losing at the grocery store, that watching satellites on an empty stomach soon loses its excitement, and an item I read last night bears this out.
According to an article from Moscow, "the Soviet masses have displayed open discontent about the shortages of flour and bread."

And Mr. Khrushchev has acknowledged this by announcing he will now spend 46 billion dollars on the Russian fertilizer industry to improve the food situation.
It may work, but I doubt it.
It's easier to order a satellite to orbit than a farmer to plow. And what a farmer does with fertilizer depends on the farmer, not to mention the weather and the slope of his land, and it's possible to spend 46 billion dollars on fertilizer and produce only 26 billion dollars worth of food. I've done it, on a fraction of that scale, and the fault wasn't with the fertilizer.
The Soviets may get by, for a time at least, with assuming that all men are exactly alike and will react exactly alike when told what to do, but when they assume all land is alike, they've hit a stump. Ordering every Russian farmer to put down 200 pounds of fertilizer per acre on February 1 is like ordering all women to wear a size 10 dress. The contour of a piece of land, like the shape of a woman, is not subject to government regulations.
To get the most out of a farm a man has to be intimately acquainted with it, and even then he can flop. I've been studying this Johnson grass farm for years and it hasn't won any prizes.
Russia may get its farmers to farm for love of the fatherland, but there seems to be more to eat when you farm for a profit.
Maybe Russia needs 46 billion dollars worth of fertilizer, but I have a notion it needs to spend a few billion more on the study of human nature.
Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Fresh Idea from MRS BAIRD'S BREAD

KEEP BEDSPREAD NEAT

Here's a handy place to put your bedspread at night. If you have no space or budget for a nighttime bedspread holder . . . use the top drawer of any sturdy chest instead. Pull out the drawer a few inches and lay the folded spread gently across it. It takes no space at all. Keeps your spread fresh looking—free of dust and wrinkles while you sleep.

STAYS FRESH LONGER

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by the State Health Department

AUSTIN—During 1962, an insidious killer sneaked into closed rooms, automobiles and even trailer houses, leaving 63 victims in its wake throughout Texas.

Most of these deaths occur between December and February, the result of carbon monoxide. This gas is colorless and has no odor or smell. There is no certain way of knowing that the gas is present without the use of special testing instruments.

Any combustible material generally used for heating or cooking is a potential producer of carbon monoxide. The gas results from incomplete combustion. No fire completely consumes all of the material used as fuel, whether it is natural gas, butane, wood or kerosene. The amount of carbon monoxide produced can be significantly reduced with precise adjustments of fuel-burner stoves and heaters.

Simple precautions can eliminate the danger of carbon monoxide poisoning. All gas heating devices should be vented to the outside or into a working flue.

Home heating units should be periodically inspected for proper flame adjustment, rusted vent pipes, obstructed flues and vents. In the modern air tight house, the danger of carbon monoxide increases when heating units are not functioning properly.

Unvented gas heaters can produce carbon monoxide even when properly adjusted if they lack sufficient air for combustion.

Unvented gas heaters should never be used in sleeping quarters, nursing homes, convalescent homes, or any small confined space. Rooms containing unvented gas heaters should always have an adequate supply of fresh air. Any abnormal conditions such as a smoking stove or the odor of smoke in a living area is a danger signal and should be checked immediately.

All hot water heaters should be vented to the outside, or connected to a working flue, and have an adequate supply of air for combustion. Lack of fresh air for combustion will cause carbon monoxide to be produced from perfectly adjusted appliances. Never operate a gasoline engine in an unventilated garage or shop. Ten minutes operation in a 10 by 30 by eight foot space will produce poisoning symptoms.

If there is the slightest chance that carbon monoxide is present, either leave the room or provide fresh air circulation. Mr. and Mrs. John Massey of Denton spent the week end with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Massey and Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Anderson.

Why should you buy U.S. Savings Bonds when there are so many other good investments?

To help your country is one answer—and a good one. But Bonds have other advantages that make them worth your consideration. For instance, they offer you just about the easiest way to save money: the Payroll Savings Plan. You just ask your employer to put part of your wages aside towards a Bond. Savings come automatically. Almost painlessly. Another unique advantage of U.S. Savings Bonds is the way they stick with you. You can get your money any time. But if you're like most people, you'll hang onto your Savings Bonds for the big things you want in your future.

And, of course, Bonds are a safe investment—as long as there's a United States of America. Which brings us back to your country again. Bonds help defend freedom at a time when the enemies of freedom are stronger than ever. Buy Savings Bonds. The banks and savings institutions that sell them don't charge you a penny for the service.

Important facts about U.S. Savings Bonds

- You get $4 for every $3 at maturity
- Your Bonds are replaced free if stolen, lost or destroyed

Keep freedom in your future with U.S. SAVINGS BONDS

As present, we in Knox County are short of our 1963 quota. Make an extra effort and buy an extra bond in December. Let's go over the top, as we have in the past!
