ST RITES FOR E. RECTOR AT THALIA CHURCH

Succumbs to Lingering Illness at Home in Crowell

Funeral rites were conducted for E. Rector, 55, by Rev. E. Rector, pastor of the Thalia Church of Christ Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock. Interment was in the Thalia cemetery.

Rector died in his home in Crowell Monday morning, June 7, after a lingering illness. He was stricken July 21.

Bearers were: T. A. Spears, Boesinger, Allen Shultz, Ed Walter Johnson and Luther alter Ennis Rector was born in 1881, in Cherokee County, Texas. He was converted to the Church of Christ at the age of 11 years. On Oct. 10, Mr. Rector was married to Mrs. Rector, Miss Luella Mae Toole, sister of Mrs. Rector, and they were joined in holy matrimony by Rev. Rector on Oct. 10, 1910.

Mr. Rector has been a resident of Crowell for the past 25 years, living at Margaret and Ray streets, and his family moved to Crowell last August.

He is survived by his wife; one son, Mrs. John Williamson; four daughters, O. R. and Albert Rector, Vernon, Jim Rector of Lamar, Texas, and Floyd Rector of Lubbock. With the exception of Floyd, all of those named above are present for the funeral.

Relatives who attended the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. Stannic, Mrs. Breckenridge, out-of-town friends who paid last respects were Walter and Ray Baker, Cary Norman and B. Moore, all of Vernon.

RECEIVES DEGREE

Miss Ruth Billington, daughter of J. E. Billington, and sister of J. T. Billington, of Crowell, received her B. A. degree from Baylor University in Waco at commencement exercises Monday, May 31. Mrs. Billington attended the exercises from Crowell.

Miss Billington was a resident of Crowell several years ago at the time her father was the pastor of the First Baptist Church.

MOVEMENT HAS BEEN LAUNCHED BY STEWARDS TO REDUCE DEBT IN CROWELL METHODIST CHURCH

At a recent meeting of the stewards of the Crowell Methodist Church it was decided to launch a campaign immediately to secure funds to liquidate at once one-half of the indebtedness of the church by Nov. 15. A committee has been selected and J. R. Beverly has been appointed chairman of the committee. Plans of procedure have been worked out and the campaign is ready to start.

The objective of this campaign is to raise $5,400 and cut the debt in half. If this amount is not raised all money given or pledged to the debt-lifting campaign will be refunded, however, it is hoped that this will not be necessary.

With a good wheat crop already in prospect, and a good row crop, church members and the financial committee think this is an ideal time to put forth intensive efforts to collect money to pay off at least one-half of this debt and balance the balance so that it can be more easily handled in the future and not interfere with the program of the church.

In connection with this campaign we are publishing a letter to the members of the church regarding the importance and necessity of churches in a town.

Below:

Why do we need a church in Crowell? First, I would say that it is the most important institution in this or any other community. No community without a church can ever hope to reach that high standard of social, intellectual and spiritual life that is ours by Divine authority. This was recognized by the early settlers of this community and I could not begin to tell you of the sacrifices and hardships that they willingly endured that we might enjoy the privileges that we now enjoy. Some have passed on to their reward but

There are some things that are essential to our comfort, to our health, to our social and spiritual life and most of all, the influence that will determine the character and final destiny of not only the children and young men and women of today, but will determine the character and destiny of generations to follow.

Speaking of the value of our church in Crowell, Texas, we might ask the question: Why do we need a church? Before answering that question I would ask, Why do we need a physician in our town? Why do we need a drug store in our town? Why do we need a public school building in our town? I am sure your answer to all these questions would be: Because they are indispensable to our daily life and no person could attain the comfort, health and knowledge necessary to make life worth while, without them. In attempting to answer the question: Why do we need a church in Crowell? First, I would say that it is the most important institution in this or any other community. No community without a church can ever hope to reach that high standard of social, intellectual and spiritual life that is ours by Divine authority. This was recognized by the early settlers of this community and I could not begin to tell you of the sacrifices and hardships that they willingly endured that we might enjoy the privileges that we now enjoy. VERNON WINS OVER CROWELL IN H-W-F TILT

Cowboy's Slugging Too Much for Locals in Close Game

The Crowell baseball team lost a hard fought game to Vernon Sunday by the narrow margin of 9 to 7 in a H-W-F tilt in the Vernon City Park.

The hitting of Vernon batters was much better than that of the Crowell team, although the performance of L. Green at the plate was a feature of the game as he collected a five double and three singles in five trips to bat, but the slugging of the locals made up for this. Vernon committed 5 errors and Crowell drew only one.

58,192 BUSHELS BROUGHT HERE LAST MONDAY

Yield Record of 50.3 Bushels Per Acre Set This Week

Approximately 192,000 bushels of wheat from the 1937 crop in Foard County has been delivered to the elevators so far. About 90 carloads of wheat have been shipped from this county.

Wheat harvest in this county has been greatly delayed by rains. Two and a half days has been the longest period of weather that wheat could be threshed since harvest opened a little over two weeks ago and during this time there have been about six days that wheat was in condition to be cut.

The elevators received their biggest rush so far this year Monday. Although the loads of wheat did not start coming in until about noon, there were 58,192 bushels delivered to the three elevators in Crowell from that time until the storm struck about one o'clock Tuesday morning. In order to take care of the wheat coming in faster, the elevator men had the wheat scooped directly from the trucks into the box cars. The Farmers' Elevator placed several hundred bushels of wheat into the seed house of the Farmers' Gin.

Despite these methods taken to handle the wheat faster, trucks were lined up from one to three blocks from the elevators, waiting their turn to dump their wheat, during the latter part of the afternoon and the greater part of the night. By the time the wheat is dry enough to cut, all of the combines and threshers in the county will be running and the wheat will come in much faster than it has in the past two weeks.

Record Yield
M. L. Hughston can rightly claim the record yield for Foard County. After combining a 22 acre field, owned by Mr. Hughston, it was found that the yield was 50.3 bushels per acre. This field is located in the old lake bed about 6 miles east of Crowell. Old-timers here state that they have never heard of such a high yield in this county. This wheat tested 61 and 62.

Installs New Elevator Leg
The Foard County Mill is installing an elevator leg one block south of their elevator so they can give wheat trucks faster dumping service.

As the third week of harvest gets under way, it looks as though the average yield is still well over 20 bushels per acre and the wheat is testing between 57 and 60, but the greater part of it tests about (Continued on Page Five.)

The sythe has been in storage all these years and was finally sold when the same man who ordered it needed it 17 years later.

MOFFETT BILL FOR RESEARCH LAB. IS VETOED

May Mean Great Loss to Texas Cotton Farmers

The following letter was received Wednesday from George Moffett concerning the vetoing of his bill for a cotton research laboratory in Texas:

"I am deeply disappointed over the veto of the bill which I sponsored through the Legislature, that would have meant the establishment of a well-equipped cotton research laboratory in Texas. This may mean a great economic loss to Texas.

"We have prospects for one of the largest cotton crops ever made in this State. The price is steadily and almost daily declining, partially because our exports are dropping off. Foreign customers are buying from our foreign competitors, and, though regrettable, it is undeniably true that we are going to find it harder and harder to sell our cotton abroad in the future. Since it is our chief agricultural product, it is vital that we undertake to find a market for it. No better service could be performed by the Government for its people than to broaden the markets for the principal product of its farms. Increased markets mean increased income, and hence, more ability to pay taxes.

"If Government experts have been smart enough to discover and use gun cotton, through which large quantities of cotton are consumed, they could certainly find many other uses for it. There have been various scattered instances in industry where additional uses of cotton have been discovered as a side-line to said industries. For instance, the tire manufacturers, a number of years ago, began to use cotton fabric in the manufacture of tires, but they have no further interest in the matter now. The manufacturers of cellophane use some cotton in making this product. If the Government should establish a well-equipped and efficiently operated laboratory, doubtless within five years enough new and expanded uses for cotton and its products could be found to use an additional five million bales per year, which would undoubtedly maintain the market price at a profitable level for the producers and would bring prosperity and satisfactory economic conditions to all those interested in the cotton industry, including producers, merchants, and about 80 per cent of the people of Texas, which probably would be worth more to Texas than any other one thing that the Government could do for the State.

"I regret that the Governor has seen fit to veto this bill on the basis of economy. I think that when the State needs anything as badly as Texas needs expanded uses and market outlets for cotton that it is false economy to

CITY LAKE IS OVERFLOWED BY DRIVING RAIN

Claytonville Reports Only Hail Damage in County

Heavy rain fell in Foard County Tuesday morning during one of the most severe electrical storms received in this county in many years. One and eighty-five hundredths inches of rain were recorded at the Crowell State Bank about 7 a. m. and the total was raised to a little over two inches by noon.

One and twenty-five hundredths inches of rain fell last Thursday night and Friday morning for the first of two good rains to be received in this county in the period of a week. The total for these two rains is 3.25 inches. It has rained 3.38 inches during the first eight days of June.

A ten-inch rain was reported at the Carroll Service Station 15 miles west of Crowell. The Claytonville community received heavier rains than in Crowell and damaging hail, but only a small area of wheat was damaged. Some hail fell in Crowell. The rains were lighter in the eastern portion of the county and in some communities only light showers were received.

City Lake Full
Any fears held by Crowell citizens of a water shortage during the summer were banished when it was learned that the water in the city lake had run over the spillway at a depth of about one foot. This is the second time that the lake has run over the spillway since the first of last September and it is certain that Crowell will not face another water shortage as it did last summer when water was shipped here from Knox City in tank cars. During this time reports spread that water here cost five to ten cents per glass.

The spillway and dam of the city lake were raised last spring and there is enough water in the reservoir to last the city of Crowell for several months without rains.

Lightning Display
The lightning Tuesday morning was low and flashed so fast that it seemed to be one continual flash at times. The flashes of lightning were followed by earth-jarring blasts of thunder.

A bolt of lightning entered the county jail through the light wires and A. W. Lilly, sheriff and jailer, stated that fuse boxes were blown from the wall and the light bulbs were burst. Mr. Lilly was leaning against a steam radiator at the time and received a severe jolt.

There were several reports of the lightning entering houses on the light lines and radio aerials. In some instances small fires were started but no damage was done.

A transformer in the West Texas Utilities Co.'s sub-station was burned out and some of the business houses were without electricity several hours.

Masonic Hall Struck by Lightning and Burns Early Tuesday Morning

The Crowell Masonic Lodge Hall was struck by lightning and burned Tuesday morning about three o'clock during one of the most severe electrical storms witnessed here in many years. The building, with its equipment, was a total loss and the damage was estimated at over $4,000.

The alarm was turned in by a truck driver who had sought shelter in the drive-way of the vacant service station across the street west of the hall, and saw the bolt strike the roof of the building.

Although the fire was only one-half block from the fire station, the roof was ablaze in a very few minutes and driving rain made the fighting of the blaze so difficult that the 24x60 foot, two-story structure burned to the ground despite the heroic efforts of the Crowell fire fighters. The majority of lengths of hose laid were under about two feet of water, making the handling of the hose extremely difficult.

The top floor of the building was gained by the fighters when they first arrived at the scene but they were driven back by heat from the flames that were ravaging the roof and attic.

A south wind rose and whipped the flames to new fury, after which it was impossible to bring the fire under control.

Records Lost

The charter of the Crowell Masonic Lodge and many other valuable documents and records were lost in the flames. These were in the safe, which was not locked, and the door was jarred open in the fall from the second floor to the ground. They were consumed in a few short moments by the fire.

The building also served as headquarters for the American Legion and the Boy Scouts of Crowell. An estimate has not been made on the Legion's loss, but the loss was one piano, lighting fixtures, flags, emblems, a desk and several other items. Approximately 200 war relics, which can not be replaced were destroyed in the flames. A German machine gun, several rifles, pistols, helmets, trench equipment and many other articles of this nature were lost.

The Boy Scouts' loss was small. Several articles that had been made by the Scouts were their biggest loss.

Old Landmark

This building was constructed by the Crowell Masonic Lodge in September, 1907, a few years after its organization here. The first meeting of the Masons in Crowell was held in the second story of the rock building on the northwest corner of the square, where the meetings were held until the lodge hall was completed.

The President's Message on Tax Evasion

Last Tuesday the President sent the Congress a special message pointing out the many newly discovered loopholes, through which persons and corporations of great wealth are using to escape the payment of income taxes to the Government. The President in his message, quoted a letter from Secretary Morgenthau, which gave many specific examples of how the rich are setting up corporations at home and abroad and through various and sundry schemes are avoiding tax payments. A careful investigation of our revenue laws during and since the reign of Mr. Mellon, will show that the different loopholes he planted in the law have, nurtured and guided by the personnel he set up in the Revenue Department, the Board of Tax Appeals, the Court of Claims and other administrative offices, had a tremendous influence and effect on perpetuating, enlarging and extending these loopholes through the different administrations and the records show that the tax lobbyists have played no favors but seem to have always had a ready ear to those in power and have been able to perpetuate most of the old loopholes and have continued to provide new ones that will enable wealth to escape more taxes based on ability to pay, than have been paid into the Treasury. The President's "occasion" message was well received by the Congress and it is believed that some constructive legislation will be worked out and enacted at this session, plugging some of the many known loopholes in the tax laws.

Veterans' Term Insurance

Tuesday the House, by a vote of 372 to 13 and the Senate by a vote of 69 to 12 overrode the veto of the President permitting World War Veterans another five years in which to convert their term insurance into one of the five governmental insurance policies.

Relief Bill

The House last Tuesday passed finally by a vote of 326 to 61, the Relief bill providing for $1,500,000. The different amendments earmarking funds for PWA highway and flood control were eliminated from the bill. Funds will be provided for these matters through legislation pending and under a definite agreement with the President.

Tax Evasion Resolution

Last Tuesday, the Senate passed and sent to the House a Resolution setting up a Joint Committee to work with Treasury Officials in investigating the existing loopholes in the Revenue laws, and to make recommendations back to the Congress correcting same. The House considered this resolution on Wednesday, but upon objection being raised by the Rules Committee, this resolution is still pending in that committee and is due to be considered by the House, Thursday.

The writer has spoken on several different occasions specifically pointing out the many different loopholes in existing revenue law and has pointed them out each session of Congress, since 1933, the different additional loopholes being annually written into the revenue laws, all of which have, of course, provided additional exemptions for the rich at the expense of the poor. The Ways and Means Committee of the House and the Finance Committee of the Senate are the authorized Taxing Committees of the Congress, who have the exclusive jurisdiction of receiving information concerning this entire subject from the Revenue Department. No other member of Congress has any right to secure any information from the Revenue Department unless and until the Tax Committee requests same. And under the rules of the Congress these Committees, of course, can at any time investigate any matters concerning this department and bring in legislation correcting same. However, through the years these committees have allowed existing loopholes in the tax laws not only to continue but each year have permitted additional loopholes to be placed in the tax laws which, together with the vague and indefinite way in which succeeding revenue laws have been written have at least been an invitation to the tax attorneys for the rich to do what they have done—set up all kinds of schemes to avoid the payment of any taxes.

Since these Captains of Industry control the press of the Nation and apparently have a united front in creating an atmosphere that such tax evasion and avoidance is highly moral and the tax dodgers have been given credit and praise instead of being properly branded for intentionally trying to defraud the Government of payment of their just portion of the tax burden. The special press correspondents of the rich are now pouring their columns full of typical plutocratic alibis as to "why they feel they should not be forced to pay their part of the bill for feeding and providing for the one-third who are ill-fed, clothed and housed, that they directly caused to be placed in that condition. SAFETY SLOGANS

Automobile drivers are far behind the cars of today when it comes to their skill in driving. Most of the automobile accidents that take the lives of 36,000 persons each year could be prevented with the exercise of care and caution. 36,000 lives is a terrible price to pay for carelessness. 6,000 persons were burned to death last year. Most of these deaths resulted from carelessness and could have been prevented with a little caution. Regardless of his personal opinion no driver is as good with a drink of liquor in him as without it. If you can't swim stay out of deep water. You have no right to jeopardize the lives of others who might attempt to save you by venturing in water beyond your depth.

The Lord trieth the righteous; but the wicked and him that loveth violence his soul hateth.—Psalm 11:5.

The best way to advertise a community throughout its trade territory is to do the things that will cause the person who comes to our town to trade to feel that ours is a friendly town, a hospitable town. That we as merchants and citizens of the community are not anxious alone that he spend his money with us and receive in return goods and service. Our desire should go further than this. Our desire should be that he enjoys coming here, that he is made conscious of the friendliness and hospitality on the part of those with whom he comes in contact. If a community can unite sincerely upon such a program it need have little concern that it will receive all the trade its trade territory has to give. Nothing, rain, or storm, or bad roads, or distance, will keep a customer away from a town in which he feels he is dealing with friends who are interested in him beyond the usual relation of buyer and seller. Another important thing for all merchants to do is to anticipate what a customer may need and have it for him when he comes for it. Here lies a difficult job and the business man who can best do this, makes known to the people what he has, will no doubt reap a reward.

George Moffett's bill to establish a well-equipped and well-manned research laboratory in Texas for the purpose of seeking out new and expanded uses of cotton, has been vetoed by the Governor and may mean a great economic loss to the state. To keep the price of cotton on a profitable basis new uses will have to be found and we believe Mr. Moffett's plan was a sane one and no doubt will come sooner or later. He is a cotton farmer and studies the cotton situation more closely perhaps than any other man in the Texas Legislature.

WHAT WE THINK (By Frank Dixon)

The best way to get the low-down on a man is to work for him a while.

I note that some of the English society has cut Wallis Simpson since the abdication of the Duke of Windsor.

That sort of thing, as my grandson says, burns me down. It expresses aptly thought, the type of mind of a certain portion of the earth's population that has the feeling that it constitutes what is known as the world's better society.

I am American enough to believe that Wallis Simpson is better in every way than any of the crowd of cheap society who have cut her from their guest lists.

My idea is that their resentment is largely born of jealousy. Whether you like it or not the world, and that means the people about you, will go farther for a second or third rater who knows how to sell himself and who has a good line, as the girls say, than they will for a man of sterling worth who isn't a back slapper and a flatterer.

The latter is sure of his reward when the minister who officiates at his funeral service turns in his obituary to the local newspaper.

The only drawback is that the nice things a man has said about himself in his obituary won't buy new tires for the model T. A lot of folks tell you they don't like a flatterer and a back slapper but nine-tenths of them purr when it is done.

I was put on the spot yesterday. A friend of mine of several years standing touched me for a ten dollar loan. I knew if I loaned it to him he would never pay it back and if I didn't loan it to him he would think I was a mean man and would cease being a friend of mine.

A man's friends have no right to put him on the spot like that. It cost a million dollar dirigible and 35 lives but it has been pretty well proven, since the explosion and burning of the Hindenburg, that inflammable and explosive gas like hydrogen is not suitable for inflating dirigible balloons.

Every one has known it all along but it takes things like the recent disaster to finally convince people.

Graves on the mound in the third inning, who held the Cowboys scoreless until the seventh when an overthrow on first, Crowell's only error, started a Vernon rally. The Crowell lads retaliated with a rally but fell short by two scores.

The Crowell infield performed the only double play of the fray, L. Green to G. Taylor to H. Green. This combination, with Graves on first, has completed many double plays, and it would crowd any H-W-F league infield to stay with these three in executing one of the hardest plays in baseball.

The Vernon club, with a revamped line-up, was much better than at any time this season and the Crowell lineup was weakened by the absence of several of the starting players, who were absent because of the wheat harvest.

NOBODY'S BUSINESS (By JULIAN CAPERS JR.)

Austin. — The legislature this week moved into the second phase of its anti-gambling special session, and took up laws to prohibit dog race betting, and operation of bookmakers' shops, after taking in its stride its major task—that of outlawing pari-mutuel betting at Texas race tracks.

Race track betting, major objective of Gov. Allred, which was conceived in legislative iniquity and spawned in a conference rider on a major appropriation bill, went out in a dramatic session of the Texas senate, which saw 16 stalworth anti-racing votes, marshaled in the senate by Sen. G. H. Nelson, of Tahoka, hold consistently together and administer the severest drubbing of their careers.

To two state parliamentary sharks, Frank Rawlings of Fort Worth and Clint Small of Amarillo, they went down fighting like wildcats, each making biting speeches attacking the governor—but helpless to block the repeal action, as it was blocked in the regular session.

Small is bitter. Repeal was accomplished neatly and with dispatch, when 16 senators, caucusing in Gov. Allred's air-conditioned office, agreed each to be in his seat, to remain there throughout the session, and to follow the voting leadership of Nelson until the matter was finally disposed of. The repealist strong men were Alken, Beck, Burns, Collier, Cotton, Davis, Head, Hill, Ishel, Lemons, Neal, Nelson, Newton, Omeal, Redditt and Woodruff. Westerfeld of Dallas voted with the repealists, but was unpicked while Small voted aye so he could move to reconsider. This he did, and the trick almost worked, but Westerfeld stood fast with the 16, and the effort failed.

Small, in a bitter speech, charged "these two political demagogues, Allred and Ferguson," with caring nothing about repeal, until their lions to re-enact the battle that occurred in the regular session. They expect the house to vote large additional taxes on them; they pin their hopes of escape to the senate, which during the regular session gave little evidence of sympathy with Allred's high tax program. The lobby are hopeful that bitterness engendered by the race-track fight aid their cause, when the tax get to the senate, if Allred's governor then.

more millions for lakes and ponds in the dustbowl. It would not only provide much useful work, but would assure construction projects that will be of permanent value, instead of "boon-doggling" jobs of temporary nature. Many influential Texas individuals and organizations were wiring Senators Connally and Sheppard this week to urge support for the ear-marking plan.

The state's general fund deficit dropped below the ten million dollar mark last week-end, as State Treasurer Charley Lockhart paid off warrants issued in early January. This is the peak of tax-collection period, and the deficit shortly will begin to mount again. Great confusion exists in Austin as to future taxation aims. If Gov. Allred is appointed to the federal bench by that time, and Lt. Gov. Walter Woodall becomes governor, a revenue session is still probable, for with the loss of nearly $500,000 of revenue from racing, new constitutional amendments necessitating additional large expenditures, and the climbing deficit, some new revenue apparently is absolutely unavoidable. But Woodul is known to be extremely conservative on taxation matters, as compared to Allred, and if he is governor, recommendations for minimum new or increased taxes are expected by lobbyists here. If Allred remains governor, how- ever, the oil, sulphur, gas and utility representatives are girding their loins to re-enact the battle that occurred in the regular session. They expect the house to vote large additional taxes on them; they pin their hopes of escape to the senate, which during the regular session gave little evidence of sympathy with Allred's high tax program. The lobby are hopeful that bitterness engendered by the race-track fight aid their cause, when the tax get to the senate, if Allred's governor then.

Preventable Disease Deaths Increasing, Says Planning Board

Austin.—Deaths in Texas from preventable diseases are increasing annually despite the tremendous strides medical science has made in the last few years, according to statistics compiled by the Texas Planning Board's public health committee.
Since 1934 deaths in Texas from preventable, infectious, and parasitic diseases have increased 54 per cent; deaths from pellagra, pneumonia, diarrhea and enteritis have increased 22 per cent; and deaths from all preventable diseases have increased 39 per cent.
Last year the board's public health committee disclosed the startling information that during 1934 more than 17,000 Texans died unnecessarily from diseases which are classed as "preventable" by medical science. Remedial steps were suggested yet during 1936 more than 24,000 Texans succumbed to the ravages of preventable diseases.
Figuring the value of a human life at $10,000 the committee estimated that Texas suffered an economic loss of $175,670,000 in 1934; and $245,230,000 in 1936. The committee estimated further that relatives of the victims of preventable diseases in 1934 paid $3,513,400 for funerals, and $4,904,600 in 1936. The average cost of each funeral was estimated at $200.
Preventable, infectious and parasitic diseases in 1936 claimed the lives of 15,423 Texans as compared with 10,116 in 1934. Pellagra, pneumonia, diarrhea and enteritis in 1936 claimed the lives of an additional 9,100 as compared to 7,451 in 1934. Total deaths from preventable diseases for 1936 amounted to 24,523 as compared with 17,576 for 1934.

had any great amount of money to put into the building, but they had a mind to co-operate and do everything that it was possible for them to do. Some hauled material and others labored on the building and through their co-operation and determination, they had the satisfaction of seeing their dreams come true. The community grew and prospered. The time came when the building which was first built, was no longer adequate to meet the needs of the town and country. Then it was that the younger men and women assumed the responsibilities and burden of building a church that would be an honor to God and a credit to Methodism and to provide the spiritual life necessary to the formation of character in the boys and girls, young men and women of our community. This was a stupendous task and most certainly would not have been accomplished without the whole-hearted co-operation that they received. Just about the time this project was launched, labor and material prices were more than doubled in some instances, hence this building cost almost twice as much as contemplated at first. Notwithstanding this handicap, everybody, insofar as I know, tackled the job with renewed zeal and confidence and continued until this building was completed. In doing so a heavy debt was incurred which has proved a handicap to the church through all these years. At the present time we owe approximately $10,400.00 on the Methodist Church, which is long past due. Our creditors have been very lenient with us, carrying past due notes even when we could not pay the interest. They are now insisting that we make a very substantial payment on this debt between now and next fall. As a result of these demands, a conference was called including the pastor, board of stewards and others. After a prolonged discussion, it was decided to take this matter direct to the members of the church in an effort to liquidate at least one-half of the indebtedness as soon as possible. This decision would not have been reached but for the confidence these men had in you. Notwithstanding the many obstacles that confront every one of us, yet the faith that these men have in you and me in this critical hour, made them confident that this tremendous task could and would be accomplished.
This group of men selected J. R. Beverly to direct this campaign, and he is putting every ounce of his ability in the task. He has sent letters explaining the necessity of putting this over, thereby removing the obstacles that the church has had to contend with in the past and putting it on a plane where the influence of the church can be even greater than it has ever been. An executive board has been appointed to assist Mr. Beverly in directing this effort, and also a soliciting committee has been appointed to canvass the membership. I am sure that every member of this church feels a deep interest in the success of this task and will not only contribute to the fullest extent of their means, but will give their influence and unstinted co-operation until this thing has been accomplished.
If we fail in the task set before us now, the church will not only suffer, but the future of many of the children of today will never be what it should and could be, were they not deprived of the spiritual influence that they are entitled to and without which they cannot develop into that high plane of manhood and womanhood which is essential to happiness and usefulness in the days to come. Let us all join hands and hearts in a determined effort to make this task a phenomenal success and we will have the satisfaction of knowing that we have accomplished something worthwhile and at the same time earn the gratitude and respect of our younger friends.
A Member of the Methodist Church, Crowell, Texas.

Wheat—

60, much going over that mark. With weather conditions so unsettled it is feared that a wind or hail storm might damage the wheat before it can be harvested, although Foard County has not received a damaging storm yet. The largest amount of damage done to grain in this county was done Tuesday morning during the electrical and rain storm. Wheat in a fairly small area in the Claytonville community was slightly damaged. One farmer estimated his loss at about 75 per cent. There have only been a few nights during the two and a half weeks that rain or an electrical storm did not threaten, but so far only the rain has come.

Providing the weather is calm, combines and threshers will be going full blast by Monday and Crowell and Foard County should see the maddest wheat rush it has ever witnessed.

Two Minute Sermon (By Thomas Hastwell)

The Voice of Character: In the story of Abraham one of the outstanding lessons taught is the value of character. Many times in the life of this remarkable man do we encounter evidence of its presence in his conduct. It enabled him to stand out against the many temptations of the times and to become the founder of a great race and an outstanding leader of the Old Testament. Character is just as important today as it was in the days of Abraham. Not long ago I went to a hardware store to buy a saw. The dealer showed me several. Among them was one of the make my grandfather had used and my father had used, both of whom knew and appreciated good tools. The salesman, a young man, rattled on superficially that it must be the best one in the house since it cost the most. I scarcely heard him. I knew that it had behind it 75 years of experience in saw making, 75 years of use by master craftsmen. I knew that if I bought it and took it home I would have in it everything that skill and genius and honest workmanship and good material could produce. I knew I would be safe in buying it. It had character. So it is with many things we buy today, their character sells them.

Character means so much in merchandise that how much more should it mean in human life? How much more is it worth to the young man or the young woman to have solid worth and honesty and integrity behind them, than it is to have the same things back of a saw or a hammer or a motor car. When the young salesman attempted to tell me about the saw, its own character spoke so loudly and so clearly that I did not hear him. Thus it is today in an age in which moral standards are in confusion, the voice of one good character speaks louder than the tumult of the many.

Miss Zell Saunders Married to New York Man Sunday, June 6

The marriage of Miss Zell Saunders of this city to Mr. William A. Hollweg of New York, was solemnized at high noon at the Methodist Church last Sunday with the pastor, Rev. E. L. Yeats, performing the impressive ring ceremony.

The vows were read at the altar which was decorated with pink gladioli in a huge basket forming the central decoration and flanked on either side by ferns.

The bride wore a white sheer wedding gown, made over white satin, cut on Victorian lines. She wore a cap which matched her dress. The hair was twisted with lilies of the valley with streamers from the halo hanging to the waist, forming a demitrain. She carried a white satin prayer book. She entered on the arm of her brother, Mark Saunders.

The bride was preceded by her sister, Miss Eloise Saunders, who was her maid of honor. She wore a green tulle mid-Victorian coat. Another sister, Mrs. R. Nicholich, who was matron of honor, wore a peach tulle coat made on the same lines of that of her sisters. Both attendants wore poke bonnets and carried colonial bouquets of cape-hyacinths.

Raymond Seals of Wichita Falls attended the groom as best man.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. Adolphus Welch sang "I Love You Truly." She was accompanied by Mrs. A. L. Rucker, who also played the wedding march.

Immediately following the ceremony an informal buffet luncheon was held at the home of the bride's parents, where the bride cut a three-tiered wedding cake. Mr. and Mrs. Hollweg left in the afternoon for Galveston from which place they sailed Wednesday on S. S. Seminole for New York. They will stop at Miami, Florida, en route.

Out-of-town guests present for the wedding were Dr. and Mrs. Hayes and Miss Eloise Saunders of Dallas, Mrs. Rex Merrick and children of Amarillo, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Seals of Wichita Falls, and Miss Pearl Louise Albritton of Oklahoma City.

Mrs. Hollweg is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. I. Saunders and was practically reared here. After attending the local schools she attended Amarillo Junior College, was a member of Kappa Delta Chi, was a member of a dramatic society, and was chosen Freshman Beauty. She later attended Texas University. There she was presented at the Blue Bonnet Belle revue at the annual spring roundup.

Mr. Hollweg is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hollweg of New York. He attended Southern Methodist University and Texas University in Texas and St. Johns University in New York. For the past two years he has been associated with the Standard Oil Company in Maracaibo, Venezuela, S. A., as an accountant.

The couple will make their home at Bay Ridge, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Former Crowell Girl Marries Vernon Man

Miss Cecile McAnear, former Crowell resident, was married to George Gann at the Central Christian Church in Vernon Sunday morning at 9 o'clock with Rev. Gus T. Reeves, pastor, officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John McAnear of Vernon, former Crowell residents, and attended the Crowell schools until her family moved away several years ago. She graduated from Vernon High School in 1934.

Mr. Gann is the son of Mrs. W. A. Davidson of Odessa and is an employe of Montgomery Ward & Co. The couple will make their home at 1712 Bowie Street in Vernon.

B. & P. W. Club Gives Shower in Honor of Bride - Elect Friday

Complimenting Miss Zell Saunders, bride-elect of William A. Hollweg, members of the Business and Professional Women's Club and Mrs. Hubert Brown were hostesses at a miscellaneous shower in the home of Mrs. Brown Friday afternoon. The affair was a complete surprise to the honoree.

Guests registered in a beautiful bride's book, presided over by Miss Lottie Russell.

A clever program, sketching the honeymoon of the bride and groom, was given. By means of the telephone, with Mrs. Henry Borchardt in the role of chief operator, friends left behind kept in touch with the happy couple throughout the journey from Dallas to New York City. Piano selections, including "Under a Texas Moon," "Farewell to Thee," "Moon Over Miami," "When My Dream Boat Comes Home," and "Sidelinks of New York," were played by Mrs. Alva Spencer. At the close of each number Miss Jim Lois Gafford read love poems.

Miss Mayme Lee Collins gave a humorous skit descriptive of the bride ready to take the boat at Galveston. As the mythical boat left Miami, Misses Geraldine Carter, Mary Elizabeth Hughton and Peggy Cooper sang, "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life." When the boat pulled into the harbor, little Rosdy Nicholich and Geniene and Luetta Merrick, nephew and nieces of Miss Saunders, were on the shore to welcome her and direct her to her new home, where the many lovely gifts were displayed.

Punch was served in the dining room at the close of the program.

Miss Alma Stuart and L. V. Robertson Wed

Miss Alma Stuart and L. V. Robertson, both of Crowell, were married Wednesday afternoon at Panch in the home of Judge Gibson, who performed the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Charles Stuart of Crowell. Mr. Robertson has operated a studio in Crowell for the past fourteen years.

Rotary Club

Members of the Business & Professional Women's Club rendered the program at the regular weekly luncheon of the Crowell Rotary Club at O'Connell's Lunch Room Wednesday at noon.

The first number on the program was a violin solo by Mrs. Alva Spencer with Mrs. Arnold Rucker as accompanist, followed by a reading by Miss Jim Lois Gafford. The program was concluded by a vocal solo by Miss Doris Oswald, also accompanied by Mrs. Rucker. Mrs. Henry Borchardt, president of the B. & P. W. Club, was in charge of the program.

Keith Berry, Rotarian of Vernon, was a visitor.

NYA EMPLOYMENT

Wichita Falls, June 16.—There are now 578 boys and girls actively employed on NYA work projects in District 12, according to H. A. Ziegler, Assistant District Supervisor. This is a slight decrease in the number working since the last report, Ziegler stated, which is accounted for through the demand for harvest hands at this time and to other summertime employment.

It is expected that a sizable number of youths will take advantage of the opportunity for full-time employment even if only temporary. It is of interest to see that as many as possible will get into private employment as job placement is a most important phase of the NYA program, Ziegler further stated.

Give Babies Careful Treatment in Summer, Warns Health Dept.

Austin.—The season of the year when the most complaints are received on account of diarrhea and dysentery or "summer complaint" is here and the Texas State Department of Health has issued a warning to parents in regard to this, and offers the following suggestions to prevent its occurrence among babies. The chief causes of diarrhea include impure milk, water and contaminated food, overheating, fever from any cause, too much sugar or cream in the diet, overfeeding and underfeeding.

Mother's milk is the safest food. However, if other milk must be used, the supply should be clean and pure. The water should be clean, pure and boiled. Any other articles of food should be fresh and clean and no unsuitable articles of food such as cake and candy should be given.

If a feeding formula is used, it should be one prescribed by a physician and it must be prepared with extreme attention to cleanliness and kept cold until used. The baby should be fed at regular intervals and should not be forced to eat when he is not hungry. The baby should be kept cool and comfortable in hot weather, should not be over-clothed and should be given plenty of clean water to drink. Any infections which develop in the nose, throat, ears or other organs should receive prompt attention from a physician.

If diarrhea develops, feedings should be stopped or greatly diminished and an abundance of water should be given. Cathartics should not be given except on the advice of a physician. If the diarrhea does not improve within a short time, a physician should be called and a complete examination should be made.

The three F's, flies, fingers and food are the three sources of danger to the baby. Flies carry disease germs to the baby and to its food. Fingers and hands that are not thoroughly washed before preparing the baby's food are likely to be germ carriers also. All milk and water that is intended for the baby should be boiled for five minutes, then carefully covered and kept in a cool place until used.

LIBRARY NEWS

Joseph Hergesheimer's greatest novel, "Love Can Happen," has been added to the library, and it magnificently reveals our contemporary era. It tells of Ambrose Peyot, the stuffed shirt, who came to life on the eve of his marriage to beautiful Celina Butterworth, flower of Boston society, because of Fay Meridian, of Butte, Montana, and the Riviera, a disturbing creature with thirty million dollars—while Lane Butterworth, daughter of Celina, marvels at the antics of her elders in these puzzling circumstances.

"Quilt making is truly an American art, originating back in the Colonial days, when our grandmothers took the few precious scraps at hand and made patch work quilts.

"A cover quilt should be as large as 72 by 90 inches and a quilt used as a decorative spread should be 70 by 105 inches," Miss Myrna Holman, demonstration agent, told the Foard City H. D. Club ladies at the meeting Tuesday, June 1, when she gave a demonstration on "Needlework."

"The individual who acquires skill in needlework, creates harmonious, appropriate combinations, proper designs, requires good judgment and a definite artistic sense," Miss Holman stated.

The 4-H girls gave a pleasing demonstration in which they displayed sleeping garments, slips and dresses they had made.

Miss Myrtle McLain of Anna, Miss Ruth Beavers, Mrs. Shirlee Hoff, Mrs. A. E. Barker, Mrs. S. E. Cosnoe, Mrs. Henry Sprinler and Mrs. Fred Traveck were guests. A large number of club members were present.

The club will meet again June 15 at the club house.

Did You Know That—

By Myrna Holman, H. D. A.

A grapefruit that feels heavy for its size is apt to be rich in juice.

There seems to be a direct connection between the physical equipment of homes and their holding power over young girls? According to experiments recently conducted girls from homes that are poorly equipped for convenience, comfort, and health, leave at a much earlier age than girls from well-equipped homes.

The rain and cool weather present ideal conditions for planting summer vegetables? Most everything can be planted from lettuce and radishes, carrots, and right on down the list.

Cellophane hats have been featured in many recent fashion shows? They can easily be crocheted at home from cellophane ribbon.

Attractive bedspreads, curtains, bath mats, aprons, and many other articles can be made on unbleached domestic and tufted? They are easy to make, require no ironing when washed, and frequent laundering tends to increase their beauty.

At the antics of her elders in these puzzling circumstances.
