Chick Sexing Popular In Western States

Sexing of baby chicks—the comparatively new practice of separating cockerels from pullets at hatching time—has met with favor among poultrymen especially in the Pacific Coast States and, to a lesser degree, in the Middle West, says H. L. Shrader, extension poultry specialist of the United States Department of Agriculture. The sexing has been done principally at commercial hatcheries by persons trained either at commercial sexing schools or at demonstrations by poultry specialists of the state extension services and other institutions.

Poultrymen in the Pacific Coast states have taken up sexing on a broader scale than those in other parts of the country. As a result many of the hatcheries have sold day-old pullets for double the price of straight-run chicks plus a small charge for sexing. Estimates show at least 50 per cent of the White Leghorn chicks sold in Washington, Oregon, and California are sexed at hatching time. Some hatcheries sold a few day-old cockerels but a large percentage were destroyed to save feed costs. Only a few of the chicks of the heavy breeds were sexed in these states.

In the Middle Western States, Mr. Shrader finds only about 5 per cent of the chicks sold by commercial hatcheries are sexed. Practically all the segregated cockerels are sold to customers who intend to raise them for broilers. Very few hatcheries in the South or the Atlantic Coast states do any sexing during the 1935 season.

"Although chick sexing has been limited so far," says Mr. Shrader, "I look for gradual increase in the practice in the years to come. Many breeders have found it practical to sell some cockerel chicks from high-producing, trap-nested strains. From these the customer is able to select high-quality males for breeding purposes."

Mrs. Alvin Bravenec of Nelsonville beautified her yard with native shrubs, which her husband said he was glad to transplant for her because they looked so pretty in the woods." Preliminary to this work, the home demonstration agent held a training school for yard demonstrators last spring in which they learned how to identify plant material, ball and burrap them for transplanting and trench them.

Watch Your Kidneys!

Be Sure They Properly Cleanse the Blood

YOUR kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not act as nature intended—fail to remove impurities; that poison the system when retained.

Then you may suffer nagging backache, dizziness, scanty or too frequent urination, getting up at night, puffiness under the eyes; feel nervous, miserable—all upset.

Don't delay? Use Doan's Pills. Doan's are especially for poorly functioning kidneys. They are recommended by grateful users the country over. Get them from any druggist.

Medical Examiners Warn Against Many "Eyesight Quacks"

The Texas State Board of Medical Examiners have recently issued the following warning against "Eyesight Swindlers." The warning says:

"Several years ago this board drove out of Texas a gang of 'eyesight swindlers,' who had collected large fees—$7,400.00 in one case—for the pretended removal of cataracts from the eyes. We captured four of them, who were turned over to sheriffs on requisition—for prosecution in other states—Arkansas, California, Minnesota, and others. They are wanted in many states for perpetration of such swindles.

"We are advised that some of these swindlers have returned to Texas, having pulled a job recently at La Grange, another at Fort Worth. They pose as noted specialists who remove the cataract with a wonderful radium preparation of their own discovery. The operation consists of instilling a few drops of murine in the eye, pinching off a tiny piece of rubber tissue or 'fish skin'—(the 'cataract' which is secretly dropped on a pad; the pad is bandaged over the eye, with instructions that it must not be removed under 4 days. On the 5th day, when the pad is removed, the 'cataract' (the rubber tissue) will be found in the pad.

"These men also have a worthless 'electric belt,' which they allege cures every disease, even cataract, and which is so valuable—(only four in the world—we have 3 of them)—they will not sell, but which they lease for a period, provided a deposit of $2,500.00 is put up for its safe return, at so much per month for its use. But they never return for the belt; never intended to do so.

"When we captured one of these gangs, we found among other things blank certified check forms, needing only the insertion of the amount to be paid and the signature of the cashier; made on the First National Bank of Buffalo, N. Y., First National Bank of St. Louis, First National Bank of Chicago, and the Manhattan Bank and Trust Company of New York City. Adding the amount to be paid and the signature of the cashier is a short, easy job for a swindler.

"Another type of offender—equally culpable—is the 'free lecturer,' who poses as an expert dietitian or food specialist, or who has the secret of longevity, rejuvenation or some other attractive lure and who, after his lectures, teaches privately to his dupes the wonderful secret, system or formula for from $25.00 to $150.00 per pupil.

"Sheriffs, district attorneys, chambers of commerce, Better Business Bureaus and newspapers should warn the people of their respective sections to be on the lookout for such characters, and not only refuse to deal with them, but to notify their local officers of their presence, as they are wanted in many places. We have photographs, descriptions and fingerprints of many of the 'eye men,' which may be had temporarily for identification.

"The people of this state should know that this board issues on January first each year a 'permit' to practice in Texas during the current year, which permit bears its number and the number of the practitioner's license; that any person who is without such permit is practicing in violation of the law, and he or she should be prosecuted, as any other type of violator should and probably would be prosecuted."

The Indian population of the United States is very slowly increasing and is now about 350,000.

The gigantic banner erected on the site of the battle, the state's decisive thrust, erty will be one of the most imposing structures than the Washington monument and more beautiful than the Texas shaft known overnight.

PELLAGRA IS CAUSED BY LACK OF PROPER FOOD, SAYS HEALTH OFFICER

Austin, Texas.—Pellagra, while not a communicable disease, is of concern to the State Department of Health as many people die of it each year in Texas. Pellagra is a disease that is caused by the lack of proper foods. It comes on slowly and may not be recognized until the victim begins to have a sore mouth, stomach trouble, and reddening and scaling of the skin. When these symptoms appear, the disease has been present for some time, stated Dr. John W. Brown, State Health Officer.

The longer a person has pellagra the harder it is to cure, so one should be on the lookout for the early symptoms, such as nervousness, indigestion, and burning of the feet and hands. The disease may become so severe as to affect the mind.

Pellagra is not contagious. As long as a person eats enough of the right kind of food and is not otherwise diseased, he is in no danger even if he lives with a pellagra patient.

The prevention of pellagra depends upon eating the right kind of food at all times. To make sure that the diet is right, it should always include plenty of milk daily, some fresh meat, and as many fresh vegetables as possible. Tomatoes, whole wheat products, salmon, brewer's yeast, and fresh fruits are especially valuable. Having provided these essentials of a proper diet, the rest may be arranged according to family and personal likes. In this way pellagra may be avoided.

JOHN EDWARDS RUNS FOR PUBLIC WEIGHER OF PRECINCT THREE

John Edwards made public his announcement this week as a candidate for weigher of Precinct No. 3 of Foard County, subject to the action of the Democratic party in the primary elections.

In his announcement he said, "My policy will be to give the best of service. I have lived in this county most all my life, and I feel that the people know that I am qualified to serve as weigher."

"I will appreciate your support at the Democratic primaries. Please accept this announcement as a sincere and earnest request for your vote and co-operation in the elections."

Mr. Edwards is a resident of the Riverside community, and has been living in Foard County for many years.

All churches are urged to recognize the state and national holidays during 1936 with emphasis on the spiritual values that have had a vital part in the growth of the state of Texas. Each is to appeal to the citizens to arrest the haughty invader of our times represented by lawlessness, and moral corruption, which will destroy our Christian civilization purchased at so great a sacrifice by our forefathers. There is something for every patriot to do in this "San Jacinto of the Righteous, the Battle of 1936." In the words of the immortal Travis "God is on our side."

CENTENNIAL IGNORES DENOMINATIONISM

A striking feature of the Centennial celebration in Texas during 1936 is the interdenominational revival effort all over the state. One of the slogans of the movement is "The Battle of 1936." The co-operating churches, Methodist, Presbyterian U. S., Presbyterian U. S. A., Nazarene, Baptist, Episcopal and Christian are laying plans for as desperate and vigorous battle in the Centennial year as did the courageous Texans in 1836. The different churches are setting goals for an increase in membership of 10 per cent or more. The Baptists have a goal of 52,000 additions by baptism, and other denominations have special definite goals.

Each local church in the state will arrange its own battle lines according to five major objectives worked out by the State Interdenominational Committee as follows: 1. A goal of 25 per cent increase in church attendance at worship and instruction services. 2. Each church in Texas is to hold a revival meeting using its own denominational policy and plan. 3. A special committee in Dallas is arranging for special religious services to be held in the Centennial grounds as soon as possible, the responsibility for these services to be assumed by the denominations in turn. 4. Fifteen one-day Centennial revival rallies will be held in the following towns: Sherman, Tyler, Texarkana, Houston, Harlingen, San Antonio, Austin, Waco, San Angelo, Abilene, Lubbock, Amarillo, Wichita Falls, Ft. Worth, and Dallas, on March 9-13. These will serve as mass inspirational meetings in behalf of the spirit of Evangelism that is to sweep the state during 1936.

Find Out From Your Doctor if the "Pain" Remedy You Take Is Safe.

Don't Entrust Your Own or Your Family's Well-Being to Unknown Preparations

BEFORE you take any preparation you don't know all about, for the relief of headaches, or the pains of rheumatism, neuritis or neuralgia, ask your doctor what he thinks about it—in comparison with Genuine Bayer Aspirin.

We say this because, before the discovery of Bayer Aspirin, most so-called "pain" remedies were advised against by physicians as being bad for the stomach; or, often, for the heart. And the discovery of Bayer Aspirin largely changed medical practice.

Countless thousands of people who have taken Bayer Aspirin in and out without ill effect, have proved that the medical findings about its safety were correct.

Remember this: Genuine Bayer Aspirin is rated among the fastest methods yet discovered for the relief of headaches and all common pains... and safe for the average person to take regularly.

You can get real Bayer Aspirin at any drug store—simply by never asking for it by the name "aspirin" alone, but always saying BAYER ASPIRIN when you buy.

COMMENTABLE COMMENT

As the Greatest Only Are
 My favorite story is that of a raw army recruit who was manning a path at Governor's Island when a man in uniform passed. "Hey, buddy," the rookie said, "give us a light, will you?" The stroller obliged. As he walked away, another soldier, with staring eyes, exclaimed to the rookie, "For the love of Mike, do you know who that was? That's Pershing!" Flabbergasted, the newcomer ran after the General. "I'm so sorry, sir," he apologized. "I've been in the army only a couple of hours. I'm afraid all uniforms look alike to me, sir. I hope you won't—" Pershing smiled, and patted the man on the shoulder. "That's all right, son. Only—" he paused, and his eyes twinkled. "Only, take my advice and never try it on a second lieutenant."—Channing Pollock, author and playwright, in the Rotarian Magazine.

A Footnote on Greatness
 February is a month so filled with the birthdays of great men and great institutions that it might be interesting to inquire for a moment into the reasons for greatness itself. Ancient historians—Homer for example—were interested in the ventures and exploits of great men. But they were satisfied with the fact that their

 Just do what hospitals do, and the doctors insist on. Use a liquid laxative, and you can bring yourself to clocklike regularity without strain or ill effect.
 A liquid can always be taken in gradually reduced doses. Reduced dosage is the secret of any real relief from constipation.
 Ask a doctor about this. Ask your druggist how very popular Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin has become. It gives the right kind of help, and right amount of help. Taking a little less each time, gives the bowels a little less to get of their own accord, until they are moving regularly and thoroughly without any help at all.
 Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin contains senna and cascara—both natural laxatives that form no habit. The action is gentle, but sure. It will relieve any sluggishness or bilious condition due to constipation without upset.

subjects were heroes and mad-god stories. They told the stories, were listened to with wide-eyed awe, and everybody was, so far as we know, happy and satisfied. But modern students have inquired just a little more deeply into the matter. And the inquiry was worth the result. They have reached the illuminating conclusion that greatness comes to men and institutions in direct ratio to the degree those men or those institutions serve a great need.—From an editorial in the Rotarian Magazine.

On Curing Mental Disorders
 If people can only get it clear that mental disorders nearly always have a physical origin, they will have gone a long way toward routing the mystery and horror so long surrounding "insanity," as it is called—and they will have fitted themselves to treat fairly and reasonably those who become mentally disordered, just as they now treat fairly those who have measles or influenza.—Carl W. Sawyer, M. D., in the Rotarian Magazine.

Hard Times Require Good Sportsmanship

(Bruce Barton in the Rotarian Magazine.)
 There are men who have traveled through the depression annoyed, stung, and embittered by every mental upset and every financial loss. One cannot blame them, perhaps, but one pities them. There are other men who, having adopted the philosophy that this is a revolution, set up certain reserves, like Emerson's friend, "to be robbed of," and in so doing are able to do things more calmly and to make wiser decisions for themselves and for their businesses.

Apart from the philosophy of the thing, it seems to me that for many of us it ought to be a matter of good sportsmanship to get through troublous times in reasonably good humor. After all, we who are in the middle years had very sweet years from 1920 to 1929. We had our innings; we can't expect to be at bat all the time. Money flowed in to us. We made a lot of it. To be sure we lost most of it. But we had fun. And thank the Lord, we didn't lose it all.

We didn't lose what we spent. Our extravagances were our really zilt-edged investments. The tips we really couldn't afford. The antiques we bought, the automobiles; the jewelry for our wives; God be thanked that we didn't try to save all our money. Our richest possession from the boom is our happy memories. We have those good memories. We had our good times. Surely we ought to take what follows like men.

 leading the individual races with 82 points. His nearest opponent is Tate, Quanah center, who trails him by ten points. Rogers of Wichita Falls Coyotes is in the third slot with 67 points. Wiggins, Crowell forward, has in fourth with 64. All four players have one more game to play before ending their cage season as far as the Northwest Conference is concerned.

A three-way tie for the leading role in the conference was broken Friday night. Prior to that time Wichita Falls, Quanah, and Crowell were tied with four victories and two losses. Quanah took an easy match from Electra to clinch a tie, and Crowell easily beat out a win from the Wichita Falls Coyotes in a game requiring an extra period. The Wildcats came out on the long end of the score by a single point winning 37 to 36, thus Quanah and Crowell are in first place.

The Wildcats, a team that has been built this year from practically inexperienced material, will display their wares before an audience that will probably break the season's record in numbers here Friday night in the toughest game of the 1936 cage season as yet.

B. C. Forbes, financial writer, points out that one Chicago business firm pays $10,000 in taxes every day, while another has to dig up 25,000 from men as their daily tax subscription. Seemingly those business houses pay it, but the customer foots the bill in the long run, so no wonder we are all wondering where it will finally end.

The season is at hand when we shall see some of our most esteemed citizens and some not so highly esteemed, either "viewing with alarm" or "pointing with pride."

CAPITAL NEWS LETTER

(By W. D. McFarlane, M. C.)

T. V. A. and the Supreme Court
 The Congress awaits with great interest the Supreme Court's past due decision on TVA. Since the Supreme Court has declared AAA, NRA and several of the other important pieces of legislation of this Administration invalid, the consensus of opinion in Congress seems to be that the Court, by a divided opinion, will hold this Act invalid. Congressman Cross of Washington, January 28th, made a splendid speech in the House on this subject entitled "Shall the People be Governed as Subjects by the Supreme Court or Shall They Govern Themselves as Provided in Their Constitution Through Their Chosen Representatives?" From the hearty response received, its clear presentation, it is evident a large majority of the members of the House are in sympathy with his views to prohibit the Supreme Court from further declaring Acts of Congress invalid. Seven of the nine members of the Court were attorneys for large corporate interests before their appointment to the Court. If the Congress cannot enact legislation for the general welfare of the people such as providing for lower rates of such national monopolistic sale of the Government, then it is time for the people to decide what steps they will take to correct this situation. The constitution of this or any other nation in the world does not give its Supreme Court the power to declare Acts of the Legislative bodies invalid.

More Taxes
 It comes on good authority that this Congress will be requested to raise through additional taxation, revenues to replace the processing taxes declared invalid under the AAA decision by the Supreme Court. This decision and the remarks of the Secretary of Agriculture Wallace to the effect "it is the greatest legalized steal in history" was debated on the floor by Representative Treadway of Massachusetts, who thought that Secretary Wallace should be impeached. However, after Congressman Marvin Jones finished answering him, a large majority of the House membership seemed to agree that Secretary Wallace's statement should stand. Nevertheless, it seems that some kind of new taxes will soon be presented to Congress. This week the papers persistently carry the idea of a manufacturers' excise or sales tax calling for a 3 per cent levy, exempting certain necessities of life. This tax is designed to raise about five hundred to six hundred million dollars to replace the processing taxes. Regardless of the "sugar coating" placed around the tax, such a sales tax is still a tax on poverty and rests heavily upon those less able to pay, even those on relief and charity will pay the burden of such a tax. This raises an interesting question as to how the Congress will find a way to raise about $200,000,000 additional revenue to care for the increased old age pensions now being advocated. The House Ways and Means Committee (the Tax Committee) is trying to avoid the consideration of any new tax measures this session even to replace the processing taxes of $500,000,000; if they shy at this small sum, what will they do if they are required to raise about 49 times that amount? It now seems assured that the President will take unexpended funds from the HOLC and the RFC to avoid any new taxes on account of the bonus. This seems to have quieted the inflation group in the House; this group will favor currency reflation before supporting any new sales tax scheme. The writer again suggests eliminating some of the many loop holes now existing in the income tax laws through which a large amount of the wealth of the nation is escaping taxation, rather than placing new consumption taxes on poverty who now pay more than 60 per cent of the expenses of the Federal Government.

The Calendar

The House spent the past week considering private and unanimous consent legislation on Monday and Tuesday. Wednesday, Thursday and Friday they considered and finally passed the Post Office and Treasury Appropriations bills. The House passed the seed loan bill providing $40,000,000; also by a vote of 351 to 10, the House repealed the cotton, potato and tobacco laws already in effect declared invalid by the Supreme Court. The Senate finally passed the repeal of the cotton, tobacco and potato bill and debated substitute legislation for AAA and finally passed the deficiency bill providing funds for the farmers who complied with the 1935 AAA contracts. This legislation now goes to the White House.

This week the House will consider District of Columbia legislation on Monday and the War Department appropriations bill the remainder of the week. Neutrality legislation and appropriations bills will be before the Senate this week.

WICHITA BOWS TO WILDCATS: SCORE 37 TO 36

A three-minute extra period was necessary for the Crowell Wildcats to eke out a victory over the Wichita Coyotes on the junior college court in Wichita Falls Friday night. The score was 37 to 36 in favor of the Crowell lads. The victory over the Wichita cagers threw the Crowell quintet in a deadlock with Quanah, who also were victorious over Electra, for first place in the Northwest Conference.

With the score standing 35 and 35 at the end of the fourth quarter, a three-minute extra period was required to settle the dispute. Soon after the extra frame began Middlebrook, Crowell forward, sank a field goal to jump into the lead with a two-point margin, but the Wildcat changed dimmed count considerably as the fourth personal foul was called on Wiggins, who led the offensive, and he was forced out of the game. Rogers, Coyote forward, took the free toss and sank it to make the count 37 to 36 with Crowell in the lead. Then, with eleven seconds to go Dunagan made his fourth personal against Johnson and was called from the game. The burden was on Johnson's shoulders as it was in his power to sink the free toss to tie the game 11 seconds before the game was over. He missed, and the game ended with Crowell leading by one point.

The tussle ended with the Coyotes sinking a field goal. Crowell caught up. Free tosses placed the teams within one point of each other, and field goals kept the count zigzagging with the teams leading by one point alternately. Both teams opened slow, playing deliberate basketball, but breaking fast to keep the crowd cheering. At the end of the first quarter Crowell led 8 to 7.

Johnson placed the Coyotes a point ahead soon after the second period started, but Wiggins hit the bucket to reverse the standing. Two minutes before the intermission the score knotted 13-13.

Middlebrook opened the offensive after the half with a field goal. Wichita started a rally that carried the Coyotes beyond the Wildcats hitting field goals and free shots until the score was 26 to 25 in favor of Wichita Falls. Middlebrook came to the rescue with a gratis pitch to tie the score 26 to 26. Just before the third period ended, Crowell jumped into the lead two points, and Dunagan, Wildcat guard, got his fourth personal foul.

Hair-raising thrills were plentiful in the final stretch as both teams took long shots to have them get nearly through the hoop only to bounce out. Repeatedly the count changed with the fives taking turn about for the one point lead with the margin never swelling to more than two points. At the end of the regular game, the score was deadlocked 35 to 35.

In the added match, Crowell sank a field goal to the Coyotes' free toss to take the affair by a point.

Referee Bill Habern was kept busy as the Coyotes fouled 11 times and the Wildcats 18. Dunagan, Wiggins and Zeibig of Foard County received four in the order named. Allee and Middlebrook took three. Nash and Monaghan had three for Wichita Falls.

Wiggins took individual honors with 19 points. Middlebrook was second with 13. Johnson and Rogers of Wichita Falls netted 12 and 10, respectively. Half of Johnson's were gratis points. He hit six in a row. Crowell hit 5 out of 13 free tosses; Wichita got 12 out of 27.

Prior to the basketball game between Vernon and Wichita Falls last night, Crowell and Quanah were tied for the number one position in the Northwest Conference. Vernon and Wichita Falls were neck and neck for the third slot.

Electra finished the season without a single victory. She played seven games without a win. Regardless of the results of the Wednesday night game, Crowell and Quanah remain tied for first place with only one game to go to decide the "Big Five" champions.

Little Wildcats Take Acme Youngsters by 38-11 Score Tues.

Crowell junior Wildcats, without checking their remarkable record of no losses, took the Acme juniors Tuesday afternoon on foreign territory by a score of 38 to 11.

Leading the attack for Crowell and coping high individual honors for the afternoon was little Orr of Crowell who netted 7 field goals for 14 points. He built up his score after laying out the first quarter of the game. Six of his field goals came after the intermission. Nelson, also of Crowell, was second in the race for high points with three field goals and two gratis pitches to net 8 points.

Edmondson starred for the Acme offensive with seven points, over half of the total score made by the Acme lads. The Foard boys launched a drive that had carried them far into the lead by the time the first half ended. As the whistle ended the first half, the score stood 17 to 6 with Crowell on the long end of the score.

As Orr pocketed 12 points in the last half and every other man on the team was good for at least a free shot or a field goal, the Wild Kittens took the match decisively with plenty of points to spare.

Do You Know Where Strawberries Grow?

Strawberries which appear in winter shortages probably originated in Florida. The first car-load shipment of strawberries from west central Florida started on its way about the middle of December. Early berries from west central Florida continue to a peak in March, stopping entirely in April, says the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, which receives daily reports of strawberry shipments by rail, boat and truck.

Texas usually ships about a carload in December and one in January. Louisiana in 1935 began in March with a mere 18 car lots, jumped to 1,399 car lots in April and back to 466 in May. Mississippi and Alabama, too, ship early strawberries.

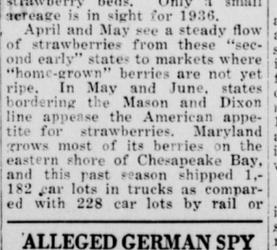

North Carolina, with 2,399 car lots in 1935, heads the second early group of strawberry-growing states. Two-thirds of these came north by truck. Tennessee, which markets practically its whole crop in May, shipped 962 car lots in 1935. Virginia accounted for 1,139 car lots. Arkansas used to be in this group, but the drought of 1934 destroyed most of the strawberry beds. Only a small acreage is in sight for 1936.

April and May see a steady flow of strawberries from these "second early" states to markets where "home-grown" berries are not yet ripe. In May and June, states bordering the Mason and Dixon line appease the American appetite for strawberries. Maryland grows most of its berries on the eastern shore of Chesapeake Bay, and this past season shipped 1,182 car lots in trucks as compared with 228 car lots by rail or water.

Hog Cholera Vaccine Is Tribute to Doctor

More than 30 years ago a Department of Agriculture scientist sought the cause of hog cholera, established the fact that it leaves surviving animals immune, and later developed anti-hog-cholera serum.

The scientist was Dr. M. Dorset. He died last July, but he left as a monument to his persistent genius a new vaccine—crystal violet—which the Bureau of Animal Industry has just announced, and which, it believes, may be the most satisfactory product yet developed to fight hog cholera. A patent on crystal violet vaccine—dedicated to the public welfare—has been applied for.

Although crystal-violet vaccine must be tested further, indications are it will not be only as effective, but cheaper and safer than the combination serum - and - virus treatment now used.

Dr. Dorset studied the diseases of many farm animals and developed many products for their control. But he was never fully content with his cholera serum. Year after year he and his staff worked for improvements in cholera prevention.

In recent years, they sought, particularly, chemicals to mix with the deadly virus which would destroy the infective element and at the same time preserve the protective element that creates immunity to hog cholera. They experimented with various substances—phenol, glycerin, formalin, and other chemicals.

One of the last was crystal-violet, a water-soluble dye. Dr. Dorset did not live to test, to his full satisfaction, vaccine made with this product. But his co-workers now announce that, in their experiments with 200 pigs, crystal-violet vaccine has given about 90 per cent protection against hog cholera.

Many Go to Canning Demonstration Held Friday and Saturday

Fifty women attended the canning demonstration held by Mrs. Lillian McKinney here Friday and Saturday. The demonstration was held in the M. S. Henry and Company building at 2 o'clock each afternoon under the auspices of the Ball Fruit Jar Corporation.

Methods for canning several different fruits, meats, and vegetables were taught the women who attended. Steak and apples were canned Friday, and chicken, oranges and mayonnaise were canned Saturday.

Features of the demonstration were a jar of canned raw meat, a fruit jar made under the 1858 patent, and another jar that was approximately 65 years old.

The instructor told several interesting experiences that were not related to cooking or canning. She told of giving demonstrations in East and South Texas to Mexican, Bohemian and German groups at which times she did her talking and listening through an interpreter.

Pitkin Urges Youth To Watch the News For Opportunities

Want a job? Then read the newspapers! That's the tip which Dr. Walter B. Pitkin, author and psychologist, gives to youthful career-seekers.

"Events make news. Events determine jobs," he says in the current Rotarian Magazine. "Young people can, if they will, get their bearings and frequently find their chance of a lifetime" through nothing but careful reading and interpretation of the news published in the best of our large metropolitan papers. And useful information may be found in county weeklies, county dailies and medium-sized papers."

He cites typical examples in such headlines as there: "1,500 Co-operative Stores Are Launched During Year," "Color Photography Opens Field for Young Artists," "Currency Controller Sees Need for Trained Bankers," "County Manager Planned," etc. The story in each case gives helpful details.

"The next time some jobless youth or maid reports forlornly that he feels unwanted in this cruel world," he recommends, "to those adults who want to help, suggest kindly that he retire to the nearest public library with a stack of newspapers, and let him look for a job behind the news. Equally important, if he seeks a career in fields which seem overcrowded, let the news warn him against making the heart-breaking mistake of following 'through where he hasn't a chance.'"

And how can young people make the most of the news? Dr. Pitkin summarizes as follows:

1. By genuinely reading the daily papers, just for a change. We have too many young communist artists, and too few thorough newspaper readers.
2. By subscribing to a top-notch metropolitan paper.
3. By reading local papers from many parts of the country when possible. Dozens of these are usually on file in public libraries.
4. By keeping a scrapbook of all information bearing on the careers the young people would like to consider.
5. In short, by becoming alert, well-informed citizens who recognize that wide information and the intelligent interpretation of news, not the job want-ads, ought to determine their successful careers.

"For further details," he concludes, "see your daily newspaper."

Tuberculosis Does Dirty Work Under Cover of Ignorance

Austin.—Tuberculosis, in common with the other major killers, is a criminal whose work is effectively carried on under cover of ignorance, stated Dr. John W. Brown, State Health Officer.

Carelessness is its greatest ally. How otherwise explain the conduct of persons who, despite poor appetite, faulty digestion, loss of weight, loss of strength or a sensation of tiredness in the afternoons, refuse to admit that their condition requires professional investigation? Personal cooperation is necessary if we would cut down the ravages of this preventable disease.

Removal of the contact cases, protection of the infant and very young, and prompt professional advice when symptoms suggestive of tuberculosis arise, will do much to reduce the tuberculosis death rate. But, as has been indicated, these measures by their very nature are largely outside the province of health officials. The problem is quite definitely a personal one.

Robbers of Conoco Products Write One-Way Tickets to Pen

Burglars who break into Continental Oil Company service stations and bulk stations and carry away merchandise are writing themselves a one-way ticket to the penitentiary.

Recent activities of oil theft and market rings now operating in southwestern states have caused Continental to declare war on this type of criminal.

COUNTERFEITER NO. 1

With most of the country's more desperate public enemies in prison or dead, government secret agents continued their war on criminals in general a few days ago by capturing the nation's biggest counterfeiter, whom they had long sought.

Shadowing a man they had seen buying engraving chemicals in New York, they raided his apartment in Union City, N. J., finding an elaborate counterfeiting outfit and arresting their man, who was found to be William Watts, whose output of spurious currency is estimated at nearly a million dollars. So nearly perfect were the bogus bills that many bank tellers had accepted them as genuine. Only a few weeks ago one of Watt's $20 bills was passed off on the Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau, and when a bank rejected it he turned the joke on his chief clerk by asking him to change it, and got good money in return.

While it is unlikely that this clever counterfeiter will be able to make any more bank notes for a good while, a lot of his imitation money is still in circulation.

Mrs. Fred Einkauf, yard demonstrator from Wallis, began her work by measuring a bed all the way around the house four feet wide which was then dug about fourteen inches deep, fertilized, worked over and raked, after which coral berry, cherry laurel, yucca, Japanese quince, pomegranate and bridal wreath were planted as foundation plantings.

In Austin County Mrs. H. A. Newmann, yard demonstrator of New Elm, began her work in October, 1934, by preparing a cutting bed in which she put out 117 cuttings of evergreens and roses to be rooted and transplanted to her yard in 1935.

Youpon, winter willow, coral berry, French mulberry, sumac, red cedar, elder bush, holly, dogwood, redbud, cherry laurel and spice bush are all growing wild in Austin county, and are available for yard improvement work there.

CHURCHES

Christian Science Church
Service Sunday at 11 a. m.
Wednesday evening service at 8 o'clock.
The public is cordially invited.
Sunday, February 16, 1936. Subject: "Soul."

Methodist Church
As long as the weather continues cold we will have preaching in the basement. After the most helpful institute, being conducted each evening through Friday night, at Quannah, our workers should have renewed vision which will find expression in definite church work.
The pastor has tried to keep in touch with those who have been sick for a length of time, but many have had severe colds and gotten well before he could visit them. He would appreciate being notified of illness and will try to visit where needed.
All church organizations and regular services continue as usual except for smaller attendance. Evening services continue to be held at 7 and Sunday School at 9:45. It is hoped the recent absentees will come back at the first opportunity.
GEO. E. TURRENTINE.

East Side Church of Christ
Services at the East Side Church of Christ are as follows: Bible Study at 10 a. m., preaching and worship at 11 a. m., Young People's meeting at 6 p. m., and preaching at 7 p. m. Everyone is invited to attend these services.

Baptist Church
Sunday School at 9:45. Preaching service at 11 a. m. B. A. U. and B. Y. P. U. at 6 p. m. Evening service at 7 o'clock.
Had great services last Sunday with much spirit manifest.
The Brotherhood met Monday evening in the best service they ever had. They dug down to rock bottom and have the determination to each do his part to help turn the wheels of Zion.—Reporter.

Christian Science Services
"Soul" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, February 16.
"The Golden Text is: 'Unto thee, O Lord, do I lift up my soul. Show me thy ways, O Lord; teach me thy paths.'" (Psalm 25:1, 4).
Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "I say unto you, Seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you: For every one that asketh I will give him, and to him that knocketh it shall be opened" (Luke 11:9, 10).
The Lesson-Sermon includes also the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Truth will at length compel us all to exchange the pleasures and gains of sense for the joys of Soul" (page 390).

CHS POETS

In a recent poem writing contest in the English III class of Mrs. Lewis Sloan it was revealed that CHS has some very excellent poets in its midst. All of the poems written were unusually good, but poems by the following students were selected as the best: Mary Green, Goodloe Meason, Ann Mabe and Hughes Fish.

JUNIORS SHINE

The Junior class has been busy selling shoe shine tickets for the past two weeks. They are selling them in order to obtain money for the Junior and Senior banquet which is to be held in April. The tickets are sold for a small fee which entitles the buyer to shines at the Mabe Booterie for a month. The class is highly pleased with the success they have encountered and will continue to sell them next month.

CAN YOU IMAGINE—

What caused Mozelle and Ann to come to the study hall out of breath the eighth period Friday?
What happened to Billie and Glen Don's case?
Bob Meyer ever realizing how much Thelma White cares for him?

Coach Graves coming to study hall with overcoat—(could it be cold weather or no shirt?)

WHAT WILL HAPPEN—

When J. M. Housouer lets other classes use his columns?
To Ann when Sam is gone to college?
When Fern Pearce starts talking?

If that scandal column isn't stopped?
If Mozelle finds out where James went Friday night?
If James hears where his "sweetie" went Saturday night?

BY RICHARD HOFFMANN

SYNOPSIS

Following his father's bitter criticism of his idle life, and the conviction that he need not expect any immediate financial assistance, Hal Ireland, only son of a wealthy banker, finds himself practically without funds but with the promise of a situation in San Francisco, which city he must reach from New York, within a definite time limit. He takes passage with a cross-country auto party on a "share expense" basis. With five others, Hal begins his journey. Four of his companions excite his interest: a young attractive girl, Barry Tafford; middle-aged Giles Kerrigan; Sister Anastasia, a nun; and a nondescript individual whom he instinctively dislikes, Martin Crack. Barry's self-withdrawal annoys him. To Kerrigan he takes to at once. The driver, Miller, attempts to abandon the party and abscond with their fares and baggage. Hal tells him, but is unable to shake a feeling of uneasiness. He distrusts Crack. Hal finds his intimacy with Kerrigan ripening, though he makes little progress with Barry.

Hal was two places behind Barry in the line at the cashier's window. A spectacular woman, past her twenties, leaned beside it, waiting until the cashier should be free again. She wanted a spotlight to tone down the heavy masses on her eyelashes, the bold make-up of her lips, the revealing tightness of her bright dress. She watched Barry steadily, unwary of being caught; her resentful eyes moved from detail to detail, rapidly calculating the composition of each effect; her petulant mouth, coolly at rest, indicated neither approval nor envy. Hal was watching the woman's whole, unconscious interest when Barry paid her check.

Barry looked down at Doctor Caligari, flicked his deliberate glance to the woman's face and smiled. Hal could see Barry's profile, clear and candid, as she spoke her low, friendly "Hullo." The woman's sullen eyes cheered quickly and artless dimples came at once beside her efficient smile. As if she recognized Barry, she said, "Hello, cuteness."

"Hot out," said Barry. "Hot is right," said the woman. "Keep outta this car." "Well," said Barry, a quiet sort of thanks in her smiling; and her easy, long-legged walk took her toward the door, the woman's look following her in contented approval. Now why did she do that? Hal asked himself in uninvited, consciously unreasonable irritation. He caught up with her outside the door to the street that seemed naked, not only by the sun but by a fanatic furnace just under the pavement, too.

"Going to walk the Doctor, or sit in the car?" he said. "Walk," said Barry, hardly looking at him. With a single, mirthless laugh at the beginning, he said, "D'you rather I sat in the car till you're finished?" She looked at him as if she had not quite caught his meaning. "Come if you like," she said. "They walked toward the principal street and turned into it—without speaking. Then the restive need to clear something up, to merge something out of his gathered dissatisfaction, took sudden charge of his tongue and he said, "Barry, I want to talk to you." And the pointlessness of that was apparent to him even before he'd finished.

"All right," she said inconsequently. "What about?" "Not on the main street of Peoria at two o'clock in the afternoon," he said. "Why not?" "You know damn well why not." Barry looked at him unsympathetically but without anger, and her low, steady voice said, "In the first place, I wouldn't've asked if I knew why not, and in the second place, throwing d—ns around doesn't help me understand you." "Oh, h—l," said Hal, more in vague disgust with himself than anything else. "That's not necessary, either," she said. "Barry, what's the matter?" "Not a darn thing—with me," she said. "Oh," he said; and they walked for another ten paces or so of silence. Then, as an accusation, he said to her, "You didn't know that woman—that woman you spoke to down there. Why did you speak to her?" Barry waited an instant before she said, still not turning to him, "Because I liked her looks; but because some day I may have to put up with what she has to put up with, and I hope she speak to me without thinking they're smart, or wanting something."

"Barry," said Hal, in the quick way he would have used for

Goodson Rieger to Try for Position on R. R. Commission

Dallas, Texas, Feb. 12.—Goodson Rieger, who for the past nine years has been deputy supervisor of the Oil and Gas Division of the Texas Railroad Commission, stationed at Houston, has announced his candidacy to the commission to succeed Col. E. O. Thompson. Mr. Rieger will seek the office of Railroad Commissioner on a platform pledging himself to appoint only qualified employees to positions under the commission; to the adjustment of freight rates to offset advantages now held by New Orleans over Texas ports from certain sections of Texas; and to the reallocation of production in Texas oil fields guaranteeing all fields against discrimination.

Auditor Says Banks Should Make Public Financial Reports

Austin.—Belief that all financial institutions under supervision of the State Banking Commission should be required to make financial statements at regular intervals, these to be open to the public, was expressed this week by State Auditor Orville S. Carpenter upon completion of an audit of the State Banking Department. Mr. Carpenter said: "Present statutes prohibit the banking commissioner from furnishing any information about the financial condition of any institution under his supervision. The purpose of this is to protect these institutions from unwarranted, detrimental disclosures of confidential information. The statutes intend and direct immediate action by the banking commissioner against any unsound institution under his supervision. The general public has a right, therefore, to infer that any financial institution doing business in this state under supervision of the Banking Department is in sound financial condition. "The practical effect, however, of this statutory restriction is that a person who would deposit or invest, or who has deposited or invested, his money in any one of these institutions has nowhere to turn for accurate, reliable information regarding the condition of that institution. He must, therefore, rely upon the inference created by law in the company's favor. "It is my opinion that the interests of the general public would be more adequately protected by a requirement that all financial institutions under the supervision of the State Department of Banking file with that Department, at stated times, detailed statements of their financial condition, which statements should be public records and open to inspection by the general public. These statements should be in such detail as to afford the reader thereof an accurate and complete picture of the financial condition of that institution and enable him to verify for himself the reality of the presumption of solvency that now exists in favor of any institution doing business in this State under supervision of the Banking Department."

You Can't Get Away With It

Fake accident racketeers are a threat to every honest business and every individual. Agencies of justice are bringing them to book and can continue to do so with your help. This is one of a series of articles describing tricks of racketeers—showing that these tricks do not work against organized business. Watch out for them yourself.

A Sock for Mother-in-Law Before Doctor Samuel Harmon went to jail, in the days when his fake accident and fraudulent claim racket still looked like an easy way to make money, he had a henchman by the name of Pietro Trunio. Pietro complained one day that he had to support his wife's parents and they were a burdensome expense.

"Well," said the doctor slyly, "they could pay their way by having a little accident." Pietro caught on. He suggested that his friend, Vincent, a taxi driver, would help. Pietro instructed his parents-in-law in the art of accident faking, and an appointment was made with Vincent to be at a spot Sunday morning where the couple would cross the street on their way to church.

The couple were there at the appointed time and so was Pietro in his role of director, but no Vincent with his taxicab. He slept through the ringing of his alarm clock. The "accident" had to be started over again. An hour and a half later they were all there and the "accident" went off as scheduled. Vincent's fender just missed the old man and lady, he stopped his cab with screaming brakes, and the couple fell to the pavement in simulated agony.

Then quickly they were bundled off to Dr. Harmon's office. That benevolent practitioner did a job of banging the old man to make him look like he had been hit by a cab. "How about me? I have no bruises," cried the excited mother-in-law. "Yes you have," said Pietro, giving her a straight jab to the face that broke her nose.

That was one time a man hit his wife's mother and got away with it. The mother-in-law's indignation was soothed by the assurance that her broken nose would be worth money to her. The pair sued the taxicab company and collected damages. Rather, Dr. Harmon collected. Very little reached the old people. Dr. Harmon and his accomplices all thought they were getting away with it. But in the end, the relentless undercover work of the Index Bureau System maintained by the National Bureau of Casualty and Security Underwriters, trapped them. Dr. Harmon and the crooks and dupes who formed his fake accident ring were convicted and sent to the penitentiary.

Ducks Should Receive Schoolmarm Welcome

Remember the country "schoolmarm"? Spending one week with one family and the next with another, she fared well on good food and comfortable sleeping quarters. No family let her go on to the neighbors showing signs of poor treatment. "If wild ducks could receive such hospitality for 3 years, their annual migrations would soon resemble those of 50 years ago," says Col. H. P. Sheldon of the United States Bureau of Biological Survey. "Like the 'schoolmarm,' a wild duck appreciates good food and good resting places." "The 'schoolmarm' wouldn't have lasted long on starvation rations and a plank bed. Our ducks won't last long either if the public continues to let itself be guided by the slogan, 'Let's kill 'em while they're here.'" love, for the first—good G—d, yes, the first real time in his life. The little bridge sign announcing Kickapoo creek, made him chuckle with pleasure; and when he glanced at Kerrigan, he put no restraint on his affectionate comfort in being here beside him. "Hey, my frand," said Kerrigan, bending gravely toward him, "where did you go to Peoria?" "Why, Colonel?" said Hal, grinning.

Bookkeeping System Commenting on the bookkeeping system of the State Banking Department, Mr. Carpenter said that the situation was analogous to that of a business firm that did not keep records of amounts its customers owed it. The Texas statutes provide for at least two examinations per year of each state bank, and for at least one examination per year of each building and loan association. The purpose of these examinations is to enable the Banking Department to maintain that proper degree of supervision over these institutions as was contemplated by the Constitution of this State and the statutes enacted thereunder. "In the course of this audit the examination files of every institution supervised by this department have been checked, and I find that with a few exceptions such examinations have been regularly made," the State Auditor explained. "This audit covers the three-year period ended August 31, 1935," he said. "The policies followed during this period have been, I believe, to some extent, naturally, if not legally, influenced by the general conditions. The exceptions to the regularity of examinations have occurred during this period and were probably thought to have been justified from a consideration of the resultant effect upon the whole banking structure rather than from the immediate urgency of the particular condition. "I am not unmindful of the fact that during this period of time the financial institutions of this state and country have been under extraordinary stress," he added. "Likewise, I believe that I do not underestimate the degree of dependence of all business upon these institutions; rather, it is because of my realization of their importance at such times that I believe the laws should not be abrogated at the discretion of the commissioner. "Two refunds of examination fees to loan and brokerage corporations were made, although I found no provision therefor in the statutes. These refunds amounted to $1,372.07," he pointed out. Mr. Carpenter also suggested that the $17,411.09 guaranty fund should be distributed. Texas yards will be on parade this year of the Texas Centennial, and Texas rural home makers have been getting ready for the show if one is to judge by annual report figures of the Extension Service. Turkey does not permit ambassadors and other high government officials to marry foreign women.

Women Neglect Care of Hair, Says Expert

Denton. — Women who seek beauty in little jars of expensive creams, precious perfumes, and lustrous eye shadows are sometimes likely to overlook the incomparable beauty of really fine hair.

Satin soft hair, whether it be straight as the sleek lock of an Indian princess or curly as that of Cinderella, probably does more to enhance the inherent loveliness of a face, young or old, than almost any other single feature.

Girls at Texas State College for Women (CIA) believe that women take their hair for granted, giving it only that kind of attention that has to do with arrangement. What they should do is to keep the growth healthy by frequent shampoos, nightly friction of the scalp and vigorous brushing to pluck out the dead shafts.

The brushing rite, when properly performed, leaves the scalp slightly tingling with a faint glow of warmth to indicate that circulation has been effectively stimulated. Every strand of hair has been brushed clean and burnished to a glossy sheen.

In the treatment of dry hair an excellent medium is made by combining one ounce of castor oil and one ounce of alcohol. The purpose of the alcohol is to thin the oil and to create warmth in the scalp. Heat the mixture slightly, trickle it onto the scalp and give a good rubbing.

FOARD BOYS TAKE THALIA CAGERS 32-24

The Crowell Wildcats staged a mighty rally in the fourth quarter of a cage match with Thalia last Thursday night in the local gymnasium to defeat the visitors 32 to 24 before a moderately large audience.

The Thalia basketballers, after trailing the Crowell cagers by only the narrowest margins for two quarters, forged ahead of the Wildcats 22 to 21 shortly after the opening of the third quarter.

Wiggins, Crowell forward, came to the rescue by sinking a free toss, and the score remained that way as the whistle ended the third quarter.

The match opened with vigor, vim, and vitality shown by both teams. Thalia brought first blood with a field goal, with Crowell sinking the next two to gain a margin of two points.

The score again, only to drop behind a point by a Wildcat free toss. The first quarter brought applause from the fans as the teams played outstanding defensive ball, guarding man for man in fast play.

Earthman of Thalia played a sensational defensive game. As the first quarter drew to a close, the Crowell lads built up a lead 11 to 6.

Plenty of guarding featured the second frame as the Tigers held the Wildcats to eight points while hitting the circle for 12. Crowell boys could not get loose for short shots, and the long ones were none too good.

In the last period the local quintet hit a new stride to the tune of ten points while allowing the visitors only two free tosses to take the game by a final score of 32 to 24.

Wiggins and Middlebrook, Crowell forwards, divided the honors for the night, each hitting the bucket for a dozen points.

Wisdom, Thalia forward, led the offense for the opponents with 9 tallies. Davis, center, crowded him with 8.

Referee Joe Forrester was forced to call several fouls to keep the boys from getting too rough.

The game was inclined to be spiced with fouls as both teams played excellent defensive games.

The game was a practice affair. Both teams will enter the district meet at Childress which will be held February 21-22.

Driver's Law—

(Continued from Page One) at the collector's office. There can be no notary fee charged. Every application gives the name, age, sex, residence address and physical description of the applicant, and whether or not the applicant has been licensed as an operator or chauffeur, and if so when and by what state, and whether or not the license has ever been revoked, and if so, the date of and reason for the suspension or revocation.

Licenses issued will be good for three years. L. G. Phares, acting director of the safety department, estimated 2,500,000 licenses will be issued, basing his judgment that there are 2.2 drivers to each of the 1,250,000 vehicles.

Licenses issued without examination will be automatically revoked or suspended on conviction of:

Negligent homicide in operation of a motor vehicle; driving a vehicle while intoxicated; any offense punishable as a felony under motor vehicle laws; three convictions in 12 months for speeding or reckless driving; failure to stop and render aid after an accident; or two charges of aggravated assault upon a person with a motor vehicle.

The first revocation of a license will extend for six months and the second for one additional year. Penalties for driving without a license include a jail sentence of two days to six months and a fine up to $500.

Licenses will be denied persons under 14 years old, habitual drunkards and narcotic users, those adjudged insane, epileptic or feeble-minded, and those shown by common experience to possess defects rendering them incapable of efficient driving.

The law provides only a few exemptions, which are: No person shall be required to obtain an operator's license or a chauffeur's license for the purpose of driving or operating a road roller, road machinery or any farm tractor, implement of husbandry, farm wagon, farm trailer or any non-motor propelled vehicle or carriage temporarily drawn, moved or propelled on the highway; persons in the employ of the United States and when furnished with a driver's permit and when operating an official motor vehicle in such service shall be exempt from license under this act; drivers of commercial motor vehicles operating under jurisdiction of the Railroad Commission who are required to have a license issued by that department; non residents will have 90 days of grace before having to purchase a license.

WILDCATS ARE TO START GRID TRAINING SOON

The exact date for the 1936 spring training has not been determined, but it will begin immediately after the basketball season is over, according to Coach Grady Graves. There will be about six weeks of training this spring.

The linemen will work out for two weeks alone, then the backfield will work out together. At the end of the training period there will be a game between the candidates for this year's team and a team composed of the senior class.

This year's team will have to be composed of last year's "B" squad for the most part, the coach said. However, there will be several other boys out for the team for the various positions.

Reeder, Lankford, Rasberry, Shook, Simmons, and Fitzgerald are the weightier boys that played on the "B" squad last season, but some of the lighter weights like Joy, Gafford, Eddy, Oneal, Bailey, Erwin, McKown, and Orr saw lots of service last fall while some of the heavier boys were on the sidelines.

All boys eligible for the team this fall have an invitation to participate in the spring training. Coach Graves said. Several boys that are not mentioned have said they will be on the gridiron when the first out-of-season workout is called.
