Callaway and Lilly Elected to Judge's and Sheriff's Offices in Election Saturday

22 BALLOTS MOST TO BREAK YEAR MARK

Free Votes Separate Two Candidates in Race for Judge

Passing the large vote cast in Foard County in the first Democratic primary election, the 1643 cast in the second Democratic primary election set a new record. The votes cast in this election exceeded the total of the first primary by 10 votes.

Callaway, county judge for the past two years, was elected by a margin of only 3 votes to the office of judge and defeated D. Oswald in one of the closest races in the county's history. Mr. Callaway polled 810 votes to Oswald's 807. The first primary was held in the first primary by a margin of 388 votes in the race. In this election Mr. Callaway carried seven of the votes.

Sheriff's Race

W. Lilly defeated R. J. Thomas, incumbent, for the office of sheriff and tax assessor-collector by a margin of 275 votes. Mr. Lilly received 951 votes to Mr. Thomas' 676. He also led in the first two candidates, Ebb Scales and Middlebrook, were eliminated in the first Democratic primary. Mr. Lilly carried 9 of the 10 boxes this time, losing only in the boxes of Vivian and Rayland. Mr. Moore was selected as assessor of precinct No. 1 by a vote of 746 to 377 to beat W. Thompson.

W. Barker, incumbent county clerk, was re-elected by a margin of 1,000 to 500.

C. McDONALD PEAKS HERE FOR GOSSETT

C. McDonald, Wichita Falls native and former candidate for governor of the state of Texas, Thursday afternoon at the interest of Ed Gossett in the campaign for Congress, introduced by Tom Davis of the Rayland community, opened his address on the side of the square stating, "I am not criticizing the Honorable Ed Gossett's speech, but his own into this district trying to get the voters how to vote in this election Saturday. I am not criticizing his speech and others in this election. I do not think it right for another Congressman to go into another district to try to obtain the election of candidates."

McDonald's tactics, however, in the first race McFarlane simply poured water on Gossett's head, stating that a vote for Gossett would be a vote lost.

McDonald answered to the present Congressman's charge that Gossett is a crook.

Mass Meeting of Farmers Held for Immediate Drouth Relief Purposes

Featherstons Hold Reunion on F Bar Ranch Near Truscott Last Week-End

Between 125 and 150 Featherstons, delegations coming from as many as six states, gathered at the F Bar ranch, seven miles west of Truscott, Friday through Sunday for the largest reunion the family has ever had. Invitations to attend the celebration were extended to all who had the name of Featherston or who were of Featherston blood. The registration list included Featherstons, Featherstons and Featherstones.

True western hospitality reigned on the F Bar as Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Featherston of Truscott, Mr. and Mrs. Solon R. Featherston and Woody Featherston of Wichita Falls acted as hosts. Fatted beefs were slaughtered and fed the hungry relatives in the form of steak, roast, barbecue and "son-of-a-gun." C. H. Featherston is manager and foreman of the ranch.

Entertainment

Horse back riding, athletic contests, a Major Bowes amateur contest and a Major Hoopie contest, a dollar and washer pitching tournament and other western sports furnished entertainment for both the Texas and out-of-state Featherstons.

The western life was a real novelty to many of the guests who hailed from the states of the Old South. Out-of-state notables to attend the reunion were United States Commissioner and Mrs. L. R. Featherston of Memphis, Tenn., State Senator and Mrs. Alfred Featherston of Murfreesboro, Arkansas, Dr. John W. Featherston of Monroe, La., and Judge F. M.

ED L. GOSSETT TO RUN AGAIN FOR CONGRESS

Ed Gossett, defeated candidate for election to Congress from the 13th Congressional district, has issued the following statement to the voters of Foard County and this district:

"I wish to thank the voters of the 13th Congressional District for the splendid vote given me in the recent primary. I carried eight of the fifteen counties of this district. I am older, much poorer, some wiser, and have no regrets.

"The many good friends acquired by me during this campaign more than compensate me for my loss. In fact, my greatest disappointment is to have disappointed those who worked for my election. We fought a hard, clean and honest fight, and therefore should have no cause for regret.

"I wired Congressman McFarlane my congratulations. I expect him to congratulate me two years hence, as I will be a candidate in the next primary."

A. Y. Beverly introduced the speaker, stating Patman was the friend of the common people and a special friend of the veterans of the World War. He was the power which fought for and finally brought about the payment of the soldiers' bonus.

Patman, in explaining his speaking campaign in the Congressional campaign in the 13th Congressional district, said it was not unusual for him to go into the other Congressional districts to speak in favor of a fellow member of Congress. "I have been in more than 100 of the 435 Congressional districts of the United States," he said. "Before the passage of the bonus bill I spoke for many Congressmen and candidates for Congress in my effort to get the bill written into law."

"I am not here to condemn the opponent of your present Congressman; I am here for the sole purpose of telling you what I know of W. D. McFarlane," he said. "A mechanic must have tools to work. My colleague, McFarlane (Continued on Page Four)

Regional Office of Social Security to Be at San Antonio

San Antonio, Aug. 11.—Regional Office of the Social Security Board of the three states, Texas, Louisiana and New Mexico, has been permanently located at San Antonio, Texas, according to advice received here today by Oscar M. Powell, Regional Director, from Frank Bane, Executive Director, at Washington, D. C.

The Regional Office will be headquarters for the Director and his staff, consisting of representatives of the various bureaus, who will handle technical matters in connection with the administration of the Social Security Act in the three states.

In addition to the regional headquarters, an administrative office with a personnel larger than that of the Regional office will be established in Austin, Powell said.

This administrative office will be concerned with the administration of the Federal Old Age Benefits section of the Act. The Old Age Benefits plan will be financed and administered by the Federal Government, no state legislation being required to put it into operation.

The field activities of the Social Security Board are administered by twelve Regional offices. The twelve directors represent the Board in their respective territories and each is responsible directly to the Social Security Board at Washington.

The Regional director and his staff co-operate with the various state governments and other agencies, together with the general public interested in the Social Security program, and supervise and co-ordinate the work of the field staff of the board in the region.

The Regional office at this time is making a special effort to acquaint those who are to benefit, as well as the general public, with various provisions of the Act, the activities of the various bureaus, and the Social Security Board as a whole. The Regional office has for distribution, on request, a number of publications dealing with the various phases of the Act.

The Social Security Act is essentially an enabling act; it depends on state legislation and administrative rulings to effectuate the program. An omnibus statute, public welfare measures. By cooperative action of Federal and State governments, the Act provides a safeguard against the more common insecurities of life.

New Mexico is the tenth region of the three states in the tenth region which has passed legislation and had its plans approved for all three public assistance provisions of the Social Security Act; that is, aid to the needy aged, aid to the needy blind, and aid to dependent children.

Louisiana has passed legislation to cover all of these provisions, and in addition has enacted legislation which will entitle this state to take advantage of the benefits under the unemployment compensation provisions of the Social Security Act. On August 7 Powell notified that the Social Security Board had approved Louisiana's plans for old age assistance and aid to dependent children.

Texas has legislation covering only that section of the Act dealing with aid to the needy aged,

Freight trains nowadays act like express specials. New freight schedules are so fast, sometimes wonder if everything has to be delivered day before yesterday.

Many of our passenger trains are running faster schedules. Well, one thing is sure. We make faster runs, but the first railroad commandment is still safety first. That's one rule they won't change.

Western railroads and allied industries provided jobs for 750,000 workers last year. Some of them live in our town. Good neighbors.

Passenger fares are now the lowest in history with substantial reductions on round trips. No more surcharge for riding in sleeping cars.

This new Free pick-up-and-delivery of less than carload freight—I heard some travel agents talking about it in the train yesterday. They said it saves shippers a lot of money and centers all responsibility on the railroad.

The railroad picks up the freight at shipper's door and delivers to receiver's door. Of course, local delivery men get the haul from door-to-car and car-to-door at both ends. The railroad handles the whole transaction.

When railroads are busy, I notice towns along the railroad are prosperous. The merchants put more ads in the newspapers.

Wear proud of railroad achievements, appreciate the public's good will and increased patronage, and pledge continued progress.

Featherston—

Krebs, Okla., were among the elder group of the Featherston family.

The Featherston reunion began about 15 years ago and was organized by three of the senior group, the meeting being held at Featherston, Okla. Only the immediate kin were invited to that reunion. The gatherings were held annually until about three years ago. The custom was revived this year at the wish of E. B. "Uncle Ed" Featherston.

Drove Buffalo

E. D. Ashburn, 77, a pioneer of Jones County, was one of the honored guests. He moved to Jones County in 1883 from Eastland County. He remembers having had a part in driving the buffalo from Eastland County. Having lived a very consecrated life, it has been said of him that he has not missed more than 10 days in the last 50 years of reading the Bible.

Every out-of-state delegation and most of the Texas delegations saw either the Fort Worth or Dallas Centennial celebrations or both on their way to the reunion or on their way home from the reunion. Solon Featherston, one of the hosts, said.

The reunion was held on one of the oldest ranches in this part of the country. The F Bar ranch, better known to old timers as the old Craig ranch, owned by Jim Craig, was the appropriate scene for the celebration.

Rattlesnakes

Jim Moody, who came to northern Knox County in the fall of 1879, was followed by Jim Craig who came three or four years later. Mr. Craig built a large dug-out and lived in it several years. The old dugout is still in use and is only a few steps from the back door of the present headquarters of the ranch and the bunk house. Two of Mr. Craig's daughters were born in the dugout before the house was built there.

The old ranch and the owner were well known throughout that section of the country. Mr. Craig died about 10 years ago. The ranch has always been renowned for the number of rattlesnakes on the place and scary stories have been told about them.

Bring Their Bunks

A large brush arbor was built to furnish shade for part of the attendants to the affair. Many of the kin brought their own bedrolls and placed their bunks in nooks and corners of the ranch house and yard. Experienced cow hands and cooks prepared the beef wholesale for the relatives and beans, corn and spuds were accessories to the meals typical of the round-up chuck.

The entire atmosphere that prevailed at the Featherston reunion was one wholly new to many of the visitors who came from long distances and faraway states to help make the reunion the biggest ever held by the Featherstons. And to those to whom it was not entirely new it was one that was welcomed.

Attendants

Those by the name of Featherston and with Featherston blood who attended were: Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Featherston of Memphis, Tenn., Mr. and Mrs. N. B. Featherston, Mrs. W. P. September is just around the corner and it is two months until annual conference. The new educational year will soon begin. These approaching events, together with the coming of a relief in the heat wave should find all stragglers once again wending their way to church and church school. Especially do we urge our farmers to "forsake not the assembling of ourselves together, as the manner of some is." This has been a busy week with Adult Assembly meeting in Abilene, young people in Quannah and Missionary Society Zone meeting in Crowell. Services as usual Sunday.

Christian Science Services
"Christ Jesus" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist on Sunday, August 30.
The Golden Text is: "God sent not his Son into the world to condemn the world; but that the world through him might be saved" (John 3:17).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Now, little children, abide in him; that when he shall appear, we may have confidence, and not be ashamed before him at his coming" (1 John 2:28).
The Lesson-Sermon includes also the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The physical healing of Christ, Science results now, as in Jesus' time, from the operation of divine Principle, before which sin and disease lose their reality in human consciousness and disappear as naturally and as necessarily as darkness gives place to light and sin to reformation" (Preface xi).

Follow the Parade Is Big Feature for Centennial to Aug. 3

Dallas.—"Follow the Parade," a musical revue, is one of the headline entertainments scheduled for the Texas Centennial Exposition July 22 to August 2. It is a Federal Theatre Revue. It will be staged in the amphitheater at popular prices.

The same company of 105 singing and dancing stars, which has featured the presentation in Hollywood and downtown Los Angeles theaters for several months, is being brought to Dallas. The company also will bring its orchestra of forty pieces from the West Coast.
"Follow the Parade" was conceived and planned by Eda Edson. The book was written and staged by Gepe Stone and Jack Robinson. The music and lyrics were prepared by Jack Dale and Gene Stone.

The prologue is laid in the present with the first scene opening in the living room of Mother Ross' theatrical boarding house. Dance numbers are given in quick flashes. The audience is taken around the globe by television.

The scene changes to the Colonial Picture Company, then through a street scene and an insane asylum. Lunatic puppets are introduced by tuneful music. Various quirks of nature are shown, and the Dionne quintuplets are given a play.

The scene then changes to fifteen years earlier and is shown as a magic toy shop and a prison.

The show is a departure from the typical musical revue, in that it concerns itself with interesting events of the day and its comedy is a commentary on topics that now concern the world.

Soil Conservation Projects in Fourth District Are Visited

Fort Worth.—Nearly 40,000 farmers, business men and agricultural leaders visited Soil Conservation Service demonstration projects and ECV camps in Region 4 during the past 12 months, according to a statement on the progress of field activities issued by Louis P. Merrill, regional conservator.
For the most part the visitors to the 20 project demonstrations and 57 soil conservation camps consisted of groups of farmers and land owners who were interested in seeing the complete co-ordinated erosion program of the Service as applied on the farms of co-operating farmers. Recent surveys throughout Louisiana, Arkansas, and Texas indicate that a high percentage of the total number of visitors returned to their homes after seeing and having complete erosion control program explained to them and instituted similar programs on their own farms.

Other statistical information regarding the field progress of the Region 4 Soil Conservation Service follows: 4,473 farms under agreement; 673,242 acres under agreement; 10,101 Soil Conservation Association members; 48,741 visitors to project and camp areas; 19,937.1 acres retired from cultivation; 43,118.9 acres of pastures sodded; 29,188 miles of contour ridges and furrows; 33,379.9 acres protected by strip crops alone; 88,427.3 acres protected by combination of strip crops and terraces.

In addition there are: 5,875.6 miles of terraces constructed; 121,268.2 drainage area of terrace outlets protected; 1,509,091 square yards of terrace outlets sodded; 974.4 acres of meadow strip terrace outlets established; 3,935 acres of timber stand improved; 6,595.1 acres of woodland planted; and 10,911,659 trees planted.

LITTLE WALLED-IN CITIES

Greatest attractions of all in Ghent, Belgium, are the lay Belgians, or nunneries. Only a few of these can be found in Europe. Here they are little walled cities within the city and in them live some five or six hundred Belgians, women who take no vows, but retire thus from the world for a time. The little cities of walled-in quiet are scrupulously tidy and neat, and each has its little parks, squares and churches. The Belgians themselves pay taxes just as other citizens do, and each of them is free to return to the life and business of the world at any time. It is not uncommon for Belgian women to go to these nunneries for a few months, spending their days in making lace and carrying out religious devotions, then to return home to their old household tasks.

Hurricane Service Works Closely With National Red Cross

Close co-operation with the American Red Cross is an important feature of the hurricane warning service of the Weather Bureau, especially in Florida. All through the hurricane season—usually from July 1 to November 15—Weather Bureau officials in Jacksonville, Miami, and Tampa keep Red Cross representatives informed on the location, intensity, and expected movement of every tropical storm that is at all likely to affect Florida. Those representatives, in turn, advise local agencies in all parts of the State. Thus the Red Cross is ready to provide relief or evacuation facilities the instant they become necessary.

A program for the current hurricane season was mapped out at Red Cross conferences held in Florida in July. The Weather Bureau issues storm and hurricane warnings and indicates the danger to life and property. It has no authority to compel anyone to seek safety, according to E. B. Calvert, in charge of the hurricane service of the Bureau. Relief measures and provisions for evacuation rest with the Red Cross, assisted by state, city, and county officials, communication companies and railroads.

When Weather Bureau forecasts report that a hurricane is headed for Florida and probably will reach a certain area at a designated time, the Red Cross sets in motion its disaster-relief machinery. Railroads provide free transportation from evacuated areas to the Red Cross concentration camps and back again after the storm.

This plan makes it possible to move everyone from the area threatened well in advance of any oncoming hurricane. Aside from the saving of human lives, panic is averted. Unfortunately, Mr. Calvert adds, many people ignore the danger signals and refuse offers of transportation to points of safety.

29 H. D. Women Keep Clothing Accounts; 7 Are Kept for Family

Partial reports from 51 wardrobe demonstration co-operators representing the Foard City, Gambelville, Good Creek, Riverside, Viviano and West Side clubs, show that 29 kept individual clothing accounts and that seven kept family accounts.
The reports from the 29 keeping individual accounts show a total of $609.53 spent for clothing during the year 1935-36, an average of $21 per person. The seven keeping family accounts spent a total of $452.98, an average of $19.73 for the 23 persons represented in the seven families.
These 36 co-operators report a total of 887 garments made at a total cost of $365.36. Of these 680 were adult garments and 207 children's garments. The garments made consisted of 25 coats, 60 silk and wool dresses, 272 cotton dresses, 239 undergarments, 21 infant's garments, 18 hats, and 132 garments renovated.
Reports also show five closets built at a cost of $6.85 and six remodeled.

Built-In Closet
A built-in closet about two by six feet was part of the 4-H club work done by Wilma Nichols of the Black 4-H Club this year.
The closet was papered inside with white. A rod extending the length of the closet and equipped with hangers was then put in. Other improvements were the addition of a shoe rack and a curtain for the door. Later Wilma may remove the curtain and put a door in.

Greek, Roman Houses Proficiently Arranged

The arrangement of rooms in both the Greek and Roman house was carried to a point of proficiency, that has rarely, if ever, been excelled, says a writer in the New York Sun. In every respect, except for electricity, central heating and mechanical devices, the better houses of these two earlier civilizations had about everything which the more recent house has. With a few extra servants, we could live just as comfortably in their homes as in our own.

Heating was a problem, but both the Greek and Roman met challenges in seasons ingeniously. In the up-to-date house in the time of Augustus, there were enough rooms to follow the sun around the house. Romans, who were the technologists of antiquity, reduced the proper exposure for the different rooms to a formula; the special purpose to which each room served, required a different exposure, suited to convenience, and to the position of the sun. The principles which they set down can be, and often are applied in the orientation of the later house.

Winter dining rooms and bath-rooms were in the southwest part of the house for the reason that they need the evening light, and also because the setting sun "facing them with all its splendor, but with abated heat, lends a gentle warmth to that quarter in the evening." Bedrooms and libraries had an eastern exposure, because their purposes required the morning light; furthermore, books in such libraries were less subject to decay. If libraries were on the south, books would soon be ruined by worms and mildew.

Diphtheria Toxoid Saves Life of Child

Attempt to Get Aid For Libraries From State Are Launched

Austin.—Plans for obtaining adequate state aid for Texas public libraries formed the topic of major consideration at a recent session of officials of the Texas Library Association, Miss LeNor Dimmitt, president, stated. Miss Dimmitt is chief of the Package Loan Library Bureau at the University of Texas. It was decided to call upon Democrats of Texas at their forthcoming convention September 6 to adopt a resolution urging state aid for Texas public libraries.

It is distressing that 65 per cent of the population of Texas is entirely without public library service, that 147 counties and 34 towns with more than 5,000 population are without libraries, and that there are only 58 tax-supported free libraries in the whole of Texas, Miss Dimmitt said. These figures are taken from the 1935 survey of the Texas Library and Historical Commission. No state aid is available for local library service in Texas, she stated.

At the meeting of the Democratic Convention in May, library officials appeared before the body in an attempt to obtain adoption of a resolution calling upon Congress and the legislatures of the several states to provide "for this integral part of the public educational system the financial support which is required to meet the people's vital need of its services." The resolution was defeated by a small majority, Miss Dimmitt said. A similar resolution will be introduced at the September 6 convention of this organization calling for state aid only, she explained.

The recent meeting was attended by the following library officials: Miss Julia Ideson, Houston public librarian; Donald Conroy, University of Texas librarian; Miss Ethel Simmons, Waco public librarian; Miss Julia Grothaus, San Antonio public librarian; Miss Emilie Netter, assistant librarian, San Antonio Public Library and chairman of the Texas Library Association's committee on state aid; Miss Fannie Wilcox, librarian of the State Library; Miss Edna Sue Goree, field worker for the State Library; and Miss Doris Connerly, legislative librarian, State Library.

Cement Industry For June Exceeds Same Month in '35

Austin.—The Texas cement industry during June made highly favorable comparisons in all respects with the corresponding month last year, according to the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research.

An increase occurred in Texas production during June of 61.5 per cent over the corresponding month last year and 54.1 per cent increase during the first six months over the corresponding period a year ago; shipments were up 65.5 per cent and 63.4 per cent from the two comparable periods. Stocks on June 30 were 14 per cent below those of the corresponding date last year.

These figures were compiled by the University Bureau from reports from the United States Department of Interior. United States cement statistics for June also were favorable. Production for June and the first six months were up 29.2 per cent and 28.2 per cent respectively from the corresponding periods last year; and shipments 62.7 per cent and 46.6 per cent respectively. Stocks on hand June 30 were down 16.4 per cent from the corresponding date a year ago.

"In spite of the sharp improvement in operation of the cement industry, activity is still far below normal," the University Bureau's statement pointed out. "In June operations for the United States as a whole was still only 52.3 per cent of rated capacity against 48.9 per cent in May and 39.6 per cent in June, 1935."

First Cotton Grading Shows Improvement

The first cotton grade and staple report for Texas this season was issued this week by the Austin, Texas, office of the Division of Cotton Marketing, Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Similar reports will be issued weekly throughout the active ginning season, copies being available for distribution upon request.

Grades reported for the week are slightly higher than those shown for the season to date. This week about 25 per cent is reported as Strict Middling and above, 50 per cent Middling, and approximately 17 per cent Strict Low Middling and Low Middling. Only 5 per cent of the cotton this week is Strict Middling Spotted as compared with 15 per cent to date this season. Less than 2 per cent is reported as being Middling Spotted with a negligible amount shown for grades below Middling in this color group.

Only about one per cent of the cotton this week and to date is reported as being shorter than 7/8 inch, and nearly 14 per cent being 7/8 inch for the week as compared with 19 per cent to date. A decrease is shown in the proportion of 1 1/16 inch cotton for the week to 42 per cent from 52 per cent this season, while 1 inch cotton shows an increase to 38 per cent from about 26 per cent. The proportion of 1-1/16 inches and longer staples this week represents slightly less than 5 per cent against only half this amount to date.

Merit System to Be Used in Employing Old Age Workers

Austin.—Orville S. Carpenter, executive director of the Texas Old Age Assistance Commission, announced this week the institution of a merit system of employment for all employees of the Commission. Our purpose is to adopt and maintain the highest possible standards of efficiency for our personnel, he said.

"The first step in this program is to hold examinations for people now employed by the Commission. No new appointments will be made, and the examinations will not be open to anyone except present employees," Carpenter stated. "In the future all vacancies will be filled from rolls of persons found eligible by examination, but the Commission does not contemplate the addition of any new employees at this time," the Executive Director explained.

"Social Security work demands well trained and conscientious employees," Carpenter said, "and an efficiency rating for all workers will be maintained." The examination procedure was developed in consultation with Professor J. Alton Burdine of the University of Texas department of government. Professor Burdine has just completed a year's service as special representative of the U. S. Employment Service in the application of the merit system to public employment offices in Texas.

Examinations will be under the direction of Claudius B. Hodges, research division chief. Hodges conducted the first examination Saturday, August 15, in Houston for investigators of the Sixth District, comprising Harris and twelve surrounding counties. At least three or four other district examinations will have been completed by the end of this week.

THE CAPITAL ONLOOKER (By Charles E. Simons)

Austin, Texas, Aug. 10.—Now that the personnel of the next legislature largely has been determined in the recent Democratic primary election, this politically minded capital of Texas is turning its attention again to issues that will confront the new group of law-makers. The list of prospective legislation is replete with many major subjects and members of the 45th legislature will find their work sheets dotted with knotty problems.

Because of the scores of improvements recently undertaken with the aid of federal emergency funds, much attention doubtless will be given to plans for additional public betterments by the next legislature. During the last legislative laws were enacted, some only after bitter fights, creating the Lower Colorado River Authority, giving effective working machinery to the Brazos River Conservation and Reclamation District and establishing many other water control and improvement projects.

That there will be additional projects along the lines of these improvements proposed at the next session of the legislature, or changes suggested in laws already enacted, appears certain. The necessity for flood control work has been forced to the attention of the public by the disastrous high waters of the past few months on the state's large watersheds, particularly the Brazos and the Guadalupe. Had flood control plans for these watersheds been in actual operation many lives and millions in property would not have been destroyed.

In connection with the Brazos River agency the legislature voted to relinquish the state property tax in several counties in the district to aid in financing this important project. This was the only district so favored and the tax relinquishment feature was the most hotly contested factor. Leader in the strategy in this campaign was Senator Albert Stone of Brenham who worked tirelessly in drafting a law that was agreeable to a majority and yet provided the necessary machinery to effectively carry out plans for the watershed.

Senator Stone's strategy with respect to the Brazos River bill is regarded by observers as one of the high points in finesse in the last legislature and was successful despite the opposition of a strong and capable managed group who vigorously opposed, in principle, the relinquishment or diversion of any of the state's taxes for improvements of this nature. The relinquishment of the taxes was the key in financing the project and without it the improvement

Continued Rise in Norge Sales, Says Division President

Household appliance sales of Borg-Warner Divisions for the seven months period in 1936 were 328,846 units, 51.2 per cent ahead of the like period last year, and have topped any previous record in the company's history, according to an announcement made by Howard E. Blood, president Norge Division.

"Household Rollator refrigerator sales for this period are 33.7 per cent ahead of last year," said Mr. Blood. "Ranges are up 150 per cent; washers, 119 per cent; broilers, 311 per cent; and sales in the Norge Heating and Air Conditioning Division are 332.7 per cent above last year's figures.

"This acceleration in sales points to one conclusion—that the consumer now looks upon home appliances as necessities rather than luxuries, and that they are now considered an essential part of homemaking equipment. At the beginning of this year, economic experts pointed out that 1936 would, in many respects, be a year of spectacular business recovery. Statistics now show that recovery has been steady rather than spectacular, and the home appliance

BASE YOUR CHOICE on PERFORMANCE!

A Good Refrigerator must...

- Keep Foods Safely!
• Freeze Ice Quickly!
• Operate at Low Cost!

FOR TRUE VALUE ... BUY AN ELECTRIC REFRIGERATOR!

All refrigerators are not alike. All do not offer the same value or provide the same performance. Neither price nor appearance determine true refrigerator worth. The basic test of any refrigerator is its ability to provide satisfactory trouble-free performance all the time. Many buyers overlook this fact.

Buy your refrigerator this way:

First and most important, demand that it maintain temperatures below 50 degrees. Many refrigerators cannot. Yet in temperatures over 50 degrees, food spoils quickly and endangers health.

Second, demand that your refrigerator freeze ice quickly. If it cannot, you are not receiving true refrigerator value. You must have fast-freezing ability. In summer when ice needs are many and when frozen desserts are an important part of menus.

Third, look for low operating cost. But remember, low operating cost is worthwhile only when the above performance is maintained.

Demand evidence of such performance when you buy. If you do, you will choose a modern electric refrigerator and receive the utmost for your money.
