After the guests were seated, Ernest Spears, president of the Association, presided. Mrs. F. A. Davis, master of ceremonies, who cleverly introduced herself as Miss Lent Lenoir, pupil and teacher. Mrs. Davis attended the Crowell school and later taught in Crowell High School for several years. Mrs. Crockett Fox sang "Dear Old Crowell High" and "Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here," accompanied by Mrs. Frances Ricks at the piano.

Mrs. Davis then called upon L. V. Robertson, local photographer, to take a picture of the group and after the camera had been set up, he accidentally knocked it over, breaking the glass and rattling the tin pans hidden in the dummy, enough to make one think it wasn't a joke. This was followed by music by Mrs. Alva Spencer, violinist, and Mrs. Arnold Rucker, pianist. Mrs. Crockett Fox then sang "That Old Gang of Mine," after which a turkey dinner was served by the DeLuxe Cafe with twelve girls of the Homemaking class of Crowell High School acting as waitresses. Several songs were heard and numerous pranks were played by the exes at their various tables.

At the conclusion of the dinner an interruption in the program was made by Sheriff R. J. Thomas, who called for Supt. I. T. Graves. Mr. Graves later returned to the hall and announced that a baby had been abandoned on the steps of the DeLuxe Cafe with twelve girls of the Homemaking class of Crowell High School acting as waitresses. A note of warning to businessmen who would pull profits from prosperity is sounded by Roger W. Babson, economist and statistician, in the Rotary Magazine.

"To my way of thinking," he says, "advertising and selling are going to play a tremendous part in the coming boom. Your sales department should be drilled into a 'prosperity psychology.' The minute the low point of a depression is reached, and the turn towards better times comes, I become bullish on advertising. This bullishness develops into a white heat as business reaches the normal line. It is in the normal zone that all the constructive forces of your organization should work and work in harmony."

Mr. Babson further urges that businessmen consider these important factors: "Credits should be kept in order at all times. As prosperity proceeds there will be increasing shortages of skilled workers and executives; so investment in your personnel now should pay handsome dividends. Doing business in the prosperous days ahead without sound accounting and finance methods would be like fighting a fire with gasoline. If you must borrow, at least be free from debt one day of each year. Practical research in your business may mean the difference between profits and just breaking even.

"Strange as this may sound, less than 10 per cent of the businessmen of the United States actually pulled profits from the great 1929 boom! Remember this," warns Mr. Babson, "whereas depression hits everybody, prosperity is always selective. Profit tickets are not passed out to all that enter the Big Tent of good times. In a period of business expansion you must work just as hard to assure profits as in a period of depression you must work hard to avert losses.

"Only four times during my 35 years of studying business conditions has the Babson-chart, on which I have spent over a million dollars in research, crossed the 'normal line' on its way upward. The first of these was in 1902-12; the second in 1915, and the third was 14 years ago, in 1922. The fourth has just occurred.

"At the start of this impending boom," he says in conclusion, "you all have a new set of books to open. This is the time when everybody starts from scratch but some only scratch. The way to eliminate competition is not to meet it but to keep ahead of it."

Banquet—

 short but interesting speeches by A. Y. Beverly of the class of 1913, A. D. Campbell of the 1908 class, W. A. Cogdell, superintendent of the first graduating class, I. T. Graves, present superintendent, and Mrs. Carrie Allee-Hart, one of the first teachers, and others.

Crowell High School students were given by Miss Jim Lois Gafford and all of the classes from 1908 to 1932 were introduced and members of the classes rose to their feet as their year was called.

Two of the three members of the first graduating class were present. They were Mrs. J. A. Stovall and A. D. Campbell. Those who had been students under Mr. Cogdell, Mrs. Davis and Mr. Graves rose as the teachers names were called. Mrs. C. D. Haney, gave two readings she learned in school 20 years ago.

Members of the executive committee presented Ernest Spears a present to show their appreciation and after unwrapping several boxes he found three winners, Mrs. T. S. Haney sang "When I Grow Too Old to Dream" and led the graduates in "Auld Lang Syne" which concluded the program.

Immediately after the banquet,

WHAT WE THINK
 (By Frank Dixon)

Few things that have happened on foreign soil have been given the notice and publicity in American newspapers that has been accorded the abduction of King Edward from the English throne.

On the surface it is made to appear that the reason for the turmoil and the furor is that the English ruling class that has many traditions to uphold objects to the king marrying a divorced woman.

My own opinion is that this is largely a smoke screen. As I read between the lines the actual ruling class of England, those from whom the king takes his orders, have never been satisfied with King Edward. He has never taken royalty seriously enough to suit them. He has had little regard for the pomp and splendor and traditions of the time worn and matriculated theory that royalty and the accident of birth and possession of money produce super men.

The back bone of the upper crust of England saw in the rising popularity of the king a menace to old traditions and welcomed a chance to shunt the king away from the throne and put in his place another with less inclination in this direction.

The old boys can't see the hand writing on the wall of time. The drift is toward more democracy in government and less of royalty. England still retains her king but he has no power or authority or duties except to sign on the dotted line where he is told to sign.

Those over the king are really the rulers of the empire and they are guarding this privilege zealously.

When I look back in my history at some of the carryings on of royalty, it reminds me that there is a lot about it that should be forgotten rather than perpetuated.

I have come to the conclusion that nothing is secure that isn't fundamentally sound and right. A business practice that isn't sound will sooner or later have to be abandoned. A system of government that gives one group of people an advantage over another cannot continue to exist. Its error will one day sink it as surely as a leak in a ship, if allowed to continue, will one day cause it to founder.

I think most of the faults that sink businesses or cause disturbances in the government are obvious. Most of them have been created by one group trying to get an advantage over another. In most instances the guilty parties know they are guilty. The business that demands and receives special privilege at the hands of the government is laying the foundation for its eventual and inevitable ruin.

The business man who resorts to unethical practice is inviting his own ruin because the thing that he thinks will give him a special advantage over his neighbor will be used by his neighbor also. In the end it works for the harm of both.

The tables were cleared from the floor and Misses Lee Teague and Madge Moyer entertained in a tap dance number. Miss Doris Oswald sang "Shine On, Harvest Moon."

Those that attended were:

Miss Jo Roark, Mr. and Mrs. Otis Burson of Levelland, Mrs. Gladys Benson Beck of Sudan, Mrs. J. R. New Year's Resolution

HERE'S a New Year's resolution
 Any one can make and keep:
 It will help one's constitution,
 And enable one to sleep.

"I will try to keep from fretting
 When I cannot see the sun;
 I will try to keep from getting
 Into quarrels I may shun.

"I will try to keep from grieving
 Over troubles that are past;
 I will try to keep on trying
 Things will all come right at last.

"I will try to keep from sighing
 When I ought to smile, instead;
 I will try to keep on trying
 To deserve to get ahead."
 —Montreal Herald.

New Year Cavalier
 by Helen Gaisford Waterman

FENTON DUMONT was bored with the party. All right welcoming in the New Year so smugly for people like these—but he was an adventurer, a cavalier, and the formal drawing room, the lovely ladies so ready to smile upon him, the classical music, the slow, pompous talk of the men suffocated him. He stepped to the balcony.

It had stopped snowing. In another hour the year would be dead. A grand year. But another would be beginning. He slipped over the balustrade, wound his leg around a pillar, and slid down to meet it. To the east, far away, the year was already new, and so he set off in that direction.

He was almost half way across the bridge before he noticed the girl, but then he strode quickly to her side. "Please don't," he said gently. She started. "I should only have to jump in after you, and can't you imagine how cold I'd be?" he ended, and shivered with clown-like intensity. "I might even catch my death," he continued lightly, but the girl looked back to the river, and he realized his error. "You may want to die," he said earnestly, "but I don't. Please!"

"Then leave me be," she answered. Her voice was soft and musical, but passionately desperate.

He gathered her in his arms and kissed her. She struggled fiercely. He kissed her again, and again, pinning her arms to her sides with his strong clasp. And suddenly she went limp in his arms, and cried against his shoulder. He took off his overcoat and wrapped it around her, for she was shivering. "Why did you come off without your coat and hat?" he chided, and stroked her soft hair.

Behind him, bells and whistles proclaimed another year. "Happy New Year, lassie," he said gayly. She dried her eyes. "I'm being a fool," she apologized.

"Not at all," he answered, gallantly. "Methinks I behold a restaurant across the bridge. How about some coffee?"

She let him lead her, and he found a corner table. When their order had been placed, he turned to her.

"Why should you love a man like that?"

She looked up quickly, studying him. "How did you know?"

"Why else should a lovely girl like you be spending New Year's eve that way? You should be dancing."

She smiled. "I don't know. It seemed terribly important half an hour ago. But I'm all right now. It doesn't matter any more."

"Off with the old," he quoted, "on with the new. This is the season for lovers as well as years. The old is off?"

"Yes."

He took her hand. "The new—would like very much—to be on." His gaze caught and held hers. "May I take you home now?"

She nodded her thanks. Outside, it was snowing again, but they scarcely noticed. At her door, he kissed her, and this time she did not resist. "On with the new," she murmured gently.

"That's O.K. this time," he answered, "but I won't let it happen next New Year's."

American Honored

B. P. Newton, vice president of the Gulf Oil Corporation, has just been honored by King Leopold III of Belgium who conferred upon him the decoration "Chevalier de l'ordre de Leopold." Mr. Newton is one of the few Americans so honored since the Order was founded by Leopold I in 1832. The honor of being knighted into the order is possible only by nomination of the reigning monarch, or upon the recommendation of high governmental officials. This distinction is extended only to those men who have been of valuable military or civic service to the Belgium Government.

Rialto Offers Many Famous Movie Stars During Coming Week

The theme of the attractions appearing at the local theatre during the week to come is "stars, bigger and brighter than ever before," with well known stars in the casts. Shirley Temple, daintiest of all stars, returns tonight in her biggest hit, "Dimples." There is no need to enumerate her charms or laud her talent, nor her previous hits. Everyone knows that a picture with Shirley gives a full evening of entertainment, and she has ample backing in this hit of hits. Those supporting her are Frank Morgan, Helen Westley and Stepin Fetchit.

New Year's Eve ushers in the next array of stars in the preview showing of the regular Saturday evening picture. James Dunn returns in the role of a lovable, mischievous trinket salesman in the merriest picture of his career, "Come Closer, Folks." Backing up this magician we find Marian Marsh and Wynne Gibson.

"Don't Turn 'Em Loose," which shows on Friday night and Saturday matinee, brings an array of stars noted for straight-from-the-shoulder drama and fast action. Lewis Stone, Bruce Cabot, James Gleason and Betty Grable are starred in the picture.

A long list of stars are cast in "The Gorgeous Hussy," which begins at the Saturday night preview and continues through Sunday evening and night and Monday night. Joan Crawford plays opposite a host of popular male stars led by Robert Taylor, whose chief rival is Franchot Tone, James Stewart, Mervyn Douglas and Lionel Barrymore.

"The Longest Night," showing all day Tuesday, features Robert Young, well remembered for his roles in "Red Salute," "The Three Wise Guys," "Sworn Enemy," and lately in "The Bride Walks Out." A new star will be introduced to local fans next Wednesday and Thursday, when Bobby Breen, youthful singing and dancing star appears in the newest hit of the season, "Rainbow On the River." May Robson, the grand old lady of "Lady For A Day" is supporting this promising young star.

SAFE STREETS—AT A PRICE

One city that is doing something about the highway toll is Evanston, Illinois—Chicago's neighbor to the north. In three of the past four years Evanston has won the Grand Prize and the title of "America's Safety City" in a nationwide annual contest conducted by the National Safety Council. What it is doing and what it is accomplishing are told in an article in the January Rotarian Magazine.

The record of Evanston and a score of other cities proves that safety can be purchased. The cost is not to be reckoned in dollars and cents only, but also in terms of intelligently conceived measures which are enforced without fear or favor because citizens back them up. Until the "good citizen" foregoes using his "pull" to escape the penalty of his misdemeanor, the reckless driver will not seriously consider mending his ways which may make him a criminal.

"Slow—no hospital" is a sign at the outskirts of a certain village. Another one reads, "Pedestrians should be seen and not hurt." Clever, yes. But their ominous suggestion is heeded by a few throttle pushers. Much more effective would be routing the highways around the community rather than through it.

Safety is now more than sentiment, it is a science. A new crop of engineers and police officers is coming on. They have studied the techniques of highway construction and traffic regulation. They stand ready to apply their science to any community when and only when the citizens of that community become sufficiently aroused to demand and to pay for properly constructed roads, physical and legal devices for making them safe, and unremitting education in sane driving for everyone who puts a hand to a steering wheel.

They Rate 'A' on Hurdle

Some folks may doubt that Mary's lamb followed her to school, but here is Miss Winifred Small, sophomore at Texas State College for Women (CIA) and her sorrel hunter, Robin, who did accompany her to Denton. The tall sedate brunette, daughter of State Senator Clint C. Small of Amarillo, is an accomplished equestrienne, and is shown on a course of jumps at the college riding academy.

Records Show Nine Lynchings in 1936

According to the records compiled in the Department of Records and Research of the Tuskegee Institute, there were 9 persons lynched in 1936. This is 11 less than the number 20 for 1935; 6 less than the number 15 for 1934; and 19 less than the number 28 for 1933. Six of the persons lynched were in the hands of the law; 2 were taken from jails, and 4 from officers of the law outside of jails.

There were 35 instances in which officers of the law prevented lynchings. Five of these were in Northern States and 30 in Southern States. In 30 of the instances the prisoners were removed or the guards augmented or other precautions taken. In the 5 other instances, armed force was used to repel the would-be lynchers. A total of 69 persons, 7 white and 62 Negro, were thus saved from death at the hands of mobs.

Of the 9 persons lynched, all were Negroes. The offenses charged are as follows: rape, 3; attempted rape, 3; murder, 1; activity in share cropper strike, 1; charges not reported, 1.

The states in which lynchings occurred and the number in each state are as follows: Arkansas, 2; Florida, 1; Georgia, 5; Mississippi, 1.

"POINT" IN MARKET REPORTS
 "Point," as employed in market reports, means a recognized unit of variation in price and is used in quoting the prices of stocks as well as various commodities. In the United States stock market one point ordinarily means one dollar a share. The value of a point, however, varies according to the commodity in question. Therefore in order to understand the market reports one must be acquainted with the value of a point in reference to any given commodity. In the coffee and cotton markets, for instance, a point is the hundredth part of a cent; in oil, grain, sugar, and pork it is 1 cent. When cotton goes up 200 points it goes up 2 cents; when grain goes up 5 points it goes up 6 cents.

HERE AND THERE

Concerning exams comes the following opinion of Dr. C. P. Boner, associate professor of physics, University of Texas: "If it were natural for students to study, we wouldn't have to give quizzes, because the only reason we give them is to make students study." Harvard's mentor, Dick Harlow, probably expresses the view of most men on football when he made the statement: "It is the only game now which a lady cannot play; keep it rugged."

The DePaulian has traced down the originators of our modern witticisms:

Samson: I'm strong for you, kid.

Helen of Troy: So this is Paris, Columbus: I don't know where I'm going, but I'm on my way.

Queen Elizabeth to Sir Walter Raleigh: Keep your shirt on.

4-H Club Girls Have Exceptional Records

Marguerite Lewis "I have learned to sew, cook and be a better housekeeper in my four years' work as a 4-H Club girl," says Marguerite Lewis of the Vivian 4-H Club, winner of first place in a story written concerning her record and history as a club member.

In addition to regular club work Marguerite thinks that club parties, picnics, pie suppers, encampments, and rallies have been a lot of fun and have added to the enjoyment of club work.

In her four years of work Marguerite has been both clothing and garden demonstrator for her club two different times and has also served as reporter and secretary. As a part of her clothing demonstration and later work as a co-operator in clothing, she has made a total of 118 garments, mended 269 garments and improved clothing storage space where possible.

As garden demonstrator Marguerite reports having canned 156 quarts of fruit and vegetables, taken charge of a garden 120 by 60 feet, and kept up with her work in the preparation of foods.

Additional honors won by Marguerite have been first place in the wardrobe contest the year she was demonstrator, first place on canned vegetables, and third place on a dress in one of the contests.

Anita Traweck During the past year, her second as a club member, Anita Traweck of the Foard City 4-H Club, winner of second place in the record and history contest, served her club as wardrobe demonstrator. As a part of her demonstration she made 18 garments, mended 40 garments, rebuilt and kept record of her expenditures. In addition Anita has made 20 other articles of clothing. She won second place in the county wardrobe contest.

In her garden work Anita reports having canned 26 containers, prepared carrots in various ways and prepared foods such as light bread, cakes, pies, cornbread and potatoes for the family.

Juanita Traweck A total of 16 articles were made in her 4-H Club clothing work by Juanita Traweck, co-winner of second place in the record and history contest. Juanita has been a member of the Foard City 4-H Club just one year, joining when she was ten years old.

Included in the 16 garments made were a dress that was entered in the clothing contest, a slip and a gown. Juanita reports having repaired 37 garments and assisted in repairing the storage space for clothing.

In her year's garden work Juanita planted 1375 feet of row space in fruits and vegetables and canned 21 containers.

Elizabeth Whitten In her four years of club work Elizabeth Whitten of the Riverside 4-H Club has served her club as president for one year and secretary-treasurer for a year. She has also served as reporter.

During her years as a club girl Elizabeth reports having made 20 articles, mended 30 articles, canned 50 containers of fruits and vegetables, and completed a number of goals set in home improvement such as refinishing three floors, refinishing furniture, and making curtains for the bedroom windows.

Elizabeth is again serving her club as president and has started the year off with some good work, being up-to-date on goals set.

Louise Hembree The history of Louise Hembree of the Riverside 4-H Club shows that she has served her club in the capacity of president, vice president, reporter, and wardrobe demonstrator at various times.

During her work as demonstrator in wardrobe Louise made four dresses, one slip, seven cup towels, a dresser scarf and pieced a quilt. She says that at the same time she did a lot of mending in order to keep her clothing in good condition.

Louise is serving her club this year as clothing demonstrator and reporter and says that she is enjoying it a lot and that she is beginning to really understand and appreciate club work.

Dorothy Nell Beggs "My club work has not exactly made money for me but I have won a fountain pen, a pillow top, a half dozen fruit jars, a scrap book, a manicure set, a crocheted purse, and a pair of hose," says Dorothy Nell Beggs of the Vivian 4-H Club.

Dorothy Nell has served her club as president, bedroom demonstrator and garden demonstrator. She has completed goals set each year and during the past year won a 4-H pin for having completed all goals. The Vivian Club will miss having Dorothy Nell with them this year as she is attending high school and so cannot be with the club group in Vivian.

Voices of Solitude

There are voices which we hear in solitude but they grow faint and inaudible as we enter into the world.

Great Qualities

It is not enough to possess great qualities unless we have the management of them.

SAFETY SLOGANS

The most dangerous time for a pedestrian is when two cars are approaching each other. Neither driver is able to see the highway or any object on it because of the bright headlights of the other.

Remember the best of brakes will not hold on icy pavement. The ability of the driver, not the determining factor on how fast one drives.

Every year disastrous fires are caused by Christmas candles and electric wiring. Inflammable cotton and decorations add to the hazard. Make your Christmas decorations safe.
