ANNIVERSARY PLANS NEAR COMPLETION

Leo Arena Is Ready for Performances, Say Promoters

Plans for Foard County's Forty-fifth Anniversary Jubilee are nearly completed, according to the self-appointed director of the celebration, who gave a report on progress at the regular meeting of the Farmers' and Business Association held Monday in the Crowell Methodist church.

Light Crust Doughboys, performers over Station WFO at Fort Worth for Burrus & Elevator Company, will give their program from 12:30 to 1:30 p. m. Saturday, April 25, and the Centennial Jubilee band will be celebrated April 27 and 28. The Doughboys will also perform on the first day of the jubilee with their loud speaking equipment.

Brand Cowboys who represent the Armstrong Packing Company in Dallas will attend the jubilee Tuesday night, April 22, and the Falls Aviators who perform for Falls Refining Company over Station KGKO at Wichita Falls will be in Crowell for two days and nights of the celebration.

Back pens and chutes for the arena at the football stadium for the four performances have been completed and other details are nearing completion. Approximately 200 contestants are expected to compete in the rodeo events.

A committee composed of J. H. Miller and J. N. Johnson was appointed to provide places for the rodeo to sit. Hubert Brown and Pete Bell were placed on a committee. Sam Mills, Ebb Scales and Eli Smith are members of the music committee appointed by Mr. Self at the banquet.

The work on converting the school football field into a rodeo arena has been completed. There will be five chutes to be used for bronc riding, steer riding and calf roping. Numerous small corrals have been built for the rodeo stock.

Members of the housing committee have asked that all those who have rooms they wish to let during the jubilee to list them in the T. P. Reader, one of the jubilee papers.

C.H.S. All-Round Champs At Childress Meet With 4 Firsts, 8 Seconds, 1 Third

In Rodeo

Miss Opal Woods of Ringwood, Okla., who will do trick riding, trick roping and "bronc busting" in the four rodeo performances to be held here in connection with the 45th Anniversary Jubilee April 27 and 28. She is the world champion girl trick roper.

Crowell High School won the all-round championship at the District 4 Interscholastic League meet with 95 points, to almost double her nearest opponent, Childress was second with 55 points and Chillicothe was third with 50 points.

The meet was held at Childress Saturday, April 11.

The Crowell representatives carried off first honors in boys' debate, senior boys' declamation, typing team and junior declamation. They took second places in girls' extemporaneous speaking, ready writing contest, and Spanish composition, declamation, and essay, and three places in track and field events.

Estelline carried off high honors in the track and field division, with Wellington running a close second falling short of Estelline by only 3 points.

The Crowell delegation won four first places and eight second places and placed in all but three of the events they entered.

Tom Ray Roberts and Banks Campbell took first in the boys' debate and Merrill Allee won senior boys' declamation. Joe Wallace Beverly carried off high honors in the ward school junior declamation for boys. Sam Crews and Hughes Fish as a team won first in typing.

Mary Lou Fudge won second in extemporaneous speaking for girls and Edith Hutchison won second in Spanish composition. Mary Frances Green placed second in Spanish declamation and Mary Lou Fudge won second in the Spanish essay contest.

Ray Thomas won third place in extemporaneous speaking. The Crowell girls' debate team composed of Billie Brown and Camille Graves was defeated by a two to one decision by Chillicothe who later won the district girls' debate (Continued on Page Five)

1.3 INCHES RAIN BREAKS DROUGHT OF 4 1/2 MONTHS

Precipitation General In This Section Of State

A general rain which measured 1.3 inches at Crowell ended a four and one-half months' drought in Foard County Wednesday night. Following one of the season's worst sand and dust storms and accompanied by a thunder and electrical storm, the rain began falling about 7:15 and continued until late into the night.

For about an hour the town was without lights due to the electrical interference.

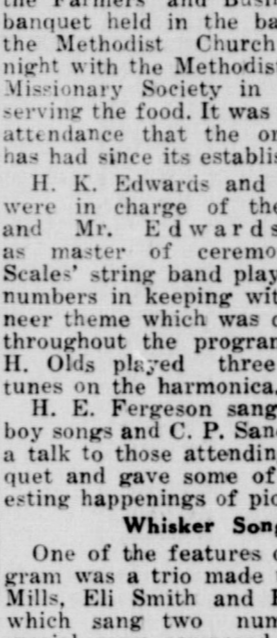

The precipitation Wednesday night was the first recorded for Crowell since December 4 at which time it rained about half an inch. A .6 inch rain was recorded for April 18 of last year.

Reports of the rain in nearby towns are:

Foard City, 1 inch; Truscott, 1 inch; Thalia, 1.5 inches; Quanah .5 inch; Benjamin, 1 inch.

"Horse Traders" Attend Banquet Monday; Discuss 45th Anniversary Jubilee

Play Director

Mrs. I. T. Graves, speech arts instructor in Crowell High school, is director of the one-act play for Crowell. The name of the play to be entered in the district tournament by Crowell is "The Severed Cord." It will be given Saturday morning at 9 o'clock in the high school auditorium.

More than 130 "Horse Traders" and special guests attended the Farmers' and Business Men's banquet held in the basement of the Methodist Church Monday night with the Methodist Woman's Missionary Society in charge of serving the food. It was the largest attendance that the organization has had since its establishment.

H. K. Edwards and Eli Smith were in charge of the program and Mr. Edwards acted as master of ceremonies. Ebb Scales' string band played several numbers in keeping with the pioneer theme which was carried out throughout the program. Mrs. J. H. Olds played three old-time tunes on the harmonica.

H. E. Ferguson sang two cowboy songs and C. P. Sandifer made a talk to those attending the banquet and gave some of the interesting happenings of pioneer days.

Whisker Song

One of the features of the program was a trio made up of Sam Mills, Eli Smith and Ebb Scales which sang two numbers. A special song composed by Mr. Mills regarding Crowell's "long whiskers" was presented by the trio.

Following the program at the banquet, G. D. Self, general director of the Forty-fifth Anniversary Jubilee, took charge of the program and gave some of the latest developments regarding the celebration.

Reports from several of the committee chairmen were given. John Rasor and Dr. J. M. Hill were appointed by A. W. Lilly, president of the Farmers' and Business Men's Association, as a committee to be in charge of the program at the next banquet. Pete Bell and Decker Magee were placed on a committee to sell tickets, and the same committee was placed in charge of the banquet.

Several out-of-town guests attended the banquet Monday night. A delegation from Paducah were special guests. Presidents of the women's home demonstration clubs of the county and presidents of the Crowell and Thalia Parent-Teachers' Association attended. There were also several representatives from the schools of the county.

AUDITORIUM TO BE SCENE OF 8 ONE-ACT PLAYS

"The Severed Cord" Is Name of Crowell's Contest Drama

Beginning Friday night and lasting throughout Saturday of this week the district one-act play contest for high schools will be held in the Crowell High School auditorium with I. T. Graves, superintendent, in charge of the contest.

Eight teams will compete in the tourney, three of them presenting their plays Friday night beginning at 7:45 o'clock.

Childress of Childress County will present the first play Friday night. The name of the play by the Childress cast is "Mansions." Matador from Motley County drew the number two place. The name of its play has not been reported to Mr. Graves. Memphis of Hall County will present "Sod" as the last play Friday night.

The Crowell actors will present "The Severed Cord" Saturday morning at 9 o'clock. "Moonshine" will be the next drama and will be given by Quail of Collingsworth County. The final play before the noon intermission will be given by Quanah of Hardeman County. The name of the drama is "Pink and Patches."

Beginning at 1:30 Saturday afternoon Valley View from Cottle County will present its play. The name of the drama has not been reported. Silvertown from Briscoe County will give the last play of the tourney. The name of it is "The Finger of God."

Two of the judges for the meet have been selected but the third has not been picked definitely. Their names were not released.

Mrs. R. L. Kincaid has been made chairman of the housing committee to take care of keeping the members of the competing casts. All those who will be willing to house members of the one-act play casts are urged by Mrs. Kincaid to report to her.

A small admission fee will be charged for the plays. Season tickets may be obtained for the entire tourney.

The annual district tournament has been held in Crowell seven out of the last eight years. It was held in Childress in 1934 after having been in Crowell five consecutive years.

The play casts and their coaches and directors will be given a Centennial luncheon Saturday at noon by Mrs. I. T. Graves, director of the Crowell dramatic students and speech arts instructor in the Crowell school. The luncheon will be held at Raymond's Cafe.

FOARD COUNTY PAROLE BOARD IS ANNOUNCED

R.D. Oswalt Chairman; To Help Those Who Are Paroled

The announcement of Foard County's parole board was released this week by Governor James V. Alfred. R. D. Oswalt was made temporary chairman of the board and other members are C. T. Schlagel, M. S. Henry, C. P. Sandifer and George Self.

The county parole board plan, recently inaugurated by Gov. Alfred, is one of voluntary service through which members may serve their community by giving counsel and assistance to men who are paroled from the state penitentiary, thus aiding in the rehabilitation of ex-convicts. "More than 150 county parole boards have been organized to date, and the plan has met with much success, especially in the larger cities."

"The parole problem is a challenge to good citizenship," Alfred said. "We must admit, whether we like it or not, that 90 percent or more of the persons sent to the penitentiary will be returned ultimately to the community. Parole, as I understand it, should be the bridge between the prison period and a return to normal, healthy, useful citizenship. Texas has been slow to attack the parole problem. The parole board movement is a definite step in our law enforcement program."

LEGIONNAIRES MEET FRIDAY IN LODGE HALL

Plan to Have Entry in Pioneer Parade; Order Colors

The Gordon J. Ford Post of the American Legion, in a call meeting Friday night by Clint White, commander, made preparations for its entry in the pioneer parade to be held the first day of the Forty-fifth Anniversary Jubilee.

The organization will have a float and will have color bearers in the parade. The local organization has ordered a new set of colors to be used on this occasion.

C. C. Ribble was appointed chairman of a committee to be in charge of the float and to carry the colors. Other members of the committee are Ernest Crosnoe, Homer Zeibig, S. E. Crosnoe, Cicero Miller and Bud Minyard.

Ebb Scales and A. Y. Beverly reported to the post on the Crowell Boy Scout movement. John E. Long also gave a report on the number of veterans that the American Legion here had sent to special hospitals for veterans. He stated that in emergency operations which must be undergone by veterans before they can get to a veterans' hospital may have their expenses paid if they will report the operations to the service officer before the operation takes place. This expense will be taken care of by the Veterans' Administration. The local service officer is C. B. Graham.

In a summary of the veterans' bonus applications which have been sent in from the county it was reported that approximately 165 had been mailed in and only three of this number had come back for correction.

Following the meeting of the Legion members in the lodge hall, they were served refreshments at the DeLuxe Cafe.

REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS

The following real estate transfers were recorded in the county clerk's office:

Great Southern Life Insurance Company to Mr. and Mrs. V. A. Johnson 160 acres of section 27, block 44 of the H. & T. C. Railway Company survey.

J. R. Beverly to E. V. Halbert lots 9, 10 and 12 of block 34 in Foard City and lots 4, 5 and 6 in block 38 of Foard City.

Town Dons Red, White and Blue

The Crowell business section donned the red, white and blue Friday night and Saturday of last week in keeping with Foard County's Centennial celebration to be held Monday and Tuesday, April 27 and 28.

Flags, banners and drapes of brilliant colors have been placed on practically every business house in town, the court house has been decorated in the patriotic colors. The United States flag has been placed on the flagpole.

The decorations will remain on the buildings until after the closing of the Jubilee.

J. R. HANKS IS BURIED HERE WEDNESDAY

Elder E. J. Smith Is in Charge of Funeral Services

The funeral of J. R. Hanks, resident of Crowell and Foard County since 1916, was held at the local Church of Christ Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock conducted by Elder E. J. Smith of Hardeman County. Special music at the funeral was rendered by a quartet composed of Guy and Homer Ketchersid of Crowell and Archie and Owen Ketchersid of Harman County. Mr. Hanks died at his home in West Crowell Tuesday afternoon at 6 o'clock. He had been in ill health since suffering a stroke of paralysis two years ago. His condition had been critical for seven weeks and relatives held no hopes of his recovery.

Pall bearers were: Dick Sparks, Nicholas, Huggins, Joe Clifton, Roy Huckabee, Grover Cole and Lynn McKown.

The deceased was born in Cooke County, near Gainesville, June 20, 1858, and lived on a farm until his marriage to Miss Elizabeth Whitley in 1886. Following his marriage he moved to Uz in Montague County where he was employed as a blacksmith. He worked at this trade for twenty years. During the time he lived at Uz he was postmaster for four years. The family moved from Uz to Belcherville and then to Atlee, Indian Territory, in 1900 and lived there five years before moving to Loco where Mr. Hanks' first wife died. He worked in a dry goods store at Loco, February 13, 1909. Mr. Hanks married Miss Daisy Trosper at Oklahoma City. In 1916 the family returned to Texas and Mr. Hanks bought the Tom Whitley farm in the Good Creek community and has resided in this county since that time, about half of the time he had lived in Crowell.

The deceased had been a member of the Church of Christ since he was twenty-five years of age. He was a good man and his jovial disposition made him many friends during his long residence in this section.

Survivors include his widow and four children by his first wife. They are Mrs. J. T. Daniels and Streeter Hanks of Ringling, Okla., Bert Hanks of Crowell, Mrs. G. T. Hayes of Elk City, Okla., nine grandchildren and three great grandchildren; one brother, C. B. Hanks, a traveling salesman; one sister, Mrs. Hattie Sessions of Munday. All of the children and the sister were here at the time Mr. Hanks passed away. His brother did not arrive until after the funeral.

Woods Mentioned in Will of Aunt He Had Not Seen in 50 Years

J. K. (Kenney) Woods was notified last week that he had been remembered in the will of an aunt who died in Missouri about six months ago. Since that time executors of Mr. Woods and he had been hunting for Mr. Woods and he was located last week by an ad that appeared in the Wichita Record-News on April 8 and 9. The fact that Mr. Woods was wanted was broadcast over the radio and Mr. Woods heard the broadcast, but the announcer was calling for "Kenneth" Woods instead of "Kenney." Mr. Woods got in touch with the authorities at Wichita Falls last Thursday and has properly identified himself as the heir to the identified aunt but the exact amount is not known.

Mr. Woods had not seen any of his relatives, who live in Missouri, for fifty years with the exception of an aunt he saw in Mangum, Okla., about 32 years ago.

You Are Welcome To Foard's Jubilee

Because they do not receive a special invitation does not mean that people who once lived in Foard County are not invited to attend the 45th Anniversary Jubilee on April 27-28. The committee has mailed invitations to all former residents whose names have been handed them.

Members of this committee have been alert and every name given them has received a special notice of the coming celebration, April 27-28, however, it is not necessary for former Foard County residents to receive this notice to be welcome at the Jubilee. All former residents of the county are invited whether they receive a special invitation or not.

New Phrases of Soil Conservation Plan Are Explained By Farm Agent John Nagy; Not to Receive More Than $1

Just as the old Triple A programs added such words as "adjusted acreage," "base acres," "contracted acres," "compliance," and a score of others to the farmer's language, so the new AAA soil conservation program is bringing new words to the farm. The meaning of some of them is explained by John Nagy, county agricultural agent.

Most important from a financial standpoint, he says, are "soil conserving payment" and "soil building payment." The first is the grant a farmer may get for shifting from "soil depleting" to "soil conserving and building crops." The second is the payment, never in excess of $1 per acre, which a farmer may be entitled to receive to help finance new grass and legume and similar seedings.

Farmers are beginning to talk readily about "soil depleting base." Soil depleting crops for Texas are corn, cotton, grain sorghums, sweet sorghums, millets, potatoes, rice sugarcane, commercial truck and canning of small grains harvested for grain or hay, and peanuts. These crops take much out of the soil, return little. Grown exclusively, in the long run they will ruin the farm and the farmer.

Then there are "soil conserving" crops. These help the soil hold its own, but only slightly increase fertility. These crops include all main kinds of old seedings of legumes such as alfalfa, and grasses such as sudan pasture if only grazed or clipped green; the winter cover crops if plowed under, or, if harvested, followed by summer legumes. Forest trees planted since 1933 also class as soil conserving.

"Soil building crops" are legumes plowed under as green manuring crops; biennial and perennial legumes seeded in 1936; summer legumes with forage left on land; and winter cover crops plowed under and followed by summer legumes. Trees planted in 1936 count as soil builders this year.

CROWELL TO SEND SIX TO REGION MEET

Crews, Thompson and Stone to Enter Track Events

The Regional Interscholastic League Meet will be held at Canyon Saturday, April 25.

Tom Ray Roberts and Banks Campbell will represent Crowell High School in the boys' debating division and Merrill Allee will declaim in the senior division. Sam Crews, who placed second in the individual typing test in the district meet will compete in the regional typing competition.

In the track and field meet Sam Crews will enter pole vaulting, Robert Thompson will high jump and James Stone will compete in the high hurdles.

Agent Lays Terrace Lines on 210 Acres

Terracing lines have been placed on the following farms by County Agent Nagy during the last week:

Seventy-five acres of land owned by A. T. Fish of Vivian.

Seventy-five acres owned by J. E. Fish of Vivian.

Thirty acres of land four miles north of Crowell owned by H. E. Schlagel.

Forty acres of land three miles east of Crowell owned by Dwight Campbell.

ELIC DISPLAYS PLACED IN MANY SHOW WINDOWS

Other Stores to Have Displays Before Celebration

Pictures, relics and other displays have been placed in many of the business houses' show windows to add color to the Forty-fifth Anniversary Jubilee.

It was first planned to have an antique exhibit, but due to the fact that no suitable exhibition building was obtainable the antique committee and the show window committee combined their efforts to have the relics and interesting displays of the town placed in the windows.

Four stores of the history of Foard County are exhibited in one of the windows. This section of the county as it appeared in the years 1836, 1880, 1895 and 1936. A small corner of the window is opened off and a display predicting conditions in 1936 is shown.

Part of a wood collection owned by a pioneer at Electra has been obtained for one of the windows. Miniature cowboys riding horses and longhorn cattle whittled by hand from wood are in the display.

Many other windows show old-time pictures and relics of 50 to 100 years ago. Other stores plan to have exhibits placed in their display windows before the celebration.

Ford - FOR ECONOMY

ENTHUSIASTIC sales talk often begins and ends with gasoline mileage. Some salesmen would like you to believe it is the whole story of automobile economy. But drivers ought to know better. For, the fact is, it's way down the list. The big items of car economy are low first cost, low up-keep cost and low depreciation. Savings here can make a great deal of difference in cost per mile. Gasoline mileage is more of a talking point than an economy factor. Check up and you will find that the difference between 17 and 19 miles a gallon is less than $10 for a whole year's average driving (8400 miles at 18 cents a gallon). Here are the big items that make the Ford the most economical car:

More value for every dollar you pay.
Lower cost for repairs and service.
Long life. Slow depreciation.
Quality means economy and the 1936 Ford V-8 gives you more real quality than any other low-price car. No other car under $1645 has a V-8 engine. No other low-price car has Center-Poise Riding, safe, sure mechanical brakes and Safety Glass all around at no extra cost.

Help Your City

—and at the same time help yourself by paying your City Taxes

when you can save penalty, interest and costs.

Keeping the financial affairs of your city in good condition is as much the business of its citizens as it is the business of those elected to handle these problems. To what extent this can be done depends on whether or not people pay their city taxes.

The City Council urges and requests that the City taxpayers, whose taxes are delinquent, make an effort to pay their taxes, so it will be possible for the City to pay the interest and principal on the City Bonds when due. The City Council considers the bonded indebtedness to be a moral and legal obligation of the City. As the duty of handling these payments was vested in the present City Council at the city's elections, the City Council asks your full co-operation, by making your best effort to pay your current and delinquent taxes.

Also the General and Street funds are badly in need of money. The expenses of these funds have been cut to rock bottom, and still the yearly tax collections will pay only one-third of these expenses. The money prorated to these funds, goes to pay the general expense of the City government, the street light bills and maintaining the streets and bridges.

The City Council has allowed the City Tax to be paid for several years without any interest, penalty or costs being added, and to help the City taxpayers who are delinquent the City Council has extended this time to May 1, 1936. And to be fair to the taxpayer who has paid his taxes after May 1, 1936, interest, penalty and costs will be added to all delinquent City taxes.

If the Delinquent City Taxes are not paid, the City Council will be forced to take more extreme measures.

Pay your City Taxes and help Crowell back to a cash basis.

NEW TEXAS ALMANAC

The book of 100,000 facts—the 1936 edition of the Texas Almanac—is just off the press. It is the largest volume in the history of this publication—a total of 512 pages, on better grade of paper and more profusely illustrated.

While much new material of historical nature is included in the new issue, none of the chapters that has made the Texas Almanac the standard reference book of Texas in the past has been omitted.

Features of the current issue include an extensive description of the Texas Centennial, including celebrations at Dallas and other points in the State, an outline of the history of Texas from its beginnings to the present, an illustrated chapter on the wild flowers of Texas, lists of the different kinds of trees and wild animals found in Texas, extensive lists of historic old towns and origins of names of Texas towns, a text of the State Constitution with all its amendments and brief accounts of submission of all adopted amendments since adoption of the Constitution, and the new farm census figures of 1935.

There are more than 100,000 facts about the history, natural resources, crops, livestock, industries, commerce, transportation, finance, government, politics, education, system, cultural institutions and other phases of Texas economic, political and social development.

The Texas Almanac, always in demand by business and professional men and women and students in the Lone Star State, will be more in demand this year than ever before. Texas history is more glamorous and richly appealing on the State's 100th birthday. Thousands of out-of-state visitors and newcomers will find this birthday edition particularly acceptable.

Ritter Impeached. The Senate consumed practically all the week sitting as a high court of impeachment in the trial of Judge Halsted L. Ritter. The House prosecutors completed presenting their testimony Saturday. It is expected that the trial will consume most of this week being used by the defense in presenting their case.

Loans to Flood Stricken Areas. The House and Senate last week appropriated $50,000,000 to aid the flood and storm stricken areas through loans to be granted through the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. This legislation is now in conference which is expected to report early this week.

State Tobacco Control Compact. The Senate and House enacted this legislation this week which now goes to the President for his approval. This legislation is in keeping with the revised legislation substituted for AAA and Tobacco legislation held invalid by the Supreme Court.

Rural Electrification. The House by an overwhelming vote passed the Norris bill as amended, providing legislation to extend electricity to the farms of the Nation. It was brought out that only 2.3% of the farms in Texas are served with electricity, placing Texas 45th among the states of the Nation in this respect. We stand first in the number of farms in our state but almost last

Vernon's Centennial Celebration Slated For April 27-May 3

Vernon, Texas, April 15.—Vernon's Texas Centennial celebration will be held April 27 to May 3, including as a principal feature the "Spirit of Wilbarger" pageant on each of three nights, April 29-30-May 1. It will portray the history and development of Vernon, Wilbarger County and this entire section of Northwest Texas, with 400 characters engaging in pantomime, song and dance.

A highlight of the pageant will be the court of honor featuring ten young women—"Miss Wilbarger," who will be the Queen; and "Miss Columbia" and eight princesses. These young women are to be chosen through a popularity contest now being conducted. The pageant queen, "Miss Wilbarger," will be crowned by some prominent dignitary to be announced later. One of the ten young women will be chosen to represent Vernon in the Fort Worth Frontier Centennial, which will be held after the celebration here.

The spectacular pageant, which is professionally directed by the John B. Rogers Producing Company, will be presented at City Park football stadium under floodlights. The program will be the same for each of the three nights. Officials declare it will be the most impressive affair ever seen in this entire region, and they predict it will draw a large attendance from over a vast territory. Popular admission prices will prevail.

Other features of the Vernon Centennial include the sixth annual Manufacturers & Jobbers Show and Automobiles Exposition, April 30-May 1; the fifth annual "Acquaintance Week" program of the Junior Chamber running the full seven days, and the 53rd annual Doan's Picnic, May 2 and 3.

4-H Reporters Will Take Part in State Contest Says Agent

Plans for a statewide news reporting contest for 4-H club reporters is being sponsored by the Extension Service and the winners of the contest will be sent to the Short Course at Texas A. & M. in the summer to edit the Short Course Daily Star. Members of the Foard County clubs will participate in the contest, according to Miss Myrna Holman, county home demonstration agent.

The rules for the contest are as follows: 1. All boys and girls who are reporters for 4-H clubs began on the first of April keeping their clippings; and will continue this throughout April and May; and on the first of June these reporters will submit their clippings, mounted in the accepted Extension fashion, to the Extension agent under whose supervision they work.

2. County agricultural agents will judge 4-H boys' club reporters' clippings, and home demonstration agents will judge 4-H girls' club reporters' clippings. From among those submitting clippings, each will select one as the best.

3. Before June 15 each agent will submit the name of the best reporter selected together with the reporter's clippings, to the district agent.

4. From those submitted by the counties, the district agents will select the one best boy and the one best girl from the district—men judging the boys and women judging the girls.

5. By July 1 the district agents will certify the names of the winning boys and girls to the editor of the Texas Extension agents in the counties where the winners live.

6. The Extension agents in the counties where the winners live will then arrange to bring the winning reporters to the Farmers' Short Course to serve as members of the staff of the Short Course Daily Star.

ONION FIESTA. Onions form an important cash crop in the lower Gulf Coast area of South Texas. Raymondville, Wilacy County shipping center, will glorify them April 17 when the eighth annual Onion fiesta is presented as one of the Texas Centennial Celebrations.

It was brought out that in our farm modernization program that about 15% of our farms have water piped in the house, 7% have radios, 20% have telephones, 55% have automobiles—while in the Nation the record shows on farm modernization, 15% have electricity, 30% have water piped in the house, 35% have telephones and 60% have automobiles. The records further show that many of the European Nations far surpass us in rural electrification; practically all farms in Holland, Germany and Sweden have this modern utility because of public ownership which serves practically all these nations.

The Calendar. The House passed many private and consent bills last week, and this week will consider District of Columbia bills on Monday; on Tuesday the Black Lobby Investigation Resolution; on Wednesday, Federal Aid to Highways; Thursday the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation legislation and Friday legislation under special rules. The tax and relief legislation is still in the committees.

Carroll, Old Cowboy, Will Attend Jubilee

Word has just been received that J. Ellison Carroll, the world famous old-time cowboy, will attend Foard County's Forty-fifth Anniversary Jubilee.

Information regarding Mr. Carroll's attending Foard's celebration came in a letter to The Foard County News from Las Vegas, Kim of Texon, formerly of Crowell. In his letter he says:

The Letter. "I have just completed arrangements to bring a famous cowboy to the Foard County celebration. He is a man who needs no introduction—Ellison Carroll, J. Ellison Carroll, intimate friend of the late Will Rogers. Mr. Carroll is also an intimate friend of Tom Mix, Hoot Gibson, Buck Jones, Chas. Featherston, Jim Minnick, John M. Hendrix and many others well known to Texas.

"Carroll is world famous as an old-time cowboy, holding the only world's record of his kind in history. He holds an all-time, undefeated record. He is now seventy-four years old and able to rope and tie a calf with the best of them. I have personally known of folks to go hundreds of miles to attend a rodeo for the only reason to see Carroll when they would not have gone for any other reason.

Only last year when Tom Mix toured Texas he wired Mr. Carroll to meet him in San Angelo where Mix considered it a rare privilege to dine with Ellison at the St. Angelus. Will Rogers on a Texas trip a few years ago wrote of finding his old friends, Joe Gardner and Clay McGonigle, dead but did visit their widows and the old friend, Ellison Carroll.

Aside from Mr. Carroll being a world famous celebrity I know him very intimately and to me he is an inspiration. He is the one perfect specimen of the Texas Pioneer. A gentleman of the highest type. Texas born and a builder of Texas. As great and clean and lovable character as our own Will Rogers. To know Mr. Carroll even slightly and any contact with him is uplifting, inspiring and pleasing. He typifies the highest, the clearest, the noblest of character. Any man who has ever known him will so testify.

"I want the people of Foard County, the people I think are the best in the world, to see and know this wonderful character. I have worked hard to gain the consent of this unique character to accompany me to your celebration. I know you will find him great."

THE FOARD COUNTY NEWS

Letters

From Will Comper (Waxahatchie)

"I will be there and my better half, Pauline, says I can't go to Crowell without her. Our first and only visit to Crowell was Christmas, 1931. I have seen a few of the old-timers and they are coming. Well, anyway, we are looking forward to the time. Make reservations for man and wife, the Old Bill Comper and his wife, Pauline."

From Jay Barnett (Childress)

"Just a line to let you know we are planning on coming to the 45th Anniversary Jubilee, if nothing happens to prevent. How are the whiskers progressing? Thanks for invitation."

From Mrs. May Minnick (Aurora, Colo.)

"I think the Anniversary Jubilee a grand idea and to me would be even grander if I could be there, but I can't make two trips to Texas in one year and want to go to the Centennial in early fall. Since coming to Colorado none of us have any special desire for any of your summer. Mr. Minnick and I were married in 1902 and went there to live. I was there last in 1926. With best wishes to everyone."

From Joe Klepper (Los Angeles, Calif.)

"Received the cordial invitation to attend the 45th anniversary jubilee of Foard County which I appreciate very much, and there is nothing I would enjoy any more. Owing to poor health, I am sorry I can not be there—nothing else would keep me away."

"So far as I know there is only a few of my age living at the present time, who were there when I went to Old Margaret in June, 1888, and I wonder how many remember the all-night dance in the old Margaret court house during Christmas week, 1888, when John Coltharp and I had a dancing contest to see who could beat knocking the backstep. Dr. Adams and Henry Kenner were the judges and they decided it was a tie. I wonder if there will be any members of the old Farmers and Stockmen Association present. I see from the paper that my old pal, W. W. Brady of Fort Worth, will be there. If any of the old-timers ever come this way be sure and look me up for I will always be glad to see you and talk old times."

From Clarence Hutchison (Covina, Calif.)

"Having been apprized of your celebration to be held on the 27th and 28th inst., of course, being one of Foard County's antiques, I was all set up to come. In fact, in recognition and characteristic of those occasions, I had gone so far as to start the hirsute adornments not only on my chops and jowls, but on the whole maxillary area, and was about ready to come, whiskers and all. But before taking on the appearance of Man Mountain Dean or any of the other bearded celebrities, things came up that will prevent my coming, much to my regret."

"While I do not consider myself as much an old-timer as some, I went there with my father, J. R. Hutchison, 35 years ago, remaining there until 1912 when I returned to California for no reason at all. My father put in the first lumber yard in Crowell which was located about where the post-office now stands, and if I remember correctly, I hauled the first load of lumber from Quanah for the erection of that yard. On my initial trip I was amused at Geo. Crowell who met me over in the Peace River peaks about a stone's throw from Tea-Cup Mountain. I had at that time four little willow-tailed ponies that could not pull an old hen off the nest, even if they were so inclined, to say nothing of a load of lumber up the Jake Wright hill. George remarked in his usual quiet manner, 'If you ever aim to get enough lumber over there to even build the yard, let alone any to sell, you will have to turn them jack rabbits loose and get you a team, or something to that effect. Anyway, as a result of his remark, and of course, too, a little additional experience along with it, I soon had my equipment augmented to where I could load the wagon and forget all about the team. So at one time, I was a real mule skinner and classed myself along with Ed Hudlow, E. C. Campsey, and a few others I might mention."

From John Klepper (Alamogordo, N. M.)

"I have been slow in replying to your invitation, but appreciated it all the same, and if possible would like so much to be there as I know it will be a most enjoyable occasion, but as things are at present, don't know if I can be there or not."

From B. B. Little (Abilene)

"Being a citizen of Foard County for a thirteen years, I take this opportunity of congratulating you in sponsoring the forty-fifth anniversary of the organization of Foard County. As a boy of seven I came to Foard County with my parents in 1906. My father died in 1907, leaving my mother to rear the children. We suffered the hardships incident to pioneer life but I shall never forget the old-timers who made Foard County what it is today. I remember selling wood on the streets of Crowell as a 9-year-old boy. I remember being the first one to cross the Orient Railroad at the stock pen crossing after the rails were laid. I remember the first graded road. I hope that the forty-fifth anniversary will bring together these old pioneers who will be able to renew their splendid fellowship of the by-gone days."

From Luther Clark (Quanah)

"If nothing happens to prevent I expect to attend the 45th Anniversary Jubilee in Crowell April 27-28."

From Mrs. Ray Whatley (Phoenix, Ariz.)

"I surely appreciate the invitation to your 45th Anniversary Jubilee and am sorry I can't attend with my family, but we are too far away. Surely would love to see the old-timers I'm sure will be there, also my friends, who are not old-timers. My Dad, T. E. Turner, helped to organize Foard County and has some lots there he has paid taxes on since 1891."

COTTON BELT OFFICIALS TO MEET FRIDAY

Final Arrangements to Be Made Before First Games

Officials of the Cotton Belt League and representatives from the league teams will convene in the Crowell City Hall Friday night at 8 o'clock to make final arrangements before the official opening of the season Sunday, April 19. The complete schedule for the season will be adopted and the by-laws and rules and regulations will also be made. The entrance fee and requirements for the teams who are members are the same as that required by the circuit last year.

The Chillicothe nine announced that it would be a member of the loop, but it has withdrawn, another team is expected to join for the opening games Sunday. The first games will be played in the following order: Truscott at Crowell, Paducah at Quanah, and Eldorado, Okla., will entertain the sixth club which will be taken into the league Friday night. The Shaghenessy play-off plan will be used by the Cotton Belt organization. The schedule will close August 30, according to O. O. Hollingsworth, acting president.

PIKE'S PEAK ADVERTISED

(Chariton, Iowa, Herald-Patriot.) "If you sometimes doubt that advertising pays, remember that there are 26 mountains in Colorado higher than Pike's Peak. Can you name them? Neither can we. Pike's Peak has been given publicity and plenty of it, so it gets all the business, and other mountains just sit—or whatever mountains do—and complain that business is lousy. Don't let your business suffer from lack of advertising. Make it a Pike's Peak."

"I remember one time I went to Quanah with a herd with Charley Thompson, Charley Gafford, Boss Roark, Rob Woods and several others. There was a skating rink there and when those boys got on those roller skates and started it was less than a minute and one-half until every one was down on the floor except the manager. He got out and was looking in. All other skaters went home. I like your program fine except the street dance. No good ever comes from a street dance."

From John Klepper (Alamogordo, N. M.)

"I have been slow in replying to your invitation, but appreciated it all the same, and if possible would like so much to be there as I know it will be a most enjoyable occasion, but as things are at present, don't know if I can be there or not."

Watch Your Kidneys!

Be Sure They Properly Cleanse the Blood

YOUR kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not act as nature intended—all to remove impurities that clog the system when retained.

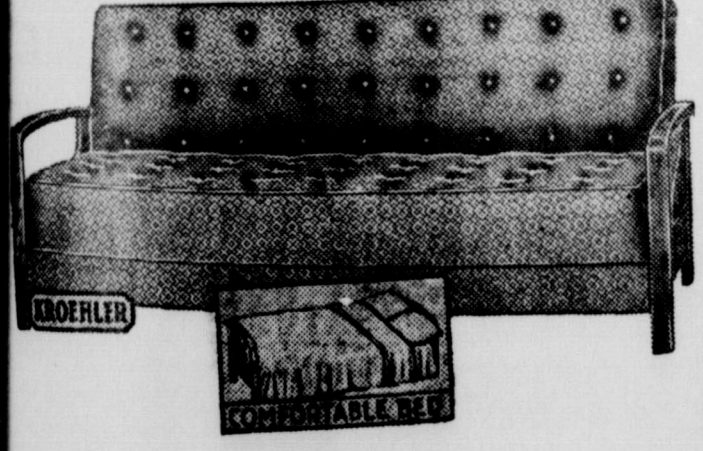

Then you may suffer nagging backache, dizziness, scanty or too frequent urination, getting up at night, puffiness under the eyes, feel nervous, miserable—all upset.

Don't delay! Use Doan's Pills. Doan's are especially for poorly functioning kidneys. They are recommended by grateful users the country over. Get them from any druggist.

Pioneers Honored By Baptists April 26

We, the Baptist people, are dedicating our services of Sunday morning, April 26, to the resident and visiting pioneers of this county.

We deem it a great privilege and pleasure to do this for you, you who through the years, have been our inspiration and guide.

We hope to make this day a happy one and trust it may always have a cherished place in your memory. We have reserved special seats for you and are hoping with all our hearts that you can come.

Also we are inviting any one who desires to come and enjoy this service with us. Help us show our appreciation of those who have made this day possible. Come, Committee.

Former Resident of Crowell Buried Here Wednesday, April 8

Z. T. Fletcher, 57, of Holliday and formerly of Crowell, died Tuesday morning, April 7, in the General Hospital in Wichita Falls after a two weeks' illness. Funeral services were held Wednesday morning in the Holliday Baptist Church. Burial was in the Crowell cemetery Wednesday afternoon, April 8, at 3:30 p. m.

Members of the Odd Fellow organization of Crowell were in charge of the services here.

Mr. Fletcher was born in Memphis, Tenn., in 1879 and came to Texas in 1890. He moved from Crowell to Holliday in 1922 and lived there until his death. He was converted and joined the Margaret Methodist Church early in life. In 1909 he married Miss Marylou Priest and to this union were born three children.

He is survived by his wife, two sons, Carl of Hobbs, N. M., and Charlie T. of Freerer; one brother, Albert, of Quanah; and six sisters, Mrs. Guy Morgan and Mrs. George Harman of Wichita Falls, Mrs. Pearl Guthrie and Mrs. Bob Shiplett of Keefer, Okla., Mrs. J. L. Vantine of Quanah, and Mrs. W. T. Dunn of Margaret.

SOIL BUILDING RATIO IS GIVEN BY JOHN NAGY

At Least 20% Must Be For Building or Conservation

Farmers who qualify for Government grants of money in the new AAA soil conservation program must have at least one acre of soil conserving or soil building crops for every five acres of soil depleting crops in the base acreage, says John Nagy, county agricultural agent.

A farmer who had 100 acres of corn and cotton (soil depleting crops) in the base period must have planted on his farm in 1936 at least 20 acres of conserving and building crops to participate in the program.

Up to 35% of the base acreage of cotton he may shift from cotton to soil improving or protecting crops and be eligible for payments. He may shift as much as 15% of the wheat, corn, grain sorghum, potato or fruit and vegetable base acreage to legumes, cover crops or approved soil building practices and receive payments.

In the case of peanuts the greatest shift of acreage for which payments may be made is 20%.

No payments will be made in Texas for food and feed crops like corn or grain sorghums shifted to soil improvement uses unless it can be shown that these crops have been produced in excess of home needs. In that case the on-ly diversions for which payment will be made are on the portion of the acreage which are in excess of home needs.

Soil conserving payments may be granted to help recompense farmers for the sacrifice involved in giving up a part of their soil depleting cash crops in order to give a chance to improve the land.

"Taken as a whole, the new program helps a farmer shift to a good sound farming plan without loss of income and buying power while the changes are being made," Mr. Nagy states.

Rotarians Elect New Officers Wednesday

New officers were elected for the Crowell Rotary Club at its regular luncheon on Wednesday at noon in the Premier Hotel.

T. B. Klepper was elected president; Verne Walden, vice president; and Merl Kincaid, secretary. The new officers will be installed for the year beginning in June.

R. D. Oswald discussed "Choosing a Vocation" and Verne Walden talked on "Service."

Retiring officers of the organization are I. T. Graves, president; T. B. Klepper, vice president; and Merl Kincaid, secretary.

France has a new five horsepower, two-passenger baby auto.

Out of the 125,000,000 people in this country there are little more than 50,000,000 church members.

44 preaching of the cross is to them that perish foolishness; but unto us which are saved it is the power of God" (I Corinthians 1:18).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Therefore we are always confident, knowing that, whilst we are at home in the body, we are absent from the Lord; we are confident, I say, and willing rather to be absent from the body, and to be present with the Lord" (II Corinthians 5:6, 8).

The Lesson-Sermon includes all the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Become conscious for a single moment that Life and intelligence are purely spiritual—neither in nor of matter—and the body will then utter no complaints. If suffering from a belief in sickness, you will find yourself suddenly well... Like our Master, we must depart from material sense into the spiritual sense of being" (pages 14 and 41.)

ON BEING EDITOR

Yes, being an editor has its disadvantages, for an editor is always getting into hot water. Put a story in, and some one is angry, because he resents it as being a crack at him or else there is an error, or the story has been cut to make room for something else. Leave an item out, and the member of the staff who wrote it threatens to resign, or some one thinks the editor holds a grudge against him, or something which some one thinks was less important than the omitted story is carried.

If the paper carries a dirt column, there is always an ominous silence when the editor approaches, for in spite of all his protests to the contrary, someone persists in believing that he is the one who writes the column. Try to keep the column fairly clean, and there are objections that it has nothing but dullness in it; try to make it sparkle, and you have an army of mad hornets on your neck.

Yet with all its drawbacks, it is a great life. There is something about the mad whirl on the days immediately preceding press day—something about the smell of ink on the crisp, freshly printed pages—something about the thrill of seeing one's accomplishments in black and white, for better or worse—something about the knowledge that one has done one's best that takes the sting off adverse criticism—something in the game that is eternally appealing and always newly exciting.

THIS WEEK IN TEXAS HISTORY

1834—The great necessity for a well-organized judiciary induced the passing of a decree on April 17 making Texas a judicial circuit, dividing it into three districts, and prescribing the mode of procedure. The most important feature in this law was the provision establishing trial by jury.
1836—Sam Houston left the banks of the Brazos on April 13, and arrived at Harrisburg, April 18.
1843—Henry Clay made public his opposition to the annexation of Texas on April 17.
1882—A land board was created by law of April 12 for the classification, sale, and lease of lands belonging to common schools, University, and asylums.
1918—On April 15 the ten-mile zone became effective which had an object to protect the thousands of soldiers whom the United States Government was training in Texas. It stopped the liquor business in every important city in the state.—Texas State College for Women (CIA).

Cabinet is Built by Gambleville Woman

A new built-in kitchen cabinet is the main item in a series of improvements made in the home of Mrs. C. W. Carroll of the Gambleville H. D. Club during the past month. The cabinet is built in on the south wall about ten feet long and extends to the ceiling which is eight and one-half feet.

The cabinet top is built with a small sink in the center and a drain board on each side. Under this is a series of seven drawers, dough and meat boards, flour and meal bins, and three storage spaces. The upper section of the cabinet consists of a wall cabinet on each side for the storage of dishes, with small drawers under each for silver. A series of six doors open into the storage space above the china cabinets. Two small shelves are placed between the two china cabinets. On one side, a broom closet with a utility cabinet above was built in.

FOARD CITY 4-H CLUB

The Foard City 4-H Club met Tuesday, April 7, with Miss Holman present. She gave a demonstration on the colors anyone should wear. The girls decided on making and wearing their club dresses at the 45th Anniversary Jubilee.

The next meeting will be on Tuesday, April 21.

WEST SIDE H. D. CLUB

You can see which color combinations produce the most pleasing effects to one's hair, eyes and complexion and be assured of perfect results if you follow the color chart lesson given by Miss Holman, county demonstration agent, at a meeting of the West Side Club held at the home of Mrs. A. ### IF—

If water you freeze is frozen, is the maiden you squeeze then squozen?
If a thing you break is broken, would a thing you take be taken?
If a number of cows be cattle, would a number of hogs be hattle?
If the plural of child is children, would the plural of wild be wildren?
If the apple you bite is bitten, would the battle you fight be fiten?
If a young cat is a kitten, then would a young rat be a ritten?
If a man who makes a play is a playwright, would a man who makes may be a haywright?
If a person who spends is a spendthrift, would a person who lends be a lendthrift?
If a person who fails is a failure, would a person who quails be a quailure?
If drinking too much makes a drunkard, would thinking too much make a thunkard?
But why pile on the confusion, still I'd like to ask in conclusion: If a chap from New York's a New Yorker, would a chap from Cork be a Corker?

SYNOPSIS

Following his father's bitter criticism of his idle life, and the realization that he need not expect any immediate financial assistance...

him. To Kerrigan he takes to at once, but he is unable to shake off a feeling of uneasiness. He distrusts Crack. Hal's intimacy with Kerrigan ripens. Through a misunderstanding, at a stopping place, Hal directed is directed to Barry's room, instead of his own. The meeting seems to soften her apparent unfriendliness and they exchange kisses. In the morning resumes her attitude of aloofness, but Hal has a feeling that she is not indifferent to him. At the luncheon stop, he tells Barry that he loves her. She only answers that she mustn't love him. In a speechless moment, Hal is laid in prohibition days. Crack brutally insults Kerrigan. Hal forces him to apologize abjectly, and his feeling of enmity and disgust toward Crack is intensified. Next day Barry promises she will tell him, that night, of the shadow of despair that hangs over her. Motherless, she tells him, a girl, in her pride for him, had a feeling of adoration for her father. He had urged her to marry a man many years older than she. Without any real feeling for the man, but trusting her father, she did so. On his deathbed her father secured her promise to stick to her husband, "no matter what happens," for ten years. Her husband tells her he had evidence of a dishonorable episode in her father's life, and her hand had been the price of her husband's silence. That was four years ago, and she is adamant in her determination to keep her promise, though she acknowledges her love for Hal.

With the star-scattered night complete and the fire going, they made a thin supper from Mrs.

Pulsipher's oranges, the popcorn which she ordered John to uncage, and some agglomerated fruit-drops from a bag in Kerrigan's pocket. The atmosphere was subdued, quiet, the voices not quite tentative but variously respectful, as if some one was asleep nearby. And each time John, after a silence, wondered where Mr. Crack was. Hal felt the peace upon his blood freshly—a peace assured of strength, of Barry's nearness, and of his final coming to her—after the term of his promise.

Those in the car got out to stretch and stroll briefly and look up into the night; and past ten, when John gave a yawn that echoed in the shameful cavern of his mouth, Mrs. Pulsipher suggested sleep. She and Sister Anastasia slipped themselves in the back seat, while John cramped his gaunt lankiness in the front and Barry, Hal, and Kerrigan sat along the running board, watching the fire and talking.

"Listen," said Barry suddenly, interrupting her own speech. Doc raised his head for a grunt, sniffing. "There comes somebody."

They listened. A coyote—the pale, pretty ghost of a guilty dog—passing on the edge of the gloom beyond the fire, and Barry's hand came to rest on Hal's knee.

"It is somebody," Kerrigan muttered in a moment, looking at his watch. "He's been long enough. It's eleven."

Impulsively Hal said, "It's not Crack," and wondered why a quick so cooly sure.

Barry looked around at him slowly, solemnly. "How d'you know?" she said.

Hal moved a little inside his clothes. "Doesn't feel like him," he said. He gave a short, uneasy laugh of deprecation.

The footfalls—made by heavy, stiffole shoes—brought their way up there. If you want to tear the shack down, I'll help you."

"That's mighty nice of you," said Kerrigan, "but I guess we'll just sit here for a while."

The man watched the fire a little longer. Then he turned and grinned at Kerrigan and said, "Well, I guess I'd oughta get back. Moon's comin' up."

"Well, good night to you," said Kerrigan.

"Good night," said the man, and abruptly started plumping away again.

The late moon floated up clear and brilliant to pale the stars with its gray-blue dusk, and they moved from the running board, near the fire, to watch that bright drifting.

"You're at liberty," Kerrigan said to Barry, "to lean against my friend, Ireland, and have a nap."

She gave her soft laugh and relaxed against Hal, as if she'd been waiting for Kerrigan's permission. Her hair touched his cheek as she settled her head to his shoulder; she looked up at him in sleepy comfort, saying: "Too heavy?" then pressed closer to him and closed her eyes. And in the naturalness of that, Hal was near believing he had dreamt the obstacles to their united fortune: her trapped allegiance to that man, that husband, was too grotesque a sacrifice.

The slow moon marked the moving of the night across the sky; and Hal and Kerrigan sat together in it, by Barry's sleeping—kept silence that were broken only by the soft settling sound of the fire, or murmured of things not so much satisfying in themselves as in the fact that they spoke of them here.

Every so often Hal looked down at Barry's face—her dark lashes laid in a little radiant fringe on each smooth cheek, her vital lips at rest together, her breathing gentle and oblivious of care. And once when Kerrigan happened to glance at him as he looked up, they smiled at each other as if she somehow belonged to both of them.

Then the last fence post fell apart across the low fire. Doc lay with his legs under him, sometimes raised his head from parallel forepaws to prick his ears intently into the gloom. And there was a less easy difference in the night.

"D'you s'pose that fella's building a battery?" Kerrigan murmured out of a silence; and he got to his feet in a stiff sort of aimlessness that ended in his lighting a cigarette and sitting down again.

"Hadn't honestly thought of the little—guy all night," said Hal.

He started to take his arm from Barry's waist—to shift his suddenly cramped position; but she stirred against him, murmured something, and he waited, watching for her calm again.

Then he began a more careful maneuver; in the middle of it Barry made a quick, plaintive moan, turned as if to hold him, and her sleepy whisper said, "Darling, don't go, don't go, there's time." Her eyes opened. Disappointment chased the dream out of them as she looked from him to Kerrigan, and the high moon. Then she sat up straight, her rueful smile on the last of the fire.

"So we're still here," she said. "Were there ghosts?"

"None," said Hal. "Was that what you were dreaming?"

"I think so—toward the end. Dear Kerrigan, are there ghosts?"

"I would've said," said Kerrigan in a subdued tone, "that it took a ghost to sleep as you have to wake up without a shiny nose. You're not a ghost—thank the Lord, if you'll allow me—and neither is your nose shiny. So I don't know."

She gave him a slow smile of affection though her still disappointed drowsiness: "You've never seen a real ghost?" she said. "I've thought I was just going to—oh, several times; but maybe I was trying too hard," said Kerrigan. "Usually about this time of night, in old countries mid-three who were near it. "You folks stranded, 'ey?" he said cheerily in a minute.

"Looks it," said Kerrigan. "I run into some folks last year was stranded," he said. "Over 't'other side. Seems like I'm always runnin' into folks that's stranded."

He grinned happily at the fire. "Didn't see a fella go out to the highway and get a lift into town, did you?" Hal said. "Late this afternoon?"

"To what town?" the man said absently.

"Any town," said Hal. "No," said the man. "Last week I seen a fella get a lift out on the road. Goin' west, he was. But I mind these other folks was stranded there—over 't'other side."

I come on one of 'em drinkin' water out of a little crick we got. I says to him, 'How's it taste?' an' he says, 'Good, an' I says, 'That's good. I'm glad t'know an' he says, 'Why?' an' I told him why. He laughed silently without looking at any of them.

"Why?" said Barry in calm interest.

"Cause I found one o' my 'sheep lyin' downed further up the crick where the wid' drinkin' an' I wanted t'know how it tasted."

"Did you tell him that?" said Kerrigan.

"I told him," said the man. "He didn't like it."

"You're a shepherd," said Kerrigan.

"I am," said the man, with a quick nod of pride. "Only I ain't jus' now. I been fired." He nodded again, his stained mouth open.

I live over 't'other side there in the crick where the wid' South Corral. An' when I feel like it some day, I'll tear it down."

"Why'll you tear it down?" said Kerrigan.

"It'll make 'em sore," said the man. "You can have anything you want up there. If you want to tear the shack down, I'll help you."

"That's mighty nice of you," said Kerrigan, "but I guess we'll just sit here for a while."

The man watched the fire a little longer. Then he turned and grinned at Kerrigan and said, "Well, I guess I'd oughta get back. Moon's comin' up."

"Well, good night to you," said Kerrigan.

night's supposed to be the time; but out here, I think before dawn—just when the east begins to gray."

There was a car coming from the direction of the highway—its loose noisiness advertised over a distance. They saw a pair of dim headlights stare up and drop down again over a rise.

"Splash with out battery," said Kerrigan, subdued.

"If that's a bet I won't take it," said Hal modestly, and he looked down at Barry. She was staring into the embers, miles off in some sadder thought.

The car lurched up over the rock outcrop and came to a chattering stop beside Rasputin, the motor racing under loud rattles and drummings in the old body. Neither Barry nor Kerrigan moved; Hal got up, stiff and reluctant, and went around, saying without welcome, "That you?"

"Yeah," said Crack lazily, somehow as if he had been gone a matter only of moments.

And in that dismal pre-dawn hour, with a low stain of gray across the east and the sharp, mocking flash of the air-beacon in the gloom below it, Hal was heavily oppressed by the sense of ill impending.

CHAPTER VIII

Monday

They were in Evanston, on the edge of Wyoming, at sunrise, with the fresh, concentrated red and blue of the restaurant's neon tubes saluting the good blue and red-gold of the crescent morning.

The restaurant was in full blast, giving breakfast to two loads of eastbound bus travelers off to an early start. And Rasputin had hardly stopped before the Pulsipher were bustling toward the door, drawing the others in their wake. Hal caught Barry's wrist as she was passing and kept her back.

She didn't try to move away. Hal said: "It's odd how sad—almost foreboding—enchantment can be when it's going—off, away. My promise is over too—and I love you."

Barry still looked out from the abrupt edge of the town as she said, "The enchantment'll never be over."

"Barry," said Hal, "think of this for me today—before tonight. I must know where I can find your husband. I will know it if I have to follow you like a dog—everywhere you go for years; and I will see him. It'll be so much easier if you tell me. Tonight I shall come to ask you."

Dully she said: "I'll never tell you. Don't you see I have to use every cowardly thing I can think of to keep my bargain—a bargain not to anyone living, not to anyone you or I can talk to or bribe or bully, but to some one who is dead—my father? Don't you see that?"

"I don't see it," said Hal, quietly secure. "Your father deceived you, cheated you. This man he gave you to is not to be considered, except as an animal in the way. If your father is anywhere now, he knows he cheated you, and he's paying for it until you release him. If he's—not anywhere, it doesn't matter. It's been used—no one else."

She tugged at her held arm once, not to get it from but to make a gesture of hopelessness. "It isn't that way; I know it isn't that way, Hal, and I have to live with myself, I—"

"You don't," Hal interrupted in low-voiced authority. "You have to live with me."

She looked off into the east, with dark, sullen things trying to soil the blue bravery of her eyes. Then she turned calmly to him and said in husky listlessness: "I'll live with you, after we get to Los Angeles. For a week, I'll go with you somewhere and live with you."

He watched her level, heavy-lidded look of reproach without speaking, waiting for her to show him a trace of warmth behind it, waiting for her to see in his eyes the strength she would have later to meet and fall before. "Not good enough, Barry," he said. "D'you think that after a week I'd let you go—any sooner than I will now?"

"You might," she said dully; and by a quick turn of her head she evaded the issue his unsmiling eyes forced upon her. "Let's go to breakfast."

Land O' Lakes Is No Place for Sneezers Says Carveth Wells

Hay fever sufferers take notice. Carveth Wells, popular explorer, author and star of Continental Oil Company's Sunday radio hour, says that hay fever sneezers are as rare as the Dodo bird in the beautiful lake regions of Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan.

The farther north you go the more sneeze proof you become, Wells has discovered. Evidently, even the old-fashioned snuff box seems to lose its efficiency. Other intriguing facts about the Land O' Lakes—a vacation paradise everyone from Junior to Grandma will vote for—are to be broadcast by Wells Sunday, April 19, over 30 of the nation's best known stations.

Wisconsin offers river scenery at least equal to that found along the Rhine in Germany," according to Conoco's genial globetrotter. "And in Minnesota, with at least 10,000 lakes to choose from, there's really no reason for not learning to 'paddle your own canoe'. Some of the grandest scenery in Michigan is to be found in Hiawatha land in the state's Upper Peninsula."

Local listeners who wish to tune in on Wells Sunday, April 19, may do so by dialing station WFAA, Dallas at 12:15 to 12:45 p. m.

P. T. A. HEALTH CHAIRMAN REPORTS ON CAMPAIGN

Miss Theima White, health chairman of the local P. T. A., reports the following result of a health campaign in the grammar school last Wednesday.

There were 360 children examined, nine of whom were pre-school age and who will enter school next September. Typhoid serum was administered to 124 and diphtheria serum to 23 children. This brought the total of those who have been immunized against diphtheria in the school this year and last to 289.

Doctors Hill, Clark and Schindler assisted with the examinations and administered the serums. Miss Frankie Pennington also assisted.

GARDEN CLUB

At a meeting of the Crowell Garden Club last Friday afternoon, it was decided to have the next meeting on May 1, instead of May 9, in order to avoid some conflicts with other meetings. Mrs. H. Schindler presided at the business session.

Mrs. T. B. Klepper discussed the subject "Five Steps to a Good Lawn," giving those steps as: good soil, good seed, rolling, watering and cutting. Mrs. E. W. Brown talked on the "Third Division of the Private Area—the Vegetable Garden," and brought out the fact that a vegetable garden even on a very small scale, can be made profitable. "Spring Planting for Autumn Beauty" was discussed by Mrs. B. W. Self, who listed as our best fall blooming plants: chrysanthemums, dahlias, asters and cosmos.

The question box was opened by Mrs. O. R. Boman and helpful answers were given by her.

JUNIOR COLUMBIAN CLUB

Mrs. Vance Swain was hostess to a regular meeting of the Junior Columbian Club at her home on Wednesday afternoon, April 8.

MEMBERS OF LOCAL B.&P.W. ATTEND MEET

Service clubs, business firms, women's organizations and the junior and senior chambers of commerce of Childress are uniting with the Business and Professional Women's Club in extending a welcome to the Business and Professional Women who convene there April 18-19 for the district one Centennial convention.

Miss Myrna Holman has been selected by the local organization as the official delegate from the Crowell Business and Professional Women's club. Mrs. Henry Borchardt, president, and several other members of the club will attend the convention.

A week-end filled with entertainment for the guests has been planned by the hostess club with the co-operation of the citizens of Childress.

The convention proper will open Saturday afternoon, April 18, at 2 o'clock at the Childress Hotel, convention headquarters. Registration of visitors and delegates will begin at 2 p. m. The blue banquet net will be held at the hotel from 2 to 6 p. m.

The feature of the entire conference will be the Centennial banquet Saturday night at 7 p. m. at the hotel. Three state officers of the Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Miss Blanche McComb of San Antonio, state president; Dr. Minnie L. Maffett of Dallas, state historian; and Miss Grace Fitzgerald, editor of the Texas Women and state vice president, have said definitely that they will be in Childress for the banquet. Judge J. Ross Bell of Childress, prominent West Texas attorney, will be the main speaker of the evening.

Following the Centennial banquet, the women will be directed to the Woman's Department Club where the Leap Year dance honoring the guests will be staged.

Sunday morning, April 19, at 8 o'clock, the Texas (Friendship) breakfast will be given at the Fair Park. The Indian theme will be featured at the affair at which time a chuck wagon breakfast will be served by the Lions Club.

Special church services will be conducted at the First Methodist Church by the pastor, Rev. E. A. Maness for the entire delegation at 11 o'clock. The convention will adjourn with the Shamrock luncheon at the Hotel Childress at 1 p. m. on that day. Plans for the luncheon have been kept secret by the Shamrock B. & P.

Here Since 1886

MRS. P. P. COOPER

Mrs. P. P. Cooper, pictured above, was only 13 years of age when she arrived in the section that is now Foard County with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Kenner, on May 14, 1886. The family came from Collin County.

Mrs. Cooper was born in Breckenridge County, Ky., on October 17, 1872. When she was three years old the family removed from Kentucky to Texas. Mrs. Cooper's mother died on December 17, 1886, shortly after arriving here. Her father died December 7, 1922.

On March 6, 1889, Lizzie Kenner was married to P. P. Cooper at the family home one mile north of the ULA Ranch. Following their marriage Mr. and Mrs. Cooper lived on their own farm near the McCroly Ranch in the southeast part of the county for about seven years, then moved to the farm on the Witherspoon Ranch where they resided until moving to Crowell 34 years ago. Mr. Cooper died at his home one mile northwest of Crowell on October 19, 1930.

Six children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Cooper, the two oldest dying in infancy. Two sons and two daughters are now living in and near Crowell. They are Roy and Gordon Cooper of Crowell, Mrs. Oscar Gentry of the Black community and Mrs. Sewell Roy of Crowell.

Following the Centennial banquet, the women will be directed to the Woman's Department Club where the Leap Year dance honoring the guests will be staged.

Sunday morning, April 19, at 8 o'clock, the Texas (Friendship) breakfast will be given at the Fair Park. The Indian theme will be featured at the affair at which time a chuck wagon breakfast will be served by the Lions Club.

Special church services will be conducted at the First Methodist Church by the pastor, Rev. E. A. Maness for the entire delegation at 11 o'clock. The convention will adjourn with the Shamrock luncheon at the Hotel Childress at 1 p. m. on that day. Plans for the luncheon have been kept secret by the Shamrock B. & P.

APRIL 26 MADE CHURCH DAY IN WHOLE COUNTY

Pioneers and Visitors Honored Guests Of Churches

Sunday, April 26, the day preceding the opening of Foard County's Forty-fifth Anniversary Jubilee, has been designated by the celebration committee as county-wide church day.

The special service will be dedicated to all church members, visitors to the celebration and pioneers. Programs and services by former pastors of the churches and pioneer laymen are being planned by most of the churches.

Each church has been asked by the committee in charge of church day to keep a record of its attendance that day. Members of the committee are John Rasor, chairman; W. F. Kirkpatrick, Leo Spencer, and M. S. Henry.

Every person in the county and every visitor from out of the county who will be here April 26 is urged to attend the church of his choice during that time. Both the morning and night services will be dedicated to the visitors and pioneers.

W. Club members who are acting as hostesses for the final session at the convention.

Awards will be given by the Children's women to the club sending out the best bulletin before the convention and to the club having the best attendance of paid-up membership.

Eighteen towns, including Childress, will be represented at this Centennial convention which is expected to attract about 200 women to Childress. Clubs to be represented are Amarillo, Borger, Clarendon, Crowell, Dalhart, Electra, Hereford, Littlefield, Lubbock, Pampa, Plainview, Quanah, Shamrock, Vernon, Wheeler, Wichita Falls and Paducah.

Born Before Foard

MRS. R. G. NICHOLS

Mrs. R. G. Nichols of the community, who was Miss Thompson before her marriage, far as is known is the last baby born in this section before the county was organized on April 27, 1891.

Mrs. Nichols is the daughter of J. G. Thompson of Thalia who was born Jan. 31, 1891, and lived in the county all of her life. She was married to Groves Nichols Dec. 11, 1911. Most of the married life has been spent in Black community, however, she lived in the Thalia community several years. Mr. and Mrs. Nichols have three children, one daughter, Mrs. J. D. Bursey, of Crowell and two sons, Foy and Carl, who live at home.

The last boy child born in the county before its organization, Leonard Roberts, who was born April 26, 1891. Leonard is the son of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Roberts, deceased, and has lived practically all of his life in the community at the Roberts home, a half mile southwest of Childress.
