Prize Offered for Best Span Mules Here Trades Day

Trades Day in Crowell Monday again promises to be a successful event for the people of this section and every effort is being made to make this monthly affair of general benefit to everybody.

Free auction service is available for anyone having anything they wish to sell. The principal auction of the day will be at 2 o'clock in the afternoon at the Trades Day grounds a block west of the southeast corner of the court house square.

As has been the custom with the other Trades Days, everyone is urged to bring anything to town that he has no further use for in order that something that he does need. Plenty of co-operation in this respect will make the day more successful for werybody.

While the principal auction will be at 2 o'clock, the auctioneer service is also available throughout the day. Dave Sollis, auctioneer, states that more interest is being taken in the auctions each first Monday. He requests that anyone having anything to auction to get in touch with him as early as possible.

Representative of Governor Inspects Local R. F. C. Work

A. W. Elrod of Tyler, field representative of Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson for R. F. C. relief work, was in Crowell early this week to inspect the records and work of the local R. F. committee.

He expressed satisfaction with the manner in which the work was being use of R. F. C. relief funds.

This phase of the work is an activity of the local P. T. A. and a committee composed of Mrs. Jeff Bruce, Mrs. T. F. Hughston, Mrs. W. A. Daniel, and Mrs. Gordon Cooper was active in making arrangements for the clinic. Besides Miss Lott, Mrs. Anabel Tinsley and Miss Frankie is under the supervision of the Division of Child Hygiene of the State Department of Health. Her work has been of a constructive nature and has proved to be of great benefit to the schools already and plans are under way for a follow-up campaign by means of which it is expected to carry on the work which has been begun.

A "MANY-SIDED MAN"

Jesus was, as we say, "many sided," and every man sees the side of his nature which appeals most to himself. The doctor thinks of the great physician whose touch never failed, who by some mystery preceded modern science in its still imperfect knowledge of the relation of the spirit to health. The preacher studies the Sermon on the Mount and marvels that truths so profound should be expressed in words so clear and simple. The agitator remembers only that he denounced the rich; and the communist that his disciples carried a common purse. Lawyers have written in praise of his pleading at his trial; and the literary critics of every age have cheerfully acknowledged his mas-

I am not a doctor, or lawyer or critic but an advertisting man. As a profession advertising is young; as a force it is as old as the world. The first four words ever uttered, "Let there be light," constitute its character. All Nature is vibrant with its impulse. The brillian plumage of the bird is color advertising addressed to the emotions of its mate. Plants deck themselves with blossoms, not for beauty only, but to attract the patronage of the bee and so by spreading pollen on its wings, to insure the perpetuation of their kind.

It has been remarked that "no astronomer can be an atheist," which is only another way of saying that no man can look up at the first and greatest electric sign-the evening stars-and refuse to believe its message; "There is a Cause: A God." I propose in the next few articles to speak of the advertisements of Jesus which have survived for twenty centuries and are still the most potent influence

Let us begin by asking why he was so successful in mastering public attention and why, in contrast, his churches are less so? The answer is two fold. In the first place he recognized the basic principles that all good advertising is news. He was never trite or commonplace; he had no routine. If there had been newspapers in those days, no city editor could have said, "No need to visit him to-day; he will be doing just what he did last Sunday." Reporters would have followed him every single hour, for it was impossible to predict what he would say or do; every action and word were news. I repeat, Jesus had no routine. He was never trite or commonplace.

tips on taxes-

Austin-The Forty-third Legislature, now nearing the close of its regular session, will likely reduce the costs of State government from 25 to 30 per cent. Up to the present time it has created no new commissions or bureaus and levied no important new taxes. Every branch of the State government has had its budget reduced. Equally important is the passage of legislation designed to stop tax evasions, and to provide penalties that will insure more effec-tive enforcement of special taxes, years later she woke after a fall from her herself, under the name rried to Neil Packard, ia fruit packer. FOR THE MIDDLE-AGED

You get to thinking about what you OUGHT to weigh-I know you do, for I do it myself.

Well, figure your height in inches-you men of five feet ten. You are seventy inches high. Add 100 to the number of inches for the weight, 170, if you are middle-age or past. This rule does not apply to young adults and children.

Remember, each individual has his peculiarities, which he can by no means escape. It is just as "natural" for some men and women to be spare, as it is for others to be a little stout. I had a most refined, intelligent lady of forty-five, who had worked herself almost into a frenzy-because she held a weight of 145 steadily. Her figure was perfect; yet she was continually in anticipation of "obesity"!

The big boy of fifty, with the ponderous "bay-window," must lay the blame to himself alone. He acquired the deformity by overeating and lack of exercise. It will take him a long time to correct the effects of his truancy, if he ever does it. But he still has room to repent of his sins-to get out of that swivel-chair-get out of doors at every opportunity-and STOP EATING TOO MUCH.

There's the rub, however. He still lingers with the lucious viands with the heavy sweetening. Well, if you'd rather have that belly, keep on as you are doing-I'm no traffic cop, to stop you for travelling on the wrong side of the road! Don't forget though, that the prevention of an evil is many times safer than a belated attempt at cure; be sure your (dietetic) sins will track you down.
