Moguls Meet Rule High Here Friday at 3:30

Leavell Bros. Band Will Play Concert Before Opening of Game At Scruggs Field In Second Home Game

Munday High school takes on the Rule eleven here Friday afternoon on Scruggs' Field at 3:30. Little is known of the Rule boys this year other than that they beat Rochester and Sagerton, and tied Knox City, but each Mogul fan might watch with interest for anything that might happen, for last year, if you remember, the Moguls were only able to nose out a 6-0 score over them, the touch-down coming in the latter part of the game.

Haskell County Fair Boosters Here On Friday Morning

Early Friday morning a large group of Haskell citizens visited Munday in the interest of the Haskell County Fair, which opens in that city today (Thursday). They were accompanied by the Haskell Municipal Band under the direction of Prof. Joe Meacham, and they gave a concert on the west side of the public square, after which J. S. Kendall extended the visitors a hearty welcome to Munday and introduced Hon. French Robinson, who extended to the citizens of Munday and Knox county, a hearty invitation to attend the Haskell County Fair.

Turner Campe, manager of the fair, made a talk and told of some of the attractions that are to be seen at the fair, calling special attention to the burro polo game that is to be played between Munday and Benjamin teams on the opening day. Mr. Campe stated that any town that would attempt a fair this year when practically all of the smaller fairs and a number of the larger ones are being cancelled, is entitled to the cooperation of the people in putting over the educational movement, and he expressed the hope that Munday would enter an agricultural exhibit in the fair.

Terry Hotel Is Repainted; Other Improvements Made

The Terry Hotel has recently been repainted and re-decorated throughout the interior. The lobby and dining room have been thoroughly redecorated and all the rooms have been repainted. Mr. Terry believes in giving his patrons the very best that the traffic will bear, and among other conveniences that he has provided for his patrons is gas heat in most every room.

Leavell Bros Show Pleasing Large Crowds Nightly

Leavell Bros. Tent Show, which has been here all this week under the auspices of the Munday Fire Department, is playing to capacity almost each night. Their shows have pleased in every instance and their crowds have been increasing each night since they opened here, and the members of the company have proven themselves to be a congenial group of ladies and gentlemen, and they will receive a warm welcome in Munday as they visit this city in the years to come.

Gillespie Schools Open Monday In Temporary Quarters

The 1930-31 term of the Gillespie public schools will begin on Monday morning and will be conducted in the church buildings as it was last year following the destruction of the building by fire, and will continue to be conducted in these buildings until the new building, now under construction, is completed.

Hood News

Miss Mayme Cannon of Jacksboro, Texas, spent the week end with her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Cannon. Mr. and Mrs. Herman Cannon were guests Sunday afternoon of Mr. and Mrs. Rowden. Miss Mary Bell Mills of Rineland spent the week end with Miss Hazel Booe. Miss Marie Booe spent the week end with Miss Cammie Beatty of Munday. The Rev. Tooley will preach Sunday. We are hoping the weather will be such as to permit a large attendance. The services were rained out last Sunday.

RHINELAND HAPPENINGS

"When it rains it pours," and that's just what it did Sunday. This community received a five inch rain. The rain will be injurious to the cotton, but will be of great benefit to the wheat farmers, Mrs. Mary Loran, who has been visiting at Austin, Galveston and other places, returned home the latter part of last week. Prof. John J. Hoffman and family returned to their home here after spending a week visiting at Scotland, Texas. Miss Cecelia Albus, of Knox City, spent Sunday with her mother at this place. Mrs. Francis Albus was included on the sick list last week. Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Decker are entertaining a fine baby girl in their home since last week. The social that was to be given in the Club Hall on Sunday afternoon was postponed on account of the rain.

Lieutenant Governor Edgar Witt Favors All of The Amendments

Waco, Texas, Oct. 12, 1930.—All of the proposed amendments to the State Constitution were explained and endorsed in a speech by Senator Edgar Witt, Lieutenant Governor-elect, in an address to the Waco Rotary Club today. Senator Witt said that the Supreme Court Amendment deserved passage because it provided for a continuous session of the court, and would thus prevent delays now possible in the consideration of urgent matters. The amendment allowing taxation of University land by the county in which they are situated also received his approval. The measure enlarging the field of investment for the University funds would enable the University to secure a higher rate of interest than is now possible. This amendment alone, he said, means many thousands of dollars a year more to the University.

The amendments dealing with the Legislature are of primary importance, Witt stated. The present system is cumbersome, ineffective and expensive. The new procedure will make for efficiency, and will actually reduce the legislative expenditures. The address, in part, follows:

Five amendments to the Constitution are being submitted to the voters at the November 4th election. One provides that the Supreme Court shall be in session throughout the year; under the present must be in session only nine months. The amendment will prevent the judges, one at a time, to have a vacation period, but will require that the Court be open for business at all times. There should be no objection to this amendment on the part of anybody. It will add to the usefulness of the Court—will prevent delays that are now possible in the consideration of urgent matters.

Another amendment provides for the taxation for County purposes of lands belonging to the University of Texas. These lands are located in some seventeen west Texas counties; in some of the counties they form a large portion of the county values. The development of a county, the building of its roads and public buildings, etc., contribute to the enhanced value of all the lands in the county and it seems reasonable to require that the university lands should pay its portion of these taxes as they are enhanced in value by the expenditures. The State now pays county taxes on Prison Farms to the counties where located and there seems no just reason why the State should not do this to the counties where university lands are located and keep these lands from being a burden to the counties where located.

Another amendment enlarges the field for the investment of the permanent university funds. Under the existing law these funds can only be invested in State or national bonds. There are no state bonds on the market and therefore practically the entire endowment fund of the university today is invested in bonds of the United States upon which is being realized about three and three and one-fourth per cent interest. More than twelve million dollars of this fund is invested in bonds callable in 1933. In view of the fact that the Federal government can now sell bonds bearing a less rate of interest than three per cent, it will certainly call these bonds and the university fund will then have to be invested in bonds with a still lower rate of interest than those in which now invested. Unless this fund is permitted to be invested in other securities, great loss of interest will result. The amendments as stated enlarges the securities and makes possible investment in county, municipal and other safe securities which will bear a greater rate of interest than United States bonds. There should be no objection to this amendment.

The remaining two amendments, the one which I shall discuss more at length, are those dealing with the length of the regular sessions of the Legislature and with the compensation of its members. One of these amendments increases the length of the present sixty days regular session of the Legislature to 120 days and provides that the first thirty days of this session shall be given over to the introduction of bills, the second thirty days to the consideration of these bills by committees and the remainder of the session to the consideration by the Legislature in open session. It is provided, however, that this order of procedure can be changed as desired by a four-fifths vote of the members. Having served twelve years in the State Senate of Texas, I have had opportunity to appreciate the difficulties and handicaps under the present system, which requires not only the regular session of sixty days, but usually from two to five special sessions during each two years to attend to the state's legislative business. An examination over the years shows that the Legislature has been in session an average of one hundred thirty-seven days during each two year period; this means a regular session of sixty days and two or three special sessions during each two year period. To have a continuous session of one hundred twenty days will provide for the Legislature many more actual working days and at less cost than will the present system of breaking up the period of time or a longer period (Turn to last page, please)

Munday Country Gets Second Big Rain This Week

Again the Munday country has been visited by a downpour of rain Sunday and Monday, this time the precipitation amounting to a little more than three inches, making more than seven inches of rainfall during the past two weeks, and bringing the year's total rainfall of about 28 inches, according to figures compiled by A. E. Whittemore.

The heavy rains and continued damp, warm weather has caused maize to sprout on the head in many fields and farmers are threatened with a heavy loss from this source unless we have dry weather.

Traffic on all unpaved highways has been practically at a standstill due to the deep mud, and trains on the Wichita Valley were delayed several hours early in the week by a wash-out in their tracks near Dundee.

Moguls Take Game From Crowell To Tune of 6 to 0 Here

Going into the game the underdogs, the Mogul eleven began their march late in the first period to take the pigskin across Crowell's 1930 unrecorded goal line in the second quarter. Myers and Pruitt alternated in carrying the ball for four consecutive first downs and the touchdown, Myers carrying it over after a tyn gain through the line. Line and off tackle plays were used exclusively to net the touchdown. Crowell threatened several times with a strong attack of end running but was never able to cross the Mogul 20yd line. Once in the third period Lanier, on an off tackle play, cut back through the Mogul secondary defense and scored at one time to be alone, but the fleet footed Capt. Pruitt overtook him to save the day and down the ball on the 50yd. line. The Moguls attempted 3 passes and completed one for a gain of one yard, while the Crowell team attempted 8 passes and completed some, with two being intercepted. Rex Holder, as usual, was shining in every play, especially defensively, since he broke up the Crowell passing attack twice by intercepting passes. Gilbert Myers, always ready to go and smiling, was pounding the line hard for the necessary yardage and it was he that took the ball across. Earl Nichols, "the lone freshman" was getting praise from every spectator and it was a common subject among them to mention his ability. Earl is a wonderful football player, if he is a freshman, and promises to give valuable service along football lines to Munday Hi during the next three years. The Mogul line, consisting of Thompson brothers, Parker, Allison, Isbell, Nichols and Rayburn, was absolutely functioning, especially the two guards and tackles. Thompson brothers, Oristle and Hearsheal, work at tackle and guard respectively, and to merely mention their names is enough. No yardage yet to speak of has been gained over them and as long as they sleep together at night planning just how they will take the opponents to a drubbing in the next game, one need not worry about the left side of the line.

Ginning Report of County Shows Big Increase Over 1929

The ginning report for Knox county for the period ending September 31st shows a substantial increase over the report for the same period last year. The figures are 8,500 bales ginned this season as against 4,215 bales ginned to this date last year, according to W. H. Griffin of Gore, enumerator for the Department of Commerce.

Munday Hotel To Re-Open Under New Management

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Murphy have returned to Munday and have reopened the Munday Hotel, which they operated for some months about a year ago. They have been very busy for several days remodeling and making arrangements for the opening of the hotel, which has been closed since they left here. Among the improvements that have been made is the installation of gas heat in all the rooms.

Sheriff C. R. Elliott was here from Benjamin the latter part of last week and stated that Mrs. Elliott was sufficiently recovered from her recent operation to be carried to her home at Benjamin, but it would be some time before she would be able to be about, and her many friends in Munday will be glad to know that she is improving as rapidly as could be expected.

Mr. and Mrs. Dorse Rogers were guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Roberts in Seymour Sunday.

"All Quiet on the Western Front," which was shown at the Roky on Wednesday and Thursday nights of this week, drew large crowds and those who saw the picture are loud in their praise. Indeed it is the greatest conviction of war that has ever been filmed or presented on the stage.

Mrs. J. A. Melton has returned from Childress where she spent two weeks with her daughter, Mrs. E. A. Morris. Mrs. Melton reports the arrival of a 9 1-2 pound baby girl in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Morris, who received the name of Mary Margaret.

Gas Co. Agrees To Wave Connecting Charge To Patrons

Following a protest registered by the city officials of Munday with the Lone Star Gas Company, parent company of the Stamford & Western Gas Company, which serves Munday, over the proposed $2.00 re-connect charge that the company had inaugurated here, Mr. Bird, assistant to the general manager of the Lone Star, and Mr. Thorp, of Seymour, district manager, held a conference with the city council on Thursday afternoon of last week, at which meeting City Attorney J. S. Kendall pointed out certain clauses in the charter under which they are operating which does not permit the charge, and Mayor Myers made it plain that the city proposed to protect the interests of the citizens against any charge in excess of those set out in the charter granted to the gas company.

After much discussion Mr. Bird stated that the company would not impose the charge for the present, at least, not before the first of the coming year.

Burns Fatal To Haskell Youth

Haskell, Texas, Oct. 14.—Funeral services were held here today for Cecil Turnbow, 15, who died Monday from burns he received at the Tompkins ranch 10 days ago. The services were held from the Haskell Baptist church and the interment was in Haskell cemetery. The boy was burned when he and Lesley Cox were draining gasoline from an automobile. Working in the dark, Cox held a container to receive the gasoline while Turnbow struck matches for light. Cox's clothing became ignited and he tossed the can aside. The gasoline spilled on Turnbow and his clothes were enveloped in flames. The victim was the son of J. C. Turnbow, former Haskell county sheriff.

Wm. A. Browning Heads Scottish Rite Organization

Dallas, Texas, October 15.—William A. Browning 33rd degree, inspector general honorary of the Scottish Rite of Masonry in Texas has been elected Chairman of the membership committee for the next Scottish Rite Reunion November 10 to November 13 inclusive. Mr. Browning has always been among the chief supporters of the Scottish Rite program, paramount in which is the operation of the Texas Scottish Rite Hospital for Crippled Children in Dallas, an institution in which there is no fee charged whatever. The new chairman succeeds M. B. Terrill, another thirty-third degree Mason who established a record for five years and it is this record that Mr. Browning will attempt to excel in numerical numbers. He has selected a membership committee of some seventy five who will cooperate with him in his efforts to secure a large class for the coming reunion in Dallas next month. Mr. Browning is a member of all Masonic bodies, York and Scottish, Blue Lodge, Red Cross of Constantine and others. He is also prominent in the Shrine.

Sheriff C. R. Elliott on last Thursday night arrested a young man here and lodged him in jail on a charge of possessing intoxicating liquor. The young man, whose home is in Haskell, made bond the following day in the sum of $500 in Justice Bailey's court and was bound over to await the action of the Knox county grand jury.

Frank Bateman, who has been with a theatre at Burkburnett for several months, is here visiting friends.

THE RAILROADS AND THE TRUCK LINES

One of the big problems that will confront the next legislature is that of rectifying an injustice that is being perpetrated against our railroads to compete against the truck lines which operate upon the highways that are paid for by the people?

Under our present law the truck lines are merely required to follow the same schedule of rates that are followed by the railroads, hence the people are deprived of any direct benefit through reduced freight rates.

At this time more than half the local freight is coming into Munday by truck. Two large truck lines operate through here regularly, the Tary lines and the Plunkett lines. Neither of these truck lines are required to pay one penny taxes in Munday—school, county or city. They have been permitted to come into the field and use the highways that have been built by the taxpayers money and compete with the railroads which pay heavy taxes in every county and city through which their lines operate.

The railroads have built into all sections of the state and development has followed the building of these lines. The state has taken over the authority to fix the rate which they must charge for both freight and passenger traffic. Taxes are levied against the railroads in every incorporated town through which their lines pass. They are taxed for school purposes in every school district through which their lines pass. They are required to pay county taxes in every county through which their lines pass, yet, they are subjected to the injustice of having to compete with truck and bus lines which pay no taxes in any of the communities through which they operate other than in the county, city and school district in which their equipment is registered for taxation.

Here in Munday the Wichita Valley pays out approximately $1,000 per month in pay-roll, practically all of which is spent in Munday. In addition the railroad pays approximately $2,000 per year in taxes which go toward building the highways, maintaining the public schools and the maintenance of our county and city government. The truck lines and the bus lines which operate through here and which take the business that formerly went to the railroads pays not one penny in taxes, neither does it have a penny's pay-roll that is spent in Munday.

Certainly the truck and bus lines are here to stay, for they are a public convenience that cannot be dispensed with, but the legislature must face the task of rectifying an injustice that is being done to the railroads, and placing a greater portion of the burden of building and maintaining the highways on the bus and truck lines which are using them for their own personal gain.

And, furthermore, if the trucks and busses are to continue to use the highways they must employ drivers who have some conception of the public's right to these highways. Mr. Average Citizen believes that half the right-of-way is his, but when he meets some of these road hogs we'd just like to see him get it.

PROFIT AND SERVING.

Hanging over the desk of a manager of a certain industry, is a little framed piece of wording, which is the following legend: "Another day is here. Help us to meet the rugged requirements with cheerful faces. Give us the patience to serve faithfully, and well; and at night lead to us sound and undisturbed sleep, that we may serve better tomorrow."

It sounds like a prayer, and it is. But not to the good God alone; it strikes the eye of the beholder. It touches a new note in his being. It gives him a new angle on the manager and the establishment over which he has charge. It puts the man on the outside of the desk rail into a mood to do business quickly, generously and fairly. It is, also, a constant reminder to the manager himself that he sits not so much to be served, as to serve. It is a text that both customer and employe can take to heart. It is in the last analysis the platform upon which that firm does business.

And it is a good prayer and a good platform for service is the keynote of modern business. "He profits most who serves best," wrote Paul Harris, of Chicago, some twenty years ago and men in every country the world over are at this time aligned by the thousands under the banner which bears that legend.

To be sure every business man strives to make a profit. Profit is the badge of service. Dollars are the insignia of success. They, in this day and generation, are garnered by those who give to the public the best service. "Caveat emptor," the one-time slogan of the trade world, has become so obsolete that millions do not even know what it means. Everywhere industries have come to the understanding that fair play means better business, and as a general rule they are living up to the text.

ANOTHER AIR TRAGEDY

Another tragedy of the air has been written, with the recent collapse and burning of the British dirigible R-101, in which nearly 60 lives were lost.

In 1925 the United States experienced a similar loss to the Shenandoah, but the loss of lives was not as large as in the recent disaster. Calamities of the air, such as these, bring about the expression from many that the task of conquering the air is still a long way off. Man, it is true, must learn much more before travel by these giant ships is actually safe.

However, one is not to become discouraged over these failures. When the first steamboat was launched, the same crowd said it couldn't be done; when the first railway engine made a trip, you could find thousands who doubted the success of such a locomotive. It has been so far down the line.

Man has paid dearly for the progress that he has made. He probably will continue to pay the price. While the doubters look on, we predict that great accomplishments will be derived from these expensive and fatal experiments.

SILENT DANGER SIGNS

Several states, including a portion of Texas, erect small white crosses along the highways designating places where fatal automobile accidents have happened. These little markers are reminders to motorists that automobiles frequently have a habit of sealing a fatal blow.

Motorists soon learn, though not familiar with the meaning of the crosses, the significance of the silent danger signals.

But will they be a warning? Will these somber tokens of death stop the speed-crazed driver who thinks neither of himself, or of those in other cars?

Surely the sight of a white cross at the roadside near a dangerous curve or beside a railroad crossing, ought to make some impression. It ought to bring a vision of crumpled bodies and wreckage, and a personal application of the consequences if care and caution are not exercised.

But after seeing the results of some accidents and reading of the carelessness of drivers that leads to death, one may well wonder whether anything short of an iron gate will keep some automobile drivers off railroad tracks when trains are approaching—or whether a warning of certain death would cause them to slacken their speed.

THE HIGHEST COURT

Worthy merchandise is the only kind that can successfully stand trial at the highest court in the land—the court of public opinion. All others are soon condemned and sentenced to oblivion.

The merchant who advertises, deliberately places his merchandise on trial. He invites your critical inspection. He makes publicly certain claims upon the fulfillment of which depends his commercial success. If he were not sure of his goods, he would not dare to advertise. For advertising would put him to a test he could not meet, and thus hasten the end of his business career.

Advertising protects you against fraud and inferiority. It saves you money by presenting for your consideration only the best products. Well-informed buyers seek news of good merchandise in the advertising columns and are guided by the advice they find there.

THREE CHEERS FOR THE COLLEGE STUDENT

A defender of the present day college students' conduct has arisen in the person of William John Cooper, United States Commissioner of Education. Dr. Cooper takes little stock in the abundance of criticism emanating from press and pulpit in regard to the "deplorable morals" of America's young scholars. On the contrary, he holds that college standards, both intellectual and social, are constantly improving.

It is unfair to judge modern college students by the traditions of the past, Commissioner Cooper states. People can't forget the ancient atmosphere of religion that was associated with the cathedral school. And they do not always remember that higher education is no longer limited to the "aristocracy" of wealth and family prestige. The universities and colleges of today represent a cross-section of democracy. Because of these things, Dr. Cooper feels that it is wrong to treat the student as a person apart from the world.

The institution of coeducation, which still alarms many citizens, is viewed philosophically by the Commissioner. He admits that an adjustment must be made by both men and women students, but he does not consider the adjustment difficult. Dr. Cooper also comments on the lack of "freakishness" in college dress today. And he concludes with the observation that "To those who witness the trend of college education, there is every reason to be optimistic in respect to the student."

Modern Music Supplants Big Business As Career

DON BIGELOW

Son of Steel Magnate Becomes Famous Orchestra Leader

New York City.—"Music is as much a Big Business as steel," is the opinion of Don Bigelow, son of the late steel magnate, and a famous orchestra leader of Manhattan.

"Music is as practical as any so-called big business," Bigelow declares. "My father has an office at his steel plant ready for me, but I like music better and I'm making more money than any steel plant could pay a man who had been on the job only one year."

"A few years ago, musicians were a kind of family curse. To have one around the home was about like having a queer old maid aunt. One didn't talk about it."

"But now all that is changed. The musician is respectable and respected for his work."

business end, especially if he is an orchestra leader. He has to make contracts involving millions and must certainly know what it is all about before he becomes a modern orchestra pay roll.

"Yet commerce has not taken the artistry out of music. The modern dance band player must know his instrument perfectly. He must read well and be a thorough musician."

"However, the general run of music has improved because high-salaried men want good staff to play. Each piece must have some outstanding feature. It must not be just another number. Just now college songs are in vogue and believe me, they must be good. 'Betty Co-ed' is illustrative of the new type of college fox trot that goes for any college. It has a legitimate 'it' and when a song makes the sensation this one has, then it must have the real musical merit."

The courses, agricultural and home economics, prepare students for life when a college education is not possible. The majority of courses prepare students for college only, and not to make a living after leaving high school.

The high school carnival is coming before long, so children, save your pennies to see the peculiar animals, to get your fortune told, and to see the side shows.

It might be interesting to know the whereabouts of our last year teachers. Miss Moncrief is in Dallas this winter acting as a business woman. Mr. Lee is in Denton attending the teachers' college. Mr. Rhodes is teaching school in Van, where he is superintendent. Mrs. Rhodes is keeping house and doing the duty of mother to little Betty Carolyn Rhodes. Miss Thornton is in Olney teaching primary work.

Pep Squad

A large pep squad of about twenty-five members was organized at the beginning of the football season, and is rooting for the boys like "nobody's business." Lela Brock is yell leader, and Mrs. L. M. Palmer is assistant leader and coach. The pep squad has gone almost one hundred per cent to every game, and intends to keep their good name by doing this throughout the season. The suits that have been ordered have not arrived yet, but are expected some time this week. Lela Brock is the only girl in Munday High school that could have taken Vivian Rogers place, and believe us, we miss Vivian.

Fire Prevention Week

We have again gone through the drudgery of fire prevention week, doing nothing but making posters and writing them. Most of us came out alive, but some had a narrow escape. Among these was a member of the biology class. While boiling leaves in alcohol, some of the alcohol caught on fire, and one of the pupils tried to put it out by covering it with something. When she did this, the flames ran up the clothing. She started to run to the door, but Mr. Harrel stopped her, and as quickly as possible put out the flames, which had already run up above her head. He was declared the hero of the day, but as a result of bravery he received two badly burned hands, while the one for whom he had fought so valiantly had only the lining of her coat burned in one place.

girls engaged in a hard fought battle against the Crowell Wild Cats. Crowell has what might be called a football machine. They demonstrated some very clever plays pulled behind a defense that was not to be sneezed at. But with every Megal doing his duty the Wild Cats were stopped and the pig skin was carried through Crowell's line and over their goal line, resulting in a 6-0 victory for the Megals.

The Megals wish to thank the business men for closing their stores and going to the game. It is backing like this that makes a game worth playing for, and if we continue to have it, we assure you that we will bring home the bacon. Keep it up.

Seniors

Hello, World! This is station S-E-N-I-O-R-S. Once more this year unexcited prairie, called the campus, is dotted here and there with signs of civilization.

Now as to our activities, we can report only a few!

Since we feel it necessary to be a good model for the other classes, we have been studying our lessons, and, in carrying our books home, being good in school and being kind to the teachers.

Our class officers are: president, Gilbert Myers; vice-president, Paul Pruitt; secretary-treasurer, Helen Francis Elliott.

But folks, we have a real queen, yes sir! A queen that makes us realize why gentlemen prefer blondes. Surely—it is Blanche Newsome.

Another thing we have done in the field of election was to elect someone to guide our activities to a worthy goal. For this place we have Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Riley. The worthy activities we refer to are midnight parties and parties.

We do not have a motto yet, but at the present this is most frequently quoted, "Ye gods! Lay off! I've been to gym." Also there goes an among this senior group a form of calisthenics patronized only by seniors.

The seniors consist of the same old gang with two additional ones. These are Edna and Fern Lee Hunter.

Most of the shaming Megals can be found in our class. We have Paul, Gilbert, Rex, John R. Aristal, Mitchell, Hubert, Burl and Nelson. Megals! we are behind you. Well, fellow readers, we seniors do not want to tell any more this week, so good-bye, until the next issue.

The Juniors

We, the Juniors, have resolved to make the history of the class this year the most colorful and snappy that it has ever been. Everyone in the class is getting into the spirit of friendly cooperation and is standing by our class in everything and in every way. We are planning ahead and looking into the future this year, and we hope to outshine every class, especially the seniors, in everything. We are already planning on ways to raise money for events to take place in the future. Just keep your eye on the Junior class and see if they do not have the best class in dear old high school.

There are quite a few Juniors on the football team this season and we are proud of them. We are certain that they will lend their loyal support to the team and will help it win victories many times.

We notice how good they have played in the games so far. Boys, keep it up and do your part in helping to win all the following games, especially the one with Knox City.

The class elected Mrs. E. S. McCord for a room-mother. We know she will help us in everything and we appreciate her taking this responsibility. Miss Clifford was elected as a class sponsor. Both of these women have already taken interest in their duties and in the class. Dick Rayburn has been elected president of the class. Lee Alfred Parks, vice-president and Vincent Lane secretary-treasurer. These officers are very able to fill their places.

The Juniors have already had one social. This was a picnic which

The Freshmen

The Freshmen are always called "fishes," but why should that bother us? We are going to be a real Freshmen class this year and not one that the teachers will have to talk to and give advice to every day. We may get a little of that any way, as we have had a few hints.

We have had one party this year and we enjoyed our selves very much. We were very sorry that a few were not there for we missed them, and they missed a good time.

We elected officers this week. The following were elected: president, Billie True Hill; vice-president, Jerry Kethley; secretary-treasurer, Virginia Bess Atkinson.

We elected Miss Watson for our sponsor and we have found out that she is the one we need.

Monday we elected Inez Campbell for our class queen and we are working very hard to win the contest.

Seniors

Seniors are working hard to win the contest.

This old school building is once again creaking under the weight of the 143 students that are enrolled this year. It all seems very natural until we go into the study hall. This place has been changed beyond recognition, as the desks face south rather than west. In the far south end of the study hall, the library is built in and opened by windows. Formerly, the library was in a different room. This new location of the library keeps students from loitering in the library during study hall periods.

As you come into the door of the school building everything looks fresh and clean. This is because the walls and woodwork have been painted. There were only two class rooms of the building not refinished this summer, but they are not bad looking.

There were three new courses added to the curriculum of study this year. These new courses are agriculture, occupation and physical education. R. D. Rawls is the agricultural teacher. The course is for boys only, and is to the boys what home economics is to the girls. Occupation, a course offered to Freshmen, is taking the place of history. Physical education is a course that is participated in by every student. Some play football for their physical education; others will drop the general gymnasium work when basketball, tennis and other school activities begin. This course is a state requirement and is well worthwhile. When we discuss these new courses, it makes us realize that Munday is endeavoring to make the school practical.

Choral Club

Mrs. Louise Ingram's choral club has increased since last year, and now has about twenty-five members. This work is very interesting, and also beneficial in that it develops and trains the vocal organs. The club meets twice a week at the studio, and it plans to give the community some worthwhile programs.

CONOCO GERM PROCESSED PARAFFIN BASE MOTOR OIL

THE new Conoco Germ-Processed Motor Oil is not only the fastest selling oil in Conoco history . . . it is establishing a new high mark in public acceptance . . . By a wholly new characteristic, Penetrative Lubricity, this motor oil is attracting motorists from other brands with a quickness unprecedented in the oil world . . . this would not be possible if this oil were not the finest and safest motor lubricant yet introduced.

It is the Germ Process which gives Conoco the essential points of superiority that make possible these things: 70% less motor wear; reduced carbon formation; lowered operating temperatures; greater gasoline mileage; resistance to dilution; and instant lubrication at the first touch of the starter.

The Germ Process adds to a supremely fine paraffin base oil, a precious oily essence lacking in all other oils. This makes possible the metal-penetrating safety factor that we call "Penetrative Lubricity." Try this new oil today . . . at the sign of the Red Triangle.

The Electric Man Presents His Low-Cost Burglary Insurance

"Police records show that sufficiently lighted houses rarely suffer depredations from prowlers or thieves. For this reason, many people make it a practice to leave lights burning when they spend a part of the evening away from home. On their return, they feel secure in the knowledge that their possessions have been safe in the keeping of protective lighting.

"Normal household necessities utilize the first two steps, so with the new Home Comfort rate, this burglary insurance is even more economical, for it is billed on the low rate of 4c per kilowatt-hour—3c where service is also used for heating or cooking.

"The next time you spend an evening out—leave lights burning in one or two of your rooms. Notice the sense of security with which you enter your home—then check your light bill. You will be surprised at the extreme economy of this efficient Burglary Insurance. Watch for me next week, I'll have some more ideas for you."

Land and Building for Sale or Trade

I have about twenty farms on the Knox Prairie listed with me for sale, and have some real bargains that can be handled with a little cash and some trade.

I have about fifteen farms from 160 to 1000 acres listed with me on the Plains, most all of them for trade and can take town property as first payment and a long time on balance. Am going to Plainview in a short time to look some of these propositions over and anyone wanting to trade for Plains land may go along. I will be glad to show you what I have.

If you have anything to trade or sell I will be glad to take it and I will do my best to find you a deal.

Mr. and Mrs. Barnes Entertain Friday Bridge Club and Husbands

Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Barnes were hosts to members of the Friday Bridge club and husbands Wednesday evening of last week at a party which was lovely in all details. Great clusters of fall flowers, with roses and snap dragons predominating, were used throughout the entertaining suite. In the games Mrs. G. H. Craig held high score among the ladies and Dr. Farrington winner over the gentlemen. A salad course was served. Those present were Dr. and Mrs. Wm. P. Farrington, Messrs. and Mrs. T. G. Bengt, John Lane, W. H. Chapman, J. D. Kethley, L. E. Lovelace, H. A. Pendleton, G. H. Craig; Messrs. R. H. Neff and Louise Ingram and Miss Deszie Kennedy.

"3 and 1" Club Entertained At Broach Home Tuesday

Tuesday afternoon Mrs. F. S. Broach and Miss Margaret Michels entertained the "3 and 1" club at the home of Mrs. Broach with three tables of bridge. At the conclusion of the games a salad and coffee were served to Mrs. E. H. Bauman, R. L. Ballinger, H. A. Pendleton, Adrian Macon, R. H. Neff, Louise Ingram, Doris Rogers, Jack Mayes, John Ed Jones, E. J. Roberts and Miss Clodette Mayo.

Mrs. E. E. Chamberlain was brought home Thursday afternoon from the Knox County Hospital at Knox City, where she underwent a serious operation some days ago, and her many friends will be pleased to know that she has recovered sufficiently to be back at home.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks to the ladies of the Baptist church for the lovely shower given following the destruction of our home by fire. We also wish to express our thanks publicly to Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Warren, who opened their home to us when we were rendered homeless.

Mr. and Mrs. Arvid Splice.

A WELCOME awaits you at the Munday Hotel. Meals served family style.—Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Murnov.

LIEUTENANT GOV. EDGAR WITT FAVORS ALL THE PROPOSED AMENDMENTS

This will come about, because with one continuous session only one organization period is required while under the present system with several sessions, from five to ten days are required at the beginning of each session for the organization of committees, introduction of bills, the referring of same to committees and the printing of same and the other preliminaries incident to "beginning" of each session. Under our present constitution there can not be a picking up of the work where it was left off at a previous session, but everything must be "done over" again. This necessitates the re-introduction of bills, the re-organization by committees, the re-organizing of the bills and as indicated, at least from five to ten days of each session given over to preliminaries that will be avoided by a sufficiently lengthy continuous session to give attention to the matters that the experience of the past has shown to have required one hundred thirty seven days each two years to dispose of.

The history of the past showing that this much time is spent in legislative activity—with a growing state there can be no hope that the future will require less time, but if broken up into separate sessions and as much lost motion had as these require, our hope for the future would be that more time would be required than in the past by reason of the enlarged business of the state as time goes on. Therefore, for the sake of time to be spent and expense of this time by legislators, a great saving of time and money will be had by a lengthening of the regular session and the avoiding of special sessions.

There is additional lost time at the close of each session—the last two or three days always being given over to closing matters up and not given to the consideration of legislation or its merits or for the purpose of passage. With one continuous session there would only be one period of lost motion of closing up instead of the three or more several days each under the present system.

By having a longer regular session and having the same broken into a period for the consideration of bills, then one for the consideration by committees, legislation will be much better considered by authors of same and by the committees reading on same before reaching the floor of the legislative bodies for discussion. It will not be necessary for two or three committees to be meeting at the same time and frequently during eight hours—under the present system. It now frequently happens that large bodies of citizens come from all parts of Texas to present their views with reference to proposed legislation to a committee, only to find that the committee meeting by reason of other committee meetings are so scattered that these citizens will get to present their views to only two or three legislators. Under the proposed plan, the citizenship of Texas will get to present their views to full committees and this will result just as frequently in the defeat of legislation as it will in the passage of same, if not more often—and in any event it will result in legislation being much more carefully considered and gotten into more satisfactory form before leaving the committees.

I have frequently said that with the introduction and the consideration by committees and the action by the membership, it is reasonable that we put as good legislation as we can and the more vigorous bills are passed than are passed. Hardly a session of the legislature has been had in years that following same all sorts of errors have not been discovered in the bills passed—even some special sessions have had to be called later to correct mistakes. All this is due to the rush and confusion that all who have had dealings with the legislature now realize to be the inevitable necessity of working under the present system.

The procedure provided by the amendment of the introduction of bills during the first thirty days, the consideration by committees during the next thirty days, as stated, can be varied by a four-fifths vote; this will make possible the immediate passage, even during the first thirty days, of all local bills and emergency legislation and all legislation as to which there is little difference of opinion and practically no controversy; and will pass over for the regular procedure the legislation as to which there are varying viewpoints and differences of opinion and will give to this character of legislation the more mature and reasoned consideration which it deserves and has never been able to receive. There should be no opposition to this amendment and I am sure will be none by those who take the trouble to acquaint themselves with the present situation and the great benefits to be derived under the proposed change.

The other legislative amendment increases the compensation of legislators from five dollars a day to the magnificent sum of ten dollars per day and decreases the mileage now allowed members of twenty cents per mile in going and returning from the seat of government to ten cents per mile. This amendment has been represented as "doubling" the pay of legislators. It will have a very far different effect by reason of the "halving" of the mileage allowance and by reason of paying this mileage only once for a one hundred twenty day session, while under the present system one hundred twenty days would involve three sessions and there would be paid mileage on each session at the rate of twenty cents per mile going and coming of each member from his home to the capital, while under the amendment he would get this mileage for once and that would be ten cents. In other words, under the amendment a member for a session of one hundred twenty days would get a mileage allowance of just one-fourth the amount that he would get under the present constitution.

When you realize that Texas is geographically an empire and that most of the members of the Legislature live hundreds of miles from the capitol, you will realize what an enormous amount this mileage allowance under the present constitution amounts to, and that when for one hundred twenty days of legislative activity under the new amendment, the State of Texas would be out just one-sixth of the amount that it is out today, you will have an idea of the great reduction in mileage expense under this amendment.

There will be another great money saving by this amendment in eliminating the cost of the useless organization days now necessary for each session as I have hereinbefore mentioned. The average cost of a legislative session is approximately thirty-six hundred dollars a day. With a minimum of five days for organization purposes, two special sessions necessary with the regular session of sixty days to provide for one hundred twenty days legislative service would mean ten extra days given over to organization purposes at a total cost of thirty-six thousand dollars. Under the amendment these ten days of lost motion organization periods would be eliminated and these days given to real legislative activity.

Another great saving of expense would be in the matter of the printing of bills. As stated previously, at every session now everything must be begun over again. That means that all legislation that anybody has had in mind that did not get passed at a previous session is always re-introduced, re-referred to committees, and reprinted. This means thousands of dollars for re-printing bills which under the new system would be printed only the one time and these thousands of dollars would be saved. All in all, while the members will get ten dollars a day whereas they now only get five dollars, the savings I have detailed will more than offset the extra cost in my judgment and the Treasury of the State will be out in the aggregate for one hundred twenty days of legislative activity, not any more money than it is now and probably considerably less; and in addition the public will get very much better service in a legislative way, both in the matter of more mature consideration of legislation, and better opportunities for the public to present its viewpoints to legislative committees; and the increased compensation ought to result in higher class representatives in the Legislature and this ought to make for better legislation.

I think all five of the amendments are meritorious and should be adopted by the people of Texas.

The world's best vineyards are on the slopes of vineyards.
